

A Response to the Social and Economic Impact of Rural Wind Farms

Dear sir/madam, I am writing to make submission to the Senate Inquiry.

My reasons for desiring a positive approach to wind farms includes only small to medium farms, especially community owned farms. In this era of not only peak resources and climate change but gross social inequity across the globe we must phase out the big polluters and assist the general public in reducing energy consumption (along with all consumption) to be able to simply exist in the near future. We need to encourage all small efforts to become energy self sufficient in the shortest time frame possible in all our communities, especially those in the rural areas.

Yours sincerely,

Su Dennett

Hepburn Relocalisation Network

check out or subscribe to our blog at: www.relocalisehepburn.blogspot.com