

Australian Government
Australian Public Service Commission

Senator Tim Ayres
Chair, Finance and Public Administration References Committee
C/O FPA.SEN@aph.gov.au
PARLIAMENT HOUSE
CANBERRA ACT 2600

Dear Senator Ayres

I am writing to correct evidence given during the Australian Public Service Commission's appearance at the 5 March hearing for the Inquiry into the current capability of the Australian Public Service.

I gave the following evidence:

“In our job-family data, which is the data we collect against job roles in our APS employment database, we don't specifically have cyber-roles; we don't specifically have cyber skills but what we do have is data roles.”

I now understand that the Commission does hold partial information which covers a very limited number of agencies. A more accurate answer to the question would be:

“In our job-family data, which is the data we collect against job roles in our APS employment database, we have limited information on cyber-roles; we don't specifically have cyber skills but what we do have is data roles.”

Yours sincerely

Katrina Purcell
Assistant Commissioner
Strategic Policy and Research
25/03/2021