

To whom it may concern,

I have a few points to raise:

- I would like to know why this lie about men being the primary and most often perpetrators of domestic violence is still bandied around by many commentators and especially by female politicians who are intent on pushing their personal feminist agendas, when all the available statistics show that women are equally the perpetrators of domestic violence, but natural mothers abuse their own children more than natural fathers do?
- Why is it that women can so easily lie to police and criminal courts and have a man's life and reputation destroyed in an instant, by gaining a violence restraining order without any due process and without any evidence?
This deliberate discrimination and vilification of innocent unimpeachable men/fathers must stop.
- Why is it that even when a father is the primary carer of children, cannot earn money in the future and is putting far more into the care of the children than the mother, is it that the family court will still award the mother the lion's share of the matrimonial property?
- If you can look at these, then you will find out why so many men suffer disabling illnesses and why so many commit suicide.
- You must dig deeper to find out why so many men are so ill today and why they are committing suicide. If you take away the above issues in this military styled tribunal that insultingly calls itself the 'Family Court', then you will see a dramatic drop in the poor state of men's health.

When will men in Australia be given the same attention with regard health as women are?

When will we be considered as 'equal' to women and not less than?

Women have wanted equality for a long time, but feminists want everything and they want men vilified and subjugated. This is no way to run society, because it is the sole cause of the destruction of the nuclear family and the major cause of the poor state of men's health.

Thank you for considering my points of argument and my questions.

Regards,

Peter Gregory
