As foreshadowed, Chris would like to prepare a letter to the AG which outlines in respect of our Monis search and provision of documents to the review and AFP:

The search procedure

How the error occurred

How the error came to light and associated management of it

What steps the department is taking to enhance its search and provision of document processes

What steps more generally the Department took after the raising of the alert level on 12 September 2014 to ensure appropriate awareness and vigilance in AGD

May I see a draft on Wednesday morning please. If you need any more hands to help with this let me know. It is important we do this in parallel with the work of the taskforce, so we can finalise it as soon as the other work is finished.

lain will advise if he recalls Chris wanted anything else in it.

Dear Attorney-General

Attorney-General's Department's handling of correspondence from Man Haron Monis

I am writing to explain the Attorney-General's Department's handling of correspondence from Man Haron Monis and provision to the Martin Place Siege Review and the measures I have taken to improve the Department's procedures.

- 2. In early January 2015, the department undertook searches for all documents and correspondence relevant to the terms of reference for the Martin Place Siege Review. This included searches of the department's ministerial correspondence and records management systems. The search parameters encompassed correspondence to, from or pertaining to Man Haron Monis that was in the possession of the department. Relevant divisions in the department were also asked to review records they held.
- 3. Documents relevant to the terms of reference for the Martin Place Siege Review were passed by the department to the Review team.
- 4. On 2 February 2015, the department became aware that a letter from Sheikh Haron dated 7 October 2014 and the department's reply to that letter had been inadvertently omitted from the correspondence provided to the Martin Place Siege Review. The department became aware of this omission when the Australian Federal Police notified the department it had found the letter and the reply
- 5. The department subsequently ascertained that the omission had occurred because search results identifying the letter and reply were contained in a separate sheet within a spreadsheet and were overlooked by departmental officers coordinating the provision of information to the Review.
- 6. On the same day the department became aware of the omission it advised the Review team that an item of correspondence and the reply had inadvertently not been provided to the Review due to an administrative error. The Review team member advised that the text of the Review had been finalised and the department therefore did not provide the document.
- 7. On 27 May 2015 at the Senate Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee Budget Estimates hearing, Katherine Jones, Deputy Secretary, National Security and Criminal Justice Group, provided evidence that the correspondence in question was provided to the review. After further discussions with a former colleague on the Review team, Ms Jones concluded that her evidence was incorrect and that she had been thinking of another document and not the correspondence in question. Ms Jones will correct her evidence to the Senate Committee at the earliest opportunity.

- 8. To prevent such errors from occurring in future, I have asked officers in the department to prepare protocols to govern searches for and provision of documents.
- 9. The department has taken steps to ensure appropriate awareness and vigilance after the National Public Alert Level was raised to High on 12 September 2014. These measures include:
 - An email to all staff on 12 September 2014 advising them of the change in the National Terrorism Public Alert level, noting ASIO's Protective Security Advice for Heightened Threat Environments and encouraging staff to be vigilant and report any suspicious activity or behaviour to the Departmental Security Unit.
 - Testing and review of Robert Garran Offices lockdown procedures on 2 November 2014 and on 17 November 2014 the department's Business Continuity, Crisis Management and Heightened Security arrangements were exercised.
 - From November 2014 to March 2015, the department's heightened security measures were reviewed to prepare a new Security Alert Level Procedure. A new Security Alert Level Procedure was established from 20 May 2015 to support changes to protective security measures in the event of an escalating alert levels.
- 10. The department carefully assesses each item of correspondence received by the department on matters relating to national security and departmental officers liaise with other government agencies, including law enforcement and security agencies, where an item of correspondence raises concerns.

Yours sincerely

Sarah,

I have suggested a couple of changes (in track changes) to the attached. These mainly relate to:

- Reference to checking the multiple aliases;
- The omission wasn't subsequently picked up before the Review reported;
- We have undertaken further work and have not been able to identify other documents that the Review Team did not ultimately have.

Michael

Dear Attorney-General

Attorney-General's Department's search and provision to Martin Place Seige Review of handling of correspondence from Man Haron Monis

I am writing to explain the Attorney-General's Department's handling of search for correspondence from Man Haron Monis and its provision to the Martin Place Siege Review and the measures I have taken relevant to this and the raising of the terrorist alert level on 12 September to improve the Department's procedures.

- 2.—Between xx and xx January 2015 in early January 2015, at the request of the Seige Review. (check what the request was please) the department undertook searches for all documents and correspondence relevant to the terms of reference for the Martin Place Siege Review. This include a searches of the department's ministerial correspondence and its records management systems. The search parameters encompassed correspondence to, from or pertaining to Man Haron Monis that was in the possession of the department. Relevant divisions in the department were also asked to review records they held.

- 3. On 2 February 2015, officers in the department became aware that a letter from Sheikh Haron addressed to the Attorney-General dated 7 October 2014 seeking legal advice and the department's xx November 2015 reply to that letter on the Attorney's behalf, had been inadvertently omitted from the correspondence provided to the Martin Place Siege Review. The department officers became aware of this omission when the Australian Federal Police notified the department it had found the letter and the reply of the officers noted they could not see the document on the Index of documents passed to the review by AGD.
- 4. On the same day the departmental officers became aware of the omission an AGD officer contacted an officer in the Seige Review team at PM&C to advise that an item of correspondence and its response had inadvertently not been provided to the Review. The Review team member advised that the text of the Review had already been finalised and the department therefore did not provide the document.

- 5. In the week of 1 June 2015 the Department conducted a review of its January 2015 search for and provision of documents to the Review to ensure the accuracy of the search and knowledge of what had been passed to the Review. If The department subsequently ascertained that the omission Monis letter and response had occurred been inadvertently omitted from what was passed to the Review because it had been located on a second page of a spreadsheet of search results, which was overlooked by the officers collating the index of documents for the Review for provision to the Review. (PM&C has confirmed that the only four other documents on page two of the spreadsheet that should also have been passed to the Review by the Department were passed to the Review by other agencies during the Review.) search results identifying the letter and reply were contained in a separate sheet within a spreadsheet and were overlooked by departmental officers coordinating the provision of information to the Review.

The Review team member advised that the text of the Review had been finalised and the department therefore did not provide the document.

(Ms Jones was unaware when she gave her evidence that the correspondence in question had been the subject of discussion between officers of the Department and the Review on 2 February.) Ms Jones will correct her evidence to the Senate Committee at the earliest opportunity.
- 8.7. To prevent such errors as that described in paragraph 5 above from occurring in future, I have asked officers in the department to prepare enhanced protocolsprocedures to govern searches for, and provision of, documents in future.

Senator the Hon George Brandis Attorney-General Parliament House Canberra ACT 2600

Dear Attorney-General

Attorney-General's Department's search and provision to Martin Place Seige Review of handling of correspondence from Man Haron Monis

I am writing to explain the Attorney-General's Department's handling of search for correspondence from Man Haron Monis and its provision to the Martin Place Siege Review and the measures I have taken relevant to this and the raising of the terrorist alert level on 12 September to improve the Department's procedures.

- 2. Between xx-5 and xx-15 January 2015In early January 2015, at the request of the Seige Review (check what the request was please) the department undertook searches for all-documents and correspondence relevant to the terms of reference for the Martin Place Siege Review. This include d-searches of the department's ministerial correspondence and its records management systems. The search parameters encompassed correspondence to, from or pertaining to Man Haron Monis that was in the possession of the department. Relevant divisions in the department were also asked to review records they held.
- 3.2. On xx14 January 2015, once the dDocuments held by AGD relevant to the terms of reference for the Martin Place Siege Review had been identified and collated, they were passed by the department to the Review team at PM&C.
- 3. On 2 February 2015, officers in the department became aware that a letter from Sheikh Haron addressed to the Attorney-General dated 7 October 2014 seeking legal advice and the department's xx November 2015 reply to that letter on the Attorney's behalf. had been inadvertently omitted from the correspondence provided to the Martin Place Siege Review. The department officers became aware of this omission when the Australian Federal Police notified the department it had found the letter and the reply and one of the officers noted they could not see the document on the mack of documents passed to the review by AGD.
- 4. On the same day the departmental officers became aware of the omission an AGD officer contacted an officer in the Seige Review team at PM&C to advise that an item of correspondence and its response had inadvertently not been provided to the Review. The Review team member advised that the text of the Review had already been finalised and the department therefore did not provide the document.

Comment [g1]:
We collated AGD documents for the Review Team following a request from Katherine Jones for 'correspondence to, from and pertaining to Monis (including his aliases) prior to and until the end of the siege'. We understand that this scope was clarified in discussions/meetings between Tony Sheehan and Katherine Jones.

Review team specifically requested completion of an agency information template that outlined the type of record holdings the Department held relevant to: Information held by the Commonwealth and NSW agencies about Man Haron Monit for the period prior to and following his arrival in Australia up until the end of the siege including how any information relevant to public safety was shared between and used by, agencies.

- 5. In the week of 1 June 2015 the Department conducted a review of its January 2015 search for and provision of documents to the Review to ensure the accuracy of the search and knowledge of what had been passed to the Review. If The department subsequently ascertained that the emission Monis letter and response had occurred been inadvertently omitted from what was passed to the Review because it had been located on a second page of a spreadsheet of search results, which was overlooked by the officers collating the index of documents for the Review for provision to the Review. (PM&C has confirmed that the only four other documents on page two of the spreadsheet that should also have been passed to the Review by the Department were passed to the Review by other agencies during the Review.) search results identifying the letter and reply were contained in a separate sheet within a spreadsheet and were overlooked by departmental officers coordinating the provision of information to the Review.
- 6. On the same day-the department became aware of the omission it advised the Review-team that an item of correspondence and the reply had inadvertently not been provided to the Review due to an administrative error. The Review team member advised that the text of the Review had been finalised and the department therefore did not provide the document.
- 7-6. On 27 May 2015 at the Senate Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee Budget Estimates hearing, Katherine Jones, Deputy Secretary, National Security and Criminal Justice Group, provided evidence that the correspondence in question was provided to the review (were these Katherine's exact words?). I have amended para 3 to reflect that only the letter to Monis (not the letter from Monis) was located by the AFP. I have left phone messages and emailed my 3 AFP contacts re disclosing how the letter came into the hands of the AFP and will update the letter when someone calls me back.

For accuracy, should the letter also note that 4 other documents were inadvertently omitted from the documents provided to PM&C? My understanding is that, although PM&C obtained those 4 documents, they did not come from AGD, and if AGD has not overlooked the 2nd page of the spreadsheet, AGD would have provided them.

Dear Attorney-General

Attorney-General's Department's search and provision to Martin Place Siege Review of correspondence from Man Haron Monis

I am writing to explain the Attorney-General's Department's search for correspondence from Man Haron Monis and its provision to the Martin Place Siege Review and the measures I have taken relevant to this and the raising of the terrorist alert level on 12 September.

- 2. Between xx and xx January 2015 at the request of the Martin Place Siege Review (the Review) (check what the request was please) the department undertook searches for documents and correspondence relevant to the terms of reference for the Martin Place Siege Review. - 3. On 2 February 2015, officers in the department became aware that a letter from Sheikh Haron addressed to the Attorney-General dated 7 October 2014 seeking legal advice and the department's 5 November 2015 reply to that letter on the Attorney's behalf, had been inadvertently omitted from the correspondence provided to the Review. The officers became aware of this omission when the Australian Federal Police notified the department it had found the letter and the reply and one of the officers noted they could not see the document on the index of documents passed to the review by the department.
- 4. On the same day the departmental officers became aware of the omission a departmental officer contacted an officer in the Review team at the Department of the Prime Minister and Cabinet (PM&C) to advise that an item of correspondence and its response had inadvertently not been provided to the Review. The Review team member advised that the text of the Review had already been finalised and the department therefore did not provide the document.
- 5. In the week beginning 1 June 2015 the Department conducted a review of its January 2015 search for and provision of documents to the Review to ensure the accuracy of the search and knowledge of what had been passed to the Review. It ascertained that the Monis letter and response had been inadvertently omitted from what was passed to the Review because it had been located in a second tab in a spreadsheet of search results, which was overlooked by the officers collating the index of documents for the Review for provision to the Review. (PM&C has confirmed that the only four other documents identified in the second tab of the spreadsheet that should also have been passed to the Review by the Department were passed to the Review by other agencies during the Review.)

- 6. On 27 May 2015 at the Senate Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee Budget Estimates hearing, Katherine Jones, Deputy Secretary, National Security and Criminal Justice Group, provided evidence that the correspondence in question was provided to the review. After further discussions with a former colleague on the Review team, Ms Jones has now concluded that her evidence was incorrect and that she had been thinking of another document and not the correspondence in question. (Ms Jones was unaware when she gave her evidence that the correspondence in question had been the subject of discussion between officers of the Department and the Review on 2 February 2015.) Ms Jones will correct her evidence to the Senate Committee at the earliest opportunity.
- 7. To prevent such errors as that described in paragraph 5 above from occurring in future, I have asked officers in the department to prepare enhanced procedures to govern searches for, and provision of, documents in future.
- 8. Separately, it may be useful for me to outline the steps the department has taken steps to ensure appropriate awareness and vigilance after the National Public Alert Level was raised to High on 12 September 2014. These measures include:
 - An email to all staff on 12 September 2014 advising them of the change in the National Terrorism Public Alert level, noting ASIO's Protective Security Advice for Heightened Threat Environments and encouraging staff to be vigilant and report any suspicious activity or behaviour to the Departmental Security Unit.
 - Testing and review of Robert Garran Offices lockdown procedures on 2 November 2014.
 - A desktop exercise of the department's Business Continuity, Crisis Management and Heightened Security arrangements on 17 November 2014.
 - From November 2014 to March 2015, the department's (heightened security measures these words 'heightened security measures' are cryptic explain in plain English) were reviewed to prepare a new Security Alert Level Procedure. A new Security Alert Level Procedure was established from 20 May 2015 to support changes to protective security measures in the event of an escalating alert levels. (in fact this whole dotpoint is unintelligible)
- 9. In respect of correspondence, the department carefully assesses each item received on matters relating to national security. Departmental officers liaise with other government agencies, including law enforcement and security agencies, where an item of correspondence raises concerns. The Department also has a Security Policy outlining how officers should respond in the event of a threat to

Apologies – it appears the AFP did have the letter to the AG (although AFP referred to corro to AGD). So my changes to that sentence should be removed.

I have amended para 3 to reflect that only the letter to Monis (not the letter from Monis) was located by the AFP. I have left phone messages and emailed my 3 AFP contacts re disclosing how the letter came into the hands of the AFP and will update the letter when someone calls me back.

For accuracy, should the letter also note that 4 other documents were inadvertently omitted from the documents provided to PM&C? My understanding is that, although PM&C obtained those 4 documents, they did not come from AGD, and if AGD has not overlooked the 2nd page of the spreadsheet, AGD would have provided them.

Senator the Hon George Brandis Attorney-General Parliament House Canberra ACT 2600

Dear Attorney-General

Attorney-General's Department's search and provision to Martin Place Siege Review of correspondence from Man Haron Monis

I am writing to explain the Attorney-General's Department's search for correspondence from Man Haron Monis and its provision to the Martin Place Siege Review (the Review) and the measures I have taken relevant to this and the raising of the terrorist alert level on 12 September.

- 2. Between 5 and 15 January 2015 at the request of the Review the department undertook searches for documents and correspondence relevant to the terms of reference for the Martin Place Siege Review. This includes searches of the department's ministerial correspondence and its records management systems. On 14 January 2015, once the documents held by the department relevant to the terms of reference for the Martin Place Siege Review had been identified and collated, they were passed by the department to the Review team at Department of the Prime Minister and Cabinet (PM&C).
- 3. On 2 February 2015, officers in the department became aware that a letter from Sheikh Haron addressed to the Attorney-General dated 7 October 2014 seeking legal advice and the department's 5 November 2015 reply to that letter on the Attorney's behalf, had been inadvertently omitted from the correspondence provided to the Review. The officers became aware of this omission when the Australian Federal Police notified the department it had found the letter and the reply and one of the officers noted they could not see the document on the index or documents passed to the review by the department.
- 4. On the same day the departmental officers became aware of the omission a departmental officer contacted an officer in the Review team at the PM&C to advise that some documents had inadvertently not been provided to the Review. The Review team member advised that the text of the Review had already been finalised and the department therefore did not provide the document.
- 5. In the week beginning 1 June 2015 the Department conducted a review of its January 2015 search for and provision of documents to the Review to ensure the accuracy of the search and knowledge of what had been passed to the Review. It ascertained that the Monis letter and response had been inadvertently omitted from what was passed to the Review because it had been located in a second tab in a spreadsheet of search results, which was overlooked by the officers collating the index of documents for the Review for provision to the Review. (PM&C has confirmed that the

- 6. On 27 May 2015 at the Senate Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee Budget Estimates hearing, Katherine Jones, Deputy Secretary, National Security and Criminal Justice Group, provided evidence that the correspondence in question was provided to the review. After further discussions with a former colleague on the Review team, Ms Jones has now concluded that her evidence was incorrect and that she had been thinking of another document and not the correspondence in question. (Ms Jones was unaware when she gave her evidence that the correspondence in question had been the subject of discussion between officers of the Department and the Review on 2 February 2015.) Ms Jones will correct her evidence to the Senate Committee at the earliest opportunity.
- 7. To prevent such errors as that described in paragraph 5 above from occurring in future, I have asked officers in the department to prepare enhanced procedures to govern searches for, and provision of, documents in future.
- 8. Separately, it may be useful for me to outline the steps the department has taken steps to ensure appropriate awareness and vigilance after the National Public Alert Level was raised to High on 12 September 2014. These measures include:
 - An email to all staff on 12 September 2014 advising them of the change in the National Terrorism Public Alert level, noting ASIO's Protective Security Advice for Heightened Threat Environments and encouraging staff to be vigilant and report any suspicious activity or behaviour to the Departmental Security Unit.
 - Testing and review of Robert Garran Offices lockdown procedures on 2 November 2014.
 - A desktop exercise of the department's Business Continuity, Crisis Management and Heightened Security arrangements on 17 November 2014.
 - From November 2014 to March 2015, the department's heightened security measures [these words 'heightened security measures' are cryptic explain in plain English] were reviewed to prepare a new Security Alert Level Procedure. A new Security Alert Level Procedure was established from 20 May 2015 to support changes to protective security measures in the event of an escalating alert levels.
- 9. In respect of correspondence, the department carefully assesses each item received on matters relating to national security. Departmental officers liaise with other government agencies, including law enforcement and security agencies, where an item of correspondence raises concerns. The Department also has a security policy outlining how officers should deal with real or perceived threats from the public.

Yours sincerely

- 3. On 2 February 2015, officers in the department became aware that a letter from Sheikh Haron addressed to the Attorney-General dated 7 October 2014 seeking legal advice and the department's 5 November 2015 reply to that letter on the Attorney's behalf, had been inadvertently omitted from the correspondence provided to the Review. The officers became aware of this omission when the Australian Federal Police notified the department it had found the letter and the reply and one of the officers noted they could not see the document on the mack of documents passed to the review by the department.
- 4. On the same day the departmental officers became aware of the omission a departmental officer contacted an officer in the Review team at the PM&C to advise that some documents had inadvertently not been provided to the Review. The Review team member advised that the text of the Review had already been finalised and the department therefore did not provide the document.
- 5. In the week beginning 1 June 2015 the Department conducted a review of its January 2015 search for and provision of documents to the Review to ensure the accuracy of the search and knowledge of what had been passed to the Review. It ascertained that the Monis letter and response had been inadvertently omitted from what was passed to the Review because it had been located in a second tab in a spreadsheet of search results, which was overlooked by the officers collating the index of documents for the Review for provision to the Review. (PM&C has confirmed that the

After further discussions with a former colleague on the Review team, Ms Jones has now concluded that her evidence was incorrect and that she had been thinking of another document and not the correspondence in question. Ms Jones will correct her evidence to the Senate Committee at the earliest opportunity.

 - Testing and review of Robert Garran Offices lockdown procedures on 2 November 2014.
 - A desktop exercise of the department's Business Continuity, Crisis Management and Heightened Security arrangements on 17 November 2014.
 - From November 2014 to March 2015, the department's heightened security measures [these words 'heightened security measures' are cryptic explain in plain English] were reviewed to prepare a new Security Alert Level Procedure. A new Security Alert Level Procedure was established from 20 May 2015 to support changes to protective security measures in the event
 of an escalating alert levels.
- 9. In respect of correspondence, the department carefully assesses each item received on matters relating to national security. Departmental officers liaise with other government agencies, including law enforcement and security agencies, where an item of correspondence raises concerns. The Department also has a security policy outlining how officers should deal with real or perceived threats from the public.

3 June 2015

Senator the Hon George Brandis QC Attorney-General Parliament House Canberra ACT 2600

Dear Attorney-General

Attorney-General's Department's search and provision to the Martin Place Siege Review of correspondence from Man Haron Monis

I am writing to explain the Attorney-General's Department's search for correspondence from Man Haron Monis and provision of that correspondence to the Martin Place Siege Review (the Review) and to outline measures the department has taken in relation to the search.

- 2. Between 5 and 15 January 2015 at the request of the Review the department undertook searches for documents and correspondence relevant to the terms of reference for the Martin Place Siege Review. This includes searches of the department's ministerial correspondence and records management systems. On 14 and 15 January 2015, once the documents held by the department relevant to the terms of reference for the Martin Place Siege Review had been identified and collated, they were passed by the department to the Review team at the Department of the Prime Minister and Cabinet (PM&C).
- 3. On 2 February 2015, officers in the department became aware that a letter from Sheikh Haron addressed to the Attorney-General dated 7 October 2014 seeking legal advice and the department's 5 November 2015 reply to that letter on the Attorney's behalf, had been inadvertently omitted from the correspondence provided to the Review. The officers became aware of this omission when the Australian Federal Police notified the department on 28 January 2015 that it had come into possession of the letter and the reply while making inquiries and one of the officers noted the documents were not listed on the index of documents passed to the Review by the department.
- 4. On 2 February 2015 a departmental officer contacted an officer in the Review team at the PM&C to advise that some documents had inadvertently not been provided to the Review. The Review team member advised that the text of the Review had already been finalised and the department therefore did not provide the document.
- 5. In the week beginning 1 June 2015 the Department conducted a review of its January 2015 search for and provision of documents to the Review to ensure the accuracy of the search and to confirm what had been passed to the Review. It ascertained that the Monis letter and response had been inadvertently omitted from what was passed to the Review because it had been located in a second tab in a spreadsheet of search results, which was overlooked by the officers collating the index of documents for the Review. (PM&C has confirmed that the only four other documents identified in the second tab of the spreadsheet that should also have been passed to the Review by the department were passed to the Review by other agencies during the Review.)

- 6. On 27 May 2015 at the Senate Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee Budget Estimates hearing, Katherine Jones, Deputy Secretary, National Security and Criminal Justice Group, provided evidence that the correspondence in question was provided to the review. After further discussions with a former colleague on the Review team, Ms Jones concluded that her recollection was incorrect and that she had been thinking of another document and not the correspondence in question. (Ms Jones was unaware when she gave her evidence that the correspondence in question had been the subject of discussion between officers of the Department and the Review on 2 February 2015.) Ms Jones will correct her evidence to the Senate Committee at the earliest opportunity.
- 7. To prevent errors such as that described in paragraph 5 above from occurring in future, I have asked officers in the department to prepare enhanced procedures to govern searches for, and provision of, documents in future.
- 8. Separately, it may be useful for me to outline the steps the department has taken steps to ensure appropriate awareness and vigilance after the National Public Alert Level was raised to High on 12 September 2014. These measures include:
 - staff were advised of the change in the National Terrorism Public Alert level and were encouraged to be vigilant and report any suspicious activity or behaviour
 - lockdown procedures for Robert Garran Offices were tested and reviewed
 - the department's Business Continuity, Crisis Management and Heightened Security arrangements were tested and reviewed
 - a threat assessment was sought from ASIO in relation to departmental premises, and
 - new heightened security measures were introduced and a Security Alert Level Procedure that provides for changes in protective security measures for the alert levels of Low, Medium, High and Extreme was established.
- 9. In respect of correspondence, the department carefully assesses each item received on matters relating to national security. Departmental officers liaise with other government agencies, including law enforcement and security agencies, where an item of correspondence raises concerns. The department also has a security policy outlining how officers should respond in the event of a threat.

Yours sincerely

Please show my proposed changes to others. I still think that para on heightened security doesn't work. Unless it can be explained in a standalone way, maybe go with the changes I have suggested.

Senator the Hon George Brandis QC Attorney-General Parliament House Canberra ACT 2600

Dear Attorney-General

Attorney-General's Department's search and provision to the Martin Place Siege Review of correspondence from Man Haron Monis

I am writing to explain the Attorney-General's Department's search for correspondence from Man Haron Monis and provision of that correspondence to the Martin Place Siege Review (the Review) and to outline measures the department has since taken in relation to the search.

- 2. Between 5 and 15 January 2015 at the request of the Review the department undertook searches for documents and correspondence relevant to the terms of reference for the Martin Place Siege Review. This includeds searches of the department's ministerial correspondence and records management systems. On 14 and 15 January 2015, once the documents held by the department relevant to the terms of reference for the Martin Place Siege Review had been identified and collated, they were passed by the department to the Review team at the Department of the Prime Minister and Cabinet (PM&C). The department further advised the Review on 15 January 2015 that the final element of the search of one system concluded that day had yielded no further documents for provision to the Review.
- 3. On 2 February 2015, officers in the department became aware that a letter from Sheikh Haron addressed to the Attorney-General dated 7 October 2014 seeking legal advice and the department's 5 November 2015 reply to that letter on the Attorney's behalf, had been inadvertently omitted from the correspondence provided to the Review. The officers became aware of this omission when the Australian Federal Police notified the department on 28 January 2015 that it had come into possession of the letter and the reply while making inquiries and one of the officers noted the documents were not listed on the index of documents passed to the Review by the department.
- 4. On 2 February 2015 a departmental officer contacted an officer in the Review team at the PM&C to advise that some (can we say "two documents" or "a Monis letter and a departmental response to it"?—over to documents had inadvertently not been provided to the Review. The Review team member advised that the text of the Review had already been finalised and the department therefore did not provide the two documents.
- 5. In the week beginning 1 June 2015 the Department conducted a review of its January 2015 search for and provision of documents to the Review to ensure the accuracy of the search and to confirm what had been passed to the Review. It ascertained that the Monis letter and response had been inadvertently omitted from what was passed to the Review because it had been located in a second tab in a spreadsheet of search results, which was overlooked by the officers collating the index of documents for the Review. (PM&C has confirmed that the only four other documents identified in the second tab of the spreadsheet that should also have been passed to the Review by the department, were passed to the Review by other agencies during the Review.)

- 6. On 27 May 2015 at the Senate Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee Budget Estimates hearing, Katherine Jones, Deputy Secretary, National Security and Criminal Justice Group, provided evidence that the correspondence in question was provided to the review. After further discussions with a former colleague on the Review team, Ms Jones concluded that her recollection was incorrect and that she had been thinking of another document and not the correspondence in question. (Ms Jones was unaware when she gave her evidence that the correspondence in question had been the subject of discussion between officers of the Department and the Review on 2 February 2015.) Ms Jones will correct her evidence to the Senate Committee at the earliest opportunity.
- 7. To prevent errors such as that described in paragraph 5 above from occurring in future, I have asked officers in the department to prepare enhanced procedures to governfor searches for, and provision of, documents in future.
- 8. Separately, it may be useful for me to outline the steps the department has taken-steps to ensure appropriate awareness and vigilance after the National Public Alert Level was raised to High on 12 September 2014. These measures include:
 - that staff were advised of the change in the National Terrorism Public Alert level and were encouraged to be vigilant and report any suspicious activity or behaviour
 - that lockdown procedures for Robert Garran Offices were tested and reviewed
 - that the department's Business Continuity, Crisis Management and Heightened Security arrangements were tested and reviewed
 - that a threat assessment was sought from ASIO in relation to departmental premises, and
- that new heightened some additional physical (?) security measures were introduced and a Security Alert Level Procedure that provides for changes in protective security measures for the alert-levels of Low, Medium, High and Extreme was established. (I still think this raises more questions than it answers)
- 9. In respect of correspondence, the department carefully assesses each item received on matters relating to national security. Departmental officers liaise with other government agencies, including law enforcement and security agencies, where an item of correspondence raises concerns. The department also has a security policy outlining how officers should respond in the event of a threat.

Yours sincerely

Sarah,

Some suggested edits.

I think the bit around 28 Jan is unnecessarily complicated.

I also think the words about the tab need to be clarified to avoid implying that the actual letters themselves were physically in the search results – the search just identified their existence.

Sarah,

Attached is the letter with some changes, mainly to para 3. I am concerned that para three as it was written indicated that officers of the department became aware of the omission on both 28 January and 2 February. Hopefully my rewording removes this confusion but happy for someone else to change it.

I have also included Tony's queries and edits in the version as well.

as suggested that we use the phrase 'some correspondence' in para 4 because, while he recalls using correspondence dates, he is uncertain whether he was as specific as stating 'two documents'.

Dear Attorney-General

Attorney-General's Department's search and provision to the Martin Place Siege Review of correspondence from Man Haron Monis

I am writing to explain the Attorney-General's Department's search for correspondence from Man Haron Monis and provision of that correspondence to the Martin Place Siege Review (the Review) and to outline measures the department has since taken in relation to the search.

- 2. Between 5 and 15 January 2015 at the request of the Review the department Department undertook searches for documents and correspondence relevant to the terms of reference for the Martin Place Siege Review. This includes included searches of the department's Department's ministerial correspondence and records management systems. The department further advised the Review on 15 January 2015 that the final element of the search of one system concluded that day had yielded no further documents for provision to the Review.
- 3. On 28 January 2015 the Australian Federal Police (AFP) notified the Department that, while making inquiries, it had come into possession of a letter from Sheikh Haron addressed to the Attorney-General dated 7 October 2014 seeking legal advice and the Department's reply on the Attorney-General's behalf dated 5 November 2014. Departmental officers noted the documents were not listed on the index of documents passed to the Review by the Department. On 2 2 February February 2015, officers in the department Department became awaredetermined that a letter from Sheikh Haron addressed to the Attorney General dated 7 October 2014 seeking legal advice and the department's 5 November 2015 reply to that letter on the Attorney's behalfthese letters, had been inadvertently omitted from the correspondence provided to the Review. The officers became aware of this omission when the Australian Federal Police notified the department on 28 January 2015 that it had come into possession of the letter and the reply while making inquiries and one of the officers noted the departments were not listed on the index of documents passed to the Review by the department
- 4. On 2 February 2015 a departmental officer contacted an officer in the Review team at the PM&C to advise that some decuments correspondence had inadvertently not been provided to the

Comment [MJP1]: The unedited paragraph states that 'officers became aware' in two different places, at two different times.

I have tried to re-word this paragraph to make it clear when the department became aware that the documents had not been provided to the Review and what followed.

Comment [MJP2]: In the phone conversation he had the conversation he had the conversation he had the conversation had been been conversationally whether he referred to 'two documents' or just 'correspondence'.

Review. The Review team member advised that the text of the Review had already been finalised and the department Department therefore did not provide the two documents.

- 5. In the week beginning 1 June 2015 the Department conducted a review of its January 2015 search for and provision of documents to the Review to ensure the accuracy of the search and to confirm what had been passed to the Review. It ascertained that the Monis letter and response had been inadvertently omitted from what was passed to the Review because it had been located in a second tab in a spreadsheet of search results, which was overlooked by the officers collating the index of documents for the Review. (PM&C has confirmed that the only four other documents identified in the second tab of the spreadsheet that should also have been passed to the Review by the department were passed to the Review by other agencies during the Review.)
- 6. On 27 May 2015 at the Senate Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee Budget Estimates hearing, Katherine Jones, Deputy Secretary, National Security and Criminal Justice Group, provided evidence that the correspondence in question was provided to the review. After further discussions with a former colleague on the Review team, Ms Jones concluded that her recollection was incorrect and that she had been thinking of another document and not the correspondence in question. (Ms Jones was unaware when she gave her evidence that the correspondence in question had been the subject of discussion between officers of the Department and the Review on 2 February 2015.) Ms Jones will correct her evidence to the Senate Committee at the earliest opportunity.
- 7. To prevent errors such as that described in paragraph 5 above from occurring in future, I have asked officers in the department to prepare enhanced procedures to governfor searches for, and provision of, documents in future.
- 8. Separately, it may be useful for me to outline the steps the department has taken steps to ensure appropriate awareness and vigilance after the National Public Alert Level was raised to High on 12 September 2014. These measures include:
 - that staff were advised of the change in the National Terrorism Public Alert level and were encouraged to be vigilant and report any suspicious activity or behaviour
 - that lockdown procedures for Robert Garran Offices were tested and reviewed
 - that the department's Department's Business Continuity, Crisis Management and Heightened Security arrangements were tested and reviewed
 - that a threat assessment was sought from ASIO in relation to departmental premises, and
 - that some additional physical (?) new heightened security measures were introduced and a Security Alert Level Procedure that provides for changes in protective security measures for the alert levels of Low, Medium, High and Extreme was established (I still think this raises more questions than it answers).
- 9. In respect of correspondence, the department Department carefully assesses each item received on matters relating to national security. Departmental officers liaise with other government agencies, including law enforcement and security agencies, where an item of correspondence raises concerns. The department Department also has a security policy outlining how officers should respond in the event of a threat.

Sarah,

Attached is the letter with some changes, mainly to para 3. I am concerned that para three as it was written indicated that officers of the department became aware of the omission on both 28 January and 2 February. Hopefully my rewording removes this confusion but happy for someone else to change it.

I have also included Tony's queries and edits in the version as well.

has suggested that we use the phrase 'some correspondence' in para 4 because, while he recalls using correspondence dates, he is uncertain whether he was as specific as stating 'two documents'.

are comfortable with the wording changes to para 3 & 4.

- there's a further question for you about what we said to PM&C about what had been omitted. I understand from our previous conversation that we only referred in general terms to correspondence but grateful if vou could consider Tony's query.

Tony is still concerned about wording on the final security measures point. I'm inclined to delete the point but let me know what you think.

Following is the relevant extract from the draft letter (two alternatives). I understand this is to be settled and provided to the Secretary by 3pm.

On 28 January 2015 the Australian Federal Police (AFP) notified the Department that, [preferred:] [alternative:] while making inquiries, it had come into possession of a letter from Sheikh Haron addressed to the Attorney-General dated 7 October 2014 seeking legal advice and the Department's reply on the Attorney-General's behalf dated 5 November 2014.

As noted, we consider it likely that if a bland formulation of words is used, we will subsequently be asked how the AFP came into possession of the letter.

There is no other reference to the AFP or the Coronial in the draft letter.

Dear Attorney-General

Attorney-General's Department's search and provision to the Martin Place Siege Review of correspondence from Man Haron Monis

I am writing to explain the Attorney-General's Department's search for correspondence from Man Haron Monis and provision of that correspondence to the Martin Place Siege Review (the Review) and to outline measures the department has since taken in relation to the search.

- 2. Between 5 and 15 January 2015 at the request of the Review the department undertook searches for documents and correspondence relevant to the terms of reference for the Martin Place Siege Review. This included searches of the department's ministerial correspondence and records management systems.
- 3. On 14 January 2015, once the documents held by the department relevant to the terms of reference for the Martin Place Siege Review had been identified and collated, they were passed by the department to the Review team at the Department of the Prime Minister and Cabinet (PM&C). The department further advised the Review on 15 January 2015 that the final element of the search of one system concluded that day had yielded no further documents for provision to the Review.
- 4. On 2 February 2015, officers in the department became aware that a letter from Sheikh Haron addressed to the Attorney-General dated 7 October 2014 seeking legal advice and the department's 5 November 2015 reply to that letter on the Attorney's behalf had been inadvertently omitted from the correspondence provided to the Review. The officers became aware of this omission following the Australian Federal Police notifying the department that it had come into possession of the letter and the reply while making inquiries.
- 5. On 2 February 2015 a departmental officer contacted an officer in the Review team at the PM&C to advise that some correspondence had inadvertently not been provided to the Review. The Review team member advised that the text of the Review had already been finalised and the department therefore did not provide the two documents.
- 6. In the week beginning 1 June 2015 the department conducted a review of its January 2015 search for and provision of documents to the Review to ensure the accuracy of the search and to confirm what had been passed to the Review. It ascertained that the Monis letter and reply had been inadvertently omitted from what was passed to the Review because they were listed in a second tab in a spreadsheet of search results that was overlooked by the officers collating the index of documents for the Review. (PM&C has confirmed that the only four other documents identified in the second tab of the spreadsheet that should also have been passed to the Review by the department were passed to the Review by other agencies during the Review.)

- 7. On 27 May 2015 at the Senate Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee Budget Estimates hearing, Katherine Jones, Deputy Secretary, National Security and Criminal Justice Group, provided evidence that the correspondence in question was provided to the review. After further discussions with a former colleague on the Review team, Ms Jones concluded that her recollection was incorrect and that she had been thinking of another document and not the correspondence in question. (Ms Jones was unaware when she gave her evidence that the correspondence in question had been the subject of discussion between officers of the Department and the Review on 2 February 2015.) Ms Jones will correct her evidence to the Senate Committee at the earliest opportunity.
- 8. To prevent errors such as that described in paragraph 5 above from occurring in future, I have asked officers in the department to prepare enhanced procedures for searches and provision of documents in future.
- 9. Separately, it may be useful for me to outline the steps the department has taken to ensure appropriate awareness and vigilance after the National Public Alert Level was raised to High on 12 September 2014. These measures include:
 - advising staff of the change in the National Terrorism Public Alert level and were encouraged to be vigilant and report any suspicious activity or behaviour
 - testing and reviewing lockdown procedures for Robert Garran Offices
 - testing and reviewing the department's Business Continuity, Crisis Management and Heightened Security arrangements, and
 - seeking a threat assessment from ASIO in relation to departmental premises.
- 10. In respect of correspondence, the department carefully assesses each item received on matters relating to national security. Departmental officers liaise with other government agencies, including law enforcement and security agencies, where an item of correspondence raises concerns. The department also has a security policy outlining how officers should respond in the event of a threat.

Dear Attorney-General

Attorney-General's Department's search and provision to the Martin Place Siege Review of correspondence from Man Haron Monis

I am writing to explain the Attorney-General's Department's search for correspondence from Man Haron Monis and provision of that correspondence to the Martin Place Siege Review (the Review) and to outline measures the department has since taken in relation to the search.

- 2. Between 5 and 15 January 2015 at the request of the Review the department undertook searches for documents and correspondence relevant to the terms of reference for the Martin Place Siege Review. This included searches of the department's ministerial correspondence and records management systems.
- 3. On 14 January 2015, once the documents held by the department relevant to the terms of reference for the Martin Place Siege Review had been identified and collated, they were passed by the department to the Review team at the Department of the Prime Minister and Cabinet (PM&C). The department further advised the Review on 15 January 2015 that the final element of the search of one system concluded that day had yielded no further documents for provision to the Review.
- 4. On 2 February 2015, officers in the department became aware that a letter from Sheikh Haron addressed to the Attorney-General dated 7 October 2014 seeking legal advice and the department's 5 November 2015 reply to that letter on the Attorney's behalf had been inadvertently omitted from the correspondence provided to the Review. The officers became aware of this omission following the Australian Federal Police notifying the department that it had come into possession of the letter and the reply while making inquiries.
- 5. On 2 February 2015 a departmental officer contacted an officer in the Review team at the PM&C to advise that some correspondence had inadvertently not been provided to the Review. The Review team member advised that the text of the Review had already been finalised and the department therefore did not provide the two documents. The two documents were, however, provided to the coronial inquiry.
- 6. In the week beginning 1 June 2015 the department conducted a review of its January 2015 search for and provision of documents to the Review to ensure the accuracy of the search and to confirm what had been passed to the Review. It ascertained that the Monis letter and reply had been inadvertently omitted from what was passed to the Review because they were listed in a second tab in a spreadsheet of search results that was overlooked by the officers collating the index of documents for the Review. (PM&C has confirmed that the only four other documents identified in the second tab of the spreadsheet that should also have been passed to the Review by the department were passed to the Review by other agencies during the Review.)

- 7. On 27 May 2015 at the Senate Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee Budget Estimates hearing, Katherine Jones, Deputy Secretary, National Security and Criminal Justice Group, provided evidence that the correspondence in question was provided to the review. After further discussions with a former colleague on the Review team, Ms Jones concluded that her recollection was incorrect and that she had been thinking of another document and not the correspondence in question. (Ms Jones was unaware when she gave her evidence that the correspondence in question had been the subject of discussion between officers of the Department and the Review on 2 February 2015.) Ms Jones will correct her evidence to the Senate Committee at the earliest opportunity.
- 8. To prevent errors such as that described in paragraph 5 above from occurring in future, I have asked officers in the department to prepare enhanced procedures for searches and provision of documents in future.
- 9. Separately, it may be useful for me to outline the steps the department has taken to ensure appropriate awareness and vigilance after the National Public Alert Level was raised to High on 12 September 2014. These measures include:
 - advising staff of the change in the National Terrorism Public Alert level and were encouraged to be vigilant and report any suspicious activity or behaviour
 - testing and reviewing lockdown procedures for Robert Garran Offices
 - testing and reviewing the department's Business Continuity, Crisis Management and Heightened Security arrangements, and
 - seeking a threat assessment from ASIO in relation to departmental premises.
- 10. In respect of correspondence, the department carefully assesses each item received on matters relating to national security. Departmental officers liaise with other government agencies, including law enforcement and security agencies, where an item of correspondence raises concerns. The department also has a security policy outlining how officers should respond in the event of a threat.

Yours sincerely

Hi Ayesha

It would be wonderful to have your assistance in preparing procedures or guidelines on searching and providing documents for audits/investigations/reviews etc.

The context is mainly the recent Monis correspondence issues (see attached draft letter from Secretary to Attorney) as well as the Safer Streets audit (draft SOPs attached).

I haven't had particularly clear direction about what it is intended to cover but happy to meet and discuss in more detail.

Dear Attorney-General

Attorney-General's Department's search and provision to the Martin Place Siege Review of correspondence from Man Haron Monis

I am writing to explain the Attorney-General's Department's search for correspondence from Man Haron Monis and provision of that correspondence to the Martin Place Siege Review (the Review) and to outline measures the department has since taken in relation to the search.

- 2. Between 5 and 15 January 2015 at the request of the Review the department undertook searches for documents and correspondence relevant to the terms of reference for the Martin Place Siege Review. This included searches of the department's ministerial correspondence and records management systems.

(PM&C has confirmed that the only four other documents identified in the second tab of the spreadsheet that should also have been passed to the Review by the department were passed to the Review by other agencies during the Review.)

- 7. On 27 May 2015 at the Senate Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee Budget Estimates hearing, Katherine Jones, Deputy Secretary, National Security and Criminal Justice Group, provided evidence that the correspondence in question was provided to the review. After further discussions with a former colleague on the Review team, Ms Jones concluded that her recollection was incorrect and that she had been thinking of another document and not the correspondence in question. The department also has a security policy outlining how officers should respond in the event of a threat.
