

Dear Member/s of Senate Committee,

I would like to express my opinion on The Migration Amendment (Visa Capping) Bill 2010. The bill being introduced is totally unfair, inequity and unhuman for taking off existing applicants who have already applied and been waiting for 2-3 years. It breaks the fundamental, principle and faith that we are holding that Australia is a democratic and fair go nation. Government is supposed having right and capacities to do anything for planning the future of well-being of the nation, but legitimate right of human should never be deteriorated by any post facto policies.

I am a former international student arrived in 2006, studied accounting in Adelaide where is recognised as a regional area. I graduated and lodged my application for GSM885 in July 2008 and have been working and paying tax in my nominated occupation as an accountant till now for one and half year. Bearing the long uncertainty during processing time of my application, my wife and I holding bridging visas could not formally start our life in Australia, even though we both got full time jobs. As an accountant in a public practice I have also enrolled in Chartered Accountant program towards to be fully qualified. We also plan to buy a property and really want to have baby (we are 29 years ago).

If the bill is passed as an Act and implemented later sometime, we will be forced to sell everything we have and leave Australia within 28 days if our case ceased and capped. We have to also quit our jobs, and my CA program which is chartered title and not recognised in my home country. That is absolutely a loss for everyone.

To sum up, the bill being discussed is absolutely far more than wrong. It will be a very bad example in Australian legal system and Australia will certainly lose respects. Every eligible applicant deserves their visa. Every application with same situation expects the persons who have a right to vote, please do the right thing.

Yours faithfully,

30 May 2010
