

My name is Amit Khaira

I have been made aware of the current Human Rights and Anti-Discrimination Bill 2012 and am extremely concerned at several of the proposals found throughout that document. I do not even know why we are going down this path. In your attempts to legislate anti-discrimination you are actually discriminating! Undermining free speech, freedom of association, freedom of religion and natural justice should have no place within our culture and this Bill lends itself to all these things.

As a committed citizen to this great nation, and father of 3 young children, husband to an amazing wife and follower of Jesus Christ, I desire for my children to be raised in an environment which is based on what this nation was founded upon, sound Biblical principles. I want them to know that they need to Love God and Love People, and a big part of love is being able to distinguish right from wrong, to stand up for what is right and stand against what is wrong. I trust that my stand against this Bill is an example to them.

Sincerely

Amit Khaira
Concerned Citizen