Question: Please provide details of all Sport Australia grant programs where the Minister has provided final approval for individual grants. In each case identify the legal basis of the Minister's power to approve individual grants.

Answer:

The former Minister for Sport provided approval for individual grants in the following three grant programs:

- Move It AUS - Community Sport Infrastructure
- Move It AUS - Better Ageing
- Move It AUS - Participation.

The legal basis for Sport Australia's role in each program was Sport Australia's own powers under the Australian Sports Commission Act 1989. In exercising its powers, it was open to Sport Australia to take account of the Minister's approval.

Question: In June 2018, where and how did Sport Australia record that adherence to the Australian Sports Commission Act required that it, and not the Minister, approve the award of funding under the grant program?

Answer:

A search of Sport Australia's records was conducted for the purpose of the Inquiry and did not find any such record. This question is evidently based on paragraph 2.17 of the Australian National Audit Office report. Sport Australia believes that the reference in that paragraph is to an internal Sport Australia email dated 4 June 2018, which in turn refers to an internal conversation about Sport Australia's decision making discretion for grants up to $500,000.

Sport Australia will provide the Senate Select Committee with a copy of the advice summary it received from Counsel in February 2020. Given the confidential and privileged nature of the legal advice, Sport Australia requests that the advice summary be kept confidential by the Committee.

The advice obtained from Counsel was not provided to the Minister, the Minister's office or any other person outside Sport Australia's Board, management and legal advisors.

Question: Did the Minister approve any grants not recommended by Sport Australia? If so, how many grants and what was the quantum of grants approved but not recommended?

Answer:

Regarding the Move It AUS Participation grant program, the former Minister for Sport exercised discretion on one occasion (3 April 2019).

On this occasion, the former Minister for Sport did not approve two of Sport Australia's recommended applicants which were large professional sports. Instead, approval went to six alternative sport and community organisations drawn from Sport Australia's original pool of applicants. This decision was made collaboratively with Sport Australia and the former Minister of Sport.
