

Why We Should Have Compensation.

This is simple, honest & to the point.

We, the children who were in homes, religious institutions & other "care" places as you know very well, were treated atrociously.

We suffered extensively, sexually, raped, sodomised, starved, unloved, unprotected from cold weather, forced to work in industrial laundries & other manual labour, which was an income for these people who were being paid by the Australian government to provide for us as well. We were also physically abused by the staff as well as by larger inmates who were not protected from, locked in unlit cellars in cold water, made to parade in front of priests & religious leaders naked. Some small males had their testicles cut off by razor blade, faces pushed down into faeces of diarrhoea. You the Government were completely negligent of us, as you did not supervise these monsters. This wickedness went on for a long length of time, being unalterable as we were continually beaten down verbally to such a point we believed we were nobody & never would be & that no one would believe us if we told anyone what was happening to us.

This had such a negative mental effect on us that it has taken several decades before we could even, for the first time speak of it.

Of course we must be compensated & that must word needs to apply to the word now.

No amount of compensation can take away our pasts but it will be a step to reparation.

Please realize what I have said, & do your duty that you are obliged to do.

My name is not for publication.
My name in confidence is