Dear Carol,

Further to our letter this morning which responded directly to the request that ACTA provide comment on the proposed definition of medical innovation provided by the MRFF Action Group, we wish to submit to the Committee the following proposed definition that would take into consideration both the points raised by the MRFF Action Group and those raised by ACTA.

‘medical innovation means the application and commercialisation of medical research, and the translation of medical research into more effective or more efficient ways to improve the health and wellbeing of individuals and the community.’

We felt this would be of assistance to the Committee in determining a definition for medical innovation for inclusion in the MRFF Bill that encompasses the full spectrum of innovation that leads to improvements in health and the health system.

Many thanks,
Rhiannon
