

Hello sir or madam

I don't have too much to say about the new bill about migrants 2010. But honestly speaking ,if this happens what will happen to those one who have spend their 2-4 years in study to gain qualification in certain criteria, so that they can set in that special country and get skilled jobs . Another things is if they have have to emerge Back from where they come it will be too hard for them to get settle in their home country,.

At the beginning of this year diac announced that IELTS score will be raised to 6 in each module .Thats right WE understand that Australia wants well abilities people in English language term ,and the introduction of job ready is useful to get more qualified worker. But what about those who have more IELTS score that it is set DIAC and their qualification and education background is impressive as well. It is also said that UNCERTAINTY of migrant case will be ended . ON the other hand, for instance – some one who has applied his case regards of residency AND if his file come under this visa cap and he is terminated, then UNCERTAINTY will always be there because noone will be aware when his or her case will approve or he or she has to go back

In my knowledge Australia DIAC is best in world , we also understand that its hard time for Australia but what about us , so plz keep us in mind BECAUSE WE CHOOSEN AUSTRALIA BECAUSE WE LOVE THIS COUNTRY SO PLZ THINK ABOUT OUR FUTURE
