

I am extremely concerned about the attempt to water down our environmental protection laws and I strongly urge you not to go ahead with this outrageous plan.

Taking away the right of Australian people to speak out about environmental destruction in court will stop developments from being fully scrutinised, worsening environmental protection in Australia. This goes against the purpose of the Environment Protection and Conservation Biodiversity Act 1999.

The environment needs advocates to speak up for wildlife and ecosystems that can't. When people in the community can be involved in the planning system, our voices are better heard. Please retain our legal right to community objection.
