JOINT SELECT COMMITTEE ON AUSTRALIA'S IMMIGRATION DETENTION NETWORK

*Q24 &
Q30***

Question:

24. How many SERCO or DIAC officers have reported incidents of abuse or threats of abuse made against them by detainees or other persons within the Detention Network and how many detainees or other persons within the Detention Network have reported incidents of abuse or threats of abuse?

- a. What was the nature of these incidents?
- b. What action was taken in respect of each incident?
- c. How many charges have been laid in respect of these incidents?
- d. What is the status of these charges?
- e. What is the status of each officer involved in these incidents (i.e. stress leave, change of location, hospital treatment, and financial compensation)?

30. Have there been any allegations of any kind of abuse – sexual or physical – against any detainee in any of the detention facilities on the mainland or on Christmas Island by another detainee, employee of the Government or employee of the contractor? What has been the outcome of those allegations?

Answer:

Since commencing as the detention services provider on 1 October 2009, to 30 June 2011, Serco reported 871 incidents of alleged or observed inappropriate behaviour by clients or other persons within the detention network towards Serco staff. DIAC officers reported 9 incidents of inappropriate behaviour towards them in the same period. Other sources, including service providers, reported 8 incidents of inappropriate behaviour towards their staff members.

Clients reported 31 incidents of inappropriate behaviour towards them from other clients. Serco reported 700 incidents of inappropriate behaviour between clients. DIAC officers reported 8 incidents of inappropriate behaviour between clients. External sources reported 6 incidents of inappropriate behaviour between clients.

The inappropriate behaviours reported as incidents above include alleged or observed abusive/aggressive behaviour, physical and sexual assaults, involvement in disturbances and damage to facilities.

Serco has a behavioural management policy in place to guide the management of behavioural issues that arise within immigration detention environments. The policy focuses on preventing behavioural issues through fostering a positive physical and social environment and diffusing issues that do arise before they escalate. All people in immigration detention are briefed on the policy around anti-social behaviour during the induction process and are advised about how they can raise issues or make a complaint to the detention service provider, the department, Commonwealth Ombudsman or Australian Human Rights Commission.

JOINT SELECT COMMITTEE ON AUSTRALIA'S IMMIGRATION DETENTION NETWORK

*Q24 &
Q30*

Where behavioural issues are observed or a complaint is made, Serco consider an appropriate intervention or response to address the particular circumstances. The type of intervention or response that may be implemented includes, but is not limited to:

- group or individual counselling on the consequences of anti-social behaviour
- establishment of a behavioural management agreement
- transfer of a client to a different area of a facility or to another facility
- withdrawal of access to amenities
- curfews or restrictions on access to specific areas
- referral to third party for investigation (such as Police or child welfare agencies)

Action taken by Serco in relation to these incidents are recorded in multiple systems depending upon the nature of the incident. The very detailed information sought in the question is not readily available in consolidated form and it would be a major task to collect and assemble it. In order to report on the outcome for each incident, the department would need to manually interrogate these systems. The department estimates that this would take a departmental officer an average of 30 minutes for each incident. This equates to approximately 58 working days.

The police authorities were notified 264 times in relation to incidents of possible criminal behaviour.

The departments systems do not directly record whether DIAC or Serco notifies police in relation to possible criminal behaviour resulted in charges being laid.

The status of any action taken by police in relation to notifications about possible criminal behaviour are a matter for police. Where a client is convicted of a criminal offence, this is notified to the department and considered as part of the character assessment in the visa assessment process; the conviction records are accessed using police and court records.

In relation to DIAC staff, nine "client aggression" incidents occurring at immigration detention facilities have been recorded in the last 12 months in the departments Occupational Health and Safety (OHS) incident register. As at 30 June 2011, there is no record of workers' compensation as a result of any of these incidents. None of these incidents have resulted in workers' compensation claims to date. All incidents recorded in the department's national OHS incident register are reviewed by a manager and a national OHS coordinator to ensure that any necessary action is taken and support is provided to the impacted staff member. The departments systems do not record the status of Serco staff or other persons involved in these incidents.

Note: On 29 June 2009, the department entered into a five-year contract with Serco Australia Pty Ltd (Serco) to provide services at immigration facilities. Serco took responsibility for detention service provision through a staged approach beginning on Christmas Island on 1 October 2009. The transition from the previous detention service provider, G4S, to Serco was completed on 31 January 2010 when Serco took responsibility for managing all immigration detention facilities on Christmas Island and mainland Australia.

IMMIGRATION DETENTION NETWORK

*Q25 &
Q26***

Question:

25) Has the Department been advised of any incidents of physical abuse or threats made against SERCO staff or IHMS staff within the detention network by detainees or other persons in each of the past 3 years?

26) If yes:

- (a) On what date was the Department made aware of these incidents?
- (b) In which centres did these incidents occur?
- (c) Have any charges being laid in respect of these incidents and if so what is the current status of these charges?

Answer:

25) A small number of allegations against IHMS staff have been made through the Ombudsman's Office, Australian Red Cross, and the Australian Human Rights Commission. All of these allegations, upon investigation by the department and IHMS, have been unproven.

There were 15 client allegations against Serco staff, two client allegations against contractors and one staff allegation against a Serco Officer in the period until 30 June 2011.

- 26) (a). The department was notified on the same day the allegations were reported.
- (b). Five reported incidents of abuse at Christmas Island Immigration Detention Centre (IDC), three incidents at Northern IDC, three incidents at Villawood IDC, two at Perth IDC and one each at Maribyrnong IDC, Curtin IDC, Brisbane Immigration Transit Accommodation, Construction Camp Alternative Place of Detention (APOD) and Gwalia Lodge APOD.
- (c). The police authorities were notified on three occasions. To the extent that the department is aware, no charges have been laid in relation to these incidents.

Staff Incidents

Question: Has Serco been sanctioned for any escapes or disturbances and if so, on which dates and for what specific reason?

Answer: The table below indicates the escapes, through to 30 June 2011, where financial sanctions applied under the Performance Management regime for the Detention Services Contract which came into effect on 1 April 2010. It is important to note that the application of abatements under the Contract is a complex area and involves review of individual activities and incidents, including all escapes, at both a regional and national level (for further information see JSC question on notice 103). As at 30 June 2011 there were some delays on JFAT reporting for Christmas Island hence this information was not included in the previous version of this response, however this has now been included.

Note: While all escapes are taken into account for abatement purposes, this table only includes escapes where sanctions applied under the Contract abatement regime.

Under the detention services contract, an abatement is applied when the detention services provider fails to meet the minimum performance standard required under the contract. No sanctions are applied for disturbances; however, criminal charges can be laid against people who are found guilty of wilfully damaging commonwealth property.

*Note: Sanctions do not apply to escapes at Immigration Residential Housing (IRH) or Immigration Transit Accommodation (ITA) facilities as per the IRH and ITA contract because these are considered low security facilities and therefore would normally accommodate low risk clients.

JOINT SELECT COMMITTEE ON AUSTRALIA'S IMMIGRATION DETENTION NETWORK

*Q28 &
Q29*

- Questions:
- 28) How many SERCO employees, across different immigration detention facilities, have been accused of inappropriate conduct?
  - 29) Please provide details of each of these allegations including: the gender of both parties involved, nature of the complaint, complaint resolution, date of complaint, date of resolution of complaint.

Answer: Serco has provided the following answer in response to questions 28 and 29:

Serco is aware of 13 complaints of inappropriate conduct made against Serco employees in respect of which there was an actual or potential impact on clients, the provision of services to clients and Serco's obligations under the Contract. Serco is also aware of complaints of inappropriate conduct against Serco employees which were internal disciplinary matters and in respect of which there was no potential impact on clients, the provision of services to clients and Serco's obligations under the Contract. In relation to the 13 complaints in respect of which there was a potential impact on clients, the provision of services to clients and Serco's obligations under the Contract: (sic).

The 13 complaints were made in the period 1st July 2010 to 29 March 2011. Of the 13 complaints, all were the subject of internal investigations. Ultimately, 5 complaints were found to be substantiated and 8 were found to be unsubstantiated. Of the 5 complaints found to be substantiated, the employee the subject of the complaint was male in 5 cases and female in 0 cases. Action taken as a consequence of the 5 substantiated complaints included that the employee was counselled in 5 cases and that the employee was dismissed in 0 cases.

Staff Incidents

Question: Are DIAC officers required to report incidents they personally witness in a centre? If so, what is the procedure for doing this? If not, why not? Please provide copies of reports made by DIAC since January 2008.

Answer: DIAC officers that witness incidents are required to ensure that such incidents are reported. If a DIAC officer witnessed the incident, Serco is informed and reports the incident in the immigration detention system. The DIAC officer would be recorded as a witness. Further information on Serco incident reports is available in the DIAC response to Joint Select Committee question 21(a).

*Q33*

Contracts

Question: Are staff of the Department or any of its agencies or contractors required to sign confidentiality agreements? Is this standard practise? If so, why? Please provide a copy of the most recent confidentiality agreement.

Answer:

DIAC Staff

All non-ongoing and ongoing staff of the department sign an 'acknowledgement of compliance' agreement, stating that they understand and will comply with the department's security policies, standards and procedures and relevant legislation governing the handling of official information.

Serco

Serco must ensure that all service provider personnel that are to carry out work or perform duties under both contracts have signed:

- a confidentiality deed poll; and
- a deed of non-disclosure of personal information prior to commencing work or performing duties.

A Serco code of conduct must also be signed by each employee.

On 18 July 2011, the department requested Serco provide input into the Joint Select Committee question above and to date a reply has not been received as such the department is unable to provide a copy of the most recent confidentiality agreement. The department will provide a copy of the agreement as soon as it becomes available.

IHMS

It is a requirement under the health service contract between the department and the health services provider, International Health and Medical Services (IHMS) that all IHMS employees sign a confidentiality agreement. The confidentiality agreement is relevant to IHMS and the employee only, and a copy is not held by the department.

In turn, IHMS has signed the health services contract ("the contract") which provides that the company will recognise and uphold the confidentiality of the department's confidential information (as defined in the contract). By extension, the IHMS contract undertaking is extended to the employee through the confidentiality agreement. Full details of the confidentiality requirement are covered in the respective contract/agreement as follows:

Health Care Services Agreement - Christmas Island
Clause 12.4(c) and 13.

Mainland Health Services Contract

- C. The parties have agreed to amend the IDC Contract on the terms and conditions contained in this Deed.

Operative provisions

In consideration of the mutual promises contained in this document, the parties to this Deed of Variation agree as follows:

1. Definitions and Interpretation

Definitions

1.1. In this Deed, unless the contrary intention indicates otherwise:

- b. a term in bold type has the meaning shown opposite it.

APOD means any of the Facilities identified as an Alternative Place of Detention in Schedule 1;

Interpretation

1.2. Clause 74 of the IDC Contract applies to this Deed as though a reference to the 'Contract' is a reference to this Deed.

Guidance on construction of Deed

1.3. As far as possible all provisions of this Deed will be construed so as not to be void or otherwise unenforceable.

1.4. If anything in this Deed is void or otherwise unenforceable then it will be severed and the rest of the Deed remains in force.

1.5. A provision of this Deed will not be construed to the disadvantage of a party solely on the basis that it proposed that provision.

1.6. In the event of conflict between this Deed and the IDC Contract, the provisions of the Deed will prevail.

Commencement

1.7. The terms of this Deed apply on and from the date of this Deed.

2. Amendment of the IDC Contract

- 2.4. The following clauses in the IDC Contract do not apply with respect to an APOD and the provision of Services at an APOD:
- a. clause 5 (Transition In) and Schedule 6 (Transition Requirements);
  - b. clause 6 (Achievement of Milestones and Acceptance Testing);
  - c. clause 7 (Verification);
  - d. clause 9 (Liquidated Damages); and
  - e. clause 32 (Activating, Deactivating and Reactivating a Facility).
- 2.5. Schedule 4.3 of the IDC Contract (Reporting Requirements) does not apply with respect to an APOD.
- 2.6. The parties acknowledge the amendments set out in this Deed are intended to cover the period from 1 March 2010 to 31 December 2011. The parties acknowledge that there will need to be a further variation to the IDC Contract. The parties will use their best endeavours to finalise any such variation in a timely manner. Where a Facility is still being used for the provision of Services on 31 December 2011, subject to the Department directing the Service Provider otherwise and any further variation to the IDC Contract, the Service Provider will continue providing Services at that Facility in accordance with the IDC Contract as amended by this Deed, including the Pricing Tables set out in Schedule 2.

3. Detention Services Fees and Costs

- b. without limiting the Department's other rights under the IDC Contract or at law, there will be no application of an Incentive or Abatement in relation to the amounts referred to in clause 3.1.

3.3. Each party will bear its own costs and expenses (including legal costs) arising out of and incidental to the negotiation, preparation, execution and delivery of this Deed.

4. Entire agreement and variation

4.1. The parties confirm all the other provisions of the IDC Contract and, subject only to the amendments contained in this Deed, the IDC Contract shall remain in full force and effect and shall be read and construed and be enforceable as if the terms of this Deed were supplemental to the IDC Contract.

4.2. This Deed and the IDC Contract, when read together, contain the entire agreement of the parties with respect to the parties' rights and obligations under the IDC Contract and supersede all prior understandings and representations between the parties with respect to the parties' rights and obligations under the IDC Contract.

4.3. Each party will take such steps, execute all such documents and do all such acts and things as may be reasonably required by any other party to give effect to any of the transactions contemplated by this Deed.

In cases where a communicable disease is identified or suspected, the Department's contracted Health Services Provider liaises with local public health authorities to ensure appropriate measures are in place, such as quarantining and treatment, to prevent other people from being exposed to the disease, including members of the broader Australian community.

Health Fears and Asylum Seekers

Question: Please provide an update as to the communicable diseases that have been detected in any of the detention facilities for the last three financial years.

Answer: The Department's Health Service Provider, International Health and Medical Services (IHMS), has provided the below tables, which list communicable diseases detected in irregular maritime arrivals at immigration detention facilities for the last two financial years. Data for 2008-09 is unavailable as this was prior to changes in 2009 to IHMS' data recording, which enabled electronic recording and recall of communicable disease data (prior to this, reporting was free text only, against individual client records, with no agreed common descriptions or classifications).

Question: What are they and how have they been managed?

Answer: The Department's Health Service Provider, International Health and Medical Services (IHMS), has provided the below table, which lists communicable diseases detected in irregular maritime arrivals at immigration detention facilities for the last two financial years. Data for 2008-09 is unavailable as this was prior to changes in 2009 to IHMS' data recording, which enabled electronic recording and recall of communicable disease data (prior to this, reporting was free text only, against individual client records, with no agreed common descriptions or classifications).

In cases where a communicable disease is identified or suspected, the Department's contracted Health Services Provider liaises with local public health authorities to ensure appropriate measures are in place, such as quarantining and treatment, to prevent other people from being exposed to the disease, including members of the broader Australian community.

Health Fears and Asylum Seekers

Question: Have any people with treated or untreated communicable diseases been transported to the mainland from Christmas Island? How? What are the disease management protocols on Christmas Island?

Answer: No person with an untreated communicable disease has been transported to the mainland. People with a treated communicable disease, and who are no longer contagious, are transported to the mainland as part of normal operational requirements.

Transport is by commercial or chartered aircraft for general or non-urgent transfers, and by air ambulance or the Royal Flying Doctor Service for emergency transfers.

Details of Christmas Island disease management protocols are below.

Action: Public health screening is done on all Irregular Maritime Arrivals on arrival. Any person noted to have a cough for 3 months or haemoptysis has a mask put on immediately. The GP is notified and the client is sent to Christmas Island hospital for urgent chest x-ray (CXR) and sputum collection, and management. All contacts have a Mantoux test and CXR and treated as necessary.

All long term clients with a productive cough for 3 months or more have a repeat CXR.

All long term clients with haemoptysis are sent to hospital with mask on for sputum collection and repeat CXR.

All positive active TB is reported to WA Public Health and Chest Clinic, Perth.

Answer: The department follows the advice of the contracted health services provider, International Health and Medical Services (IHMS), in relation to the management of communicable diseases. Provided below is IHMS' disease management protocol for Christmas Island, which has been provided for indicative purposes. All detention facilities follow these protocols, with notifications of State or Territory health bodies the only variant. These protocols have been developed along Centre for Disease Control guidelines.

Alternative Detention Arrangements

Question: How many families and unaccompanied minors have been moved into community detention? Over what period? Where are they? What is the cost per person per day of these arrangements? Do they have case managers? Are they departmental or contracted third parties, such as the Red Cross? What is the role of third parties in managing these cases? At what cost?

Answer: Between 1 January 2008 and 18 October 2010, 236 individuals (64 adults and 63 children and 109 unaccompanied minors) were moved into community detention.

Prior to the Minister's announcement of 18 October 2010 (regarding the expanded use of community detention for unaccompanied minors and vulnerable families) there were 29 individuals in community detention, 18 adults and 11 children (as at 14 October 2010).

Between 18 October 2010 and 27 July 2011 1601 individuals (823 adults, 514 accompanied children and 264 unaccompanied minors) have been approved for community detention:

- 1504 individuals (769 adults, 486 accompanied children and 249 unaccompanied minors) have been moved into community detention
- 69 individuals (30 adults and 25 children and 14 unaccompanied minors) were approved for community detention but granted protection visas before they moved into community detention
- 28 individuals (24 adults and 4 accompanied minors) have been approved by the Minister and are in the process of moving into community detention

It is anticipated that the costs of the community detention program for the 2010-11 financial year will be $15.734 million. This figure will be confirmed once the department's financial statements have been finalised and signed off by the Australian National Audit Office.

The costs incurred to date reflect the high initial costs for the program (such as securing leases, connection fees for utilities and provision of household goods in each property). These initial costs are higher than can be expected for future financial years due to the expansion of the program from around 50 clients in January 2011 to over 1500 in June 2011.

As such, a cost per person per day equation would not accurately reflect the costs for community detention at this point in time.

Clients in community detention are allocated a departmental case manager, like any other client in immigration detention. The departmental case manager is the client's contact point with the department and works to resolve the client's immigration status.

The department has contracted the Australian Red Cross to provide care and welfare to clients in community detention. Clients are also supported by a case worker supplied by either the Australian Red Cross, as the contracted lead service provider, or a sub-contracted agency. The department's requirements for the care of clients in community detention are contained within the contract with the Australian Red Cross. The key requirements are:

JOINT SELECT COMMITTEE ON AUSTRALIA'S IMMIGRATION DETENTION NETWORK

*Q42***

- accommodation is sourced which is suitable to client's needs;
- accommodation is furnished according to the standard household formation package;
- client is provided with a financial allowance;
- client has access to health services facilitated, including mental health as required;
- client is supported to enrol children at schools, use public transport and amenities, and linked with community groups and other providers as required;
- a client care plan is prepared for every client outlining their needs and support;
- monthly reports prepared for each client/family group;
- all incidents that occur while in community detention are reported to the department.

In relation to unaccompanied minors the Australian Red Cross is required to provide 24 hour live in support and care, in addition to the points above.

Alternative Detention Arrangements

Question: What agreements or contracts have been entered into with NGO's to manage those released under residence determinations? What are their obligations and responsibilities in relation to those released? What obligation is placed on NGO's to have failed asylum seekers available for removal?

Answer: The department has a contract with the Australian Red Cross for the delivery of services to clients in community detention. In addition the department also has a separate contract with Life Without Barriers for the provision of support to some unaccompanied minors in community detention.

The Australian Red Cross has established a number of sub-contracted arrangements for care of clients in community detention. Organisations currently providing these services include AMES, Multicultural Development Association, Anglicare, Jesuit Refugee Services, Marist Youth Care, Hotham Mission Asylum Seeker Project, Uniting Care, Mackillop Family Services, Catholic Care, Berry St, Wesley Mission and Life Without Barriers.

The department's requirements for the care of clients in community detention are contained within the contract with the Australian Red Cross. The key requirements are:

- accommodation is sourced which is suitable to client's needs;
- accommodation is furnished according to the standard household formation package;
- client is provided with a financial allowance;
- client has access to health services facilitated, including mental health as required;

- all incidents that occur while in community detention are reported to the department.

In relation to unaccompanied minors the Australian Red Cross is required to provide 24 hour live in support and care in addition to the points above.

In addition clients in community detention have regular contact with their departmental case manager and can raise any concerns about their community detention placement with them.

The Australian Red Cross, or their sub-contracted agency, is required to provide emotional and welfare support and facilitate referral to appropriate specialist support to community detention clients following notification of a negative decision or a decision to remove a client.

The Australian Red Cross, or their sub-contracted agency, will continue to provide care and support to the client while arrangements are made for their return. The return arrangements are managed by departmental officers.

*Q44***

Alternative Detention Arrangements

Question: What entitlements are they receiving? Welfare payments? Medicare? Other health and transport benefits? Cash payments? Clothing allowance? Work rights?

Answer: Clients in community detention remain in immigration detention and do not have the rights of visa holders in the community. This means they are not eligible for Centrelink and Medicare and do not have any work rights.

Clients in community detention are supported by the department through a financial allowance which is set at 89% of the Centrelink income support payments (excluding rent assistance and family benefits payment). Clients are expected to cover their food, other groceries, public transport and other costs such as clothing from this allowance. Educational expenses and travel to and from school for minors in community detention are covered by the department.

Clients in community detention are able to access health services provided by contracted health providers in the community, including GPs, mental health counsellors and specialist providers.

In addition unaccompanied minors are able to access a $200 seasonal clothing allowance in the first year. The cost of organised activities for unaccompanied minors of up to $2000 per year is also covered by the department, for example to cover the cost of a soccer club membership, art or music classes, or excursions during school holidays.

Alternative Detention Arrangements

Question: Do they have a DIAC case manager? What other support does the Department provide them?

Answer: Clients in community detention are allocated a departmental case manager, like any other client in immigration detention.

Clients in community detention are supported while in community detention by their Australian Red Cross (or subcontracted) case officer and their departmental case manager.

Clients in community detention are supported by the department through a financial allowance which is set at 89% of the Centrelink income support payments (excluding rent assistance and family benefits payment). Note: On 29 June 2009, DIAC entered into a five-year contract with Serco Australia Pty Ltd (Serco) to provide services at immigration facilities. Serco took responsibility for detention service provision through a staged approach beginning on Christmas Island on 1 October 2009. The transition from the previous detention service provider to Serco was completed on 31 January 2010 when Serco took responsibility for managing all immigration detention facilities on Christmas Island and mainland Australia.

*Q49***

Question: Query about whether the immigration statistics (as attached to question2) could be presented in Excel spreadsheet form, and sent through electronically. (Supplementary to Question 2)

Answer: The very detailed information sought in the question is not readily available in consolidated form and it would be a major task to collect and assemble it.

It is estimated that it would take a dedicated resource approximately four weeks to complete this task, which involves manually transferring information from PDF documents into Excel worksheets and then quality assure the data.

This would amount to an unreasonable diversion of resources, particularly given that the department has already provided the statistics as requested.

JOINT SELECT COMMITTEE ON AUSTRALIA'S IMMIGRATION DETENTION NETWORK

*Q50***

Question: What is the total cost of the community detention program?

Answer: The cost of the community detention program for the 2010-11 financial year was $17.3 million.

The costs incurred to date reflect the high initial costs for the program (such as securing leases, connection fees for utilities and provision of household goods in each property). The department continues to work in partnership with the Australian Red Cross to ensure that value for money is delivered, while ensuring that clients receive services commensurate to their needs.

JOINT SELECT COMMITTEE ON AUSTRALIA'S
IMMIGRATION DETENTION NETWORK

*Q51***

Question: Whether DIAC has generated forecasts of future growth in the program, and what the costs associated with that are predicted to be.

Answer: The department continues to progressively refine estimates of the future size of the community detention program in response to various developments which influence the number of clients eligible for community detention and how long they might remain in the program.

The ongoing priority is to move all remaining women and children and their families into community detention. The department is also continuing to place a small but steady flow of single, vulnerable, adult men in community detention.

The cost of the community detention program for the 2010-11 financial year was $17.3 million. The costs incurred to date reflect the high initial costs for the program (such as securing leases, connection fees for utilities and provision of household goods in each property). Once the program is in a relatively stable state and has run for a year or more in a steady state, then a more meaningful estimate of likely future costs can be derived.

JOINT SELECT COMMITTEE ON AUSTRALIA'S
IMMIGRATION DETENTION NETWORK

*Q53***

Question: Whether the committee could visit a place of community detention.

Answer: The department is able to facilitate a visit by the committee to a place of community detention. To assist with planning, the department requests that the committee provide further advice on the proposed timing for the visit, the location (i.e. which capital city) and any client profile of particular interest (i.e. family, unaccompanied minor, single adult male, ethnicity).

*Q54***

Question: List of all locations – where there has been no capital or fit-out costs for each facility, what are the lease/rental/occupation costs? Are these lease/rental/occupation costs included in departmental or administered costs in the budgets? What are these costs for each of the facilities not owned and/or operated by the department/government?

(Supplementary to Question 1)

Answer: The following places of detention are located on Commonwealth property and therefore no rent or lease costs are paid:

- Christmas Island IDC (including Construction camp and Phosphate Hill)
- Maribyrnong IDC,
- Scherger IDC,
- Villawood IDC,
- Port Augusta IRH,
- Sydney IRH,
- Adelaide ITA,
- Brisbane ITA, and
- Melbourne ITA.

Curtin IDC and Northern IDC incurred capital and fit-out costs prior to occupancy. Both sites are located on Commonwealth property.

Perth IDC is a leased site, however, this was a designated place of detention prior to November 2007.

Perth IRH is a long term site lease which was paid up front prior to November 2007.

Payments made during financial year/s in relation to alternate places of detention are listed below.

Question: Why has the department not published an Immigration Detention Statistics Summary since 20 May 2011? If the department has updated the Detention Statistics Summary since then, can they provide the Committee with all the latest copies of that summary?

Answer: The department regularly reviews its statistical reporting publications and the Immigration Detention Statistics Summary has been recently unavailable while a review of the Report has been undertaken. A revised version of the Immigration Detention Statistics Summary for 30 September 2011 which includes updated additional information was published on the website on 14 October 2011 and is attached for the Committee.

Question: When does the clock start and stop in relation to the calculations for the length of time people spend in detention. For example, do the figures provided include the first 90 days? Days that a decision is under review? And so on.

Answer: The length of time in detention is calculated by the date of initial detention to a person's status resolution of visa grant or removal from Australia.

The figures provided to the Committee as of the 16 August 2011, was the length of time that people spent in immigration detention based on the date of initial detention and ended on the date the person is granted a visa and released from immigration detention.

The calculation includes all processes that occur while a person is in immigration detention, including the entry and screening process and, where applicable to the individual client, the protection obligations determination, independent protection assessment, judicial review processes and required checks in the visa assessment process.

Question: In relation to each of the contracts issued by the department for Capital Works, please provide the value of each contract and whether it has been completed on time and on budget?

Answer: Multiple individual contracts are awarded as part of a broader project therefore it is only possible to nominate if the broader project is on time. While individual contracts have been completed on schedule as negotiated from the original contract signing, the completion of works for the broader projects is subject to a large number of variables. Generally this is due to latent conditions as well as environmental and heritage requirements beyond those initially anticipated.

All projects are within budget.

Below is the value of each contract, as provided in the listing supplied for Q32, and whether the contract is open or closed. For closed contracts the closing value is also provided.

Answer: The number of consultations, by detention facility, by quarters, over the period July 2010 - June 2011, is provided in the attached table. The table also provides an indicative average of the number of consultations per person in each facility.

Nurse services data is not comparable to the other health services data, so it is provided in a separate table. The data is also not collected consistently by site.

Health services expenditure is not recorded in a way which would allow ready attribution to particular services, such as requested in the Committee's question. The department and the detention health services provider are therefore unable to provide this information.

The department and the detention health services provider do not hold information about the rate at which the general Australian population accesses health services.

Health appointments/consultations (excluding Nurse services) at Immigration Detention Facilities July 2010 - June 2011

Explanatory notes

- assumption of one person per appointment/consultation.

- consolidated data for people in community detention is not readily available.

- appointments for people detained in Immigration Residential Housing (IRHs) are made by Serco, DIAC or in some cases the client. Appointments for people in other facilities are made by IHMS, who directly manage the client's care.

- for Scherger IDC, Inverbrackie APOD, Brisbane APOD (Virginia Palms) and Darwin Airport Lodge APOD: complete appointment data sets across all quarters is not available as these facilities were not utilising an electronic medical record system for the entire period. Due to incomplete data, average consultations per person over the year have not been provided for these facilities.

- * Curtin IDC data for dental consultations is being reviewed by IHMS

- ** 'Average population at point in time' is an average of the population in each facility on the last day of each quarter July 2010 - June 2011

- *** 'Average consultations per person July 2010 - June 2011' is 'Total Consultations' divided by 'Average population at point in time'. It is indicative data only. This figure has not been calculated for facilities without data for the full year.

- ^ Figures for Mental health and Psychological appointments/consultations include Mental State Examinations (MSEs). MSEs are offered to all detainees to help identify any emerging mental health issues. They are conducted by Mental Health Nurses or Psychologists at seven days then six, 12 and 18 months and then three-monthly thereafter or when triggered (for example when concerns are raised about a person's mental health).

- ^^ arrangements in place with torture and trauma counselling provider organisations only provide for torture and trauma consultations data to be available for five facilities. For Christmas Island, only a total year figure is available.

Nurse services (including appointments/consultations) at Immigration Detention Facilities July 2010 - June 2011

Explanatory notes

- The recording of Nurse services varies between facilities and may capture brief interactions between clients and nurses (for example, where a client requests an appointment or collects medication). As the number of Nurse services does not only count appointments/consultations, an average consultations figure per person has not been calculated.

- assumption of one person per appointment/consultation.

- appointments for people detained in Immigration Residential Housing (IRHs) are made by Serco, DIAC or in some cases the client. Appointments for people in other facilities are made by IHMS, who directly manage the client's care.

- for Scherger IDC, Inverbrackie APOD, Brisbane APOD (Virginia Palms) and Darwin Airport Lodge APOD: complete Nurse services data sets across all quarters is not available as these facilities were not utilising an electronic medical record system for the entire period.

Question: How many mental health professionals are engaged permanently or temporarily at detention facilities on Christmas Island? Please provide details of the services that they provide.

Answer: As at 30 August 2011, mental health services are delivered on Christmas Island by the following staff:

Position	No.	Role Description	Employment Status	Employer
Mental Health Team Leader	4	A Mental Health Team Leader is a trained mental health professional who assumes the role of managing a professional Mental Health Team. This team may include Mental Health Registered Nurses, trained Counsellors and Psychologists. The Mental Health Team Leader is also responsible for ensuring the consistent delivery of high quality and timely mental health services, liaising with relevant stakeholders and in the preparation of relevant reports and associated documents.	Full-time	IHMS
Mental Health Nurse	12	Provides care to people with mental illness or mental distress such as schizophrenia, bipolar disorder, psychosis, depression or dementia. Nurses in this area have undertaken comprehensive additional specialist training in psychological therapies, building a therapeutic relationship, dealing with challenging behaviour and the administration of psychiatric medication.	Full-time	IHMS
Clinical Psychologist	4	Specialises in diagnosing and treating diseases of the brain, emotional disturbance, and behaviour problems. Psychologists can only use 'talk' therapy as treatment - they have no prescribing rights. If medication is deemed appropriate, the client must see a psychiatrist or medical doctor.	Full-time	IHMS
Psychiatrist	1	Specialises in the prevention, diagnosis and treatment of all forms of mental illness and can prescribe medication.	Visits Christmas Island up to 8 days per month	IHMS

Torture and Trauma Counsellor	3	Works with people who have experienced torture and/or trauma, to help them develop ways to cope with their experiences and better manage their responses to stressful situations. Counselling provides people with reassurance, guidance, explanation, encouragement and support through careful listening to their practical and emotional needs.	Full-time	Indian Ocean Territories Health Service (immigration detainee services funded by DIAC)

*Q59

Question: On each of the occasions that Serco was sanctioned for escapes or disturbances, what was the sanction?

Answer: Under the Immigration Detention Centre Contract, Serco's performance is measured against detailed abatement indicator metrics. An abatement, which is a financial sanction, is applied when Serco fails to meet a minimum performance standard required under the Contract, and this is recorded against the relevant detailed indicator metric.

There are two specific metrics that assess Serco's performance against escapes, one metric for escapes during a transport and escort, and another from a facility. Disturbances are reported, however, disturbances are not included in the abatement regime.

The maximum amount that Serco can be abated is 5% of the Detention Services Fee (DSF) in respect of each facility per month. This abatement cap can make it challenging to accurately record the specific abatement amount for escapes. If the abatement for escapes occurs during a month where other metrics have recorded a performance failure resulting in the total abatement amount being greater than 5% of the DSF, then only a portion of the specific dollar amount for escapes is included in this final total. The Joint Facility Audit Team (JFAT) determines abatements based on all events, including escapes.

A financial abatement was incurred by Serco as per the contract; the amount of each financial abatement is commercial-in-confidence.

Question: In relation to the costs of the community detention program for 2010-2011 can you provide a breakdown of the $15.734 million? How much, for example is spent on whitegoods and furniture; case workers; leases etc? How much is paid in cash allowances? How many properties does the $15.734 million relate to and where are they? What is the address of each of these properties? From whom are they leased? For what period are they leased? Have each of the properties been handed back in good order? Have there been any make good costs? What are those costs?

What happens to the white goods, furniture etc when families are provided with visas or removed from Australia?

What is the value of the contract to the Red Cross? For how long is the contract? What are the key performance indicators? Is the Red Cross subject to the Auditor General to ensure that there is proper accountability for the acquittal of these funds?

Answer: The cost of the community detention program for financial year 2010-11 was $17.3 million. This comprised of:

- departmental expenses of $1.542 million; and
- administered expenses of $15.73 million.

Administered expenses

Expenditure in respect of services provided by the Australian Red Cross (ARC) totalled $15.63 million.

The key expenditure items for the community detention program services delivered by the ARC in financial year 2010-11 included:

- $2.2 million spent on Household Formation Packages (HFP), which includes whitegoods (please note that all items purchased as part of the HFP remain in the property when the client leaves community detention, with the exception of linen, schooling requirements and up to $300 worth of baby items)
- $2.01 million in cash allowances to clients
- $1.1 million on caseworker salaries
- $2.3 million on leases for 477 properties.

Most of the above expenditure was incurred during the period January to June 2011 with the ramp up of the community detention program.

In addition to the $15.63 million, a further $0.09 million was paid in 2010-11 for providing emergency care and support to a community detention client family in the Northern Territory. The Australian Red Cross does not currently provide such services in the Northern Territory.

Community detention properties

Due to privacy reasons, addresses for community-based accommodation are not made public. The following table outlines the number of addresses in each state in which clients are housed in community detention.

State	Number of Addresses
Australian Capital Territory	16
New South Wales	97
Queensland	115
South Australia	63
Tasmania	5
Victoria	118
Western Australia	62

Properties are generally leased for a period of six to twelve months through the ARC and subcontracted organisations including Catholic Care, Marist Youth and Life Without Barriers.

Properties are vacated by clients once they have been granted a visa and made available to clients approved for community detention.

In relation to the properties being handed back and make good costs, the ARC has advised that a small number of properties have been handed back as they were considered inappropriate for ongoing leasing. No make good costs have been paid in relation to any properties that have been handed back.

The contract with Australian Red Cross

The ARC has been contracted by the Department to provide community care and welfare services for clients in community detention since 1 November 2005. Since then, the program has increased significantly with over 2000 clients approved for community detention since the expansion of the program was announced by the Minister on 18 October 2010.

The contract with the ARC covers a number of programs, including community detention. The ARC is paid upon receipt of correctly rendered detailed monthly invoices for both operational and client costs. The current contract expires on 31 December 2011 and has been separately provided to the committee. Key performance indicators are listed from page 34 of Schedule 2 and range from initial referral to transitioning out of the program.

JOINT SELECT COMMITTEE ON AUSTRALIA'S
IMMIGRATION DETENTION NETWORK

*Q61***

Under the contract the Department has the right to request copies of reports or information relating to contractual services. Additionally, the contract with the ARC for provision of various community and community detention related services contains an access provision at clause 9, which allows access by the Australian National Audit Office (ANAO) to the offices of the ARC to inspect and copy all documentation and records that are relevant to the contract and to review performance under the contract. The Auditor-General would determine whether it was to utilise this access right and the extent to which it chose to conduct any review into performance, service delivery or fees paid for those services.

Question: Are the financial payments (89% of Jobsearch) made to people in community detention by the department included in the $15.734 million stated in Question 42?

Answer: As noted in response to Question 50, the cost of the community detention program for the 2010-11 financial year was $17.3 million. This total includes financial payments made to people in community detention.

JOINT SELECT COMMITTEE ON AUSTRALIA'S IMMIGRATION DETENTION NETWORK

*Q63*

Question: Will the department provide copies of all departmental decisions on protection visa applications, by all the iterations of the process including the most recent Protection Obligations Determinations, both positive and negative, of all IMA's since July 2009, to the Committee?

Answer: According to departmental records, the Department of Immigration and Citizenship (DIAC) finalised over 8000 Refugee Status Assessments (RSA) and Protection Obligations Determinations (POD) records since July 2009.

The department estimates that it would take a departmental officer approximately 667 hours of work (this is equivalent to around 18 weeks of work for a full time officer) to extract all assessment records from the system, not taking into account the need to retrieve some hard copy files from archives.

The department is also required to de-identify these records in order to maintain the privacy and safety of our clients. This is to mitigate the risk of asylum seekers being positively identified in the public domain, and the associated risk of 'sur place'<sup>1</sup> claims being raised.

The process of de-identifying these records would involve removing all identifying information including clients' names, relevant dates, origins, movements, family composition and location, and any other specific identifying factors about their activities or claims. This process has been estimated to take approximately 1-1.5 hours per record, which would be, at a minimum, 8000 hours of work (the equivalent of 213 weeks of work for a full time officer).

As an alternative way of demonstrating how departmental decisions are made, the department has instead provided a copy of both negative and positive RSA and POD assessment record templates. These templates are used as a guide by departmental RSA and POD officers to assist in assessing claims and articulating findings in determining refugee status.

PROTECTION OBLIGATIONS EVALUATION (POE) REFERRAL

Definition of a Refugee – Article 1 of the Refugees Convention

Article 1A(2), of the United Nations 1951 Convention relating to the Status of Refugees (Refugees Convention) amended by the 1967 Protocol relating to the Status of Refugees (the Refugees Protocol), provide that a “refugee” is a person who:

‘...owing to well-founded fear of being persecuted for reasons of race, religion, nationality, membership of a particular social group or political opinion, is outside the country of his nationality and is unable or, owing to such fear, is unwilling to avail himself of the protection of that country; or who, not having a nationality and being outside the country of his former habitual residence, is unable or, owing to such fear, is unwilling to return to it.’

REFERRAL FOR INDEPENDENT PROTECTION ASSESSMENT

After having evaluated [Claimant's name]'s (the ‘claimant’) case, I am not satisfied that he/she is a person to whom Australia has protection obligations. I have therefore referred his/her case for an Independent Protection Assessment (IPA).

1. CLAIMANT DETAILS

Identity issues

[If relevant, include discussion on any unresolved identity issues, providing information on how you have sought to clarify/establish identity and set out your finding. Include consideration of any FCC match result either here or under Client's migration history (and indicate whether it impacted on the assessment), as relevant.]

2. CLAIMANT'S KEY MIGRATION HISTORY

[Brief summary of claimant's migration history as it relates to protection obligations – for instance]

- The claimant arrived on Christmas Island on [date] on a boat codenamed [insert here].
- The claimant has / has no evidence of having any contact with UNHCR.

OR

- A check with the UNHCR revealed that the claimant was / was not mandated by / registered with UNHCR [on date]. Folio [x] on Department file [x] refers.
- The claimant claims to have previously resided in and / or transited through the following countries [also insert here known dates]. The claimant claims that [she/he does/does not] have a right to enter and reside in any of these countries.
- Any other relevant issues relating to the claimant's migration history; such as FCC match results.

3. CLAIMS FOR PROTECTION

The claimant's detailed written claims are on DIAC file CLFXXX from folio XX. The claimant attended a POE interview at [place] on [date].

[Briefly outline the key claims]

Claimant's response to material issues put to them for comment:

[Briefly outline the claimant's responses to questions asked about their key claims – this may include their responses to relevant country information]

[NB: this discussion does not need to be repeated under the relevant sections in Part 6 PROTECTION OBLIGATIONS EVALUATION REASONS AND FINDINGS]

4. MATERIAL BEFORE THE POE OFFICER

- 4.4 [Relevant country information (that you have used in your reasons – do not include extensive reference to country information if not required). This should be listed by CISNET reference number (eg. CX12345) first]

5. PROTECTION OBLIGATIONS EVALUATION REASONS AND FINDINGS

I am referring this case for an IPA for the reasons that follow:

A. Nationality (Citizenship) / Country of former habitual residence

[Set out reasons and findings on nationality (citizenship) / statelessness – for instance]

The claimant arrived at Christmas Island documented / undocumented. They state they are a citizen of [country]. They have consistently maintained this claim throughout the POD process (to date). They also appeared to speak the [XXX] language fluently at the POE interview (and which language is commonly spoken by persons from [country]).

I therefore accept the claimant is a citizen of [country]. OR

I therefore accept the claimant is stateless and their country of former habitual residence is [country].

B. The right to enter and reside in a safe third country

[Provide reasons as necessary]

I am satisfied the claimant does not / does have the right to enter and reside in a safe third country (pursuant to s.36(3)-(5) of the Migration Act).

C. The exclusion clauses in the Refugees Convention

[Provide findings and reasons and the consequences of any relevant findings – then state for instance]

Based on the evidence presently before me, I am not satisfied the claimant is excluded from protection under Articles 1D, 1E or 1F of the Refugees Convention.

D. Section 91R(3) of the Migration Act

[If you are proposing to disregard conduct under s.91R(3), please first search PAM3: Refugee Law Guidelines for guidance. Then set out reasons and findings and the consequences of any relevant findings – then state for instance]

After considering the claimant's evidence, I am / am not disregarding conduct engaged in by the claimant under s.91R(3) of the Migration Act.

E. Findings of fact (credibility)

[Set out your reasons and findings on key facts having regard to all the evidence including that evidence provided by and on behalf of, the claimant (which you would have set out in part under '3. Claims for Protection'). Your discussion may include reference to at least the relevant country information sources which you may have put to the claimant and recorded under section '3. Claims for Protection'. Your discussion may also address relevant credibility reasons and findings. It is important to ensure that your reasons are set out herein]

[Finally, you do not need to repeat your reasoning process under the below Convention criteria – you may however, need to refer to relevant findings below]

F. Refugees Convention ground/s and nexus

[NB: As you have set out your reasons and findings on material facts above, do not repeat that discussion here. Simply refer to the relevant facts you have found, then refer to any relevant case law, legislative guidance, and/or country information, then set out your findings and reasons regarding Convention ground/s and Convention nexus]

After considering the claimant's evidence, I am /am not satisfied that the essential and significant reason the claimant fears harm [OR] persecution is for one of the Refugees Convention reasons.

[ADDITIONAL OPTION s91S]

The claimant's claims are subject to s91S of the Migration Act.

[Provide findings and reasons]

G. Persecution

[NB: As you have set out your reasons and findings on material facts above, do not repeat that discussion here. Simply refer to the relevant facts you have found, then refer to any relevant case law, legislative guidance, and/or country information, then set out your findings and reasons regarding the harm feared. Where appropriate, the harm feared should be considered cumulatively]

After considering the claimant's evidence, I am / am not satisfied the harm the fear is sufficiently serious to constitute persecution for the purposes of the Refugees Convention, having regard to s.91R(1) & (2) of the Migration Act.

H. Well founded-fear

A fear of being persecuted is well-founded if there is a 'real chance' that a claimant may be persecuted (see Chan v MIEA (1989) 169 CLR 379 per Mason CJ at 389, Toohey J at 406-7, Dawson J at 396-8, McHugh J at 428-9). A 'real chance' may be below a 50 per cent chance. However, a real chance is not a remote chance; there needs to be a real substantial basis for a fear of persecution in order for it to be well founded.

[NB: As you have set out your reasons and findings on material facts above, do not repeat that discussion here. You may also consider adopting the immediately above paragraph as sufficiently setting out the relevant case law. Then simply refer to the relevant facts you have already found above, any country information, then set out your findings and reasons relating to well-founded fear]

After considering the claimant's evidence, I am / am not satisfied the claimant's fear is well-founded for the purposes of the Refugees Convention.

I. Internal flight / Relocation

[If you discuss relocation in your POE record, you must have put this to the claimant for comment. That said, set out findings and reasons and then state – for instance]

After having considered the evidence, I am / am not satisfied the claimant can relocate within [country].

6. FINDING ON PROTECTION OBLIGATIONS EVALUATION

I am not satisfied the claimant meets the definition of a refugee set out in the Refugees Convention and the Refugees Protocol and accordingly, I am not satisfied they are someone to whom Australia owes protection obligations.

7. REFERRAL FOR REVIEW

As this assessment has found the claimant does not meet the definition of a refugee in the Refugees Convention and the Refugees Protocol, the claimant's case is to be automatically referred for Independent Protection Assessment.

C. The exclusion clauses in the Refugees Convention

[If you discuss relocation in your POE record, you must have put this to the claimant for comment. That said, set out findings and reasons and then state – for instance]

After having considered the evidence, I am not satisfied the claimant can relocate within [country].

5.2. SUMMARY OF FINDINGS

The Refugees Convention ground[s] of [race/religion/nationality/membership of a particular social group and/or political opinion] is/are the essential and significant reason[s] for the harm which the claimant fears.

Having carefully considered all of the available evidence, I find that:

- The claimant is a citizen / stateless of [COUNTRY] and is outside [his/her] country of nationality / country of former habitual residence;
- The claimant has no other nationality and does not have a right to enter and reside in a third country;
- The cessation clauses in Article 1C of the Refugees Convention do not apply to the claimant;
- There is no information before me which indicates that the claimant comes within one of the exclusion clauses in Articles 1D, 1E and 1F of the Refugees Convention;
- Article 33(2) of the Refugees Convention does not apply to the claimant;
- The harm that the claimant fears is for a Refugees Convention reason;
- The harm that the claimant fears amounts to persecution;
- That effective protection, pursuant to sections 36(3)-(5) of the Migration Act, is not available to the claimant;
- That internal relocation is not a reasonable option for the claimant; and
- That having carefully considered the claimant's account in terms of detail, internal consistency and credibility and after having regard to country information, I am satisfied that the claimant's fear of being persecuted is well-founded.

5.3 POE OUTCOME

I am satisfied the claimant meets the definition of refugee within the meaning of the Refugees Convention and relevant provisions of the Migration Act and is someone to whom Australia owes protection obligations.

Analysis and discussion: Facts and an analysis of the information leading to the RSA officer's finding are to be presented clearly here.

6. FINDINGS

The Convention ground[s] of [race/religion/nationality/membership of a particular social group and/or political opinion] is/are the essential and significant reason[s] for the harm which the claimant fears. (delete those that are not applicable)

Having carefully considered all of the available evidence I find:

- The claimant is a citizen of [COUNTRY] and is outside [his/her] country of nationality;
- The claimant has no other nationality and does not have a right to enter and reside in a third country;
- The cessation clauses in Article 1C of the Refugees Convention do not apply to the claimant; [Any consideration of this Article should be clearly discussed in part 5 under 'Reasoning']
- There is no information before me which indicates that the claimant comes within one of the exclusion clauses in Articles 1D, 1E and 1F of the Refugees Convention; [Any consideration of these Articles should be clearly discussed in part 5 under 'Reasoning']
- Article 33(2) of the Refugees Convention does not apply to the claimant; [Any consideration of this Article should be clearly discussed in part 5 under 'Reasoning']
- The harm that the claimant fears is for a convention reason;
- The harm that the claimant fears amounts to persecution;
- That effective state protection is not available to the claimant;
- That internal relocation is not a viable option for the claimant; and
- That having carefully considered the claimant's account in terms of detail, internal consistency and credibility in relation to country information. I am satisfied that the claimant's fear of persecution as defined under the Refugees Convention is well-founded.

7. FINDING ON REFUGEE STATUS ASSESSMENT

I am satisfied that the claimant does meet the definition of a refugee as set out in Article 1A of the 1951 Convention relating to the Status of Refugees and its 1967 Protocol, and is someone to whom Australia owes protection obligations.

Question: What have been the recognition rates of each caseload by country of origin in the primary, review and judicial review stages by quarter since December 2009?

Answer: Annual and quarterly figures for visa grant rates at the primary stage of processing and post-review for irregular maritime arrivals (IMAs) and non-IMAs are published on the DIAC website at:

www.immi.gov.au/media/publications/statistics/asylum/

Updates will be released at the end of each quarter once data is collated.

JOINT SELECT COMMITTEE ON AUSTRALIA'S IMMIGRATION DETENTION NETWORK

*Q66***

Question: How many IMAs have sought judicial review of their decisions since the High Court case in November 2010? How many cases have been decided by the Courts? How many are pending? What is the total number of IMAs that have applied to each of the courts and which ones are they (Magistrates Court? Federal Court? High Court)? What have been the outcomes of these court reviews? Can the Department provide those decisions and transcripts?

Answer:       Applications filed

As at 31 August 2011, the department had received 254 applications for judicial review of assessments made by Independent Merits Reviewers (IMR) following the High Court decision in M61/2010. This is broken down into 252 matters in the Federal Magistrates Court (FMC); and 2 Federal Court (FC) appeals from the FMC.

Outcomes

Forty three matters have been decided by the Courts, including 42 decided in the FMC and 1 in the FC.

FMC outcomes are broken down as follows:

Two matters where the applicants discontinued applications filed in error; 13 cases where the court dismissed the application; 6 cases where the court declared that the IMR had made a jurisdictional error in the assessment of the applicant's claims; and 21 matters where consent orders were entered into prior to the matter being heard on the basis of a concession that the IMR had made a jurisdictional error in the IMR's assessment. Two hundred and ten matters are pending in the FMC.

One matter has been resolved in the FC. In this matter, the applicant's appeal to the FC was dismissed. One matter remains pending in the FC.

The FMC and FC do not routinely publish transcripts of hearings; however we have provided copies of the judgments in the 20 matters that have been decided by the FMC and FC. Links to the judgments are also included in attachment A to this document.

Question: How many IMAs are awaiting removal after exhausting all avenues of appeal? How many IMA's are awaiting removal after exhausting an appeal to the independent protection assessor or its predecessor, the Independent Panel Review?

Answer: As at 26 August 2011, four Irregular Maritime Arrival (IMA) clients had received a negative Judicial Review outcome and had not sought further Judicial Review within the statutory appeal timeframe.

A further 61 IMA clients had received a negative Independent Merits Review (IMR) outcome and had not sought Judicial Review within the appeal timeframe. It should be noted that the courts have taken a flexible approach to appeals lodged outside of the appeal timeframe and as such these clients may still lodge an appeal, which the courts may accept.

Question: How many IMAs have taken advantage of the re-integration package? At what cost?

Answer: As at 24 August 2011, IMAs have taken up 78 Individual Reintegration Assistance (IRA) packages (covering 80 individuals, including a family of three) prior to returning to their home country. The cost of the cash and in-kind assistance provided through the IRA packages was AUD 224,347.

The costs comprise cash and in-kind assistance to Afghan and Iraq nationals valued at up to USD 4,000 and at up to USD 3,300 for other nationalities. The cash component can be up to $550. In-kind assistance includes items such as small business start up assistance, skills development and training, job placement or other income generating activities.

Question:

What assistance does the government provide to the government of Afghanistan or NGOs or any other agency to ensure that failed asylum seekers are reintegrated into their communities? If so, what assistance is provided and at what cost? Does the government provide such assistance to any other country of origin of IMA's? If so what assistance is provided and at what cost?

Answer:

The department does not provide assistance to foreign governments to assist in the reintegration of failed asylum seekers. The department has contracted the International Organization for Migration (IOM) to provide Individual Reintegration Assistance (IRA) to irregular maritime arrivals of any nationality who have decided to return to their country of origin voluntarily.

The amount of funding given to IOM to administer the IRA program for the 2010-2011 financial year was USD 130,545.45.

The department is also engaging IOM to provide post arrival support for Afghan nationals returned involuntarily in line with our obligations under the Memorandum of Understanding between the Government of Australia, the Government of the Islamic Republic of Afghanistan and the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees on Migration and Humanitarian Cooperation. The amount of funding that will be provided to IOM in Afghanistan to administer this program is still being finalised.

Air Marshal Ray Funnell AC (Retd), referenced his contributions to the immigration portfolio, since 1999, being: a part of the Minister's Advisory Council on People Smuggling and a Member of Immigration Detention Advisory Group (IDAG) from 2001-2009.

Ms Kerrin Benson, discussed her role as CEO of the Multicultural Development Association, in providing systemic advocacy and community development for people resettled in Brisbane. She described her work in domestic violence, department of housing and refugee housing.

Ms Libby Lloyd AM, discussed her background and rationale for accepting a position on the Council, being: her significant work with Indo-Chinese refugees in the late 1970s, her work with Iraqi boat arrivals, her role in international development and as the Chair of the National Violence Against Women Advisory Group.

Mr Noel Clement, described his work with the Australian Red Cross, specifically in refugee and humanitarian work in Australia wide programs. He cited his role in providing services in consultation with the Department such as the Asylum Seeker Assistance scheme, Community Assistance Support program, Community Care Pilot, Immigration Detention Visits Program, reconnecting families, community and public health.

Associate Professor Nicholas Procter, stated his background in nursing and his work across disciplines, within Health Services at the University of South Australia (SA), he also described his work in the Peace Defence, working with Torture and Trauma counselling and Mental Health Screening.

Associate Professor Harry Minas, described his role at the University of Melbourne and the Centre for International Mental Health. He referenced his work with the IDAG and expressed his delight at the Council having been formed to bring together the work of the IDAG and other aspects of the Immigration Portfolio. Professor Minas referenced the work of the Detention Health Advisory Group (DeHAG) in implementing a range of work that advanced issues in the Health Forum.

Professor Samina Yasmeen, described her work as Director of Muslim States and Societies and her contribution to international politics, she referenced her work with Muslim identities within Australia and her contribution to the Australian Red Cross.

Mr Aristotle emphasised the importance of ensuring the Council is not drawn on the current public debate surrounding irregular maritime arrivals, and instead remains focussed on the broader mandate of the group in providing independent advice aimed at facilitating the timely, fair, and effective resolution of immigration status for people seeking asylum or other migration outcomes in Australia.

Mr Aristotle identified the need for a strong practical approach to the work of the Council, noting that there is much to accomplish within its two year mandate. Given this substantial workload, it will be important to think carefully about the allocation of the Council's resources, including the need to share the workload across the group and the identification of specific areas of focus for the Council which make best use of Member's time and expertise through the establishment of a sub-group framework.

Mr Aristotle also acknowledged the need for Council to work closely with both the CDSD and the CCRD to ensure an integrated approach to services provision, case management and status resolution.

Following discussions on the role and priorities of the Council, Mr Aristotle summarised the Council's objective as ensuring that immigration services and status resolution processes achieve a timely outcome for people – ethically – in a complex global environment and a challenging operational context.

AGENDA ITEM 2: MINISTER'S ADDRESS

Mr Aristotle welcomed the Minister and the Secretary to the meeting and expressed his appreciation for the opportunity to contribute to the work of the portfolio on behalf of Council.

Senator the Hon Chris Evans, Minister for Immigration and Citizenship, thanked Council Members for accepting a position on the council, noting the wide range of skills and expertise of the group as a whole.

The Minister acknowledged the hard work and valuable contributions of the Immigration Detention Advisory Group over the past 8 years. He recognised that with increased involvement of the Commonwealth Ombudsman, the Australian Human Rights Commission and other oversight bodies, the role of the Council could now grow to include policy input on the way forward, rather than playing a primary role in scrutinising what we currently do.

The Minister underscored the importance of evidence based policy development and decision making and emphasised the need for developing and maintaining a humane system which ensures integrity and compliance and fosters positive relationships with clients. He outlined his intention to encourage a bipartisan approach to this issue which gives credit for past achievements and builds upon these areas of success. He acknowledged the significant improvements that have already been made by the Government including substantial reductions to the onshore and long term caseloads, faster turnover of clients and improvements to the removals process for those found to not have a right to stay.

The Minister invited the Council to provide feedback on the reforms, noting that the continued resourcing of a particular program should depend on its continued relevance and ability to provide the right services to the right people. It will be the evidence base that should determine what stays the same and what changes. He noted that timely and effective resolution of immigration status, and not social welfare, remains the priority of the Department and that support and care provided to clients should be results driven in this respect.

AGENDA ITEM 3: TERMS OF REFERENCE

Mr Aristotle opened the floor for discussion on the terms of reference. There was observation that the Terms of Reference are quite broad and encompassing.

Discussion

There was discussion about the way advice would be provided to the Minister and it was noted this would be further explored following discussion of the forward work program and possible sub-groups.

There was discussion about the ability to co-opt people from outside the Council's membership where this is required to bring necessary expertise to the work of the group – such as someone with legal expertise.

OUTCOMES

Agreed: The Chair noted the consent of Council members on the Terms of Reference.

AGENDA ITEM 4: CURRENT DETENTION LEGISLATION

Presentation

Mr Robert Illingworth presented on the Migration Amendment (Immigration Detention Reform) Bill 2009 (the Bill). This Bill establishes the purposes of immigration detention as managing risk to the Australian community and resolution of immigration status. The Bill introduces the following:

- new principles in regard to immigration detention, particularly in relation to children.
- requirements of an officer to make reasonable effort to ascertain identity, security and health issues – and resolve the immigration status of the detainee (except those being processed in an excised offshore place)
- delegation of the Minister's power to make residence determinations; and
- creates a temporary community access permission (TCAP) allowing a detainee to be outside a detention facility without an escort.

Mr Illingworth explained that the Bill also notes that a person's immigration status is resolved through grant of substantive visa or departure from Australia.

Government-sponsored amendments to the Bill have been drafted to reflect recommendations from the Senate Legal and Constitutional Affairs Committee and other stakeholders. Mr Illingworth described the intention that DIAC decisions to detain (or grant of Bridging Visa) be justifiable on the basis of risk.

Discussion

Mr Aristotle asked what guidance the Department provided to Departmental officers to assist them in applying the best interests of the child. Ms Larkins responded that the proposed new Ministerial Direction will provide that guidance for staff.

Mr Clement mentioned a case where a person was detained because they were destitute and failed to comply with the 'no work' condition on their visa.

Mr Clement observed that this scenario would not happen under a case management system, stressing the importance of having this change written into the legislation.

OUTCOMES

Agreed: The Council thanked Mr Illingworth for his presentation, agreeing that further discussions would be required at the next meeting, owing to time constraints.

ACTION 1	Secretariat to set next agenda item to discuss the Migration Amendment (Immigration Detention Reform) Bill 2009
ACTION 2	Compliance and Case Resolution Division to provide Members with a package of information including Reform Bill, 2nd Reading speech, the explanatory memorandum and information on s501 cancellations
ACTION 3	Case Management & Review Branch to provide Members with further briefing on Children and Minister's Direction: Best Interests of the Child

AGENDA ITEM 5: CONTRACT TRANSITION

Presentation

Mr Chris Linton, A/g AS Tender Management Branch, presented a history of the tender and transition processes including an introduction to the new services Provider, Serco.

OUTCOMES

Agreed: The Council thanked Mr Linton for his presentation.

AGENDA ITEM 6 (a): STATUS RESOLUTION FRAMEWORK

Presentation

Mr Charles Wann presented on the Community Status Resolution Framework.

The presentation covered the evidence base for and main elements of the department's approach to resolving status, including the establishment of the Community Status Resolution Service.

Central to this risk based approach is early engagement with clients, drawing on a suite of tools to help resolve status as quickly as possible while the client remains in the community, though recognising that for certain groups in the compliance caseload it may still be necessary to detain and remove.

Mr Wann outlined some evidence to date which indicated the approach was generating some positive results.

Ms Larkins explained that the work was based on the evidence that the Department has gathered from trialling informed good ideas made by people with specific knowledge in the appropriate areas.

Discussion

Associate Professor Procter raised the issue of methodology and enquired into what tests were being done in order to ensure that the service is working to potential.

Associate Professor Minas raised the issue of being able to differentiate between different client circumstances and being able to provide services accordingly.

OUTCOMES

Associate Professor Minas suggested that the Department undertake research into the predictors used in order to categorise the caseload. This research would prescribe the services required for each client. He proposed this research in order to create an evidenced based approach to applying services and systematic testing into the effectiveness of case management.

AGENDA ITEM 6 (b): CASE MANAGEMENT

Presentation

Ms Alison Larkins presented on Case Management Services, introducing case managers as those who ensure that the most vulnerable clients receive individualised and active support whilst working towards a timely immigration outcome.

Ms Larkins emphasised the aims of achieving a faster immigration outcome and reducing the risk of adverse impacts on clients, with good documentation and accountability, regular review and appropriate focus on minors and other vulnerable groups. Ms Larkins explained the advocacy role of case managers, including the need to obtain an outcome quickly and appropriately, maintaining a client-centred approach and escalating to National Office where policy gaps are identified.

In establishing the Case management service it was initially the intention to employ people with relevant professional background including social workers and psychologists. Over time Departmental staff without these backgrounds have also moved into these roles.

Ms Larkins advised that there is a list of vulnerability indicators, which are used to screen clients into Case Management. Work is also being undertaken by Foundation House which will inform how clients are referred into Case Management.

Discussion

Members discussed the professional background of case managers, noting that there is a wide range of health backgrounds including social workers, psychologists and other professionals.

Members discussed some of the vulnerability indicators of clients including lack of family support, lack of English and discussed the importance of cultural awareness training provided to case managers.

Ms Larkins stated that there is a lot of work being undertaken in this area with respect to indicators and predictors and undertook to provide more detailed briefing at the next meeting.

OUTCOMES

Agreed: Members agreed that there should be further discussion on Case Management at the Councils' next meeting.

ACTION 4	Members to be provided with further briefing on case management.

AGENDA ITEM 7(a): COMMUNITY BASED SUPPORT SERVICES

Presentation

Ms Lynch-Magor presented on Community Based Support Services, providing Council with an analysis of the client group and a summary of the services that are currently provided, before presenting on current strategies to improve service delivery. These strategies include a vulnerability study to inform the development of assessment and triaging mechanisms and reforms to achieve a more coherent and integrated service delivery approach to community based services. Ms Lynch-Magor identified as a priority strengthened linkages between service provision and timely status resolution, and the opportunity to integrate future service delivery arrangements to be more coherent, drive efficiencies and better align services to client needs.

Discussion

Members acknowledged that clients in all three of the community based support services, that is, Community Assistance Support (CAS), the Asylum Seeker Assistance (ASA) scheme and the Immigration Advice and Application Assistance Scheme (IAAAS) receive similar services. It was suggested that the three services should be combined before going to tender.

Ms Lynch Magor noted that she envisaged a role for the Council, possibly through the establishment of a sub-group that would focus on assuming a cohesive approach to engagement of non-government organisations and other stakeholders in the delivery of services.

The Chair agreed that there was a role for the Council, noting the possibility of probity issues with respect to any future procurement arrangements, such as tendering for services, given Council membership. Mr Aristotle suggested that the Council would undertake research into which areas of the Community Care Pilot were most successful and made the most impact.

OUTCOMES

Agreed: Members thanked Ms Lynch-Magor for her presentation and requested further updates on the services delivery framework.

ACTION 5	Case Management to provide Members with an outline of the client life cycle

AGENDA ITEM 7(b): CHRISTMAS ISLAND

Ms Jackie Wilson presented an item on Christmas Island operations. The presentation covered a description of the facilities, an explanation of the role of immigration as the lead agency, the capacity of the facilities and current issues with capacity.

Discussion

The Council enquired about the health services provided on Christmas Island, with Ms Wilson advising that the health services on Christmas Island are provided by IHMS and IOTHS and are a hybrid of long-standing and new services combined. Ms Wilson further outlined the provision of health and mental health services and how the agencies had streamlined the health check process by carrying out the health checks while clients are being transported to Christmas Island.

The need for a reinvigorated relationship between the Detention Health Advisory Group (DeHAG) and CISSR was identified by Council, with Associate Professor Minas suggesting the possibility of DeHAG routinely reporting on Christmas Island health services provision to CISSR, with particular focus on the provision of mental health services.

Ms Wilson asked the Council to consider how the Department can continue to provide the high standards of service on Christmas Island.

OUTCOMES

Agreed: Members thanked Ms Wilson for her presentation and agreed that there is a role for the Council in ensuring high standards of service on Christmas Island.

AGENDA ITEM 8: FORWARD WORK PROGRAM

Discussion

Discussion of the forward work program focussed on the contribution of the Council in assisting the Department in its development of integrated service delivery and case management, particularly with respect to minors and other vulnerable groups and the use of Christmas Island. The Council's future stakeholder engagement role was briefly discussed, with resolution for a more detailed discussion to be held over until the next meeting.

Members

Ms Caz Coleman, Dr Jamal Rifi and Dr Mary Loughry introduced themselves to the Council.

AGENDA ITEM 2: Correspondence and action items, Summary of forward work program

There was no correspondence.

Discussion of the forward work program focussed on how members could provide the Minister with advice. Mr Aristotle commented on probity issues regarding the Integrated Service Delivery Framework and reflected on his conversation with the Department's Chief Lawyer. The advice was that there may eventually be some issues for Members who are participating in sub-groups, as their agencies may wish to tender in the future. However, at this time a tender is more than 12 months away.

The sub-groups and convenors identified were:

Integrated Service Delivery Framework

Mr Paris Aristotle AM (convenor)
Professor Nicholas Procter
Ms Kerrin Benson
Mr Noel Clement
Ms Caz Coleman
Ms Libby Lloyd AM

Discussion

Members discussed Community Consultative Groups (CCGs) and resolved that it may be useful and appropriate for state-based chairing of CCGs as the Department moves through transition to new service providers. The issue of members chairing CCGs can be reviewed in six months. Members are encouraged to visit their local facility and meet with the Regional Manager.

OUTCOMES

Agreed: Members agreed to chair CCG meetings in their state every month and review the arrangement in six months.

ACTION 1	DIAC to provide Members with information on Community Consultative Groups
ACTION 2	Secretariat to arrange for Members to meet with the Regional Manager in their state

AGENDA ITEM 3: DIAC TRANSFORMATION

Presentation

Ms Alison Larkins and Ms Jackie Wilson presented on the DIAC Transformation, identifying efficiency of programs and services and the effectiveness of policy development and implementation as the key drivers. Members were given an outline of the new structure which includes three groups: policy and program management, client services and business services.

Discussion

Members discussed the potential risks with separating policy from operations and the need to ensure good internal communication and cooperation to overcome this. Members expressed interest in understanding how the transformation would effect CISSR's interactions and support networks within the Department. It was noted that transformation has a long (12 month) lead time in order to allow time to work through such issues and that Community & Detention Services Division (CDSD) and Compliance and Case Resolution Division (CCRD) would work through this and apprise the Council at a future time.

AGENDA ITEM 4: CASE MANAGEMENT

Presentation

Mr Dermot Casey commenced the discussion on Case Management by giving an outline on the history of Case Management in the Department and outlined some recent improvements and achievements including prioritising speedy resolution, positive engagement with Clients and triaging support based on need to ensure the most effective use of limited resources.

Mr Casey described the current shift from an individual case officer approach to a team-based approach where officers are able to share expertise and contribute cooperatively in providing whole-of-client care. He noted the opportunity this presents in allowing for greater skills transfer and support for less experienced case officers.

Mr Casey noted the special difficulty of maintaining an inclusive care and case management philosophy in a regulatory environment which by nature excludes some clients and invited Council's assistance in meeting this challenge.

Discussion

Members discussed the qualifications of case management staff, noting that other industries use a model with more experienced team leaders and utilise a team focus instead of task focus.

Council noted the opportunities for a Research and Evaluation sub-group to use the reform of Case Management as an opportunity to build the evidence base, particularly with respect to implementation at a local level, with members noting the importance of empowering staff in the network to be problem solvers and solutions focussed.

OUTCOMES

Agreed: Ms Larkins and Ms Gillam to provide a paper on case management, via the Secretariat, to be considered by the Research & Evaluation sub-group.

ACTION 3	Secretariat to include case management as an item on the Research &amp; Evaluation sub-group agenda

SPECIAL TOPIC – MINORS IN DETENTION

Arising from the Case Management discussion, Ms Henry drew attention to the management of minors in detention as an area where Council's advice is required.

Mr Casey identified the challenge of identifying minors, noting that as many as 40% of the cohort treated as minors could be over 18. Mr Casey sought Members' advice on how to treat people who claim to be minors and the associated risks of doing so. The risks may include public criticism, other people in detention feeling discriminated against and influences of adults on true minors.

OUTCOMES

Agreed: A 'Minors Taskforce' is to be established, for an initial period of six months to focus on the handling of minors on Christmas Island.

Minors Taskforce Membership

Ms Libby Lloyd AM (convenor)

Professor Samina Yasmeen

AGENDA ITEM 5: MIGRATION AMENDMENT BILL

Following discussions at the Inaugural CISSR meeting on 21 October 2009 members were provided with papers on the Migration Amendment Bill on 2 November 2009. Members were invited to provide any feedback directly to Ms Larkins.

AGENDA ITEM 6: RESEARCH AND EVALUATION

Members discussed preliminary papers which identify areas of research and evaluation that the Council could provide advice on to the Minister. Members agreed that a coherent program of research would be required, which takes a long term vision and generates efficiency in terms of governance and procurement arrangements.

Areas of interest initially identified by Members were case management and minors. There was further discussion about the specific role of the Council with respect to research, with Members confirming that it is appropriate for the subgroup to provide advice to the Minister on areas of priority for research, rather than being responsible for commissioning or conducting specific research.

Members noted the opportunity for Departmental research to be planned and designed to complement research already being undertaken in other spheres such as NGO research, and the Department noted that it is already exploring existing evidence bases as a means of economy.

OUTCOMES

Agreed: The Research & Evaluation subgroup will teleconference with key staff from CDSD and CCRD to clarify priority areas for research and to discuss the current research priorities for the Department. This will be followed by a meeting with Rebecca Irwin, First Assistant Secretary, Strategic Policy Research & Evaluation.

ACTION 6	Sub groups to produce a one page summary of priorities for Research and Evaluation

Presentation

Ms Jackie Wilson presented a summary of the facilities and current capacity of Christmas Island. Ms Wilson described what is being done to adjust the facilities to meet the changing demands on Christmas Island. Ms Wilson asked Members to consider practical suggestions for how to best manage the number of people considering the current difficult circumstances.

Professor Yasmeen and Ms Lloyd provided a summary of their visit to Christmas Island observing:

- Some Life without barriers staff appear to require additional cultural training
- High levels of security at North West Point facilities a concern
- Appears to be high levels of disengagement by people being detained due to lack of activity
- Living arrangements are generally good
- Case processing is happening quickly
- Serco management is making a good impression

- Development of greenery and garden areas is positive
- Utility in spending a longer time on Island (rather than same day turnaround) to get a better impression of life on-Island.

Discussion

Members identified concern that the positive mood on-Island may be closely linked to the high percentage of positive outcomes and speedy turnover of cases. There is a need to ensure the Department has contingency plans in place if the percentage of acceptances falls. Expanding operations to 'maximum capacity' is a real concern in this respect as there is less possibility to 'quarantine the contagion of anxiety'. Expansion also presents problems more generally as it becomes more difficult to provide services within resource and accommodation constraints.

Members discussed the use of religious service providers, doctors and third parties as pastoral care officers as a practical measure to keep the clientele engaged and to de-escalate problems quickly.

OUTCOMES

Agreed: Members will consider practical measures to manage the large numbers on Christmas Island.

AGENDA ITEM 8: 'THE SANCTUARY' VISIT

AGENDA ITEM 9: 'BOX HILL' VISIT

End of Day One

AGENDA ITEM 10: REVIEW OF FIRST DAY

Mr Aristotle opened the floor to Members to provide feedback on the previous day.

Discussion

Members raised the following:

- CISSR should try to understand the motivation of people coming by boat to Australia
- the role of CISSR in case management
- the ethical underpinning of the support given to asylum seekers including 89% of Centrelink payments
- outcome for permanent residents of Christmas Island if the government changes policy on detaining people on Christmas Island
- support for staff especially if more people are refused asylum.

AGENDA ITEM 11: CHRISTMAS ISLAND AND MAINLAND DETENTION CENTRES

Agenda Item 7 was continued on day two and also included discussions about mainland immigration detention centres.

Discussion

Members suggested that the Department consider using more people from the ethnic communities in Australia. For example, Tamil cooks or community leaders to provide interpreter and pastoral care. Members raised the issue of providing ethnic communities in Australia with correct information and engaging these groups in problem solving.

The Members discussed managing communication on Christmas Island in smaller groups and also suggested that Clients be engaged with the more complex problems and be invited to put forward solutions.

Mr Aristotle reminded the Council of the Department's request that Members consider suggestions and improvements for services and structures which are supportive of Clients and enable speedy status resolution.

Mr Clement suggested that a village set up would support people such as Torture and Trauma survivors better.

OUTCOMES

Agreed:

Some Members indicated an interest in travelling to Christmas Island with Ms Wilson.

ACTION 7	Secretariat to arrange travel for Members to Christmas Island with Ms Wilson

AGENDA ITEM 12: VILLAWOOD IMMIGRATION DETENTION CENTRE REDEVELOPMENT

Ms Tankiang provided a review of the current redevelopment of Villawood Immigration Detention Centre (VIDC).

AGENDA ITEM 13: SERVICE DELIVERY FRAMEWORK

Presentation

Ms Fiona Lynch-Magor provided a presentation to the Council on the Service Delivery Framework. Ms Lynch-Magor discussed the issue of probity and that the Department would be funding a probity advisor for the Council.

Ms Lynch-Magor noted that it would be many months before a tender process would commence. Ms Lynch-Magor asked the Council to consider how to use the assessment tool to target the services appropriately.

Discussion

The Members of the Council discussed the issue of probity.

Members raised the possibility of 'wrap around services' a concept utilised in other areas such as aged care which ensures that people receive the services they need not just what is available.

Members raised the issue again of the importance of ensuring service provider staff are apprised of the Department's vision and the risks of wrong information being given to people in detention. Members suggested the Department hold information sessions.

Associate Professor Minas identified a role for the Research and Evaluation sub-group to evaluate triaging of services. Members discussed the costs associated with Research and Evaluation and using evidence-based research to influence the impact of funding.

Ms Henry informed the Council that the Minister had been reviewing programs such as Community Detention and considering ways of streamlining them.

Mr Aristotle reminded the Council that services are required to fit within the internal protection framework.

OUTCOMES

Ms Larkins to investigate possible resources for funding Research and Evaluation.

ACTION 8	Alison Larkins to review the available budget for Research and Evaluation

AGENDA ITEM 14: OTHER BUSINESS

Mr Aristotle confirmed with Members of Council that the next meeting would be in Sydney on 10-11 December 2009. This meeting will include a community visit and a short visit to VIDC.

Mr Paris Aristotle AM, Chair, Council for Immigration Services and Status Resolution (CISSR) opened the meeting.

Mr Aristotle mentioned the pressures of the Council and the importance of the work program to the Minister and the Department.

Mr Aristotle welcomed Mr Gavin McCairns, NSW State Director. Mr McCairns introduced himself and explained his role to the Council.

Mr Aristotle requested that Members read the CISSR Operating Guidelines before the next meeting and provide feedback.

AGENDA ITEM 2: NEW REGIONAL COOPERATION FRAMEWORK – IMPACT OF IRREGULAR MARITIME ARRIVALS ON HUMANITARIAN PROGRAM

Presentation

Ms Arja Keski-Nummi presented an item on the New Regional Cooperation Framework being developed by Refugee, Humanitarian and International Division and explained some of the regional engagement work being done on asylum seeker issues. Ms Keski-Nummi spoke of the Department's efforts in building confidence amongst Australia's regional partners, its examination of assisted voluntary return programs and assistance programs for host countries as strategies for regulating movements within the region.

Ms Keski-Nummi discussed trends identified at the intergovernmental conference she had attended in Geneva. Ms Keski-Nummi's presentation gave substantial oversight on asylum seeker trends worldwide, noting that there is presently an estimated 30-40 million illegal migrants globally. Ms Keski-Nummi sought to give some insight to the drivers for these movements observing that around two thirds of movements are secondary displacements. She noted that Somalis are the largest cohort, followed by Afghanis and Iraqis, with Iranian movements declining in Australia and in most of Europe also.

Discussion

Members noted the importance of the Department's work in building a regional cooperation framework, particularly with respect to ensuring some level of uniformity in the way other countries in the region approach asylum assessment processes and timeframes.

With respect to processing timeframes it was observed that in Spain people must be released from detention if they do not have an outcome within three months.

Members expressed interest in what examination is done of those people who are returned and were advised that Australia does not monitor returns. It was observed that the UK does follow-up visits, either through international agencies or directly, and that the Netherlands has a returns and departures program.

ACTION 1	The Chair has requested updates to be provided to CISSR on the progress of the Regional Development framework

Presentation

Ms Jackie Wilson outlined the Department and Serco's management of the disturbance at the Christmas Island Immigration Detention Centre (IDC) in November, including handling of injured persons and police involvement. Ms Wilson outlined some of the factors believed to have precipitated the incident and identified some measures already taken including informing clients of 'safe places' and regular compound briefings for all clients. Ms Wilson acknowledged pressures associated with accommodation and sought members' input on managing this.

Discussion

Members reflected upon the pressures created by current arrangements on Christmas Island including the approach taken by the Department to resource activities appropriately, pressures on Serco in getting up to speed to manage daily operations and pressures on the Christmas Island Community. Members also acknowledged the pressure on people detained, the risks to client's mental health and the increased likelihood of erratic behaviour with high numbers and difficult circumstances. Members gave an outline of their experience in managing large numbers of people in overseas detention camps and the importance of understanding the triggers to frustration which can result in violence and behavioural problems.

Members discussed arrangements in place to deal with misbehaviour and the Department advised that whilst there is some indication that individuals in the detention population want the trouble-makers brought to account, there is also a level of reticence in coming forward. Regular compound briefings and group consultations are being held in preference to using a single nominated representative to achieve better communication. Members supported a group engagement approach, suggesting that individuals with good knowledge of group sentiment could be used to inform risk assessments and advice provided.

Members generally acknowledged the efforts being made by the Department in difficult circumstances. Members noted that tensions will inevitably build as people in detention increasingly feel the need to be noticed and taken seriously. It was observed by the Department that there are often not obvious triggers for unrest, with daily reports showing the mood to be positive – Members answering that tensions may be triggered by small incidents without warning. It was observed that it was incumbent upon Serco to understand the small issues and minor annoyances that can often serve as trigger points. Members suggested using conflict resolution training and peer education as methods by which clients could participate in keeping group mood more stable and help de-escalate tense situations.

Members were interested in the present relationship with the Christmas Island community, particularly with respect to recent events and in response to the increased numbers. The Department advised that the community was generally happy with the way the November incident was managed, but would have liked to have been informed sooner. The reaction to growth in numbers has been mixed – increased business and commitment to building programs is welcomed but increased demands on services such as schools and fresh food provision remains a concern.

Members asked about future contingency options if numbers continue to rise on Christmas Island and were advised that alternatives are being considered and that decisions on future locations would, of course, be decided on a case by case basis.

Members agreed that the Chair would approach the Minister to express the Council's concerns over the high numbers currently on Christmas Island.

OUTCOMES

Agreed: There is an urgent need to develop alternative accommodation options, in preference to further increasing the surge capacity at the Christmas Island Immigration Detention Centre.

ACTION 2	Professor Procter and other interested Members to work with Ms Wilson on Christmas Island strategies.
ACTION 3	Mr Aristotle to call the Minister to voice the Members concerns.

AGENDA ITEM 4: INTEGRATED SERVICE DELIVERY FRAMEWORK

Presentation

Mr Aristotle, Ms Lynch-Magor and Ms Boardman briefed the group on key outcomes of the Integrated Service Delivery Framework sub group meeting, on 8 December 2009. Minutes of the sub group meeting are in draft. Ms Boardman invited input or comments from sub group Members prior to finalising.

Discussion

Lengthy discussion was held on future service delivery concepts to clients whose status remains unresolved, with a strong focus on the most appropriate way to deliver services under a coherent and integrated model. A key aspect of the discussion included the relationship between immigration services that support clients in various visa streams and health and welfare services that support client needs as they progress along their immigration pathway. CISSR members discussed if indeed service level need differed significantly across the various visa streams.

CISSR members agreed that there will be significant issues in the shaping of a new service delivery model to appropriately determine service levels that address and support status resolution under varying visa streams and attached International or Duty of Care obligations, and that are assessed based on need.

In providing advice to the Minister or the Department, a key challenge for the CISSR Services Framework sub group will be to examine and agree on whether client needs or visa streams should drive service delivery. Subsequently, the sub group will need to explore the most appropriate way to structure a future service delivery model and framework that meets client need and status resolution objectives.

CISSR members agreed that pivotal to a future service delivery model was the capacity for services to support clients to remain appropriately focussed on immigration pathway decisions and timely resolution of their status.

AGENDA ITEM 5: JESUIT REFUGEE SERVICE VISIT – KINGS CROSS

Members attended the Jesuit Refugee Service (JRS) office in Kings Cross and were briefed about the work of JRS. Members were then taken to a property owned by JRS and introduced to a client living there. The client discussed his life at the residence and how JRS helped him find work and integrate into the community while he awaits his immigration outcome.

End of Day One

AGENDA ITEM 6: REVIEW OF FIRST DAY

Mr Aristotle opened the floor to Members to provide feedback on the previous day.

Discussion

Members raised the following:

- Resettlement issues of clients, such as receiving a visa but not being left destitute and that these programs are not a funded service.
- DIAC staff would benefit from a form of clinical supervision to assist with professional development particularly case management and staff undertaking interviews.
- The Department cannot continue to assume that services, such as JRS, will always be provided and that there are always people who will not fit into a category to receive support from such services.
- Ministerial Intervention submissions should include details of the financial status of the client, so the visa given ensures they are not left destitute.
- Old methods of service delivery and access to services should not limit the thinking of the Council and that its future focus should be on effective service delivery and timely status resolution.

ACTION 4	Mr Jamie Fox to be invited to the next meeting to present to the group on resettlement issues.

AGENDA ITEM 7 – BRIEFING ON STATUS RESOLUTION QUALITATIVE RESEARCH PROJECT

Presentation

Ms Alison Larkins and Mr Charles Wann presented on the Status Resolution Qualitative Research project. The research engaged around 160 clients including lawful entrants, visa over stayers and bridging visa E holders and found that most people don't have direct contact with the Department and typically have a limited understanding of visa pathways and their associated obligations.

Clients are subsequently shocked when there is compliance involvement. The research suggests that the Department needs to engage earlier with clients in a non-threatening manner to ensure they are provided accurate and clear messages about their visa requirements. Communication options being trialled include fact sheets, improved information on the web, an anonymous phone contact centre and the proposed use of SMS technology for visa holders.

Discussion

Members acknowledged the innovations outlined by the Department but also noted that some clients may be uncomfortable with these new and technology-based forms of communication. Mr Wann acknowledged that the challenge is to find the right method of communication for each person and that research has shown the need for more conversation – this is something the Department is working on.

Members suggested the use of media to communicate these messages about their visa requirements. Members supported the need for oral communication of these messages, also emphasising the need to deliver and repeat short, clear messages – targeted and translated for local communities to ensure the right messages are picked up and repeated, rather than risking having the message get lost in translation.

AGENDA ITEM 8: EVALUATION OF COMMUNITY STATUS RESOLUTION PROGRAM

Presentation

Ms Alison Larkins and Mr Charles Wann presented on the evaluation methodology that is proposed for assessing the impact of the Department's approach to resolving immigration status. To assess success in status resolution the Department will look for:

1. an increase in the number of clients resolving their status, more quickly, while in the community and while engaged with the Department;
2. status being resolved lawfully, transparently and consistently with government policy; and
3. evidence that these methods of engagement with clients are proving more cost effective than the 'locate, detain and remove' approach.

Early indications show an increase in the number of people approaching DIAC counters, particularly first time interactions.

Discussion

Members opened discussion by suggesting an examination of what the determinants are for 'a better outcome'. Members also offered that the Department may wish to look at case studies and identify the cause and effect and also suggested the possibility of undertaking a literature review.

Members discussed need identification, citing the UNHCR's approach to global needs assessment with long term plans budgeting for what they need, not what they have.

More generally Council noted the potential need for a probity advisor in any research undertaken under the Council's purview.

AGENDA ITEM 9: MINORS SUB-GROUP REPORT BACK

Presentation

Ms Libby Lloyd updated the group on the discussions at the Minors sub-group teleconference. Ms Lloyd described a framework for discussion on priorities in respect to children in immigration detention.

Immediate issues include determining the age of those claiming to be minors, and the appropriateness of the proposed framework for accommodating minors in alternative places of detention and Residence Determination with particular regard to timeframes and processing, procedures for escalation, suitability of accommodation, involvement of detention services and health services providers and the involvement of other organisations such as the Australian Red Cross and Life Without Barriers.

The Council was briefed on the current guardianship laws for unaccompanied minors coming to Australia with the intention of remaining who can become the responsibility of the Minister. Minors, such as fishers, who are brought to Australia under enforcement provisions do not fit these provisions and nor do minors who initially enter lawfully on temporary visas and subsequently apply for asylum.

Ms Henry mentioned that the Minister has sought advice on the operations of the Immigration (Guardianship of Children) Act 1946 (IGOC Act) and that he has concerns that he has a potential conflict of interest, being responsible for both their detention and their guardianship.

Discussion

The Department and Members reaffirmed that the best interests of the child remain the priority. The Department noted that alternative arrangements, such as Immigration Residential Housing or Community Detention, are put in place as soon as possible for minors.

OUTCOMES

Agreed: All Council Members to be given the opportunity to provide input and suggestions to the work of the Minors sub-group. All Members to be given the opportunity to review the s499 Ministerial Direction and provide feedback to the Minors sub-group. Members are asked to consider if the Direction covers all aspects of minors in detention.

Mr Casey asked Members to consider who needs to be consulted on minors. UNHCR was identified.

ACTION 8	Ms Irwin to be invited to attend the next CISSR meeting to discuss the DIAC research program, with reference to minors.
ACTION 9	Ms Henry to provide Members with a revised draft of the proposed s499 Minister Direction on children and Members to provide feedback to Ms Lloyd, through Secretariat, on their thoughts on the content.

ACTION 10	Members of the Minors sub-group to meet face to face before the February 10 meeting.
ACTION 11	CISSR Members to meet with case managers to hear how they are currently working with children.

AGENDA ITEM 10: COMPLIANCE RESEARCH PROJECT

Presentation

Ms Alison Larkins sought Council's advice on how best to utilise $100,000 of departmental funds that has been identified for compliance-related research as part of the 2009-10 Policy Innovation Research and Evaluation Unit (PIREU) research program. Within the limits of time and budget, it is proposed to conduct a comparative review of international legislation, policy and procedures for involuntary removals.

Discussion

In discussion Members explored the underlying intent, which was clarified as a desire to understand the power to undertake involuntary removal and to ensure it is used properly. For example, are there other more appropriate ways to manage these clients and why does Government have/need this power – do other countries achieve a better outcome without it. Members suggested follow-up with clients at 'the other end of the process' as an initial step and were advised that the general policy on this is that clients who have been removed do not receive follow-up services.

Members discussed the annual removal rates and the numbers of involuntary removals compared with those who are advised of their options and elect to leave. Members suggested that the Department talk to staff about their experience of voluntary and involuntary removals, to provide 'practical wisdom'.

Council resolved to consider the written submission prepared by the sub-group and the Chair invited Member's comments on this paper.

ACTION 13	Members to be shown current policy on removals and provide comments.

AGENDA ITEM 11: AUSTRALIAN HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION

Presentation

The Hon Catherine Branson QC President of the Australian Human Rights Commission (AHRC) was introduced to CISSR Members. Ms Branson explained the role of the AHRC noting that their focus is to:

- Investigate individual detainee complaints
- Report on findings
- Address complaints
- Conduct inquiries, such as that into children in detention in 2004
- Develop immigration guidelines
- Provide consistent standards of human rights
- Hold annual inspections of mainland detentions centres
- Conduct interviews with DIAC staff, service providers and clients in Immigration Detention Centres and

- Examine proposed legislation.

The AHRC have limited resources and rely on support from other agencies, including funding support from DIAC.

Ms Branson identified the following issues that AHRC would like to address:

- equal treatment to all people
- monitoring of treatment of people in immigration detention in regards to international human rights obligations
- one protocol to cover all states and all forms of detention
- AHRC would like to have the power to enter facilities without notifying the department
- information sharing of Christmas Island
- formalised approach to monitoring immigration detention facilities
- legislative minimum standards for detention.

Ms Branson hopes to develop a close relationship with Members and would like to be able to share information. The Hon Branson expressed her interest in the minors sub-group and offered to attend meetings or to send a staff member.

AGENDA ITEM 12: VILLAWOOD IMMIGRATION DETENTION CENTRE VISIT

Members attended VIDC Stage 1 and briefly reviewed the improved visits arrivals and outdoor recreational facilities and were briefed on the overall improvements of the amenities due for completion in 2010. Members were invited back for a full tour when it can be scheduled.

1. WELCOME, CORRESPONDENCE AND ACTION ITEMS

- 1.1 Mr Aristotle welcomed Members of the Council for Immigration Services and Status Resolution (the Council) and staff from the department to the meeting and invited opening remarks from participants.
- 1.2 The issue of the current use of Christmas Island was raised, with Ms Henry acknowledging that the Minister is mindful of the dynamics impacting on the client group and on operations, noting that processing was still occurring at a rapid rate in light of increased numbers on the island.
- 1.3 Mr Aristotle advised that he has taken the issue of Christmas Island to the Minister's Chief of Staff, Dr Michael Boyle, on behalf of the Council. Dr Boyle confirmed that the Minister considers the Council's input on Christmas Island to be warranted and necessary. Mr Aristotle confirmed that the Minister would welcome, in particular, the advice of the Christmas Island Sub-Group and the Council on how these pressures can best be managed in light of the current practical and political constraints.

2. EXECUTIVE SERVICES UPDATE

- 2.1 Mr Aristotle welcomed Mr Metcalfe and Mr Correll and thanked them for making time to address the Council. Mr Aristotle noted that commencement of this item had been delayed due to transport problems and thanked Mr Metcalfe and Mr Correll for their flexibility in this respect.
- 2.2 Mr Metcalfe thanked the Council for its time and continued involvement, noting the importance of the Council to the work of the portfolio. Mr Metcalfe thanked Mr Aristotle for his involvement with the Oceanic Viking noting the achievement of a good outcome despite difficult circumstances.
- 2.3 Mr Metcalfe noted his interest in hearing from the Council on a number of issues including Christmas Island, case resolution, case management and the best way to ensure timely and effective status resolution, the best practice management of mental health and suggestions on how the department can continue to build upon improvements and show leadership. He acknowledged that despite the sustained flow of boat arrivals, increased numbers on Christmas Island and the associated impact, the department had made significant positive reforms.

- 2.4 Mr Correll noted that one key focus for the department's executive has been on Christmas Island and that this close attention would continue while boats arrive and the operational use of Christmas Island remains high. He noted the importance of remaining vigilant on issues, including public health, and the need to ensure risks are effectively managed and the need for contingency planning in this respect. Mr Correll noted that visa outcomes remain the principal focus for clients on Christmas Island and that the mood remains positive despite a peaceful protest about visa processing times. Mr Correll acknowledged that there has been positive feedback about operations on the Island.
- 2.5 Mr Metcalfe observed that the department remains mindful of lessons learnt from previous surges in numbers, particularly with respect to long term detention issues. He noted that it was imperative to remember the lessons learnt from the case of Ms Vivian Alvarez, and to ensure that the senior leadership focuses on the other challenges and not on the numbers of boat arrivals in isolation. He noted the importance of the Council's work in improving status resolution and associated processes in this respect. Mr Metcalfe indicated his and Mr Correll's preference to take this opportunity to listen to some of the issues of concern to the Council.
- 2.6 Mr Aristotle affirmed that the Council's focus will be on status resolution and the integration of programs and services to achieve this including the integration of case management and service delivery, with a focus but on achieving status resolution facilitated by appropriate welfare support for clients. Mr Aristotle mentioned the work by Foundation House in developing an assessment tool which will help the department to provide services and support to people on a needs basis. He mentioned the need to reconsider the existing configuration of services to ensure they are right in the context of the New Directions in Detention and associated key values.
- 2.7 Mr Aristotle noted how pleased he has been to observe collaboration between the different divisions of the department. He observed that more resources were required for the service delivery framework in the future and that CISSR and the Department would need to do the work necessary to justify any case for additional funding.
- 2.8 Dr Loughry also noted how open and accessible the department's staff have been in their interactions with the Council. Dr Loughry observed that in its discussions, the Council has observed that the individual programs of the department are not always as well integrated as they might be. Mr Metcalfe noted the value in having the Council's outside perspective to help identify these gaps and the importance of ensuring internal networks and communication channels are operating as well as possible. Ms Lloyd observed that there was room to improve linkages external to the department also, giving the example of child protection which involves potential for gaps and overlaps with outside organisations.

- 2.9 Air Marshal Funnell observed that Christmas Island operations were resource intensive and queried the potential impacts to the local community in this context. Air Marshal Funnell advocated undertaking contingency planning for the mainland as soon as possible. Mr Metcalfe acknowledged that there had been scenario planning by the department and confirmed that Christmas Island would remain the operational focus.
- 2.10 Mr Metcalfe thanked the Council for sharing its views, noting what an excellent resource it was for the portfolio.

3. INTEGRATED SERVICE DELIVERY FRAMEWORK

- 3.1 Mr Aristotle acknowledged the valuable contributions by Council Members and departmental representatives to the second meeting of the CISSR Service Delivery Framework Sub-Group. Mr Aristotle advised that much of the discussion arising from the first meeting of the Sub-Group was expanded upon at the second meeting, with particular respect to the aims, objectives and service types for those who are vulnerable and whose status remains unresolved.
- 3.2 Mr Aristotle recounted for Council the Sub-Group's discussion on the need to ensure that support services take account of Australia's international obligations whilst still ensuring timely immigration status resolution. He outlined that the Sub-Group started with a 'blank slate' approach, conceptualising a service delivery framework that facilitates timely status resolution. The Sub-Group commenced the identification and analysis of the various service types including accurate and early provision of information to clients, the provision of timely, quality immigration advice and application assistance, accommodation support and income support.
- 3.3 Mr Aristotle acknowledged that there are many service types that the Sub-Group was not able to cover at the meeting and that a working group including Mr Aristotle, Ms Benson, Ms Boardman and Ms Rooney would be convened to continue this initial identification of service types ahead of the next Sub-Group meeting. Mr Aristotle acknowledged the department's efforts to date, particularly the collaboration between the Community and Detention Services Division and the Compliance and Case Resolution Division.
- 3.4 Mr Aristotle introduced Dr Ida Kaplan from Foundation House to provide the Council with a presentation on the vulnerability study and assessment tool commissioned by the department. Mr Aristotle noted that the assessment tool would help to identify vulnerabilities and that, whilst not predictive, the tool would enable staff to make proper assessments of the indicators of vulnerability. Mr Aristotle emphasised the importance of this work to service delivery and case management as a means of targeting services to the needs of the individual in the context of timely status resolution.

- 3.5 Dr Kaplan advised that the vulnerability study was premised on the understanding that a range of health and welfare vulnerabilities can affect an individual's ability to engage in status resolution and that by providing health and welfare support, case management and counsel, the individual can think clearly and participate in the resolution of their immigration outcome. Dr Kaplan gave Members some background on the study, including methodology, interviews conducted and the relevant departmental tools and procedures and external reports that were examined in the formulation of health and wellbeing 'domains' which describe eight broad categories of vulnerability.
- 3.6 Dr Kaplan discussed the importance of developing clear definitions of vulnerability types which provide consensus and commonality across public and private service providers and non-government organisations (NGOs) in order to develop screening indicators that are reliable, valid and do not require specialist training to be used effectively by staff. Dr Kaplan described the methodology for establishing the domains which aimed to separate the vulnerability categories from specific indicators, noting that these are currently mixed in the department's assessment procedures.
- 3.7 Dr Kaplan noted that the study excluded exceptional cases and other factors not directly related to health and welfare vulnerabilities such as illiteracy. Dr Kaplan did emphasise that criteria such as illiteracy or inability to access timely quality immigration advice were recognised as important vulnerabilities, but ones that should be systemically addressed rather than relying on case management.
- 3.8 In discussion about transient versus integral vulnerabilities, Dr Kaplan confirmed that the assessment tool is dynamic and is designed with the presumption that, with early identification and intervention, vulnerabilities can be successfully addressed. She gave an example where an assessment indicator (the client was missing immigration appointments) created a trigger point for an officer to investigate further. With some sensitive investigation and good cross-cultural insight, referral to a female General Practitioner ultimately led to a discovery that the client had been the victim of rape with significant physical trauma and, which enabled greater understanding of her circumstances and more appropriate service provision.
- 3.9 Dr Kaplan noted that the assessment tool does require a level of experience and competency to be used effectively including the ability to undertake hypothesis-testing rather than simply 'checklisting' questions. It was also noted that protective factors must be incorporated into an assessment, such as where it can be determined that a particular vulnerability (eg pregnancy) is being appropriately addressed (eg regular access to health care).
- 3.10 Dr Kaplan confirmed for Members that a level of cross-cultural awareness and training is inherent to the success of the tool and it was noted by Mr Aristotle that cross-cultural awareness is an issue across the industry.
- 3.11 Dr Loughry identified the linkages between the training required to use the assessment tool and the health and mental health training currently being implemented.

- 3.12 Mr Aristotle gave strong support to this observation, noting that the case management, health services and service delivery framework initiatives all required analysis of gaps, overlaps and common training requirements. Participants resolved that a health-professional working group will be established to identify training and implementation linkages, with membership to include the department's contracted health services provider, IHMS, and other key agencies such as the Indian Ocean and Territories Health Service (IOTHS) and Foundation House. Mr Aristotle affirmed that the working group should frame a discussion on the intersections of these initiatives within the context of case management and status resolution.
- 3.13 Dr Kaplan identified the data collection opportunities associated with piloting the assessment tool, including the ability to identify numbers that meet the screening criteria, how many of those go on to be assessed as vulnerable and timeframes for addressing vulnerabilities.
- 3.14 In the context of discussion about such a pilot, Ms Larkins and Mr Casey noted that a 'desktop study' involving a small number of identified case officers and clients would be a preferable first step as a means to establishing the practical requirements for a pilot, including the impacts on other departmental processes and systems.
- 3.15 Dr Rifi questioned how universally the tool would be used and it was confirmed that the tool serves as an initial screening point for clients that have come to the attention of the department. There was recognition that this type of triaging is common to all related organisations, such as hospitals.
- 3.16 Mr Aristotle clarified that in the immigration context, the goal is to identify the specific services required by an individual to facilitate their status resolution, in preference to making assumptions about what services and support an individual might need based on their visa class. In this context, it was affirmed that health and welfare needs are met as a support to an individual's ability to resolve their immigration status.
- 3.17 The interrelationship between the service delivery framework and the assessment tool was acknowledged by Mr Aristotle and it was suggested that the Research and Evaluation Sub-Group may have a role in identifying linkages between various initiatives and to assist in the development of a coherent picture of how they interrelate.
- 3.18 Ms Jacka flagged the need to be cognisant of immigration risk factors when assessing vulnerability, such as the risk of ending up in detention prior to their case being resolved, if vulnerabilities resulted in a client being noncompliant with visa conditions. Mr Aristotle acknowledged the complex set of risk factors associated with vulnerable clients and suggested that the assessment tool can help reduce this complexity by assessing clients and identifying specific needs.
- 3.19 Ms Benson suggested that some local engagement with case managers might be useful ahead of a pilot to test the tool and to help establish and standardise how it might be used in practice.

- 3.20 Mr Aristotle observed that the assessment tool requires a pilot prior to finalisation and that this discussion had identified how critical it is to ensure that service delivery, case management and status resolution are examined together. Ms Coleman and Mr Aristotle agreed that a pilot would be necessary to identify where services are required and the gaps in current service delivery.
- 3.21 Ms Henry suggested that a roadmap showing how the various pieces of work fit together into an integrated whole, including timeframes for delivery would be of assistance to the Minister.
- 3.22 Members thanked Dr Kaplan and complimented her and Foundation House on a good piece of work.

Noted: The Research and Evaluation Sub-Group to consider a project aimed at identifying linkages and interrelationships between the assessment tool, service delivery framework and case management.

ACTION 1	A health professional working group to be established to frame discussions on the intersections of various health, mental health and welfare training requirements across the services and status resolution space.

4. SERCO BRIEFING

- 4.1 Ms Lynch-Magor welcomed Mr Hassall to the meeting and provided the Council with an outline of the current contracts for immigration detention services including her role as the Contract Administrator. Ms Lynch-Magor advised Members that Serco has won the contract for the management of the Immigration Detention Centres (IDC) and the contract for the management of Immigration Residential Housing (IRH) and Immigration Transit Accommodation (ITA). Ms Lynch-Magor outlined the changes to detention services, in particular the introduction of the regional management model which gives DIAC staff a greater role in contract management, leaving Serco to undertake the day to day administration of facilities. Ms Lynch-Magor noted that the transition to these new arrangements provides the opportunity to further apply the New Directions in Detention and Key Immigration Detention Values.
- 4.2 Mr Aristotle acknowledged the role of Air Marshal Funnell as the Immigration Detention Advisory Group representative on the tender oversight committees.
- 4.3 Mr Hassall prefaced his presentation by noting Serco's expertise in innovation and change and its commitment to the delivery of immigration detention services that reflect the Government's key values.
- 4.4 Mr Hassall identified for the Council some of the operational dynamics faced by Serco and steps taken to address them. He acknowledged that the increase in numbers on Christmas Island and associated high level of focus has placed pressure on Serco's mainland operations, particularly with respect to the assignment of staff. Serco expects to have a new management structure in place on Christmas Island by the end of February to better match the service delivery required. Mr Hassall also indicated that as Serco learnt DIAC's business, other increasing demands, such as increased escort commitment at Villawood had been identified.

- 4.5 Mr Hassall noted that the opening of a new library and new gym on Christmas Island has been positively received by clients, with over 350 clients using the gym on its first day of operation. The introduction of new English and Australian history classes was also noted as an extension of activities on Christmas Island.
- 4.6 Within the above context, Mr Hassall noted that workforce planning and training are key priorities to ensure the delivery of cultural reform, including basic training for all staff and more extensive training for managers and team leaders.
- 4.7 Mr Hassall advised that Serco will examine 'client experience' measures in order to drive the performance management of facilities. Mr Hassall also noted the importance of forming and maintaining close relationships between Serco's Centre Managers and the department's Regional Managers.
- 4.8 Air Marshal Funnell asked Mr Hassall how he felt the regional management model was working to date, citing previous occasions where changes in management arrangements at places of immigration detention had been problematic. Mr Hassall noted that he felt good progress was being made, particularly given that the model had only been implemented recently.
- 4.9 Ms Lynch-Magor noted that there has been a major change to the department's culture and that there were challenges for the department in articulating this in its requirements of Serco, noting the particular challenge for the department in remembering to step-back during crises and allow Serco to manage things as is provided for in the contracts. The department recognises it has a non-delegable duty of care but, at the same time, it has faith in Serco and will step back to allow it to resolve issues. Ms Jacka supported Ms Lynch-Magor's observations and underscored that the new contracts are more prescriptive where the risks are the greatest.
- 4.10 Mr Aristotle observed that he had previous experiences where a new provider came in with strong values and expressed the view that these values stand up when the pressure is on in the most critical issue. Air Marshal Funnell supported this observation, noting an undertaking by a previous provider to enrich the daily life for people in immigration detention but that, in practice, the commitments to increased excursions and activities never came to fruition. Mr Hassall noted that Serco is committed to maintaining an ethical service provision.
- 4.11 Ms Coleman noted the positive interaction she had experienced at Community Consultative Group (CCG) meetings and suggested that Council members may be able to play a role between the NGO sector, service providers and the department to ensure positive and constructive relationships.
- 4.12 Mr Hassall gave an example of a previous experience he has had with the management of minors where staff did not feel empowered to organise activities and conduct outreach. He acknowledged that Serco is working to ensure it gets the balance right so staff can apply discretion appropriate to the circumstances.

Ms Henry asked what the levels of staff transferring from G4S to Serco were, and was advised that most staff are the same with some turnover in management and with new senior management in some of the IRH and ITA. Mr Aristotle observed the importance of having the culture and values right at all levels.

- 4.13 Dr Loughry asked how the increase in skills required under the new contract was being reconciled in light of the numbers of staff that had been retained. Mr Hassall advised that to some extent this was a matter of formal accreditation, which was being pursued within the first 100 days of the contracts, while also acknowledging that improvements to skills and competencies were required. In this respect he noted Serco's commitment to developing a tool that allows it to measure how people feel about their detention experience, including how they well they think complaints are dealt with and how safe they feel. He noted that this would include the conduct of exit interviews and focus groups run for staff and clients. With this information Serco will have a better understanding of what is required to manage and improve its performance. Professor Yasmeen asked whether this research would be shared with the department and was advised that it would be when it is completed.
- 4.14 Dr Loughry asked after Serco's strategy for cultural transformation and was advised that Serco is focussing on getting its leadership right. He also outlined that Serco is 'listening to learn' with staff asking clients about their experience of the centre and what can be done to make the experience better. Serco has also commissioned a cultural audit of its staff which will include face to face interviews to better understand their management style and to get a better picture of the overall workforce.
- 4.15 Air Marshal Funnell noted that Baxter was a well designed centre that was not run effectively. The then DSP staff appeared to take a passive role in the management of the facility. By contrast, the department staff used to get out amongst the clients and as a result they had better interactions and information than the detention service provider.
- 4.16 Mr Hassall observed that two of the features DIAC had purchased from Serco was its expertise in dynamic security and the personal officer scheme. Mr Hassall outlined the concept of dynamic security for Members as the use of interpersonal relationships and interactions, in addition to the security infrastructure, to build positive sentiment and to improve intelligence. Air Marshal Funnell noted that the department should be quite familiar with the principles of dynamic security, recalling two outbreaks from Villawood IDC around nine years ago following which the department commissioned a Queensland security expert who advised them to not just observe but to employ dynamic security.
- 4.17 Ms Benson noted that in the approximately 300 clients she had seen come off Christmas Island, she had observed a remarkable positive difference compared with those who were in detention under previous arrangements. Reports from clients are that Serco staff are respectful and that upon release clients are more confident to go into the community and integrate into their new surroundings and are more hopeful.

- 4.18 Ms Benson asked what Serco is doing to ensure its staff have cross cultural competence. Mr Hassall advised that Serco understands the importance of this and has approached a couple of organisations to conduct training, including the Australian Human Rights Commission, but that this is only in early development. Mr Aristotle emphasised the importance of being sensitive to cross-cultural issues, noting the difficulties associated with a member from one ethnic group providing services (such as translation) to a member of a different ethnic group from a particular country, including the risk of preconceived ideas interfering with the delivery (or perception) of an unbiased service. Ms Benson supported the need for staff to have cross-cultural competence in order to assess what support an individual requires. Professor Yasmeen agreed with this, noting the value in having staff from the same background as the individual in order that they understand the person's history and circumstances.
- 4.19 Ms Lloyd asked about Serco's skills with respect to the management of minors, those at risk of self-harm and other vulnerable groups. Mr Hassall advised that individuals self-harm for a range of different reasons and that he encouraged his staff to be non-judgemental to enable people to feel safe to express themselves in ways other than through self-harm. He acknowledged the different capability and skill levels of individual staff members to handle these situations. He advised of negotiator training that had been provided to staff to address these issues at a more superficial level and the personal officer scheme which aims to outreach to clients and avoid such situations in the first place.
- 4.20 Mr Casey provided, for context, the observation that financial-year-to-date there had been eight instances of self harm compared with 1020 in 2001-02. Mr Hassall noted that he works closely with Ms Jacka to ensure that individuals get the best care possible. Ms Coleman asked whether there are guidelines for the use of force and Mr Hassall advised that there are, and that use of force remains a measure of last resort. Ms Lynch-Magor affirmed that the department has policies in relation to use of force and other matters, and worked with Serco during the transition process to ensure Serco's policies and procedures were in alignment with the department's.
- 4.21 Professor Yasmeen observed that there is a heavy emphasis on pool tables and English classes as the main activities for people in immigration detention and suggested a greater range of activities with greater emphasis on physical involvement. Mr Hassall acknowledged this and foreshadowed that Serco is developing improved activities programs. Mr Hassall observed that in the past there has been no shortage of volunteers and community groups that come into the centre to engage clients, but this left staff being seen as "the guards". In order to build better relationships, Serco wants its staff to engage in more activities with clients to build and improve these relationships.
- 4.22 Ms Benson asked how Serco and the department manage the issue of sex and sexual relationships at facilities. Ms Lynch-Magor prefaced comments by acknowledging that for public health reasons the department makes condoms universally and freely available. Mr Hassall noted that Serco does seek to provide public health and sex education to enable clients can make informed choices.

- 4.23 Mr Clement asked how privacy and private space was handled, particularly given the high numbers on Christmas Island and the collocation of many young single men. Ms Lynch-Magor acknowledged that giving individuals a sense of safety, space and dignity was a challenge at the Northwest Point facility in particular, also noting the need to ensure that IHMS nurses interact in a culturally appropriate way. Ms Tankiang noted that the department does, in its design of facilities, examine how to afford access to private spaces. Dr Loughry observed, from previous experience, that accommodating men and women in separate areas can itself change the cultural dynamic.
- 4.24 Mr Aristotle asked how Serco's relationships were going with IHMS and other external providers including the non-government sector. Mr Hassall advised that he felt there was a good relationship with IHMS at the local level on Christmas Island and that staff were working well together to improve the processes as clients come off the boats and settle into the facilities. He acknowledged that the relationship needs more work at senior levels in order to ensure that the environment is as conducive to good health as possible, noting that he would meet with the head of IHMS to work on this.
- 4.25 With respect to NGOs, Mr Hassall observed that there has been a positive interaction with the Australian Red Cross and others, in the development of an holistic and transparent relationship. Mr Clement affirmed this, observing that Serco is the first detention services provider to approach the Australian Red Cross in order to have regular dialogue.
- 4.26 Mr Aristotle noted that in the past there had been many lost opportunities to address gaps and overlaps because of a lack of interaction and trust between service providers and the non-government sector. He noted this opportunity to start a forum for stakeholders to come together which could be supported by the involvement of the Council and the department. Mr Hassall observed that he would work with Ms Lynch-Magor, Ms Jacka and others to create better integration. Ms Lynch-Magor noted that the department is uniquely placed to bring the relevant stakeholders together in order to achieve the balance between everyday learning and over-the-horizon planning. Mr Aristotle encouraged this interaction to occur.
- 4.27 Professor Yasmeen observed that from her perspective, the Perth IDC was a difficult environment, noting challenges with visiting arrangements in particular and suggesting that university students could partner with individuals at the centre to decrease their sense of isolation. Professor Yasmeen also observed that there are many Muslims at the centre and questioned what religious provisions are made, such as religious feasts. Mr Hassall observed that activities at the Perth IDC is a difficult issue in light of the physical configuration of the centre. With respect to visitors, there is regular access for ministers of faith and provision of festivals and there are links to the community to address issues of cultural isolation. Ms Benson observed that visits needed to be managed carefully to protect privacy. Mr Clement supported this, citing the need to ensure visitors are appropriately screened. Ms Coleman noted the designated persons program as one option that could be used to address this issue – suggesting this matter could be considered by the Mainland Sub-Group.

ACTION 2	Department to establish a service provider forum.
ACTION 3	Mainland Sub-Group to consider the issue of community visits programs and associated issues of privacy.

5. CHRISTMAS ISLAND UPDATE

- 5.1 Mr Boyer commenced the discussion on Christmas Island by providing the Council with some key statistics on Christmas Island and undertook to circulate the most recent statistics to Members following the meeting. Mr Boyer noted that the numbers being settled had increased this year with 80-100 settlements occurring most weeks. He noted that this is not easy to achieve with refugee processes to complete, along with the health, identity and security checks which can be variable. Mr Boyer noted that despite these challenges, processing times were presently approximately 106 days average.
- 5.2 Mr Boyer noted the greater priority given to families and children and mentioned that the department is in the process of increasing accommodation capacity on Christmas Island, with beds going into the Northwest Point facility and the Phosphate Hill A compound being opened up for use by families and children when no longer used to accommodate staff.
- 5.3 Air Marshal Funnell inquired whether the old casino was being considered as alternative accommodation and was advised that the department is considering all options available..
- 5.4 Mr Boyer noted that since the start of 2009 the department has issued 1457 visas (1034 Afghani, around 200 Sri Lankan and around 100 Iraqi). Mr Aristotle asked about numbers of rejections and Mr Boyer undertook to provide the number of primary refusals to Members. The vast majority of removals are voluntary, there have been 124 voluntary removals since the start of 2009 and 13 involuntary removals. The average time on-island for people removed voluntarily is around 96 days which is considerably less than for those on the mainland who are not subject to excision and have access to the Australian courts.
- 5.5 Mr Clement observed that the use of Construction Camp for families with children and unaccompanied minors has meant that young children are colocated with 16 and 17 year olds and asked if the Phosphate Hill site would be exclusively for younger children and their families. Mr Boyer confirmed that this was the plan based on current numbers, observing that Phosphate Hill A and C compounds remained the preferred option for families with minors placed in Construction Camp. Efforts continue to remove Indonesian crewmembers from Construction Camp to Darwin as quickly as possible. Mr Clement was also advised that Phosphate Hill, as an alternative place of detention, requires line-of-sight detention but that it has better amenity with respect to cooking, play areas and other domestic activity.
- 5.6 Air Marshal Funnell asked how community detention arrangements were working on Christmas Island, recalling that there were some teething problems to begin with. Mr Boyer advised that these arrangements are working well, but clarified that there is very limited community detention on Christmas Island as staff and support staff are occupying most of this style of accommodation. Mr Boyer also advised that there are substantial activities programs for minors including attendance at school.

- 5.7 Ms Henry observed that some vulnerable irregular maritime arrivals had been brought to the mainland for health reasons or other exceptional circumstances including being survivors of torture and trauma or being an unaccompanied minor.
- 5.8 Mr Aristotle asked for an update on the challenges on Christmas Island at present, for example, maintaining the decision rate and associated quality assurance issues. Mr Boyer informed the Council that this situation is likely to change as more staffing accommodation comes on line, for example, the soon-to-be-refurbished Poon Saan units. Mr Boyer acknowledged that in general people in detention on Christmas Island have a singular focus on visa outcome and that this will always present detention management issues for those who receive negative decisions or whose cases are delayed. Mr Aristotle attributed the currently low level of incidents to the high percentage of positive decisions and asked about those who had been refused and had spent a longer period of time on Christmas Island.
- 5.9 Mr Boyer acknowledged that the security clearances for Tamil clients are taking some time to complete. This cohort has been advised that delays with security clearances are driving the delays in processing and efforts are made to keep them active and for case managers to continually engage with them.
- 5.10 Ms Jacka advised that in terms of managing the detention environment, Serco officers engage with clients regularly in the compounds to gauge the atmosphere and to decide upon the best placement configurations. Mr Boyer noted that ethnic groups were balanced as best as possible and that community leaders were flown in from Melbourne and Sydney to spend time with clients. Mr Boyer cited the example of a Tamil leader arriving in time to conduct a ceremony for those who perished on the SIEV 69 as having a powerful effect on the sentiment of the Tamil clients. Ms Benson observed that engagement of community leaders from other States may be tactically wise given the increased pressure on resettlement arrangements.
- 5.11 Mr Aristotle asked what the three highest risks are on Christmas Island and was advised that the size and rapid growth of the Christmas Island detention population is the largest risk. The capacity to separate groups within the detention population is also a risk, especially with respect to public health issues. A third risk is the potential inability to immediately monitor changes in the mood of the population, which can occur quickly.
- 5.12 Dr Loughry expressed concern at the remoteness of Christmas Island and asked, if anything goes wrong, what contingency plans are in place. Mr Boyer noted that the health facilities on Christmas Island are good and that the department works, in conjunction with other agencies such as the AFP, on contingency plans. He noted that with the introduction of tents and demountables the risk of fire was an issue now and required attention. Ms Lynch-Magor outlined the operations of the Indian Ocean and Territories Health Service (IOTHS) hospital and procedures for bringing staff and clients to the mainland where required.

- 5.13 Mr Clement reflected on the capacity of mainland facilities to cater for health requirements and to respond to crises. Mr Boyer noted that the use of mainland facilities is a matter for Government but that appropriate contingency plans were in place should mainland centres be required. Mr Aristotle observed that the Council should provide advice on how this could be managed, reflecting that that effective engagement of the non-government sector would be critical. Mr Aristotle indicated his support for Air Marshal Funnell's observation that early planning is vital.

ACTION 4	Members to be provided with the latest statistics on Christmas Island.
ACTION 5	Members to be provided with the numbers of primary refusals on Christmas Island.

6. MINORS

- 6.1 Ms Lloyd provided the Council with an overview of the second meeting of the Minors Sub-Group, noting that there was particular value in meeting in person and that a sketch of the work program for the Sub-Group had been developed.
- 6.2 Ms Lloyd advised that the Sub-Group had reviewed the draft section 499 Ministerial Direction, Exercise of decision to detain a minor under section 189 by officers and provided comment for the department including suggested rewording for some passages and the suggestion of a way forward for the incorporation of information on the Convention of the Rights of the Child 1989. Ms Lloyd advised that the Sub-Group wanted to ensure that whoever is working with minors has easy access to comprehensive supporting documentation and training.
- 6.3 Ms Henry informed the Council that the Minister had reviewed the draft Ministerial Direction since the Sub-Group meeting, but without the Sub-Group's recommended changes. Ms Henry advised that the Minister has stressed that children are sometimes detained to preserve family unity where parents must be held for health, identity and security requirements. The Minister has also requested an examination of the operation of these powers so that the department can assume oversight instead of the Minister's Office undertaking this function.
- 6.4 Ms Lloyd gave the Council a brief summary of the Sub-Group's discussion regarding the department's policy on accepting a minor's age as stated, which can sometimes be in contrast to a view held by the Police. Ms Tankiang noted the importance of having clear lines of authority for the amending of records regarding personal information and Mr Casey observed that it is not unusual for the department to hold multiple, and sometimes conflicting, pieces of information on an individual.

- 6.5 Mr Casey explained that the Police may sometimes subject an individual to a wrist x-ray and submit this to a court as evidence of age and that courts sometimes make a finding, for lack of contrary evidence, that a person is in fact over 18. Mr Casey noted that in some instances the department will put it to the individual, before a court finding, that the Police are of the view that they are over 18. In some cases the person will accept this and make a declaration that they are over 18. In other cases they will advise that they do not know how old they are and that they gave a particular age because that is how old they have been told they are; in these cases the department will continue to treat the person as a minor. Ms Lloyd advised that Sub-Group members were supportive of the treatment of such individuals as minors where there is no persuasive evidence to the contrary.
- 6.6 Air Marshal Funnell noted the challenge of interacting with some individuals as children where they have been treated as an adult for many years, having worked on a fishing boat since the age of 12 in some cases. Dr Loughry observed that Australia was still required to meet its domestic and international obligations to those under the age of 18. Professor Yasmeen and Mr Aristotle made the point that these individuals are often put in these circumstances not by their own choice and, in cases such as conscripted child soldiers, they may have missed important childhood development as a result.
- 6.7 Dr Loughry recalled the Sub-Group's discussion on whether it is perceived to be advantageous to be accommodated and processed as a minor and the suggestion that qualitative research could be undertaken to establish what people's perceptions are. Air Marshal Funnell observed that such nuances were likely to be lost on the general community and Ms Lloyd suggested that resolution of the issue was nonetheless important in order to ensure proper management and to ensure duty of care.
- 6.8 Mr Aristotle observed that the perception that being a minor would itself be advantageous in securing a positive decision was inaccurate and asked whether this was made clear to individuals at the time of initial screening. Dr Loughry underscored that this is why the Sub-Group felt research would be useful; to identify the origins of information – accurate or inaccurate, positive or negative – that contribute to people's perceptions about the process.
- 6.9 Ms Lynch-Magor observed that the substantial consequences of failing to properly distinguish minors may be the downstream requests for processing of other family members and associated pull factors. Ms Lloyd observed that there were issues that related to the guardianship of these minors and Ms Henry indicated that there is concern with respect to the risk of placing these older individuals, treated as minors, with true minors in schools and other settings. Dr Loughry observed that there are also integrity issues, as discussed at the Sub-Group.
- 6.10 Ms Lynch-Magor observed that the levels of resilience and life experience of this cohort sometimes served as a practical impediment to identifying their age. Dr Loughry reinforced the importance of ensuring staff understand the needs of minors. Ms Lloyd observed that their life experiences can often have many impacts on them in later life. Ms Coleman observed that the age of majority does not always serve as a realistic point of demarcation for adulthood. There are many vulnerable 18 and 19 year olds and the issue is more about vulnerability than guardianship in such cases.

- 6.11 Mr Aristotle asked whether the Sub-Group examined the post detention context and was advised that this was discussed including how to track and care for individuals once they disperse in the community. Dr Loughry observed that clarity and visibility of responsibility for minors is an area of concern. Ms Henry advised that there is work being undertaken to audit the department's responsibilities with respect to minors and that a broader reform of the Immigration (Guardianship of Children) Act 1946 was also being considered for a later date, including considering whether an advisory council or expert committee should be commissioned to look at this issue.
- 6.12 Mr Aristotle observed that an improved system for training and assessments is required to produce clear procedures for determining age. Mr Aristotle noted that with the high numbers of unaccompanied minors coming off Christmas Island, there were associated pressures for settlement and that Memoranda of Understanding were required with settlement and other service providers to ensure integration of services for clients. Mr Aristotle resolved to discuss this issue further when Mr Fox attended to discuss resettlement issues at agenda item 9.

7. DAY ONE CLOSING REMARKS

- 7.1 Mr Aristotle noted that it had been a detailed and fruitful discussion, thanking Members and participants for their contributions.

8. REVIEW OF DAY ONE

- 8.1 Mr Aristotle asked Council Members for their acceptance of the minutes. The following changes were noted:
- GM02 p4: – remove the reference to Christmas Island – the Minors Sub-Group was always intended to have a broader application.
  - GM02 p7: – add names of members wishing to travel to visit Christmas Island; Professor Yasmeen, Ms Lloyd, Professor Procter and Dr Loughry.
  - GM03 Action Item 06: – the Global Needs Assessment to be sent to all Council members, not just Members of the Minors Sub-Group.
- 8.2 Mr Aristotle observed that he considered some form and style changes to be necessary for the minutes and noted he was in the process of discussing his requirements with the Secretariat. Mr Aristotle sought views from members about attributing specific comments to individuals. Mr Clement expressed his support. Professor Yasmeen asked what Mr Aristotle's thinking was, and was advised that this would encourage Members to consider more carefully what comments they make and would also serve to provide better clarity on when a comment is made independently or has the Council's consensus. Further to this, it was suggested that the Council write to the Minister after each meeting to keep him informed of progress on Council matters.

- 8.3 Professor Yasmeen requested a set of photos for each facility to serve as a reference point.
- 8.4 Mr Aristotle thanked members for their discussion at the dinner with the Minister.
- 8.5 Mr Aristotle noted that the work on the service delivery framework pilot should continue, emphasising the importance of building an evidence base and the need to test the framework through a pilot. Associate Professor Minas noted that the Council should continue to provide its frank advice to the Minister,.
- 8.6 Mr Aristotle noted the positive progress made in yesterday's discussion with respect to the presentation by Dr Kaplan and the joint work being undertaken on the service delivery framework. He was positive about the Serco presentation, observing that time will tell whether the commitment to values is practiced in reality. Air Marshal Funnell noted that the previous provider made similar positive commitments. Mr Clement observed that Serco's ethics committee was a positive sign.
- 8.7 Ms Jacka noted that the performance indicators were improved now the department has more experience in what to measure and that, with the associated abatement measures, the department has strong controls to manage performance. Professor Minas observed that in some instances the previous provider found it more cost effective to absorb the abatement than to fix the problem. Ms Jacka acknowledged that the economics of a contract can motivate bad results but that she was confident in this instance that a mature approach and a positive relationship would overcome this.
- 8.8 In anticipation of the discussion with the Ombudsman, Ms Henry suggested a brief discussion on current oversight mechanisms. Mr Aristotle agreed that there was the potential for overlap with multiple agencies all visiting facilities.
- 8.9 Mr Aristotle thanked Mr Boyer for his presentation on Christmas Island and Air Marshal Funnell expressed his interest in the top three risks identified by Mr Boyer. Mr Aristotle noted the positive progress of the Minors Sub-Group and the importance of these issues for the care of minors and for government.

ACTION 6	CISSR Secretariat to note individual remarks and comments in minutes in preference to summarising discussion and leaving comments de-identified at a group level.
ACTION 7	CISSR Secretariat to provide Members with a set of photos to serve as a 'virtual tour' of facilities.
ACTION 8	Mr Aristotle to write to the Minister after each Council meeting to inform him of progress.

9. RESETTLEMENT ISSUES

- 9.1 Mr Fox commenced his presentation by noting the work being undertaken by Kate Pope on the settlement of minors, undertaking to provide Members with a written summary of Ms Pope's work out of session. Ms Lloyd welcomed this, noting the interrelationship with the Minors Sub-Group.
- 9.2 Mr Aristotle noted the application of this work to the minors coming off Christmas Island and the concern of the Sub-Group about the capacity to cope with the numbers that are coming off the Island. Mr Fox acknowledged the challenges associated with placement of this cohort in group housing and risks associated with their supervision and monitoring, noting that it is on the agenda for discussion with his state government colleagues.
- 9.3 Dr Loughry observed that it is clear that guardianship and fostering is an issue, noting that at least five years ago in the United Kingdom this had been a big issue and that it was still ongoing. She suggested that there might be other agencies, working on the juvenile justice sectors, that have more expert knowledge of the challenges to be addressed and how to go about this. Mr Fox agreed that the department does not have identified policy expertise in this area and welcomed the suggestion. Ms Lloyd suggested Gillian Calvert – the former NSW Children's Commissioner. Mr Aristotle also suggested Father Joe Caddy from Centrecare in Melbourne and the Victorian Child Safety Commissioner Bernie Geary.
- 9.4 Ms Benson identified that the issues and expertise required vary depending on the cohort, noting that some older unaccompanied minors might only require settlement support whereas a younger child might also require health and welfare support. Ms Benson also noted that the key to delegating responsibility is to be sure that the person you are delegating to has competence, noting that most child safety officers are only competent to deal with minors under the age of 15. Mr Fox agreed that the current model is being tested by this, with many of the minors coming off Christmas Island being close to 18. Mr Fox agreed that a better set of policy parameters was needed to deal with this cohort.
- 9.5 Professor Yasmeen talked of the experience of young Afghan men in Perth, noting the importance of community connections as informal modes of information and support. She supported the provision of a buddy system of support along the lines provided by CARAD. Associate Professor Minas noted the importance of engaging the individuals themselves when designing the method of engagement. Professor Yasmeen supported this notion, suggesting that they would make substantial and positive contributions if brought onside. Professor Minas noted that this engagement was in itself important to their recovery. Dr Rifi affirmed the importance of engagement, citing his work in NSW with youth groups and the success from engaging those at risk. Mr Clement gave his support to community based engagement, such as an 'big brother' type arrangement and Dr Rifi suggested that an 'other mother' arrangement could also be useful with certain individuals who may not be influenced by a brother or sister type relationship.

- 9.6 Dr Loughry identified the need to examine who had carriage of this primary relationship and Mr Fox agreed that a review of these arrangements was needed. Dr Loughry noted that there is a great deal of experience out there in the sector that could be picked up and Professor Yasmeen noted the importance of ensuring children are not stuck in their own ethnic groups but have means to integrate into the broader community. Mr Fox noted that the issue of where to locate people in settlement is complex, with some groups asking for group housing and others asking for anything but group housing. Mr Fox noted that flexibility is the key.
- 9.7 Ms Coleman noted the value in providing clients with life skills earlier in the process, without necessarily building up false expectations about a positive outcome.
- 9.8 Ms Benson noted that when the department has minors at an ITA who are on a positive pathway, this would be the time to interact with them on these issues to sound them out about what the model should look like.
- 9.9 Mr Aristotle noted that the Council's discussions had identified that the issues did not centre entirely around minors and that it might be better to cast the discussion in terms of minors and young adults who require support. Mr Fox acknowledged that the 16-25 cohort were in some respects the most exposed given that up to the age of 15 the state arrangements provide good coverage.
- 9.10 Mr Aristotle observed that with 80-100 people coming off Christmas Island every week it is important to get ahead of the curve, suggesting work with Mr Casey, Mr Fox, service providers and possibly the Refugee Resettlement Advisory Council. Mr Aristotle suggested the inclusion of Ms Carmel Guerra, Director, Centre for Multicultural Youth and Ms Jacka suggested the involvement of Life Without Barriers as the current providers of much of this support.
- 9.11 Mr Aristotle thanked Mr Fox for attending and invited him back at a future meeting to present to the Council on settlement issues.

ACTION 9	Ms Pope to provide members with a summary of her work in minors.
ACTION 10	A working group to be established to engage with all stakeholders involved in settlement issues for minors.

10. CASE MANAGEMENT OPERATIONS

- 10.1 Mr Aristotle introduced Ms Rocio Trapaga-Saul, Deputy State Director, New South Wales State Office. Ms Trapaga-Saul noted that her role was about to change to Global Manager for Compliance and Case Resolution. Ms Edgerton was also introduced, with her role being Director of Compliance and Case Resolution in New South Wales.
- 10.2 Ms Trapaga-Saul informed the Council of the structure of Compliance and Case Resolution activities in New South Wales. In particular, she emphasised that the state office was taking a far more holistic approach in terms of its structures and integration of client service principles. She noted that the Sydney office handles 70-80% of the case management caseload.

- 10.3 In terms of the structure within the state office, the Compliance section was split into Case Management and Removals Teams. The Case Resolution section was split into compliance field teams, status resolution, and ministerial intervention. Many teams were co-located to ensure that information could be shared quickly, to provide clients with consistent and holistic communications, and to manage risks in relation to particular clients.
- 10.4 Ms Trapaga-Saul outlined the client service approach taken in New South Wales. The compliance counter is one of the busiest in Australia, and much work has been done to ensure the client experience is not diminished, including specific induction processes, redesigned lounges, and wide use of interpreters (over 80% of clients required interpreters). This extends to communicating with the client, using one case officer for each client, and ensuring that, prior to interview, the case officer has complete information.
- 10.5 There has been a client satisfaction survey conducted on 283 clients (approximately 5% to 10%) of the caseload to determine the effectiveness of the client service improvements. The written survey was produced in five languages, and there were interpreters available as well. Most of the client service aspects were covered including waiting time, amenities, professionalism of staff and understanding of requirements.
- 10.6 Mr Clement suggested that there may need to be separate feedback to distinguish feedback on clients' satisfaction with their immigration outcome compared to their satisfaction with the client service experience itself. Professor Minas suggested that online surveys separate from the client service environment may improve the validity of the data.
- 10.7 Council Members expressed interest in how the information from the survey would be used. Mr Aristotle expressed the need to follow through on the survey and determine whether the client service improvements made a difference in relation to the status resolution. This was echoed by Professor Minas, who suggested that a longitudinal study of clients moving through the system (noting ethical concerns) would provide most benefit.
- 10.8 Dr Rifi indicated that the quality of the advice from the department to clients had improved considerably, which meant a lesser reliance on migration agents to provide advice. Dr Loughry noted that the access to departmental staff had improved, and could provide further information in this regard.
- 10.9 Ms Trapaga-Saul welcomed this feedback as evidence that the improvements to client service were having the intended effect. Ms Trapaga-Saul observed that clients are treated appropriately regardless of whether their outcome was to remain in Australia or to be removed. In particular, care is taken to ensure that those who are on a removal pathway are not made to feel they had done anything wrong and that their dignity is maintained. This means that the client is more likely to be cooperative upon removal, although on rare occasions restraints are still required. .

- 10.10 Ms Trapaga-Saul provided some examples to the Council of the process taken for different client groups, including whether clients would be referred to status resolution or case management. The nature of the client's situation drove the response for each group. .
- 10.11 Members received a handout detailing key statistics in relation to caseload and clients in New South Wales. Ms Trapaga-Saul pointed out to Members key areas of interest, including that the majority of clients entering from the People's Republic of China did not enter on electronic travel authorities. In terms of the NSW Status Resolution Snapshot, Mr Aristotle asked how the information can be relied on. The response was that the snapshot was not split out between legacy cases and regular workload, and that as the legacy cases are removed, the percentage of cases going to case management is likely to shift.
- 10.12 After examining the statistics further, Mr Aristotle asked where the threshold was for clients going into case management; in particular, was it based on an assessment and was the assessment refined enough. Ms Trapaga-Saul noted that the co-location of teams assisted in the refinement of the process, particularly with ministerial intervention requests and determining whether there was new information to consider. Mr Aristotle reflected that more work needed to be done in relation to the definition of 'new information', particularly in specialist areas such as health.
- 10.13 In terms of NSW Status Resolution outcomes as at 31 December 2009, it was noted that there was considerable effort placed in increasing the number of final immigration outcomes, but there had been an increase in changes in immigration status, primarily due to the legacy caseload. Ms Larkins remarked that there were over 25,000 overstayers who had been in Australia for more than ten years. Mr Aristotle noted that this reinforced the need to process the legacy caseload, as only then could it be accurately understood how the changes in visa grants have impacted on status resolution. Mr Wann noted that there was still considerable recruitment to be completed in this area, and it may take up to six months before the real impact could be assessed.
- 10.14 Ms Trapaga-Saul discussed with Members the statistics around clients disengaging with the status resolution process. In particular, she noted clients disengaging: immediately after the first ministerial intervention request had been finalised (28%); after a travel ticket had been requested (30%), and after the first ministerial intervention request had been lodged – this was seen to be tied to the granting of work rights (12%). In addition, Ms Trapaga-Saul noted that there were 19 common obstacles to status resolution that had been identified as requiring solutions, such as loopholes in legislation in relation to minors who were not permanent residents. With reference to clients in immigration detention, Ms Trapaga-Saul noted that numbers had decreased since April 2009, as had the time spent in detention. Ms Trapaga-Saul invited Members to view status resolution processes in New South Wales.

- 10.15 Ms Edgerton addressed Members on the logistics of case management in New South Wales. At present, there are 320 clients from 53 different nationalities being case managed. Most referrals to case management come from the compliance counter, however referrals could come from a number of sources, including Onshore Protection, the Red Cross and other welfare and government organisations. Most interactions with clients take place within a couple of days of referral.
- 10.16 The case manager makes an assessment of a client's immigration status, their health and welfare, and undertakes a screening interview. Appropriately 50% of those screened are be excluded from case management and referred elsewhere. The main client groups who are case managed include those with significant health issues, elderly clients with no family, families where children are at risk, those who have experienced some catastrophic events, and those experiencing family law issues including adoption. Those clients lodging protection visa applications are generally referred to the Asylum Seeker Assistance (ASA) program and are not case managed.
- 10.17 For those who are case managed, there is a comprehensive case assessment conducted. Those with health and welfare issues are referred to the appropriate organisation. There is also an assessment to see if clients are eligible for the Community Assistance Scheme (CAS). Those with significant physical or mental health risks, or minors at risk, are referred to the Red Cross – there are currently 130 clients who have Red Cross case workers. The majority of clients with access to CAS are not asylum seekers.
- 10.18 Clients' immigration history, potential barriers to status resolution, and other options are investigated. Immigration Advice and Application Assistance Scheme (IAAAS) services are seen as an option. For those on a pathway of removal, clients are referred to the International Organisation for Migration (IOM), who provide services in relation to assisted voluntary removal, as well as other services. It was noted that some clients disengage once their health and welfare issues are resolved.
- 10.19 Mr Aristotle asked if the current system included some double handling. Ms Edgerton indicated that it did, but this was seen to be a better outcome than risking having clients in need of assistance slipping through a gap. Mr Casey indicated that there were still significant shortages in the case management space (only 45 of the required 100 are available). Mr Aristotle asked if there was merit in combining status resolution and case management staff. Mr Wann responded by noting that the delegations around granting bridging visas and detaining people were with status resolution staff, and case managers did not have a similar delegation.
- 10.20 Dr Loughry suggested it would be useful to have separate case managers dealing with legacy and new cases, so that a sense of status resolution patterns could be obtained. Ms Trapaga-Saul noted that this reinforced the case to collect separate data for these groups.
- 10.21 Dr Loughry noted that advocates and representatives seemed to be operating in an outdated model and giving clients hope where it may not be well placed.

Ms Trapaga-Saul acknowledged that clients were not well informed, and that she would be looking at targeting specific groups to better inform them.

- 10.22 Mr Aristotle asked how relationships with external providers were progressing. Ms Trapaga-Saul noted that some relationships with Non-Government Organisations (NGOs) were good, whilst others need work in terms of them understanding what is required regarding services. Mr Aristotle remarked that some NGOs are not as connected with case management as they should be. Air Marshal Funnell queried whether NGO representation on Community Consultative Groups (CCGs) makes a difference – Ms Coleman indicated that it did not due to the detention focus of CCGs.
- 10.23 Ms Edgerton noted that in relation to the CAS, the department needed to get better at debriefing on changes in decisions. This should assist organisations in being more able to support clients' needs. Mr Clement noted that the discussion with NGOs needed to address the impact on the client's health and well being in relation to cases becoming protracted.
- 10.24 Dr Rifi remarked that the flow of information through community liaison had considerably reduced in recent times, and that this needed to be addressed.
- 10.25 Ms Benson asked what qualifications case managers had, apart from the five week training course. Ms Trapaga-Saul noted that personnel came from a mix of social welfare and other backgrounds, and there was no threshold of qualifications as such.
- 10.26 Mr Aristotle noted that the department had moved back into the space of service provision. He asked what arrangements had been made in relation to the supervision, professional development and training of personnel, given their importance in maintaining quality. Ms Trapaga-Saul stated that the department had appointed an administrative rather than a clinical model. She pointed out that a psychologist comes in once a month as part of a professional supervision support program, but acknowledged this is probably insufficient and needs to be expanded. Mr Wann added that there is also a peer support network operating. Mr Clement noted that a "Communities at Practice" model could assist, where practitioners from a number of jurisdictions discussed practice issues across the sector.
- 10.27 Ms Edgerton distributed and discussed a number of case management case studies, which included creative strategies for managing removals, including arranging post-removal services.
- 10.28 Mr Casey updated the Council regarding case management on Christmas Island. He noted there are 13 staff currently on the island dedicated to case management, of which half have been fully trained and are experienced. Case managers were the only departmental staff who directly engaged with clients on the island. Mr Casey indicated that the preferred number of case management staff on the island for case management was 31.
- 10.29 Case managers work in two teams. The first team operates in the compounds in the IDC, and picks up on issues raised by the service provider and clients in terms of clients not coping with the environment. The second team works more closely with the key groups on Christmas Island, including those with no primary assessment decision after 120 days, and those with negative decisions and/or other vulnerabilities.

- 10.30 Personnel sent to Christmas Island receive three days of pre-deployment training, of which half was dedicated specifically to case management. Professor Minas asked, noting that case managers tended to deal with individuals in vulnerable groups, whether there was a fear within clients whenever a case manager approached. Mr Casey indicated that clients were generally very positive towards case managers, and there seemed to be genuine engagement, where other clients would approach case managers.
- 10.31 It was noted that there was significant recruitment happening in the case management area, which should assist in supporting increases in both irregular maritime arrivals and unauthorised air arrivals.

11. RESEARCH AND EVALUATION

- 11.1 Professor Minas noted that the draft minutes of the Research and Evaluation Sub-Group meeting of 8 February 2010 had been distributed to Members. The main issues covered by the Sub-Group meeting were the general approach the Sub-Group will take, the areas of research that will assist the Council advise the Minister, and the draft terms of reference for the Sub-Group.
- 11.2 The Sub-Group meeting was attended by Ms Anita Davis, Research Director from the Policy Innovation, Research and Evaluation Unit (PIREU). She provided an update on the role and activities of PIREU, and discussion followed in relation to how PIREU and the sub-group could interact to ensure that the two areas worked together to ensure that each other's work could be completed.
- 11.3 Members noted that the budget set aside by PIREU for funding research projects ($500,000) was inadequate. Ms Larkins noted that this was the centralised research budget only, and that line areas may have further research funding available through their particular budget allocation. Ms Larkins and Ms Jacka also noted the significant budgetary constraints the department was operating under. Notwithstanding this, Members encouraged the department to continue to look for opportunities to undertake research activities as part of core business, noting the positive contribution that research can have to the delivery of more effective programs. Members also noted that research strengthens the evidence base that supports service delivery. It was queried whether the department had a comprehensive picture of its research activities at present, and that it was important to identify the line areas that were undertaking research. Ms Larkins advised that one of the roles of the PIREU is to create the consolidated picture. In addition, the limited budget should not be seen to constrain the Council in recommending to the Minister particular research priorities, particularly as there may be other avenues of funding available.

- 11.4 Members discussed the draft terms of reference for the Sub-Group. It was clarified that the Sub-Group does not conduct research in its own right, but recommends priorities for research. It was noted that it would be some time before the Council would be in a position to provide recommendations to the Minister in regard to research.
- 11.5 Professor Minas indicated that the department may be exposed if it undertook to deliver new policies without a sufficient research base. Ms Larkins indicated that for new policy proposals, there was generally an evaluation capacity built in that allowed for development and review.
- 11.6 Members suggested the following changes to the draft terms of reference:
- Point 2 be expanded to state 'Work in close collaboration with the DIAC Research Section and the relevant areas of the department.'
  - Point 5 was not seen to be a term of reference.
  - Point 4 be reworded to state 'Develop strategies for increasing the research funding options and capacity that is available for research projects that are relevant to the CISSR work program'.
- 11.7 Members broadly accepted the draft terms of reference, but asked Professor Minas to refine them before final acceptance.
- 11.8 Professor Minas asked if other Members wished to join the Sub-Group. Members discussed that it may be prudent for other Members to join the research Sub-Group as particular pieces of research are being considered (eg arising from the Minors Sub-Group).

ACTION 11	Professor Minas to circulate final terms of reference for Research and Evaluation Sub-Group prior to acceptance by Council.

12. DISCUSSION WITH THE OMBUDSMAN'S OFFICE

- 12.1 Mr Aristotle introduced Professor John McMillan AO, Commonwealth and Immigration Ombudsman, and thanked him for meeting with the Council. Mr Aristotle then informed Professor McMillan of the purpose of the Council, noting in particular that there was an interest in minors in detention, as well as the operation of immigration detention centres, both on Christmas Island and on the mainland. It was also noted that the brief of the Council was broader than that of the former Immigration Detention Advisory Group.
- 12.2 Professor McMillan thanked Mr Aristotle for the opportunity to speak to the Council. Professor McMillan proceeded to inform the committee of the role of the Commonwealth and Immigration Ombudsman, and those tasks specific to immigration detention matters. It was noted that the role of the Ombudsman was transformed in 2005 when he was given special oversight and statutory functions in relation to immigration detention.
- 12.3 Key activities the Ombudsman undertakes in relation to detention include reviews of the cases of people in detention for over two years, and also at six monthly intervals; monitoring of arrangements on Christmas Island; and responding to immigration complaints. Professor McMillan provided a handout to Members highlighting key themes coming out of the Ombudsman's investigations.

- 12.4 Themes arising from the two year reviews include lack of educational and skill development opportunities, indefinite detention, inadequate preparation for life after detention, mental health issues, and the conflict between border protection and welfare obligations. These reviews are tabled in Parliament. Professor McMillan noted that there had been a significant reduction in numbers for those who were in detention for two years or more. He also remarked that these reviews provide an excellent resource to get a picture of complex cases in the detention environment.
- 12.5 In terms of the six monthly reviews, which are not tabled but provided to the department, issues arising include visa non-compliance being equated with flight risk, the use of personal information in internal assessments, and the provision of health information within the department.
- 12.6 The Ombudsman's Office also visits Christmas Island periodically – the last visit was in September 2009. Professor McMillan noted that the issues that arose early on in the process have been managed better as time has passed. Issues raised include accommodation options, care and wellbeing of vulnerable people, timeliness of decision making, access to health services, access to support and recreational facilities, effective communication with detainees, and use of and access to interpreters. In the Ombudsman's view, improvements have been made in cooperation between agencies, prioritisation of cases involving survivors of torture and trauma, unaccompanied minors and families, use of interpreters, and longer DIAC staff placements. As part of the process, the Ombudsman writes to the Secretary on a regular basis to advise him on Christmas Island issues.
- 12.7 Professor McMillan also discussed briefly the nature of complaints received in relation to detention, including lack of access to services (such as legal services, language classes, culturally appropriate food, excursions, computers, exercise/remedial equipment), bullying, assault and harassment by other detainees and by service provider staff, lost property, and delays in security and community detention assessments. The Ombudsman remarked that in relation to assaults at Villawood, he had played a role in bringing the department together with law enforcement agencies to resolve jurisdictional issues. The Ombudsman noted that there was a risk in over servicing complaints to the extent that the Ombudsman's mechanisms may not allow the internal mechanisms to operate effectively.
- 12.8 The Ombudsman acknowledged other tasks his office undertakes, including the oversight of administrative compensation reviews, and providing publications including an issues paper on mistakes and unintended consequences.
- 12.9 Ms Coleman asked what the nature of the engagement with detainees was for the purposes of the six month and two year review. Professor McMillan informed Members that there was generally a face-to-face interview with detainees for the two year review, whilst it was more likely that a telephone conversation would take place for the six monthly review.

- 12.10 Dr Rifi, reflecting the concerns of other Members, asked what arrangements the Ombudsman had with other oversight bodies such as the Australian Human Rights Commission, in the context of the oversight bodies covering much of the same ground in terms of their reports and potentially duplicating effort.
- 12.11 Professor McMillan indicated that the Ombudsman does have some cooperative arrangements with the Australian Human Rights Commission. The focus of each organisation is different, so independent reports still need to be prepared by each organisation. The Ombudsman does go to some effort to ensure that agencies are not duplicating effort, particularly in relation to individual complaints. Ms Henry noted that a majority of recommendations tended to overlap across reports by different agencies, especially the detention of children, accommodation, torture and trauma services and access to communications.
- 12.12 Mr Aristotle suggested to the Ombudsman that there be a meeting between himself, the Ombudsman, the Human Rights Commissioner and the Red Cross, to discuss informally issues around resources and demarcation, noting there is a considerable burden to the department in managing requests for access. Professor McMillan saw merit in a meeting, and endeavoured to contact the Australian Human Rights Commissioner to arrange a meeting. Ms Henry noted that The Hon Catherine Branson QC had, at a earlier meeting of the Council, saw merit in the proposal. Professor McMillan also mentioned that the Ombudsman had memorandums of understanding with other oversight bodies, but not with the Australian Human Rights Commission.
- 12.13 Air Marshal Funnell noted that the best value in coordination between agencies would be in coordinating visits. Ms Fleming noted this would not be possible in relation to the unannounced visits program.
- 12.14 Associate Professor Minas asked Professor McMillan whether there had been any attempt to systematically look at the reports, to create an overall assessment of the environment. Professor McMillan outlined to Members that there were two research activities under way with Griffith University (dealing with people you cannot please) and Monash University in relation to closed environments.
- 12.15 Ms Larkins noted that external oversight from agencies such as the Ombudsman was fundamental to the department's advancements in recent years, and continues to be.
- 12.16 Mr Aristotle asked Professor McMillan whether he felt there was a sufficient legislative framework in place for the Ombudsman. Professor McMillan remarked that in the immigration space, most of the legislative changes had been made in 2005, particularly around access to non-government service providers. It was noted that the Ombudsman's Act was now over 30 years old and possibly required a rewrite due to its interaction with other legislation.

- 12.17 Mr Aristotle raised a concern about the monitoring of health services in immigration detention, which seemed to be a gap in oversight arrangements and was also mentioned in the Palmer report. The Ombudsman noted that due to the expertise required to investigate such matters, and the fact that the expertise did not presently lie with the Ombudsman, that particular role did not fall within the purview of the Ombudsman. The Council noted that the Detention Health Advisory Group was not responsible for that oversight role, noting this was a gap in oversight arrangements.
- 12.18 Professor Yasmeen asked the Ombudsman whether the department was responsive to the Ombudsman's recommendations. Professor McMillan indicated that the department was doing very well and was very responsive compared to other agencies.
- 12.19 Professor Yasmeen asked whether the Ombudsman may have a role in overseeing international student issues. Professor McMillan indicated that this was under active consideration.
- 12.20 Mr Aristotle queried whether there were similar oversight bodies in other jurisdictions. Professor McMillan indicated that there was, citing the United Kingdom's Independent Chief Inspector of the UK Border Agency as an example.

ACTION 12	Ombudsman's Office to arrange informal meeting with Mr Aristotle, the Ombudsman, the Australian Human Rights Commissioner and the Red Cross to discuss possibilities for integration and/or coordination of oversight activities for immigration detention.

13. FEEDBACK FROM COMMUNITY CONSULTATIVE GROUPS

- 13.1 Mr Aristotle asked Members to update the Council on feedback received from Community Consultative Groups (CCGs).
- 13.2 Dr Rifi indicated that the two previously convened CCG meetings in New South Wales had been cancelled due to lack of interest from attendees. The next meeting is due to take place in the week beginning 15 February 2010. Dr Rifi did note that there seemed to be few issues arising at this time.
- 13.3 Ms Coleman informed the Council that she had chaired a CCG meeting in Melbourne on 9 February 2010 for both the immigration detention centre and the immigration transit accommodation. She expressed satisfaction at the involvement of both departmental and Serco personnel in the process, the state of the facilities and the transition process. Ms Coleman noted that two other groups had asked to be invited to the CCG, but it was not clear from the terms of reference what mix of attendees was appropriate. The agenda was also seen as being highly reporting oriented, whereas Ms Coleman thought it should be more oriented towards problem solving.

- 13.4 Mr Aristotle noted the concern around the terms of reference and asked how it could be made clearer and more consistent across regions. Ms Jacka noted that the detention services contracts make explicit reference to the meetings and undertook to provide relevant extracts of the contracts to Members. In addition, the CISSR Secretariat undertook to construct a consistent terms of reference for CCGs. Once drafted, there would be a teleconference held with Chairs of CCGs to seek their agreement to the terms of reference.
- 13.5 Ms Benson updated Members on the Queensland Community Reference Group meeting. As there is only immigration transit accommodation (ITA) in Brisbane, CCG issues were discussed by over 40 people, not all who have a direct interest in the Brisbane ITA. To address this, Ms Benson has met with the Queensland State Director, Mr Greg Kelly. Mr Kelly has undertaken to review the membership of the Group and set up a settlement planning committee. Mr Clement noted that a settlement planning committee in itself may be too narrow in scope to address the issue. There was no timeframe determined as to when the membership of the Queensland Group would be reviewed. Mr Aristotle noted that members of the Group should be written to as the Group is re-formed.
- 13.6 Members discussed further the content of terms of reference for CCGs. Concepts discussed including encouraging those attending to engage in constructive dialogue around problem solving, ensuring that members are aware of the sensitivity of information discussed. Air Marshal Funnell also suggested that Mr Aristotle consult with State Directors and Regional Managers with a view to updating members of CCGs on the department's progress regarding detention arrangements.
- 13.7 Professor Yasmeen indicated that she had not yet attended a CCG meeting in Perth, but had been invited to one. Noting that Ms Yasmeen was the Chair, the CISSR Secretariat undertook to confirm with the Regional Manager in Perth the arrangements for the next CCG meeting. Ms Yasmeen noted she had visited both the immigration detention centre and the immigration residential housing, and noted the inadequacy of the detention centre in particular. Ms Jacka indicated that the detention centre is currently on leased land close to the airport and is not likely to be a long-term solution for the department as it is likely the lease will not be extended upon expiry.
- 13.8 Mr Caldwell passed on Professor Proctor's comments in relation to South Australia. Professor Proctor has met with both the Acting Regional Manager, Ms Christina Santos, and the officer responsible in Adelaide, Mr Greg Broadbent. There is a Community Reference Group meeting scheduled for February, and Professor Proctor indicated he would like to shift the focus of the meeting towards problem solving.
- 13.9 There was some discussion about having a CCG meeting in Darwin, noting there had not been one for over 18 months and there are currently people being detained there. Due to the logistics, a view was expressed that this should be incorporated into other activities in Darwin if at all possible.

ACTION 13	CISSR Secretariat to provide Members with extracts from the detention services contracts in relation to CCG meetings.
ACTION 14	CISSR Secretariat to formulate terms of reference for CCGs consistent for each region. A teleconference will be arranged by the Secretariat with Chairs of CCGs to agree the terms of reference.
ACTION 15	CISSR Secretariat to confirm arrangements for Western Australia CCG and inform Professor Yasmeen.

14. CLOSING DISCUSSION

- 14.1 Mr Aristotle thanked the Council Members for their contribution to the meeting and to the Sub-Groups. Mr Aristotle also thanked the members of the department for their availability and support to the Council.
- 14.2 Members agreed that the next meeting of the Council would be held on 6-7 May in Brisbane. Further meetings are tentatively scheduled for 15-16 July in Perth or Darwin, and 10-11 September at a venue to be confirmed. Mr Aristotle reminded the Council Members that they needed to be mindful of the venue of meetings, as it may impact on the availability of departmental staff.
- 14.3 Ms Jacka informed Members that due to the operational dynamics on Christmas Island, the earliest an overnight visit could be accommodated was mid to late April. Several Members expressed interest in attending, depending on the final dates.

1. WELCOME, CORRESPONDENCE AND ACTION ITEMS

- 1.1 Mr Aristotle welcomed Members of the Council for Immigration Services and Status Resolution (the Council) and staff from the Department to the meeting and invited opening remarks from participants.
- 1.2 Air Marshal Funnell commented that the minutes of the previous meeting were comprehensive and contained information; however, there could be a reduction in the amount of detail included. Dr Rifi suggested the inclusion of an executive summary.
- 1.3 Ms Coleman queried the date of the 7th General Meeting which is scheduled for 10 and 11 September – the Secretariat advised members that the date is Thursday and Friday, 9 and 10 September 2010.
- 1.4 Air Marshal Funnell queried 3.14 in the previous meeting minutes as to whether a 'desktop study' involving a small number of identified case officers and clients was undertaken as a means to establishing the practical requirements for a study.

ACTION 1	Members to be provided with an update on the pilot of the vulnerability assessment tool. Refer 4th General Meeting Minutes paragraph 3.14
-----------------	---

- 1.5 Air Marshal Funnell discussed point 4.13 in the minutes of the previous meeting and whether SERCO has conducted exit interviews and focus groups for staff and clients to measure how people feel about their detention experience, including how they think complaints are dealt with and how safe they feel.
- 1.6 Ms Wilson suggested that this should be a task for the Research and Evaluation Sub-group to progress. Ms Jacka outlined that a questionnaire could be developed along similar lines to that used by SERCO in the UK (see Report on an unannounced follow-up inspection; Yarl's Wood Immigration Removal Centre – 9-13 November 2009). Ms Jacka suggested that SERCO develop the questionnaire and approach the Research and Evaluation sub-group for guidance and input into the questionnaire's development.
- 1.7 Associate Professor Minas commented on the increasing volume of paperwork and correspondence surrounding the CISSR Secretariat's communication with the Council. Associate Professor Minas noted that it may be worthwhile exploring the option of a CISSR website where all papers and other correspondence could be uploaded and shared amongst members, for example the daily media clips, CISSR agendas, detention statistics and relevant research papers. This would also provide a more efficient way of communicating ideas for sub group members; the website would also reduce the workload of the Secretariat. Ms Wilson affirmed that this was a very sensible idea and that the Department would follow up on this issue including communicating with the Department's IT area to explore policies that could be put in place that would support this initiative. Members gave examples of other working groups who successfully use password protect websites to share their information.

ACTION 2	CDSD to explore the development of a CISSR website to improve means of communication with and between members.
-----------------	---

- 1.8 After the recent Mainland Sub-group visit to Villawood Immigration Detention Facilities Air Marshal Funnell observed that SERCO needed to improve their activities program (4.21 in previous meeting minutes) at the Villawood Immigration Detention Facilities, both Villawood Immigration Detention Centre and Villawood Immigration Residential Housing. Air Marshal Funnell noted that the excursion program at both Villawood facilities was virtually non-existent and that this was a critical element for people in long term detention.

- 1.9 Air Marshal Funnell commented that the relationships at senior levels between Immigration Health Management Service (IHMS) and other external providers including the non-government sector should be strengthened. At the previous general meeting Mr Hassall's comments regarding strengthening relationships were specific to Christmas Island (CI). Ms Wilson commented that a new structure had recently been approved and that she and Ms Lynch-Magor frequently meet with senior people from these agencies to build robust working relationships.

ACTION (added in minute revisions)	The Department to provide an update for the 7th CISSR General Meeting.

- 1.10 Air Marshal Funnell questioned the progress of 6.3 from the previous meeting minutes regarding draft section 499 Ministerial Direction, Exercise of decision to detain a minor under section 189 by officers. Ms Henry advised members that the work is currently with the Minister's Office.

- 1.11 Mr Casey responded to questions in relation to 10.28 in the previous meeting minutes regarding the ratio of case managers to clients. Currently on Christmas Island the ratio is 120 clients to 1 case manager – some of whom do not have a Certificate IV in Government (Case Management). Mr Casey noted that all new arrivals are actively case managed. To address this, Case Management Branch are currently recruiting staff to build a pool of people to improve client to case manager ratios and to provide a higher percentage of staff trained to Certificate IV level at all locations.

- 1.12 Members requested information on the content of training for case managers and other staff in the Department; is there a register of training being provided; by whom, are they accredited trainers? Ms Wilson reported that each division is responsible for its own training and offered to provide the Council with a calendar of scheduled training for Community and Detention Services Division. Mr Aristotle asked about the level of training offered to case managers; are they specifically trained to identify torture and trauma cases and, where necessary, implement escalation procedures. Ms Gillam advised members on the Compliance and Case Resolution Branch's training with Members and the ongoing review and development of the curricula of the immigration college. Members requested additional information on the Department's training programs and how these training programs complement each other.

ACTION 4	Compliance and Case Resolution to provide Members with an overview and presentation on training at the next General Meeting.

- 1.13 Dr Loughry reported that the Minors Sub-group has been established and has met twice. Ms Pope had joined the meeting by teleconference – a report will be provided tomorrow. Members requested a copy of Ms Pope's summary of work on minors.

ACTION 5	Provide Members with a copy of the CISSR Minor's paper prepared by Ms Pope
-----------------	---

- 1.14 Mr Aristotle expressed concern that the Christmas Island Sub-group had, as yet, not had the opportunity to visit CI. Ms Wilson reported that CI is at capacity but a time will be found in the CI schedule for the visit. Flights, accommodation and Departmental staff to assist with making the visit meaningful are in short supply. Ms Wilson assured the Sub-group that a visit would be given priority and be organised within the next three to four weeks.

ACTION 6	Christmas Island Sub-group to visit CI as soon as possible.

2. CHRISTMAS ISLAND OVERVIEW

- 2.1 Ms Wilson provided the meeting with an overview of facilities on CI, a draft paper 'IMA – Client Management Strategy' and CI statistics as of 5 May 2010. Ms Wilson outlined some of the key points included in the paper and asked members to provide feedback to the draft 'IMA – Client Management Strategy' paper. Ms Wilson reported that capacity has increased; Aqua Compound which accommodates 400 single men within North West Point (NWP) is now ready for use. All client accommodation that was under construction on CI has now been completed. If the arrival of IMAs decreases or slows, the Department would be in a position to return spaces, currently used to accommodate clients in tents, to recreation and activity areas. Mr Aristotle suggested that there was no indication that the boats would stop, and that the operation of the CI IDC could be in a vulnerable position with the ever increasing numbers of arrivals.

ACTION 7	CCRD and CDSD to discuss out of session and provide a revised version of the 'IMA - Client Strategy Paper' to Members
-----------------	--

- 2.2 Ms Wilson reported that 360 single men had recently been transferred to Darwin and 122 to Villawood. If the Irregular Maritime Arrivals (IMAs) numbers continue to increase the Department would need to quickly respond and reopen the Curtin Immigration Detention Centre (Curtin), to transfer some of the suspension single male clients to the mainland. Curtin has a capacity to accommodate up to 600 clients. 58 families have also been transferred from CI to an Alternative Place of Detention (APOD) in Brisbane with more family groups arriving within the next few days. Family groups are also accommodated at the Brisbane Immigration Transit Accommodation (BITA). Ms Wilson stated a preference that family groups require placement close to cities, services and amenities and the Department is currently sourcing further properties that can be brought online quickly.
- 2.3 Members discussed the types of facilities that could be sought to accommodate large numbers of clients. The two main issues identified were appropriate accommodation for families and accommodation that is secure. Further issues discussed included the requirement for accommodation to meet current building requirements and codes, the availability of resources and services and the potential impact on the clients, especially the vulnerable groups. The meeting was advised that the Department has been searching for accommodation through select real estate agents but has not found suitable options. Those provided are too old, too small, too isolated or do not comply with current building codes.
- 2.4 Members stressed that they did not want the Department to repeat the mistakes of the past. Places such as Baxter and Curtin had 'past history'. Members sought reassurance from the Department that the same mistakes would not be repeated and requested that IDAG reports from the Curtin be made available to Members.

ACTION 8	Secretariat to look for copies of IDAG reports on Curtin and report to Chair.
-----------------	--

- 2.5 Ms Henry advised that security clearances are increasingly problematic and that the Department needs to think laterally to find workable solutions for the IMA caseload, for example an increase in focus on Alternative Places of Detention in the Community (APOD) and Community Detention (CD). Since the announcement of the suspension, the client caseloads are quite different; the Afghan and Sri Lankan cohorts arriving since April could prove a challenge in relation to the principle of health, identity and security checks. External agencies are processing security clearances as quickly as possible, but the boats continue to arrive and as a result resources are stretched.
- 2.6 Ms Benson asked the Department to give consideration to a client's immigration pathway and provide adequate notice to the settlement sector of upcoming settlement requirements. Ms Benson provided the meeting with a recent example of, not an isolated incident, where notice was given on Monday to settle 50 persons on the Wednesday thus over-stretching resources within the settlement sectors. Ms Coleman told the meeting that it is quite difficult to scope the potential requirements for settlement services if the settlement sector does not have any certainty, and that the Department could potentially lose the goodwill of these agencies.
- 2.7 Ms Wilson advised the meeting that it is not easy for the Department to predict immigration pathways especially as country information is changing rapidly and there would appear to be more groups being refused protection visas. Ms Wilson advised that minors, families and vulnerable clients are prioritised however there is uncertainty regarding the processing of the Afghan and Sri Lankan suspension case load.
- 2.8 Ms Henry reported to the meeting that over 3000 additional arrivals are predicted within the next few months.
This may mean that in:
- three months the facilities will be 160 beds short for families
  - six months 400 beds short for families and
  - six months the Department will be 900 beds short overall.
- These figures take into account the additional accommodation options which are coming online; visa grants and settlements were approximately 165 per month and returns 10-15 per month. Whichever way the figures are looked at, the Department needs to urgently find additional accommodation on the mainland for clients transferred from CI.
- 2.9 Members requested the Department report on how the Afghan and Sri Lankan clients are responding to the news that their protection claims/processing are being suspended. Members are very interested to learn about the health and mental health issues that arise and what support networks will be in place to support these clients. Issues such as hunger strikes and self harm were raised as areas of great concern to members. Ms Wilson referred the meeting to the 'IMA – Client Management Strategy' which is being developed and the continued efforts of the Department and staff to ensure the health and safety of all people in immigration detention.

ACTION 9	Members requested statistics (weekly or fortnightly) on primary refusals, and DIAC to investigate.

3. Development of the BITA, APOD and CAS in Brisbane

- 3.1 Mr Kelly advised that due to the current increases in transfers from CI to the mainland compliance fieldwork has decreased. For normal levels of compliance fieldwork to resume additional beds are urgently required to accommodate increased client numbers.
- 3.2 Mr Kelly reported that the Department's relationship with its service providers is very good and was working well in Queensland. They have an active Community Reference Group (CRG) which Ms Benson chairs and a detention review committee comprising of a number of departmental staff, SERCO and the BITA Manager.
- 3.3 Air Marshal Funnell questioned what was the specific charter of the detention review committee? Mr Kelly informed the meeting that the detention review committee's role is to ensure that people are placed in accordance with the Client Placement Assessment and Client Placement Reviews to ensure the delivery of services to clients such as education programs and activities. Mr Kelly noted that the Department has a good working relationship with the Queensland Education Department and they were currently in the process of establishing a communication protocol.
- 3.4 Council Members discussed settlement issues surrounding the resettlement of UAMs. Members noted that settlement of minors was much easier in South Australia and Victoria. Mr Kelly noted that initially all minors would be on a positive pathway however as the climate and country information are changing this may no longer be the case. Mr Kelly advised that the current BITA and APOD facilities in Brisbane do not support the increased numbers of suspended or refused caseloads.
- 3.5 Mr Kelly reported that the BITA will accommodate some clients who have received negative hand downs and suggested that accommodating mixed groups at the BITA could prove difficult to manage.
- 3.6 Ms Gillam, Mr Kelly and Council Members discussed the roles of case managers and case officers under the new Regional Managers Model. Associate Professor Minas suggested that the roles need to be reviewed to ensure that staff are properly trained and that there is 'no burn out'.

4. REVIEW

- 4.1 Mr Aristotle expressed thanks on behalf of the Council to Mr Sokoloff and BITA staff who had assisted with the informative tour of the facility. Mr Aristotle and Council Members were impressed by the set up of the BITA however were concerned that the facility is now being used to accommodate families for longer periods.
  - 4.1.1 Associate Professor Minas suggested a way forward to the question 'what might the determinants be for predicting positive and negative outcomes for clients?' There is a large volume of literature on the subject that the Council could draw on; the Council Members could act as an expert panel to develop a program of work on this. Associate Professor Minas put forward the Delphi model as an interactive research tool that could be used by the Council to assist in this research. The advantage of this model would be that all views that are expressed are of an equal weight. Dr Rifi suggested that Community Consultative Group (CCG) members should be included in the consultative process.

- 4.1.2 The Council expressed serious concerns about the lack of research to inform policy and strategy advice and implementation into the future. (The Council noted an action point should have been formulated here.)

5. MAINLAND DETENTION CENTRES

- 5.1 Air Marshal Funnell reported that all members of the Sub-group attended the meeting at the Villawood Immigration Detention Facility, which included both the VIDC and the VIRH on 8 April 2010. During the meeting the Members put forward that the Sub-group should visit each mainland detention facility each year with the exception of Villawood which they proposed to visit twice each year due to the size and complex nature of the facility.
- 5.2 Air Marshal Funnell reported that Ms Van Raak had indicated that the Regional Managers Model was working well at Villawood. After discussing aspects of the new management structure at Villawood Ms Gillam advised the meeting that case managers are not physically located within the VIDC but are located adjacent to the site.

ACTION 10	Mainland Detention Centre Sub-group Minutes, 8 April 2010, amend page 2 'VIDC case managers are located adjacent to the site'.

- 5.3 The Sub-group highlighted the importance of excursions for people in detention, especially those in medium and long-term detention and raised concerns about the lack of excursions available for people in detention at Villawood. Ongoing issues surrounding the use of designated persons assisting with excursions were discussed.

ACTION 11	Issues surrounding the use and roles of designated persons to be discussed further.
------------------	--

- 5.4 The Sub-group proposes to meet in Darwin in May to visit both the Northern Immigration Detention Centre (NIDC) and Berrimah House which are currently being used to accommodate single male IMAs and unaccompanied minors (UAMs) recently transferred from CI to the mainland.
- 5.5 Ms Henry advised Members that the Minister's Office is planning to take a group of interested stakeholders to Curtin and asked whether the Council Members would like to be involved? All Members agreed that this would give the Council an excellent opportunity to meet with other stakeholders and service providers to informally discuss 'issues' whilst visiting the facility.

6. SERVICE DELIVERY FRAMEWORK

- 6.1 Mr Aristotle reported on the recent Service Delivery Framework Sub-group (SDF) meeting held on 19 April 2010 and thanked Ms Boardman, Ms Rooney and Mr Wann for their considerable contributions.

- 6.2 The proposed framework for conceptualising the changes in services to clients and to assist in progressing and supporting them to status resolution was discussed by Mr Aristotle. The Sub-group is investigating ways to better package and configure the services provided by the Department and service providers. Members agreed that income support and a range of mental health services are critical aspects of providing services to asylum seekers. The range of services, which have been progressively developed over the last eighteen years, do not have enough flexibility to cater for the complex needs of many of our current clients. Members agreed that substantial redevelopment and reconfiguration of services is required before any pilot can be undertaken.
- 6.3 The SDF's draft Terms of Reference were discussed and Mr Casey highlighted that it was not appropriate to say people 'lack' capacity and suggested changing the draft to reflect 'that their capacity is impeded'. The term vulnerable was also discussed with those present suggesting that the word vulnerable in that context implied that the clients have an impaired capacity to participate; it was agreed that the use of 'vulnerable' in the Sub-group's Terms of Reference should be rewritten to better reflect the intent.

ACTION 12	Service Delivery Framework Sub-group's Terms of Reference – reframe the language and use of 'vulnerable' and 'lack capacity'. Provide final Terms of Reference at 6th General Meeting.
------------------	--

- 6.4 Members discussed the Community Assistance Support (CAS) programme with Ms Gillam and Ms Lynch-Magor providing information on the legacy caseloads in the community. Ms Gillam and Ms Lynch-Magor will compile data on the CAS programme, number of referrals and status resolution for presentation at the next meeting of the SDF Sub-group.
- 6.5 Members and the Chair discussed at length their significant concerns regarding CAS, also noting concerns raised in representations to Council Members by the community sector. These concerns covered four themes :-
- the utilisation of CAS is not as high as it could or should be;
  - eligibility has been changed;
  - the change to eligibility inappropriately disadvantages the vulnerable and the capacity of service providers to respond; and
  - stakeholders have not been consulted regarding these changes.

ACTION 13	Ms Lynch-Magor to provide a presentation at the next SDF Sub-group meeting on a selection of CAS cases, number of referrals, take-up rates and status resolution.
------------------	--

- 6.6 Mr Aristotle reported to the meeting that the next milestone for the SDF Sub-group was the development of a pilot and trial evaluation methodology of the Vulnerability Indicator Assessment Tool (VIAT) and a trial of an integrated service delivery model.

7. MINORS

- 7.1 Ms Lloyd provided the Council with an overview of the third meeting of the Minors Sub-group which was held on 28 May 2010 at the Melbourne Immigration Transit Accommodation (MITA).
- 7.2 Ms Lloyd advised the meeting that the Sub-group had been briefed by the Department, SERCO and IHMS at the MITA, toured the facility and had the opportunity to lunch with some of the clients. Members also met the family group who is currently housed in the annex. Dr Loughry expressed concern regarding the limited recreation opportunities and the limited personal space that is available at the MITA.

- 7.3 Dr Loughry provided the meeting with an overview of her recent visit to Port Augusta Immigration Residential Housing (PA) where 60 unaccompanied minors recently transferred from CI are currently accommodated.
- 7.4 Ms Pope joined the Sub-group meeting by teleconference and led discussions on issues surrounding the Immigration Guardianship of Children (IGOC) Act, guardianship of minors, unaccompanied minors and age determination. The Sub-group hoped to set up a partnership within the Department to work through issues including caring for minors, provision of essential services, cultural awareness and interpretation and age determination.
- 7.5 Dr Loughry and Ms Pope raised concerns during the Sub-group meeting regarding the interviewing of minors. The Chair noted the best people to interview minors and UAMs, have specialist skills and experience with minor and are they sensitive to a child's cognitive capacity and cultural background. Dr Loughry suggested that the Department investigate using a specialised group of interviewers for minors who have been specifically trained in this field. Ms Lloyd requested that the Sub-group be provided with the transcripts of a small sample of interviews with minors to enable the Sub-group to understand how an interview is conducted.

------------------	---

- 7.6 Members discussed the perceived advantages of being processed as a minor and the challenges the Department faces in accurately determining a person's age.
- 7.7 Dr Loughry highlighted several concerns about minors she had met at PA. Dr Loughry suggested that they were a very switched on and pro-active group who knew about the advantages of living in Australia and how to bring their families to Australia. She also raised concerns including the small living spaces, limited recreation areas, and insufficient space to have all 60 minors under shelter from the sun at one time, staff to client ratio being high. Currently 37 staff to 60 minors - SERCO up to 13, Case management and Detention Operations 8, Life Without Barriers 10, interpreters and health providers 6). Similarly, space for service provision is at a premium with many meetings taking place with staff and service providers standing outside.
- 7.8 Ms Jacka responded to the issues raised by Dr Loughry outlining that the Department is currently recruiting more staff and looking for spaces offsite that can be used for service provision, for example conducting Refugee Status Assessment (RSA) interviews at an off-site location. There is also a proposal for offsite excursions and activities.
- 7.9 Ms Jacka noted that community engagement regarding activities on CI had worked well and the Department was hoping to replicate a similar model at PA. Mr Clement stated that on CI minors are much happier in CD than in Construction Camp (CC), but agreed that a lot depends on the carer. Ms Lynch-Magor emphasised that the Department was shaping services available at PA based on experiences and lessons learnt on CI.
- 7.10 Air Marshal Funnell and Members expressed concern that a facility like PA, which was originally designed and set up for up to 8 family groups with the support of Baxter, was now being used to accommodate UAMs. Ms Lynch-Magor agreed that it would have been more appropriate to accommodate families at PA and UAMs at the BITA however in the current climate this had not been an option.

- 7.11 Members suggested that the Department investigate using and or acquiring boarding schools to accommodate UAMs being transferred to the mainland and that any facilities being considered should be able to cater for different client cohorts and their needs.
- 7.12 Ms Jacka advised that currently the Minister authorises the role of guardian to the Regional Managers at immigration detention facilities and that training for Regional Managers on their roles and responsibilities is being developed - the Minors Sub-group will be approached for guidance and feedback.
- 7.13 Ms Henry and Members noted that more policy development needs to be undertaken around the issues of guardianship, the protection of minors, age determination and longer term accommodation of minors.

8. TORTURE AND TRAUMA POLICY IMPLEMENTATION

- 8.1 Ms Lynch-Magor reported on the roll out of the torture and trauma training across the network and service providers and the Australia wide critical shortage of torture and trauma counsellors.
- 8.2 The Department has delivered training to the Indian Ocean Territories Health Service (IOTHS) to assist them in delivering torture and trauma counselling services on CI. The policy was originally developed for mainland facilities and it has been difficult to implement on CI due to the unique circumstances experienced on the island and the cultural backgrounds of the clients arriving on CI. Mr Aristotle and Associate Professor Minas agreed with these comments and suggested that it is often difficult for untrained staff to correctly identify torture and trauma versus a person who is very distressed.
- 8.3 Ms Lynch-Magor advised the meeting that training was being delivered to seven different service providers and organisations; the Department, SERCO, IHMS, Australians Red Cross, Forum of Australian Survivors of Torture and Trauma (FASST) Life Without Barriers (LWB) and IOTHS. Initial training should be completed by 9 August 2010 and after completion of the initial training, ongoing training would become 'business as usual'. Dr Loughry suggested the scheduling of on-site training at newly opened facilities to ensure there are no slippages with training provision.
- 8.4 Ms Lynch-Magor provided members with a snap-shot of referrals on CI between 22 March and 4 May 2010 reporting that there were 2008 people in detention on CI of which 112 had been identified as 'torture and trauma' cases and 3 were identified as level 3. In NSW there are 77 people identified with 57 of these receiving counselling. Members questioned whether the Department or the DSP had the ability or capacity to accurately identify all cases of torture and trauma.
- 8.5 Mr Aristotle and Associate Professor Minas suggested that the screening and identification process is often problematic. The expected increase in refusal numbers within the Afghan and Sri Lankan caseloads could lead to a significant increase in referrals and identification of torture and trauma cases.

- 8.6 Ms Coleman questioned why the 112 people already identified as torture and trauma victims had not been released into the community. Mr Casey replied that it was a security issue and all such placements were assessed on a case by case basis. Mr Aristotle and Ms Henry put forward that torture and trauma and security issues are a complicated and it is often difficult to get a clear story regarding a person's mental health. Is the client depressed, distressed or suffering from torture and trauma?
- 8.7 Associate Professor Minas suggested that case studies be conducted on a selection of resolved torture and trauma cases to learn, for example, who intervened and when, service delivery types and outcomes. It was agreed that the research should be undertaken as soon as possible and Ms Benson questioned whether the Department could employ a researcher to work with the Department for three months to carry out this research. This item should have included an action item:

ACTION (added in minute revisions)	The Department to investigate employment of a researcher to study resolved Torture and Trauma cases to ascertain and document details of interventions and outcomes.

- 8.8 Dr Rifi brought to the Councils attention that dictionaries in the required languages are often not provided in the centres and this causes additional stress for clients.
- 8.9 Dr Rifi suggested that counsellors who are fluent in the client's language and have cultural affiliations would be best suited to one-one counselling in the detention environment. To help alleviate the shortfall of counsellors, Dr Rifi proposed that counsellors fluent in the client's language could be best utilised through an internet video conference. The client may be more open to discussion of personal circumstances with the counsellor directly rather than requiring the services of an interpreter. Dr Rifi suggested the benefits of this service for the client; especially those suffering torture and trauma would be high. Associate Professor Minas agreed that this type of service was very effective in remote communities.
- 8.10 Members requested a copy of the curriculum, training materials and information on the different levels of training that is provided to the service providers and staff. Associate Professor Minas requested the Department provide the Council with an update of training in six months.

ACTION 15	Members to be sent PSP and T&amp;T curriculum, training materials and information on the different levels of training provided to service providers.
ACTION 16	Council to be provided with an update on the impact of torture and trauma training six months post implementation.

9. SUSPENSION CASELOAD

- 9.1 Ms Henry led a discussion and gave an overview of the suspension caseloads within the context of the Minister's announcement on 9th April. Ms Henry reiterated that clients' initial checks of health, security and identity would be undertaken. Whether their claims would be processed during that time was under consideration. Air Marshal Funnell and other Members were of the view that a person should be able to state their claims as soon after arrival as possible. Ms Lloyd noted that claims made soon after arrival are more likely to be factual and not embellished or enhanced.

- 9.2 Ms Henry advised the meeting of current and future accommodation plans for families, single males and unaccompanied minors. Ms Lynch-Magor noted that Curtin Immigration Detention Facility would be operational by mid June 2010 with a capacity of up to 600 suitable for single men. Ms Lynch-Magor confirmed that the Baxter facility would not be reopened.

- 9.3 Suspension Caseload Table - Ms Henry provided the meeting with the following information on the suspension caseload.

Health, identity and security checks	Refugee Status Assessment (RSA)	Independent Merits Review (IMR)	Litigation	Removal Barriers
progressing	progressing	N/A	N/A	N/A progressing	1A met	N/A	N/A	N/A security check halted with negative RSA	negative	negative	voluntary removal	travel documents adverse security	negative/ 1A met	N/A	N/A	security clearance & resettlement

suspended	N/A	N/A	N/A	N/A

- 9.4 Associate Professor Minas and Members discussed the need for the Department to develop a framework to identify key variables that could be used in predicting reliable outcomes for clients. These variables include but are not limited to age, sex, family grouping, country of origin, and numbers of clients in immigration detention.

ACTION (added in minute revisions)	The Department to develop a framework to identify key variables that could be used in predicting reliable outcomes for clients.

10. CASE MANAGEMENT OVERVIEW

- 10.1 Mr Casey reported that the Case Management Branch is in the process of consultation regarding the mandatory control framework for compliance. This will provide a risk based approach to managing compliance and status resolution. Low risk clients, for example, tourist visa over stayers and harvest workers, will be given a 'light touch' approach with the desired outcome being a voluntary return to their country of origin.

- 10.2 Mr Casey and Ms Gillam advised that if there are elements of risk present, these are more difficult to resolve and hence clients go into the case management stream.
- 10.3 The case review system is being evaluated; the existing system has been in place since the review of the Migration Act, 1958 more than 2 years ago.
- 3 month - senior officer review is recorded in the portal and the case manager produces a 'quick' report internally with quality assurance by their manager.
  - 6 month - report to the Ombudsman's Office (OO), including how the case is progressing against the New Directions in Detention. The OO responds to this report, and if there is some disagreement with the content of the report the Minister's Office is informed by the Department.
  - 9 month – case manager produces a report advising their manager on what progress has been made in relation to recommendations that have been identified.
  - 12 month – case manager provides a further report to OO
  - 24 month – 2 year + OO reports (de-identified) are tabled in Parliament; every Member of Parliament receives a copy of the OO and Minister's Office reviews.
- 10.4 Mr Casey reported that as of 30 April 2010, in relation to the OO six month reviews, there were 23 mainland reports and 328 CI reports outstanding and no outstanding OO two year reports.
- 10.5 Ms Gillam and Mr Casey outlined the key challenges facing case management. These included recruitment, training and deployment of case managers. Ms Gillam reported that they are currently running 'back to back' five week training courses with successful participants obtaining a Certificate IV and that 20 new case managers would be deployed within the next two weeks. There are currently 23 case managers on CI this will increase to 30, 10 case managers to Curtin, 7 to Darwin, 5 or 6 to BITA and possible increases in case managers to Port Augusta and MITA. Additional case manager training is scheduled throughout the remainder of the year.
- 10.6 Mr Casey advised that people in immigration detention on CI are not allocated a case manager until they have been in detention for more than 120 days, exceptions to this rule are clients who are vulnerable or family groups or minors.
- 10.7 The term, and role of, case manager appears to have been subsumed into roles identified as client service manager or case worker or case officer. Ms Coleman stated that it may be unclear what 'case manager' means. Mr Casey clarified that the role of the case manager includes:-
- oversight processes including gathering information to resolve status
  - work with cases that are entrenched within the community
  - assist the client to discuss options about their future including returning to their country of origin
  - focus on resolution
  - hand down the decision in relation to their claim, however the case manager does not make the decision.

- 10.6 Dr Rifi noted that the welfare of the case manager must also be considered and all staff should be encouraged to seek support and or counselling as required.
- 10.7 Dr Loughry and Members discussed the handing down of decisions (both negative and positive) - who should be responsible and what services should be available for the various client cohorts. Members agreed that individual hand downs were preferable to group hand downs. Mr Aristotle commented that the experience and expertise of the person delivering the hand down decision was a key factor in how successfully the message is delivered. Mr Casey indicated that some case managers are better at delivering decisions. Mr Aristotle referred to the quality of the relationship between the case manager and the client and acknowledged that this can make a difference to the client's reaction and response. Mr Casey agreed that clients need to be better informed and prepared about the process.
- 10.8 Associate Professor Minas stated that it is more a case about how negative hand downs are delivered. If the case manager has a role in handing down decisions (even if they did not make it) this may undermine their status resolution role as well. Associate Professor Minas also stated that in his view group hand downs are inappropriate, regardless of whether it is a negative or positive outcome.
- 10.9 Ms Gillam advised that there is an increase in the numbers of clients who are departing voluntarily and that there has been a decrease in the number of clients on bridging visas for longer than 5 years. An example of the Department's success is the outreach programs in Griffith NSW where the Department has been working with the community to assist illegal workers to case resolution, many of whom are returning voluntarily to their home country.
- 10.10 Members also discussed the process and timeliness of case resolution through Ministerial Intervention (MI). Ms Henry advised that the Minister formulates his decisions quickly but acknowledges that there can sometimes be delays in getting the submission to the Minister's Office. Ms Gillam advised that the numbers of repeat requests for MI have decreased.

ACTION 17	Compliance and Case Resolution Division to provide information on the number and outcomes of Ministerial Interventions.

11. REFUGEE STATUS ASSESSMENT PROCESSES FOR IMAs

- 11.1 On behalf of Mr Fleming, Mr Casey presented the meeting with an update on the Refugee Status Assessment (RSA) process including current figures on primary assessments, positive grants, refusal and claims that were overturned at review.
- Since October 2008 –
- 2581 IMA clients
  - 2180 IMA clients granted protection visas
  - 401 IMA clients found not to be refugees
  - 33 IMA clients sought merits review
  - 18 elected not to seek review
  - 15 clients had their review overturned and were granted visas
- 122 IMA clients are currently undergoing IMR
- 141 IMA have been refused visas but may seek IMR
- 336 IMA recent arrivals who have not commenced RSA

- 11.2 Mr Casey reported that country information is changing especially on countries such as Afghanistan and Sri Lanka and this will possibly lead to an increase in the number of refusals. Processing has not commenced for 336 recently arrived clients on CI. 268 Afghans and 4 Sri Lankans have arrived in Australia since the announcement of the suspension on 9 April 2010.
- 11.3 Mr Casey noted that if a client receives a negative decision there is a one in four chance of the negative decision being overturned if the client proceeds to review. There are currently 122 clients in the process of Independent Merits Review (IMR).
- 11.4 Dr Loughry questioned how many clients would be on a negative pathway to which Ms Henry responded that the figures indicate 20% of clients are likely to receive negative decisions, and 25% of these will be overturned at IMR.
- 11.5 Dr Loughry and Professor Yasmeen suggested that the data is not up-to-date and does not accurately reflect the situation. Ms Henry acknowledged that the situation is changing rapidly especially with the transfer of clients from CI to the mainland and up-to-date information is difficult to obtain. Ms Henry advised that the Government is in the process of employing additional Independent Merits Reviewers to enable more timely review of claims.

ACTION 18	Research and Evaluation Sub-group to review status resolution evaluation documents.

12. AUSTRALIAN HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION, COMMONWEALTH OMBUDSMAN, UNITED NATIONS HIGH COMMISSION FOR REFUGEES AND AUSTRALIAN RED CROSS

- 12.1 Mr Aristotle reported on his recent meetings with the Australian Human Rights Commission (AHRC), the Commonwealth Ombudsman's Office (OO) and the Australian Red Cross (ARC). Mr Aristotle noted that the meetings assist in giving each organisation a better sense and understanding of each other's work and focus.
- 12.2 Mr Aristotle advised that the agencies had agreed that visits to CI should be better co-ordinated and, given the current climate, the level of scrutiny be more focused. The monitoring of health issues was highlighted as an area of concern by all agencies given the lack of expertise in the health and mental health environment.
- 12.3 Ms Henry informed the meeting that the AHRC had approached the Minister's Office with a request for funding. AHRC is currently funded under the Attorney General's Department and not the Department of Immigration and Citizenship. The Council expressed value and support in the work of the AHRC noting it is the only group in this field which publicly reports on the findings of its review work.
- 12.4 Ms Henry noted that the OO is funded through the Attorney General's Department only for its oversight role on CI. The OO visits do not focus on systemic issues.
- 12.5 Mr Clement advised that the ARC has reduced its presence on CI to eight weeks per year. ARC may need to further reduce its presence and focus on particular areas of scrutiny in order to reduce service overlaps by agencies. Ms

Benson and Associate Professor Minas suggested that agencies could share protocols and communicate their roles with the other agencies – i.e. have a shared purpose and not as much two agencies doing/overseeing the same or similar functions.

ACTION 19	Discussion at the 6th General Meeting regarding protocols and reports from the OO and the AHRC.

13. CLOSING DISCUSSION

- 13.1 Mr Aristotle advised that he would write to the Minister on behalf of the Council requesting that the Department allow the Afghan and Sri Lankan suspension clients to make their initial claims for protection as soon after arrival as possible.

ACTION 20	Chair to write to the Minister on behalf of the Council requesting that the Department allow the Afghan and Sri Lankan suspension clients to make their initial claims for protection as soon after arrival as possible.
------------------	---

- 13.2 The Chair requested a record of thanks to Mr Kelly and Mr Sokoloff for their hospitality and tour of the facilities in Brisbane; Ms Benson for her presentation of the role and work of the Multicultural Development Association in Brisbane and afternoon discussions; Ms Donnellan for her work with the CISSR Secretariat over the last few years.

ACTION 21	Letter of thanks and appreciation to Mr Kelly, Mr Sokoloff for their hospitality and tour of the Brisbane facilities.
ACTION 22	Letter of thanks to Ms Benson for the presentation of the role and work on the Multicultural Development Association.

- 13.3 The CISSR 6th General Meeting will be held on 15 & 16 July 2010 in Canberra or Sydney – to be confirmed. Members requested a copy of the Parliamentary sitting dates to facilitate future meeting plans.

1 WELCOME, CORRESPONDENCE AND ACTION ITEMS

- 1.1 Mr Aristotle welcomed Members of the Council for Immigration Services and Status Resolution (the Council) and Departmental staff.
- 1.2 Mr Aristotle acknowledged apologies from Dr Maryanne Loughry AM. Mr Noel Clements will be intermittent in his attendance.
- 1.3 The Council approved the minutes of the 5th General Meeting with the following amendments:
- a. Under point 1.9 the Chair queried progress on the meetings between Immigration Health Management Service (IHMS) and other external providers including the non-government sector.

ACTION	ISSUE	RESPONSIBILITY
1	The Department to provide an update on progress of meetings between IHMS and other external providers for the 7 th CISSR General Meeting.	Fiona Lynch-Magor Services Management Branch

- b. Under point 1.11 the current ratio of case managers to clients on Christmas Island (CI) should read 1:120. The quoted figure of 1:33 is the desired ratio.
- c. The Minors Sub-group had been established and met twice at the time of the 5th general meeting, not "has been established and last week met at Melbourne Immigration Transit Accommodation (MITA)" as noted under point 1.13.
- d. The Chair clarified point 2.1 of the previous minutes indicating that he stated operation of the CI IDC would be in a more vulnerable position with the ever increasing numbers of arrivals and not "the people, especially those in tents could be in a vulnerable position with the ever increasing numbers of arrivals."
- e. Ms Coleman clarified that under 2.3 in the previous minutes the reference to approaching church organisations is not correct. It was agreed to delete the last two sentences of this point.
- f. The Chair queried the meaning of "settlements" under point 2.8 of the previous minutes. Ms Larkins clarified that it means visa grants or resettlement/resolution. It was agreed to use the term "visa grant and settlements".

- g. The Council discussed point 4.2 of the previous minutes and agreed that the passage should be amended to reflect the Council's serious concerns about the lack of research to inform policy and strategy advice and implementation into the future. Council agreed to raise the issue with the Minister later in the day and restate a strong recommendation that this be pursued. It was noted by the Council that an action item should have been included under point 8.7 in the minutes.
- h. The Chair requested that the "REVIEW OF DAY ONE" be amended to "REVIEW" as it encompasses items discussed on both days of the meeting.
- i. Ms Coleman indicated that the concerns raised on the Community Assistance Support (CAS) program summarised under point 6.5 of the minutes was more detailed and robust than reflected in the minutes. Ms Coleman stressed that the concerns noted were not just those raised by CISSR but also reflected concerns flagged in representations to CISSR by members of the community sector.
- j. Air Marshall Funnell indicated that rather than being a verbatim record he would like the minutes to capture the essence of the discussions.
- k. The Chair corrected the perception of his comments under point 7.5 clarifying he did not question the qualifications of the interviewers of minors but noted that the best interviewers are those with specialist skills and experience with minors.
- l. The Chair indicated that on point 8.6 he did not recall saying 'the clients arriving on CI have been very well informed...'. The Council agreed to delete this sentence from the record.
- m. It was noted by the Council that an action item should have been included under point 8.7:

ACTION	ISSUE	RESPONSIBILITY
2	The Department to investigate employment of a researcher to study resolved Torture and Trauma cases to ascertain and document details of interventions and outcomes.	CISSR Secretariat

- n. It was noted by the Council that an action item should have been included under point 9.4:

ACTION	ISSUE	RESPONSIBILITY
3	The Department to develop a framework to identify key variables that could be used in predicting reliable outcomes for clients.	PIREU

- o. The Council indicated that in addition to the notes under point 12.3 on the funding of AHRC, they expressed value in the work of the AHRC as it is the only group in this field which publicly reports on the findings of its review work.

2 UPDATE ON DEPARTMENTAL TRANSFORMATION

- 2.1 Mr Correll provided the meeting with an update on the progress of the departmental transformation to provide stronger migration and visa services. He outlined the three key areas under the new structure:

- Client Services
- Visa Services
- Business Services

Under Client Services the Department is re-evaluating the way it delivers services, particularly visas, leveraging off technological changes to create greater efficiencies. The key is to look at more sophisticated ways to manage risk in processing various types of visa applications and applying differential processes depending on the risk. This means low risk visa applications (the majority of applications) will have less face-to-face interactions and utilise technology. Visas in higher risk categories will need the face-to-face service centre processing, and may involve the collection of biometrics. These changes mean a rethink in terms of where services are located i.e. low risk, automated visa processing can be done on-shore but high risk processing will need off-shore presence. These changes are still in the early days of development with a detailed business case being built around the needs in services centres.

Visa Services – currently there are over 140 subclasses of visas and the Department is pursuing a major simplification and deregulation of the visa structure. The aim is to halve the number of classes by 2012-2013 and build it into 5 or 6 clusters. DIAC is working closely with the Minister and the Department of Finance and Deregulation (DoFD) on these processes.

Business Services – IT/HR/Finance/Risk are being transformed to build capability in some areas and achieve cost savings in others. There is a need to strengthen risk, fraud and integrity and the processing of more immigration intelligence information captured by the Department and other agencies to inform decision making.

The organisation will restructure to align with these three groups. Client Services will be led by Felicity Hand, Visa Services by Peter Hughes and Business Services by Bob Correll. This work is well advanced and most internal mechanisms have been moved into one of these three streams. Community and Detention Services is currently continuing under Bob Correll, and will continue to do so until October 2010 given the current workloads. After this it will migrate into the relevant stream and this will provide more capability for end-to-end assessment of services to clients, using the case management tools. This will be especially beneficial for IMAs.

These changes are profound and will achieve greater clarity and accountability in the organisation and ensure policy and program delineations are clear. It will also enable a simplification of governance structures.

- 2.2 As CISSR is particularly focussed on policy issues it was proposed that secretariat support for the Council would be provided from the Policy and Program Management group, aligned with the new structure. The importance of continuing linkages with operational activities is acknowledged and will continue to be facilitated. The realignment will also strengthen connections between CISSR and the research area in the Department.
- 2.3 The Council affirmed its involvement with both operations and policy. However the Council noted that the move of the secretariat provides the opportunity to refocus its energies with more emphasis on substantive longer term policy issues and future directions.
- 2.4 The Council stressed the importance of research to provide the basic scaffold for policy development and setting the directions of the Department, and highlighted the need for this to be reflected in resource allocations.
- 2.5 The Chair's letter and advice of 18th May, 2010 to the Minister which raises this issue of research is scheduled for discussion in a closed session later today.

3 CHRISTMAS ISLAND UPDATE

- 3.1 The Chair acknowledged the provision of the IMA Key Statistics and invited Mr Correll to provide an update on CI and for Ms Jacka to speak to the statistical reports.
- 3.2 Mr Correll noted that we currently have the highest number of IMAs in our history. He reported that the dominant issue of CI is the number of clients in situ. To cope, the Department has expanded the facilities at North West Point, adding demountables to accommodate single men and utilising Construction Camp. The goal is to reduce numbers and stop using tents but as people are transferred to the mainland new boats arrive requiring the ongoing use of tents. The Department continues to look for accommodation options on the mainland aiming to move people from CI as soon as initial checks are completed. Defence facility sites are suitable options given construction can proceed quickly and a local community is readily available. The Department is just staying ahead on accommodation with 2500 on CI and 1500 in mainland locations. The processing suspension for Sri Lankan and Afghan arrivals has added to the pressures. Mr Correll indicated that a range of accommodation options are being explored and considered but Baxter and Woomera were not on the agenda.
- 3.3 The Department has developed Leonora for family groups and increased the use of Curtin. Curtin is quite remote and has constraints, but it is very pleasing to see what has been achieved there, the links with Kimberley TAFE being a good example. The Department is working with SERCO to increase activities and links with the local community.
- 3.4 The Department is currently providing appropriate accommodation for different groups. There will be need for a significant settlement effort and an appropriate returns/removals effort. Progress is being made in that area, Peter Hughes and the Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade (DFAT) is involved, there have been significant returns to Afghanistan by other countries and dialogue at senior levels is progressing to achieve a fair and sound return process.
- 3.5 Regional processing is an emerging issue and there could be more than one centre. It will be a potentially complex, multi-lateral process to achieve agreement but there is broad support for the concept. It was noted that there are differing views as to the UNHCR's effectiveness among some of the countries in the region. Also, it was noted that other countries may want to use the regional centre/s to process their own refugees.

- 3.6 The Council queried progress on support for CI staff and Mr Correll reported that morale on CI is good and this reflects good management. The Executive Committee has decided to re-energise the Values and Conduct Committee in the Department to give high level focus to staff conduct and morale issues. It is planned to interview key staff to ensure resilience is maintained and values upheld in the face of current pressures. Staff going to CI or Curtin undergo a resilience test originally developed for Defence and it has proven valuable in identifying where staff may struggle in the environment. Associate Professor Minas and other Council members expressed concern that the test may have been developed with a different context or personnel capabilities in mind and had not been tested for efficacy in the immigration context. Mr Correll acknowledged the test has not been previously used in a detention environment however it does have scientific validity in the environment for which it was designed. A review of its use in this context would be worthwhile. Mr Correll offered to discuss the use of the test offline with Associate Professor Minas.

ACTION	ISSUE	RESPONSIBILITY
4	The Department to advise CISSR regarding the results of any reviews of the resilience test.	Alison Larkins, Compliance and Case Resolution Division

- 3.7 Logistical issues are under increasing pressure however no-one has been tested under an environment of significant removals. Resilience will be crucial given the angst is often projected on to staff.
- 3.8 The upcoming election and associated public speculation around policy may mean an increasing number of boats setting out as soon as possible. Also, a period of bad weather has just ended raising the likelihood of increased IMAs. Currently arrivals are around 600 per month.
- 3.9 Mr Correll acknowledged Zdenka Zrno's excellent work and the positive feedback being received from community members who appreciated her contributions. Improvements have also been achieved with the introduction of the case management model. Nevertheless a case of a SERCO guard having to step in when a client became aggressive in a case management conversation was reported about a month ago.
- 3.10 There have been informal reports to the Council that incidences of self-harm are increasing. Although the incidences had previously dropped off in the last few years and have been at a very low baseline (pro-rata they are not increasing) there is a likelihood of increases with more negative visa outcomes. These are more likely to occur after a negative outcome from the Independent Merits Review (IMR).

- 3.11 This issue has implications for the wider detention communities as expectations are conditioned by the trends in outcomes. Important to managing this is that SERCO must be seen to be actively in control of situations and that the delivery of negative outcomes is well managed.
- 3.12 The Council expressed concern that operational events could suddenly reach a tipping point triggering significant changes in behaviour. As the approval rate decreases (it is now at 23%) there will be considerable upset.
- 3.13 Ms Jacka provided an overview on the statistical reports stating they indicated numbers on CI and on the mainland and are broken up into operational capacity (which in reality is what a location is designed to accommodate) and contingency capacity (which is what has had to be built in). Where available capacity is a negative figure it means beds have been put into places which it would be preferable not to use for that purpose.
- 3.14 The Council expressed surprise and concern at reading the statistics given the appearance of spare operational capacity when it is known that the sites are over capacity. Ms Jacka clarified the statistics, what was included and how capacity was expanded (extensions of the IDC). The Council indicated that "contingency capacity" is a misnomer, potentially contingency capacity is infinite. They indicated that the figures were not a useful representation of the current reality. Ms Jacka confirmed that in short CI was full.
- 3.15 Similarly the Council considered that the figures for the MITA were confusing. Ms Jacka outlined some initiatives at MITA to reduce pressures on accommodation and also spoke of efforts towards returning Port Augusta (PA) to a family unit rather than for young men.
- 3.16 Ms Larkins agreed that the statistical information is not entirely clear but reassured the Council that the Minister and the Department was well aware of how much pressure is on the available accommodation.
- 3.17 The Council also queried the 1007 clients in detention for more than 120 days (Agenda Item 5, page 4). Ms Jacka indicated there is a large representation of New Zealanders in the compliance group. The Council expressed a desire to understand the statistics better, noting that they need more explanatory notes and breakdown of the data to be meaningful to them. They would like a breakdown on nationalities by site and details of the numbers in detention who have received a negative decision as well as further information on detainees over 120 days.

ACTION	ISSUE	RESPONSIBILITY
5	Information provided in the IMA key statistics meet the needs of the department however the addition of explanatory notes is necessary to ensure accurate interpretation by others (especially around capacity). Also more consistent statistical methodologies need to be reflected and more detailed statistics provided eg. of the detainees over 120 days, what is the length of time in detention and what is their country of origin.	Ms Deb Jacka, Community & Detention Operations

3.18 A discussion about these pressures and the safety of staff and clients ensued, the Council expressing strong concern that the way figures are presented and the reality are different and how that might be perceived. They noted that this reflects reactive rather than strategic policy-making.

3.19 The Council enquired and DIAC staff confirmed they do undertake some predictive analysis/formal modelling, enabling them to predict the number of clients that may be facing a negative outcome/positive outcome and anticipated length of time in detention etc. A discussion about the assumptions underlying the modelling ensued. The Department indicated they do not have a significant removal pool at the moment so it is difficult to model removals.

4 CHRISTMAS ISLAND SUBGROUP

4.1 Air Marshall Funnell presented his report on the visit to CI with Dr Loughry 8-10 June 2010. He reiterated the 5 key recommendations of the report viz:

- reduce the client population to below 1000 with associated staff reductions, suggesting the formation of a task force to enable this move
- through risk analysis and risk management select clients to be moved to mainland detention after 60 days, pending outcome of security clearance
- Resolve the difference of view between DIAC and SERCO officers of Phosphate Hill as a detention centre
- Rename Construction Camp

- When a person changes their age and becomes a UAM a period of 72 hours be allowed to investigate the claim before the client is relocated

ACTION	ISSUE	RESPONSIBILITY
6	The Council to write to the Minister conveying the reports and support for all the recommendations contained in Air Marshal Funnell's reports on the visit to CI 08-10 June 2010 with the following modification: Recommendation 1 - note that it be a departmental task force which is convened to determine a process to reduce the client population on CI as a short term priority.	Chair CISSR

- 4.2 Ms Jacka advised that there is no confusion regarding Phosphate Hill at the senior levels in DIAC and SERCO, it is an APOD. She confirmed negotiations with SERCO are ongoing. She agreed Construction Camp should be renamed. Ms Jacka noted that Ms Constantinou would be presenting on Day 2 on age determination but stressed that it is a key immigration value that no child be detained in an IDC as opposed to a detention facility and this is a key statistic reported on.
- 4.3 Ms Jacka also advised that some clients, usually families have been moved off CI without security checks being completed.

5 MAINLAND DETENTION CENTRE SUBGROUP

- 5.1 Air Marshall Funnell presented his report on the subgroups visit to Darwin 26-28th May, 2010.
- 5.2 Air Marshall Funnell thought that the case ratio was 13:600 at the time of the visit. Ms Larkins later clarified this ratio as 26:600.
- 5.3 A discussion ensued on the role of Life Without Barriers (LWB) who were engaged at short notice. The decision to engage them does not appear to have been reviewed since and the Department was asked whether other providers have been invited to tender for the provision of services. Some concern has been expressed on this point by other organisations. It was agreed this point should be clarified noting it will also provide LWB with clarity about its terms of engagement. Opinions on the quality of their services differed and it was suggested that LWB's performance should be reviewed. Ms Jacka confirmed SERCO is meeting with LWB on Friday 16th July to clarify roles and engagement between the two organisations.

8	Provide minors and service delivery sub-groups with a report on the July meeting between SERCO and Life Without Barriers.	Fiona Lynch-Magor Services Management Branch

- 5.4 There have been changes in the SERCO team at Villawood in response to some serious concerns being raised by the Department. In response to input by the Villawood Community Consultative Group the provision of life skills activities has improved. This, it was noted, could be a good model for Darwin. It was advised a SERCO specialist from the UK is scheduled to visit and review SERCO's programs from a holistic perspective.

ACTION	ISSUE	RESPONSIBILITY
9	To report on progress of the SERCO review of programs at the 7 th CISSR General Meeting.	Ms Deb Jacka Community & Detention Operations Branch

- 5.5 The Council commented that the Community Consultative Group meeting in Darwin was valuable however greater participation would be beneficial.
- 5.6 A general discussion ensued on other points raised in the Subgroup report including concern re mandatory sentencing for people-smugglers, and concern for juveniles being among the crews and awaiting processing. It was noted that the Prime Minister's view on people smugglers indicated a stronger, not softer line.
- 5.7 Also discussed was the costs and benefits of offshore-v-onshore processing. The methods for assessing options was discussed including a white paper/green paper route which would achieve good engagement. It was recognised this work will need to proceed in the context of a regional processing centre model.
- 5.8 The Council agreed to support all the recommendations in the Mainland Detention Centres subgroup report.

ACTION	ISSUE	RESPONSIBILITY
10	The Chair to write to the Minister conveying the report and support of all the recommendations contained in the Mainland Detention Centres subgroup report on the visit to Darwin 26-28 May 2010 with the following modifications or clarifications: Recommendation 1 - that the cost/benefit analysis of off-shore processing of refugee claims now also consider the issue of any regional processing centre. Recommendation 5 - that there be no minimum mandatory sentence and that prescribed sentences be made lighter.	Chair CISSR

- 5.9 Ms Jacka reported that Airport Lodge is operational. Professor Yasmeen questioned the involvement of Imams in the centres and Ms Jacka indicated that the Department is working through the multicultural issues as they become more familiar with the operational environment and needs.

ACTION	ISSUE	RESPONSIBILITY
11	The Department consult directly with the appropriate CISSR representatives on multicultural issues for Centres.	Ms Deb Jacka, Community & Detention Operations Branch with Professor Yasmeen & Dr Rifi

6 STAKEHOLDER ENGAGEMENT

- 6.1 It was noted that people are requesting contact with CISSR. In the past there was a practice of NGO's attending the meetings. It would be beneficial to re-establish this practice. In a similar vein Members noted it was difficult for people to access them in their CISSR capacity and asked that business cards be made available.

ACTION	ISSUE	RESPONSIBILITY
12	A communication strategy be drafted to facilitate the flow of information and access between CISSR and Community Stakeholders. (Eg. Contact protocols, flow of papers, and participation in meetings).	CISSR Chair, Robert Illingworth, Compliance Policy Framework, Evaluation & Integrity Analysis & CISSR Secretariat
13	Provide business cards for council members.	CISSR Secretariat

- 6.2 Mr Correll initiated a discussion on Stakeholder engagement. He noted that in the past there were tours of CI and follow up sessions for stakeholders. This has been flagged with Ms Wilson but is recognised to be sensitive in the current climate. Tours of Curtin are not possible however briefings of stakeholder groups could occur. The Department recently took a media group to Curtin to get up-to-date footage on the Centre and this was a positive move. It is important to maintain engagement with stakeholders and the Chair's visit to CI was a good example of this engagement. The concern is if you stop being open and transparent people will stop trusting you and may challenge the system. Trust has been built in the last few years, in calm waters but maintaining it is critical, again bearing in mind the sensitivities in an election period. Nevertheless it is recognised there is more to lose by not maintaining engagement and this needs to be communicated through the Department and the states. It would be good for CISSR to participate in some forums across a few cities. The Council indicated their support noting that openness will alleviate tensions and misconceptions but not stop vigorous dialogue.

ACTION	ISSUE	RESPONSIBILITY
14	At the beginning of the 7 th General Meeting there should be an opportunity for identified community stakeholders from the state in which the meeting is being held to meet with CISSR.	Chair & CISSR Secretariat

- 6.3 Dr Rifi suggested that given it is Ramadan next month perhaps it would be beneficial to have some Afghan community leaders visit Centres on a Friday or Saturday night to break the fast with some detainees. It would demonstrate religious and cultural awareness.
- 6.4 Mr Correll indicated that whatever strategies are employed it needs to be small, targeted and not attract the media.

- 6.5 Mr Correll confirmed that under the caretaker period it would be business as usual and the activities of CISSR should not be impeded, noting however that new policy and new contracts cannot proceed.

7 SERVICE DELIVERY SUBGROUP

- 7.1 Mr Correll initiated a discussion on Community Assistance Support (CAS). He indicated that in intense times you can overlook the fact that it is a tool for status resolution. The second aspect of this is the need to redevelop the service delivery framework - however in the current space there is little opportunity to do that and it has been delayed. It is planned to refocus efforts on this work in the coming weeks. Mr Correll queried whether the Council was comfortable with the programs current status.
- 7.2 The Chair focussed the discussion on how the Council needs to reorientate CAS from a crisis to early intervention program with the goal of supporting status resolution. It was acknowledged that CAS contributes to status resolution in ways broader than a direct cause and effect. For example enabling a person to assimilate information about the progress of their case and make rational decisions about their future options. Case management plays an essential role. It was noted, with concern that there is an emerging tone that people under these programs should not get more assistance than needy Australians. Assistance for vulnerable people is critical to status resolution, regardless of their class of visa or vulnerability classification. At the same time it is acknowledged that program resources are limited and a clear methodology for assessing eligibility needs to be identified. However, somewhere in the program rules there seems to be a distortion of the original goal which needs redressing. It would be valuable to harness Mr Clement's and Ms Coleman's input on this and other aspects of the program.
- 7.3 A discussion emerged on how to advance CAS and re-establish its original objectives that had been developed through the community care pilot and which formed the basis for the government establishing CAS. Ms Coleman indicated there is concern at the coal face about the design and delivery of the program and stressed the need to step back and evaluate whether it is achieving its stated purpose. She stressed it had achieved some good outcomes but it needed to mature and the partnerships to the process, including with CISSR need to be re-established. The Chair suggested the Service Delivery subgroup pursue this and consider involving some members of the former Community Care Pilot Reference Group. Mr Clement indicated he would like a Red Cross representative present in his absence.

15	Initiate a review of the policies outlining the design and delivery of the CAS program to ensure the goal of supporting status resolution is being achieved.	Service Delivery subgroup

- 7.4 The field testing of the vulnerability identification and assessment tool (VIAT) was discussed recognising it has been delayed in light of the current pressures. It could sit well alongside the CAS program. Once the tool is trialled it may tighten up on eligibility but also point to a need to strengthen resources on the basis of risk around status resolution. This could support a case for increased funding of services. Overall it could create greater efficiencies. The question of funding for the field testing was raised, Ms Larkins indicating additional funding was not necessary.
- 7.5 Ms Larkin requested Council input on the field testing and posed the following questions: Should it be done internally or externally? Does it have validity? How long does the test take to administer? How can it be incorporated into the work of case management?
- 7.6 A discussion on the testing methodology led to a suggestion by Professor Procter to rationalise the interview rating reliability testing by using a taped interview or a case study.
- 7.7 The Council encouraged the involvement of Ida Kaplan who was party to the tool's development and Professor Procter to offer a fresh perspective.

ACTION	ISSUE	RESPONSIBILITY
16	Convene a Reference Group to oversee the trial of the Vulnerability Identification and Assessment Tool (VIAT) and hold an initial meeting before mid August 2010.	Alison Larkins, Compliance and Case Resolution Division  CISSR Members (to self-nominate) including Professor Procter  Ida Kaplan and Guy Coffey to be invited as co-opted members.

- 7.8 Beyond these steps will be a pilot and consideration of how to get from vulnerabilities to barriers to service needs. There will also be implications for systems development which will need to be addressed.
- 7.9 It was noted that destitution often puts clients on a trajectory towards other problems such as mental health. This observation raised discussion of issues around eligibility for support, including income support and the issue of limited resources. It was noted the VIAT is meant to give guidance around this issue. It was agreed that if timely status resolution is the goal then restrictive eligibility criteria for assistance might impede that goal.

8 MINORS SUBGROUP

- 8.1 The Melbourne Immigration Transit Accommodation (MITA) developments were discussed with a number of Council members visiting just prior to a number of negative decisions being handed down. An issue of overcrowding was noted but it was acknowledged that DIAC and the Minister's office were aware of it and a decision was made not to replace clients who had moved out. A few instances of self harm emerged subsequent to negative decisions however these were handled positively, the clients were helped to understand the IMR process and prepare their submissions with the support of their migration agents.
- 8.2 The visit illuminated the issue of age determination with it being apparent that some people claiming to be minors were in fact older. Concern was expressed around the absence of door windows and the possibility of predatory sexual behaviour happening. Also noted was an attitude of disengagement among clients, little enthusiasm to get up, low levels of communication and engagement in activities. The site also had a family in situ and this was not a good fit with the young men.
- 8.3 The Council expressed concern about the lack of activities at the MITA and queried the possible use of NGOs to bridge the gap. A number of NGOs are working on a proposal for a designated persons program to accompany young people to participate in community based activities. Ms Benson noted some unrest in Brisbane about the designated people program (addressed further under point 12.21 below).
- 8.4 Ms Jacka indicated that the valuable feedback from the MITA visit had been responded to with a new SERCO manager in place and improvements to the environment, facilities, activities and level of engagement between staff and clients achieved. Incidents of self-harm had reduced in parallel with these improvements despite the negative decisions continuing. Overall the mood at MITA has improved significantly.

- 8.5 Ms Jacka outlined SERCO management changes and service delivery improvements at Villawood including work to engage personal services officers and implement a range of client services for detainees. The Council noted these developments with approval but expressed deep concern that so far into the detention services contract the service provider was still far from complete in its establishment of the recreational services and client activities expected under the contract. The Council acknowledged however that SERCO has been operating under the same major workload challenges which have been facing the Department given the influx of IMAs.
- 8.6 A number of young men who had declared to be minors revised their claims and a decision was reached to move them to MIDC.
- 8.7 Members discussed the issue of self harm and the Psychological Support Program (PSP) now in place which makes explicit the expectations of case managers in these instances. It was noted that Professor Procter will be training in Melbourne in the week beginning 19th July, 2010. It was noted that training is scheduled to be discussed in more detail, see details under point 13.
- 8.8 In the new framework case conferencing is identified. It is in the introductory, training stages, not yet in all locations. A discussion on the role and definition of case conferencing ensued noting it is an early intervention tool, not just a tool for responding to incidents. Associate Professor Minas queried the concept of case conferencing in this context indicating that case conferences are about an issue, individual or family, not a group. It was noted that what was being referred to as case conference was about harnessing collective input to planning and interventions for client groups (eg on cultural/age appropriate strategies).
- 8.9 The concept has been encouraged at MITA, with DIAC staff supervising/participating in the conferences however it was uncertain among the meeting whether this was happening.
- 8.10 Religious leaders have also been invited to visit subsequent to negative decisions to encourage culturally respectful behaviours.
- 8.11 It was noted that models from the youth and corrective services sectors might provide useful input while understanding that young people seeking asylum had different life experiences from those in the youth sector.

- 8.12 The question was also raised on how some of these issues might be addressed through professional development for case managers who have completed the Certificate IV. Ms Larkins offered to provide training documents for the Council to consider and encouraged feedback.

ACTION	ISSUE	RESPONSIBILITY
17	To provide an outline of the case manager training curriculum to Council Members for consideration and feedback.	Alison Larkins, Compliance and Case Resolution Division

- 8.13 The need for standards around minors for each role (case managers, providers, migration agents, independent reviews) etc. was flagged and the question raised as to whether a meeting was needed with representatives of each to unpack the issues, examine assumptions and create a standards framework. This standards framework would encompass both core (universal) elements and variable elements for different client groups and detention facilities. Ultimately these standards need to be reflected in policies, training, procurement and delivery.
- 8.14 It was noted that DIAC has developed a workforce model which defines the skills and requirements for each role. There is also a well developed curricula for these roles, eg Certificate IV is a requirement of case managers. Further curriculum design is currently in progress and input would be valued, however it needs to be provided quickly.
- 8.15 Ways to progress this were discussed with literature searches, a review of training curricula, focus groups (providers, clients etc), the SERCO/LWB report and the need to identify what is in place being noted as useful elements.

9 RESEARCH

- 9.1 The Council noted the productive discussions on research with Mr Correll, Mr Metcalfe and the Minister on Day 1. Mr Metcalfe expressed the view that a bid for research funding to DoFD could be successful provided it is clearly linked to subjects covered by quarantined funding eg focussing on IMAs in detention. Proposals would need to be well defined and canvas new territory.
- 9.2 Recent research by the Department was discussed, Ms Larkins outlined some current work her Division. One is to evaluate the use of funds for CAS and status resolution (have we spent the funds as intended?). The terms of reference for this work are currently being negotiated. They are also looking at some specific research which examines the determinants how regulatory systems work and how this relates to an immigration setting and how it might inform improving compliance.

- 9.3 Following on from this it was agreed that CISSR would draft a research proposal connected back to the Chair's letter and recommendations to the Minister on 18th May, 2010. It needs to be stressed that research is not an add-on but has a core role in supporting policy and programs.

10 REFUGEE STATUS ASSESSMENT

- 10.1 Ms Dryden and Ms O'Brien provided an update on the suspension arrangements. They indicated that subsequent to the lifting of the suspension on processing Sri Lankan nationals processing has begun and interviews are scheduled to begin in August, 2010. Ms Dryden indicated that the order of processing for Sri Lankan nationals will be in boat of arrival order so as not to disadvantage other clients and to take into account length of time in detention for all clients. The Department continues to prioritise vulnerable groups such as families and minors.
- 10.2 The same process will apply for the Afghan nationals when the suspension is lifted. At the time, it is anticipated that the Department would prioritise groups who have been in detention longer than they would have otherwise been if the suspension were not in place.
- 10.3 It was confirmed that clients subject to the suspension have entry screening and other checks done and receive the same detention services as other clients. They do not have access to IAAAS advice and have not been given the opportunity to prepare claims for refugee status.
- 10.4 The Chair queried the statistics on 576 claims from stateless people and Ms O'Brien indicated they were mostly Kurds from Iran. Ms Dryden clarified that this is a claim of statelessness not a designation of statelessness used by the Department.
- 10.5 The Council raised two concerns:
- the plummeting rate of approvals for Afghan nationals
  - when suspensions were announced it was indicated that country information would be put on the website.

Ms Dryden indicated the Department is currently looking into the reasons behind the change in the rate of approvals and reminded the group that each case is assessed on an individual basis against up-to-date country information. In relation to the country information Ms Dryden confirmed that Country and Policy Guidance Notes for some countries have been prepared and awaiting the Minister's approval to make available. Ms Dryden indicated that the country information used by the decision makers is a compilation of information with some analysis. She noted that some areas of Afghanistan are more stable than others and that IAAAS providers also have access to the information. Ms Dryden offered to provide the Council with a list of the types of Afghan country information documents available to decision makers through the country research service.

21	Provide the Council with the examples of Afghan country information available to decision makers through the Department's country research service.	Malissa Dryden, A/g Assistant Secretary, Onshore Protection

- 10.6 Air Marshall Ray Funnell indicated his interest in understanding how decision making works in the Department and requested advice from a senior decision maker. Ms O'Brien, a senior manager of Departmental decision makers outlined the management of RSA caseloads and case officers and the detailed training they receive prior to deployment to CI. She also outlined procedure on CI, the size of the caseloads and processes they go through to make a determination noting that if the outcome is a negative pathway, National Office advises CI staff and if the outcome is positive the process continues to the Minister's office for lifting of the bar to allow applications for and granting of a protection visa. All the associated health, character and security assessments are processed in parallel and completed before being progressed to the Minister for consideration.
- 10.7 The Council noted the increasing pressures on decision makers given the increasing numbers of IMAs noting a lot of decision makers are new to the role and on a learning curve.
- 10.8 Ms Dryden invited the Council to consider how they might enhance the processes for training the decision-makers and ensure their processes are as robust and possible. Professor Yasmeen suggested this might link in to the Research plans noted above. It was also agreed that CISSR would be able to provide feedback on techniques for handling complex client matters. Ms Dryden agreed to provide relevant training materials for this purpose.

22	Provide the Council with relevant decision-maker training materials for advice on techniques for handling.	Malissa Dryden, A/g Assistant Secretary, Onshore Protection

- 10.9 Professor Minas queried the weighting of country information in decisions and consistency across decision makers. Ms Dryden clarified that decisions are made case by case. Ms O'Brien outlined the processes in place to ensure consistency in decision making and emphasised their awareness of its importance indicating that high levels of control and support provided around decision making. They stressed this is support and not an attempt to impede or influence the decision maker.

- 10.10 Ms O'Brien noted a significant shift in the information DFAT provided on Afghanistan in February 2010 and reports supporting that information through other sources. Ms O'Brien also spoke about the increasing role of biometrics and multi-country sharing of information. This is bringing up more and more matches although the numbers are still small. Identifying people more correctly and accessing their visa application histories does more often lead to a refusal.
- 10.11 Ms O'Brien outlined the figures for people on removal pathways as at 9th July 2010. The Departmental representatives indicated that 308 clients received a negative decision from RSA's but are yet to lodge an IMR case. 275 are awaiting IMR decisions. 45 are on a removal pathway 41 of which received a negative IMR decision. 4 are awaiting travel documentation, 20 have lodged application in the High Court and several are on voluntary returns. Given the status of these cases removals are not currently active.
- 10.12 Generally speaking involuntary returns to Sri Lanka have not been problematic but Afghan removals need practical expertise and agreements to be put in place. The Department is developing capacity in this area.
- 10.13 The Council expressed concern that approximately 50% of cases are overturned by the IMR process and that this might imply incorrect decision making in the Departmental process. DIAC staff indicated that this was receiving close scrutiny but clarified that between a negative decision by the Department and the IMR process, clients have assistance preparing their case. They receive clear advice on the basis for the initial decision. With that support and feedback they are able to more fully articulate their claims. Also, in that interval between the Departmental decision and the IMR process, new information and/or documentation often comes to light including changes in conditions in their country of return. Departmental staff also highlighted that in the past in protection visa processing of earlier boat arrivals some 80% of cases were overturned for a particular group at the RRT, putting the figure of 50% for current IMR set asides into context.

11 IMA STATUS RESOLUTION

- 11.1 Ms Larkins indicated that clients often arrive with misconceptions and unreasonable expectations on issues such as length of detention, processing, decision-making, possible outcomes and options for returns. There is a need for a strategy to ensure consistency of messages to clients from the outset. Getting this right can help clients to settle down or decide to return. Also there is the need to communicate clearly and consistently the expectations of clients. She sought the Council's input and support for developing the process.

- 11.2 The Council indicated the flow charts under Agenda Item 17 look good however they would like more time to consider them and respond fully.

ACTION	ISSUE	RESPONSIBILITY
23	Council to provide further, detailed feedback on the end-to-end case management of IMA process.	CISSR Members

- 11.3 Ms Larkins indicated that the goal is to be open and transparent with information and likely trajectories but giving accurate information is recognised as difficult.

- 11.4 The Council stressed that who delivers the messages is important. Equally important is the preservation of the case management process.

- 11.5 The Council expressed some concern over IAAAS providers and translators not keeping to their role and noted this is an important issue to manage.

12 MINORS SUB-GROUP

- 12.1 Ms Constantinou spoke to the papers under Agenda Item 18 on Age Determination. She outlined the details of, and progress on the pilot to assess disputed minor claims.

- 12.2 The pilot has centred on CI and uses focussed interviewing techniques. The pilot is to cover 68 clients and of the 31 already interviewed 30 have been judged to be over 18. They have also been referred to a health service provider for separate assessment, who have been asked to form their own views based on clinical notes and their own interviews. The Department is awaiting the results from these assessments as is keen to look at the level of alignment with their results. If there is not a high level of match they will need to decide which decision will prevail or what revisions are necessary to the model.

- 12.3 The independence and expertise of the health assessors was discussed given there are no definitive tests of age. The idea of using paediatricians was raised, but still there is some concern that physical indicators are not reliable. Cultural indicators might be more meaningful, noting that birth dates, birth certificates and education are not meaningful in some cases.

- 12.4 It was confirmed that senior legal advice has been sought on the project and clearance given. The overriding concern raised was that the Department be open, transparent and clear about the consequences of the outcomes.
- 12.5 In the preamble to the interviews the client is informed that as they have revised their age from adult to minor the Department needs to get clarity as it will have implications for future accommodation and services. They are told the information they provide will form part of their Departmental record and made available to their IAAAS provider. In some cases their changing of their age and its impact on their credibility has been explained.
- 12.6 Interviews were not trained as part of the pilot but were drawn from a pool of experienced interviewers with overseas experience and specific experience with the ethnicity of the group. Training of interview will form part of the full program.
- 12.7 The Departmental officers conducting the interviews scrutinised entry interview data, biometric data and considered country information to identify inconsistencies in the client profiles. This information contributed to constructing the interviews.
- 12.8 The Council stressed that clients are very eager to state their claims and can feel confused or let down to know it is not a claims interview. This needs to be well managed and articulated.

24	Confirm to the Council that information harnessed in the age determining interviews will be incorporated into departmental records and that this incorporation will be noted in interview scripts and clearly communicated to the clients.	Katie Constantinou, Director, Principal's Advisor's Unit

- 12.9 All participants will continue to be treated as minors until the determinations are finalised.
- 12.10 Ms Constantinou indicated there had been good learnings already from the pilot however it will undergo a full evaluation before proceeding to implementation.

ACTION	ISSUE	RESPONSIBILITY
25	To provide the Council with updates on the pilot as available.	Katie Constantinou, Director, Principal's Advisor's Unit

- 12.11 Ms Lloyd provided the meeting with a paper on the proposal to develop an Unaccompanied Minors Community Residence Program and briefed the group on the program's genesis and developments to date.
- 12.12 It was noted Ms Coleman had been contracted to provide assistance to the Minors subgroup.
- 12.13 Initially a number of church groups (Uniting/Anglicans/Catholics) indicated they may have suitable small group accommodation available for use for minors and that this could be linked up with intensive case management and brokerage of other services. Since the initial discussions further church based organisations and welfare providers have expressed interest in participating.
- 12.14 The proposed model includes live-in carers, freedom of movement with conditions and a skills development program to enhance settlement or return; encompassing life skills, vocational training and literacy. Rebecca Cole (present) is available for one month to assist with the development of the model and the program and the group is interfacing with the minor's section in the Department.
- 12.15 The project is moving very quickly given 344 unattached minors are currently on CI awaiting transfer to the mainland and the projected numbers are expected to be around 700 by December 2010.
- 12.16 The next step is to develop a fuller discussion paper by 30th July 2010 to take to organisations who are considering partnering in the program. Once input has been harnessed the proposal and costings will be developed and presented to the Minister.
- 12.17 In discussions with the Minister he indicated he would be interested in looking at the model being extended to include families.
- 12.18 Minor subgroup members confirmed that much of the property being considered is vacant and will not impinge on the accommodation of others.
- 12.19 The meeting expressed keen support for this initiative and its piloting. Council members would like to encourage/invite broader community sector and interfaith participation in the project and would like to see the dialogue to facilitate this wider engagement begin as soon as possible. The Council considered it important that this project be clearly presented as a community support arrangement and that it not be seen as associated predominantly with particular religious organisations.

12.20 Feedback on the initial framing of the initiative was highly complementary noting that the project outline reflected the hallmarks of sound program design and that even in the context of urgency and responding to a quickly emerging opportunity it has acknowledged the need to address the implications for resettlement or return from the outset. The meeting congratulated the subgroup on this achievement.

12.21 Ms Jacka raised the designated persons program for discussion. The paper (under Agenda Item 23) suggested a trial at the MITA. The questions raised include whether the community is in a good position to do this, what is an appropriate role for designated persons and what short training can be provided.

12.22 Concerns were raised about how the program is viewed and some confusion of roles; designated person/visiting/friendship/advocacy. It was stressed that designated persons is a bounded accompanying model and the training will be around the role, boundaries, self care etc.

12.23 The Council indicated there needs to be some clarification of the intentions of people coming into the program and to stress it is not about advocacy or accessing information but is focussed on the clients' welfare.

12.24 It was acknowledged that if this were to be utilised nationally we need to get the model clear.

12.25 Visits are also wanted however it was noted this is a different program and needs to be addressed separately.

13 TRAINING

13.1 Professor Procter reported on the progress of the DIAC Mental Health Training Course. 198 people have participated, including DIAC staff, detention staff and Immigration Health Management Service (IHMS) staff. It was noted that the mixed groups were particularly effective, a range of seniority and roles learning together. This also supported the sense of purpose that mental health is the responsibility of everyone; it is a team role.

13.2 The evaluations were very positive with 184 participants giving a rating of 4 out of 5 or better. The qualitative feedback themes noted the value of integrated groups for learning, a greater understanding of the policies was achieved and the learning approach of using case studies was illuminating and engaging. Some initially resistive participants noted being "converted". Comparisons to other training indicated it had been the best training on mental health and the catalyst for this was the close co-operation of DIAC staff, SERCO and health professionals.

13.3 Professor Procter flagged that the slides provided under Agenda 16 of the meeting pack are continually being refined. A further refinement in his view would be to make half of Day 3 of the program available to focus on operationalising the policy. He acknowledged that policy awareness is the training brief however appreciates participants want to understand how this will be managed on the ground. This needs reflecting on.

13.4 Professor Procter noted that he provided a few extra tutorials on MSE training and he was surprised the IHMS staff had not already had this training.

13.5 Mr Wann indicated that there is a tiered approach to training for compliance officers rather than role specific training. It was agreed that all compliance officers should do this training and be skilled in the policy.

13.6 The meeting congratulated Professor Procter on his achievements with the training program.

14 DATES FOR SUBGROUP MEETINGS

14.1 The Research Subgroup will meet in Canberra on Wednesday 21st July to be joined by DIAC staff; Robert Illingsworth and Alison Larkins.

1 WELCOME, CORRESPONDENCE AND ACTION ITEMS

- 1.1 The Chair welcomed Members of the Council and Departmental staff and acknowledged apologies from Professor Samina Yasmeen and Mr Noel Clement.
- 1.2 The Chair thanked Secretariat staff for organising the meeting and agenda papers at short notice.
- 1.3 The Chair noted the appointment of Mr Chris Bowen as the new Minister for Immigration and Citizenship.
- 1.4 The Council agreed to write a letter to the Minister congratulating him on his appointment, briefly outlining the key issues on CISSR's agenda and seek a meeting at his earliest convenience.

	Secretariat to provide summary of key issues to Chair	Secretariat

- 1.5 Ms Larkins confirmed a Ministerial briefing had been prepared for the new Minister and this briefing included an outline of the purpose and work of CISSR and recommended the Council's continuance.
- 1.6 The Chair indicated that a meeting with the new Minister would be pursued as a priority, and to include on the agenda a discussion of the Council's term of appointment.
- 1.7 Air Marshal Funnell noted that the work of the Council is enhanced by a representative of the Minister's office attending the General Meetings.
- 1.8 The Council endorsed the minutes of the 6th General Meeting.
- 1.9 The Chair requested the support of the Deputy Chair to review drafts of future General Meeting minutes.

GM7/02	Draft minutes of the 7th and subsequent General Meetings to be forwarded to both the Chair and Deputy Chair for review prior to finalising the record.	Secretariat

- 1.10 In reviewing the action items the Chair acknowledged the completion of some items had been delayed by the prolonged Caretaker period.
- 1.11 Ms Larkins advised that the responsibility for reporting on caseloads (GM6/05) will transfer from Community and Detention Services (CDS) to Compliance and Case Resolution (CCRD). Reporting on length of time in detention will be more comprehensive with a new format for reporting to be circulated for comment. The Chair stressed that the Council has concerns about how centre capacities have been presented in the reports.
- 1.12 Air Marshal Funnell restated his view that the asylum seeker population on CI and corresponding staff numbers should be reduced (GM6/06). He expressed his deep concern at the daily costs of managing Christmas Island (CI), Leonora, Curtin and Darwin. It was agreed to include the issue of client numbers on CI in the letter to the new Minister and stressed as "a matter of urgency".
- 1.13 The Chair clarified action item GM6/07 was seeking information on the operations and work of Life Without Barriers (LWB) and the plans for ongoing provisions and procurement issues for these services in the future only, not a review of services (though it is acknowledged some Council members had expressed concerns about some aspects of LWB services).
- 1.14 SERCO has expressed interest in the UMCRP and sought to talk with members of the Minors sub-group direct. The Council expressed a need for care that the key entities (SERCO, DIAC, and CISSR) do not work at cross purposes.
- 1.15 Ms Larkins clarified some misunderstandings around the prosecution/return of boat crews. There had been no change in the policy position although the AFP had agreed to not prosecute minors and they were in the process of being returned to Indonesia. The Department was also returning a man whose wife died in childbirth.
- 1.16 Air Marshal Funnell, referring to a recent protest by crew in Darwin, expressed concern that the perceived success of the protest will encourage further protest activity. Ms Larkins acknowledged the police and the judicial system are struggling to cope with processing the boat crews.
- 1.17 Dr Rifi indicated that he had not received an invitation to break the fast with detainees at VIDC so this event did not occur (GM6/11).

GM7/03	Follow up on Action Item GM6/11. DIAC to consult directly with appropriate CISSR representatives on multicultural issues for detention centres.	Ms Shyqyr & Ms Jacka with Dr Rifi & Professor Yasmeen

- 1.18 Ms Larkins advised that the business cards requested (GM6/13) are being progressed.

- 1.19 Access to country of origin information (GM6/21) was discussed under Agenda Item 5 – RSA/IMR processing and outcomes.
- 1.21 Discussions to progress the “designated persons” program in Melbourne (GM6/28) have been initiated.

2 RESEARCH & EVALUATION SUB-GROUP

- 2.1 Associate Professor Minas advised the Research and Evaluation sub-group met in Canberra on Wednesday 21st July to consider a research work plan for the sub-group. An options paper, included in the meeting pack, was produced canvassing options for addressing both short term research priorities and establishing a long-term strategic plan for research on migration issues. The paper recommended the Delphi model as a methodology for identifying the key research questions, and making an approach to the Australian Research Council (ARC) to explore the possibility of fostering a priority area for research on migration issues. Such a partnership would take research of migration issues into the mainstream of research and evaluation in Australia. This would bring numerous benefits to the process including rigor, funding, issue profile and capacity building.
- 2.2 The Council agreed the sub-group, CCRD and the Policy Innovation, Research and Evaluation Unit (PIREU) representatives should meet to further the development of a work plan, establish a working relationship between the sub-group and PIREU and assess the collective capacity to support a submission to the ARC. Ms Larkins indicated that Deputy Secretary Peter Hughes may wish to be involved.

GM7/04	The Research & Evaluation sub-group to convene with DIAC staff to progress the short term work plan, establish a working relationship with PIREU and explore a joint CISSR/DIAC approach to the ARC.	R&E sub-group with CCRD

- 2.3 The Council agreed that any proposed submission to the ARC will need Ministerial support. It would be advantageous to request for the Minister to pursue it directly with the Minister for Innovation, Industry, Science and Research.

3 DETENTION UPDATE

- 3.1 Ms Wilson referred to the background paper on IMA crew issues included in the meeting pack.
- 3.2 Ms Wilson outlined the pressures on accommodation on CI and the actions the Department is taking to expand capacity. She acknowledged difficulties in achieving separation for client groups was contributing to escalating incidences of self-harm and aggression.

- 3.3 Ms Wilson indicated that both the Department and service provider staff are coping well with the pressures on CI, although staff across the system are very tired and resources stretched. The department is actively recruiting, and this includes discussions with Departments which are currently downsizing. Ms Wilson acknowledged the challenge is to create a strong staffing system which provides a good balance of support, skills, knowledge and experience for work both in the field and at National office.
- 3.4 Ms Wilson reported on the incidents at Northern Immigration Detention Centre (IDC). On August 22 a fight broke out between Afghans and Indonesians around internet access. Staff have since tightened up on monitoring internet access.
- 3.5 The meeting discussed an incident involving Indonesian crew on August 29 which led to a passive roadside protest by Afghan detainees the following day. Ms Wilson clarified that it was the NT Police who decided to take action and remove them to the watch-house. She added that in her experience it is better to wait out incidents like this, time allows people to work through and resolve the issues without need for authorities to intervene.
- 3.6 Ms Wilson outlined the learnings and subsequent changes to procedures which have emerged from these events. Ms Wilson confirmed that each facility has an incident plan in place and each jurisdiction has either an exchange of letters or MOU to clarify roles and responsibilities between DIAC, AFP and local police. In the incident at Northern there was a lack of clarity about the role of Defence given the protest was held on Defence property. Ms Wilson confirmed this is currently being addressed.
- 3.7 Ms Wilson acknowledged crew numbers in detention have grown exponentially creating delays in processing charges. Subsequent to the protest clients were informed of why delays were occurring. Weekly meetings between DIAC, AFP, NT Police and the Indonesian consulate are now in place. Also, the Australian Federal Police (AFP) and Attorney-General's Department (AGD) are currently working up options for managing crews.
- 3.8 Ms Wilson confirmed there has been a mix of hand downs at Northern IDC. She confirmed that people are relocated depending on the availability of accommodation, not pathway they are on. She indicated that the scripts for communicating moves to detainees are very clear. Council members acknowledged this reality but also noted detainees will persist in believing a move is indicative of what pathway they are on.
- 3.9 Ms Wilson advised that 83 of the 89 detainees involved in the August 29 protest had been relocated to Curtin. Ten decisions which had been withheld in Darwin because of the incident were transferred across to Curtin for hand down this week. The issue of delays in communicating decisions was taken up later with Mr Fleming. A record of that discussion is under paragraph 5.12 below.

- 3.10 Members discussed around the increasing and untenable pressures on accommodation as the numbers of arrivals increase and the suspension continues to delay the processing of Afghani claims. Meeting participants voiced strong support for greater use of the option of community detention (CD). It was agreed the Unaccompanied Minors Community Residence Program (UMCRP) will be a good start in that direction, with a possible extension to families. Also, a dialogue needs to be pursued with the new Minister to gauge his position on CD. Ms Benson noted community resources are capable of responding to the needs of greater numbers of asylum seekers moving out into the community. The participants stressed the risks of continuing with the current policies and Ms Wilson confirmed that very frank feedback had been communicated to the Minister.
- 3.11 Ms Wilson noted an emerging trend towards more families among IMAs.
- 3.12 Ms Wilson indicated that health, identity and security checks must be completed before any detainee is released into the community, with security checks, which are not under the Department's control, often taking the longest.
- 3.13 It was acknowledged that successful pursuit of a case for CD required there an effective accompanying process for managing removals in that context.

4 MINISTERIAL INTERVENTIONS

- 4.1 Ms Gillam joined the meeting to provide an update on ministerial interventions (MIs) and removals. She noted that the trends in the broad caseloads (not just IMAs) were showing fewer requests and repeat requests for MIs. Some guidelines and regulatory changes have had a positive impact in this regard.
- 4.2 Both involuntary and voluntary removals have increased from 2008-09 to 2009-10 (6,800 and 8,800 respectively). Six thousand of the 2009-10 figures were compliance caseload. She also reported the following trends; there are less illegal fishers; there has been a significant increase in monitored departures and in assisted voluntary returns.
- 4.3 Ms Gillam noted that the improved response times for community status resolution services to engage with people soon after a negative outcome is handed down has improved clients' understanding of their options and is facilitating decisions to leave. People voluntarily seeking assistance to resolve their status has also increased.
- 4.4 Concern was raised by Dr Loughry that a number of cases seemed stuck at the MI level. Ms Larkins indicated she would investigate this issue.
- 4.5 Ms Gilliam advised that there have been 156 IMA removals since October 2008, 141 voluntary and 15 involuntary (all cases in the involuntary pool were Sri Lankan). The voluntary removals included Sri Lankans (70), Indonesians (62) and Iranians (5). The number currently in the pool available for removal is 93 (negative IMRs, screened out or requested removal). Within this pool 34 will be removed as soon as travel documents are available and 22 are a part of the High Court action.

- 4.6 In terms of Independent Merits Review (IMR) processing, among the pool of 926 cases, 206 have been given a negative Refugee Status Assessment (RSA) but have not yet applied for an IMR and 720 have applied and are awaiting IMR processing.
- 4.7 Ms Gillam indicated case managers in Curtin have been encouraging clients among the suspended caseload to obtain identity information from their country of origin in order to assist with their processing when the bar is lifted. This initiative is showing a measure of success.
- 4.8 A short discussion on identification issues followed. It was noted that people choosing voluntary return were often able to source documents from home to hasten the process of return.
- 4.9 Ms Gilliam confirmed that the procedure for returns of IMAs was subject to the same processes, clearances and agreements as for other caseloads.
- 4.10 It was noted that Returns and Reintegration Section is working on agreements with other countries and that this work was progressing well, including for Afghanistan. The UK is achieving a high rate of returns to Afghanistan. There is a positive outlook for achieving agreements with Iraq however Ms Gilliam reports Iran is problematic.
- 4.11 It was further noted that IMAs need a higher level of support to ensure sustainable returns. Ms Gilliam provided participants with a copy of the framework for effecting removal of IMAs.

5 RSA/IMR PROCESSING AND OUTCOMES

- 5.1 Mr Fleming and Ms Niblett joined the meeting. Mr Fleming reported on briefing the new Minister and indicated that the key issues raised were suspensions, RSA processing and the litigation before the High Court. Mr Fleming indicated a decision from the High Court was probable before the end of the year and the result is likely to have an impact on offshore processing, depending on how they construe the Act.
- 5.2 Mr Fleming indicated that the Department plans to make available country of origin guidance notes when the Afghan suspension is lifted. Council members indicated they would like to be included in the circulation of this information. Mr Fleming agreed noting that any classified information which forms part of the decision-making process results in a loss of transparency and could create grounds for challenge.

- 5.3 Mr Fleming indicated the Department continues to keep pace with the numbers for decision-making but noted that without the suspension there would be some slippage. The Department is actively recruiting to address the demands for when the suspension is lifted. Mr Fleming acknowledged that relocating detainees is making processing more difficult.
- 5.4 Mr Fleming confirmed that the Department will take the same approach to the order of processing Afghanis' claims as they did when the bar was lifted for Sri Lankans; by date of arrival wherever possible and prioritizing vulnerable cases.
- 5.5 The Council asked Mr Fleming to comment on the IMR process and high rate of turnovers. Mr Fleming spoke of the variables impacting on primary decision making and noted that the current rate of 20-40% approvals for Afghanis at the primary stage is probably too low and is likely to rise. Mr Fleming discussed the skills and experience of IMR staff, and also noted the key points of difference between the primary and IMR processes e.g. primary decision makers consider internal relocations as viable.
- 5.6 Mr Fleming acknowledged some concerns with the methodologies used by decision makers, spoke about the need to develop skills (judgement, analysis and reasoning) to make decision-making more rigorous and outlined the strategies and expertise they are tapping in to, to achieve this goal.
- 5.7 Mr Fleming also noted credibility assessment guidelines were rewritten recently to clarify what information can and cannot be relied upon. He acknowledged it is a very difficult area for people to become sensitised and proficient in, in a short space of time.
- 5.8 Ms Niblett also noted that entry interviews are not in-depth interviews and caution is needed not to question the client's credibility if new information comes to light in later interviews.
- 5.9 Meeting participants discussed the concept of who is the "applicant" in family applications and the merits, limitations and sensitivities of interviewing family members separately-v-collectively.
- 5.10 Ms Benson raised the issue of clients mining information for clues as to the probable outcome of their cases, some believing which decision maker they are assigned to is indicative of the outcome. Ms Benson also raised concerns about the system relying on skilled but inexperienced decision-makers, interpreters and IAAAS providers, citing a case where an interpreter did not correctly translate "consent" to a client.

- 5.11 Ms Niblett acknowledged that decision-makers need to be skilled and effective regardless of the pressures. She indicated that questions about the unnecessarily bureaucratised language have been raised previously and indicated they are scheduled to meet with interpreter organisations to discuss these matters.
- 5.12 Council members raised the issue of delays between decisions being finalised and handed down. Mr Fleming acknowledged that hand-downs are sometimes delayed, particularly if there is unrest or distress among the centre population. It was also noted that the security of the environment in which hand downs are delivered may need prior planning.
- 5.13 Council members expressed concern with this approach indicating that hand-downs are business as usual and indicated there should be confidence in the systems and staff to manage the hand-down process. They also strongly asserted that liberty should not be withheld any longer than necessary. The Council also foresaw consequential delays in initiating appeals and access to post detention services. The Council agreed to stress expediency in hand-downs in their advice to the Minister.
- 5.14 Council asked that they be updated on this process at the next CISSR General Meeting. It was suggested a comparison of decision to hand-down dates over time would measure any improvement (or deterioration) in this process.

6 DISCUSSION WITH UNHCR

- 6.1 Mr Richard Towle, Regional Representative for UNHCR joined the meeting to discuss detention and asylum seeker processing issues. This session was not recorded.
- 6.2 Members requested access to copies of Mr Towle's report to the Secretary on the UNHCR visit to Christmas Island in May 2010. Hardcopies of this report were circulated to members on day two of this meeting.

7 TORTURE AND TRAUMA POLICY IMPLEMENTATION

- 7.1 Ms Lynch-Magor joined the meeting to provide an update on torture and trauma and mental health policies.
- 7.2 Ms Lynch-Magor outlined some of the challenges around training. This included lower than expected participation levels, people are registering for training at levels appropriate for their role, large numbers of new staff requiring training, timing of training, and delays in roll out to Villawood. She outlined options under consideration to address these issues including examining more flexible delivery modes.

- 7.3 Ms Lynch-Magor confirmed the ongoing difficulties accessing sufficient staff with torture and trauma training and the possibility of reviewing the service model given growing demand in the current context of increasing client numbers.
- 7.4 The Chair indicated that the current service model was not developed for a detention context of the type now in place for IMAs and a different approach is needed. Dr Loughry noted the percentage of torture and trauma survivors is very high in detainee populations however, the issues are often latent in detainees whilst they are focusing on their assessment. Some of these cases are likely to be triggered by events such as the collective mood of centres and changes in environmental conditions. Screening too can precipitate some cases but it can also help anticipate them.
- 7.5 Ms Lynch-Magor agreed this underscored the need to know that the training is have an impact on the ground, that staff understand these issues can be latent and have an awareness and appreciation of what they may be witnessing. Associate Professor Minas suggested comparing the capabilities of staff that have done the training against those who have not as a way of measuring the effectiveness of the training.
- 7.6 A brief discussion followed on the increasing numbers of clients who, on resettlement, are manifesting the negative impacts of detention. Loss of capacity, particularly work readiness and greater reliance on medications were noted as some of the indicators of this deterioration in functioning.
- 7.7 It was noted that both the Department and the Research and Evaluation sub-group are keen to pursue studies of torture and trauma policies. They agreed that a co-operative arrangement would enhance these efforts.

8 MAINLAND DETENTION CENTRES SUB-GROUP

- 8.1 Air Marshal Funnell referred to the two reports from visits to Leonora and Curtin and encouraged participants to read the reports before the session on the Mainland Detention Centres sub-group on Day two.
- 8.2 Air Marshall Funnell expressed deep concern at the amount of capital being invested in detention centres in remote locations. Linked to this concern is the lack of resourcing for long term strategic thinking and planning to begin to identify where the nation would like to be in terms of detention in 2025. The Council considered assigning some time each general meeting to such a discussion. This issue was discussed in more detail on day two under paragraph 14.1.

9 REVIEW OF DAY ONE

- 9.1 The Council agreed to send a congratulatory letter to the new Minister and include a summary of the CISSR work agenda and issues. Also a meeting would be requested with the Minister to discuss role of the CISSR and their concerns in relation to:
- The urgent need to decrease numbers of detainees on CI;
  - Seeking support for the Unaccompanied Minors Community Residence Program (UMCR) and discuss the potential to extend the program to families;
  - Projected number of detainees;
  - Policy settings;
  - The research agenda;
  - The regional protection framework; and
  - Issues associated with the suspension of processing certain cohorts
- 9.2 Ms Benson noted that contrary to apparent public perceptions, the return rate for detainees was higher under Labor Government than the former Howard government. Ms Benson thought this misconception should be dispelled.
- 9.3 CCRD agreed to access the comparative data on return rates and report these to the Council.

- 9.4 It was acknowledged that returns and reintegration are an important part of policy especially given the remarks by Mr Towle.
- 9.5 Council members reiterated their concerns re delays in handing down decisions. Departmental staff clarified who were involved in deciding when to hand down decisions and when legal representatives are advised of decisions.
- 9.6 Ms Benson suggested there needs to be a formal framework for this process as there was a growing belief in the community that there was a deliberate delay in handing down decisions. Mr Casey confirmed that concerns about delays had been raised in a number of forums and indicated that action has been taken to reduce the delays.
- 9.7 Whilst acknowledging the tension between decisions around maintaining order at the centres and client's right to timely hand-downs the Council also noted there were moral and ethical issues in delaying notifications of decisions.

10 MINORS

- 10.1 Ms Pope provided an update of the pilot to assess disputed minors claims. The health provider Immigration Health & Medical Services (IHMS) has discontinued their involvement in the pilot given they had the veto decision on age determination. IHMS expressed concern over liability for potential errors based on their advice and possible adverse consequences to the client. The process has been altered so that the health provider no longer has a veto decision. The Department is seeking an alternative health provider to participate in the program.
- 10.2 The Department questions the reliability of the X-ray method for age determination of disputed minors although it was noted this method is used by IHMS. It was noted that there are diverse and contradictory views on the reliability of X-rays for age determination. The Department has evaluated the evidence and decided not to use this methodology.
- 10.3 The Australian Federal Police (AFP) have decided to discontinue their use of X-rays on the basis of the Department's assessment. They are also looking at using the Department's age determinations to review some clients currently on charges of people smuggling and also to review some cases of previously convicted crew. These cases will need to return to court to have the charges dropped before being returned to Indonesia. The AFP have indicated that in future they will accept the Department's determinations on age.
- 10.4 The Department is in the process of appointing an officer on Christmas Island for the role of age determination – an 'Identity and Integrity Officer' who will assess age, in conjunction with identity and other evidence. The appointee may be drawn from the officers who participated in the pilot. The Identity and Integrity Officer will assess new arrivals and flag any cases for concern with case managers and health providers.
- 10.5 There is widespread agreement, given the success of the pilot, for the age determination process to be rolled into business as usual.
- 10.6 There have been numerous clients in the 20 -30 year age group claiming to be minors. When clients change their date of birth accommodation is changed however, the recommendation by the Christmas Island sub-group to have a "waiting" period has been adopted.
- 10.7 Mr Casey highlighted that there was a significant misunderstanding by Indonesian crew regarding the severity of the penalties for people smuggling. They appeared to believe that they were in the same framework as illegal fishers who were simply returned home. However there is mandatory sentencing for people smuggling and some efforts need to be made to ensure that the minors among the crews actively help in their cases by obtaining evidence of their age in order to expedite their processing and be returned.

- 10.8 The Chair expressed serious concern that given the feedback received and inconsistencies/difficulties in determining the age of a young person (in some cases) there may be minors being held and prosecuted as adults and the potential risk for abuse particularly if they are being held in adult prisons. He said that if this were indeed the case then it would constitute a breach of international conventions which could be perceived as an abuse of a minor by the Australian Government. He indicated that it was urgent that this issue be carefully examined and that the Council and the Department should escalate this issue within the Government.
- 10.9 The Council noted that there was an emphasis on chronological age as a determinant of vulnerability whereas maturity was another consideration. The mental health model uses capability rather than chronological age for housing and treating clients.
- 10.10 Ms Pope is writing up the outcomes of the pilot noting the policy advice to move away from age specific emphasis in the minors sphere and consider maturity. However, in the legal sphere 18 is the set legal definition of an adult. The Council suggested moving from an age specific determination framework to a different framework based on determining vulnerability.
- 10.11 It was noted by the Council that there are cultural sensitivities around age and that not all people know their age or have documentation as is required in western countries. Ms Pope advised that CI staff are well aware of this and also that people did in fact intentionally give false information regarding their age. The Department is very clear when querying their contradictions with them and there is a natural justice loop. She noted that no clients had made any objections when determinations regarding age were reported back to them.
- 10.12 The Council commended Ms Pope on the excellent work and outcomes achieved in the area of age determination.
- 10.13 Ms Pope advised that the Principal Advisor Unit is currently writing a guide to terminology and acronyms setting out the legal meaning of terms such as wards, custodians and guardians which are referred to in policy and legislation. The Department is also briefing the new Minister on the status of 400 minors.

- 10.14 The Chair introduced a discussion on the Unaccompanied Minor Community Residence program (UMCR) noting that the UMCR paper was an outstanding piece of work.
- 10.15 Ms Lloyd advised that there had been a number of meetings to build on the proposal and that Dr Rifi had joined the group as a cross cultural expert and to expand the context to be an interfaith and broad community sector initiative.
- 10.16 The proposal outlines the availability of accommodation in the community to house minors and vulnerable clients. Key organisations offering services to the project include Hotham Mission Asylum Seeker Project, the Anglican Church and the Jesuit Refugee Services. Suitable accommodation has been identified in Victoria, Sydney and possibly Perth.
- 10.17 A discussion about the potential model of care to be offered under the pilot followed. Providers such as Berry Street have indicated interest in the project. They have expertise in working with minors and with foster care arrangements but not with asylum seekers. They have a therapeutic model available however it is intensive and costly. Life Without Barriers (LWB) has relevant expertise with asylum seekers however they do not have an existing model of care sufficient to look after minors in the community. Dr Rifi advised that the Muslim Women's Association have considerable experience in foster care of children in a community setting and are keen to participate in the project.
- 10.18 The Council agreed that there needs to be a defined model for foster care services in the community with a capacity to spread these services nationally. The pilot should also provide for transitioning people from the program and into the community or as a return if their protection claims are unsuccessful.
- 10.19 The Council indicated that the Department would also need to negotiate and manage the service elements such as access to educational, health and other services under the pilot. Consideration also needs to be given to ensuring continuity of services on resettlement.
- 10.20 Ms Benson queried the legal status of children and carers. Ms Pope advised that unaccompanied minors are wards of the state and the Minister has the delegation to approve a 'guardian'. Only employees of the State or Commonwealth can be granted 'guardian' status. Service providers can be delegated as 'custodians'. Custodians are usually appointed for the day-to-day running of administrative care arrangements such as permission for school excursions etc.

- 10.21 Dr Loughry advised that the UMCR model is ready to advance and there was some urgency given the current availability of accommodation which may be lost if there are lengthy delays. Also overcrowding in facilities and competing pressures compromised services to minors and this pilot provides an opportunity to relieve those pressures and improve integrity.
- 10.22 Ms Larkin advised the Council that in order to progress this matter they need to write to the new Minister providing background on the issue and note previous discussions with, and support from, Minister Evans. A paper to the Minister should seek his views on the proposed arrangements. It should also discuss the practicality of these arrangements for dispersed community detention. The Department still has some concerns with the proposal, but Ms Larkins indicated they will discuss these with the new Minister.
- 10.23 The Council expressed a sense of urgency for advancing the program particularly in light of a projected increase in the numbers of minors (about 700 by the end of the year). Models for community detention are already in place, and there is in-principle support from NGOs and community organisation to provide accommodation resources. Definitive decisions on critical issues such as guardianship need to be addressed by the Department as a matter of urgency to allow implementation of the UMCR pilot.
- 10.24 Mr Casey indicated the model was good and had potential to impact on a group who are vulnerable to deterioration and likely to attract political controversy. He noted that in the context of the government's direction to stop the boats, this model was still legal detention. This proposal should be presented in a sense which does not undermine border protection and returns policy. All of these points are important in his view and need to be stressed in the approach to the Minister.
- 10.25 Mr Funnell suggested starting the project on a small scale and having a framework in place for it to expand quickly and on this basis seek the Minister's approval for the UMCR program from the outset, instead of seeking approval for a pilot.

11 SERVICE DELIVERY SUB-GROUP

- 11.1 Ms Boardman gave a presentation on the Asylum Seeker Assistance Scheme (ASA) and the Immigration Advice and Application Scheme (IAAAS). The presentation outlined the range of services under each scheme, eligibility criteria, historical, current and projected client numbers and trends for the services. A hardcopy of the presentation was provided to the Council members (not for further distribution).

- 11.2 Ms Boardman noted that the programs includes PV applicants who are students under 18 years of age and in need of support (whose assurance of support arrangement had failed) however these students are not technically minors with guardianship arrangements.
- 11.3 It is estimated that 50% of PV applicants will need support. Over time the client cohorts have changed with increasing numbers of families, pregnant women, vulnerable and torture and trauma victims. Some 88.6% of people needing support are eligible for a waiver of the 6 months waiting period for services.
- 11.4 There is an upward trend in the number of clients in the ASA scheme over the past several years. Budget allocations have increased correspondingly. Ms Boardman considered these trends would continue until an integrated model is developed.
- 11.5 Ms Boardman advised there was no financial limit per person for IAAAS and that all PV applicants in detention (not subject to suspension), and the most disadvantaged PV applicants in the community are eligible for IAAAS. The Chair noted that there is potentially an inequity in the rationale that those in the community are assumed not to require the same level of resources and assistance as people in detention.
- 11.6 Mr Illingworth clarified that this is based on the concept that applicants in detention differ from those in the community in that those in detention have tighter timeframes and do not have the liberty to acquire assistance or support.
- 11.7 Ms Boardman pointed out that IAAAS does triage cases on the basis of the strength of claims. There are a number of frivolous claims for onshore protection from people in the community and these are screened out.
- 11.8 Ms Boardman referred participants to Fact Sheet No. 63 on the Department's website which provides detailed information on the IAAAS.
- 11.9 The Chair noted that there needs to be a comparison of application outcomes between IMAs accessing IAAAS and PV applicants in the community without access.
- 11.10 Ms Fiona Lynch-Magor outlined the key details in the discussion paper on establishing a CAS Reference Group to oversee a review of the program. She sought feedback from the Council on the proposal. She noted that concerns had been raised that the CAS program has moved away from its original objectives and intent and she wanted to convene a Reference Group to review the program and get it back on track. She has proposed an aggressive timeline, the Reference Group producing a final report by mid December.

- 11.11 Ms Larkins reiterated that CAS is based on the principle of early intervention for vulnerable clients whilst pursuing status resolution and assisted case managers in brokering services to clients to support that process. She noted that advocates and case managers were frustrated with the program.
- 11.12 Ms Lynch-Magor suggested the perception of the program as a “last resort” probably arose from the limited budget. It was noted that in some instances service providers could not get their clients into the program and the budget setting for this program may need reviewing. Ms Larkins confirmed the client pool is growing dramatically and work is progressing on budget revisions.
- 11.13 The Chair suggested convening a new Reference Group was unnecessary and noted CISSR is already giving advice in this space. He also suggested that DeHAG could be consulted in this area. Other members of the Council also supported this position. After discussion it was proposed that CISSR, and more specifically the Service Delivery sub-group would serve as the Reference Group for this project with the option to bring on other representatives on an ad hoc basis.

12 RATIONALISATION OF SUB-GROUPS

- 12.1 The Council discussed the composition of the sub-groups noting that Professor Yasmeen and Dr Loughry were both on three sub-groups. Dr Loughry was opposed to the Minors sub-groups being incorporated with Service Delivery Framework, concerned that the specific focus for minors could be lost. Ms Lloyd noted that the Minors agenda is very broad and the issues are forward looking i.e. out of the space of “what is” whilst Service Delivery has a different focus.

- 12.2 The Chair proposed that the two groups remain separate but where possible meet on the same day to allow for any overlapping issues to be dealt with jointly. Council members supported this suggestion.
- 12.3 Air Marshal Funnell suggested consolidation of the Mainland Detention Centres and CI sub-groups. Members supported this decision but noted that the new Detention Facilities Sub-group would have eight members and this was too many people to visit a detention facility.
- 12.4 The Chair summarized the decision; that Mainland Detention and CI sub-groups amalgamate and Air Marshal Funnell be appointed as the Chair. Ms Benson indicated she will step down from this group. It was agreed that the usual practice would be for up to three sub-group members to visit a detention facility at any one time although there may be occasions where this number would be higher. Air Marshal Funnell suggested that the sub-group should visit all detention facilities at least once per annum.
- 12.5 It was agreed that Research and Evaluation sub-group will remain separate.
- 12.6 It was suggested that sub-group minutes be circulated to all CISSR members to allow for greater information sharing and to raise awareness of issues which may be relevant to another sub-group.

Following on from this first strategic planning session it is suggested that strategic planning become a fixed agenda item for subsequent General Meetings.

13 STAKEHOLDER ENGAGEMENT

- 13.1 Council members provided updates on recently held CCG meetings.
- 13.2 Professor Procter reported that the Port Augusta meeting was highly constructive, with good representation and a rich interaction and information exchange. The meeting triggered some action items for attendees. He advised the South Australian Police are keen to work collaboratively with the Department and are currently developing a MOU. The police have established good engagement with the detainee community.

- 13.3 Professor Procter indicated he would like to have a designated contact to manage the administration of Port Augusta meetings i.e. setting dates, agendas, logistics, drafting minutes etc. Ms Larkins indicated the Department would follow this up and advise.

ACTION	ISSUE	RESPONSIBILITY
GM7/19	Identify a designated person in Port Augusta to provide a contact point and administrative support for Community Consultative Group meetings.	Ms Jacka Community &amp; Detention Services

- 13.4 The Adelaide meeting, again chaired by Professor Procter, was also constructive. He noted that there is some overlap between the two CCG however Country Health SA and Central Health SA differ in their approach and style. Professor Procter noted the secretariat for meeting was well managed by local Departmental staff.
- 13.5 Ms Coleman noted the Melbourne CCG featured very robust exchanges. She observed that participants tended to want to focus on national issues.
- 13.6 The Council agreed that the CCGs are geared to focus on local issues and that the Terms of Reference are useful to focus the agenda, identify stakeholders and foster solution focused discussions.
- 13.7 The Chair noted that the Darwin meeting had been cancelled and needed to be reconvened as soon as possible. Ms Shyqyr confirmed that Ms Zrno is planning this meeting to be held in the next few weeks.
- 13.8 Ms Benson noted the CCG in Queensland seems to be the only forum that facilitates stakeholder engaging with the Department and as a consequence a large number of people are attending and using these forums for discussing other immigration issues. Nicholas Procter suggested that to be effective the number of participants should be limited to a maximum of approximately 12. It was agreed that limiting attendance would need to be managed carefully to avoid the perception that it is an attempt to shut down engagement.
- 13.9 The Council discussed the need for protocols around visits, recreational support and donations of equipment, books etc. Visits need to be purposeful, constructive and have agreement from the detainees and should not taint the status resolution process. People's wishes not to be visited also need to be respected. Ms Benson suggested that prospective visitors write a short proposal around what they want to do so the Department can manage the process effectively.
- 13.10 An adequate framework is required for the provision of recreation services. The framework should provide a national set of guidelines with clear parameters and guidance for administration, police checks, training and coordination. The Council further noted that at Curtin there were no benchmarks for recreational and education services under the SERCO contract. The Chair noted this issue needs to be raised with Ms Jacka perhaps in the context of discussions on “designated persons”. This is an action item pending (GM6/28).

- 13.11 A discussion was held on stakeholder engagement – there was no long term strategy in place. Ms Shyqyr advised visits could be facilitated to some sites. She flagged holding a forum to talk through the development of a strategy for long term facilities.
- 13.12 The Council noted that stakeholder forums could harness perceptions on what people see is happening at present, highlight the gaps and facilitate contribution to the development of an engagement plan for the next two years. This would be useful as currently there is a void in forums for the community to express concerns, get clarity, debunk myths and foster and maintain trusting relationships with the Department. It was noted that such forums would also be a good vehicle for multi-cultural input. Dr Rifi noted the reluctance of Muslim communities to engage where there are negative status outcomes and this needs to be redressed. Ms Shyqyr indicated there had been successful community forums on CI. Action Item GM6/12, which is in progress, addresses some of these issues on stakeholder engagement.
- 13.13 The Chair flagged the email from Ms Pamela Curr and the issues it raised around CISSR being accessible. Ms Larkins queried whether people were aware of the Department’s complaints handling mechanism noting this avenue provides the community with contact point for the Department. The Council indicated it would be useful to have a link on the website to facilitate correspondence with CISSR. The Department’s website has a page on the Council and its Terms of Reference and this provides a useful guide on CISSR’s focus. An email address/link for correspondence could be added to that page. Ms Larkins advised it could be the responsibility of the Secretariat to triage the correspondence and forward it to Council members.

14 MAINLAND DETENTION CENTRES

- 14.1 Air Marshal Funnell voiced his concerns about the remoteness of Leonora and Curtin, the associated logistical difficulties and the poor infrastructure. He was particularly concerned around the limited telecommunications at Leonora. Ms Shyqyr advised the CI policy on mobile phones had been extended to mainland centres as there were security concerns. She also advised there were now more mobile phones available at Leonora.

14.2 Air Marshal Funnell advised that excursions at Curtin had been stopped on request by the Minister's office while the government was in caretaker mode. SERCO have not been conducting excursions under their contractual obligations and this needs to be monitored.

14.3 Air Marshal Funnell highlighted some further key points and recommendations in the sub-group's reports:

- that Leonora and Curtin were not suitable for long term detention;
- conditions are not sustainable particularly with the onset of the warmer season;
- Departmental staff at Curtin are inexperienced and inadequately trained although they are doing a good job under difficult circumstances;
- a high turnover of staff in harsh conditions does not sustain experience in these areas;
- a good working relationship exists between Departmental and SERCO staff at Curtin;
- the dynamic approach to security at Curtin works well, possibly enabled by the homogeneous ethnicity of the detainees; and
- concerns over SERCO's performance at Leonora.

14.4 Ms Shyqyr noted that the Department was building the skill set of staff. It was noted that the Department is guided by OHS & EAP input when determining the term of duty for Departmental staff assigned to these locations. Air Marshal Funnell suggested that staff that are assessed as coping well could perhaps stay longer to provide depth of experience.

14.5 Air Marshal Funnell expressed that there is a lack of strategic planning around a cost effective and optimal detention solution. Huge amounts of tax payers money are being consumed in building works, whitegoods etc. Early strategic planning would have avoided this situation. The Chair noted there needed to be longer term thinking and it is a priority to flag this with the Minister.

14.6 Ms Larkins suggested that due to the nature of the sub-group's reports, the best and most appropriate action is to forward it to the Executive. It was noted that a formal process is needed for the sub-group's reports to be circulated to key people in the Department.

1 WELCOME, INTRODUCTIONS MINUTES AND ACTION ITEMS

- 1.1 The Chair welcomed Members of the Council, staff from the Minister's office and the Department. The Chair acknowledged apologies from Dr Maryanne Loughry and Mr Noel Clement.
- 1.2 Dr Wendy Southern, Deputy Secretary, Policy Program and Management Group was introduced to meeting participants and warmly welcomed. Dr Southern provided a précis of her previous role with the Department of Prime Minister and Cabinet and noted her pleasure at returning to the Department and reconnecting with work on several of the programs she had previously been responsible for during her time at Immigration.
- 1.3 The Chair summarised the significant work load achieved by the Council in 2010 and noted that the work agenda for 2011 would be equally if not more demanding and set in challenging circumstances. He outlined the mounting pressures on detention services and the priorities this places on the Council's work on policy advice. The Chair noted the significant progress made in case management and noted the task of service reform was still to be addressed. The Chair noted that the focus ahead includes formulating advice on unaccompanied men in detention and returns and removals as part of the broader regional framework. He observed that the latter would be a complex, multilateral area in which to formulate policy; however, he considered that there is value in the Council contributing to that work. He added that personally he sees the framework of mandatory detention as unsustainable and that the greatest challenge is to find a way to stop people boarding boats. He noted that the issue of resettlement opportunities for United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR) clients and the current inequities of access alongside IMAs is likely to gain momentum as a public debate. He acknowledged that more broadly the work of the Council will continue to be subject to forces in the political environment.
- 1.4 In addition to the priorities the Minister has outlined for the Council's attention, there is an ongoing role in continuing to contribute to and oversee the Residence Determination (RD) Expansion Project. The Chair formally acknowledged and thanked Ms Lloyd, Ms Coleman and Dr Loughry for developing the initial proposal and Ms Pope and her team for their impressive work over the Christmas period to initiate the program and secure strong engagement from the church and non-government sectors.
- 1.5 In light of the abovementioned work agenda the Chair raised the issue of an extension of the Council's term. Ms Larkins agreed to support an extension and undertook to pursue this with the Minister.

- 1.6 The Chair and Deputy Chair formally thanked Ms Larkins, Mr Illingworth and the Secretariat for their high quality support through 2010.

- 1.7 The Council adopted, without alteration the minutes of previous meetings (7th General Meeting, Special Meeting 3-4 November 2010 and Facilitated Planning Sessions 1 & 2).
- 1.8 The Chair noted that, whilst the full Council had not forwarded formal reports to the Minister subsequent to these meetings, several informal meetings and conversations with the Minister had provided opportunities for the Chair to update him on the Council's progress. The Chair recognised the capacity and humanity the Minister has demonstrated in grasping the immediate issues of the portfolio and acknowledged the decisiveness and courage he has demonstrated so early in the role.
- 1.9 The Chair briefly reviewed the list of action items noting the mix of completed, ongoing and "in progress" items. He asked participants to hold over detailed discussion of the action items until the relevant agenda topic.

2 DEPARTMENT OVERVIEW OF DEVELOPMENTS

- 2.1 Ms Larkins presented a historical overview of people movement globally and detention numbers in Australia, providing the context for current immigration activities. The key points of the presentation were:

- the movement of people was increasing on a global level
- there are clear trends in the net migration rates for countries and these trends reflect source countries (negative net migration rates) and receiving countries (positive net migration rates)
- at the beginning of 2011 there were 10.3 million refugees worldwide, 983,000 of whom the UNHRC has concerns for their safety
- the current surge in arrivals to Australia began in 2008 and at the end of 2010 was nearing 10,000
- the latest surge is both similar to the previous 1999-2001 surge but also different in important ways and these differences are contributing to significant and ongoing growth in the detention population
- in both instances the source countries were mainly Iraq, Afghanistan and Iran
- the average time taken for primary decisions has grown from 66 to 147 days thus the average time in detention has also increased
- in 1999-2001 the peak detention population was around 3600, it is now around 6300
- the duration of the surge now is longer
- the percentage of clients who received a positive visa outcome in 1999-2001 was 98%. Currently it is 94%. In the current surge clients are receiving more negative decisions initially and this is contributing to prolonged times in detention and growing detention populations
- monthly arrival numbers previously were more variable and some months had no arrivals. In this current surge arrivals are growing continuously without pause and with proportionally less clients exiting the RSA process
- when comparing immigration detention with correctional custody the immigration detention population currently exceeds correctional custody numbers in all jurisdiction with the exception of NSW

Focusing on the characteristics of the current IMA caseload Ms Larkins noted:

- the current detention population on Christmas Island is 2759 and on the mainland 4016. Detailed data was provided on the number of minors in the various facilities, e.g. RD and alternative places of detention (APODs)
- current length of time in detention data shows a bubble of large numbers of clients at the 6-12 month interval which will flow on to greater timeframes in the 12-18 month and higher brackets.

Ms Larkins' presentation also outlined a number of achievements and changes in the Department, including:

- the progress of the RD Expansion noting 86 clients were in community detention (CD) as at mid-February with a further 42 approved for placement and 130 clients currently in the process of being referred for CD
- the implications of the High Court Decision and details of the new streamlined process for determinations and the need to reprocess some cases
- the Afghan MOU is now in place to support returns and removals
- the establishment of a new fourth group in the Department to cover Immigration Detention Services
- the transfer of policy functions to the Compliance and Case Resolution Division and
- a number of senior staffing changes.

2.2 Participants noted that mental health interventions became difficult once a client's length of detention reached the 6-12 months bracket. Ms Larkins acknowledged that there was a bottleneck around security clearances and that this was currently the subject of a joint review between the Department and the relevant external agency. Discussion ensued on shifting from emphasis on security clearances in favour of risk assessments in order to move vulnerable clients to APODs more quickly. The Chair expressed concern that the current process will become the subject of legal challenge. Prof Procter noted that the current policies for dealing with mental health issues focus on short term detention; these will not deal effectively with the mental health issues that will emerge from prolonged detention.

2.3 Ms Larkins also noted that the judicial review process meant it takes a considerable period of time for a client to exhaust all appeal avenues thus prolonging time in detention. Discussion ensued around the damage created by lengthy detention and the difficulty of achieving returns from this environment. Council Members expressed confidence in achieving a better return rate from CD. Ms Larkins confirmed that there is an upward trend in returns from the community caseload.

2.4 The Chair queried the impact on costs and the broad expectation that all departments will achieve savings. Dr Southern indicated that the IMA quarantined funds will need offsets. Participants agreed that there is an opportunity to create cost savings in the expansion of RD.

- 2.5 Ms Larkins indicated there are about 300 clients currently available for removal.

3 CISSR WORK PLAN

3.1 General comments

- 3.1.1 Air Marshal Funnell commented that the work-plan provides an excellent summary of the context of the Council's work and the tasks ahead. He indicated that the timeframes in the draft are unrealistic and needed revising, the tasks need prioritising and the responsibilities assigned.
- 3.1.2 The Chair stressed the need for the work-plan to prioritise both the immediate issues and provide for sustained work on the longer-term tasks so that objectives can be achieved regardless of operational demands and uncertainties in the political environment.
- 3.1.2 Ms Larkins emphasised that in addition to pursuing the work-plan the Council will need to allow for responding to the Minister's requests for advice on emerging issues at the operational level similar to his request that CISSR oversee the RD Expansion project. The Chair acknowledged this need and noted that ad hoc requests and developing the broader strategy will be an interactive process.
- 3.1.3 Key milestones/deliverables need to be set out and timeframes determined and noted against each strategy.
- 3.1.4 Ms Larkins suggested the Council refine the draft work-plan and submit it to the Minister for endorsement.
- 3.1.5 Ms Larkins noted that some tasks on the plan have been initiated in the Department and it was agreed that the Council needed to build linkages with those areas to work collaboratively and to contribute to the Council's information gathering and formulation of advice. Ms Larkins outlined a number of current research projects relevant to the Council work and suggested a briefing by PIREU.
- 3.1.6 Prof Procter also flagged an upcoming conference in Adelaide on the current research in South Australia on refugee and migration matters. The Chair suggested Ms Coleman consider presenting her research on costs of alternatives to detention.

3.2 *Strategy 1 – Redesign the end-to-end process of migration to support appropriate access to Australia for asylum seekers

- 3.2.1 The Council is advocating a Regional Framework and plans to develop advice on better alignment of the policy framework with the Government's operational management of asylum seekers. The new Regional Framework needs to be correctly calibrated. Strategy 1 will be long-term work and will require additional dedicated support from a suitably skilled project officer.
- 3.2.2 Ms Larkins has agreed to support the engagement of a suitable project officer to advance this work once the Minister has endorsed the work-plan. The Council flagged it would like to have input in the selection of the project officer.
- 3.2.3 The wording of Strategy 1 needs to be reworked including changing "redesign" to "review". It was agreed the core elements of an end-to-end process will need to be clearly articulated, without being overly detailed. As a start these elements will encompass reception, care and status resolution.
- 3.2.4 Air Marshal Funnell has agreed to work as the conduit between CISSR and the Department to access information to advance this strategy.
- 3.2.5 This work will also call on broad stakeholder engagement and input, linking it with Strategy 4 in the work plan. The Chair suggested that an International Organisation for Migration (IOM) representative together with Mr Rick Towle from the United Nations High Commission for Refugees be invited to discuss this strategy at the next general meeting.

3.3 *Strategy 2 – Promote a cultural shift to establish a new community ethos about asylum seekers – the benefits and value they offer and their capacity to contribute to the Australian community and our way of life.

- 3.3.1 Lead responsibility for this strategy sits with the Research & Evaluation Sub-group and it is recommended that links be established between CISSR, PIREU and PEAR to advance this work.
- 3.3.2 Strategy 2 also links to Strategy 4 - to communicate this work to the community.

3.4 Strategy 3 – Develop a reception framework for those seeking asylum in Australia

- 3.4.1 This strategy fits within the Service Delivery Framework Sub-group focus. It also incorporates development of advice to the Minister on single adult men in detention and incident management.

3.5 Strategy 4 – Work with political and community leaders, the media and academics to communicate the facts about asylum seekers to the Australian community

- 3.5.1 The Chair noted that this strategy encompasses and builds on the Council's intention to establish, maintain and formalise their engagement with key stakeholders. On a larger canvas the aim is to elevate, inform and reframe the public debate and discourse on asylum seekers.
- 3.5.2 In developing this strategy attention also needs to be given to assessing the overlaps, gaps, alignments and opportunities for cross-fertilisation among the Department's numerous advisory bodies.
- 3.5.3 Ms Coleman added that the Red Cross could be managing up to 50 and 100 contracts for the RD Expansion and that this offers a good network for communicating messages. However to do this effectively it needs to be managed productively i.e. Identifying the key messages, the means/channels for communication and strategies for maintaining networks. This would constitute appropriate advice under Strategy 4; however, actual implementation of the communication strategy is beyond the scope of the CISSR work plan.

4 IMMIGRATION ADVICE AND APPLICATION ASSISTANCE SCHEME (IAAAS)

- 4.1 Ms Boardman gave a presentation on the IAAAS program; eligibility criteria, usage and trends. She advised that the new tender process for IAAAS services will commence in March 2011 with an aim for new contracts to be in place from 1 July 2011. As the higher numbers of detainees on Christmas Island (CI) are no longer reflected in the current contract terms, providers are very keen to see the new tender round initiated. Under the new contracts, services will not fundamentally change but greater flexibility will be built into capacities.
- 4.2 Whilst the intention is to incorporate the IAAAS scheme into an integrated service delivery model, the work on this model is not yet sufficiently advanced to be reflected in this current tender round.
- 4.3 Currently 24 commercial, legal aid and not-for-profit agencies are contracted to provide services. There is evidence of increasing interest from private providers to tender for service provision.
- 4.4 The main caseload using IAAAS services are the irregular maritime arrivals (IMAs). Services are also provided to onshore protection visa (PV) applicants in detention and to disadvantaged and vulnerable people living in the community who have cases of merit and a reasonable prospect of success. The latter are referred through the Community Assistance Support program (CAS).
- 4.5 The demand on services is increasing. The forecast is for 10,000+ mainstream (non-IMA) services in the 2010/2011 year and 9,000+ IMA services for the same period (multiple services are often provided to each client). The need for IAAAS agents continues to grow and will spike as at 1 March 2011. This spike reflects the need for second reviews on cases (as a result of the High Court decision) and the flow-on from the suspensions being lifted. To address the backlog the Department has readied 160 staff for deployment to work with the IMA caseload however this will need 160 agents to match up and there are significant logistical issues attached to such a large deployment. The new processing arrangements being implemented in response to the High Court decision may ultimately result in a reduction in the forecast demand for services.
- 4.6 Ms Boardman outlined the new integrated decision-making model arrangements and its impacts on the services. She outlined the pressures on agents when preparing statements of claims. Ms Boardman indicated that analysis has been done between initial statements of claims and review submissions to assess differences in information and where possible inform processing improvements and efficiencies. However, Ms Boardman stressed that reviews will always contain more detailed information because feedback on the grounds for a negative decision informs the review process. She indicated that there is still work to be done to identify an ideal model which optimises the processes and outcomes.

- 4.7 The Chair flagged that with a torture and trauma client's permission his organisation sometimes viewed their statement of claims (to expedite their clinical assessment). He noted that some lacked significant and important details and that this must impact the quality and timeliness of processing their cases. Ms Boardman agreed there is some concern about quality in the context of volume pressures.
- 4.8 Ms Boardman noted that under the new contracts there will be clearer mechanisms for assessing quality of services and responding to performance issues.
- 4.9 The Chair shared that the ad hoc feedback on IAAAS services suggests an improvement in service quality over time. Ms Boardman agreed and acknowledged the responsiveness of providers under what are difficult circumstances.
- 4.10 It was noted that responsibility for service delivery reform will transfer to Compliance and Case Resolution Division on 28 March 2011; however, management of IAAAS services will remain with the Community and Detention Services Division.

5 SERVICE DELIVERY REFORM

- 5.1 Mr Dermot Casey and Ms Fiona Lynch-Magor presented on Service Delivery reform. Mr Casey provided a summary on the development of the Vulnerability Indicator Assessment Tool (VIAT). In early February 2011 a tender process was initiated to select a provider to field test the tool and develop training materials to support its implementation. It is anticipated that the successful tenderer will be selected and contracts signed in March 2011 with a mid-year completion date. A steering committee will be established to guide the work. Mr Casey stressed that the VIAT has been developed for use in the community environment and is not geared for use with a detention population.
- 5.2 Mr Casey acknowledged that implementation of the tool had taken longer than anticipated given the necessary focus on detention clients; however, it is good to now refocus on community status resolution where good outcomes are achieved.
- 5.3 Ms Larkins advised that there are currently less than 150 compliance clients; however, the Department is now moving through this caseload in a shorter timeframe. There has been an increase in the number of IMA clients refusing to leave voluntarily but who switch from an involuntary to voluntary return whilst in detention when they become aware of the incentives. Departures, status resolution and voluntary presentations to the Department all are trending upwards. Some cases create difficulties in terms of return destinations (e.g. statelessness) but a lot depends on individual circumstances (e.g. some may be returned on the basis of family location).
- 5.4 The Chair highlighted that this information should be broadcast widely through National Communications. The public should be aware that the Department secures more returns out of the community than in detention. Ms Larkins stressed that it is a complex issue which is not well understood and broadcasting information about case-load outcomes often leads to confusion and more questions.

- 5.5 The Chair flagged the CAS program as a good model for integrated service delivery but noted some difficulties associated with the program had been raised at the previous day's Onshore Protection Consultative Group meeting. Ms Coleman noted the issue of some eligible CAS clients not being given access to services and also that certain changes to the CAS program had been introduced without prior consultation with the sector. Ms Lynch-Magor noted that none of the cases which were raised as "of concern" in that forum had been flagged to National Office and she indicated that she will be investigating the lack of escalation.
- 5.6 The Chair again emphasized that CAS provides the framework to incorporate other programs as it is designed to be tailored to the individual needs of each client. He maintains that the funding of programs can be pooled into CAS and the VIAT used as the gateway. He noted it has a high threshold for access to services. An increase in funding is also needed. It was acknowledged by Mr Casey and Ms Larkins that a single program is possible but the Department would have to ensure it satisfies political and international obligations.
- 5.7 A discussion ensued on the provision of services to different caseloads, on the equity of services, needs of clients, eligibility and the objectives of service provision. Mr Casey highlighted that although people in the community and those going in to CD may have similar needs for support, the duty of care obligations differ on the basis of their legal status. The Chair maintained that how clients come into the space is not relevant if the goal is status resolution. Ms Larkins indicated that the method of entry reflects different cohorts which do need to be responded to differently. Mr Casey also stressed that how cohorts respond to the Department reflects their differing motivations. Ms Larkins highlighted that the best chance of getting clients to return voluntarily is if their sense of self-agency is maintained. It was agreed that the purpose of CAS is to sustain them and maintain their sense of agency. In contrast prolonged detention erodes people's agency, they can become damaged and shamed and the only choice they believe left to them is to "dig in". Assisted voluntary returns (AVR) provide them with something to take back with them. It was also pointed out that skilling people similarly gives them something of value to take back. Mr Casey highlighted that case reviews now included questions to clients which help them to think about AVRs in this way.
- 5.8 The Chair suggested that it would be appropriate to convene a meeting between the Service Delivery Sub-group and the new Branch Manager for Detention & Services Policy to advance the services reform work.

6 IMA POLICY UPDATE

- 6.1 Mr Fleming recapped the High Court decision which found that the Department's processing of IMAs was judicially reviewable. Basically the Court found that the assessment process is sound but prone to legal error. This decision taints every non-statutory decision. It was deemed an error in natural justice by not making available the country of origin information to clients or provide them with an opportunity to respond to any negative information that may be used in their assessment.
- 6.2 In response the Department has developed a streamlined merits assessment process known as a Protection Obligations Determination (POD), which replaces the previous refugee status determination process. In addition, Professor John McMillan has been appointed to consider possible options for enhancing the efficiency of the judicial review process. Furthermore two additional Federal Court Magistrates will be appointed to cope with the increases to the judicial review load.
- 6.3 The merits assessment process, prior to the High Court decision, was a three step process:
- (1) primary decision,
  - (2) window wherein the client decides to and applies for a review, and
  - (3) review process.
- 6.4 The new (POD) process effectively collapses the three-step process into two integrated steps thus:
- (1) A Protection Obligations Evaluation allows for a Departmental officer to make an initial assessment of claims. Improved quality of primary decision making will be supported by greater scope for several meetings between clients and their migration agent to allow more time to prepare a substantial statement of claims. The Department will also now provide agents with more background information on clients and the country of origin information early in the process. The goal of these enhancements is ensure the initial statement of claims is more comprehensive and supports the Department's primary decision maker to reach a decision, and
  - (2) Where a positive primary decision cannot be reached, the case will be referred directly for review (the client no longer has to apply for a review). The client and their agent will be advised of the decision. This step, known as the Independent Protection Assessment, will be conducted by the Independent Merits Review. The reviewer will have the option of looking at the original statement of claims and make a decision on the basis of that information or opt to seek further information and/or interviews.
- 6.4 This new process commences on 1 March 2011 for new arrivals and those IMAs yet to commence their Refugee Status Assessment process. It only applies to offshore entry persons who arrive at an excised offshore location.

- 6.5 Mr Fleming expressed confidence in the new process but acknowledged it will have to be retested in the courts. He stressed that IMAs cannot access Ministerial Interventions.
- 6.6 Mr Fleming indicated that the new process will reduce time in detention and the associated costs of detention.
- 6.7 Mr Fleming outlined the range of quality assurance measures in place to monitor the primary decision-making process.
- 6.8 Mr Fleming updated the meeting on the Regional Protection Framework noting the upcoming Bali Process on 30 March 2011 at which it is hoped to have regional leaders sign up to a series of principles. Following that a number of bi-lateral and multi-lateral agreements will be struck. He indicated that counterparts in the region are so far not opposed to the concept of a regional framework and are very optimistic for developments in this area. The UNHCR is recognised as a positive voice and is revising its position to acknowledge that third-country processing is acceptable. Mr Fleming noted that engagement will be influenced by the countries' individual interests. He added that Australia may have to consider high numbers for resettlement.
- 6.9 In responding to questions on potential barriers to the process, Mr Fleming acknowledged that the region looked to Australia to bear much of the cost of the framework. Efforts toward cooperation and capacity-building are already being pursued and these have shown that there is a differential focus on aspects of people movement e.g. people smuggling, trafficking etc.
- 6.10 If a framework is initiated in Bali there may be prospects for progress within a year however if a centre were to be established in East Timor that will take longer. Mr Fleming noted that AusAID is working closely with the Department on this project.
- 6.11 Mr Fleming spoke of the dialogue being pursued with key organisations such as the International Organisation for Migrants (IOM) and with UNHCR. He also noted that his area is looking at how to inform and engage other bodies in the process, including CISSR. The Council expressed an interest in receiving regular updates on the framework's progress.

7 REVIEW OF DAY ONE

- 7.1 The Chair welcomed Ms Zoë Clarke and Ms Zdenka Zrno to Day 2 of the meeting.
- 7.2 Mr Aristotle gave an precis of the previous day's discussions which focused on possibilities for reshaping immigration and detention policies. Ms Larkin's presentation on trends and challenges was useful and informed these discussions.
- 7.3 Air Marshal Funnell stressed that the work-plan strategy needs to be progressed and presented to the Minister.
- 7.4 Mr Aristotle appreciated Mr Fleming's update on the High Court decision and the Regional Protection Framework. He noted that CISSR had asked to be kept informed on developments around the framework.
- 7.5 Mr Aristotle thanked staff for their presentations on IMA services which informed the subsequent discussions on service delivery reform. He reiterated discussions on the integrated service delivery framework and the importance of developing standards within that framework. The aim is to achieve an efficient calibration and structuring of existing resources to maximise their effectiveness in the overall goal of supporting status resolution.

8 DETENTION

- 8.1 Ms Jacka gave an overview on Detention matters indicating that there are currently 6234 people in immigration detention including 2620 on Christmas Island (CI). Less than expected boat arrivals have been experienced recently, most likely due to bad weather conditions.
- 8.2 Detainees continue to be relocated from CI to the mainland particularly to Inverbrackie. The selection of IMA clients for Inverbrackie is determined by a client's length of time in detention and the suitability of their existing accommodation, for example moving families out of the ASTI. People have also been moved from Leonora, the Virginia Palms, the BITA and Port Augusta.
- 8.3 House sharing has been employed to maximise available capacity at Inverbrackie. This has required careful consideration of groupings taking into account family compositions and gender appropriateness.
- 8.4 Some families are being temporarily located at Port Augusta where it gives them the experience of a more open environment thus preparing them for Inverbrackie. The Department continues to focus on moving minors and families into Community Detention (CD).
- 8.5 The Council highlighted that the use of the term 'single men' in relation to detainees in facilities for unaccompanied adult men is misleading. The majority of these clients are actually married and have children but have arrived alone leaving their families and hoping to be reunited at a later date.

It was agreed that a more accurate term would be “unaccompanied adult men”.

- 8.6 Ms Wilson advised that the Department is focusing on the shortage of accommodation for unaccompanied adult men in detention. Another facility with a maximum capacity for 1500 clients is needed in addition to that planned at Northam. The recommendations contained in Air Marshal Funnell's report to the Minister on Scherger have informed the Department's expansion strategy. The Department is also negotiating with the Department of Defence to get an extension on the use of the Scherger facility. Currently there is insufficient staff accommodation to realistically consider an expansion of this facility.
- 8.7 Ms Benson and Ms Lloyd expressed concern that a facility capacity of 1500 for unaccompanied adult men is alarmingly large. Large scale detention is mentally damaging and alternative options should be considered. Ms Lloyd suggested trialling the placement of vulnerable unaccompanied adult men in CD for example those who have suffered torture and trauma.
- 8.8 Ms Wilson indicated that the CD initiative would need to be developed further before the Department could consider placing unaccompanied men in the community, given the associated risks and security factors. The current parameters for the Residence Determination (RD) program do not allow for the placement of unaccompanied adult men into the community. Unaccompanied male minors are however identified as part of the vulnerable group for CD.
- 8.9 Mr Aristotle noted that although a politically sensitive issue the placement of unaccompanied adult males in the community is not potentially a pull factor. There needs to be an analysis of this cohort's mental health as a result of their detention at varying intervals throughout the RSA process. There may be a trend showing a decline in psychological well being over the RSA end-to-end process. Comparisons may be made using the historical data on the well being of unaccompanied adult males in detention during 2001 and 2002.
- 8.10 Associate Professor Minas queried the process relating to security risk advice for releasing people from detention and how this assessment method is scrutinised. Ms Wilson advised that the Department has an obligation to conduct, identity, health and security checks for all IMAs. The Department cooperates with the relevant External Agency (EA) for an interim security check for clients identified for release into CD. Government has not agreed to the use of CD for single adult men.
- 8.11 Ms Clarke added that these interim clearance measures consume EA resources which would otherwise be dedicated for providing a full security checks as are required for issuing a protection visa (PV).

- 8.12 Associate Professor Minas expressed concern regarding the security process employed by the EA. Ms Wilson confirmed that the Departmental Secretary, Mr Andrew Metcalfe is currently working closely with the Head of the relevant EA to develop risk profiling methodologies which would speed up the security checking process.
- 8.13 Mr Aristotle highlighted that Government usually assumes a risk based approach but the security risk default threshold applied for unaccompanied men leans more towards an assumption of extreme risk. This potentially hinders the accessibility of vulnerable clients to CD particularly those suffering torture and trauma. Also terms such as security assessments, checks and clearances are often used interchangeably and cause confusion. There needs to be clarification on these terms.
- 8.14 Ms Clarke emphasised that there is no political comfort in relaxing security checks or seeking a different mode of assessment at this stage. However, vulnerable men who are victims of torture and trauma could be considered for the CD program. Torture and trauma referrals for unaccompanied men are currently being delayed due to security checks. This is an area where the Department could focus its energies to expedite checks.
- 8.15 Mr Aristotle stated that this now implies a new policy position of interim security checking for this particular cohort in order to meet the intent of the CD program.
- 8.16 Ms Clarke emphasised that the intention of the CD program is to accommodate all vulnerable clients including adult unaccompanied men who have suffered torture and trauma. The government has to be firm about security requirements whilst at the same time find a way to better accommodate this cohort. Furthermore, the expansion of CD potentially frees up other more suitable accommodation such as in low security facilities thus providing alternative accommodation options for better meeting the needs of this cohort.
- 8.17 Professor Procter highlighted that current policy places an over-emphasis on risk and its various nuances and not enough on risk management.
- 8.18 Dr Rifi suggested convening a separate CISSR sub-group to focus on the various issues and factors associated with unaccompanied adult men in detention. This sub-group could examine possible options for addressing the issues and needs of this cohort and advise the Minister accordingly. The Council members strongly agreed with this recommendation.
- 8.19 Dr Rifi and Mr Aristotle indicated that rising tensions in remotely located facilities housing many unaccompanied men will result in frustration and violent incidents among detainees.
- 8.20 Ms Clarke indicated that the Minister would be open to innovative ideas and methods if they outweigh or overcome the risk factors.
- 8.21 Air Marshall Funnell reiterated that accommodating up to 1500 men in a single facility particularly in a remote location is not a sustainable arrangement. He stressed that a maximum capacity of 600 detainees in a single facility should be the limit.

- 8.22 Ms Wilson highlighted that current fiscal budgetary pressures limit the department's ability to install numerous small facilities. She indicated that a facility may perhaps be broken up into multiple smaller compounds within the same complex as an alternative approach.
- 8.23 Mr Aristotle indicated that the Council had previously compiled a paper for the former Minister, Chris Evans, on the subject of facilities and site planning. The paper considers costs associated with rectifying damage caused to facilities by protesting detainees. It highlights the concept of savings from preventative measures outweighing overall longer term costs. He indicated that this paper may shed new light on current thinking.

- 8.24 Ms Clarke reiterated the limitations of the fiscal budget and highlighted that perhaps more focus can be instead directed towards developing strategies for better management of larger scale facilities.
- 8.25 Associate Professor Minas requested Departmental information on costing models in order to assist CISSR in developing strategic advice in this area. This includes long term monetary costing of current arrangements and any models capturing longer term social and economic costs. Ms Coleman indicated that a colleague Mr Tony Ward is also interested in supporting CISSR to work on costing models for detention arrangements and the how this data informs a whole range of issues and decisions.
- 8.26 Ms Wilson indicated that there is no formal long-term costing analysis specific to health, security and legal costs of disturbances/incidents at facilities. There is however some studies and modelling conducted by Booz on the overall costs associated with detention facilities and CD.
- 8.27 Mr Aristotle and Ms Coleman highlighted that the costs of incidents, incident prevention, health costs and economic losses as a result of detention should be factored into any costing model to give a more accurate depiction.
- 8.28 Ms Jacka gave an overview on her paper 'subversive geraniums' which explores the concept of good order in immigration detention facilities and reflects the Department's viewpoint for maximising welfare of detainees and building self agency.
- 8.29 Associate Professor Minas stressed that self-agency is not built by the system but IMAs arrive with self-agency and it is important not to destroy this but to maintain and nurture it.
- 8.30 Ms Jacka mentioned the Ministerial Submission relating to pilot programs for building the skills of detainees and the respective trials being conducted at Curtin and Leonora facilities. These skills will potentially assist detainees to integrate when released into the community or to reintegrate if they are returned. The Minister is also amenable to the idea of detainees volunteering for the rebuilding Queensland effort and is optimistic about the positive community connection this affords detainees. The case management framework includes collecting information on clients' skills and interests at an early stage in the RSA process. These are examples of some of the initiatives in place or being considered for assisting unaccompanied adult men and also the Department's philosophical base.

- 8.31 Ms Jacka gave an overview on incident management. The Department employs a tripartite management approach with SERCO and Immigration Health Management Services (IHMS). SERCO is at the front of managing every incident. The Department will not engage until a protest comes to an end. Ms Jacka also stressed that the first principle in incident management is the safety of staff and clients.
- 8.32 Mr Aristotle commented that such an approach may not be effective for something like a hunger strike which lasts over an extended time. He stressed that flexibility needs to be a feature of any incident management plan.
- 8.33 Ms Wilson clarified that decisions relating to interventions are made at National Office. This is in order to achieve consistency with Departmental protocols and operating guidelines for incident management. There is scope within these principles to tailor appropriate responses. These decisions are reached collaboratively with the relevant key parties such as SERCO and IHMS. The underlying principle is about the Department's ability to control a situation. A command centre approach is used for the management and implementation of incident response measures.
- 8.34 Ms Benson queried the definition of an incident and the nature of the reporting parameters in this area.
- 8.35 Ms Wilson and Ms Jacka highlighted that the guidelines provide a clear definition of what is an incident; guidance on the various categories of incidents; and the appropriate response approaches. Ms Jacka referred to statistical information and graphs on reported incidents and discussed trends. Dr Rifi indicated that influential community members such as Imams should be a part of the incident response process. Ms Wilson confirmed that the involvement of such community leaders is part of the incident response strategy.
- 8.36 Ms Jacka indicated that on 28 February a meeting was planned between the Department, IHMS and SERCO and welcomed participation by a CISSR representative.
- 8.37 Ms Wilson advised that the surviving victims of the CI boat tragedy would soon be moved into CD. First they were returned to Christmas Island following the funerals to say goodbye to friends and to achieve some closure.
- 8.38 Mr Aristotle summarised that the issues surrounding IMA security checks and unaccompanied men in detention required CISSR focus and would be addressed through further consultations. Ms Coleman advised that it would be useful to also examine CD when addressing the latter issue.

9 SELF HARM INCIDENT REPORTING

- 9.1 Mr Aristotle advised that he was receiving feedback of increasing incidents of self harm and queried the availability of informative statistics which show details, frequencies and trends.
- 9.2 Ms Zrno advised that Detention Health and IHMS are monitoring self harm incidents. She indicated that the rate of self harm is commensurate with the increased rate of IMAs.
- 9.3 Ms Benson noted that the data indicates an overall 500 percent increase in self harm which outweighs the growth in the IMA population.
- 9.4 Ms Jacka advised that the data draws on incidents recorded by SERCO. The criteria they applied for recording an incident is not clear and any potential anomalies in their method may impact on the data.
- 9.5 Professor Procter highlighted that it is important to know what is being counted and to clearly define input parameters to achieve a consistent reporting method across the Department, SERCO, IHMS and all other parties. This needs to happen first in order to achieve any meaningful reporting. Self harm with the intent to die or to relieve stress should also be differentiated. Discussion ensued among CISSR members on potential self harm incidents which should also be reflected in any reporting.
- 9.6 Associate Professor Minas stressed that regardless of the current reporting approach the data provided still indicates an overall increase in the rate of self harm which is the critical issue.
- 9.7 Strong criticisms and reservations were made by Council members of the data. Ms Jacka advised that quality assurance of the reported data is needed and that she wishes to withdraw the current paper and provide more accurate data on this issue out-of-session.
- 9.8 Ms Larkins indicated that a Departmental project is needed. Agreement on reporting standards and parameters in order to achieve effective reporting methods and responses is necessary particularly given the number players and definitions of self-harm in use.
- 9.9 Mr Aristotle indicated that CISSR would like a representative on this project.

10 DETENTION FACILITIES

- 10.1 Air Marshal Funnell, Chair of the Detention Facilities Sub-group gave feedback on his recent visit to the Scherger facility. The Scherger facility comprises a population of 300 ethnic Hazaras. He advised that significant issues have been highlighted in the sub-group report on the visit and this report has been forwarded to the Minister.
- 10.2 Air Marshal Funnell noted that Scherger is well managed and its use as a detention facility should be extended. This recommendation was made in the report to the Minister and an announcement on this is imminent.
- 10.3 He indicated that greater emphasis should be placed on consulting with the local community where a detention facility is to be established. In Weipa this did not happen at the outset and resulted in initial resistance.
- 10.4 Ms Benson indicated that the cultural competence of staff could be further developed in relation to dealing with Hazaras. The opportunity to support staff to remain on longer deployments at remote facilities should also be considered as part of an innovative Human Resource strategy.
- 10.5 Ms Benson advised that a decision relating to the extension of the use of Scherger and any ensuing announcements should be managed carefully and communicated to the Community Consultative Group and the local community in advance of a broader public announcement.

11 RESIDENCE DETERMINATION PROJECT

- 11.1 Ms Pope provided an update on the progress of the Residence Determination project. A significant milestone has been achieved with 120 clients in CD. More than half of these are minors. The orphans and survivors of the CI tragedy are soon to be released into CD. Life Without Barriers (LWB) is working to accommodate these clients appropriately and is providing them with trauma and grief counselling. The EA has also completed the relevant security checks for this group.
- 11.2 Mr Aristotle suggested that LWB and possibly other service providers dealing with these clients should consult with Dr Rifi to draw on culturally appropriate community links.
- 11.3 Dr Rifi queried why a decision to release the survivors of the tragedy into CD was not taken much earlier.
- 11.4 Mr Aristotle advised that in light of the CI tragedy the Department should examine how it could better manage such situations and the associated complexities in the future. Appropriate advice should have been sought in responding to the CI tragedy. The sector, although not aware of all the complexities associated with this issue, is unhappy with the way this issue has been handled. He expressed serious concerns and felt more accurate and detailed information should be made available.

- 11.5 Ms Larkins indicated that the Department seeks professional advice in these circumstances and acts accordingly. She suggested that with hindsight there could have been more openness regarding such incidents and the decision taken.
- 11.6 Mr Aristotle highlighted that the way this situation was handled overshadowed the importance of allowing survivors to bury loved ones and have closure. Early consultation with CISSR and other stakeholders should have taken place and thus may have avoided such negative fallout.
- 11.7 Associate Professor Minas queried whether there has been an incident review of this situation and an examination of the decision-making process.
- 11.8 Ms Jacka highlighted that a whole-of-government approach was employed in response to the tragedy as the Department did not have sole ownership of the incident. The Australian Federal Police (AFP) had initial authority over the situation and at that point the survivors were not yet clients of the Department. The AFP made the funeral arrangements and had not given the Department sufficient notice of this to enable CD arrangements to be finalised before the funeral. There were also issues of guardianship to be considered.
- 11.9 Mr Aristotle advised that, despite all these elements, placing the clients in CD should not have been outside the Department's control. This indicates deficiencies in the stakeholder engagement process surrounding this tragic incident. Collateral damage may be an aspect for dealing with the consequences.
- 11.10 Ms Jacka indicated that in hindsight the Department may have benefited from better interagency co-ordination considering AFP had responsibility for care of the bodies.
- 11.11 Ms Kerrin Benson commented that the overall process took too long with the bodies being held for up to nine weeks before burial. She suggested the Department should focus on strategies for working more closely with coronial officers in response to such incidents. Dr Rifi also noted that the public was not prepared for the announcement that the funerals would be held in Sydney.
- 11.12 Ms Lynch-Magor advised that the coronial process was outside the Department's control and the identification of the bodies was a very protracted process. Involvement by the AFP and the coronial process in this event have however provided the Department with some lessons learnt and will inform a future strategy for handling situations involving multiple agencies.
- 11.13 Mr Aristotle queried the nature and source of the professional advice sought by the Department to inform the decisions taken. Mr Aristotle further queried whether stakeholder advice was also used to inform the Department's decision-making process.

- 11.14 Ms Jacka advised that the Department's approach was informed by recommendations in medical reports from IHMS and that of a child psychiatrist. She stressed that she did not want to attempt to summarise the report and suggested this matter would be best addressed during a separate session with Ms Wilson.
- 11.15 Ms Lynch-Magor gave an update on the progress of the MOU negotiations with States and Territories for services to support CD. Overall the Department is seeking a model which covers all services required in an overarching MOU with each state and territory.
- 11.16 The MOU with South Australia is near finalisation and covers services for education, health, hospital, ambulance, fire and other emergency services. This MOU is a good template for other jurisdictions and encompasses the provision of services to clients at all detention sites including Inverbrackie. The formula used for funding education is transferable to a larger cohort such as Woodside. The model is designed so that education services provided to CD clients do not impose a burden or disadvantage education services for Australian students.
- 11.17 There are currently interim arrangements for education at Leonora based on a model of funding per child. The Department is working with the Western Australia Premier and State Department of Education to extend this arrangement to CD. Securing a permanent agreement with Western Australia is more complex due to the issue of liability. However, the interim arrangements are working well.
- 11.18 The MOU with the Northern Territory for education services has been in place since last year and is being extended to cover secondary education of the 16-17 years-of-age cohort. The Northern Territory has been particularly positive and interested in providing education to the Department's clients.
- 11.19 Ms Lynch-Magor outlined efforts towards an MOU with Victoria for interim education service arrangement covering client cohorts in alternative places of detention and in CD. The relationship with the State Department of Education is very positive and there are signs the MOU will progress quickly.
- 11.20 An MOU has been in place with New South Wales for some time and the Department is working towards extending arrangements to cover client cohorts in CD.
- 11.21 There are no MOU arrangements in place for the Australian Capital Territory (ACT) or Tasmania. A CD program is planned for the ACT but it is envisaged that securing arrangements will be less complex than for other States.
- 11.22 Negotiation of an MOU with Queensland cannot be pursued at the moment given the State is struggling to recover from recent floods.
- 11.23 Mr Aristotle queried whether there is a notional timeframe for completion of the MOUs. Ms Lynch-Magor advised that there are certain complexities to be addressed for each state. As part of whole-of-government discussion, the Department wants to have not only a consistent approach for all states but also the flexibility to address any local complexities.

- 11.24 Mr Aristotle requested updates on progress. Ms Lynch-Magor also offered to provide data on the number of clients serviced under the current arrangements and the corresponding level of education provided. She stressed this information is not publicly available so as to protect the privacy of clients and the institutions.

Action	Issue	Responsibility
GM08/14	To update the Council on progress of State and Territory MOUs and provide other relevant information via the CISSR secretariat	Ms Fiona Lynch-Magor/ CISSR Secretariat

- 11.25 Ms Pope advised that the RD Expansion Project evaluation process has used a select tendering process accessed through an existing panel of providers. There were three responses to the request for tender which closed on 31 January 2011. PIREU is currently working through the negotiation and contract processes.
- 11.26 Ms Larkins sought clarification regarding which CISSR member should sit on the Steering Committee for the RD Expansion Project evaluation process. Professor Yasmeen, a member of the Research and Evaluation Sub-group, was nominated and agreed to represent CISSR.
- 11.27 Ms Pope outlined the complexities associated with the RD process whereby an accommodation address needs to be specified on the approval signed off by the Minister. The team are looking for legislative and policy changes to overcome this issue.
- 11.28 Housing from the private market and the churches sector is being sourced for CD accommodation. Defence Housing Australia has agreed to provide surplus properties. The Managing Director of Defence Housing has signed an MOU. It was noted that this is a contentious issue given the sensitivity surrounding homelessness and housing affordability.
- 11.29 Ms Pope highlighted the challenges experienced so far in configuring shared group accommodation for unaccompanied minors. There are many elements to be considered such as familial relationships, maturity, personality, social and mental health needs.
- 11.30 The next tranche of CD placements comprises families totalling 200 people. Critical cases are validated and prioritised for CD placement as they are assessed. The Department is working towards a target of 400 placements in CD by March 2011.
- 11.31 Mr Aristotle commended the progress and achievements to date in delivering the RD expansion project.

12 COMPLIANCE WITH MIGRATION LAW

- 12.1 Ms Larkins introduced Ms Val Braithwaite from the Australian National University who produced a paper for the Department on 'Compliance with Migration Law'. It assists in gaining a better understanding of compliance and status resolution through theoretical reasoning. Ms Braithwaite presented an overview of key elements and arguments from her paper and explained the concept of the regulatory pyramids.
- 12.2 Ms Larkins noted that Ms Braithwaite's research into regulatory pyramids highlighted how current immigration regulations and compliance arrangements can reduce confidence in and compliance with immigration processes. Ms Braithwaite indicated that social research found that immigration overstayers felt that there was very little deterrence or low-level sanctions in the form of prevention and warnings for non-compliance with immigration restrictions. However, the sanctions for overstaying were very heavy. This abrupt escalation reduces organisational and agency credibility and the effectiveness of the regulations. She emphasised that it is better to have more steps or layers in a regulatory pyramid, escalating the consequences of non-compliance slowly.
- 12.3 Mr Aristotle queried how to extrapolate this concept into the detention environment. Ms Braithwaite advised that this concept does have relevance but would need to be worked through with stakeholders to develop a regulatory pyramid that works; however, the underlying core principles would be consistent.
- 12.4 Ms Larkins indicated that for the IMA cohort, placement in a detention facility is the highest escalation response. This undermined the applicable strategies for eliciting compliance in a mandatory detention environment particularly in relation to returns.
- 12.5 Dr Rifi highlighted that, within the detention facility environment, destructive behaviour is punished but good behaviour is not rewarded. At the Villawood CCG, it was recommended to use excursions as a way of rewarding good behaviour.
- 12.6 Ms Benson noted that mental health deterioration is rewarded through CD or a visa indicating an inverse pyramid.
- 12.7 Ms Larkins advised that Ms Braithwaite's work is helping the Department to develop the right incentive structure within our policy setting for effectively eliciting compliance.

1 WELCOME AND INTRODUCTIONS

- 1.1 The Chair welcomed Members of the Council and DIAC staff. He acknowledged apologies from Dr Jamal Rifi.
- 1.2 The Chair highlighted a number of critical issues across the detention network and judged the network to be at crisis point. He suggested setting aside the agenda to discuss practical solutions and advice to assist the Minister to move forward in the current difficult climate.
- 1.3 The Chair provided the meeting with an overview of the recent Council visit to CI. Feedback from clients showed visa processing was a major issue, with some clients reporting they had waited 10-12 months without an RSA decision and others reporting 6-7 month waits without IMR hearings.
- 1.4 The Chair named increased rates of self-harm as indicative of the crisis within the detention system and a general deterioration of mental health. He viewed the remote and overcrowded conditions as having added to the situation, along with a lack of staff continuity as the system tried to cope with the rise in detention numbers. These factors have created a challenge in finding suitably trained staff to commit to long-term work in remote locations, at short notice.
- 1.5 The Chair observed that the risk in this mix is for further suicides and protests which are likely to spiral into more violent actions. These warnings have been previously given by CISSR, the Commonwealth Ombudsman and other key stakeholders. The Chair suggested these warnings need to be again flagged to the Minister and advice given on the appropriate level of response. The system, as he perceives it, is not sustainable and the consequences of continuing with the status quo will be negative for clients, staff, local communities surrounding centres and ultimately the Minister.
- 1.6 The Chair suggested setting aside the planned agenda to enable an open discussion and he welcomed contributions from departmental senior management. The Council unanimously agreed and offered Community Detention (CD) as key to the discussion and solutions, as its scaling up has proven to be, in hindsight, a sustainable alternative which should continue to be given a high priority.

2 DETENTION

- 2.1 Associate Professor Minas asked for the Department's view on the situation. Ms Jackie Wilson supported the general view of the Chair and reported observing a sense of pessimism setting in among clients who have been waiting a significant time for visa decisions. Ms Wilson added third-country settlement issues and security assessments as challenges contributing to the current climate.
- 2.2 Ms Wilson noted that high-level meetings with ASIO and the Department had taken place, leading to agreement that all 1A met clients will be triaged. She noted that 1028 clients are 1A met (as at 15 March) and that 79% of these have been cleared through the triage. Where there were no security triggers, it was agreed no further assessment was warranted. These clients currently form part of submissions going to the Minister for consideration of lifting the bar to facilitate moving into the community.

- 2.3 Air Marshal Funnell noted that these turnaround figures were recently provided to clients on CI but were not believed given the longer turnaround times they had witnessed.
- 2.4 Ms Wilson said the aim was for visa grants to occur 7 to 10 days after security checks were finalised. She expressed concern about the movements for Sri Lankans this month, noting they are well-behaved and patient yet the most reviewed and caught up in security assessments. She indicated the need for more progression of assessments across the board.
- 2.5 Professor Procter cautioned against viewing Tamils and Sri Lankans as "well-behaved" because they don't act out. He noted this group has a higher tendency to internalise trauma and are no less of an issue just because they aren't protesting.
- 2.6 The Chair agreed, pointing to a client who saw medical staff 72 times and was consequently labelled a trouble-maker by staff. They cautioned that behavioural labels of "good" and "bad" should not be used in the context of traumatised people. For many trauma survivors, their behaviour is "normal" given they are trying to cope with an abnormal situation.
- 2.7 In relation to recent riots on CI, the Chair noted the Australian Federal Police (AFP) were doing their best in chaotic circumstances and trying to identify and transfer the ringleaders. Yet it was clear to CISSR members on CI that the intelligence used for these decisions was not well supported.
- 2.8 Ms Lloyd agreed from her experiences in Curtin, where the ringleaders were not the ones at the frontline but were orchestrating protests and disaffection from the rear.
- 2.9 Ms Coleman suggested that the Council needs to look at strategies and structures for emergency responses given the present volatile environment.
- 2.10 The Chair agreed, noting that a principle starting point was defining who was a protester given that two-thirds of protesters moved in and out of the CI protest on the day and were not part of the core agitator group.
- 2.11 Dr Loughry suggested CISSR focus on the strategic picture given that an inquiry was already underway into the CI protests.
- 2.12 Mr Clement observed there were two issues at hand; how to respond to events and what can be done structurally to address pressure points underlying those issues. The Chair agreed with Dr Loughry's and Mr Clement's suggestions.
- 2.13 Associate Professor Minas agreed with a structural focus, noting it is futile to maintain old approaches and expect different outcomes in the future. He saw the triage approach to security assessments and shifting the onus of proof off the individuals as an appropriate and positive move. That said, he perceived changes around mental health were lagging and there were a number of initiatives that could be implemented immediately within the current legislative policy and operational framework. He maintained it is time to look at the issue differently because the politics will inevitably lead down a path where no stakeholders will "win".

- 2.14 Ms Wilson provided an overview of what she has been given approval to enact to hasten processing. The external security agency has been identified as a major contribution to the bottleneck in the detention system. Clients know once they are 1A met only the security assessment is outstanding. The Department is moving constructively on cases previously snarled in processing issues within the department.
- 2.15 Associate Professor Minas noted this was a serious issue requiring further investigation, as clients should only be held in detention for legitimate reasons and not simply because of delays in departmental processing or delays in completing Independent Merit Reviews (IMRs).
- 2.16 Air Marshal Funnell queried whether timelines could be enforced against IMR case officers. Ms Wilson acknowledged clients have been caught up in the system and a "please explain" has been instigated on cases where too much time has passed. This is a priority issue for the Department.
- 2.17 Air Marshal Funnell pointed out a discrepancy between a clear briefing on moving protesters off CI and the reality of Serco pointing out clients and moving them without the client's consent.
- 2.18 Ms Wilson said she was aware that clients who did not want to be moved should not be forced. She also noted that the relocations created a lag in processing given some 632 files and paperwork needs to be moved from CI to the mainland.
- 2.19 Ms Wilson gave an overview of the state of the CI facilities, which have now been handed back to Serco, with AFP remaining in an observer role. The Department has sent more experienced case managers to CI, those who are comfortable stepping into compounds where protests occurred. Ms Wilson voiced concern that clients were told services would return to normal after things calmed down yet this is still to occur due to ongoing security concerns for staff.
- 2.20 The Chair said there were ongoing issues around White Compound and that, two weeks after the protests, clients were still in isolation. Moreover, there remain 103 "persons of interest" in isolation without notification of what charges, if any will be laid and what processes are taking place. Mr Aristotle underlined communication was crucial to preventing rising anxiety and risk of further self-harming or suicide attempts. He maintained that a lack of information only exacerbates situations.
- 2.21 The Chair raised concerns that the Department was resisting external assistance and expertise in responding to this crisis. He questioned whether this was a corporate culture issue. He highlighted that solutions could not be found in isolation but rather in cooperation with experts.

- 2.22 Ms Wilson questioned whether the Chair was referring to the incident at Curtin, noting that Centre management was not trying to withhold information from Ms Lloyd during her visit. Rather, the situation was progressing rapidly making communication of up-to-the-minute information difficult. She maintained there was no cultural closing off in this case or more generally.
- 2.23 Ms Lloyd added that, along with experts, community leaders should be utilised in crisis situations given their significant and valuable influence among clients.
- 2.24 Ms Wilson agreed on the potential to tap into cultural leadership and that this should be done on a proactive basis rather than in reaction to incidents. She noted the Department is also working on linkages with other key outreach groups, such as the Suicide Advisory Council group and the Ombudsman. Ms Benson noted this point should be a priority and the Council agreed.
- 2.25 The Chair saw involvement of the Suicide Advisory Group as positive but noted they are most likely to repeat what CISSR has already advised. There are mental health experts among CISSR members who have already assessed the detention environment as not conducive to good mental health. If the Department waits to hear that advice again before acting, then another number of suicides could occur.
- 2.26 Ms Wilson replied that the Department won't wait for advice and is moving rapidly to get families and vulnerable people into Community Detention (CD).
- 2.27 Mr Clement stated the main focus should be getting clients out of the detention process altogether. Detention and CD both have drawbacks and the latter shouldn't be seen as a reason to slow down processing or giving clients lower priority.
- 2.28 The Chair noted removal after status resolution has proven to have a higher rate of acceptance from CD clients than those in detention centres.
- 2.29 Air Marshal Funnell noted previous minutes, advice and reports from CISSR provided warnings on the way issues would track if left unchanged. This was not heeded and this has contributed to the present situation.
- 2.30 Ms Wilson disputed this assertion and assured the Council that the Minister was broadly advised on key decisions and a number of options were provided for his consideration. The Government she added makes those choices when it is ready. Ms Wilson reminded the Council that the Department is on the same page regarding CD and there is a groundswell of internal support.
- 2.31 Dr Loughry suggested a task force be set up around transitional housing to develop advice for the Minister.

- 2.32 The Chair expressed concern that such advice or strategic engagement of community leaders will be ineffective unless cultural shifts occur and there is a move away from holding clients for such long periods of time. The Chair offered the Council's advice and thoughts around helping the Department deal with tough issues such as suicide.
- 2.33 Mr Clement noted it was important to engage the Minister, as he has the power to shift the focus of activities, less so the Department.
- 2.34 The Chair agreed but noted the Council needs to be aware of what advice the Department is giving the Minister on the same issues so as to have policy context. He stressed the need to have the right people advising the Minister and providing tangible advice, not just a discussion.

3 DISCUSSIONS WITH SERCO

- 3.1 The Chair welcomed Mr Manning, Mr Hassall and Ms Thompson, inviting them to engage in an open discussion of risks, opportunities and challenges they face in managing the detention network and ideas on how to address them.
- 3.2 Mr Hassall provided a briefing to the Council, noting the increase in client population, difficulties in forward planning given the unknown numbers of arrivals and the challenge of staffing remote new sites. Mr Hassall said Serco is working closely with the Department on client number projections, length of stay, client needs and developing meaningful activities. He saw a challenge between the large number of quite inexperienced new staff working with clients who have complex needs.
- 3.3 Mr Hassall spoke on the development of a daily intelligence assessment to identify at-risk clients based on length of stay, levels of engagement, stresses, general well-being etc. A tool to map this data is being developed and will soon be presented to the Department.
- 3.4 Mr Hassall said this information is collated daily at the centres and he used the example of Curtin to illustrate how this information is used, i.e. extra staff deployed to mitigate risks through more visibility and engagement with clients.
- 3.5 The Chair noted that the tool is only as good as the people on the ground using it. He referred to CI where the high rotation of staff meant intelligence gathering and application was fraught and difficult.
- 3.6 Mr Hassall outlined a shift in Serco recruitment from fly-in/fly-out staffing to more aggressively marketing to local labour markets and encouraging longer stays. The aim is to reach a ratio of around 50% long term deployments to short term fly in/fly out staffing.
- 3.7 Associate Professor Minas expressed concern that greater local community engagement could create downstream tensions when centres eventually closed.

- 3.8 Mr Hassall countered that Serco trains local people in skills that make them more attractive in the general labour market. He noted in Scherger 15-20 indigenous locals were being trained at the local TAFE and were excited that they had the opportunity to travel to work in other regional centres in the detention network.
- 3.9 Ms Wilson also pointed out there is a commitment to local communities to consult closely on any decisions to scale down operations and it was the Department's intention to reduce any services gradually.
- 3.10 Ms Thompson spoke on the development of meaningful activities and fostering engagement at both the individual and client community level. The focus is on shift from dependency and hopelessness to self-sufficiency and meaningful skills that will be useful regardless of visa outcome.
- 3.11 Mr Hassall noted that research suggests women in detention settings cope better in smaller groups and men are better in larger groups. From his perspective, the optimal number for centres is around 400.
- 3.12 The Chair noted many pressures outside the control of Serco, such as numbers and staffing issues, and asked whether there is a breaking point where services can no longer be delivered in line with Serco's client service standards.
- 3.13 Mr Manning noted that Serco is looking to address pressures by getting a local recruitment agency on board and leveraging management capabilities from the UK. He is confident that capacity has not yet been reached but cautioned Serco would be in a difficult space if crises became systemic across the network.
- 3.14 Air Marshal Funnell expressed confidence in Serco but said he was concerned about the up-scaling capabilities of other service providers, such as MSS.
- 3.15 The Chair noted that the focus on moving protesters from CI implied the problem was with the clients rather than the system. He doesn't see relief in the system without greater access to CD.
- 3.16 Associate Professor Minas asserted remote locations, overcrowding and difficulties finding staff positioned Serco at inherent odds with its own values.
- 3.17 Mr Manning acknowledged the challenges and, while Serco views itself as a can-do organisation, it is attuned to risk. The challenge between the operating environment and Serco's service charter has been raised with the Department, at times leading to Serco declining requests. That said, Serco stands alongside the Department in facing the rise in client self-harm and suicide. The organisation maintained it delivers on its commitments.
- 3.18 Ms Lloyd suggested democracy has been overlooked in centres and should be reinstated given that many clients will be released into a democratic community.

- 3.19 Mr Manning acknowledged the need for freedom but said it was difficult to balance this against the need for structure and discipline for well-being, particularly given current overcrowding.
- 3.20 The Council discussed logistical aspects of the CI protests. Ms Wilson noted a formal debriefing was yet to occur and these were preliminary views. The Chair suggested the Council members who were present on CI could provide input.

GM9/01	Findings from the formal inquiry into the CI protests are to be distributed to Council members upon completion. Mr Aristotle, Professor Procter and Air Marshal Funnell will contribute to the inquiry.	Ms Jackie Wilson

- 4.1 Ms Lynch-Magor began by underscoring the Department's agreement with the Council over the seriousness of self-harm and suicide within the detention system. The Department acknowledged the need for a strong and positive response focused on prevention, developed in conjunction with external strategic advice. Ms Lynch-Magor cited Curtin, noting the challenge of identifying client needs given the internalising aspects of self-harm and suicide.
- 4.2 Dr Loughry referred to hand-downs given on a traditional Hazara feast day as indicative of a lack of cultural sensitivity around significant news and timing. Dr Loughry asserted this exacerbates the negative reaction of clients and suggested a working party be formed to look into cultural competency issues.
- 4.3 Professor Procter noted that there should be an emphasis on engagement and greater sense of trust and purpose between clients and case managers. He asserted there also needs to be an automatic re-screening of clients when visa status changes occur.
- 4.4 Dr Loughry noted that collective depression can occur in a communal setting and, as such, active engagement in meaningful activities is paramount. She said religion also needs to be part of the narrative used with clients. It was suggested religious leaders be used to address groups collectively and frame the visa process and decisions in a religious context to enable clients to better understand their situation. Dr Loughry also raised concern at the use of Australian research to inform perspectives on issues like suicide, as this may miss the cultural significances when determining how to address this issue.
- 4.5 The Chair agreed with Dr Loughry on the importance of understanding and acting within a cultural and religious framework. The answers are not in religion but religion can be the gateway to acceptance and understanding of a situation. He also agreed that the response to self-harm and suicide needs to be system-wide and culturally sensitive. The message needs to be given that, when vulnerable cases are identified and escalated, those clients need to be removed quickly from detention.

- 4.6 Professor Yasmeen noted that, religiously speaking, suicide is a confronting and sensitive topic. It cannot be spoken about with believers in a clinical way. She confirmed it needs to be framed within their religion and cultural outlook.
- 4.7 Ms Lynch-Magor sought advice from CISSR on how to practically implement cultural considerations. Dr Loughry responded that religion and mental health should be placed in the same servicing sphere. Religious liaison officers and mental health providers needed to collectively workshop strategies.
- 4.8 Associate Professor Minas was alarmed by the low level of cultural understanding demonstrated by managers in the Department and noted that, in this context, the kind of communication, heavy scripting and cultural unawareness witnessed on the ground was unsurprising.
- 4.9 Dr Loughry agreed, noting that scripting doesn't guarantee the most appropriate hand downs and cited Hazara feast day example again.
- 4.10 Ms Lynch-Magor appreciated the Council's concerns around scripting but saw it as necessary to conveying consistent messaging and understanding for clients of their situation.
- 4.11 Dr Loughry suggested using interpreters to gauge centre mood.
- 4.12 The Chair perceived self-harm and suicide was viewed from a clinical psychology perspective without consideration of underlying systemic issues, like high turnover of case managers, infrequency of engagement with lawyers, and the need for systemic line-up between lawyers, IMR reviewers and RSA to create a better overview for clients of the process. He asserted there needs to be more strategic use of lawyers to ensure all required information for IMRs is obtained and clients understand the legal risks that protesting may have for their character assessments. There needs to be greater interlinking so information is better relayed and levels of client uncertainty reduced.
- 4.13 Air Marshal Funnell asked whether lessons were learnt from recent incidents and queried whether the Minister, his office, senior DIAC staff, Serco, onsite staff etc. would know procedurally what to do if a suicide occurred today.
- 4.14 Ms Lynch-Magor confirmed that in DIAC National Office there was a legal understanding of how to deal with a suicide and good clarity of roles. She acknowledged a need to better share information with the local police and coroner. The Department is aware of the cultural need to bury bodies promptly but it acknowledged that needs to reach out and inform the Coroner about these considerations and the need to move quickly.
- 4.15 Ms Benson raised her visit to Scherger, where she didn't perceive a clear sense that local staff understood what to do or how to respond in a religiously appropriate way. She was left with the impression of chaos and lack of leadership at the centre. The reality was in fact the opposite to what Ms Lynch-Magor described.

- 4.16 The Chair agreed that, in this instance, there was a lack of coordinated response despite Ministerial and senior management involvement. This reflects a broader tendency towards highly reactive responses with no clear strategy. Council members maintain that lessons should be more actively harnessed from these incidents and carried forward into enhanced policies and procedures.
- 4.17 Dr Loughry agreed, noting that cultural support and contact with family in the country of origin needs to happen in a more timely way. Ms Lynch-Magor countered that the Curtin case was complex since the man had an unclear relationship with his uncle. The Department was trying to contact family through consular channels. Dr Loughry pointed out the community leaders were able to contact the man's uncle within a day and this example reinforces the need to involve community groups.
- 4.18 Associate Professor Minas raised his concern that the Council had moved into planning better cultural responses to future suicides rather than focusing on prevention. He did not find the discussion acceptable and called for CISSR to look at systemic and preventative change rather than focusing on developing a response.
- 4.19 The Chair agreed but noted focus of the meeting thus far had been on systemic change and there was a need to also look into changing responses by the system. He expected a Royal Commission will be instigated if suicides continue and the Department cannot prevent suicide in the current context. These facts needed to be accepted in order to tackle the issues effectively.
- 4.20 Mr Clement agreed, noting the discussion should be around fixing the system rather than trying to make the current system work.
- 4.21 The Chair moved to close the agenda, summarising for Ms Lynch-Magor the need for a shift in policy outlook within the Department. He also noted there is a serious need to look at how lawyers and interpreters are engaged in a reaction to incidents and how this can form part of the preventative strategy. Moreover, the quality of migration advice and legal representation really needs to be reviewed within the context of this issue.
- 4.22 Professor Yasmeen added cultural sensitivity and awareness are equally important and offered to work with Ms Lynch-Magor on this point.
- 4.23 Air Marshal Funnell noted that AFP had informed him they would have difficulty responding if protests occur in Centres with more than 800 clients.
- 4.24 Ms Benson asked whether Ms Lynch-Magor could answer her queries sent via email on 31 March 2011 relating to suicide prevention and post-suicide procedures and practices. Ms Lynch-Magor apologised that she did not have the email on hand and would undertake to respond to Ms Benson's questions out-of-session.

5 POLICY, INNOVATION, RESEARCH AND EVALUATION UNIT (PIREU)

- 5.1 Ms Davis gave an overview of a report produced last year on the ways the Department interacts with all minors, not just those in detention, in order to identify the risks and vulnerabilities. Ms Davis sought advice from CISSR on the development of policy around Department's work with children. PIREU is seeking to develop a policy base and one-point source for information to guide interactions with children both in CD and as non-humanitarian clients. The policy also seeks to link into the broader Commonwealth Framework for Working with Children.
- 5.2 Mr Clement suggested the term be Children and Youth, as this would encompass unaccompanied minors. He noted this terminology is widely used.
- 5.3 Ms Coleman asked why there is no reference in the report to accompanied community-based children who are part of families with no access to income support. Ms Coleman offered to provide a paper on this group. Mr Clement noted the states and territories may have a responsibility to protect these children even if their parents are non-citizens.
- 5.4 Ms Davis noted that research on enforced removals was being finalised. This work is looking at the experience from the clients' perspectives and that of case managers and third-parties. There is an accompanying benchmarking study and literature review to see how Australia's performance measures up internationally. Ms Davis offered to share this research with CISSR of a final draft on completion. She also noted it would be made available on the DIAC website.
- 5.5 Ms Davis also noted that PIREU had scoped a similar study of detainees with the aim of determining an optimal system of support for clients. This qualitative study will also assist the Government to achieve its status outcomes, whether settlement or removal. The Department will go to select tender on this study in the next few weeks and Ms Davis welcomed any suggestions on who to include on the tender list.

- 5.6 Mr Clement cautioned that any qualitative study needs to be mindful that clients may give positive responses rather than share their true perceptions if they think it might favour their visa outcome.
- 5.7 The Chair and Associate Professor Minas asked how much funding was allocated to detention research. Ms Davis responded $400,000, including for CD. The Council questioned why, in an $8 billion detention strategy, so little funding was afforded to research and analysis. Associate Professor Minas asserted there is a general unwillingness to enquire into detention within the immigration sphere. He maintained it would be unthinkable to have so little research for an analogous program size in other portfolios. He suggested the Department would need to spend 0.5% of its total budget on research to demonstrate sound commitment to seeking out evidence-based solutions.
- 5.8 The Chair agreed there should be greater capacity to draw on properly funded research. He noted his last meeting with Mr Metcalfe, where research and evaluation were noted as vital if the Department is going to deal seriously and appropriately with detention. If people are genuinely concerned about client well-being, then those who argue about fiscal restraint should be considering fiscal responsibility and looking at the financial impact of not acting. A more substantial research program is vital for detention and a point of responsibility for policy makers.
- 5.9 Professor Procter agreed, noting it is not only a responsibility to act out of informed research, it is negligent not to do so. He added it would be negligent of the Council to not point this out, as it is an issue of duty of care.
- 5.10 Ms Davis noted longitudinal humanitarian program research is scheduled for next year, which is critical given existing data sets are around 10 years old. This variable should be reflected in the research given that the average length of detention is now around 16 months and could impact on settlement outcomes once released.
- 5.11 Air Marshal Funnell further suggested a research focus on the rise and fall of inflows of IMAs into Australia. An objective look at why these movements occur is needed to inform public debate.
- 5.12 Dr Loughry questioned whether qualitative data existed on whether mixing client communities in detention was having a negative or positive impact. She also asked whether mental health is tracked over time in detention. Ms Davis responded that these were program-orientated issues and the responsibility of the program owners in the Department. She qualified her comment by noting that, if CISSR identifies issues that should be on the departmental work agenda, PIREU is willing to consider including them.
- 5.13 Dr Loughry raised concern that CISSR can offer its opinions and advice but again there is a risk of this also being negligent given the lack of evidence-based research to draw on.

6 PREPARATIONS FOR MEETING WITH THE MINISTER

- 6.1 The Chair summarised the agreed points of the morning's session, namely that the Council believes self-harm and suicide will continue if intervention at the policy level does not occur. He saw the issue as a question of how existing policy and legislation can be utilised to create flexibility for the department and relieve pressure on the system.
- 6.2 The Council discussed the dinner meeting with the Minister and the key messages to be conveyed. There was agreement that the Council must find ways to support the Minister and create space for him to move within the political climate and existing system. The points agreed for discussion were: cultural competence; linked up, wrap-around services; the need for further research funding; upstream intervention in Indonesia; and space in the existing legal framework and policies to take pressure off the system.
- 6.3 The Chair also noted the need to emphasise that the detention system is in crisis but there are ways to improve this without legislative or policy change. Existing architecture could be used to address groups, including 1A met, UNCHR mandated refugees, stateless, youth (under 25) and other vulnerable groups. Mr Clement agreed, noting the group "unaccompanied males" is too big and there is a need to focus on smaller subgroups. He asserted the Council needs to look at how to support the Minister to think about detention differently and generate ideas with rigour and backing, such as using nursing homes and hostels, to reduce the population from 7000 to 2000. The CD Pilot has shown the shift is possible.
- 6.4 The Chair asserted the need to place people in the community while being processed rather than in remote locations. Ms Coleman countered that there are constraints on further expanding CD, particularly when it starts to compete with the needs of other vulnerable groups in the community like the homeless. New infrastructure is needed.
- 6.5 Dr Loughry noted that CD also improves the likelihood of removing failed asylum seekers and lessens the likelihood of suicide. Professor Yasmeen noted voluntary and involuntary returns are needed to send a deterrent message to those considering irregular journey to Australia.

- 6.6 The Chair warned that the political debate will reach a critical point and a Royal Commission sparked if suicides continue to occur, similar to that for Indigenous deaths in custody. Dr Loughry added that protests and riots posed a similar threat, particularly given that local police in these remote areas are not adequately equipped to respond.
- 6.7 The Chair noted that change can only occur with departmental engagement. He raised concern over his perception of a very deep culture of disengagement within areas of the Department. The Council agreed, with some members voicing frustration over the same issues still being on the table as were five years ago. Little movement and a tendency of areas of the Department towards operating from crisis-mode rather than forward planning has been observed.
- 6.8 The Chair summed up the discussion by pointing out that, ultimately, it is for the Department to take the lead in the workspace opened up through CISSR's discussions with the Minister. For this to occur, a substantial shift in the organisation's attitude to detention is needed.

7 REVIEW OF DINNER WITH THE MINISTER

- 7.1 The Chair provided an overview of the previous night's dinner discussions, noting the Minister's strong views on meaningful activities for detention clients and a request for CISSR to work on this task. The Chair noted this work should be pursued in conjunction with Serco, as they are responsible for activities.
- 7.2 The Chair noted that CISSR conveyed the risk to life is extremely high in the current system and active risk-mitigation measures are needed. These measures don't necessarily mean legislative change or shutting down detention centres. Rather, it was conveyed to the Minister that the existing legislative and policy architecture provides options for use with a wider set of client cohorts.
- 7.3 The Chair noted CISSR had advised the Minister at dinner that it made more sense to design a structured step-down process into CD. CISSR outlined the vulnerable groups which could be included in a step-down model, namely UNHCR mandated refugees, 1A met, stateless, youth (under 25) and torture and trauma survivors. While the Minister did not agree with all the groups identified and restated his immediate focus on children, he was open to further advice in this regard.
- 7.4 The Council acknowledged the political considerations the Minister faces but expressed concern that the current escalations in detention centres will eventually overrun these considerations. The Minister was advised by CISSR that more focus is needed on pursuing returns and removals from the CD context given this is likely to be more successful than from detention. The Minister was receptive and again invited some written advice.

- 7.5 The Council agreed a step-down process into CD would take pressure off the detention centre network although it should still be considered a processing pathway. CD should not be seen as somewhere to “park” people.
- 7.6 Dr Loughry indicated that she had spoken to the Minister about working with non-government organisations (NGOs) in Indonesia to reduce the flow of at-risk people to people smugglers. The Minister was receptive and requested a paper about building civil society initiatives in Indonesia for NGOs working with asylum seekers. Aid coordination issues (eg with DFAT and AusAID) would also be relevant.
- 7.7 The Chair noted that the Minister was also very interested in their suggestions on building capacity among community leaders to more actively engage with detention populations, in line with the model used by Ms Lloyd in her visit to Curtin. The Minister indicated these ties should be established as part of business as usual and not just called upon in times of crisis.
- 7.8 The Chair noted there could be difficulties in identifying community leaders and determining a model of accompaniment to ensure that CISSR and community leaders work together towards agreed objectives. The concept requires immediate consideration by CISSR as part of a strategy to maintain, manage and support clients transitioning through a step-down process.
- 7.9 The Chair noted that CISSR raised with the Minister the need to undertake research and evaluation as part of modeling any future centres. While the Minister was appreciative of the sentiment, he was mindful of the fast-moving operating environment. The Minister requested CISSR input into centre design and data gathering in parallel with future developments.
- 7.10 The Chair noted that CISSR raised with the Minister the need for research, evaluation, monitoring and quality assurance to justify the level of expenditure on detention. The Minister said he will undertake to talk to the Secretary about the level of funding for such activities.
- 7.11 Professor Yasmeeen gave an overview of her discussion with the Minister about cultural sensitivity and building cultural capacity. She undertook to prepare a brief paper outlining her ideas.
- 7.12 The Chair noted CISSR raised its limited capacity to work on all these points without additional departmental resourcing to assist in coordinating and moving projects along. The Minister was supportive of meeting this need.
- 7.13 Air Marshal Funnell stressed that immediate feedback needs to be given to detention clients about what progress has been made on the issues which triggered off the CI protest. He stressed this is not an action item, it needs to happen now and cannot wait. The Chair agreed, noting that confidence in the Department is diminishing among clients. Ms Southern indicated this would be taken on at a departmental level.
- 7.14 The Chair summed up the dinner as productive and felt that the current situation had been conveyed clearly to the Minister. They had stressed that detention system cannot get to a point where suicides or self-harm are an in-built assumption.

8 IMA POLICY

- 8.1 Mr Fleming gave an overview of the Regional Cooperation Framework (RCF) and noted that sign up to RCF by other countries was a significant development out of the Bali Process. Mr Fleming noted that, while the RCF is a non-binding statement of principle, it does give countries cover to improve humanitarian assistance and develop bilateral measures.
- 8.2 In response to a question from Associate Professor Minas, Mr Fleming acknowledged the Department needs to engage with AusAID on how general aid programs can be used to work on humanitarian issues in the region. Mr Clement said AusAID involvement was key since local NGOs in Indonesia have an emphasis on assisting the local poor rather than foreign nationals.

- 8.3 Mr Fleming said the Co-Chair's Statement from the Bali Process envisages a regional centre/s and transfer agreements as the most effective pathways for managing asylum seekers. The idea is to manage the pull-factors to wrest control back from the people smugglers.
- 8.4 Mr Fleming also noted a perceived trend towards countries wanting to be seen as complying or being consistent with the Refugees Convention even if not signatories.
- 8.5 Mr Fleming saw a re-admission and transfer arrangements as the biggest influence on the flow to Australia but noted that this needs to be tempered by a build-up of refugee status determination capabilities within the region.
- 8.6 Dr Loughry observed it was culturally inappropriate for NGOs to go into countries and criticise policy without engaging to work together on solutions. Associate Professor Minas and Professor Yasmeen both suggested utilising academic connections, particularly within Indonesian universities, to assist in developing a regional solution.
- 8.7 Mr Allen noted there were 860 Refugee Status Assessments (RSA) finalisations and 29 Protection Obligations Determination (POD) finalisations at the primary stage last month. Mr Fleming said the overturn rate, which used to be close to 100%, is anticipated to decrease now that the primary recognition rate is rising. At the moment there is 40% primary recognition rate. He added that, while there are disparate reviewers, a senior reviewer undertakes quality control. Mr Fleming undertook to provide CISSR members with a copy of the revised Afghan guidance note when available.
- 8.8 Air Marshal Funnell raised feedback from clients on CI about their belief that outcome depends on the assessor at the primary stage. He observed such a baseless contention circulates easily in detention centres. Mr Fleming responded that the Department is committed to quality control.

9 RETURNS

- 9.1 Ms Gillam gave an overview of removals, with the Department to date having concluding around 24 voluntary removals. She noted there is an increase in Iranians looking to go home, particularly on CI after the protests. This group is motivated mainly by circumstances at home but also because many didn't anticipate spending so long in detention.
- 9.2 Ms Benson raised the option of offering return for those at risk of self-harm and suicide.
- 9.3 Ms Gillam noted 43 clients currently in the involuntary caseload. These clients have completed their Independent Merits Review (IMR) and the Department is currently looking to clarify if any other potential protection obligations apply whilst at the same time arranging travel documents.
- 9.4 Mr Fleming advised the Afghan Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) is signed and awaiting domestic ratification. He noted Australia is working closely and carefully in conjunction with the Department of Foreign Affairs (DFAT) to facilitate some involuntary removals. The focus is on building capacity to achieve involuntary removals. They are also working to encourage clients to understand that voluntary removal is a better option given they receive reintegration packages. Involuntary removals receive much less support.

- 9.5 Dr Loughry raised a petition by the Edmund Rice Centre, which has so far been signed by 69 agencies affiliated with asylum seekers. She asserted it is difficult to work with civil society without context about how the MOU works and suggested an information road show for NGOs working with refugees. It may be appropriate for CISSR members to participate. The focus should be on providing alternative information rather than arguing directly against points put forward by advocates.
- 9.6 Ms Benson agreed and suggested having an informed discussion with Hazara organisations, The Australian Refugee Council and the Edmund Rice Centre. She saw this engagement as important given these will be key stakeholders in CD. Ms Benson added that the Department should consider appointing a relationships officer for community messaging around controversial projects.
- 9.7 Mr Illingworth noted the Department is looking to complete the CAS and ASAS tender processes by end of year. He added the Department is looking to create a unified framework of services. He perceived a commonality of services for those in a detention environment and those in the community. He added that demand for these services will increase if the Council's vision of greater use of CD comes to fruition. Mr Illingworth pointed to political sensitivities around service provision. While those not yet accepted as refugees, particularly those in CD and those in the settlement sphere, have similar needs, they remain separate cohorts.
- 9.8 Ms Benson countered there are risks in CD not mirroring settlement standards, particularly around housing and responsibilities. The Chair agreed, noting that CD has knock-on benefits if clients transition into settlement. Mr Illingworth noted the Department needed to view settlement services in a holistic fashion.
- 9.9 The Chair called for further discussion at a later date on better coordinating services and expanding the CAS and ASAS services. He observed Red Cross provides many things in their ASAS program that are not included in the contract. These things shouldn't be lost in the integration of services. Mr Clement added that, from an operational viewpoint, there are many similarities between ASAS and CAS so services could be streamlined for the client without merging the policy that sits behind it.
- 9.10 Mr Clements voiced concern about the drop in referrals in the CAS program and also he perceived a tightening up around ASAS, especially around using visa status as a means to exclude someone from ASAS. In March 2011, refusal rates went up to 64%, which has created pressure on other agencies that have picked up people who normally would have gone through ASAS. This may be a transition point but he is unsure. Mr Wann said the Department will examine this trend and report back to the Council.

- 9.11 Mr Clements also suggested consistency be created in post-decision review support access and suggested name changes for the services that reference the concept of "resolution".
- 9.12 Mr Fleming noted IAAAS contracts expire 30 June 2011 and the Department is trying to make new contracts highly flexible since midstream changes cannot occur. Ms Boardman added that new contracts will have more scope for performance management around the quality of claims prepared. There will also be greater consultation between the providers and the Department to share/exchange information on the process.
- 9.13 The Chair raised concern over the quality of interpreting, with hearsay indicating some interpreters do not have skills in some dialects or languages but they are not admitting it. Associate Professor Minas added it is also an issue with health professionals needing training on how to work effectively with interpreters.
- 9.14 Ms Boardman agreed their stakeholders, including interpreters, need to come together to clarify expectations and explore cultural awareness/competency. Ms Coleman said this would have relevance and should also be applied to CD.
- 9.15 The Chair observed client access to legal advice and agents on CI has been complicated by the protests. He suggested key points be identified at which agents should be communicating with clients to advise and reassure them. He also noted during the protest clients were denied access to their agents and legal advisers, which he thought to be illegal. Agents, he maintained could have been effectively utilised to keep communication open so clients were informed and their anxiety minimised.

10 RESIDENCE DETERMINATION

- 10.1 Ms Pope gave an overview of progress, noting the Minister has approved 549 moves into CD including 282 children and 75 unaccompanied minors (UAMs). As of 5 April, 360 clients were in CD including 167 children. There have been 35 visa grants since the project began.
- 10.2 Ms Pope stated the project goal is at least 50% of children (600) and 200 UAMs in CD as of 30 June 2011. She believes this target is achievable by the end of May. Ms Pope said the Department is also looking into home-stay options, including engaging Afghan families in the community. These families will be trained and briefed as home-stay parents. Two pilots will be undertaken in Western Sydney and Dandenong.
- 10.3 Ms Clarke noted the difficulty in managing client expectations and the need to work with case managers to stress family and friendship ties will be considered in locating CD placements but personal preferences are not a priority.
- 10.4 Dr Loughry observed that minors are struggling with the compliance issues in CD since the lifestyle differs to that in detention. These issues relate to life skills like self catering, curfews and attending school.
- 10.5 Ms Pope gave an overview of communal properties coming on line and noted issues with setting up in West Australia given the state government won't currently allow school enrolments, only a few houses have been identified and there is a preference for a MOU to be signed first.
- 10.6 The Council congratulated Ms Pope on progress so far, noting the Minister's own personal commitment to the pilot. There was suggestion of engaging a filmmaker to document the transition of children in CD in order to engage public sentiment on the issue. Ms Pope appreciated the idea but perceived it was too early to be looking at promotional work. Ms Pope agreed that keeping a record of interesting CD cases might be good preparation for when publicity is appropriate.
- 10.7 Dr Loughry suggested keeping a list of properties deemed unsuitable for current clients, as these may be useful for future broadening of CD to other client cohorts.
- 10.8 There was general discussion on numbers of children in one accommodation, with Mr Clement cautioning anything above 12 people is thought to engage statutory authorities and be potentially more risky. Dr Loughry noted the knowledge of live-in carers engaged through Uniting Care and Life Without Borders could be useful to draw on in developing CD for youth cohorts. Ms Clarke advised that the next cohort to focus on would be torture and trauma survivors rather than youth.
- 10.9 Ms Pope gave an overview of the treatment of minor crew. The Department has met with the AFP who have asked if DIAC could interview the 60 minors held on behalf of AFP pending prosecution to supplement wrist x-rays. This cohort has different outcomes to the asylum caseload and ways of processing are needed for those not charged. Ms Pope added there may need to be reviews of convictions for disputed age cases, with the Australian Human Rights Commission closely engaged.

- 10.10 Ms Pope advised that the Minister has agreed to a departmental submission on appointing a designated independent guardian to manage guardianship of children. This will reduce risk to Minister and allow delegations to states to be withdrawn. The Department is consulting with NSW Children's Commissioner to design the role.
- 10.11 Ms Clarke added the next move is to clarify the roles of custodian and guardian with very clear instructions that enable the guardian to guide the role of the custodian.
- 10.12 Ms Boardman shared with CISSR the Minister's announcement about a new detention centre in Tasmania. The Chair stated CISSR is to prepare advice to the Minister on how to improve the detention model, include more community engagement principles in the set up of new centres and build in evaluation and development processes from inception. CISSR has committed to support the Minister on this, with the Deputy Chair volunteering to Chair the Community Consultative Group at Pontville.

11 COMMONWEALTH OMBUDSMAN

- 11.1 Mr Asher, Commonwealth Ombudsman identified immigration as a key priority for the Ombudsman's Office given it is a growing and reactive area of government. The Office is assessing the causes of processing delays, including security assessments. It's also focused on identifying ways to give people a more normal lifestyle. Mr Asher maintains this is particularly critical for UAMs, people with mental illness and those deemed at risk of mental health deterioration.
- 11.2 Mr Asher noted the Office regularly visits and observes activities in detention centres, also speaking with clients and representative groups at the centres. He viewed the Office's role as drawing the Department's attention to where policy implementation doesn't track with overarching Government commitments.
- 11.3 Mr Asher noted the Office is finalising terms of reference for its own investigation into the CI protests. These investigations will be separate to the independent review instigated by the Department and, in contrast, will have broader jurisdiction to obtain documents from all involved parties. The Ombudsman's investigation is 'own-motion' and will focus on investigating the gaps rather than duplicating the work of the independent review.

- 11.4 Mr Asher argued the need for evolution of a longer-term and sustainable detention policy in line with the projected growth in IMA numbers to 10,000 by the end of the year.
- 11.5 Mr Asher noted the Department has responded to all six recommendations of one of the Ombudsman's reports on CI detention operations and the focus now is on ensuring implementation of those responses occurs. The main work the Ombudsman's Office does is in consultation with departmental officials and Ministerial staff to try to get the systems modified to work more effectively.
- 11.6 There was general discussion on how the centralisation of the Commonwealth Ombudsman to Canberra has impacted on interaction with state-level players. Mr Asher noted this, as well as the wind-back of visits to CI, was tied to funding issues. The Chair raised concern that neither the Office nor the Australian Human Rights Commission has funding to investigate mental health issues.
- 11.7 Professor Procter asked how the Ombudsman's Office triages requests. Mr Asher advised their focus is on quality control and directing agencies on how to fix these problems that are brought to their attention i.e. access to mental health services and interpretation. Individual complaints are used to identify systemic issues and highlight areas for further investigation.
- 11.8 Mr Asher noted they do not have a specific mandate for children's issues but the Office does look at issues unique to children, such as schooling, and compliance with departmental service standards. Their approach to CD will be much the same, ensuring the policy, arrangements and facilities line up with the requisite standards. The Office remains concerned about the potential ramifications if people are kept from leading normal lives.
- 11.9 The Chair asked whether, in light of increasing self-harm and suicide, the Ombudsman Office is looking to revisit whether there should be a Health Commissioner. He referred to the Comrie Report, which recommended this but DeHAG was suggested at the time as an alternative. The Chair asserted health and mental health were areas that come quickly under pressure but are least scrutinised in terms of policy application. Mr Asher confirmed the Office is revisiting the available options on this point and added the rapid growth in arrivals was a precursor to comprising service outcomes.
- 11.10 Ms Clarke saw the need to plan with projected numbers to counter this effect. She also noted the need to begin responding to inaccurate media reports, which de-motivate staff working directly with clients.
- 11.11 Professor Procter suggested an Ombudsman's representative sit on the Inverbrackie Community Consultative Group. Mr Asher agreed this was worth exploring. It was agreed to invite Mr Asher back to a CISSR meeting in six months time, with the invitation also extended to the Australian Human Rights Commissioner.

12 REVIEW INTO DETENTION HEALTH

- 12.1 Mr Casey distributed the Terms of Reference for the departmental review into detention health. It is a review of the detention health framework, which sets the blueprint for healthcare service delivery across the detention network. The framework set out to achieve specific goals over a three-year period from 2007 and it is now due for review. Mr Casey noted the review is timely given the current working environment and increase in client numbers. He sought input from CISSR.
- 12.2 Dr Loughry asked whether the review will include CD, which Mr Casey affirmed. She noted that detailed data is collected on clients in detention but this collation doesn't seem to continue into CD, which is a missed opportunity in terms of tracking people's well-being in transition to settlement and providing aggregated demographics. Mr Casey responded that the Department is looking into defining a minimum data set for reporting.
- 12.3 Mr Casey agreed there is room for further investigation into how and when health re-screening is triggered during the detention and settlement process. This could potentially feed into guidelines for CD.
- 12.4 Mr Clement agreed this should be the focus given that clients entering CD have been assessed as among the most vulnerable and typically come with a host of health service provision needs. The health care needs are much more intensive than for the average Australian.

13 ACTION ITEMS AND MINUTES

- 13.1 The Council discussed priorities and assigned action items to individual members or small working parties. Priorities include the action items agreed with the Minister and formalising a proactive program to encourage community representation and access of cultural groups to centres. A need was also identified for the Council to provide urgent input into the new centre design for Pontville, especially around service provision and embracing community development principles into the centre model. The Council was also keen to move on building the cultural competency of case managers, service providers and Serco.

- 13.2 It was agreed by the Council that priority should be given to the Minister's action items and that the usual work of the sub-groups should be suspended unless work is already underway and was a short-term priority.
- 13.3 The Council adopted the minutes of the 8th General Meeting (17-18 February 2011) with some minor amendments.
- 13.4 Specifically, the Council wanted point 9.7 to reflect their strong criticisms of data presented by the Department on self-harm incidents and to note that Ms Jacka undertook to do more work on the data.

- 13.5 The Chair asked the previous minutes note after point 11.14 (on decisions around the CI tragedy survivors) that he expressed serious concerns about lack of transparency and clarity about how the decisions were reached and felt more accurate and detailed information should be made available.
- 13.6 Ms Coleman asked for a quote attributed to her to read that the Red Cross "has capacity to manage up to 50 to 100 contracts", not "is managing between 50 and 100 contracts".
- 13.7 The Council agreed the next meeting will be held on 5 May 2011 in Sydney. The focus of this meeting would be to finalise the aforesaid advice requested by the Minister.
- 13.8 The 10th General Meeting is scheduled for 9-10 June 2011.

1 VISIT TO INVERBRACKIE

1.1 Overview

On arrival at Inverbrackie Ms Justine Pederson, A/g Regional Manager, together with key centre staff briefed the visitors on the centre's infrastructure and current operations.

Ms Pederson advised that the centre currently houses 242 clients, approximately 120 of whom are Iranian, 57 stateless and the remaining a mix of Sri Lankan and Afghan clients. The centre had experienced high turnover in the past week with 27 clients moving to Community Detention (CD) and 37 Sri Lankan clients arriving from Virginia Palms. The typical pathway for clients through Inverbrackie is: Christmas Island (CI) → Virginia Palms/ Darwin Airport Lodge/Leonora → Inverbrackie → CD or settlement. The centre has experienced a 50% turnover since it opened on 18 December 2010, the clients securing visas or moving into CD in New South Wales and Victoria. Sixty percent of the current clients have been at the centre less than two months. Forty percent of the current clients have been in detention for 6 months or less with the longest time in detention dating from March 2010. Fourteen clients have been at Inverbrackie since the centre opened.

1.2 Living Arrangements

Ms Pederson advised the centre comprises 80 houses, mostly with 3 bedrooms. There is some sharing of houses, and Ms Pederson outlined the issues taken into consideration when configuring shared houses.

Clients are encouraged and supported to live independently in terms of household duties, catering and self management in terms of booking appointments and managing time. It was acknowledged that whilst clients are resourceful they often arrive at Inverbrackie having lived in environments which have reduced their capacity for independent living. Serco and DIAC officers work with the clients to help them adapt to their new, more independent environment at Inverbrackie and familiarize them with Australian dietary and hygiene standards.

Many goods and services are procured from local suppliers – supermarket, pharmacy etc. Clients advise their purchasing needs on a weekly basis. The Centre is currently in the process of developing a store where clients can come and collect groceries. There is a household allowance scheme in place, providing $70.00/adult/week, $50.00/child/week and a sliding scale for teenagers. Clients are also given 25 points per week for incidentals and treats, with the capacity to earn a further 25 points through participation in activities.

Clients are respectful of the limits of their liberty; there have been no escapes from Inverbrackie. Whilst there had been a media report of a young client kicking a Serco officer, Ms Pederson reported this incident was overstated and noted that overall clients, service providers and DIAC staff feel Inverbrackie is a safe environment.

Ms Pederson shared that the Afghan clients recently organised a thank you lunch for DIAC and Serco staff.

1.3 Client Services

Health services include a full time on-site General Practitioner, Health Nurse and Psychologist. Mental health assessments are conducted on all clients on arrival. Dental and optical care are the main health issues presenting on arrival.

Serco has established a personal officer scheme whereby each officer develops a supportive relationship with the occupants of a cluster of about 5 houses.

Nine Case Managers work on site, all from the Adelaide office. This is a stable team and the clients have good continuity however if they move to CD even in the Adelaide area they may have to change case managers. There is a handover process which is followed with each location change and this is managed by telephone for distant relocations.

There is an established Client Consultative Group (CCG) but the high turnover of clients affects the stability of this group. Clients do have other avenues available to raise issues – client complaint and client request forms.

Mr Lynch noted there were few Independent Merits Review (IMR) clients at Inverbrackie but queried if there were any concerns or feedback from these clients. Ms Pederson reported that issues were raised around waiting times for both security clearances and for IMR interviews but noted these were not frequent given the high turnover of clients at Inverbrackie.

1.4 Education & Activities

Sixty children attend local schools. Ms Pederson reports a good working relationship with the Department of Education which is maintained through weekly meetings. Overall the integration of the children into the schools is going well with only a few behavioural issues arising (these children have often displayed the same disruptive behaviour at the centre).

Serco has a dedicated officer on site to co-ordinate excursions and activities which includes accessing local attractions and programs. Currently 20-30 people access activities each day, which averages 1 activity/person/fortnight. Beginner, intermediate and advanced English classes are held for 1.5 hours each week day and clients are strongly encouraged to attend. As noted as an incentive clients can earn up to an additional 25 points per week for participating in activities.

Clients have access to 12 computers at the internet café, access being managed through a booking system. The centre staff are also in the process of setting up a men's shed. This may provide a vehicle for clients to teach and learn as well as apply existing skills.

Ms Pederson confirmed that clients are welcome to suggest/nominate activities of interest to them. She also flagged that they are working on concept papers with local universities and colleges to broaden education options.

Anglicare is currently working through a proposal with centre staff to run an Afghan Youth Project.

1.5 Local Community

It was noted that the relationship with the local community had improved significantly since the centre opened, with some good initiatives and outcomes emerging. Interaction with local residents is pursued through the Good Neighbourhood Council (initiated February 2011 and having a formal constitution). This group co-ordinates volunteering and donations from the local community. This includes volunteers to run homework clubs and the group is in the process of setting up an activity around furniture restoration. Volunteers and their families also visit the centre to participate in social sporting matches.

The DIAC staff reflected that, in their experience across a number of detention centres, Inverbrackie demonstrates the highest level of community support.

1.6 Alternative Uses for Inverbrackie

Mr Moorhouse confirmed the Minister will continue to focus on using Inverbrackie for families until the Darwin Airport Lodge and ASTI are no longer in use. He is open to using Inverbrackie for other client cohorts but these would likely be clients on positive pathways, possibly awaiting security clearance. It would not be a suitable site for removal-pending clients. He noted Inverbrackie fits well with the suite of centres in South Australia having Port Augusta for unaccompanied male minors and the Adelaide Immigration Transit Accommodation for compliance and removals clients.

Mr Moorhouse acknowledged that capacity pressures mean clients were experiencing several moves during their time in detention but he anticipated more strategic placements as the pressures on the system abate. The current demand is to get people out of existing temporary accommodation arrangements.

2 WELCOME, DEBRIEF ON INVERBRACKIE AND INTRODUCTORY COMMENTS

- 2.1 The Chair welcomed the Council, Ministerial and DIAC staff and acknowledged apologies from Associate Professor Harry Minas and Dr Samina Yasmeen.
- 2.2 Ms Ann Clark initiated the debrief on Inverbrackie by asking whether information sessions should be held on visa processes in order to better manage client expectations. Members agreed, suggesting it could also be a film or diagram. Ms Niblett advised the Department is developing a flowchart on visa processing.
- 2.3 The Chair pointed to the difficulty of conveying a message clients don't wish to hear and doing so in very different detention environments. He also noted his increasing concern at distorted client expectations of what case management can do. He asked why case management can't tell clients they have been triaged in their security clearances.
- 2.4 Mr Moorhouse noted scripts are being developed to tell clients indirectly what the situation is but most clients already know what is causing the delays.
- 2.5 The Chair suggested using the Inverbrackie site for other vulnerable client groups once enough places are freed up by Community Detention (CD). Ms Zoë Clarke cautioned on the sensitivities involved given the Minister's previous comments and promises to the local community on which client cohorts would be housed at Inverbrackie. The Chair agreed but noted the shift in public sentiment as a possible lever for change.
- 2.6 Ms Lloyd questioned whether DIAC correspondence should be translated into community languages. Air Marshal Funnell said this was a previous CISSR recommendation because client feedback has indicated interpreters are not good at translating documents.
- 2.7 Ms Niblett noted the Department expects migration agents to discuss correspondence through an interpreter. Mr Moorhouse noted that, given interpreter shortages, using them to translate decision letters will only add to the overall processing time. Ms Lloyd countered it doesn't need to be the whole document, just the cover letter advising decisions.
- 2.8 The Chair asked the Council to pass the minutes from the previous meeting. Minutes passed, with Ms Benson requesting changes to 9.8.
- 2.9 The Chair raised previous meeting action items, noting the Minister read the CISSR paper on capacity building in Indonesia and is keen to look into resourcing a model and possibly a further one for Malaysia. Further discussions are planned to carry this work forward.

- 2.10 The Chair also noted the paper on building a panel of community leaders and indicated two successful community leader visits had already taken place. DIAC Officer Ms Mirta Gonzalez is formalising this project from legal and insurance perspectives.
- 2.11 Air Marshal Funnell questioned whether Pontville was needed anymore as he saw it as coming on line six months too late. Ms Zoë Clarke said she would rather have excess accommodation than risk overcrowding. Additionally, the site is small enough to test out best practice development.
- 2.12 Air Marshal Funnell questioned the cost given the plan to have Pontville open for just six months. Mr Moorhouse advised $14.8 million. Air Marshal Funnell voiced his concerns, to which Mr Moorhouse countered that much of the site will be reusable or able to be resold to minimise the overall costs.

3 POLICY AND PROGRAM MANAGEMENT GROUP

- 3.1 Dr Southern updated the Council on Departmental staff changes, noting the retirement of Mr Bob Correll and promotions of Mr Peter Vardos and Mr John Moorhouse.
- 3.2 Dr Southern also noted the establishment of the Community Programs and Children's Division under Ms Kate Pope. A key focus for this Division is on guardianship and trying to resolve the perceived conflict of interest between the Minister's dual responsibilities as Minister and guardian.
- 3.3 Dr Southern also outlined the refugee support program pilot under the stewardship of Senator Lundy, which will be incorporated into a tender process later this year. She also raised discussions with Dr Diana Birch from the U.K., an expert who has developed an age determination technique and may be interested in a knowledge exchange.
- 3.4 Dr Southern said a range of parliamentary enquiries and reviews are planned, including a Joint Select Committee to be led by Mr Daryl Williams AM QC and setup by early October 2011. The Committee's terms of reference will focus broadly on detention.
- 3.5 Dr Southern noted the reports from the Hawke and Williams Review of the Christmas Island/Villawood Protests and Ombudsman's Review are due soon.
- 3.6 The Chair gave the Council an overview of talks between the Minister and key sector figures, including Paul Power, Caz Coleman and representatives of the

- Edmund Rice Centre. He said discussions were fruitful and stakeholder involvement was crucial prior to finalising any Malaysia agreement.
- 3.7 The Chair raised concern that there is a void in public debate caused by a lack of government and sector dialogue. He saw this void being filled with misinformation. He perceived a role for the CISSR to get the right people around the table for constructive discussions about what can be done.
- 3.8 Dr Loughry raised the capacity building in Indonesia proposal, suggesting a scoping trip to see what local groups are able to do. She referred to a commitment to the Minister to come up with NGO/civil society partners in Malaysia with the capacity to provide asylum seeker services which are not currently available in the sector.
- 3.9 Dr Loughry noted that, while Jesuit Refugee Services is part of Jesuit Services Asia Pacific and work in the region, involvement of LaTrobe University and oversight by the CISSR was needed. The Chair agreed this was a critical point but was unsure of the funding scope.
- 3.10 Dr Rifi raised the idea of tapping into the DFAT Malaysia Unit for contacts.
- 3.11 Dr Loughry noted there is an organic growth in community support for asylum seekers in Malaysia. She added that these groups often had religious or ethnic affiliations with the Burmese, the largest asylum seeker group in Malaysia.
- 3.12 The Chair suggested a group be formed to progress this work. Dr Southern noted one pressing issue is how the proposal fits in with what the Department is already doing in the region. The Department is ready and willing to start working straight away with a CISSR sub-group on this, with an initial six-week timeframe. Dr Southern put a caveat on this offer, noting the potential to commit longer term was not guaranteed.
- 3.13 Ms Ann Clark noted previous emphasis on capacity building in local communities, particularly Australians working in those communities to help set up NGOs.
- 3.14 The Chair said arrangements for interim reception in Malaysia are required until the longer term capacity building takes effect. He added initial reception arrangements should be clearly written into the operational agreement supporting the agreement with Malaysia.
- 3.15 Ms Coleman advised the meeting that there was a proposal for an amnesty for illegal workers and, if that provided work rights, it may counter some concerns from advocates in Australia. An amnesty may also influence which local groups will be able to assist.

- 3.16 Ms Lloyd said opportunities are needed to talk up the advantages of the Malaysia agreement to counter distortions in public debate. Dr Loughry added that more structured dialogue and greater engagement with the sector is needed, especially with refugee lawyers who can help think through regional cooperation.
- 3.17 Ms Zoë Clarke said a perception shift among the asylum seeker sector is needed because at present only the Government is selling the Malaysia proposal to the public. Moreover, discussion needs to be couched in the terms that if nothing is done, the issue will only get worse. Ms Ann Clark added the Malaysia agreement is part of a whole strategy and a starting point for working across the region. The agreement is not all or nothing.
- 3.18 The Chair understood frustrations over public debate but noted it is difficult to counter and is actually encouraged by the lack of detail released. He warned that when the Government stops trusting people with information, the people stop trusting the Government. He added concerted effort is needed to turn around debate and that, while Council members could help by being conduits for information, ultimately what counts is information in advance and buy-in to that process by the Minister as decision-maker.

4 DETENTION HEALTH

- 4.1 Mr Casey outlined the Detention Health Review, noting a final draft report has been given to Secretary Metcalfe and members of the Detention Health Advisory Group (DeHAG). The Department is responding to DeHAG concerns and engaged dialogue is underway. Mr Casey added the review is part of a commitment to ensure the Detention Health Framework is robust enough to cope with detention population changes.
- 4.2 Mr Casey said the client placement model will be implemented for torture and trauma and PSP clients, identifying those with serious mental or physical issues and placing them outside detention centres.
- 4.3 Mr Casey said more professionals are needed to input on how to best identify this client cohort and additionally more beds are needed in CD. The Council disagreed with this assessment saying beds are not the issue. Mr Casey agreed it was more complex, with resource issues leading to situations where clients on Christmas Island transfer to the mainland with little or no case management records.

- 4.4 Mr Casey also noted the Detention Review Committee meets monthly in each centre and every three months DIAC National Office reviews cases. The Ombudsman also conducts reviews every six months but this is about to be extended to twelve months due to the workload. Mr Casey said the system is complex and slow, meaning it is difficult to inform clients on what can be delivered and associated timelines.
- 4.5 Mr Casey outlined plans to engage case management through local dialogue rather than through hierarchy back to DIAC National Office. He said case managers are trained to deliver messages and more trust should be placed in them deciding the timing and in being the means for delivering key messages.
- 4.6 Mr Casey gave an overview of CD placements, which he noted will become the administrative responsibility of Kate Pope's area as of June 2011. He noted that the torture and trauma cohort has been identified as the next priority but they will not be moved as fast as children given the need for security clearances. Moreover, more security and behavioural issues will need to be worked through.
- 4.7 Dr Loughry voiced concern about it taking longer to process vulnerable clients into CD. Mr Moorhouse responded, noting an expanded CD team will be assigned to get clients out quicker and a process map will be developed to identify blockages.
- 4.8 The Chair warned that the current detention system is facing a perfect storm, with lengthy detention, psychological deterioration, self-harm rates ten times higher than last year and staff unable to cope. He perceives quick CD placement as the way to avert a crisis.
- 4.9 The Chair also raised concern about there being no torture and trauma contract in place in Weipa, which leaves the situation vulnerable as the provider cannot reliably build a workforce to meet demand.
- 4.10 Mr Casey acknowledged issues in that space but noted he sees a willingness and commitment from both Serco and IHMS to proactively generate solutions. Ideas are in train and they are not simply waiting for the Department to give direction.
- 4.11 The Chair raised the issue of self-harm rates again, highlighting that the length of time in detention is the leading cause. Dr Loughry countered that, whilst length of detention is problematic, length of time for decision making and the associated uncertainty, she maintains are the primary driving factors.

- 4.12 The Chair said statistics on self-harm are indicative of a crisis. Professor Proctor agreed there is a crisis given that 10-15 incidents were recently reported at North West Point on one night, which is outside the norm for a cohort of 1000 clients.
- 4.13 Ms Zoë Clarke noted that self-harm rates on Christmas Island have risen since the March protest, indicating that feelings are being internalised. She did not believe overpopulation is impacting on self-harm rates, pointing to Scherger. Mr Moorhouse disagreed, noting that Scherger houses Tamils and Rohingyans who as groups are less inclined to self-harm.
- 4.14 The Chair asked if the Serco report was available on the death at Scherger. Mr Casey said the Department is looking at post-incident analysis and perhaps having a team to formulate a case management response for distressed people. Like “near miss” committees.
- 4.15 The Chair referred to the draft on incident management and raised his concerns, particularly around incident reporting and the classification of clinical depression as a minor incident. Also asked why it takes three guards to escort a pregnant woman to hospital and whether more parameters will be put in place around notification timeframes.

5 REVIEW PROCESSES

- 5.1 Mr Lynch gave a presentation on review issues, noting the Government’s move to hasten review processes and scale up to cope with client numbers. After the November 2011 High Court decision, a recruitment drive was undertaken to make seventy extra appointments of senior people on review tribunals. Mr Lynch added more reviewers are needed noting it takes time to scale-up and the training investment is significant.
- 5.2 Mr Lynch stated that there are probity issues connected to using Refugee Status Assessment (RSA) Case Officers in the review sphere, as this may call into question the independence of their decisions.
- 5.3 The Chair asserted there are multiple factors impacting on the accuracy of decisions, such as inexperienced decision-makers and quality of interpreting. He raised the concept of identifying “borderline” negative decisions for re-examination whilst awaiting IMR as a way of taking the stress off the system.

- 5.4 Mr Lynch countered that the potential for damage to the IMR system is high and such a strategy is effectively asking colleagues to review the work of colleagues and say it is wrong. He added that in order to reach lawful, quality decisions a reviewer can only work through a maximum of two cases per day.
- 5.5 The Chair asked whether there is a mechanism available for internal re-examination of negative RSA cases before getting to review. Mr Illingworth said such a system has precedence in other areas. Mr Lynch cautioned this should not be a third layer of review, as it would slow down the Minister's fast-tracking process. Dr Southern said it would be a quality review step in the Department that does not take away from the IMR process.
- 5.6 Mr Lynch agreed that such parameters mean it is possible for the Department to re-examine rejections without compromising the independence of reviewers.
- 5.7 Ms Niblett said the Department is working on quality assurance at the decision making stage, looking in particular at the overturn rates and examining why. Analysis suggests it is not a result of error in primary decisions but rather time lag, credibility issues, more supporting information available on evidence of fear of persecution (i.e. psychologist reports), application of different convention grounds for decisions and use of different thresholds which lead to different outcomes at review.
- 5.8 Ms Niblett added she is keen to keep an eye on this and extract lessons learnt for the primary decision making stage. She noted, however, that evidence indicates it is not an error or inappropriate application of the law but rather the human factor in decision-making.
- 5.9 Mr Lynch referred to country of origin information, noting it is open to differing points of interpretation and views as seen in the UNHCR Notes, US State Department Reports, academic reports etc. All of these sources of information are available to RSA decision makers.
- 5.10 Ms Niblett pointed to example of Faili Kurds, where there are different findings on whether or not they are persecuted and on which convention grounds. Many cases fall down to the credibility of applicant and this is where human perception can influence the decision. As such, Ms Niblett said mentoring, supervision and quality control are built into support for new decision makers.
- 5.11 Air Marshal Funnell said there should be emphasis on achieving sound determinations on the credibility of claims. Ms Niblett agreed, noting a lot of work has gone into guidelines to reach a balanced view of credibility.

- 5.12 Mr Moorhouse added that the purpose of the interview is to resolve any credibility doubts the decision maker may have and thereby allow for natural justice. Mr Moorhouse added that an ambition of reducing average review waiting times from 21 months to 11 months is not enough in the current crisis.
- 5.13 Mr Moorhouse suggested having a senior DIAC officer to look at a case to determine whether it should flow through to review or be changed from a negative to positive before getting to review. He put a caveat on this suggestion by noting that a review would still be lodged but, on the way to review, the Department would have another look at the case. This would ensure the reviewers are not encroached upon or alienated.
- 5.14 The Chair raised the issue of more recent arrivals getting quicker review than those who arrived under the old system. The new processing is moving faster and overtaking the time lag for the old processing, leading to clients seeing other clients up for review who arrived after them. The Chair viewed this as indefensible, noting moral and ethical issues around order of processing – particularly given the mental deterioration linked to lengthy detention. The Chair added that clients have been misled about order of processing.
- 5.15 Mr Lynch explained what happened when the Courts found errors of law, with reconsideration of decisions required in over 130 cases. This is causing delays to reviewing new cases.
- 5.16 The Chair noted Independent Merits Review (IMR) have done a great deal in improving processes and timeframes but that morally it is not possible to wait until the system works. There is burn-out in the network and action is needed. Self-harm is increasing and emotional distress is being caused by length of wait.
- 5.17 Ms Zoë Clarke advised sending a formal letter to the Minister to express concerns and offer solutions. The Chair agreed, noting the urgency.
- 5.18 Mr Moorhouse confirmed the proposal would be an interim evaluation on existing paperwork, not a third, additional step. As such, it would not devalue the review process but rather be like what the Department does when determining whether to pursue a court case or withdraw.
- 5.19 Ms Visser suggested selecting 100 cases as a pilot. Mr Moorhouse agreed, noting some experienced decision makers in Sydney could undertake the pilot.

6 RETURNS AND REMOVALS

- 6.1 Dr Southern gave an overview of the growing number of removal cohorts that will be more difficult to manage including those who are rejected, those that can't be returned due to no returns agreement, those who are stateless and those 1A Met but subject to adverse security assessments.
- 6.2 Dr Southern added that voluntary return will continue to be encouraged for those who have exhausted review options. Realistic options, such as temporary visas and CD, also need to be discussed with the Minister for those who can't be removed for whatever reason. A suite of options needs to be developed to enable the most appropriate pathway to be identified for each client scenario. Ms Lloyd and Ms Coleman offered to work with DIAC in developing these options.
- 6.3 The Chair voiced concern whether CD is the right option given its expense in comparison to a bridging visa. The Deputy Chair raised the option of Removal Pending Bridging Visas (RPBVs), which give work rights and access to welfare benefits. The Chair countered that those clients with adverse security outcomes would still be a challenge.
- 6.4 Dr Southern noted the Department is in discussion with the security agency on having degrees of adverse security outcomes rather than a yes/no assessment. Scaling risk would assist in assessing the level of risk in granting a visa or determining a suitable detention placement.
- 6.5 The Chair raised the idea of using the National Security Monitor to undertake risk analysis of negative security assessments. He saw as appropriate the use of an independent person to look at the application of security assessment of people in detention and the risk they pose.
- 6.6 Dr Southern noted the National Security Monitor is a relatively new role set up under legislation to deal primarily with counter-terrorism issues. It was not intended to be used in the way suggested by the Council and she would prefer to speak with Duncan Lewis at Prime Minister and Cabinet (PM&C) about pursuing this avenue before preparing a proposal for the Minister.

- 6.7 Dr Loughry raised the idea of using the APODs to house clients with negative security assessments. Dr Southern cautioned that such low-security arrangements for this group could be politically sensitive.
- 6.8 The Chair raised the example of a client group on Christmas Island (CI) who had adverse security assessments. The group told him they couldn't return given they had effectively been labelled terrorists. The Chair noted that, even though many were assessed as refugees, this group had been in detention for around three years and were dejected given their prospects.
- 6.9 The Council agreed to write a letter to the Minister, highlighting the issues facing clients with negative security assessments and potential options to move them on from detention. Ms Benson added the letter should include a point about the need for natural justice in response to adverse security assessments, as clients can be locked up for lengthy periods without appeal avenues and are often eventually released on mental health grounds.
- 6.10 Dr Southern noted the Department is preparing a brief to the Minister on options for this group of clients. She perceived it would be more fruitful to suggest use of the Monitor to examine risk rather than formal review.
- 6.11 The Chair countered the letter should include the option of a formal review of assessment mechanism. The Council agreed.
- 6.12 The Chair moved on to reintegration packages, noting they are not high enough to act as a real incentive. He argued packages should be pegged to detention costs to create a real incentive for clients who want to return.
- 6.13 Ms Gillam gave an overview of the current reintegration package that totals USD$4000, consisting of USD$500 cash and the rest offered to cover return costs and business start-up incentives.
- 6.14 Ms Lloyd suggested a pilot program. Ms Gillam agreed to work with the Council and the International Organisation for Migration (IOM) to look at reintegration options and a possible pilot. She was mindful that clients need to be aware of implications and comfortable with the decision to go home. Dr Southern noted this work aligns with the Council's commitment to give policy options for negative pathway clients.

7 DETENTION

- 7.1 Mr Moorhouse gave an overview of structural changes to the detention group and his observations so far in the role of Deputy Secretary. He noted in particular observations from his CI visit around client group profiles, expectations and the lack of consequences for inappropriate behaviour, including violence. He said this last point is beginning to change with the ability to charge clients.
- 7.2 Mr Moorhouse raised stakeholder relations, noting they haven't been good due to limited departmental capacity to resource. He pointed to the Detention Health Advisory Group (DeHAG) as an example of where the Department is working to renew relationships.
- 7.3 Mr Moorhouse raised IMA processing, noting the need for tighter procedures and a less reactive system. The management of particular risks needs to be built up, with additional layers of capability so issues are not lost. He noted his concern at managing a client group when there are not consistent review processes, lengthy processing times and questions over the quality of decisions. These are pressures on the system; however with a declining client population, hopefully past logistical issues can be averted.

- 7.4 Mr Moorhouse outlined his goal to move to a strategic placement model, where clients are placed in centres according to nationality, behavioural risk and stage in processing. This will lower client risks and reduce the potential for riots in centres where the Australian Federal Police (AFP) cannot respond quickly.
- 7.5 Mr Moorhouse also voiced his concern at staff being exposed to the pressures in centres and repeatedly confronting issues such as self-harm.
- 7.6 Mr Moorhouse noted he was looking into Darwin NIDC for IMR reviews in the strategic plan. This would help to avert negative behaviour. He said the focus should be on moving to a two-tier model where the Department has the capacity for both compliance and support options. He anticipates a system where clients will aspire to better accommodation options and non-compliant clients can be actively managed without endangering other clients and staff.
- 7.7 Mr Moorhouse noted the changing composition of clients and the related shift in expectations among these groups. The Department needs to address processing issues and expectations in order to control behavioural issues. Ms Zoë Clarke agreed, noting the focus should be on managing expectations rather than trying to respond to them. She added that conversations are needed with clients that clearly outline what they should expect in Australia when in detention, CD and perhaps settlement.
- 7.8 The Chair raised the issue of character test provisions, which he perceives gives unfair power to Serco officers reporting incidents and places the onus for good behaviour onto the clients rather than seeing it as symptomatic of system pressures and indefinite detention. He added focus should be on positively encouraging good behaviour. Mr Moorhouse assured the Chair that the AFP will be involved where charges are laid so there are checks in place in relation to implementation of the new character test provisions.
- 7.9 Mr Moorhouse clarified that he was not trying to suggest behavioural issues did not in part arise from long periods in detention. He asserted more active engagement was needed with clients and regular dialogue around processes, rights and responsibilities during detention.
- 7.10 The Deputy Chair added that the key is getting population numbers down through quicker processing. The idea of rewarding positive behaviour is good but he maintains it is of limited effectiveness in large centres like Curtin.

8 COMMUNITY PROGRAMS & CHILDREN

- 8.1 Ms Pope provided an overview of latest numbers for clients transitioned into CD, noting the Minister's mid-2011 goal had been reached. The Council congratulated the Minister, Ms Pope and her team for their success in establishing CD and meeting this goal.
- 8.2 Ms Pope noted changes are underway to the MITA to make it a more open facility. She was unsure whether Serco will run it but did foresee a change in management style, care/welfare provision and offsite activities.
- 8.3 The Chair cautioned that police may be unhappy if Serco withdraw management of the MITA. Ms Zoë Clarke countered that MITA will be an alternative model and could be used for the 18-26 age group that require support. Ms Pope added this would be another level of centre based detention but under residence determination so clients can live there with less restriction. It is distinct from the 'pure' CD model.
- 8.4 Ms Pope noted that the focus for CD is shifting to other vulnerable clients within the detention network and her team is working on identifying numbers. She noted that the home-stay option is in a finalisation phase and some internal funding had been granted to do an activities pilot for home-stay clients.
- 8.5 The Chair flagged the issue of older men in detention, suggesting they could be accommodated with relatives already settled in Australia under the framework of CD.
- 8.6 The Council agreed to write a letter of thanks the Red Cross for their role as lead agent for CD.
- 8.7 Ms Pope raised the potential to work with Dr Diana Birch around age determination. She noted criticisms of Dr Birch's methodology and statistical modelling during a recent court case and this will require further assessment. Ms Pope flagged IHMS's unwillingness to be a party to the age determination process and asked the Council to generate suggestions for a third party to participate in this work (using non-intrusive age determination methods).

9 IMA POLICY AND PROCESSING

- 9.1 Ms Niblett provided the Council with the brochure “Ensuring the quality of refugee status decision-making”, noting it had been developed with input from the Onshore Protection Advisory Group.
- 9.2 Ms Niblett noted the majority of cases are processed within 60 days, which is better than the statutory requirement of 90 days. The focus is on streamlining people out of detention yet reviewer shortages are creating delays. That said, she noted the Department is committed to improved case development quality by giving agents more time up front to work on case preparation. Better primary applications means sounder initial decision making will follow.
- 9.3 Ms Niblett raised country guidance notes and flagged that there are varying views on country of origin information. The notes therefore are not restrictive and decision makers are free to do their own research. Ms Niblett also advised the country of origin notes on Iran and Iraq were about to be made publicly available and would ensure they are circulated to CISSR members.
- 9.4 Air Marshal Funnell (Retd) asked about claims by clients of bias among decision makers and reviewers. Ms Niblett said supervisors track decisions as part of their role and ensure training, mentoring, sound analysis and UNHCR input are part of the process. She added decision and review patterns are being examined but are revealing the opposite biases to the one perceived by clients.

10 RETURNS AND REMOVALS

- 10.1 Ms Gillam gave an overview of the current removal case load– 22 voluntary removals and 1 involuntary removal are scheduled. The Department is focused on 68 clients for future removal. The biggest obstacle is obtaining of travel documents and permission for travel through transit countries.
- 10.2 Ms Gillam confirmed there were no minors among this group. She noted that the United Kingdom (UK) has a stay on returning minors to Afghanistan however has returned 9800 Afghans, with 1040 of these being involuntary removals.
- 10.3 Ms Gillam added that a further 128 clients are seeking judicial review who would otherwise be in the removal space. Half are self-represented, around 15% receive legal aid and the rest are represented by lawyers, presumably on a pro bono or community sponsored basis. Ms Benson said it doesn't seem fair these clients can't access legal aid, particularly if granting of legal aid is a state-based decision as this means access is based on location not need.

- 10.4 Dr Loughry asked what pre-removal counselling is provided. Ms Gillam said it depends on the willingness of clients to have a conversation. The aim of the Department remains getting people to go home as voluntarily as possible and with returns support. Ms Gillam provided copies of removal fact sheets and sought CISSR comments on the draft out of session.
- 10.5 Ms Ann Clark added the difference between voluntary and involuntary removal is enormous. She sees that going back with acceptance, a sense of dignity and a reintegration package puts them in a positive mindset.
- 10.6 The Chair raised once more the need for discussion on reintegration packages. Ms Gillam confirmed her willingness to consider a pilot aimed at testing different incentives to encourage the uptake of sustainable returns.

11 MEANINGFUL ACTIVITIES

- 11.1 Ms Melanie Fotiades and Ms Beverley Thompson from Serco were introduced to meeting participants. Ms Thompson asserted Serco's focus on rewarding positive behaviour and challenging negative behaviour as well as offering volunteering and new activities.
- 11.2 Ms Fotiades gave an overview of Serco's activities project, noting that sensitivity is required about what the client brings to the centre and their wants/needs. Ms Fotiades referred to the Hiser Model (outline provided in the briefing packs), pointing to the need to effectively capture client experiences and needs in order to identify improvements and client well-being in detention.
- 11.3 Ms Fotiades said four pilots will be run off the Hiser model – single male, single female, minors and families. There will be around 30 clients per pilot. A health and wellbeing team, including Immigration Health and Medical Services (IHMS), Red Cross, client representatives, DIAC, Serco staff etc., will form a steering committee to channel feedback and advice into model development.

- 11.4 Dr Loughry said that meaningful activities in centres should be primarily focused on single adult males, as they constitute the main population. Mr Clement noted options should be kept open for those in CD.
- 11.5 The Chair asked when the concept will move into actual activities given that Serco is contractually obliged to provide these activities now and isn't delivering. He asserted the project is a good exercise but was concerned it would only further delay implementation of activities.
- 11.6 Ms Thompson responded that Serco recognises the need to recast its view on what activities to provide in centres and is trying to engage with clients to work out what would motivate them. She added she saw volunteering as a way of giving a sense of meaning and self-determination.
- 11.7 The Deputy Chair observed that there is a difference between planning for activities and the reality of implementation in centres. He also praised the Aqualand project and volunteer work with local aboriginal communities in Curtin but saw this was only one centre and limited clients were involved.
- 11.8 Ms Lloyd added that Serco staff need to be available to facilitate activities. She gave an example of cricket in Curtin, where only 16 clients from 1400 can go out to a game given escort ratios. Dr Proctor added that Serco simply needed to start providing activities as it was part of their job to do so.
- 11.9 Ms Benson suggested clients with high skill levels could be enabled to teach other clients, which would give a sense of satisfaction through giving to others.
- 11.10 Professor Proctor offered to provide Serco with guidance on the use of Participatory Activity Research (PAR), which could provide a base for Serco's model and aligning activities funding. He also cautioned against building up client hopes and disappointing them with inadequate delivery.
- 11.11 The Chair questioned why there are no penalties on Serco given they have had three years to deliver these activities. As good as the proposed model may be he stressed that something needs to be done now.
- 11.12 Mr Moorhouse noted contract abatements have not had the impacts needed but should also be balanced against the necessary speed of upscale in the system. There are practical challenges and he affirmed the Department is working with Serco to resolve them.
- 11.13 Mr Illingworth suggested enabling clients to save up points that can be converted to cash upon settlement or return. This would give clients a sense of purpose and incentive in participating.

- 11.14 Ms Thompson asked the Council to share what clients raise to them as the perennial issues around activities. Mr Clement replied that meaningful use of time and sense of belonging are critical to mental well-being. Literacy also reduced anti-social behaviour because people have the means to engage. Dr Rifi added English lessons are critical to empowerment and should be tailored to age, ethnic and religious background. The Deputy Chair added off-site excursions have a significant positive effect on well-being.

12 SERVICE DELIVERY REFORM

- 12.1 The Chair opened this session by noting that service delivery reform had lost momentum in the detention space and is an area CISSR had identified for greater focus.
- 12.2 Mr Lander noted the Department is looking at how to develop an integrated service delivery model and welcomes the Council's participation in that. He flagged that the tender process is underway and June 2013 will be the next tender cycle.
- 12.3 The Chair warned the opportunity to look properly at a integrated service model could be missed. He viewed the Community Assistance Scheme (CAS) and Asylum Seeker Assistance Scheme (ASA) as closely related to CD in terms of cohorts and saw value in using a Vulnerability Indicator and Assessment Tool (VIAT) to assess client needs and construct a set of services to meet those needs. The Chair sees CAS as a primary model for operationalising the integrated model.
- 12.4 The Chair added a tender model is needed that provides for flexibility, with IHMS like packaging of services or similar. He noted the demand on service delivery, pointing to the Bridging Visa E (BVE) cohort, which can number 6-8,000 at any one time.
- 12.5 Mr Illingworth noted this policy area is a challenge and indicated the Department is working to develop some clear ideas on how to move quickly. He added the audit process is looking at how well the Department administers these programs in the lead-up to re-tendering. The Chair strongly encouraged that tenders should allow for reshaping and be defined as such in the tender specifications.
- 12.6 The Chair offered the Council to assist in mapping but queried if the tender process was too far advanced to usefully provide input.

13 STAKEHOLDER ENGAGEMENT

- 13.1 The Chair praised the stakeholder engagement document distributed in the briefing pack but noted that it is unfortunate that it hasn't been implemented. He views the stakeholder relationship as currently non-existent and, as a result, stakeholders feel disenfranchised and critical towards the Department. He said it is difficult to convince people of new ideas like the Malaysia agreement with so little detail available. He added that in discussions with Ms Pope they conceived of a series of information sessions.
- 13.2 Dr Loughry added that definition of "the sector" needs expansion to include key business people with an interest in the sector. She noted there are people who know a lot about Malaysia but not currently engaged in the development of the agreement.
- 13.3 Dr Rifi observed the Department is not engaging with anyone at the moment. He pointed to the Villawood Community Consultation Group, which had identified the Easter holiday as being problematic and wanted to pre-empt this with interventions however the recent riots overtook matters. Dr Rifi maintains the activists have a distorted view of the Department and the processes at Villawood and this is an example of what needs to be addressed. He sees great potential in the Stakeholder Engagement Framework but it needs to be implemented.
- 13.4 Mr Moorhouse noted that ideas for high-level stakeholder engagement should be forwarded. The Chair agreed, noting most people in the sector would value more engagement. He referred to a recent meeting with the Minister, where sector attendees were grateful to be included in discussion and planning.
- 13.5 Ms Benson suggested mini-conferences at a local level to deliver information on some of the issues and basics. She suggested inviting DeHAG, RRAC, CISSR and the legal fraternity with the CD group separate. The Chair agreed, noting people will come willingly to such an event.
- 13.6 Professor Procter said the types of questions asked by stakeholders at an open discussion at a recent Adelaide Community Consultative Group were telling of the need to engage more.

- 13.7 The Chair noted ad hoc opportunities to engage should also be seized in addition to any formalised engagement. He saw the CISSR proposal on community leadership and engagement as needing a project status and structure to advance.

JOINT SELECT COMMITTEE ON AUSTRALIA'S IMMIGRATION DETENTION NETWORK

*Q73*

Question: Has the CISSR ever recommended to the minister that mandatory detention be abandoned? What kind of influence does it have on departmental decision making? Is it true that the CISSR has recommended to the department and the minister that decision-makers approve as many protection applications as possible, even the most marginal, in order to reduce detention populations? Has the department accepted such advice? Has the department received similar advice from any other source? Has it acted on such advice?

Answer: To the knowledge of the department, the Council for Immigration Services and Status Resolution (the CISSR) has never recommended to the minister that mandatory detention be abandoned.

The CISSR makes recommendations about strategies and standards relating to immigration detention and status resolution. It can provide views and recommendations about priority caseloads for assessment and provides some feedback on client concerns or complaints about information provision, decision making outcomes, processing times, elements of the refugee status determination process and related immigration checks when this type of information is provided to them. The CISSR's views and advice are taken into account in department client cohort planning and management decisions, as well as in the provision of advice to the minister on policy and strategic issues.

To the knowledge of the department, the CISSR has not recommended to the minister or the department that decision-makers approve as many protection applications as possible, even the most marginal, in order to reduce detention populations. The department, likewise, has no knowledge of receiving similar advice from any other source.

JOINT SELECT COMMITTEE ON AUSTRALIA'S IMMIGRATION DETENTION NETWORK

*Q75*

Question: How many staff, by quarter since December 2009, have been engaged in the entire detention network by Serco, IHMS and DIAC by job classification; eg. Cleaning, catering, guarding.

Answer: Total DIAC Staff in the Immigration Detention Network by Job Classification since December 2009:

The following figures reflect the number of staff on deployment to Immigration Detention Facilities (IDFs) and those providing direct services to Irregular Maritime Arrivals (IMA) operations. IDF means one of the following facilities: Immigration Detention Centre (IDC), Immigration Residential Housing, Immigration Transit Accommodation or Alternative Place of Detention. These figures do not include all IDFs, only those staff either exclusively servicing IMA clients or with a majority of clients who are IMAs. For example, Villawood IDC and Maribyrnong IDC both have mixed caseloads, and hence it is not easy to separately identify the number of staff working directly on IMA operations.

The figures do not include the staff who provide business support to IMA operations at DIAC offices. Case management staffing numbers are based on a manual headcount and do not include case management staff who may be based in a DIAC office close to an IDF and working on mixed client caseloads. Detention Operations includes contract management, stakeholder engagement, interpreter liaison, corporate support and other staff.

Information as at 31 December 2009 and 31 March 2010 is not available due to previous limited reporting capability.

As at 30 June 2010, there was a total of 202 staff recorded as being employed in IDFs. A breakdown by job classification is not available due to previous limited reporting capability.

As at 30 September 2010, there was a total of 234 staff recorded as being employed in IDFs. A breakdown by job classification is not available due to previous limited reporting capability.

JOINT SELECT COMMITTEE ON AUSTRALIA'S IMMIGRATION DETENTION NETWORK

*Q76*

Question: How many staff DIAC, Serco and IHMS staff have been engaged in each of the Villawood, Curtin, Christmas Island and Scherger detention centres, again by quarter and job classification, since December 2009?

Answer: Total DIAC staff engaged in Villawood, Curtin, Christmas Island and Scherger Immigration Detention Facilities (IDF) by job classification since December 2009:

The staffing figures for Curtin, Christmas Island and Scherger Immigration Detention Facilities (IDFs) in the tables below reflect the number of staff on deployment to IDFs in response to Irregular Maritime Arrival (IMA) operations for the December 2010 and March 2011 quarters.

IDF means one of the following facilities: Immigration Detention Centre (IDC), Immigration Residential Housing or Alternative Place of Detention. These figures include only those staff either exclusively servicing IMA clients or with a majority of clients who are IMAs.

Case management staffing numbers are based on a manual headcount and do not include case management staff who may be based in a DIAC office close to a IDF and working on mixed client caseloads. Detention Operations includes contract management, stakeholder engagement, interpreter liaison, corporate support and other staff.

A breakdown of staffing figures by job classification is not possible for Villawood since this IDF has mixed caseloads and staff may work with IMA clients some of the time while at other times they may work with non-IMA clients.

A breakdown of IMA staffing by job classification and Immigration Detention Facility as at 31 December 2009, 31 March 2010, 30 June 2010 and 30 September 2010 is not available due to previous limited reporting capability.

Question: Please provide copies of the following documents referred to in Serco's submission:

DIAC's DSM manual, TRIMEVAC guidelines and manual, The Immigration Detention Centre Use of Force Policy and Procedures Manual (for each of the centres if they are separate manuals for each centre).

The Operational Logs referred to on page 34 of the submission including the CIIDC Command Suite Occurrence Log; the CIIDC Canberra Command Suite Occurrence Log and similar logs used in Villawood during the riots and other incidences; all other similar logs for all other centres.

The Centre Security Services Plan for each of the centres; Operational plans and updates for each of the centres; Incident management protocols for each of the centres; Contingency management plans for each of the centres; Serco intelligence reports and Serco client and centre risk assessments for each of the centres; AS3745:2000 Emergency Control Organisation and Procedures and ISO31000:2009 Risk Management.

Answer: Please find attached the department's Detention Services Manual. This is a publicly available document through LEGENDcom.

LEGENDcom is an electronic database of migration and citizenship legislation and policy documents which is available to members of the public on a subscription basis. The detention service manual provided is correct as of 15 August 2011. The manual is regularly revised and updates are only available online.

The 'AS3745:2010 Emergency Control Organisation and Procedures' is an Australian standard document and 'ISO31000:2009 Risk Management' is an International Organisation for Standardisation document. Neither of the documents are the property of the department or Serco and are available at SAI Global Infostore website.

The department is currently working with Serco to review the remaining documentation for sensitive information that may need to be redacted before the document is released for publication. The documents will be provided to the Committee as soon as they are available.

Supplementary Answer:

The Committee requested Centre Security Services plans from Serco at the 7 September 2011 Public Hearing in Derby. It is the department's expectation that Serco will provide these documents to the Committee.

The remaining documentation totals an estimated 511 400 pages. Many of the documents contain sensitive information including client biographical data. The documents also contain information which, if publicly released, may compromise the safety of clients and staff and the operational security of immigration detention facilities. Review and redaction of the documentation to remove this sensitive information would represent an unreasonable diversion of departmental resources.

Additionally, the Detention Service Provider, Serco, which own most of the requested documentation, has advised that some documents, such as the Serco client risk assessments and Serco centre risk assessments contain intellectual property information that, if made public, would compromise their commercial position.

BACKGROUND

This part comprises:

- section 1 Purpose
- section 2 New directions - immigration detention values.

1 Purpose

The purpose of this instruction is to articulate the Government's philosophy for the provision of client-focused services to persons in immigration detention and those in the community whose immigration status is being resolved.

2 New directions - immigration detention values

2.1 Seven key immigration detention values

In July 2008 the Minister announced the Government's new directions for immigration detention. The announcement included the seven key immigration detention values that guide and drive immigration detention policy and practice. The values are:

- 1 Mandatory detention is an essential component of strong border control.
- 2 To support the integrity of Australia's immigration program, three groups will be subject to mandatory detention:
  - (a) all unauthorised arrivals, for management of health, identity and security risks to the community
  - (b) unlawful non-citizens who present unacceptable risks to the community and
  - (c) unlawful non-citizens who have repeatedly refused to comply with their visa conditions.
- 3 Children, including juvenile foreign fishers and, where possible, their families, will not be detained in an immigration detention centre (IDC).
- 4 Detention that is indefinite or otherwise arbitrary is not acceptable and the length and conditions of detention, including the appropriateness of both the accommodation and the services provided, would be subject to regular review.
- 5 Detention in immigration detention centres is only to be used as a last resort and for the shortest practicable time.
- 6 People in detention will be treated fairly and reasonably within the law.
- 7 Conditions of detention will ensure the inherent dignity of the human person.

2.2 Application of these values

In line with these values, placement in an immigration detention facility will be based on an assessment of the person's risk to the community. In instances where the individual does not present unacceptable risks to the community, community-based options may be used. Individuals may be required to comply with various conditions while remaining in the community until a substantive immigration status outcome has been reached and/or they leave the country. Decision makers will need to justify why a person should be detained rather than remaining in the community. Once in immigration detention, a person's case will be reviewed by a senior departmental officer every three months to ensure that the further immigration detention of the individual is justified.

In summary, these values set out the:

- context and rationale for immigration detention (strong border control [1] and management of risk [2])
- application of immigration detention (as a last resort and for the shortest practicable time [5], reviewed regularly [4])
- groups subject to mandatory immigration detention [2] and their placement [3] and
- service delivery values (appropriate accommodation and services [4], fair and reasonable treatment within the law [6], and respect for human dignity [7]).

SERVICE DELIVERY VALUES

This part comprises:

- section 3 Three key service delivery values
- section 4 Principles for service providers
- section 5 Stakeholders
- section 6 Client placement options.

3 Three key service delivery values

Based on the seven key immigration detention values, the following three service delivery values underpin the provision of services within the community and immigration detention services environment:

- Respect for human dignity
- Fair and reasonable treatment within the law
- Appropriate services.

The primary recipients of community and detention services fall into three categories:

- persons in immigration detention facilities
- persons in immigration detention who are placed in community detention and
- persons who are holders of bridging visas and who reside lawfully in the community but who are identified as requiring additional assistance while awaiting a substantive immigration status resolution outcome.

3.1 Respect for human dignity

This value supports Australia's international obligations. Those providing services to persons in immigration detention and in the community must be aware of their responsibilities in regards to meeting Australia's human rights obligations under the following international conventions:

International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights

International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights

1951 UN Convention relating to the Status of Refugees and 1967 Protocol

UN Convention on the Rights of the Child

UN Convention against Torture and Other Cruel, Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment

Universal Declaration of Human Rights and

Vienna Convention on Consular Relations.

In accordance with this value, all community and detention services are underpinned by the department's mission statement "people our business" and its strategic themes as described below.

Open and accountable (evidence-based)

Sharing of all information pertaining to well-being of persons in a timely manner and subject to privacy laws.

Maintaining appropriate governance arrangements.

Demonstrating trust through open dialogue.

Ensuring transparency in all dealings, even when this highlights flaws.

Communicating without a hidden agenda, in an accessible and consultative manner.

Maintaining determination to address issues concerning people quickly and practicably.

Developing and implementing policies, decisions and processes that are evidence-based.

Providing clients with clear explanations of decisions that affect them.

Fair and reasonable dealings with clients (humanity)

Treating clients with humanity, professionalism and respect.

Fostering dignity and self-worth in all dealings with clients.

Complying with laws and obligations and reasonable community expectations of what constitutes ethical dealings with clients.

Delivering appropriate services.

Maintaining a culturally sensitive and responsive approach to service delivery.

Respecting diversity.

Ensuring open, polite and clear communications.

Conveying messages clearly and concisely.

Providing clients with the opportunity to provide feedback.

Well trained and supported staff (high performance)

Maintaining a highly skilled, motivated and committed workforce capable of delivering our business.

Ensuring that we have appropriately qualified and well managed staff, supported by strong leadership.

Upholding a commitment to continuous improvement.

Delivering suitable systems and processes that maximise our capacity to maintain a client's well-being.

Providing training and development opportunities for staff.

Valuing and welcoming contributions and opinions.

Maintaining an environment that is conducive to individual and team performance excellence.

Ensuring that our decision mechanisms are effective.

In addition to these strategic themes, the following departmental values (see: http://dimanet.immi.gov.au/about\_DIMA/plans/strategic\_plan\_2010-11/ ) are essential in establishing and maintaining professional and productive partnerships between the department and service providers:

- we are committed to service excellence and to delivering our services in a fair, lawful and reasonable way
- we listen and are responsive to the individual needs of our clients and stakeholders and constantly strive to improve policy and program performance
- we are an open and accountable organisation, providing visibility and transparency of our processes
- we show respect for our clients, stakeholders and each other by being fair, honest, objective, professional and polite
- we work collaboratively with each other to achieve our business outcomes
- we value diversity, actively seek contributions and commit to open discussions

- our integrity and honesty fosters teamwork, supporting high performance throughout the department
- our decision making is fair, reasonable and transparent with an understanding of each individuals needs
- our leaders will support staff through the promotion of training and development of required skills to assist the government in acquiring its goals.

These service delivery values support the interchange of persons, skills, functions, locations, ideas and innovation. Flexibility in our partnership will contribute to success in delivering these services.

3.2 Fair and reasonable treatment within the law

The Migration Act

The seven key immigration detention values are applied in the context of the Migration Act 1958 (the Act). The Act requires, inter alia, that all unlawful non-citizens in Australia must be detained and that, unless they are given permission to remain in Australia, they must be removed as soon as practicable.

Beyond Australia meeting its human rights obligations under the above-listed international conventions, there is a considerable body of Australian law which may be of relevance to immigration matters and which also commits the department to human rights obligations. Relevant legislation includes:

Age Discrimination Act 2004

Australian Citizenship Act 2007

Commonwealth Places (Application of Laws) Act 1970

Crimes Act 1914

Disability Discrimination Act 1992

Fisheries Management Act 1991

Freedom of Information Act 1982

Human Rights and Equal Opportunity Commission Act 1986

Immigration (Guardianship of Children) Act 1946

Migration Act 1958

Migration Regulations 1994

Occupational Health & Safety (Commonwealth Employment) Act 1991

Ombudsman Act 1976

Privacy Act 1988

Public Service Act 1999

Racial Discrimination Act 1976

Sex Discrimination Act 1984

Torres Strait Fisheries Act 1984

Collectively, and for the purpose of immigration detention, the application of this body of legislation is to ensure that community and detention services will be delivered in a way that:

- treats people equally, without discrimination
- maintains dignity, including individual identity
- is fair and free from arbitrary decision making processes and

- fosters an immigration detention environment that is safe and free of violence.

Duty of care

By detaining a person under the Act, and therefore creating a special dependence, the government assumes a responsibility for that person and must exercise reasonable care to prevent any reasonably foreseeable harm to them. The department and its service providers work together to provide a holistic range of services and discharge their duty of care to individuals who are not Australian citizens and do not hold a visa that is in effect. See DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Duty of care to persons in immigration detention.

The department's duty of care and respect for human rights in immigration detention is predicated on the appropriate placement within the immigration detention network (IDN) and the provision of appropriate services (including health services) by the department's contracted service providers to meet the immediate needs of persons in immigration detention. A person in immigration detention is ensured consistent quality of service through the administrative oversight provided by the regional manager and their delegate. A non-citizen's status resolution is progressed through ongoing case management.

Regional management model

The objective of the regional management model is to ensure a nationally consistent approach to the provision of community and detention services to persons who are placed in community detention and/or in immigration detention facilities. This is achieved through empowering regional managers to ensure that service delivery accords with departmental policy and procedure and contractual obligations, including performance management of contracted immigration detention service providers. For service providers, this model means working with departmental regional managers and staff to manage the day to day operations of centres and achieve optimum outcomes for persons receiving community and detention services in that region.

Public scrutiny

Immigration detention is subject to both administrative and judicial review, and to full parliamentary scrutiny for accountability.

Obligations under both national and international law means that immigration detention is also subject to regular examination by various agencies including the:

- Australian Human Rights Commission (AHRC)
- United Nations High Commission for Refugees (UNHCR) and
- Commonwealth Ombudsman's Office, which has a program of regular visits to IDCs.

Two key advisory groups with members appointed from Government, NGO, community and academic organisations provide expert advice to the Minister and the Department. These are:

Council for Immigration Services and Status Resolution (CISSR)

CISSR was established in 2009 to replace the previous Immigration Detention Advisory Group (IDAG). As an independent advisory group, CISSR provides advice to the Minister on policies, processes, services and programs necessary to achieve the timely, fair and effective resolution of immigration status for persons seeking immigration outcomes in Australia.

Detention Health Advisory Group (DeHAG)

DeHAG was formed in 2006 to provide the department with expert independent advice regarding the design, implementation and monitoring of improvements in health care (particularly mental health care) for persons in immigration detention. The group is comprised of representatives from key health professional organisations. The Commonwealth Ombudsman's Office has observer status.

3.3 Appropriate services

The provision of services

The provision of services to persons awaiting a substantive immigration outcome include support through the:

- Community Status Resolution Service (see section 7) or
- Case management (see section 8) which may in turn refer clients to services such as the:
  - Community assistance support (see section 11.1)
  - The Asylum Seeker Assistance (ASA) Scheme provides limited health and welfare support to protection visa (PV) applicants in the community who are identified as vulnerable. The scheme is currently administered by the Australian Red Cross (ARC) under contract to the department. Asylum Seeker Assistance (ASA) Scheme (see section 11.2) and
  - Immigration Advice and Application Assistance Scheme (IAAAS) (see section 11.3).

Accommodation

For the most appropriate accommodation see section 6 Client placement options.

4 Principles for service providers

The following principles support a successful partnership approach by the department and its contracted service providers:

- effective dialogue - timely and open communication
- shared understanding - each party is cognisant of the other's goals and understanding the other's constraints
- joint resolution of problems
- standardised tools - both parties apply the same methodologies and criteria for management and analysis (for example, risk assessment, performance evaluation)
- joint assessment of the performance of both parties' contract obligations and
- continuous evaluation and improvement - applying performance assessment information to develop improvements in effectiveness and efficiency.

Under the service delivery values, the success of services delivered is measured by the quality of services received by clients. This will be evidenced through demonstrated achievement of departmental objectives and measurable compliance with quality standards, including requirements for improvement over time. Quality will be assessed through performance frameworks (as articulated in contracts with service providers) and stakeholder feedback.

5 Stakeholders

It is a strategic priority for the department to strengthen and sustain its stakeholder and community engagement through the continual promotion of improved communication and comprehensive use of stakeholder expertise.

Community and immigration detention services stakeholders are a diverse collection of statutory bodies, agencies, organisations, groups, police services, consultative groups, individuals, persons in immigration detention, as well as the general community. Stakeholders include the following:

Amnesty International Australia

Australian Customs Service

Australian Federal Police

Australian Fisheries Management Authority

Australian Human Rights Commission

Australian Red Cross

CISSR

Client consultative committees

Commonwealth Ombudsman

Community consultative groups

Consular and embassy representatives

Courts and tribunals

DeHAG

Detention service providers

Health service providers

IAAAS service providers

International Organization for Migration (IOM)

Legal representatives

Media

Minister's office

Registered migration agents

6 Client placement options

Persons in immigration detention are assessed for placement as appropriate across the IDN in accordance with the key immigration detention values. Persons are assessed as suitable for placement in a given facility through the case management client placement review process which employs a range of placement indicators to assist appropriate client placement in the IDN to Placement Review documentation at ADD2010/984005.

The client placement review forms part of the detention related decision making (DRDM) control framework. For further information contact Case Management Implementation and Support (CMIS) Section, Compliance and Case Resolution Division (CCRD), National Office – Case Management Implementation and Support Section/IMMI/AU.

Additionally, placement can be determined as required for operational reasons such as through any increase in irregular maritime arrivals (IMAs). Such decisions are made by the FAS, Community & Detention Services Division (CDSD), in coordination with the Executive, the Minister's office, and relevant areas in CCRD.

Placement in any facility is never an indicator of any migration status resolution outcome.

For information on the different types of facilities available, see:

- DSM - Chapter 2 - Client Placement - Immigration detention centres
- DSM - Chapter 2 - Client Placement - Immigration residential housing

- DSM - Chapter 2 - Client Placement - Immigration transit accommodation
- DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Community detention.

MANAGING CLIENTS TO AN IMMIGRATION OUTCOME

This section comprises:

- Assessment of client needs
- Health, welfare & income support services.

ASSESSMENT OF CLIENT NEEDS

This part comprises:

- section 7 Community Status Resolution Service
- section 8 Case management
- section 9 Provision of services.

7 Community Status Resolution Service

The Community Status Resolution Service (CSRS) is available to less vulnerable persons in the community, particularly those holding a bridging E visa, until such time as they achieve an immigration outcome. The service has been available nationally since July 2009.

Referral to the CSRS is based on an assessment of the person's need for the type and level of intervention required to progress their case to an immigration outcome as quickly as possible.

Where it is assessed that departmental intervention is required, clients would enter the CSRS. Where clients meet multiple vulnerability indicators a decision will be made about whether they warrant screening into case management.

Complementing the CSRS is a suite of tools, or services, which would be drawn on as required to address the person's needs in moving them towards an immigration outcome. These service packages may include an assisted voluntary return service for persons who wish to return but require assistance to do so. In these cases, clients are referred through the CSRS, to the IOM for migration information, advice, and financial assistance with their departure arrangements, including airfares.

For policy and procedure see PAM3: Act - Compliance - Compliance, Case Management & Detention - Community Status Resolution Service.

8 Case management

8.1 Overview

Through case management, clients are assisted to understand their situation and immigration status, and ensure timely progress towards a substantive immigration outcome, particularly for vulnerable clients and those with complex, sensitive or exceptional circumstances. These clients can be in detention or lawfully in the community.

Case managers do not advocate for a particular immigration outcome on behalf of clients, or actively service clients' needs themselves. The role of case managers is to ensure that work on each case is being undertaken by all relevant parties in a coordinated, logical and planned way, with a focus on achieving a substantive immigration outcome. Every effort is directed to obtaining an immigration outcome for clients in a timely and appropriate manner to avoid delaying the resolution of clients' cases.

For policy and procedure see PAM3: Act - Compliance - Compliance, case management & detention - Detention - Case management.

8.2 Case management

Case management is responsible for screening, case assessments and referrals, the development of a case plan for the client as well as monitoring and reviewing progress towards a timely immigration outcome. The case manager may meet regularly with the client and other stakeholders to ensure barriers along the immigration pathway are overcome. When a case is referred to case management, the case manager screening the case will consider its complexity, the needs of the client, sensitivity, and level of risk and mitigating factors.

The case manager will monitor the client's case to identify any change in circumstance or risk that requires modification of the case plan. For example, if the client lodges a ministerial intervention request when they were previously on a straightforward removal pathway, the case plan would inevitably need to be revised.

Once a client is screened into case management, some of the activities carried out by case managers include:

- undertaking a case assessment of the client's circumstances in respect of their immigration history, health and welfare situation and personal circumstances
- in consultation with key business stakeholders, set out in the case plan the expected immigration pathway, key events and anticipated milestone dates, along with the services needed to move the client to an immigration outcome
- coordinating services for the client by drawing on the available services needed to achieve an immigration outcome, noting that the case manager is not a direct service provider
- providing appropriate support to ensure a client proceeds expeditiously towards an immigration outcome
- intervening, escalating and brokering solutions where necessary
- reviewing their cases regularly, including the suitability of their current placement
- ensuring key decisions, and progress towards decisions, are communicated by relevant business staff to a client in the most appropriate way (for example, decisions to release from detention, decisions around granting and refusing visas, decisions of merits and judicial review bodies, ministerial intervention decisions)
- document key decisions and the progress of a case
- respond to requests for information about a case from elsewhere in the department.

9 Provision of services

Persons in detention facilities have access to a range of services that are in line with the duty of care the department has to such persons for the duration of their detention. Persons in immigration detention receive services that include access to:

- appropriate accommodation
- adequate food and utilities to meet their basic requirements
- health care services
- legal or immigration advice
- family and or community support networks
- information and communication and
- programs and activities.

Persons in community detention will have their immediate needs met through the appointed service provider at contractually specified levels.

Persons who hold a bridging visa and are residing lawfully in the community and who are identified as requiring additional assistance while awaiting a substantive immigration status resolution outcome, may also be offered support and assistance as necessary. See section 11.1 Community assistance support.

HEALTH, WELFARE & INCOME SUPPORT SERVICES

This part comprises:

- section 10 Detention

- section 11 Community.

10 Detention

Taking into account the diverse and potentially complex health care needs of persons in immigration detention, they will have access to quality health care, at a standard consistent with the health care generally available to the Australian community.

Managing the health and wellbeing needs of persons in immigration detention requires a person-centred approach that recognises each person's unique health and wellbeing requirements. Health services focus on promotion and illness prevention. The health system and related services cannot prevent someone's detention but they can provide an environment in which a conscious and continuing effort is made to minimise health risk factors and maximise protective factors.

Individuals and groups identified at higher risk for negative physical, social or mental outcomes receive targeted assessment and are offered specific health services in an effort to prevent such outcomes. Those not displaying these risks are spared unnecessary interventions. Well-targeted preventive services can result in significant improvements in health status and quality of life and can help reduce overall costs of care.

11 Community

11.1 Community assistance support

The Community assistance support (CAS) program, formerly the Community Care Pilot, provides basic and essential health and welfare support services for highly vulnerable bridging visa holders in the community who meet set eligibility criteria.

The CAS program is targeted specifically at persons whose immigration status is in the process of being actively resolved. Clients referred to CAS are assessed as being highly vulnerable and may have complex needs. The program provides help to these clients by removing the barriers to the timely resolution of their immigration status. Client participation is voluntary and time limited.

The services provided depend on the client's assessed individual needs and circumstances, but may include help with the provision of income support, sourcing sustainable accommodation, access to basic and essential healthcare (including mental health and counselling services), and other assistance as deemed appropriate. For more information see Fact Sheet 86a: Community Assistance Support program on the department's website.

11.2 Asylum Seeker Assistance (ASA) Scheme

The Asylum Seeker Assistance (ASA) Scheme provides limited health and welfare support to protection visa (PV) applicants in the community who are identified as vulnerable. The scheme is currently administered by the Australian Red Cross (ARC) under contract to the department.

Applicants must be in financial hardship and have made a valid PV application more than six months ago, unless exempt from the six month waiting period. Ongoing eligibility for support is reviewed regularly by the ARC.

Exemptions to the six month waiting period for ASA are available to particularly vulnerable applicants including:

- unaccompanied minors, elderly persons or families with children under 18 years
- persons unable to work as a result of a disability, illness, care responsibilities or the effects of torture and/or trauma
- persons experiencing financial hardship resulting from a change in circumstances beyond their control since their last arrival in Australia.

11.3 Immigration Advice and Application Assistance Scheme (IAAAS)

Publicly funded professional and independent immigration advice and application assistance from a registered migration agent is available for persons in immigration detention who indicate a wish to apply for a PV in Australia and for vulnerable persons awaiting immigration status resolution in the community. It includes use of qualified interpreters and extends to lodging the visa application or merits review request and having decisions properly explained. The assistance does not include legal advice and is not available for ministerial intervention requests or for applications for judicial review.

For policy and procedures see DSM - Chapter 4 - Communications & visits - IAAAS.

PERFORMANCE MANAGEMENT & CONTINUOUS IMPROVEMENT*12 Systems & structures to measure performance

To monitor performance against service delivery values, contractual obligations for performance monitoring and continuous improvement are specified in the relevant immigration detention service provider contracts for which see:

PURPOSE

The department owes a duty of care towards persons in immigration detention. The law in Australia in relation to liability of public authorities states that a duty of care is carried out when an authority acts in accordance with the standard of a reasonable authority (see section 2 What is a 'reasonable authority'?). The courts have said that a 'reasonable authority' is required to "take those steps that a reasonable authority with the same powers and resources would have taken in the circumstances in question".

The actions of the individual departmental officer making a decision or taking action will be looked at in light of those powers and resources. In practice, for the departmental officer, it means ensuring that they follow guidelines and/or procedures put in place by the department as well as ensuring they have the appropriate authority before making a decision or taking action. Under the provisions of the Act, non-citizens found to be unlawfully in Australia are taken into immigration detention. Since persons in immigration detention are in the department's care, most decisions about their day to day wellbeing are made by the department. Therefore the standard of care that needs to be exercised by the department is very high; however, while the department's duty of care cannot be transferred to anyone else, responsibility can be shared between the department, and persons in detention themselves.

Shared responsibility is an interpretation where the department works together with the person in detention to achieve the best overall care for them, rather than only providing care to protect the government from risk or legal action if harm occurs. See section 6.3 Shared responsibility.

BACKGROUND

1 WHAT IS A ‘DUTY OF CARE’?

The department has a duty of care towards persons in immigration detention. This means that the department must exercise reasonable care in relation to persons in immigration detention to prevent any reasonably foreseeable harm.

The department has been brought into a relationship of proximity with persons in detention because by detaining persons under the Act the government has assumed responsibility for them. An important part of this relationship is a special dependence or vulnerability on the part of the person in immigration detention.

Departmental policies which direct staff as to how persons in immigration detention are to be cared for and treated can be found in policy, see DSM Chapter 1 - Legislative & Principles Overview: Service delivery values.

The standard of care to be expected of departmental officers subject to a duty of care is dependent on what a reasonable authority (see section 2 What is a ‘reasonable authority’?) would have done about a reasonably foreseeable risk (see section 3 What is a ‘reasonably foreseeable’ risk?).

2 WHAT IS A ‘REASONABLE AUTHORITY’?

In order to determine what a reasonable authority would have done or not done in all the circumstances of the case it is necessary to look at the actions of the decision maker in light of the powers and duties conferred on the relevant authority. The common law will only impose a duty to take those steps that a reasonable authority with the same powers and resources would have taken in the circumstances in question.

What this means in practice is that the Courts will look at the resources available to the department and whether it has employed those resources appropriately - for example, providing training, employing staff of the appropriate educational level and providing access to guidelines and procedures manuals. What it means for the individual departmental officer is that they should ensure they:

- attend any training provided appropriate to their role
- are familiar with guidelines and procedures manuals
- have the authority to make the decision or take the action
- are the most appropriate person to make the decision or take the action and
- refer the matter to a senior officer if they are unsure about any of the above.

3 WHAT IS A ‘REASONABLY FORESEEABLE’ RISK?

Whether a risk is reasonably foreseeable depends on whether it is foreseeable that the person’s act or omission involves a risk of harm to another person. A risk that is unlikely could still be reasonably foreseeable provided that it is not “far-fetched or fanciful”.

BREACH OF DUTY OF CARE

4 HOW IS A DUTY OF CARE BREACHED?

A duty of care will be breached if the person or authority who owes the duty fails to act in accordance with the required standard of care.

The standard of care owed to persons in immigration detention is a reasonable standard of care rather than an extraordinary standard of care.

In considering whether a duty of care has been breached, the following factors are relevant:

Foreseeability:

- Whether it is reasonably foreseeable that the act or omission will result in injury.

Response:

- What precautions a reasonable authority would take against a reasonably foreseeable risk of injury, taking into account:
  1. Likelihood: the degree of probability of the risk occurring
  2. Gravity: the seriousness of the harm that may occur
  3. Practicability: the expense, difficulty and inconvenience of taking the precautions and
  4. Justifiability: whether it would be justifiable to a reasonable person not to implement measures to mitigate the risk.

Another approach would be to use the department's risk model. The Departmental risk assessment matrix balances the likelihood of the risk posed by a particular person in immigration detention against the expected consequences of such a risk (in accordance with the evidence available at the time of the assessment) to provide an overall risk rating for the person in immigration detention. The risk rating obtained then informs the decision regarding the appropriate placement under the Client Placement Model. For example, where it is considered quite likely that a person in immigration detention might cause harm to others (likelihood rating: likely) and the consequence of that harm is considered to be serious (consequence rating: major), their overall rating would be high. This would then indicate that the person in immigration detention would not be appropriate for a lower security detention placement, such as a community detention.

Training in the use of the Departmental risk assessment matrix is available for all departmental staff. Training is available through DIMAnet and the Risk Management Unit. It is recommended that officers undertake training before using the matrix.

DEPARTMENTAL RISK ASSESSMENT MATRIX

See Breach of duty of care.

		Consequence
		Minor (1)	Moderate (2)	Major (3)	Catastrophic (4)
Likelihood	Almost Certain (D)	Low (D1)	Medium (D2)	High (D3)	Extreme (D4)
	Likely (C)	Low (C1)	Medium (C2)	High (C3)	Extreme (C4)
	Possible (B)	Low (B1)	Medium (B2)	High (B3)	Extreme (B4)
	Unlikely (A)	Low (A1)	Low 3(A2)	Medium (A3)	High (A4)

Likelihood

- A. Unlikely - no evidence to suggest that risk would happen
- B. Possible - some evidence to suggest that risk would happen (risk-mitigation strategies should be implemented)
- C. Likely - growing evidence to suggest that risk would happen (if risk mitigation strategies are not immediately implemented, the risk will probably happen)
- D. Almost Certain - strong probability that risk would happen, or risk has happened (this may be despite risk mitigation / management strategies being implemented).

Consequence

- 1. Minor - risk is unlikely to cause harm to property, detainee or others (managed within normal standard operating procedures)
- 2. Moderate - risk of minor harm to property, detainee or others (may require escalation, within normal standard operating procedures)
- 3. Major - risk of serious harm to property, detainee or others (requires escalation, may require police intervention)
- 4. Catastrophic - risk of loss of life, damage to the department's reputation, national security (requires police intervention).

INTEGRATING DUTY OF CARE AND RISK ASSESSMENTS

5 RISK ASSESSMENTS

While the risk assessment matrix is a useful tool for decision making, it may not be sufficient to ensure that all duty of care obligations are discharged.

While it is possible that any methodology used may attract criticism it is important to build a methodology and ensure that the foundations and development of the model is based on sound assessable principles - easily understood and considered reasonable by the person in the street. These foundations can be found in DSM Chapter 1 - Legislative & Principles Overview: Service delivery values.

The Departmental risk assessment matrix currently balances the likelihood of a risk (probability) against the seriousness of its consequences (gravity). Consideration of the additional duty of care factors of practicability and justifiability would ensure that a more complete assessment of the circumstances is undertaken and, ultimately, a more appropriate decision is reached.

This is perhaps best demonstrated by an example:

An immigration detainee, Mr X, has a medical history of depression which is thought to be exacerbated by his facility-based detention. A risk assessment is undertaken and indicates that he is an appropriate candidate for transfer to an alternate place of detention.

Within the current risk assessment matrix, the probability and gravity of the risk would have already been considered. However, the practicability and justifiability of the risk-mitigation strategy (that is, transfer to an alternate place of detention) also requires consideration to ensure that duty of care is fully integrated into the decision.

Practicability

A reasonable person might consider it impractical to transfer Mr X to an alternate place of detention if the alternate place of detention is not located sufficiently close to appropriate mental health services or if it was more appropriate for him to be more closely monitored in an immigration detention centre (IDC). Additional risks may also arise if the alternate place of detention is worse for his mental health, or if it causes a different risk to arise.

Justifiability

A reasonable person might consider it justifiable to keep Mr X in an IDC, if it is more difficult for him to access appropriate mental health services if transferred to an alternate place of detention. On the other hand, a reasonable person might consider that the risk to Mr X is greater if he remains in an IDC rather than transferred to an alternate place of detention, and thus his transfer might be justifiable, despite the risk.

The way in which the department carries out its duty of care obligations will differ depending on the circumstances of each individual case.

WHAT IS THE EXTENT OF THE DEPARTMENT'S DUTY OF CARE?

6 NON-DELEGABLE DUTY OF CARE

The department's duty of care towards persons in immigration detention is non-delegable, which means that it cannot be transferred to anyone else. An element of this non-delegable duty of care is that the department has undertaken the "care, supervision or control" of persons in immigration detention. When the department contracts out the provision of services to third parties (the Detention Services Provider - DSP), it still owes a duty of care to persons in detention and must ensure that reasonable care is taken to avoid harm.

While the department maintains ultimate responsibility for all persons in detention, the DSP must protect the Commonwealth's interests by discharging its duty of care obligations strictly consistent with those of the Commonwealth.

6.1 Higher standard

The department must carry out a high standard of care in relation to persons in detention because the government has detained these persons under the Act and their ability to look after some of their own needs is limited. The Courts recognise that such persons are "vulnerable".

The High Court has found that in considering the extent to which a duty of care is owed, it is necessary to take into account that a person may not always take proper care for their own safety. This is of particular relevance to a person in detention, who, by reason of their detention, may not be able to care for themselves in some respects; however, it does not mean that persons in detention do not have to care for themselves to the extent that they are capable.

6.2 To whom does the duty of care extend?

All persons in immigration detention are owed a duty of care by the department. The duty does cease when the person is released from detention. However, in relation to "special needs" cases, the case management process must effectively address the needs of the person and make appropriate arrangements.

6.3 Shared responsibility

While the department owes a very high standard of care to persons in detention, responsibility is shared between the department and persons in detention. The level to which a person will be responsible for their own safety depends on their individual circumstances. It is expected that a person will act in accordance with their capacity in a given situation.

It is not the department's responsibility to ensure that a person does not suffer harm by ignoring obvious danger. The standard expected of the department is a reasonable and not an extraordinary standard. Persons in detention are expected to exercise ordinary care for their own safety and avoid risks that, in the circumstances, would be obvious to a reasonable person in the same position. Particular care will need to be taken where a person suffers from a mental illness which impairs their ability to make sound judgments in relation to their own safety. In such circumstances it may be unreasonable to expect them to share the responsibility for their care.

In assessing how responsibility can be shared in a specific circumstance, the following considerations can be taken into account:

- the capacity of the person, including age, mental capacity, language ability, place of origin and amount of time spent in Australia
- the level of understanding of the person
- the level of control that a person has over the situation
- the standard of care required of the department in the circumstances.

The standard of care required of the department will be affected by the extent to which a person's freedom of movement and capacity to care for themselves has been restricted.

The type of detention that a person is in will be a significant factor in determining the extent of restriction experienced by the person. See Standard of care required in different types of detention.

HOW CAN THE DEPARTMENT CARRY OUT ITS DUTY OF CARE?

This Part comprises:

- section 7 Operational functionality
- section 8 General considerations
- section 9 Actions that may be required.

7 OPERATIONAL FUNCTIONALITY

When considering how to carry out the department's duty of care obligations, it is important for officers to adjust their response to the particular situation and to the circumstances of each individual person in immigration detention. There is a spectrum of detention options and as a consequence, the department's duty of care needs to be flexible and adapt to all of the options available. This is the only way in which the department can meet its responsibility for persons in immigration detention while also facilitating the operational functionality of detention centres.

8 GENERAL CONSIDERATIONS

There are some general considerations to take into account when determining how to act in accordance with the required standard of care. The department's actions in a given situation can be adjusted according to the following factors:

- consider the type of detention the person is in to determine the standard of care required.
- consider the knowledge and capacity of the person, including their age, language ability, place of origin and the amount of time they have spent in Australia.
  - For example, a person who has lived previously in a similar environment for six months will have a greater capacity to operate in that environment than a person from a lesser developed country who has been in Australia for two days.
  - Similarly, a person who is fluent in the English language will have a greater capacity for understanding instructions and warnings than a person who does not speak English at all.
- consider whether a third party is also under a duty of care towards a person.

9 ACTIONS THAT MAY BE REQUIRED

9.1 Warning of dangers and appropriate training

The department has a duty to ensure that a person in detention is appropriately warned of any hazards or dangers of which they might not be aware. The existence of a duty to warn will depend on the knowledge and capacity of the individual, because this will determine whether the person is aware of the danger. A person that is relatively unaccustomed to the environment might not be aware of a danger that would otherwise be obvious.

An important part of conveying a warning to a person is making sure that they understand the warning. The potential consequences if the warning is not followed should also be explained. This may require the use of an interpreter and/or a written explanation.

A person in immigration detention may also need appropriate instruction and training in the use of equipment, for example, how to use cooking facilities in immigration residential housing (IRH) or community detention. Where a person says they know how to use equipment but their knowledge and capacity suggests otherwise, the officer should check their knowledge by going through the necessary steps together with the person in detention.

9.2 Safety of premises

The department may be under a duty to ensure that a building in which a person is held, or directed to live, is reasonably safe. This would include an assessment of both the condition of the premises, the potential occupants and any persons sharing the accommodation.

Attention will need to be given to the potential occupants of the property as premises might be safe for adults but may pose a greater risk for children.

Where a property is provided by a member of the community, they will have the same duty to take reasonable care in relation to the person in detention as any other person entering upon their land.

9.3 Ensuring contractual services are of an agreed standard

A third party that has been contracted by the department to provide services to persons in detention will owe those persons a duty of care. For example, a non-government organisation providing services and accommodation to persons in community detention will owe them a duty of care. However, this duty is additional to, and does not substitute, the department's duty of care. The department remains ultimately responsible for accommodation and services provided to persons in detention.

In such cases, the department can carry out its duty of care by regular monitoring and performance auditing of the services provided by the contracted third party, to ensure that the services are adequate. The department should also ensure that the contracted third party is providing reasonable care to persons in detention, for example, by satisfying itself that an appropriate case management plan has been set up and that the third party is capable of meeting the persons' needs through that plan. However, in the case of a third party such as a hospital, the department will accept the monitoring and performance audit on services provided by the Australian Council on Healthcare Standards committee.

9.4 Health care

As part of its duty of care the department is responsible for providing persons in immigration detention with access to a level of health care that is commensurate to that available to persons in the wider Australian community.

Health professionals treating persons in immigration detention must be qualified and appropriately registered to practice. Hospitals and other health facilities treating persons in immigration detention are required to meet appropriate standards, including accreditation, expected by the Australian community.

Health services in IDCs will be required to meet the Detention Health Standards and achieve formal accreditation against those standards.

Duty of care does not provide the department with full access to a person's health record. Persons in detention are entitled to the same standards of privacy and confidentiality as the general Australian population. In accordance with the Privacy Act, the health information of a person in detention will not be disclosed, without the person's consent, to any person unless there is a requirement by law.

9.5 Children

As part of its duty of care the department is responsible for providing safe and appropriate accommodation for children in detention.

This duty will involve a consideration of the best interests of the child in all the circumstances including whether the child is accompanied or unaccompanied.

The department should be alert to any signs that a child may not be coping or that they are being abused or mistreated. The department should consider the capacity of the child's parents to provide proper care.

The department's duty of care to persons in immigration detention arises partly from the acknowledged vulnerability of persons in detention. Children are a particularly vulnerable sub-group of this wider group and, as such, the duty of care owed will be higher.

CARRYING OUT THE DEPARTMENT'S DUTY OF CARE

OBLIGATIONS - THE THREE-STEP PROCESS

This part comprises:

- section 10 High standard of care
- section 11 How officers can carry out this high standard of care in an operational context.

10 HIGH STANDARD OF CARE

The department has a duty of care towards persons in immigration detention which cannot be transferred to anyone else. The standard of care expected of officers is very high because the department has assumed responsibility for the care of persons in detention and they may be in a particularly vulnerable position.

11 HOW OFFICERS CAN CARRY OUT THIS HIGH STANDARD OF CARE IN AN OPERATIONAL CONTEXT

11.1 The three steps

The three step process is to consider:

- Is there a reasonably foreseeable risk
- Does the person in immigration detention have the capacity to look after their own safety in this situation and
- Is it necessary to take precautions against the risk

Is there a reasonably foreseeable risk

Most risks are reasonably foreseeable. Officers have a responsibility to consider all the consequences to a person of an act or omission.

Does the person in immigration detention have the capacity to look after their own safety in this situation

Consider:

- what is the age, language ability and place of origin of the person and the amount of time they have spent in Australia?
- what is the level of understanding of the person in this situation?
- what level of control does the person over this situation?
- what level of restriction is there over the person's freedom of movement and capacity to care for themselves?

If the person has full capacity to look after their own safety in the particular situation, it may not be necessary to take precautions. Step three will not be relevant.

However, if a person's capacity is restricted there may be a heightened responsibility on the part of the department to take precautions against the risk.

The extent of the department's responsibilities will be affected by the extent to which a person's capacity to care for themselves has been restricted.

Is it necessary to take precautions against the risk

What is the likelihood of the risk occurring?

- unlikely - no evidence to suggest the risk will occur
- possible - some evidence to suggest the risk will occur
- likely - growing evidence to suggest the risk will occur
- almost certain - strong probability that the risk will occur

The more likely the risk, the more important it is to take precautions against the risk.

What is the gravity of the risk?

- minor - risk of minor harm to property, person in detention or others
- major - risk of serious harm to property, person in detention or others
- catastrophic - risk of loss of life or risk to national security.

The more serious the consequence of the risk, the more important it is to take precautions against the risk.

How practical would it be to take precautions against the risk?

Consider:

- the cost of the precaution
- the difficulty involved in taking the precaution
- the inconvenience of taking the precaution and
- whether it will give rise to any conflicting responsibilities.

Where a precaution is highly practical, it should be taken even if the risk is minor and unlikely to occur.

Where a risk is major and likely to occur, a precaution should be taken even if it is highly impractical. In some cases, it may be necessary to cease altogether the activity giving rise to a reasonably foreseeable risk.

However, where a risk is minor and unlikely to occur, and the precaution is highly impractical, it may not be necessary to take the precaution.

11.2 The Australian Public

The views of the Australian public and community stakeholders are represented by a number of advisory groups. Two key advisory groups are:

Immigration Detention Advisory Group (IDAG)

The role of the IDAG is to advise the Minister on matters relevant to the detention of unlawful non-citizens in IDCs, alternative and community detention arrangements, with particular reference to the appropriateness and adequacy of immigration detention services, accommodation and amenities.

The IDAG has unfettered access to IDCs. Members are able to talk with staff, persons in detention and detainee representative committees to obtain first-hand information on the operations and environment at each centre and alternative and community immigration detention arrangements.

Detention Health Advisory Group (DeHAG)

DeHAG was formed in 2006 to play a major role in providing the department with advice regarding the design, implementation and monitoring of improvements in health care (particularly mental health care) for persons in immigration detention. DeHAG comprises practitioners from the fields of psychiatry, psychology, public health, dentistry, refugee services, nursing, and general practice. The Ombudsman's Office has observer status.

11.3 Persons in immigration detention

The Migration Act requires that where it is known or there is a reasonable suspicion that a person is an unlawful non-citizen, that person must be detained on mainland Australia and may be detained in an excised offshore place unless granted permission to remain in Australia, or they be removed as soon as reasonably practicable. The reasonable suspicion must be maintained during the entire period of the detention in order to justify the continued detention. Any unlawful non-citizen who has been detained must be kept in immigration detention until he or she is removed from Australia, deported or granted a visa.

This practice reflects Australia's sovereign right to determine which non-citizens are admitted or permitted to remain in Australia and the conditions under which they may be removed.

Persons may become unlawful non-citizens because they:

- have overstayed their visa (the majority of cases)
- arrived in Australia without a visa or
- have had their visa cancelled.

Immigration detention in IDCs is only to be used as a last resort and for the shortest practicable time but remains mandatory for the following groups:

- all unauthorised arrivals, for management of health, identity and security risks to the community
- unlawful non-citizens who present unacceptable risks to the community and
- unlawful non-citizens who have repeatedly refused to comply with their visa conditions.

It is important to remember that immigration detention is administrative detention, not correctional detention, and that a relatively small percentage of cases result in detention - see DSM Chapter 1- Legislative & principles overview: Service delivery values.

Most overstayers are granted a bridging visa, allowing the holder to remain in the community lawfully pending their departure from Australia, consideration of an application for a visa other than a bridging visa or to allow completion of merits or judicial review. The admission of minor children into detention in this situation is undertaken only as a last resort. In these cases, the detention of families with children will take place in the community under community detention arrangements with conditions set to meet their individual circumstances, rather than in IDCs.

Those who are granted a visa are released from detention immediately.

STANDARD OF CARE REQUIRED IN DIFFERENT TYPES OF DETENTION

See also section 6.3 Shared responsibility.

12 STANDARD OF CARE IN IDCs

The standard of care owed to persons in an IDC is very high, because their independence is substantially restricted. The department has assumed full responsibility for their care and the persons are in a position of particular vulnerability.

However, officers can still assume that persons in an IDC will look out for their own safety, within their capacity. The capacity of each person will depend on their individual circumstances.

IDCs provide a secure environment for persons in detention of higher flight or security risk than those placed in other immigration detention facilities. Families with children are not accommodated in IDCs, except as a last resort. IDCs provide a range of accommodation, including compounds, dorms, single rooms or rooms with an ensuite. Allocation of accommodation is in accordance with the Client placement model - see DSM Chapter 2 - Client placement: Client placement model.

13 STANDARD OF CARE IN IMMIGRATION RESIDENTIAL HOUSING (IRH)

The standard of care owed to persons in IRH is very high, because persons in IRH are ordinarily restricted to the premises and are not free to leave at will. However, they are allowed more scope for freedom than persons in an IDC. For example, they are able to cook their own food and are responsible for keeping their individual accommodation clean and tidy.

Officers can assume that persons in IRH will look out for their own safety, within their capacity. The capacity of each person will depend on their individual circumstances.

IRH is a form of alternative detention in a less institutional, more domestic detention environment for eligible low flight and security persons in detention. IRH provide accommodation for:

- families with children
- those awaiting a residence determination decision and
- those that have not been granted a residence determination.

IRH may also be used to accommodate other low risk persons in detention.

14 IMMIGRATION TRANSIT ACCOMMODATION (ITA)

ITA locations are places of immigration detention under the Act. ITA offers hostel style accommodation for persons in detention. ITA provide low cost short term transit accommodation for low security and flight risk persons in detention - generally airport turnarounds.

ITA provides “short stay” accommodation to persons in immigration detention who are of sound physical and mental health, and who represent a low security risk. Placement decisions will be made in accordance with the Client placement model. Families with children will not be placed in ITAs except as a measure of last resort.

The concept underlying placement in an ITA is for unlawful non citizens who are low risk to stay in immigration detention site for a short time until their status is resolved. The ITAs are low security places of immigration detention with low level restrictions placed on persons in immigration detention. It would be expected that persons placed in ITAs would not exhibit any special care needs and officers should assume that these persons will largely look out for their own safety and that their capacity should be relatively high.

15 COMMUNITY DETENTION

Please refer all queries about community detention to the Director, Detention Health Services Section, Services Management Branch, Community & Detention Services Division.

16 ALTERNATIVE TEMPORARY DETENTION IN THE COMMUNITY

The standard of care owed to persons held in alternative temporary detention in the community will depend on the extent to which their freedom of movement is restricted and the extent to which the department is responsible for the close supervision of the person in detention. This will vary considerably.

If a person is detained in a hotel or motel room, they will usually be held in that place by officers and not permitted to leave the room except under escort. The person is kept under tight supervision by officers. The standard of care will therefore be higher than when a person in detention is held in an IDC. There may be less room for breach of the department's duty of care as the person's movements are so heavily restricted.

Family groups, women and children and unaccompanied minors are the primary groups for consideration for this type of immigration detention. This option is best utilised for single men and women who have specialist health or physical needs that would be best met in a non IDC environment.

3 RECORDKEEPING POLICIES AND GUIDELINES

The department has a number of recordkeeping policies and guidelines that specify departmental recordkeeping expectations of all staff across a variety of settings.

Departmental recordkeeping policy and guidelines are the authority documents for departmental recordkeeping.

The following recordkeeping policies and guidelines are available to officers on the intranet or in TRIM.

Recordkeeping Policy - December 2009

Departmental recordkeeping policy and guidelines (TRIM record number ADD2009/1071822) should be considered the authority documents for departmental recordkeeping where there are any inconsistencies about recordkeeping.

This document outlines the department's commitment to compliance with recordkeeping practices and outlines the purpose, objectives and to whom the policy applies.

Recordkeeping Guidelines - June 2007

This document (TRIM record number ADD2007/97961) provides information to staff about the management of departmental records, including file creation, storage, titling conventions, security and records disposal.

Recordkeeping Protocols for Supervisors - May 2007

This document (TRIM record number ADD2009/363728) provides an overview of the roles and responsibilities of supervisors for ensuring the quality of recordkeeping within their workgroup. Annex A provides the template for a Local Recordkeeping Business Process Plan that each workgroup is required to develop to demonstrate how they comply with the departmental Recordkeeping Policy and Guidelines.

‘Note for File - 2007’

A report on recordkeeping within the Australian Public Service by the Management Advisory Committee, August 2007 (TRIM record number ADD2007/301271). This report presents the Management Advisory Committee's findings from a study conducted on recordkeeping with the following Terms of Reference:

- to articulate the purpose of recordkeeping in the APS context, the “business case” for it, and identify the impediments to effective recordkeeping
- explain how record creation/keeping interacts with the Australian Government's information collection, use and disclosure obligations
- explain how efficient and effective recordkeeping can be achieved in a modern Commonwealth agency, having regard to the increasing scale and complexity in recordkeeping brought about by the proliferation of electronic communications and new electronic media.

Information Management & Recordkeeping Guidelines for CCMD Officers - May 2008

This document (TRIM record number ADD2007/478333) makes specific reference to departmental recordkeeping requirements within the TRIM context as it relates to the CCMD portal, Investigation and Client files.

Information Management & Recordkeeping Guidelines for DSP staff - July 2007

This document (see TRIM record number ADD2007/536380 and Serco PPM Recordkeeping) provides an overview of departmental requirements in respect to recordkeeping by DSP. In accordance with the current DSP contract conditions, the DSP is required to define and implement local recordkeeping business processes that meet departmental recordkeeping requirements (see: DSP Contract , Part 49 - Records Management).

4 LEGISLATION AND STANDARDS

As a Commonwealth Government department, we operate under a variety of legislative requirements. The following acts, regulations, policies and standards relate to our departmental records:

- Archives Act 1983

- DIAC Security Instruction 2009 (TRIM record number ADD2009/895344)
- Email and Internet Use Instruction July 2010 (TRIM record number ADD2009/896104).

5 STAFF RESPONSIBILITIES

Departmental recordkeeping policy states that all staff are responsible for:

- keeping comprehensive, authentic and reliable records that support and evidence sound decision making
- ensuring that records are treated as valuable corporate assets and documented to a standard that would withstand independent scrutiny
- ensuring that recordkeeping is an integral part of all business processes
- keeping records in the approved recordkeeping systems in accordance with documented and authorised business processes
- folioing physical records and entering folio references into the approved recordkeeping systems, to ensure ongoing accessibility to departmental records
- aligning localised recordkeeping procedures with departmental standards by the development of local business rules.

You must keep a document when it will help to provide evidence of the department's

- business functions

- activities
- transactions
- use of resources or
- service delivery.

When it will help anyone, including the public, find out:

- what happened
- what was decided
- when it occurred
- what the sequence was and
- who was involved.

When it will give evidence for the Government, the Minister, the department or any officer to defend themselves:

- against legal action
- against charges of impropriety or
- at an official inquiry.

6 RESPONSIBILITIES SPECIFIC TO THE DSP

Recordkeeping guidelines specific to the DSP can be found in Information Management & Recordkeeping Guidelines for DSP staff.

6.1 DSP officer responsibilities

All DSP Officers are responsible for:

- keeping records of decisions made, in accordance with Commonwealth legislation and the Australian Public Service Code of Conduct
- deciding whether a given document or object should be a record
- creating records in a timely manner so that DSP and departmental staff reliant on this information have access to it when they need it-in the short, medium and long term
- attaching supporting documents as evidence in the portal so they become retrievable records from the corporate memory.

6.2 DSP manager responsibilities

All DSP managers need to:

- identify which records their business units must keep to ensure they comply with the department's recordkeeping policy and authorised DSP business procedures
- ensure recordkeeping procedures are both standard and common knowledge, so information remains accessible, even if staff changes occur
- adhere to the five-year moratorium on the destruction of departmental files containing client related records
- understand that many different parts of the department other than the operational business areas, including Litigation, Investigations and Freedom of Information, may need to retrieve information for legal cases.

7 HEALTH CARE RECORDS MANAGEMENT

Personal health information of all persons in immigration detention is private and confidential information between the individual and the health service provider.

DIAC and contractor staff will appropriately manage the health information of persons in immigration detention to meet all requirements of the Privacy Act 1988 and their responsibilities for the management of departmental records. All health care records for persons in immigration detention remain the property of the Commonwealth of Australia.

It is the responsibility of the Health Services Manager (HSM), not departmental or DSP staff, to create and maintain a client's health record. If information from a client's health record is required by departmental staff, a health summary may be sought in accordance with privacy requirements.

The Privacy Act 1988 states:

“...that personal information cannot be released to a third party without the consent of the person to whom the information relates. If there is a need to access information from a medical record the person should be specifically asked to grant access and disclosure of the required information.

An exception to this is the Commonwealth Ombudsman who has specific powers to access health records of persons in detention for the purpose of investigations.”

8 HEALTH SERVICES MANAGER RESPONSIBILITIES

The HSM must create and maintain an electronic Health Care Record for each person in immigration detention at the time of that person’s health induction assessment.

The HSM must ensure that each health care record:

- a. contains a record of all health consultations attended by that person during their period in immigration detention, (including any “out of hours” consultations), copies of all new referrals and referrals for any serious or chronic conditions, and details of any instance in which a person in immigration detention did not consent to a clinically recommended treatment, procedure or service
- b. contains a health summary consistent with Detention Health Standards (where applicable) and otherwise, accepted industry practice
- c. at any point in time, provides an up-to-date and accurate picture of the relevant person in immigration detention’s health status
- d. is stored in a readily accessible location secure against unauthorised access, theft or damage
- e. is kept in such a way that maintains the confidentiality and privacy of the information contained in the health care record, and is protected from unauthorised access or use and
- f. is otherwise created, maintained and used in accordance with the Archives Act 1983, AS ISO 15489-2002 Australian Standard for Records Management and the relevant departmental Health policy.

The HSM must develop, implement and keep up-to-date (by reviewing at least annually and amending as necessary) health information collection, storage and exchange policies and practices that:

- a. are consistent with the Archives Act 1983 and AS23081 Information and Documentation - Records Management Processes - Metadata for Records
- b. facilitate and support the timely and complete exchange of all relevant health information for persons in immigration detention between treating health care providers
- c. ensure that persons in immigration detention have access to their own health information and records in accordance with all relevant laws and
- d. allow for the generation or production (as applicable) of all health summaries, health data and other reports requested by the department.

BACKGROUND

This part comprises:

- section 1 Purpose
- section 2 Guiding principle
- section 3 Migration Act context
- section 4 Key detention provisions.

1 Purpose

The purpose of this instruction is to provide an overview of the Migration Act and highlight the provisions of the Act that are relevant to immigration detention.

2 Guiding principle

The guiding principle in relation to this instruction is encapsulated in DSM - Chapter 1: Legislative & principles overview - Service delivery values which states that people in immigration detention will be treated fairly and reasonably within the law.

Applying this principle to the legal framework in which we operate, this means that:

- all dealings with people in immigration detention will have a sound legal basis and
- staff working with people in immigration detention will be well trained and supported in the legal framework in which they operate.

3 Migration Act context

Under the Administrative Arrangements Order, the department deals with matters arising under the Act. Related matters dealt with by the department include:

- entry, stay and departure arrangements for non-citizens
- border immigration control including detention arrangements and
- arrangements for the settlement of migrants and humanitarian entrants, other than migrant child education.

The Act and the Regulations provide the statutory framework under which the department manages the delivery of the Government's migration and humanitarian programs, facilitates the well-managed entry and settlement of people to Australia, and enforces the requirements of Australia's migration laws, including the detention and removal of unlawful non-citizens who have no entitlement under those laws to enter and/or remain in Australia.

The Minister, and their delegates, has the power to grant a person who is not an Australian citizen (a 'non-citizen') permission to travel to and enter Australia, and/or permission to remain in Australia. This permission is called a visa. Except for certain citizens of Papua New Guinea, a non-citizen who is in Australia's migration zone must hold a visa that is in effect.

4 Key detention provisions

The Act defines lawful non-citizen, unlawful non-citizen and migration zone.

A lawful non-citizen is:

- a non-citizen in the migration zone who holds a valid (that is, not counterfeit) visa that is in effect (a valid visa is 'in effect' if the period specified on the visa allowing the non-citizen to remain in Australia has commenced and not ceased) and
- an allowed inhabitant of the Protected Zone who is in a protected area in connection with the performance of traditional activities such as traditional fishers (see s13 of the Act).

An unlawful non-citizen is a non-citizen in the migration zone who is not a lawful non-citizen (see s14 of the Act). Unlawful non-citizens are sometimes referred to as UNC's in policy instructions (but not in the Act or the Regulations). Generally, a lawful non-citizen will become a UNC if they enter the migration zone without a visa that is in effect, or remain in the migration zone without a visa that is in effect.

Except in certain circumstances, a non-citizen must not travel to Australia without a visa that is in effect. See s42 of the Act for more information about the circumstances in which a non-citizen can travel to Australia without a visa.

The migration zone means the area consisting of the states, the territories, Australian resource installations and Australian sea installations and also includes:

- land that is part of a state/territory at mean low water and
- sea within the limits of both a state or territory at a port and
- piers, or similar structures, any part of which is connected to such land or to ground under such sea but does not include sea within the limits of a state/territory but not in a port.

DETENTION OF UNLAWFUL NON-CITIZENS

This part comprises:

- section 5 Types of detention
- section 6 Definitions relevant to mandatory & discretionary detention.

5 Types of detention

5.1 Mandatory detention

Mandatory detention became part of Australian law in 1994. Generally speaking, it means that in certain circumstances, if an officer knows or reasonably suspects that a person is an unlawful non-citizen, the officer must detain the person.

Section 189(1) of the Act provides that if an officer knows or reasonably suspects that a person in the migration zone (other than an excised offshore place) is a UNC, the officer must detain the person.

Section 189(2) of the Act provides that if an officer reasonably suspects that a person in Australia but outside the migration zone:

- is seeking to enter the migration zone (other than an excised offshore place) and
- would, if in the migration zone, be an unlawful non-citizen

the officer must detain the person.

5.2 Discretionary detention

Generally, discretionary detention means that in certain circumstances, if an officer knows or reasonably suspects that a person is an unlawful non-citizen, the officer may detain the person.

Section 189(3) of the Act provides that if an officer knows or reasonably suspects that a person in an excised offshore place is a UNC, the officer may detain the person.

Section 189(4) of the Act provides that if an officer reasonably suspects that a person in Australia but outside the migration zone:

- is seeking to enter an excised offshore place and
- would, if in the migration zone, be an unlawful non-citizen

the officer may detain the person.

For more information about mandatory and discretionary detention see Compliance Instructions - NCOI - General Detention Procedures - Power to detain \(s189\).

6 Definitions relevant to mandatory & discretionary detention

6.1 Defined terms

Australia is much bigger than the migration zone. A person is "in Australia" if the person is either on the Australian mainland or on the land mass of an island or external territory over which Australia has jurisdiction, or is on the sea within 12 nautical miles of the shore of such land (for more information see s15B and s17 of the Acts Interpretation Act 1901 and s7 of the Seas and Submerged Land Act 1973).

Section 5 of the Act defines the following terms:

Detain

Immigration detention.

Officer

Migration zone

Excised offshore place

Offshore entry person

6.2 Term that are not defined in the Act

Knowledge that a person is an unlawful non-citizen

See PAM3: Migration Act - Compliance instructions - NCOI - General detention procedures - Knowledge that a person is an unlawful non-citizen.

Reasonable suspicion that a person is unlawful

See PAM3: Migration Act - Compliance instructions - NCOI - General detention procedures - Reasonable suspicion that a person is unlawful.

What is a 'reasonable suspicion' will depend on the circumstances of each case.

Officers must ensure that knowledge or reasonable suspicion about a person's status as a UNC is based on objective evidence such as:

- information held in departmental records
- credible information from third parties
- the person's inability to provide satisfactory evidence of being a lawful non-citizen and a lack of credible explanation for this and/or
- the person evading or attempting to evade officers or
- a combination of the above factors.

This part comprises:

- section 7 Rights of a person to apply for a visa
- section 8 Duration of detention
- section 9 Removal of UNC's from Australia.

7 Rights of a person to apply for a visa

Section 256 of the Act provides that where a person is in immigration detention the person responsible for their immigration detention shall, at the request of the person in immigration detention, give to them application forms for a visa or afford them all reasonable facilities for making a statutory declaration for the purposes of the Act or for obtaining legal advice or taking legal proceedings in relation to their immigration detention.

Section 195 limits when a person in immigration detention may apply for a visa. Section 195(1) provides that a detainee may apply for a visa:

- within 2 working days after the day on which s194 was complied with in relation to their detention or
- if they inform an officer in writing within those 2 working days of their intention to so apply - within the next 5 working days after those 2 working days.

Section 195(2) provides that a detainee who does not apply for a visa within the time allowed by section 195(1) may not apply for a visa, other than a bridging visa or a protection visa, after that time.

Importantly, s193 limits who s195 applies to.

Section 46A(1) of the Act prevents an offshore entry person (see the definition above) who is in Australia and is a UNC from making a valid application for a visa. However, under s46A(2), if the Minister thinks that it is in the public interest to do so, the Minister may in effect determine that the offshore entry person can make a valid visa application. This power can only be exercised by the Minister.

8 Duration of detention

Section 196 of the Act provides that a UNC detained under s189 must be kept in immigration detention until they are:

- (a) removed from Australia under s198 or s199
- (b) deported under s200 or
- (c) granted a visa.

Importantly, s196 does not prevent a person who is a lawful non-citizen or an Australian citizen from being released from immigration detention.

The reasonable suspicion that a particular person is a UNC is continually reviewed by compliance and detention officers, to ensure the evidence available to the department supports the person's continued detention.

If an officer's state of mind changes from a reasonable suspicion that a detainee is a UNC to knowledge that the detainee is a lawful non-citizen or an Australian citizen, the detainee must be released from immigration detention immediately.

If an officer's state of mind changes from reasonable suspicion that a detainee is an unlawful non-citizen to a state of mind where that reasonable suspicion is no longer held, the detainee must be released from immigration detention immediately.

Under s195A(2), if the Minister thinks that it is in the public interest to do so, the Minister may grant a person to whom the section applies (that is, a person who is detained under s189 of the Act) a visa of a particular class (whether or not the person has applied for the visa). The Minister does not have a duty to consider whether to exercise the power, whether they are requested to do so by any person, or in any other circumstances. This power may only be exercised by the Minister personally.

9 Removal of UNC's from Australia

Under s198, an officer must remove a UNC from Australia as soon as reasonably practicable. The Act does not define a period of time that is considered 'as soon as reasonably practicable' but removal officers must ensure that there are not unwarranted delays in progressing and effecting a removal.

The most commonly used legislative provisions in the Act for the removal of UNC's are:

- section 198(1) - a UNC who asks the Minister (or a delegate) in writing to be removed
- section 198(2) - a detainee who has not been immigration cleared and has not applied for a substantive visa or has applied but the application has been finally determined; or a detainee who held an enforcement visa that has ceased to be in effect and has not been a lawful non-citizen since the enforcement visa ceased to be in effect, and has not applied for a substantive visa or has applied but the application has been finally determined (for example, illegal foreign fishers)
- section 198(5) - a detainee who has been immigration cleared who was entitled to apply for a visa within two working days, or after requesting in writing an extension of time but did not apply
- section 198(6) - a detainee who has been immigration cleared whose application for a substantive visa has been refused and finally determined.

For more information see PAM3: Act - Compliance instructions - Removal Instructions - Removal from Australia.

TABLE OF DETENTION RELATED POWERS

10 Detention related provisions in the Act & Regs

The following detention-related provisions include examples of powers that are:

- conferred on the Minister and can only be exercised by the Minister personally and
- conferred on the Minister and which can be delegated to another person and
- conferred on an officer (within the meaning of the Act).

For example, s189 is a power conferred on an officer, while s195A is a power conferred on the Minister that can be exercised only by the Minister.

The information in the table below has been paraphrased for ease of reading. Refer to the Act and the Regulations for the precise wording of each provision set out in the table.

Further links to related instructions will be added when this instruction is reviewed.

Note: There are other powers exercised by Compliance Officers in relation to detention which fall outside the scope of this instruction.

INTRODUCTION

This Part comprises:

- section 1 Guiding principles
- section 2 Legislative framework
- section 3 Generic terms.

1 GUIDING PRINCIPLES

The guiding principles in relation to placement options within the immigration detention network are encapsulated in DSM Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview: Immigration detention service delivery values, which states that persons in immigration detention will be treated fairly and reasonably within the law and that conditions of immigration detention will ensure the inherent dignity of the human person. For the purpose of this instruction, this means that:

- the immigration detention network comprises a range of placement options for persons in immigration detention. The current placement options for persons detained under the Act are:
  - immigration detention centres (see section 4 Immigration detention centres)
  - immigration residential housing (see section 5 Immigration residential housing)
  - immigration transit accommodation (see section 6 Immigration transit accommodation)
  - alternative places of detention (see section 7 Alternative places of detention) and
  - community detention (see section 8 Community detention)
- all immigration detention placement decisions will be guided by the client placement model (CPM). Placement decisions will be fair, reasonable, risk-based and apply the least restrictive immigration detention option for the individual. For policy and procedures see DSM Chapter 2 - Client placement: Client placement model.

2 LEGISLATIVE FRAMEWORK

2.1 Legislation

Immigration detention centres are established under s273 of the Act.

Immigration transit accommodation (ITA), immigration residential housing (IRH) and alternative places of detention (APOD) are all established under item (b)(v) of the Act definition of immigration detention as other places “approved by the Minister in writing”.

Residence determination (community detention) is defined under s197AB of the Act.

Under policy, the following three categories of persons will be subject to mandatory immigration detention:

- all unauthorised arrivals, for management of health, identity and security risks to the community
- unlawful non-citizens who present unacceptable risks to the community and
- unlawful non-citizens who have repeatedly refused to comply with their visa conditions.

3 GENERIC TERMS

The generic terms ‘immigration detention facility’ or ‘immigration detention facilities’ may be used for ease of reference to describe the above departmental facilities, either individually or collectively, where an individual reference (for example, Maribyrnong Immigration Detention Centre or Sydney Immigration Residential Housing) would not be appropriate.

The terms ‘immigration transit accommodation’, or ITA and ‘immigration residential housing’ or IRH are used to refer to any specific place of ITA/IRH or in the collective sense to refer to any place of ITA/IRH.

The following table outlines the services/welfare provisions offered at immigration detention facilities:

PLACEMENT OPTIONS

This Part comprises:

- section 4 Immigration detention centres
- section 5 Immigration residential housing
- section 6 Immigration transit accommodation
- section 7 Alternative places of detention
- section 8 Community detention.

4 IMMIGRATION DETENTION CENTRES

Detention in IDCs will only be used as a last resort and for the shortest practicable time.

Immigration detention centres (IDCs) provide an environment for the effective management of persons in immigration detention (and fisheries detention at Northern IDC). Individual circumstances that can be best managed in an IDC include:

- welfare, health and wellbeing requirements
- behavioural issues
- security concerns and
- flight risk management.

The key determinant of the need to detain a person in an IDC will be risk to the community. This includes:

- unauthorised arrivals undergoing health, character and security checks
- persons with criminal or terrorist links or those whose identity is unknown
- persons who repeatedly refuse to comply with visa conditions, particularly immediately prior to their planned involuntary removal.

Minors (excluding visitors) must not be taken into IDCs. Children, including juvenile foreign fishers and, where possible, their families, will not be detained in an IDC. Children in the company of family members will be accommodated in IRH or community settings.

IDCs provide a range of accommodation, including compounds, dormitories, single rooms or en-suite rooms. Allocation of accommodation within an IDC is based on client placement assessments.

IDCs have health services available onsite to meet the health needs of the population, with referral to external health providers in the community as clinically required.

All meals are fully catered and dining areas, laundries and multi-purpose areas for programs and activities are shared. IDCs are securely fenced and have outdoor areas for recreational use.

There are currently five operational IDCs:

- Villawood IDC (NSW)
- Maribyrnong IDC (VIC)
- Perth IDC (WA)
- Northern IDC (NT) and
- Christmas Island IDC (Christmas Island).

For policy and procedures see DSM Chapter 2 - Client placement: Immigration detention centres.

For policy and procedures specific to unauthorised arrivals at Christmas Island see Discretion to detain unauthorised arrivals at Christmas Island.

5 IMMIGRATION RESIDENTIAL HOUSING

IRH is a form of alternative detention which provides a more domestic detention environment for eligible low flight and security risk persons.

IRH is similar in appearance to housing in the general community and allows persons in detention a greater amount of autonomy over day-to-day activities.

Health care services are provided offsite exclusively by community based health providers.

There are currently two operational IRH sites:

- Perth IRH (WA) and
- Sydney IRH (NSW).

Client placement assessments may allow families with children to be placed in IRH, however unaccompanied minors should only be placed in IRH as a last resort. Minors must not be placed in IRH that accommodates persons who are detained under s501 (Refusal or cancellation of visa on character grounds). The regional manager (RM) must decide which group is placed in the IRH at any given time - minors and persons whose visas have been cancelled under s501 must not be co-located.

For policy and procedures see:

- DSM Chapter 2 - Client placement: Immigration residential housing
- DSM Chapter 2 - Client placement: Minors in detention.

6 IMMIGRATION TRANSIT ACCOMMODATION

ITA provides short stay accommodation for persons in immigration detention who represent a low security risk, low flight risk and have no known health concerns that preclude their placement in ITA.

A person who meets the criteria for placement in ITA may be accommodated there for up to 7 days.

ITA offers semi-independent living in hostel style accommodation. Basic health care is generally available onsite with referral to external health providers in the community as clinically required.

Minors may be accommodated in ITA if the placement recommendation is endorsed by the DCE.

There is currently one operational ITA site in Brisbane. The Melbourne ITA is due to be operational in April 2008 and construction of the Adelaide ITA is due to commence in 2008.

For policy and procedures see DSM Chapter 2 - Client placement: Immigration transit accommodation.

7 ALTERNATIVE PLACES OF DETENTION

This form of immigration detention is used to address situations where other detention options are either not available or not suited to a person's particular circumstances. It may include motels, apartments, private houses, hospitals and in some cases remand and/or correction facilities.

Alternative places of detention, in the form of apartments, are used for families where IRH is either not available or not suitable. It is also used to accommodate persons in detention who may have specialist health or physical needs that cannot be met in immigration detention facilities.

In most cases persons in alternative places of detention will remain in the physical presence of a detention service provider (DSP) officer or other designated or directed person.

For policy and procedures see DSM Chapter 2 - Client placement: Alternative temporary detention in the community.

Foster care

This option may be arranged in conjunction with an alternative detention placement and can be used to place persons in the care of health professionals, or minors in the care of the relevant state/territory child welfare agency.

Foster care as an alternative place of detention can only be arranged where an agreement is in place with the relevant state/territory child welfare authority. The nature and availability of foster care will depend on any specific agreements between the department and the relevant state/territory government.

For specific queries relating to foster care arrangements please contact the Health and Community Services Section, National Office.

8 COMMUNITY DETENTION

Community detention is a form of immigration detention, which is authorised by the Minister personally by a residence determination under s197AB of the Act, if the Minister thinks it is in the public interest to do so. It enables persons in immigration detention to be detained in the community. This form of immigration detention does not require the person in detention to be in the company of, and restrained by, an officer or other designated person, however other specified conditions (for example, monitoring/reporting requirements) may apply. The person/family resides in a house, supported by a non-government organisation, in the community with no physical sign of being detained. Health services are accessed by the person in the community. Family groups, women and children and unaccompanied minors are primary groups for consideration for community detention. Persons with special needs that cannot be met in other IDFs may also be considered.

Under s197AB only the Minister has the power to determine that a person is to reside in community detention.

Please note that when using this term in a legal context or in relation to the Act it should be referred to as ‘residence determination (community detention)’.

For policy and procedures see DSM Chapter 2 - Client placement: Community detention.

DISCRETION TO DETAIN UNAUTHORISED ARRIVALS AT CHRISTMAS ISLAND

This part comprises:

- section 9 Purpose
- section 10 Background
- section 11 Update
- section 12 Protection claims
- section 13 Children & family groups.

9 PURPOSE

To record departmental policy relating to the use of the discretion to detain unauthorised arrivals at Christmas Island.

10 BACKGROUND

Section 189(3) of the Act provides that if an officer knows or reasonably suspects that a person in an excised offshore place is an unlawful non-citizen, the officer may detain the person.

11 UPDATE

As a matter of policy, it is intended, as a general rule, that all unauthorised air and sea arrivals at Christmas Island will initially be taken into immigration detention to enable processing, initial interviews and health checks to take place. Certain exceptions from the policy to initially detain could apply, such as where a person arrives on a yacht and needs medical treatment, and is not able to be granted a visa on arrival and intends to depart from Australia on their yacht as soon as their injuries or medical condition stabilises. That is, in circumstances where a person did not intend to come to Australia and does not intend to remain in Australia once the temporary circumstances that made them seek assistance at Christmas Island abate and they are able to depart.

12 PROTECTION CLAIMS

If an unauthorised arrival makes a claim for protection under the Refugees Convention, separation detention arrangements are to be put in place to enable initial assessment interviews and initial medical checks to be completed.

13 CHILDREN & FAMILY GROUPS

It is important to note that, where appropriate, there is considerable flexibility in the management of persons in immigration detention, such as alternative detention arrangements, to enable their initial claims to be assessed and checks to be made. For children and family groups, if they have been screened in, a submission will be put to the Minister for consideration of a residence determination while their claims are assessed. If screened out, further flexible detention options may be available depending on the circumstances.

INTRODUCTION

This Part comprises:

- section 1 About this instruction
- section 2 The purpose of border screening detention
- section 3 Guiding principles.

1 ABOUT THIS INSTRUCTION

The purpose of this instruction is to guide departmental officers and detention service provider (DSP) staff on the nature and use of border screening detention.

2 THE PURPOSE OF BORDER SCREENING DETENTION

Border screening detention applies both onshore, through the protection visa (PV) process, and offshore, through the non-statutory process for persons arriving at an excised offshore place.

Its purpose is to maintain the integrity of Australia's refugee status determination process by protecting the authenticity of personal accounts of protection claimants. Border screening detention also leads to the timely removal of unauthorised arrivals who have not raised claims nor provided information that engages Australia's protection obligations.

(Note: Border screening detention was previously referred to as "separation detention". In the current DSP contract for immigration detention centres (IDCs), border screening detention is referred to as "restrictive detention".)

3 GUIDING PRINCIPLES

The guiding principles for border screening detention are stated in the immigration values in DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Service delivery values, which state that persons in immigration detention will be treated fairly and reasonably within the law and that their inherent dignity will be preserved. .

Border screening detention is not a punitive measure and does not constitute isolation for a person in immigration detention, and is never to be used in such a way.

The purpose of border screening detention is to protect the integrity of the protection process by ensuring that Australia's resources are directed towards those whose claims, prima facie, engage Australia's protection obligations and not those who would misuse the protection process in an attempt to achieve migration outcomes. It assists in ensuring timely removal of unauthorised arrivals whose cases have not been found to raise protection issues.

The intention of border screening detention is to accommodate unauthorised arrivals separately to the general immigration detention population, thereby preventing coaching on the PV process by other persons prior to undertaking an entry interview. Border screening detention also protects privacy and ensures Australia's resources are directed to persons with genuine protection claims.

It is departmental policy that all irregular maritime arrivals (IMAs) be placed initially in border screening detention.

ACCESS TO PERSONS IN BORDER SCREENING DETENTION

This Part comprises:

- section 4 Persons permitted access
- section 5 Obligations of persons granted access
- section 6 Table summary - Access to persons in border screening detention.

4 PERSONS PERMITTED ACCESS

4.1 The Ombudsman

The Ombudsman has a statutory right to enter an IDC, including the area that constitutes border screening detention, providing the entry is for the purposes of an investigation.

This is because, under s14(1) of the Ombudsman Act 1976, for the purposes of an investigation under this Act, an authorised person may, at any reasonable time of the day enter a place that is occupied by a department or prescribed authority and conduct an investigation at the place.

Such an investigation need not be the result of a complaint made by a person in detention. The Ombudsman's powers also apply to a place occupied by a department's contracted services provider.

4.2 The Australian Human Rights Commission

The Australian Human Rights Commission (AHRC) does not have a specific statutory power to enter Border Screening; however, it does have statutory powers that allow it to investigate complaints of alleged human rights breaches in detention facilities, including access to border screening detention. In practice, this means that the AHRC is allowed access to Border Screening. AHRC has powers to require the department to give information and produce documents relevant to an examination or inquiry under section 21 of the AHRC Act 1986, but these powers are only exercisable by written notice served on the department.

4.3 The Council for Immigration Services and Status Resolution

The department's independent advisory group, the Council for Immigration Services and Status Resolution (CISSR) has unfettered access to immigration detention facilities, including those used for border screening detention.

4.4 The Australian Red Cross

The department has a memorandum of understanding with the Australian Red Cross under which the Red Cross has agreed, with departmental permission, to conduct activities with persons in border screening detention under the requirements set by the department. The Australian Red Cross enters the border screening detention as invitees only. They cannot turn up unannounced and demand entry.

4.5 Other organisations

Other organisations such as the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR) and Immigration Advice and Application Assistance Scheme (IAAAS) providers may negotiate with the Regional Manager, Detention Services, for access to persons in border screening detention.

5 OBLIGATIONS OF PERSONS GRANTED ACCESS

All persons visiting border screening detention must be informed of their obligation:

- not to interfere with the interview process for protection claims
- not to coach persons in border screening detention
- not to share sensitive information.

Except for the organisations (such as the Commonwealth Ombudsman) that have a statutory right to access persons in border screening detention, the department reserves the right to restrict access for those persons who violate the conditions of border screening detention. The decision to restrict access must be made by the Assistant Secretary on Christmas Island or the Assistant Secretary of the Irregular Maritime Arrivals Branch, National Office.

CLIENT PLACEMENT

This Part comprises:

- section 7 Border screening detention interviews
- section 8 Duration of border screening detention
- section 9 Where border screening detention can occur
- section 10 Allocation of accommodation
- section 11 Reception and induction
- section 12 “Waiver” of border screening detention.

7 BORDER SCREENING DETENTION INTERVIEWS

7.1 Initial entry and full entry interviews

If an unlawful non-citizen is detected on arrival at an airport or seaport, an entry interview will be arranged by immigration airport or seaport staff to establish the person’s identity, citizenship and the purpose of their travel to Australia. (Customs officers may undertake entry interviews in relation to stowaways at more remote locations.)

If during the initial entry interview it is considered that the person needs to be detained, a full entry interview is conducted as part of border control activity by immigration airport or seaport staff.

7.2 Timing

Full entry interviews must be conducted within four hours of the initial entry interview.

7.3 Assessing protection obligations

If the person has expressed a fear of returning to their home country or their country of usual residence, the transcript of the interview is referred for assessment to the Assistant Secretary, Onshore Protection Branch (ONPRO), Refugee Humanitarian and International (RH&I), National Office or the First Assistant Secretary, RH&I or other senior departmental officers as designated by either of these RH&I SES officers.

The designated RH&I assessing officer considers whether the person may prima facie engage Australia’s protection obligations - meaning that, at first glance, there is evidence to suggest they have a valid claim to protection that warrants testing.

The designated RH&I officer must provide an assessment of the entry interview to the airport or seaport officer who interviewed the unauthorised arrival or the relevant airport or seaport duty officer. Such assessments for unauthorised air arrivals are made as soon as practicable.

7.4 Case referral

If the designated RH&I assessing officer considers that the person has prima facie a claim that may engage Australia’s protection obligations, the person’s case will be referred for a full examination using the protection determination process.

Such person are entitled to professional and independent application assistance to put any protection claims they may have and to ensure they are not refouled (returned) while their claims are considered. Application assistance, including the use of interpreters as required, is available through the publicly-funded Immigration Advice and Application Assistance Scheme (IAAAS) and referrals should be arranged through ONPRO staff in Sydney and Melbourne.

7.5 If no protection obligation

If the person does not provide information or make claims that the assessing officer considers prima facie may engage Australia’s protection obligations, arrangements are made for the person to be removed as soon as possible. A person may, however, raise claims at any time after the entry interview while they remain in immigration detention in Australia; those claims could result in their being referred for a full examination in the protection determination process.

7.6 Interview assistance

Each person in border screening detention must be made aware, in a language they can understand, of the purpose, length and conditions of border screening detention. Care should be taken to ensure that persons understand that border screening detention is a standard procedure for unauthorised arrivals. Persons in immigration detention should be given every opportunity to ask questions about their circumstances and receive helpful and informative answers.

Prior to being placed in border screening detention, each person in immigration detention should be provided with the opportunity to communicate by telephone, letter or facsimile, to an overseas address, to confirm their safe arrival in Australia. This is subject to approval by the Assistant Secretary, ONPRO, or their representative. A copy of the letter or facsimile is to be retained on the person in immigration detention's file. A note of any telephone calls, including time, date and caller should be placed on file.

7.7 Minors

Minors should always have their case prioritised so that their time in border screening detention is as short as possible.

Special attention must be given to the needs of unaccompanied minors aged between 16 and 18 years old who undergo an entry interview.

The necessity for entry interviewing for unaccompanied minors under 16 years of age will be considered by staff in the Border Security Division, on a case-by-case basis, taking into account individual circumstances.

Minors should be interviewed in the presence of an independent adult.

If an unaccompanied minor enters Australia as an IMA, the client placement assessment (CPA) for the minor must indicate clearly that the minor is in border screening detention. For policy and procedures, see DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Minors in detention.

8 DURATION OF BORDER SCREENING DETENTION

8.1 Unauthorised air arrivals

An unauthorised air arrival will remain at the airport until an RH&I designated assessing officer determines whether the person raises claims or information that might prima facie engage Australia's protection obligations.

If it is assessed that the person's claims need further examination in a protection determination process, the person will be transferred to the nearest immigration detention facility. Placement of the person is in accordance with the client placement model (CPM) - see DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Client placement model.

If the person is considered not to be prima facie raising claims or providing information that may engage Australia's protection obligations, arrangements will be made as quickly as possible for the person's removal.

Consultation with the Returns and Removals Support team is required if:

- the person is in border screening detention and
- a removal outcome is pending.

(Note: A person may volunteer further information or activate s256 of the Act at any time prior to removal. Section 256 of the Act outlines a removee's right to request access to legal advice while in immigration detention.)

8.2 Irregular maritime arrivals (IMAs)

IMAs will normally be kept in border screening detention until entry, Australian Federal Police and intelligence interviews are completed, unless special circumstances are documented that require a longer period of border screening detention. Returns and Removals Support team will need to be consulted if the person is assessed as being “pending removal”. This process needs to be managed closely to minimise the time the person will spend in border screening detention.

An IMA assessed as not raising claims engaging Australia’s protection obligations will remain in detention conditions as determined by Irregular Maritime Arrivals Branch, national Office, until the IMA’s removal.

Continued placement in border screening detention beyond assessment of entry interviews for potential protection obligations may only be authorised by the Assistant Secretary, Irregular Maritime Arrivals Branch, in writing.

Upon cessation of border screening detention a CPA must be made to ensure the most appropriate placement within the detention services network. Property, with the exception of illegal or excluded items and mobile phones, should be returned to the person in immigration detention.

For policies and procedures see:

- DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Minors in immigration detention
- DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Client placement model.

9 WHERE BORDER SCREENING DETENTION CAN OCCUR

Border screening detention can occur in any place designated under the Migration Act 1958 as a place of immigration detention. This means that persons may be detained in border screening detention in an:

- IDC
- immigration residential housing (IRH)
- immigration transit accommodation (ITA)
- alternative place of detention (APOD), including in the community (for example a hotel).

As minors and, where possible, their families, are not to be placed in an IDC, they will be placed in border screening detention in either IRH or APOD. (A minor’s access to an IDC would be limited to occasional visits if they have family members detained in an IDC. Minors are not to be allowed into the residential areas of the IDCs; any visits must take place in the designated visiting area - see DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Visitors & entry to immigration detention facilities.)

For policies and procedures see

- DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Minors in immigration detention and
- DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Client placement model.

10 ALLOCATION OF ACCOMMODATION

The DSP will arrange border screening detention in accordance with principles established in consultation with the department. In particular, the following considerations should be taken into account when allocating accommodation within border screening detention:

- age, sex and family circumstances
- personal safety
- minor or unaccompanied minor status
- health, welfare, or special needs and
- other factors such as cultural or religious preferences.

It is not necessary to separate couples and family groups, but the decision to allow cohabitation should be at the request of the parties concerned, provided the health, welfare and personal safety of the parties concerned is maintained.

For policies and procedures, see DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Client placement model.

11 RECEPTION AND INDUCTION

11.1 Reception

Persons in immigration detention assessed as raising claims or providing information that prima facie may engage Australia's protection obligations will undergo the same reception processes as others entering immigration detention.

Any group of persons appearing to engage Australia's protection obligations, or stating that they are seeking Australia's protection when entering an immigration detention facility should be separated from other persons entering the facility at that time. This is a precaution against one group coaching another on the protection process.

11.2 Induction

Persons in immigration detention who are seeking Australia's protection will have a different induction from the general immigration detention population. All persons entering border screening detention will need to be briefed in a language they understand in order to access facilities available to them in border screening detention.

This briefing must include:

- how to contact any of the groups mentioned in section 4 Persons permitted access
- when they will be able to receive their mail - see section 13.2 Correspondence) and
- conditions of border screening detention - see section 13 Restrictions on persons in border screening detention.

When border screening detention is no longer required, the person will require induction to their specific detention facility. For further information on reception and induction and the particular processes see the relevant DSM instruction.

For policy and procedure see:

- DSM - Chapter 3 - Entering & leaving detention - Reception
- DSM - Chapter 3 - Entering & leaving detention - Induction
- DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Translating & interpreting services.

12 "WAIVER" OF BORDER SCREENING DETENTION

Persons in border screening detention may apply for a temporary exemption ("waiver") from border screening detention for other purposes. These applications are to be made to the Regional Manager or delegate.

All authorisations to waive border screening detention requirements must be noted in that person's file, along with:

- the name of the authorising departmental officer
- the purpose of the waiver
- the duration of the waiver and
- details of any authorisation that covers a single or regular occurrence (for example a one-off appointment or a more regular arrangement).

The department reserves the right to apply a blanket waiver of border screening detention in certain circumstances.

CONDITIONS OF BORDER SCREENING DETENTION

This Part comprises:

- section 13 Restrictions on persons in border screening detention
- section 14 Breaches of restrictions by persons in border screening detention
- section 15 Mail
- section 16 Telephone calls.

13 RESTRICTIONS ON PERSONS IN BORDER SCREENING DETENTION

13.1 Restrictions

Except with the written approval of the Regional Manager, Detention Services, persons in border screening detention are not permitted to:

- have contact with the general immigration detention population or members of the public
- receive personal visits or have community contacts
- make or receive telephone calls, other than with the Ombudsman and the AHRC
- have access to incoming or outgoing mail, faxes, email, or other correspondence, other than from the Ombudsman and AHRC
- have access to a mobile phone or computer with a modem or any other forms of internet access
- have access to non-approved television, radio, newspapers or magazines or
- participate in group excursions.

Persons in border screening detention are, however, permitted one overseas telephone call to inform their family of their whereabouts and circumstances.

Any additional restrictions, such as having to remove shoelaces, razorblades or aerosol cans, are to be approved in writing by the Regional Manager and documented with a CPA on the person's file.

13.2 Correspondence

Correspondence between a person in border screening detention and a professional or official visitor is to be facilitated in a timely manner.

With the exception of correspondence from the organisations or persons listed in section 13.1 Restrictions, personal correspondence received for persons in border screening detention:

- must be withheld for the duration of border screening detention and
- must be logged in the person's in-trust property, and a form 41 (Property receipt) provided.

Such correspondence must be given to the person as soon as their period of border screening detention ceases. For policy and procedures, see section 15 Mail.

13.3 Standard detention policies otherwise apply

In all other respects, border screening detention is to be conducted in accordance with existing policy and procedures governing immigration detention. Unless expressly prohibited in writing by the Regional Manager, persons in border screening detention are to have access to the full range of services and amenities available to the general immigration detention population. For example, persons in border screening detention will have full access to health and mental health support services and special care needs, and may access suitable videos, reading material and recreational activities approved in advance by the department.

Persons in border screening detention are able to contact legal representation and migration agents, consular representation, spiritual leaders, select government bodies such as members of official advisory groups, AHRC and the Ombudsman's Office. Appropriate publications and signage must be made available in border screening detention. See DSM -Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Consular access.

Case managers, officers working in ONPRO or performing ONPRO functions in the relevant State/Territory office may discuss with a person in border screening detention their immigration status, and all enquiries must be directed to the person in immigration detention's case manager.

For policy and procedure, see DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Client placement model.

14 BREACHES OF RESTRICTIONS BY PERSONS IN BORDER SCREENING DETENTION

All officers must be vigilant at all times to withstand attempts to overcome restrictions that apply to border screening detention, and must be aware of tactics that may be used to breach restrictions. An example of tactics used in the past to initiate contact with persons held in another area of the facility include attaching notes to footballs and passing the ball into border screening detention areas.

If a person in border screening detention needs to attend another area of the facility (for example a medical centre or interview room), they are to be accompanied at all times by a departmental or DSP officer and prevented from communicating with other persons in separate border screening detention groups or the general immigration detention population.

Any breach of the provisions of border screening detention must be reported as a major incident through normal incident reporting processes.

15 MAIL

Correspondence between a person in border screening detention and a professional or official visitor must be facilitated in a timely manner. With the exception of the organisations or persons listed in section 8, persons in border screening detention will not be permitted to send any correspondence to addresses in Australia.

All mail processed from the Border Screening Unit will be monitored strictly. Correspondence from approved organisations will go to the departmental officer responsible for border screening detention for approval in the first instance. Correspondence that has been approved by the department is to be delivered promptly to the person in immigration detention to whom it is addressed.

With the exception of correspondence from the organisations or persons listed in section 4 Persons permitted access, personal correspondence received for persons in border screening detention will be withheld while they remain in such detention. Correspondence to persons in border screening detention must be logged in their in-trust property and a form 41 (Property receipt) provided. Withheld correspondence is to be returned to the person when border screening detention ceases.

When mail arrives from any of the organisations listed in section 4 Persons permitted access addressed to a specific person in immigration detention, that mail should be forwarded to that person. Publications are to be made freely available and signage prominently displayed to inform persons in immigration detention of their right to contact these agencies. While members of immigration advisory groups may have unfettered access to all facilities, there is a requirement that they always be accompanied by departmental or DSP officers.

Persons in immigration detention are able, on arrival and subject to the department's approval, to communicate by letter or fax to an overseas address to confirm safe arrival in Australia.

For policy and procedure see DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Access to communication services.

16 TELEPHONE CALLS

Any incoming call to a person in border screening detention will not be put through to the person. The receiving officer will not confirm or deny the presence of the person in the facility. The operator will state clearly - "I am not able to confirm whether or not this person is in one of the detention facilities. If they are, I will endeavour to pass on your message".

If the caller states that they are a representative of one of the organisations listed in section 4 Persons permitted access and that they wish to speak to a person in border screening detention, this call will be transferred to a DSP or departmental officer for verification purposes. Once the caller's identity has been verified, the call will be transferred to the person in border screening detention.

For policy and procedure see DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Access to communication services.

Immigration detention centres

IMPORTANT NOTICE

Minors require immediate attention to ensure their best interests are considered.

Minors are never to be detained in an immigration detention centre for accommodation or immigration processing purposes.

Placement of a minor in an immigration detention facility is to be used only as a last resort, for the shortest practicable time, and the least restrictive form appropriate to the minor's circumstances.

INTRODUCTION

This part comprises:

- section 1 Purpose
- section 2 Legislative framework
- section 3 Guiding principles
- section 4 Current IDCs
- section 5 Persons detained in an IDC
- section 6 Roles and responsibilities
- section 7 Client placement options
- section 8 Reception & induction
- section 9 Induction health assessment.

1 Purpose

An immigration detention centre (IDC) forms part of the immigration detention network (IDN) which offers a range of supported immigration detention accommodation options that accord with the department's duty of care and that best meet the needs of persons in immigration detention. The purpose of this instruction is to outline the principles behind the operation of an IDC and the scope of the services provided.

2 Legislative framework

2.1 Immigration detention centres

IDCs are legislated under s273 of the Act where the Minister may, on behalf of the Commonwealth, cause detention centres to be established and maintained.

2.2 Detaining unlawful non-citizens

Section 189 of the Act provides officers with the power to detain unlawful non-citizens. Section 196 of the Act states that an unlawful non-citizen detained under s189 must be kept in immigration detention until he or she is:

- (a) removed from Australia under s198 or 199
- (b) deported under s200 or
- (c) granted a visa.

2.3 Detention of a minor

The effect of s4AA of the Act is that where detention of a minor is required under the Act, it will occur as a measure of last resort only and when and wherever possible, take place in the community under a residence determination made by the Minister under s197AB of the Act.

Minors are not to be detained at any time in an IDC for accommodation or while their immigration pathway is being processed. Minors will also not engage in any activities undertaken within an IDC (except minors visiting relatives or friends within the visitors' area only). For policy and procedure, see the following documents:

- DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement: Minors in detention
- DSM - Chapter 4 - Communications & visits - Visitors & entry to immigration detention facilities
- PAM3: Act - Compliance, case management & detention - Detention - Case Management
- Placement Review documentation at ADD2010/984005.

2.4 Screening of visitors

Section 252G of the Act enables the screening of visitors to an IDC using screening equipment such as a metal detector or similar device for detecting objects or particular substances. See DSM - Chapter 4 - Screening & inspection powers: Entry to immigration detention centres.

2.5 Medical treatment of persons in IDCs

Migration regulation 5.35 gives the Secretary the power to authorise medical treatment against the will of the person in an IDC, including the administration of food, fluids and treatment in hospital.

2.6 Other detention legislation

For policy and procedure on legislation applicable to IDCs see DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Detention legal framework.

3 Guiding principles

In accordance with the key immigration detention values persons who are detained and held in an IDC are in administrative detention as unlawful non-citizens. Administrative detention is not correctional or punitive detention. Administrative detention is a means of detaining a person to:

- enable issues of health, identity and security to be resolved
- ensure their availability to assist in resolving their immigration status through the granting of a visa or by way of another immigration pathway; and render them available for removal from Australia if required.

The values articulate that persons in detention are treated fairly and reasonably within the law and that conditions of detention ensure the inherent dignity of the person. Based on the key immigration detention values, the service delivery values require that appropriate conditions and services be delivered to persons in immigration detention, for which see DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview: Service delivery values.

4 Current IDCS

For a detailed description of the IDCs currently in operation see the department's website (at <http://www.immi.gov.au/managing-australias-borders/detention/facilities/locations/>).

5 Persons detained in an IDC

All persons who are detained under s189 of the Act, other than minors and minors with their families, who are deemed to require higher management, (for example, on character grounds, persons with unconfirmed identity, health requirements, high security and high flight risk) can be detained in an IDC. Persons who are deemed low risk can also be accommodated in an IDC if there is no other facility available.

Persons who may be placed in an IDC currently include:

- persons refused entry at Australia's air and sea ports
- visa overstayers and those who have breached their visa conditions
- irregular maritime arrivals
- persons whose visas have been cancelled under s501 of the Act and
- illegal foreign fishers (IFFs).

6 Roles and responsibilities

6.1 The department

The Regional Management Model (RMM) maintains a strong regional contract management focus in the provision of local community and detention services. The RMM will operate with a nationally consistent approach to the delivery and management of contracted services in the detention environment. Key tasks performed by regional management under the RMM model include, but are not limited to:

- contract and performance management
- quality assurance
- stakeholder engagement
- complaints management and
- administrative support services.

The Compliance, Case Management and Detention Services (CCMDS) Portals will support these tasks. Under the RMM, case managers carry out the following functions:

- deliver immigration-related decisions to clients and respond to client requests
- explain the Immigration Application Assistance and Advice Scheme (IAAAS) to persons in immigration detention as per DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits: IAAAS
- liaise with the detention services provider (DSP) on client welfare matters that affect their immigration pathway, facilitate the transfer of persons in immigration detention, and upon their release from detention
- review all case plans, including client placement, at least monthly.

6.2 Detention services provider

The DSP is contracted by the department to provide immigration detention services on behalf of the Australian Government. The DSP employs its own staff or subcontractors to meet the contracted arrangement.

The DSP is required to protect the Commonwealth's interests by discharging duty of care obligations in strict adherence to those of the Commonwealth. See DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview: Duty of care to persons in detention.

6.3 Health Services Manager

The department must ensure access to a level of health care that meets the individual needs of each person in immigration detention, commensurate to that available to persons in the wider Australian community.

The department contracts a Health Service Manager (HSM) to provide access to the full range of health care services for persons in immigration detention, including access to general practitioners, and emergency and specialised services. For policy and procedure, see DSM - Chapter 6 Detention health.

6.4 High priority issues for DSP

If at any time the DSP and/or the HSM become aware, or suspect that a person in an IDC may present identity issues and/or in fact be a minor, they must advise a departmental officer immediately. Similarly, the identification of signs of mental or physical illness, or danger to other persons in detention, must be escalated for appropriate intervention by the HSM, the centre manager, or departmental officer, as appropriate.

All staff interacting with persons in detention must remain alert to any indication of a need for the person to talk to a departmental Onshore Protection officer and/or an IAAAS agent - see section 25 Access to legal & immigration advice. The DSP must facilitate contact between a person in detention and their case manager regarding visas, forms, and legal assistance if required.

7 Client placement options

Persons in immigration detention are assessed for placement as appropriate across the IDN in accordance with the key immigration detention values. Persons are assessed as suitable for placement in a given facility through the Case Management Client Placement Review process which employs a range of placement indicators to assist appropriate client placement in the IDN - see Placement Review documentation at ADD2010/984005. The Client Placement Review forms part of the Detention Related Decision Making (DRDM) control framework.

For policy and procedure see:

- Placement Review documentation at ADD2010/984005
- PAM3: Act - Compliance, case management & detention - Detention - Case Management
- DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement: Minors in detention.

For further information contact Case Management Implementation and Support (CMIS) Section, Compliance and Case Resolution Division (CCRD), National Office - Case Management Implementation and Support Section/IMMI/AU.

Additionally, placement can be determined as required for operational reasons such as through any increase in irregular maritime arrivals (IMAs). Such decisions are made by the FAS, Community & Detention Services Division (CDS), in coordination with the Executive, the Minister's Office, and relevant areas in CCRD.

Illegal foreign fishers are taken to the Northern IDC, unless there are circumstances such as health issues that require a different placement - see DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Illegal foreign fishers.

Placement in any facility is never an indicator of any migration status resolution outcome.

For policy and procedure on the different types of facilities available other than IDCs, see:

- DSM - Chapter 2 - Client Placement: Immigration residential housing
- DSM - Chapter 2 - Client Placement: Immigration transit accommodation
- DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement: Community detention.

8 Reception & induction

Each IDC has a reception area for receiving and processing persons entering immigration detention.

During induction, the person in immigration detention is informed about issues relevant to their stay in the IDC and the roles of departmental and DSP staff. For policy and procedure, see DSM - Chapter 3 - Entering & leaving detention: Reception & induction.

9 Induction health assessment

An induction health assessment is offered within 72 hours of arrival to every person entering immigration detention under s189 of the Act. The induction health assessment is only conducted with the consent of the person. The assessment is arranged by the HSM and is conducted by qualified health services providers.

The purpose of the induction health assessment is to identify any physical or mental health issues that may need further assessment or immediate and/or ongoing treatment. The process involves a physical examination and the collection of a medical history, including vaccination history, and a mental health history. See DSM - Chapter 6 - Detention health - Induction health assessment.

10 Health services

The HSM is contracted by the department to facilitate access to health care for persons in immigration detention. The current HSM is International Health and Medical Services (IHMS). Health care professionals engaged by the HSM include general practitioners and registered nurses. They provide health care to persons in immigration detention commensurate to that available to persons in the wider Australian community. See DSM - Chapter 6 - Detention health or contact Detention Health Section, National Office (detention.health@immi.gov.au).

11 Religious activities

IDCs are multi-faith-friendly environments and people in immigration detention in an IDC can freely practise their personal religious beliefs. For policy and procedure, see the DSM - Chapter 5 - Welfare: Religious & spiritual care.

12 Individual allowance program

The individual allowance program (IAP) is a points-based program administered by the DSP that provides persons in immigration detention with access to discretionary and incidental items from the centre shop. The IAP allows a level of control over their day-to-day existence and encourages participation in programs and activities - see section 19 Programs and activities. For policy and procedure on the IAP, see DSM - Chapter 5 - Welfare - Individual allowance program in ITA, IRH & APOD.

13 Centre shop

The Centre shop (canteen) is managed by the DSP. The shop provides incidental items such as cigarettes, snack food, phone cards and hygiene items not already supplied by the DSP. Persons in immigration detention in an IDC obtain items from the shop in exchange for IAP points. See:

- section 12 Individual allowance program and
- DSM - Chapter 5 - Welfare - Individual allowance program in ITA, IRH & APOD.

14 Excursions

Persons in immigration detention in an IDC may request permission to participate in excursions outside the IDC. These discretionary excursions may be sought by individuals or groups as part of an organised activity or as a one-off activity, or they may serve to fill an individual need, for example to visit a family member in hospital - see DSM - Chapter 8 - Safety and security: Excursions. Programs and activities initiatives are a DSP administered requirement under the Detention Services Contract. Persons in immigration detention can put forward ideas for suitable programs and activities (including suggested excursions) through the IDC's Client Consultative Committee, for which see DSM - Chapter 4 - Communications & visits - Client consultative committees.

Scheduled escorted travel outside the IDC required for medical, legal or administrative status resolution purposes is different from discretionary excursions. Such scheduled travel includes attendance at court or tribunal hearings and access to health services.

15 Communication service & computers/internet

Persons in immigration detention in IDCs have access to telephone, facsimile, mail, photocopying and computer/internet services. Personal computers brought into the facility will be treated as controlled items. There are conditions attached to computer and internet usage. For policy and procedure, see:

- DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Access to communication services in IDFs and
- DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Access to computer & internet services in IDFs.

16 Television/other media

Persons in immigration detention in an IDC have access to televisions, DVDs, videos, radios and other entertainment media in activities rooms. They are required to respect the viewing options of other persons as defined by the Detainee Rights and Responsibilities and as defined in the Detainee Information Booklet.

17 Complaints management

Persons in immigration detention in an IDC have the right to complain. All complaints will be fully investigated and acted upon if required. If a person in immigration detention makes a specific complaint about the quality, timeliness and standard of any care received while in immigration detention, the department will use its established complaints handling mechanisms to investigate the matter.

Persons in immigration detention may complain to departmental staff, DSP staff, and the Global Feedback Unit. The Global Feedback Unit can be contacted during business hours by phone on 133 177 or a feedback form can be completed online at www.immi.gov.au/contacts/forms/services/index.htm.

Persons in immigration detention may also complain to independent bodies including their embassy/consulate, the Commonwealth Ombudsman and the Australian Human Rights Commission. Multi-lingual posters advising persons in immigration detention of their right to complain should be displayed prominently in the IDC. They can be obtained from National Office by emailing the Complaints Handling mailbox at CDSD Complaints Handling/IMMI/AU.

18 Consultative committees

Persons in an IDC are able to attend the client consultative committee (CCC) to discuss issues arising within the IDC. For privacy reasons, the minutes of CCC meetings must be tabled without including the names of persons in immigration detention involved in the meetings or who raised specific issues. These issues are then referred to the community consultative groups (CCG), with the minutes from the previous CCC meeting tabled at each CCG meeting.

CCGs convene at each IDC to foster communication and consultation between the Department, the DSP and local community support/service providers. Persons in IDCs do not attend the CCG. See:

- DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Client consultative committees and

- DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Community consultative groups.

19 Programs and activities

The DSP is contracted to provide programs and activities for persons in IDCs. The types of programs and activities are decided in consultation with the consultative committees (see section 18 Consultative committees) and in consideration of the profile of the general IDC population. Persons in immigration detention in an IDC can accumulate IAP points by participating in these programs. Examples of programs and activities include sporting events, English classes and personal development and life skills programs.

A range of exercise equipment (such as basketball courts and gym equipment) is available for ad-hoc use. Unless part of an organised event, recreational use of this equipment does not constitute participation in programs and activities and therefore does not accrue IAP points. For policy and procedure, see:

- DSM - Chapter 5 - Welfare - Programs & activities
- DSM - Chapter 5 - Welfare - Individual allowance program in ITA, IRH & APOD.

20 Education

The DSP is contracted to provide basic education programs to persons in an IDC. These education programs may include learning English and first aid. Education programs provided by the DSP can not provide a recognised qualification. For policy and procedure, see:

- DSM - Chapter 5 - Welfare - Education and
- DSM - Chapter 5 - Welfare - Education for non-school-aged minors and adults.

21 Translating and interpreting

Written and oral information must be provided to persons in immigration detention in a language they can understand. If an accredited interpreter is not available on-site, the Translating and Interpreting Services (TIS) or a different accredited contractor is to be used - see DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits: Translating & Interpreting.

22 Bedding

The DSP provides all bedding and towels. Persons in immigration detention in an IDC are required to launder their own clothing in laundry facilities provided and maintained by the DSP.

23 Clothing

Persons in immigration detention in an IDC wear their own clothes. In the event that the person does not have any appropriate clothing the DSP can provide the person with appropriate clothing, new underwear and shoes. The clothing provided will be suitable to the local climate and personal cultural/religious needs. Persons in immigration detention in an IDC are required to launder their own clothing in laundry facilities provided and maintained by the DSP.

24 Property

Persons in immigration detention in an IDC are able to retain some personal possessions that will make their time in immigration detention more comfortable. Items that persons in detention can legally possess under Commonwealth law may still be prohibited in the IDC if these items could compromise the security and good order of the facility. Such property - and any other personal items the person in immigration detention wishes to safely store - will be kept as “in-trust” property for them by the DSP and returned to the owner immediately upon discharge.

For policy and procedure, see:

- DSM - Chapter 3 - Entering & leaving detention: Personal property and
- DSM - Chapter 8 - Safety & security - Items not permitted in IDFs.

25 Access to legal & immigration advice

On arrival in an IDC, persons in immigration detention are informed of their rights to receive visits, contact other persons or agencies, and to contact and receive information from their legal representatives. For policy and procedure in relation to legal advice, see DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Access to legal representation.

Visa application, advice and assistance under the Immigration Advice and Application Assistance Scheme (IAAAS) is available to individuals in an IDC whoa are applying for a protection visa - see:

- DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - IAAAS and
- the departmental website (<http://www.immi.gov.au/media/fact-sheets/63advice.htm>).

26 Access to consular representatives

Australia is a party to the Vienna Convention on Consular Relations 1963 (the VCCR). Article 36 of the VCCR creates obligations for Australia to ensure that foreign consular officers have access to their nationals who are in immigration detention in Australia. Consistent with these obligations, all persons in an IDC must be informed of their right to request, receive or refuse consular access and to change their decision - see DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Consular access in immigration detention.

LEAVING OR TRANSFERRING FROM AN IDC

27 Leaving or transferring from an IDC

Persons in an IDC will leave or be transferred for reasons such as:

Immigration pathway and status resolution:

- removal from Australia
- entry into the community following the grant of a visa.

Transfers across the Immigration Detention Network:

- to community-based detention under s197AB (residence determination) - see DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Community detention.
- to alternative places of detention (APOD) where needs can be better managed (for example, hospital)
- to immigration residential housing, immigration transit accommodation, another IDC or to another APOD on the basis of a client placement review decision.

If criminal activity is proven:

- to a correctional facility - see DSM - Chapter 8 - Safety & security - Placement in correctional facilities.

For policy and procedures:

- on the process of leaving an IDC, see DSM - Chapter 3 - Entering & leaving detention: Release from detention
- on transfers, see PAM3: Act - Compliance - Compliance, case management & detention - IBG - Interstate transfer of persons in immigration detention.

INTRODUCTION

This Part comprises:

- section 1 Purpose
- section 2 Legislative framework
- section 3 Guiding principles.

1 Purpose

Immigration residential housing (IRH) provides flexible supported accommodation for persons in immigration detention, including irregular maritime arrivals (IMAs)

The purpose of this instruction is to provide guidance for officers involved in IRH.

2 Legislative framework

IRH is a place of immigration detention pursuant to paragraph (v) under (b) in the definition of immigration detention in s5(1) of the Act.

Migration regulation 5.35 gives the Secretary the power to authorise medical treatment against the will of the person in an immigration detention centre (IDC). This does not apply at IRH.

For policy and procedure see DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Detention legal framework.

3 Guiding principles

IRH provides a flexible and supportive housing environment for persons in immigration detention.

Persons in immigration detention are assessed as appropriate for placement across the immigration detention network (IDN) in accordance with the client placement procedures. Persons assessed as suitable for placement in IRH will be assessed as low flight risk and low security persons in immigration detention. Placement in IRH is never an indicator of any immigration outcome.

Minors must not be placed in IRH with other persons in immigration detention who are reasonably suspected by an officer to pose a risk to the safety and security of the minors. Based on these considerations, the relevant case manager, in consultation with the DSP duty manager, must assess and decide which persons/family groups are appropriate to be placed in the IRH at any given time.

IRH allows persons in immigration detention to live in a domestic setting that is more flexible and less structured than an IDC, allowing a greater degree of autonomy and control over their own lives, and encouraging self-sufficiency.

While IRH forms a flexible placement option within the IDN, persons in immigration detention placed in IRH remain in immigration detention and are available for processing and removal from Australia.

For policy and procedure see DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Duty of care.

ROLES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

This Part comprises:

- section 4 The Department
- section 5 Health care services
- section 6 The detention service provider.

4 The Department

The regional manager has full contract management responsibility for all immigration detention facilities (IDFs) within their state. The regional manager is supported by other departmental officers including staff from state and territory offices, case managers and staff from National Office.

For policy and procedure see DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Service delivery values.

5 Health care services

All persons in immigration detention in IRH must have access to appropriate health and medical services, managed by qualified health staff employed by the health service manager (HSM) and delivered through community-based health services. Liaison with the detention service provider (DSP) occurs where necessary for example for emergency procedures and health promotion.

The community health provider assists persons in IRH with ongoing health care and referral to other health providers if required.

If an interpreter, either on-site or telephone interpreter is required for a medical appointment, persons in IRH must advise the DSP when arranging the medical appointment.

Prescriptions given by the doctor are filled at the designated pharmacy arranged by the HSM. Persons in IRH are responsible for the management of their own medication. The HSM, in consultation with Case Management, must make an assessment as to the appropriateness of self-medication and provide such assistance as is necessary for the management of administering medication.

DIAC officers must respond appropriately to information received from the HSM where the current placement of the person/minor may be contrary to the health, well-being or safety of the person/minor/others at IRH.

Further information on health services for persons in detention can be obtained by emailing the Detention Health mailbox (detention.health@immi.gov.au).

For policy and procedure see:

- DSM - Chapter 6 - Detention Health - Ongoing health care and
- DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Translating & interpreting.

6 The detention service provider

In accordance with the relevant contractual requirements, DSP staff must be available and sufficiently skilled to provide a comfortable and supportive environment for persons in immigration detention in IRH, while maintaining an awareness of individual needs and differences in cultural and lifestyle backgrounds. The main duties of the DSP in IRH include:

- maintaining immigration detention for residents in IRH
- being attentive to the safety, health and well-being of persons in immigration detention in IRH
- maintaining all equipment and fittings in good working order
- assisting persons in immigration detention in IRH with day-to-day issues related to their accommodation such as supplies, forms, property and mail
- transporting and escorting persons in immigration detention between the IRH and activities
- assisting persons in immigration detention from IRH to research the range of social, recreational or other activities available in the surrounding community
- accompanying persons in immigration detention from IRH on excursions

- explaining the workings of kitchen and laundry appliances
- on-going coaching in household safety and hygiene
- maintaining awareness of any potential or actual safety hazards, reporting any such incidents and helping persons in immigration detention in IRH to remove/overcome any hazard
- maintaining awareness of any potential or actual risks to general hygiene in the accommodation and grounds of IRH, working with persons in immigration detention in IRH to clean up any spills, and ensuring these persons are coached to avoid such incidents
- interacting with persons in immigration detention in IRH on a day-to-day basis and being aware of their needs in terms of living skills, social, educational or other activities that will maintain or improve their general well-being
- facilitating neighbourly relationships between persons in immigration detention in IRH and maintaining the rights and responsibilities of all persons in immigration detention, staff and visitors
- conduct welfare checks to account for the whereabouts of all persons in immigration detention in IRH in accordance with procedures
- initiate emergency procedures and first aid as required and
- provide escort and transport to appointments, for example medical appointments.

6.1 Maintaining IRH

Persons in immigration detention may arrive at short notice to take up residence in IRH. The DSP needs to ensure that house preparation for accommodation of new persons in immigration detention in IRH includes:

- culturally appropriate snack foods and drinks, including long-life products, are available in the kitchen
- clean linen (for longer-term stays) or a bed pack (for short-term stays) is available for issue to each arrival
- the house is clean (see section 6.4 Cleaning arrangements)
- the site-specific IRH Induction Handbook is up to date and made available and
- where possible, notify other residents sharing the kitchen/laundry of the new arrival into the house.

6.2 Uniforms

IRH staff should adopt a casual uniform that fits the low-security atmosphere of the facility. This uniform should be appropriate to centre-specific circumstances and that it is:

- able to withstand normal wear and tear in the IRH environment
- appropriate to weather conditions
- appropriate for maintaining a “plain clothes” approach when escorting persons in immigration detention outside IRH and
- not containing any form of defence identifiable prints, for example army camouflage print.

6.3 Catering arrangements

While the DSP is responsible for ensuring initial food requirements are met, persons in immigration detention in IRH take responsibility for aspects of their ongoing nutritional requirements with the self-catering facilities, including:

- using their financial support to purchase staple food products
- preparing and cooking meals and
- cleaning kitchen areas and utensils.

For policy and procedure, see section 11.1 Financial support - Household allowance scheme \(HAS\).

6.4 Cleaning arrangements

The DSP has contract cleaners who clean each house as it becomes vacant and in preparation for new arrivals. During their stay, persons in immigration detention in IRH are responsible for cleaning their own accommodation and are provided with the equipment to do so.

6.5 Reporting requirements

Reporting requirements for IRH must be in accordance with the current IRH Services Contract “Immigration residential housing and immigration transit accommodation”, Schedule 4.3: “Reporting requirements”.

PLACEMENT INTO IRH

This Part comprises:

- section 7 Overview
- section 8 Reception and induction
- section 9 Programs and activities
- section 10 Movement outside the IRH
- section 11 Financial support & allowances
- section 12 Visitors to IRH
- section 13 Security of the IRH
- section 14 Complaints.

7 Overview

7.1 Determining placement

Persons in immigration detention are assessed as appropriate for placement across the IDN in accordance with the key immigration detention values (see DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Service delivery values - Seven key immigration detention values). Persons are assessed as suitable for placement in IRH through the case management client placement review process which employs a range of placement indicators to assist appropriate client placement in the IDN, including IRH. The client placement review forms part of the detention related decision making (DRDM) control framework. For further information, contact Case Management Implementation and Support (CMIS) Section, Compliance and Case Resolution Division (CCRD), National Office.

Placement in IRH is never an indicator of any migration status resolution outcome.

The DSP is to pay particular attention to the risk posed to vulnerable persons, especially minors, who may be considered for detention at the same facility. In accordance with the best interests of the child principle, minors must not be colocated in IRH with persons who are reasonably suspected by an officer, to pose a threat to the minor.

Where a person with an increased security risk assessment is considered for placement in IRH at the same time as a minor, the appropriateness of this placement must be determined on a case-by-case basis. Documented consideration (entered in the Portal) must be given to such factors as (this list is not exhaustive):

- whether the minor would be placed at reasonable risk of harm (physical/emotional)
- the infrastructure limitations of the facility
- the presence of other persons.

Persons may be placed in IRH through three avenues:

- initial placement in IRH, immediately after being detained and assessed by the department
- department initiated transfer into IRH from another facility in the IDN or
- client requested transfer into IRH from another placement in the IDN, including an IDC (subject to availability and following appropriate client placement review).

7.2 Transfer out of IRH

Persons in IRH may be transferred from IRH to another placement in the IDN, including an IDC (with the exception of minors):

- at their own request; following reassessment in accordance with client placement review procedures
- if necessary to create availability of accommodation for persons in immigration detention assessed for reasons of operational contingency or through client placement review procedures as having a greater need for IRH accommodation or
- in the event that it is determined that their needs are not best addressed in IRH or
- in the event that removal is effected.

For policy and procedure see DSM - Chapter 8 - Safety & security - Transfers within facilities.

8 Reception and induction

8.1 Background

Reception and induction procedures referred to below should be conducted consecutively, where practicable.

8.2 Reception

Reception into IRH is tailored to the low-security environment of IRH and there are differences from reception into other immigration facilities such as:

- given the relatively low numbers involved in IRH, reception is to be completed immediately or no later than 12 hours after arrival
- allow persons in immigration detention in IRH to retain all their property, other than items that are not permitted in IRH (such as passport and excluded items)
- where possible, offer incoming and existing persons in immigration detention flexibility and choice as to sharing arrangements within each house
- complete needs assessment and develop an individual management plan (IMP) in consultation with the department's case manager, DSP staff and HSM staff within 24 hours of arrival
- for persons in immigration detention expected to remain in IRH until resolution of their immigration status, they will be escorted to a supermarket to purchase appropriate food and personal supplies within 12 hours of arrival (this time frame can be delayed if it is apparent that the person requires rest) and
- if reception is delayed and the person is placed in accommodation without complete reception and/or induction, the DSP should provide extra coaching until they are fully informed of the facilities, services and operation of IRH.

For policy and procedure see DSM - Chapter 3 - Entering & leaving detention - Reception & induction.

8.3 Induction

Induction explains to the person in immigration detention how the particular facility operates, and explains information relevant to the facility. The induction process:

- should be conducted within two days of arrival
- provides all persons in immigration detention with the IRH Induction Handbook. The information given at induction must be geared to the amount of information the person can absorb at one time and the availability of other persons in immigration detention in IRH or staff to provide support
- provides information sessions, held by the DSP to help new residents understand how IRH operates and
- includes offering to persons first entering immigration detention through IRH an induction health assessment and access to a community general medical practice provider nominated by the HSM.

For policy and procedure see DSM - Chapter 3 - Entering and leaving detention - Reception & induction.

8.4 DSP Needs assessment and individual management plan

During reception, the DSP (in coordination with the HSM) must undertake a needs assessment of each person placed into IRH. The needs assessment forms the basis of an IMP, which should also incorporate information on special needs from the department's case manager where available. In the case of a family group, it may be appropriate to prepare a group IMP. The IMP is prepared, maintained and reviewed fortnightly by the DSP. Although the department does not directly input into the IMP it is available for reference.

The IMP should provide for more intensive support when the person first enters IRH, until they settle into the new environment and can live more self-sufficiently.

The IMP identifies the ongoing care, coaching or training required by the person in immigration detention to achieve self-sufficient living in IRH. Officers involved in developing the IMP should be mindful of the time frame involved and review the plan fortnightly when completed.

The IMP may involve activities over a number of days or weeks, depending on the needs assessment. Regular reviews of the IMP and reassessment of ongoing needs will allow amendment to reflect the person's changing needs/circumstances.

9 Programs and activities

9.1 Basic lifestyle

Persons in immigration detention in IRH are encouraged to maintain a self-sufficient lifestyle and attend to household duties as far as possible, which include:

- cooking and serving their own meals
- shopping for food and personal provisions where possible
- budgeting their household and individual allowances
- cleaning and maintaining healthy and hygienic accommodation and
- laundering, washing and cleaning/maintaining their personal clothing/possessions.

9.2 Other programs and activities

Activities available to persons in immigration detention in IRH must be diverse, comprehensive and flexible, catering to their changing needs. Activities can assist individuals in improving their life skills and maintaining their psychological well-being. In addition, activities can promote a harmonious community atmosphere between the persons in immigration detention in IRH. Persons in immigration detention in IRH should be encouraged to participate in activities, but participation is voluntary.

Programs and activities may cover a number of areas, including:

- social and general life skills
- sport and recreation and
- general interests.

Persons in immigration detention are able to practise the religion of their choice on an individual or communal basis and have access to community religious organisations.

For further information on the practicalities of community excursions see section 10 Movement outside the IRH.

Activities promoting social and general life skills may include, but are not limited to, English language, cooking, gardening, nutrition, health and hygiene, basic first aid and budgeting. Persons in immigration detention in IRH may suggest new or different activities that they want to undertake.

Activities available to persons in immigration detention in IRH could include any of the following:

- activities conducted within the IRH, coordinated by DSP staff
- activities undertaken within a nearby IDC (except minors and within the visitors area only) or
- activities undertaken outside the IRH, in the general community such as excursions from IRH where the mandatory criteria for excursions are met.

For policy and procedure see DSM - Chapter 8 - Safety & security - Excursions.

9.3 Volunteers and community-based activities

Volunteer and community organisations may wish to become involved in activities with persons in immigration detention in IRH, both within and outside the IRH. Appropriate involvement of volunteer and community organisations can make an important and valuable contribution to the well-being of persons in immigration detention in IRH.

Persons in immigration detention in IRH may be permitted to undertake a variety of activities within the general community (in the form of escorted excursions). These may include, but are not limited to, visits to:

- local shops
- churches and religious groups
- exercise/spectator sporting facilities such as gyms, tennis courts, sports venues
- cinemas, theatres or other entertainment centres
- other recreational facilities for the purpose of attending performances of, for example, music, dance or theatre groups
- community libraries
- community groups
- other facilities as requested by persons in immigration detention in IRH and approved by the DSP and RM.

9.4 School-aged children

A feeder group for IRH will be families with school-age children. The DSP in conjunction with the department's case manager should encourage parents of school-age children to permit their children to attend school and parents with infants and toddlers to attend "play groups" or pre-school. The DSP will escort the children to and from school/playgroup/preschool accompanied by a parent. The children are handed from the custody of the DSP to the person directed under the Act in the relevant educational facility, as appropriate. For policy and procedure on directed persons see DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Alternative places of detention in the community.

The DSP will provide access to education programs, school-based activities and age-appropriate materials, in sufficient quantities and quality to assist learning for those children in IRH. The DSP will also need to report to the department any instances where school-aged children are not attending schools.

For policy and procedure see:

- DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Minors in immigration detention and
- DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Alternative places of detention in the community.

10 Movement outside the IRH

10.1 Background

Persons in immigration detention in IRH may request excursions. Excursions must meet the criteria documented in DSM - Chapter 8 - Safety & security - Excursions. Note: Attendance at medical, immigration, judicial and law enforcement appointments are treated different from excursions.

When a person in immigration detention wishes to undertake community activities outside the IRH:

- the activity should be recorded, either as a regular (for example weekly) schedule, or as a one-off activity
- arrangements should be agreed with the relevant community facility (including appointment of a directed person where necessary), to ensure that the integrity of immigration detention can be maintained (for further information on a directed person please see DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Alternative detention)
- a DSP staff member or directed person should be available to escort the person until their return to the IRH
- transport appropriate to the activity and distance of travel should be available, either by the DSP staff member or the directed person and
- the directed person assumes responsibility for the person for the period that they will be absent from the IRH.

For policy and procedure see:

- DSM - Chapter 8 - Safety & security - Excursions and
- DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Alternative places of detention in the community.

10.2 Transport

Transport appropriate to the activity and distance of travel must be provided for all activities that take place outside IRH. This transport may be provided by either the DSP or a directed person and may involve the use of public transport services.

10.3 Visiting IDCs by persons in immigration detention

Persons in immigration detention in IRH may wish to enter a nearby IDC for a number of reasons, such as visiting friends or family within the visiting area, or to undertake activities within the visiting area. When a person in immigration detention wishes to enter a nearby IDC, they should be treated as any other visitor wishing to enter the IDC, and are subject to the same security controls. See DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Visitors & entry to immigration detention facilities.

10.4 Return to the IRH

When a person in immigration detention returns to the IRH from any external activity, they are subject to normal IRH searching and screening procedures and must declare and surrender any items not permitted in immigration detention, in line with:

- DSM - Chapter 3 - Entering & leaving detention - Personal property
- DSM - Chapter 8 - Safety & security - Items not permitted in IDFs.

For policy and procedure see:

- DSM - Chapter 8 - Safety & security - Screening of persons in immigration detention and
- DSM - Chapter 3 - Entering & leaving detention - Personal property
- DSM - Chapter 8 - Safety & security - Items not permitted in IDFs.

11 Financial support & allowances

11.1 Financial support - Household allowance scheme (HAS)

The DSP will provide financial support to enable persons in immigration detention in IRH to purchase food and household items in line with community norms. This household allowance scheme is based on a credit system where one credit equals one dollar. The household allowance is credited weekly and comprises two parts:

- grocery allowance: support to enable the person in IRH to purchase food and household items for consumption in their accommodation. The amount is set by the regional manager in consultation with departmental staff and the DSP and
- the individual allowance program (IAP) (see section 11.2 Individual allowance program): to purchase incidental items for personal use.

As part of induction a package of goods is provided containing enough groceries to last until the first grocery allowance scheme payment. Where young children are present within the IRH placement, the DSP should ensure items required by children such as nappies and formula are available if required.

The rate for the grocery allowance is set by and may be varied by the relevant regional manager, for example to meet local variations in the cost of living or individual/family compositions. Reasons for the variation must be documented in the IMP.

Where necessary, persons in immigration detention are to be provided with guidance on how to manage their household allowance, for example during weekly shopping trips. They are issued a budget on a simple spreadsheet which reflects their grocery allowance and their IAP allowance. DSP staff will escort persons in immigration detention when shopping and ensure that the budget is not exceeded. The DSP assists the persons in immigration detention to make healthy/balanced food choices.

Financial support will not be provided to persons in immigration detention while in institutional accommodation (for example hospital) that provide catering and other services.

Grocery allowance does not transfer with the person in detention: they are for use in IRH only.

11.2 Individual allowance program

The purpose of the IAP is to provide access to incidental items likely to improve the quality of life for a person while they are in immigration detention. IAP allows persons in immigration detention a level of control over their day-to-day existence by providing a means to obtain incidental items from shops.

For policy and procedure see DSM - Chapter 5 - Welfare - Individual allowance program in ITA, IRH & APOD.

Allocation of IAP points in IRH

Each adult in detention will be allocated 25 IAP points upon entry to IRH and then 25 IAP points each week thereafter. These IAP points should be allocated on the same day of each week for as long as the person remains in IRH. It is preferable that these IAP points are made available at 12:01 am on Saturday morning across the network.

An additional 25 points may be accrued through participation in programs and activities (P&A). Where no P&A are available, or where these can be provided in only limited measure, the Regional Manager may use their discretion to award these P&A IAP points to ensure that persons in immigration detention are not unnecessarily disadvantaged for reasons beyond their control.

Every person in immigration detention can accrue a maximum number of 50 IAP points per week.

Any unused points will be forfeited at the end of the week before new points are allocated.

For policy and procedure see DSM - Chapter 5 - Welfare - Individual allowance program in ITA, IRH & APOD.

12 Visitors to IRH

12.1 Personal visits

Visits from relatives, friends and community contacts make a positive contribution to the well-being of persons in immigration detention in IRH. Visits enable persons in immigration detention to maintain contact with, and knowledge of, activities and events occurring outside the IRH. Personal visits at the request of the person in immigration detention will be facilitated wherever reasonably possible by the DSP.

For policy and procedure see DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Visitor & entry to immigration detention facilities.

Departmental and DSP staff have no lawful authority under the Act to screen or search visitors to IRH.

All visitors must sign and be aware of the conditions of entry. Where a visitor is found to have breached the conditions of entry, they may be asked to leave the IRH immediately.

12.2 Visiting arrangements

Visits to IRH are conducted during specific visiting times, usually between 8:00 am and 10:00 pm under the general supervision of the DSP. Visits outside the specified hours may be negotiated between the person in immigration detention and the DSP if circumstances permit. However, visiting hours are at local departmental/DSP discretion.

Persons in immigration detention in IRH may receive their visitors anywhere within the IRH, subject to the following conditions:

- that the visitor(s) consents to the location and timing of the visit within the IRH and
- that the person has sought and received the agreement of any co-residents to the location and timing of any visit held within shared residential housing.

13    Security of the IRH

13.1    General security

IRH is maintained as a low-security environment, while maintaining the integrity of immigration detention. As such, security procedures should follow a “soft-touch” approach, be adequate and discreet, and contribute towards a residential atmosphere whilst ensuring the, safety, health and wellbeing of the resident is maintained.

Persons in immigration detention in IRH are in control of their personal activities in and around their houses during each day. A curfew is imposed each night from 11:00 pm until 7:00 am the next morning. Within these times residents are required to remain in their houses. Persons in immigration detention in IRH may negotiate with the DSP for a relaxation of this curfew, if circumstances permit.

13.2    Perimeter security

Security is maintained by electronic detection systems installed along the perimeter fencing of the IRH.

13.3    Cameras

Closed circuit television (CCTV) cameras are installed at several points around IRH to maintain adequate supervision without restricting the free movement of persons in immigration detention in IRH.

13.4    Locks and keys

Each house is fitted with combination locks activated by a key pad. The locks are to be locked either by the persons in immigration detention in IRH themselves or to be locked by the DSP from the administration area. As a general rule, houses are locked only during curfew hours to ensure the safety of persons in immigration detention in IRH while they are indoors at night.

During curfew hours, persons in immigration detention in IRH who wish to leave their accommodation should notify the DSP staff through their household intercom of the need to unlock the door. This movement must be monitored with the DSP locking the door(s) when the person returns to their accommodation.

Persons in immigration detention in IRH are permitted to retain any keys or key pad combination codes necessary for them to secure their personal accommodation and belongings while in the IRH. This may include:

- keys and padlocks for personal luggage and belongings
- keys for internal doors, cupboards or windows within their accommodation and
- keys or personalised combination codes for access to external entry doors for their accommodation.

13.5    Emergency response procedures

Emergency response procedures must be adequate for the residential environment. Documented procedures should be posted in each house and provided to persons in immigration detention with the IRH Induction Handbook.

Persons new to the IRH should be informed of emergency procedures during reception/induction, and regular emergency drills should be conducted to maintain their familiarity with these procedures, so they are aware and able to take appropriate action should incidents occur within their accommodation.

13.6    Entry to IRH

All staff, persons in immigration detention in IRH and visitors who enter or exit the IRH must sign in and out so that all persons on site can be accounted for. Everyone entering the site must abide by the rules of the IRH.

For policy and procedure see DSM - Chapter 8 - Safety & security - Screening of persons in immigration detention.

As a low-security environment, screening or search procedures for persons in immigration detention in IRH should be as unobtrusive as practicable. Departmental and DSP staff have no lawful authority under the Act to screen or search visitors to IRH.

13.7 Allowable items posing a threat to security

The day-to-day operation of IRH as a low-security residential environment involves the use of a range of household items that might otherwise be considered as threats to security. The following items may be retained, stored and used by persons in immigration detention in IRH:

- kitchen equipment, including a reasonable range of knives and other implements used for preparing meals on a day-to-day basis
- sports equipment used on a casual basis for personal recreation
- arts and craft tools that can be reasonably used by persons in immigration detention in IRH within their accommodation for personal recreation and
- medicines and first aid equipment for individual use.

The DSP must constantly assess each person in immigration detention for their ability to make responsible use of the above items. If a person possesses any of the above items and presents a danger to themselves, others, or the security of the facility, a DSP may take the following measures:

- provide an oral warning on the safe and responsible use of the equipment in question
- provide coaching on an on-going basis to improve the person's skills and knowledge of the potential dangers of the equipment in question
- assess the need for further assistance or training in the use of the equipment
- assess the need for more controlled and/or supervised use of that equipment by the person and
- re-assess the person's capacity to live safely in the IRH environment and request the relevant case manager to review the placement and care options.

Persons in immigration detention in IRH may keep their valuables for personal use within the IRH. Where the person indicates that they are uncomfortable with leaving valuables within the shared accommodation of the IRH, they may request the DSP to take safe custody of those items. Such items are stored on behalf of the person in accordance with procedures for the storage of property and the issue of receipts for any property stored.

For policy and procedure see DSM - Chapter 3 - Entering and leaving detention - Personal property.

13.8 Interpersonal relations within IRH

Movement within IRH by persons in immigration detention is relatively unrestricted, encouraging a community-minded and neighbourly atmosphere. The only controls on movement within the facility are in cases of:

- threatening or abusive behaviour between persons in immigration detention
- impositions on the privacy, dignity or safety of one or more persons in immigration detention or staff by others
- breakdowns in cultural sensitivity between persons in immigration detention
- activation of emergency procedures within or near to the IRH and
- restriction on movement between 11:00 pm and 7:00 am see section 13.1 General security.

Where the above events occur, the DSP may take the following measures:

- provide a oral warning on unacceptable behaviour and the need for respect towards neighbours and co-residents
- provide coaching to improve the person's understanding of acceptable social standards in the Australian environment
- assess the need for closer supervision or separate activities to ensure persons in immigration detention in IRH spend enough time away from each other
- re-assess the person's capacity to live safely in the IRH environment and request the relevant case manager to review the placement and care options and
- follow the site specific documented and tested emergency response procedures until conditions are normalised.

13.9 Breakdown of interpersonal relations

Where the behaviour of an individual or a group starts to break down or become increasingly anti-social staff should take appropriate action and notify the relevant case manager. “Appropriate action” involves observing the escalating situation, reminding the person/s of the rights and responsibilities of all residents of the IRH described in the IRH Induction Handbook and explaining the possible consequences of the particular situation.

Even if the situation de-escalates further action may need to be taken, including increasing levels of supervision, management or control of persons in immigration detention in IRH. Consultation with the HSM will also be appropriate to screen for any underlying health issues (PSP, torture trauma), for which see:

- DSM - Chapter 6 - Detention health - Psychological support program (PSP) and
- DSM - Chapter 6 - Detention health - Identification & support of survivors of torture & trauma.

Accommodation searches are not conducted in a formal manner within the IRH, except in extreme circumstances, and subject to the approval of the regional manager.

14 Complaints

Persons in immigration detention have the right to complain. In the first instance they are encouraged to do so to DSP staff; their personal officer; and their case manager, or to the DIAC Global Feedback Unit. DIAC’s Global Feedback Unit can be contacted during business hours by phone on 133 177 or a feedback form can be completed online at www.immi.gov.au/contacts/forms/services/index.htm.

Issues can also be raised at the client consultative committee meetings, when convened. All complaints are fully investigated and acted upon. If a person in immigration detention makes a specific complaint about the quality, timeliness and standard of any care received while in immigration detention, the department will use its established complaints handling mechanisms to investigate the matter. Persons in immigration detention may also complain to independent bodies including the Commonwealth Ombudsman, the Australian Human Rights Commission and/or their Embassy/Consulate at any time.

For policy and procedure see:

- DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Consular access in immigration detention
- DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Visitors & entry to immigration detention facilities
- DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Client consultative committees.

14.1 IRH Consultative Committee

Persons in immigration detention in IRH are able to attend the IRH client consultative committee to discuss issues arising in the IRH. Issues arising may be further considered by the community consultative groups.

For policy and procedure see DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Client consultative committees.

14.2 Community Consultative Groups

Community consultative groups (CCG) have been established to make positive contributions to persons in immigration detention and to the effective operation of IDFs. Local community representatives, as well as members from the DSP and the department, attend these meetings to discuss service delivery, activities, welfare opportunities and standards of care. The meetings are chaired by a member of the Immigration Detention Advisory Group (IDAG) which provides advice to the Minister on the management of detention facilities. Minutes from the IRH Consultative Committees are tabled at these meetings for consideration by the members.

For policy and procedure see DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Community consultative groups.

ADDITIONAL PROVISIONS FOR IMAS TRANSFERRED INTO IRH

15 Transfer from Christmas Island into IRH

15.1 Background

Where for reasons of operational contingency persons in detention have been transferred into IRH from other locations within the IDN, IRH will, as far as practicable, still be the most appropriately supported accommodation made available to them and relevant areas in CCRD should be consulted to ensure that such is the case before transfers are effected.

15.2 Reception

Where IMAs arriving from Christmas Island are accommodated in IRH, arrival processes will be consistent with their earlier detention history. The relevant processes will be conducted, however staff must be conscious not to unnecessarily subject persons to procedures which they have already undergone on Christmas Island (for example the collection of personal identifiers) or which would be unnecessary in the circumstances (for example, property searches).

15.3 Induction

Where IMAs arriving from Christmas Island are accommodated in IRH, upon arrival they must still be inducted into the specific arrangements that will apply to the respective IRH facility. Staff must be mindful of the fact that, while these persons will be familiar with a certain immigration detention routine, the very transfer process and associated uncertainties may have been an unsettling experience for them. The DSP and HSM must be vigilant in monitoring for any adverse individual impact as a consequence of the transfer and the new environment.

15.4 HSM and client profiles

Given the dominant asylum seeker profile for IMAs, in addition to any general detention transfer and IRH-specific resettlement issues, the DSM and HSM must remain alert to any signs of possible PSP needs and torture trauma issues. See:

- DSM - Chapter 6 - Detention health - Psychological support program (PSP) and
- DSM - Chapter 6 - Detention health - Identification & support of survivors of torture & trauma.

15.5 HSM and transfer of health records

For IMAs and other persons who have been transferred from other locations in the IDN, all health records for each person must also be transferred between HSM locations and be available at the time of a person's arrival in the relevant IRH.

15.6 Safety & security

For transferred IMAs, those particular provisions and restrictions that are applicable on Christmas Island will also apply to IMAs when accommodated in other IDFs, including IRH. For policy and procedure see the relevant PAM3 instructions. For example, in relation to mobile phones, see DSM - Chapter 4 - Communications & visits - Access to communication services in IDFs.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

Minors require immediate attention to ensure their best interests are considered.

Minors are never to be detained in an immigration detention centre for accommodation or immigration processing purposes.

Placement of a minor in an immigration detention facility is to be used only as a last resort, for the shortest practicable time, and the least restrictive form appropriate to the minor's circumstances.

PREAMBLE

This Part comprises:

- section 1 Purpose
- section 2 Legislative framework
- section 3 Guiding principles
- section 4 Roles & responsibilities of staff.

1 Purpose

Immigration transit accommodation (ITA) provides flexible supported accommodation for persons in immigration detention, including irregular maritime arrivals (IMAs).

This instruction sets out the generic operational framework for ITA.

ITA will accommodate a range of client cohorts. These have been represented as two groups and are described below. Where no further distinction is made, the subject matter under discussion applies to both.

ITA facilities were designed to provide short term accommodation for persons in immigration detention presenting a low security risk, low flight risk and having no known health concerns. These persons may include Compliance locations, short-stay clients who are on a fast-removal pathway and newly arrived unauthorised air arrival (UAA) clients whose status is yet to be resolved.

In addition to the above, persons may be moved into ITA from other locations within the immigration detention network (IDN), and support the increase in IMAs by providing flexible and supported accommodation options for IMAs for whom ITA has been assessed as the most appropriate form of accommodation. These persons will generally already have resided at other locations in the IDN.

2 Legislative framework

ITA is ‘another place approved by the Minister in writing’ as described in the definition of immigration detention in section 5(1) of the Act.

Under the Act, persons in immigration detention in ITA may be pat searched (s252), screened (s252AA) and strip searched (s252A). However, the following powers do not apply to ITA:

- the power to screen visitors under s252G of the Act (only applicable to immigration detention centres (IDCs)) and
- the power of the Secretary to provide medical treatment against the will of the person under Migration regulation 5.35.

3 Guiding principles

ITA provides a flexible and supportive hostel type environment for persons in immigration detention.

Persons in immigration detention are assessed as appropriate for placement across the IDN in accordance with the key immigration detention values. Persons are assessed as suitable for placement in ITA through the case management client placement review process which employs a range of placement indicators to assist appropriate client placement in the IDN, including ITA. The client placement review forms part of the detention related decision making (DRDM) control framework. For further information please contact Case Management Implementation and Support (CMIS) Section, Compliance and Case Resolution Division (CCRD), National Office. Placement in ITA is never an indicator of any migration status resolution outcome.

4 Roles & responsibilities of staff

4.1 Departmental staff

Departmental staff may not be based on site at ITA. Staff based at nearby IDCs or state/territory offices will conduct regular site visits and liaise closely with the detention service provider (DSP) to manage ITA.

The regional manager, Community and Detention Services (RM) in the state in which the ITA is located will assume full responsibility for all immigration related matters associated with the facility. The RM will be supported by a detention centre manager and other departmental officers. For policy and procedure see DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles - Service delivery values.

4.2 Health services manager

The health services manager (HSM) is contracted by the Department to provide health services to persons in immigration detention.

4.3 Detention service provider

The DSP is contracted by the Department to manage all operational aspects of immigration detention facilities.

PLACEMENT IN ITA

This Part comprises:

- section 5 Overview
- section 6 Reception
- section 7 Induction
- section 8 Health services
- section 9 Other services
- section 10 Rooms
- section 11 Personal property
- section 12 Laundry
- section 13 Recreation
- section 14 Visits to ITA
- section 15 Offsite movements
- section 16 Purchase of incidental items
- section 17 Allocation of IAP points in ITA.

5 Overview

5.1 Compliance locations, short-stay clients who are on a fast-removal pathway and newly arrived UAA clients whose status is yet to be resolved

Where placement in ITA concerns Compliance locations, short-stay clients who are on a fast-removal pathway and UAA clients whose status is yet to be resolved, their placement will be determined by the detaining officer (from Border Security or Compliance) in consultation with the DSP duty manager in the first instance.

The preliminary client placement assessment must be completed and attached to the Request for Services form, and provided to the DSP at or before reception to the ITA. Subsequent placement reviews are conducted by case managers in consultation with the DSP duty manager. For policy and procedure consult the DRDM control framework or contact CCRD CMIS, National Office.

Onshore Protection Branch (ONPRO) may request that certain persons in immigration detention be subject to border screening detention requirements, in which case their immigration detention must be managed in accordance with relevant procedures. For policy and procedure see DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Border screening detention.

The ITA discharge process is to be conducted in accordance with relevant procedures, whether for transfer to another place of immigration detention, removal from Australia or release from immigration detention. For policy and procedure see DSM - Chapter 3 - Entering & leaving detention - Release from immigration detention.

5.2 IMAs and other persons moved into ITA from other locations within the IDN

Where placement in ITA concerns IMAs and other persons moved into ITA from other locations within the IDN, their placement is determined as required for operational reasons. Determinations are made by the FAS, Community & Detention Services Division (CDSD), in coordination with the Executive, the Minister's Office, and relevant areas in CCRD.

6 Reception

Compliance locations, short-stay clients who are on a fast-removal pathway and newly arrived UAA clients whose status is yet to be resolved

Reception is the first point of entry in immigration detention in ITA for Compliance locations, short-stay clients who are on a fast-removal pathway and newly arrived UAA clients whose status is yet to be resolved. The purpose of reception is to ensure that all persons in immigration detention entering ITA are identified, medically assessed and their immediate needs are met.

The Translating and Interpreting Service (TIS) may be used to ensure that material is explained to a person in immigration detention in a language that is understood. For policy and procedure see DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Translating & interpreting services.

Reception processes at ITA include:

- Preparation: Prior to receiving persons into ITA, the ITA premises must be made ready for occupation.
- Location: The reception process is to be conducted onsite at ITA.
- Time: The reception process must commence immediately on arrival and be completed within 12 hours, except in exceptional circumstances.
- Identification: If an ITA location does not have the capability for the collection of personal identifiers, a digital photograph of the person in immigration detention must be taken and the image uploaded onto the relevant system/s. It is still necessary to provide form 1247i and read the legislative scripts to the person in immigration detention. All other requirements of DSM - Chapter 3 - Entering & leaving detention - Identification tests must also be followed. Please note that this is an interim measure only, until such time that the necessary equipment is made available.

For policy and procedure see DSM - Chapter 3 - Entering & leaving detention - Identification tests.

- Screening/Searching: Persons in immigration detention in ITA and their property should be screened and/or searched according to relevant procedures. For policy and procedure see DSM - Chapter 8 - Safety & security: Screening of persons in immigration detention and Searches of persons in immigration detention.
- Property: Alcohol, items that are illegal to possess under Australian law, items that present a risk to the health, safety or privacy of persons within ITA and material of an offensive nature will not be permitted in ITA. A comprehensive list of items not permitted are in DSM - Chapter 8 - Safety & security - Items not permitted in IDFs. Persons in immigration detention in ITA will be permitted to retain all other property inside ITA. For more information see section 11 Personal property.
- Living essentials: Persons in immigration detention in ITA will be provided with basic toiletry essentials, bed linen, towels and a hygiene pack.

IMAs and other persons moved into ITA from other locations within the IDN

Where IMAs arriving from Christmas Island are accommodated in ITA, arrival processes will be consistent with their earlier detention history. The relevant processes will be conducted, however staff must be conscious not to unnecessarily subject persons to procedures which they have already undergone on Christmas Island (for example the collection of personal identifiers) or which would be unnecessary in the circumstances (for example, property searches).

7 Induction

Compliance locations, short-stay clients who are on a fast-removal pathway and newly arrived UAA clients whose status is yet to be resolved

The purpose of induction is to provide persons in immigration detention in ITA with the information necessary to understand the operation of the particular ITA location in which they are placed, and to offer the person the opportunity to be medically assessed.

Where possible, the induction process should be integrated with the reception process. The induction must commence as soon as reasonably practicable after a person in immigration detention's arrival and ensure that induction processes are complete within two days of arrival.

7.1 Health assessment

A health assessment will be offered to each person brought into ITA and completed within 72 hours of their arrival. Where it appears likely that a person will be departing within 72 hours, the DSP (in consultation with the HSM where necessary) will facilitate the assessment to be conducted prior to the person's departure from ITA. Health assessments will be carried out by the on-site registered nurse or by a community general practitioner (GP) organised in consultation with the HSM.

The purpose of the induction health assessment is to identify any health issues or conditions that will require attention while the person remains in immigration detention.

7.2 DSP needs assessment & individual management plan

During reception, the DSP (in coordination with the HSM) must undertake a needs assessment of each person placed into ITA. The needs assessment forms the basis of an IMP, which should also incorporate information on special needs from the departmental case manager where available. In the case of a family group, it may be appropriate to prepare a group IMP. The IMP is prepared, maintained and reviewed fortnightly by the DSP. Although the department does not directly input into the IMP it is available for reference.

The IMP should provide for more intensive support when the person first enters ITA, until they settle into the new environment and can live more self-sufficiently.

The IMP identifies the ongoing care, coaching or training required by the person in immigration detention to achieve self-sufficient living in ITA. Officers involved in developing the IMP should be mindful of the time frame involved and review the plan fortnightly when completed.

The IMP may involve activities over a number of days or weeks, depending on the needs assessment. Regular reviews of the IMP and reassessment of ongoing needs will allow amendment to reflect the person's changing needs/circumstances.

7.3 ITA Information Booklet

An 'ITA Information Booklet' prepared by the Department in conjunction with the DSP and the HSM, is available in a variety of languages. The booklet will be distributed to persons in immigration detention in ITA in accordance with individual language needs. The booklet will cover:

- domestic issues
- safety
- facilities and activities
- representation and issues resolution
- respect and care and
- health services.

7.4 House rules

Persons in immigration detention in ITA will be made aware of any applicable house rules agreed by the DSP in consultation with the department. House rules will be tailored to the needs of the specific ITA location.

IMAs and other persons moved into ITA from other locations within the IDN

- Where IMAs arriving from Christmas Island are accommodated in ITA, upon arrival they must still be inducted into the specific arrangements that will apply to the respective ITA facility. Therefore and as appropriate, induction items applicable to short-stay clients must also be made available to IMA arrivals, where relevant. Staff must be mindful of the fact that, while these persons will be familiar with a certain immigration detention routine, the very transfer process and associated uncertainties may have been an unsettling experience for them. DSP and HSM must be vigilant in monitoring for any adverse individual impact as a consequence of the transfer and the new environment.
- Where, for reasons of operational contingency, a person has been transferred into ITA from other locations within the IDN, the above dot point applies.

- Where, for reasons of operational contingency, a person has been transferred into ITA from other locations within the IDN, ITA will, as far as practicable, still be the most appropriately supported accommodation made available to them and relevant areas in CCRD should be consulted to ensure that such is the case before transfers are effected.

For transferred IMAs, those particular provisions and restrictions that are applicable on Christmas Island will also apply when accommodated in other facilities around the IDN, including ITA. For policy and procedure see the relevant PAM3 instructions (for example, in relation to mobile phones see DSM - Chapter 4 - Communications & visits - Access to communication services in IDFs).

8 Health services

Compliance locations, short-stay clients who are on a fast-removal pathway and newly arrived UAA clients whose status is yet to be resolved

Persons in immigration detention in ITA will have access to health and medical services at a level that is commensurate to those available to persons in the wider Australian community and that meets their individual health needs. The contracted HSM will employ a registered nurse who will provide sessional clinics at ITA locations. The frequency and availability of clinics will be contingent on the number of persons accommodated at the ITA location. The registered nurse will:

- conduct induction health assessments and discharge health assessments for persons in immigration detention in ITA as per section 7.1 Health assessment
- provide mental health screening as part of the induction health assessment
- provide ongoing health care where there is an ongoing health need and referral to general practitioners if clinically required
- if a referral is made, liaise with ITA staff to facilitate access to health services within the community and
- maintain health records.

8.1 Medical emergency

In the event of a medical emergency when the nurse is not onsite, first aid will be administered immediately by available staff and the person requiring emergency health care transferred to a hospital using the local ambulance service. The person in immigration detention must be escorted to hospital and immigration detention maintained.

8.2 Referral to general practitioners (GP)

The registered nurse will refer persons in immigration detention to a GP for further assessment and treatment as clinically required. If the nurse is not available and a person in immigration detention requires non-emergency medical treatment, ITA staff may organise referral to a GP under locally agreed procedures.

All referrals to GPs will be facilitated through the community health provider network managed by the HSM. The Department will bear the cost of the consultation and any medications prescribed by the GP.

If a person in immigration detention in ITA does not wish to attend the GP contracted by the HSM, the issue of payment for the consultation and any prescriptions will be decided by the HSM in consultation with the Director, Detention Health, on a case by case basis.

Pre-existing prescriptions that are necessary for the person's ongoing primary health care management would be funded by the Department.

8.3 Referrals to other health providers

If a GP recommends that a person in immigration detention in ITA receive further care or treatment from a hospital, specialist or allied health provider, the HSM will arrange for that care or treatment, where it falls within scope of the department's relevant detention health policy. The cost of this referral will be met by the department.

If a person in immigration detention in ITA requires specialised health care there may be a need to conduct a triggered client placement review to reassess their suitability for placement in ITA.

8.4 Pharmaceutical medications

As part of the induction health assessment the nurse will ask the person in immigration detention if they are taking any medication that they need to continue while in ITA. Persons in immigration detention in ITA are permitted to retain and administer their own prescribed medications and, if necessary, may ask the nurse for support in the management of their medications. In some instances the nurse may request that a person's medication be retained by the ITA staff. In this case a Webster pack will be used to provide the correct dosage to the person in immigration detention as prescribed by their GP.

IMAs and other persons moved into ITA from other locations within the IDN

8.5 Transfer of health records

For IMAs and other persons who have been transferred from other locations in the IDN, all health records for each person must also be transferred between HSM locations and be available at the time of a person's arrival in the relevant ITA.

8.6 Client profiles

Given the dominant asylum seeker profile for IMAs, in addition to any general detention transfer and ITA-specific resettlement issues, DSP and HSM must remain alert to any signs of possible PSP needs and torture trauma issues.

8.7 Other provisions

All other provisions and health services available at ITA uniformly apply to all persons in immigration detention, irrespective of their arrival or movement history.

9 Other services

9.1 Facility management

Facilities are managed by the DSP operating from an onsite administration area and in accordance with the current Services Contract Schedule 2B, Section 2B.2.

9.2 Facility security

Security at ITA is discreet and includes unobtrusive fencing, closed circuit television (CCTV) of common areas, proximity alarms and a single, controlled point of egress operated by swipe cards.

9.3 Access to diplomatic, consular and legal representatives

Access to diplomatic, consular and legal representatives will be available as per the relevant instructions - see:

- DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Consular access in immigration detention
- DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Access to legal representation.

9.4 Communications

Persons in immigration detention in ITA will have access to telephone, internet and facsimile services. For policy and procedure see DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Access to external communication services.

10 Rooms

Persons in immigration detention will be placed in rooms in accordance with room sharing principles established in consultation with the Department. In particular, health, welfare, personal safety and cultural appropriateness will be taken into account when deciding to place persons in immigration detention in ITA together in a shared room. Rooms will be allocated for men only, women only, family groups, and mixed groups, depending on the mix of the ITA population at the time, and their individual preferences.

In order to maximise flexibility, separate areas will not be permanently designated for men and women. Couples need not be separated, however the decision to allow cohabitation should be at the request of the parties concerned and on the basis of a bona fide consensual relationship and that the health, welfare and personal safety of the parties concerned will be maintained.

Persons in immigration detention in ITA will not be placed in a room with somebody of a different security risk, except in circumstances where they are of the same family unit and are not a threat to each other. This is consistent with the principle that families, where possible, in line with the best interests of the child principles, will be accommodated together.

Lockable rooms

In order to allow persons in immigration detention in ITA to retain control over their own privacy and personal security, doors to bedrooms will be lockable from the inside. ITA staff will be able to access rooms with master keys in the event of an emergency.

11 Personal property

Alcohol, items that are illegal to possess under Australian law, items that present a risk to the health, safety or privacy of persons within ITA and material of an offensive nature will not be permitted in ITA. For items not permitted in ITA see DSM - Chapter 8 - Safety & security - Items not permitted in IDFs.

11.1 Illegal items

For instructions on the handling of illegal items refer to DSM - Chapter 3 - Entering & leaving detention - Personal property.

11.2 In-trust property

Items that are legal to possess but not allowed inside ITA will be stored in-trust by the DSP and receipts given to the owner. For policy and procedure see DSM - Chapter 3 - Entering & leaving detention - Personal property.

Persons in immigration detention in ITA will be permitted to retain up to AUD 100 as well as any prescription medicines they require. Credit cards cannot be taken into ITA. Persons in immigration detention will be strongly encouraged to secure their money and medication in the lockable drawer or safe in their room. The DSP will securely store credit cards and money of more than AUD 100 in a safe and issue property receipts to the person in immigration detention.

Persons in immigration detention in ITA are able to retain and look after their personal property. For this purpose, all rooms will have lockable doors, cupboards and safes. ITA staff will:

- allocate a lockable cupboard and safe to each person in immigration detention
- show persons how to properly use the safe and cupboard to secure their valuables
- encourage persons to securely store their belongings and to use the safe to secure cash and other valuables
- address any concerns raised by persons in immigration detention regarding their property and
- appropriately secure any 'in-trust' property and provide the owner with a Form 41 Property Receipt for any property held 'in-trust'.

In most cases, persons in immigration detention will have their own clothing and personal items. In the event that someone has insufficient clothing or personal items, additional clothing and/or personal items can be arranged as required, within 24 hours of the person's arrival at ITA. Clothing/footwear provided must be culturally appropriate and suitable to the local climate. Items or clothing provided will become the personal property of the person in immigration detention.

12 Laundry

Persons in immigration detention will be given clean bed linen and bathroom towels on arrival and replenished as required. Extra linen and towels may be provided to persons in immigration detention as required (for example, if someone is sick).

Laundry facilities are available for persons in immigration detention in ITA to launder their personal items.

13 Recreation

Persons in immigration detention will be offered a range of onsite recreational facilities. Appropriate active recreational facilities will also be provided. Facilities available may vary at each ITA location.

14 Visits to ITA

14.1 Visits are to be facilitated

In accordance with procedures governing visits, every reasonable effort must be made to facilitate visits to persons in immigration detention in ITA by personal or professional visitors, and visits by official visitors to ITA or to individual persons in immigration detention. A visitor may only visit a person in immigration detention with their consent. Refusal to allow a visit would be justified only in exceptional circumstances, for example, where the visit would endanger the personal safety or security of any person, and is subject to confirmation by the RM.

14.2 Location

Visits will generally be conducted in common areas however the RM may approve visits to other areas of ITA.

For policy and procedure see DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Visitors & entry to immigration detention facilities.

14.3 Security

Visitors to ITA will not be screened and searched because of legislative limitations (screening of visitors pursuant to s252G of the Act only applies to IDCs). Visitors will be advised:

- of the conditions of entry
- that visitors must accept the conditions of entry and sign the appropriate visit form in order to enter the ITA and
- the consequences of breaching the conditions of entry. Any visitor found to be in possession of prohibited items or engaging in dangerous or threatening behaviour will be asked to leave the facility, be escorted from the premises and/or referred to the police.

Persons in immigration detention in ITA may be pat-searched and/or screened after receiving a visit if staff suspect that prohibited items may have been given to them.

For policy and procedure see:

- DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Screening & inspection powers - Entry to immigration detention facilities and
- DSM - Chapter 8 - Safety & security - Items not permitted in IDFs.

15 Offsite movements

Essential escorted movements outside ITA such as attending court or tribunal hearings, receiving offsite medical treatment and assisting with removal arrangements will be facilitated by ITA staff.

Requests for other excursions (for example to a place of worship for religious services) will be handled in accordance with relevant procedures. For policy and procedure see DSM - Chapter 8 - Safety & security - Excursions.

Persons in immigration detention returning to ITA from an excursion will be screened and/or pat-searched consistent with requirements of the DSM - Chapter 8 - Safety & security - Screening of persons in immigration detention.

16 Purchase of incidental items

The purpose of the individual allowance program (IAP) is to provide access to incidental items likely to improve the quality of life for a person while they are in immigration detention. IAP allows persons in immigration detention a level of control over their day-to-day life by providing a means to obtain incidental items from the site canteen, including telephone cards, mobile phone recharge cards, stationery, stamps and snacks.

Persons in immigration detention can also purchase incidental and approved items with cash during trips to community shops.

17 Allocation of IAP points in ITA

IAP points are allocated to people in ITA to purchase incidental items from the ITA site canteen. Every adult person in immigration detention can accrue a maximum number of 50 IAP points per week. 25 IAP points are allocated to each adult upon entry to an ITA. These IAP points should be allocated on the same day of each week for as long as the person remains in ITA. It is preferable that these IAP points are made available at 12:01 am on Saturday morning across the network.

An additional 25 points may be accrued through participation in programs and activities.

Any unused points will be forfeited at the end of the week before new points are allocated.

For policy and procedure, see DSM - Chapter 5 - Welfare - Individual allowance program in IDFs.

INTRODUCTION

This part comprises:

- section 1 Purpose
- section 2 Guiding principles
- section 3 Legislative framework.

1 PURPOSE

This instruction provides guidance on the use of alternative places of detention (APOD) placements in the community, in order to best meet the needs of persons in immigration detention and to fulfil the Department's duty of care.

2 GUIDING PRINCIPLES

The guiding principles for the use of APOD in the community are highlighted in the immigration detention values as outlined in DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Service delivery values, which states:

- the length and conditions of detention, including the appropriateness of the accommodation and the services provided will be subject to regular review
- that persons in immigration detention will be treated fairly and reasonably within the law and
- the conditions of immigration detention will ensure the inherent dignity of the human person.

All immigration detention placement decisions will be guided by the client placement model (CPM). Placement decisions will be fair, reasonable, risk-based and apply the least restrictive immigration detention option available for the individual. For policy and procedures see DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Client placement model.

3 LEGISLATIVE FRAMEWORK

The term immigration detention is defined in s5(1) of the Act as:

- (a) being in the company of, and restrained by:
  - (i) an officer or
  - (ii) in relation to a particular detainee - another person directed by the Secretary to accompany and restrain the detainee; or
- (b) being held by, or on behalf of, an officer:
  - (i) in a detention centre established under this Act; or
  - (ii) in a prison or remand centre of the Commonwealth, a State or a Territory; or
  - (iii) in a police station or watch house; or
  - (iv) in relation to a non-citizen who is prevented, under section 249, from leaving a vessel - on that vessel; or
  - (v) in another place approved by the Minister in writing;

but does not include being restrained as described in s245F(8A), or being dealt with under s245F(9)(b).

Persons who are authorised to maintain immigration detention in APOD under s189 and s5(1) of the Act include:

officers

Officers are authorised to both hold a person at a place of immigration detention and accompany and restrain the person while they are outside a place of immigration detention.

another person authorised by the Secretary

Another person authorised by the Secretary can hold a person at a place of immigration detention and accompany and restrain the person while they are outside a place of immigration detention.

designated person

Designated persons authorised by the Secretary can accompany a person at a place of detention or while they are outside a place of immigration detention.

directed person

Directed persons can accompany persons to and from a place of immigration detention.

APOD

This part comprises:

4 WHAT IS AN APOD

4.1 Accommodation options

An APOD is a place of immigration detention other than an immigration detention centre (IDC) or places identified as part of a residence determination (also known as community detention). APODs are used by the Department to meet the specific needs of persons in immigration detention that cannot be adequately catered for in an IDC. An APOD must be authorised as such in writing by the Minister or the Minister's delegate.

APODs include:

- facilities-based forms of detention, such as an immigration transit accommodation (ITA), immigration residential housing (IRH), Berrimah House and
- places in the broader community which have been designated as places of immigration detention.

This instruction deals with APOD in the community. For information on facilities-based forms of APOD, see:

- ITAs - see DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Immigration transit accommodation
- IRHs - see DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Immigration residential housing.

All accommodation where a person is in immigration detention overnight or longer should be authorised as an APOD. Examples of APOD can include, but are not limited to:

- places where medical treatment is provided
- hotels, motels and apartments
- home-based care using private accommodation owned or leased by relatives or persons with established close relationships with the person in detention and
- community-based care provided through non-government organisations (NGOs) using accommodation provided by the NGO or a community group.

It is also possible to authorise an APOD at a place where a person in detention does not reside but might spend part of their day, and where it is not appropriate or possible for them to be accompanied at all times, for example:

- schools
- medical facilities used for day procedures or
- places of religious or social interaction (churches, mosques, temples, community centres etc).

4.2 Establishing an APOD in the community

The establishment of an APOD in the community is based on paragraph (v) of the definition of immigration detention in s5(1) of the Act. To meet this requirement of the Act, the establishment of an APOD specifies that a person in detention must be held by or on behalf of an officer at that place as approved by the Minister (or the Minister's delegate).

Once the accommodation has been selected, it must be authorised in writing by the Minister or the Minister's delegate using the Instrument for approved place of immigration detention.

5 APOD PLACEMENT DECISIONS

5.1 Placement decisions

The decision to place a person in an APOD in the community occurs as a result of a departmental officer assessing what is the most appropriate placement within the immigration detention network in accordance with the CPM. For policy and procedures see DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Client placement model.

The CPM decision to place a person in an APOD will include consideration of the persons' individual circumstances, including:

- health and wellbeing
- family structure
- availability of community support
- immigration pathway
- cultural and religious sensitivities
- availability of detention accommodation
- security and flight risk assessment.

Persons placed in APODs may include but are not limited to:

- unaccompanied minors - it is preferable to place unaccompanied minors in residence determination (community detention)
- families with children who are under 18 (minors)
- persons awaiting grant of residence determination (community detention)
- persons detained initially at a location where there is no immigration detention facility (IDF) and who are awaiting imminent transfer to another place of detention
- persons with complex health needs whose needs cannot be adequately provided for in a facilities-based form of detention and
- low-risk short-stay groups or individuals.

An APOD placement must be for a defined period of time and must be reviewed prior to the end of that period.

Placements may be extended or terminated depending on the individual circumstances of the person in immigration detention. See CPM for review triggers - DSM Chapter 2 - Client placement - Client placement model.

Detention Health Services Section must be involved in all transfers to APOD in the community for medical reasons. Refer to DSM - Chapter 6 - Detention health or contact Detention Health Services at detention.health@immi.gov.au

5.2 Approving a place as an APOD

Only departmental officers with the appropriate delegations can approve an APOD. Officers must ensure that they have delegations under paragraphs (a)(ii) and (b)(v) of the definition of immigration detention under subsection 5(1) of the Act before putting these arrangements in place.

Officers are able to check their delegations as follows:

- through the TRIM links provided on IMMIInet at <http://dimanet.immi.gov.au/quickfind/delegations>
- by emailing: delegations@immi.gov.au.

Officers with appropriate delegation can approve a place as an APOD by completing the Instrument for approved place of immigration detention. The completed instrument must be filed appropriately. A scanned copy of the completed and signed document must also be emailed to Detention Instruction mailbox: detention.instruction@immi.gov.au.

6 PERSONS AUTHORISED TO MAINTAIN IMMIGRATION DETENTION AT ## AN APOD

6.1 Background

The Act states that a person in detention should be accompanied. The Department does not authorise a designated person to use physical force or restraint to prevent escape. Only officers authorised under the Act who have been trained in the use of reasonable force are to use physical force to prevent escape.

An officer or designated person must be present at the APOD in the community at all times while an unlawful non-citizen is detained there. When a person in immigration detention is outside of the APOD they must be accompanied by an officer or a designated person who is to maintain close physical proximity at all times. Persons in immigration detention may also be accompanied to or from a place of immigration detention by a directed person.

6.2 Officers

Officers, as defined under s5(1) of the Act, are authorised to both hold a person at a place of immigration detention, and accompany and restrain a person outside a place of immigration detention. Officers include:

- officers of DIAC
- Customs officers
- AFP officers and state/territory police officers
- a person, or a person included in a class of persons, who is authorised in writing by the Minister.

6.3 Designated persons

In some circumstances, it may be appropriate to authorise a person who is not an officer, to act as a designated person and maintain the conditions of immigration detention at an APOD. This arrangement is designed to benefit both the person in immigration detention and the Department.

A designated person is authorised by the Secretary (or the Secretary's delegate) pursuant to paragraphs (a)(ii) and (b)(v) of the definition of 'immigration detention' in s5(1) of the Act.

Designated persons can accompany a person at a place of immigration detention and while they are outside a place of immigration detention. A designated person must not use physical force or restraint to prevent escape.

While the Department retains ultimate duty of care for persons held in APOD placements in the community, the designated person is responsible for ensuring that the care needs of the person in detention are met appropriately. The designated person must provide the person in their care with access to services provided by or behalf of the Department, for example, accommodation and food, health care, counselling services and access to departmental staff.

The following are examples of who may be authorised as a designated person:

- a member of staff at a hospital that has been approved as an APOD
- relatives who are accommodating a person in immigration detention in their home that has been authorised as an APOD and
- members of an NGO who are accompanying a person in immigration detention at a private or NGO-owned home authorised for use as an APOD.

Some agreements between the Department and state/territory departments of health stipulate that public hospital staff will not be responsible for the security of persons in immigration detention. In such instances, or when a hospital refuses consent, hospital staff members are not to be approved as designated persons. Instead arrangements should be made for either departmental or detention service provider (DSP) officers to maintain the requirements of immigration detention. For further details of agreements with departments of health, including memoranda of understanding contact Detention Health Services (dentention.health@immi.gov.au).

APOD placements should not be confused with residence determination, (also known as community detention). For more information on community detention refer DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Community detention.

6.4 Directed person

A directed person cannot hold or accompany a person at a place of immigration detention. Directed persons can only accompany persons to and from a place of immigration detention. The directed person is required to maintain close physical proximity to the person in detention at all times while they are outside a place of immigration detention. A directed person is authorised by the Secretary, or the Secretary's delegate, under paragraph (a)(ii) of the definition of 'immigration detention' in subsection 5(1) of the Act.

Directed persons must not use physical force or restraint to prevent escape.

The directed person shares a duty of care to the person in immigration detention and should, at all times, be mindful of the person's welfare. In most instances the directed person is accompanying the person in immigration detention for a relatively short period of time, for example, on excursions or transport to and from a place of immigration detention. If any concerns arise they should contact the contact officer detailed in Directed person - Role & responsibilities or, if the matter is urgent, the Duty Officer at National Office on 0413 319 277.

Examples of APOD arrangements for which directed persons may be used include:

- a person directed to transport a child from an APOD to school
- a person who accompanies a person in detention on a day excursion, for example, to attend a place of worship, community centre, other place of social interaction or to visit friends and relatives and
- a person who accompanies a person to a health care facility.

At the end of these arrangements, the directed person is required to return the person in detention to the APOD and into the care of an officer or designated person.

6.5 Selection of designated and directed persons

In selecting designated and directed persons the authorised departmental officer must be satisfied that the person nominating for either of these roles can responsibly hold a position of trust. Due consideration should be given to the specific circumstances of the person in immigration detention when selecting a potential directed or designated person. The nominated person must be able to exercise appropriate influence (not physical restraint) over the person in detention in order to maintain the requirements of immigration detention. They must be able to serve the interests of the particular person in their care and the Department.

The Department's preference is to enter into arrangements with personnel from an established NGO. However, a person in immigration detention may be placed with their relatives where:

- there is a clear benefit for both the person in detention and the Department
- any risks associated with the placement have been considered and addressed by appropriate mitigation strategies
- the relative is an Australian citizen or permanent resident.

6.6 Vetting of designated and directed persons

Assessment of a person's suitability to act as a designated or directed person will be based in part on the information that is to be provided to the Department by, or on behalf of the nominated person:

- proof of Australian citizenship or permanent residence
- details of current residential address
- clear and current (not more than three months old) AFP check (cost to be met by the Department)
- details of current employment
- personal and professional references
- copy of a current drivers licence

- copy of current transport registration and insurance details
- details of any citizenship held in other countries
- working with children approval (see DSM - Chapter 7 - Managing the administration of detention - Working with children checks) for persons working with minors in immigration detention if the APOD arrangement involves minors.

If there is doubt about a person's suitability to be a directed or designated person, the matter should be escalated to the Assistant Secretary, Community and Detention Operations Branch, National Office.

6.7 Approving a designated person

To approve a designated person:

- i. ensure that the place to be used as an APOD in community has been properly authorised - see section 5.2 Approving a place as an APOD
- ii. ensure the prospective designated person meets the requirements as laid out in section 6.5 Selection of designated and directed persons
- iii. ensure the prospective designated person reads, understands and signs the Designated person - Role & responsibilities
- iv. complete the Designated person - Request & direction for a non-officer to be a designated person and ensure it is signed and approved by an officer with the appropriate delegation (for information on delegations see section 5.2 Approving a place as an APOD and
- v. provide the designated person with:
  - a copy of the signed designated person form
  - emergency contact information for appropriate departmental staff at the relevant IDC or STO in case of accident, illness, escape or other incident that may affect the welfare of the person in immigration detention.

6.8 Approving a directed person

To approve a designated person:

- i. ensure the prospective directed person meets the requirements as outlined in section 6.5 Selection of designated and directed persons
- ii. ensure the prospective directed person reads, understands and signs the Directed person - Role & responsibilities
- iii. prepare a Directed person - Direction to accompany and ensure it is signed and approved by an officer with the appropriate delegation (for information on delegations see section 5.2 Approving a place as an APOD and
- iv. provide the directed person with:
  - a copy of the signed Directed person - Role & responsibilities and
  - emergency contact information for appropriate departmental staff at the relevant IDC or STO in case of accident, illness, escape or other incident that may affect the welfare of the person in immigration detention.

7 APOD PLACEMENTS MANAGED BY OFFICERS OR DESIGNATED PERSONS

A decision whether to use DSP officers to manage the APOD placement or to involve designated and directed persons in the placement, will usually take account of:

- the individual needs of the person
- assessed security and flight risk of the person in immigration detention and

- availability of designated persons.

APOD placements in the community involving persons who have been assessed as medium or high security or flight risk, or persons who are likely to be removed from Australia within a short time (for example, airport turnarounds) will be managed by officers.

Sometimes it may be impracticable to use designated persons to maintain the immigration detention of a person held in an APOD in the community. For instance, if a person was placed at short notice in a hotel room designated as an APOD in the community while they await transfer to another form of detention, it would be more practical to use officers.

APOD placements using officers - DSP responsibilities

The DSP is contracted by the Commonwealth to provide for the welfare of persons placed in an APOD in the same way that it provides for the needs of persons held in IDCs.

8 EXCURSIONS - APOD - USING DESIGNATED OR DIRECTED PERSONS

The use of designated or directed persons to accompany persons in immigration detention on excursions should be assessed against the person's security and flight risk profile.

Participation in social or recreational excursions involving the use of designated or directed persons should only be considered for persons in immigration detention who have been assessed as having a low risk profile. Where an excursion is being considered for complex or sensitive cases these should be referred to the Assistant Secretary, Community and Detention Operations Branch, Community and Detention Services, National Office.

Participation in social or recreational excursions is subject to a risk assessment. For policy and procedures on excursions, see DSM - Chapter 8 - Safety & security - Excursions.

CARE

This part comprises:

- section 9 Care plans
- section 10 Health care arrangements
- section 11 Minors in APOD
- section 12 Foster care
- section 13 Financial support & allowances.

9 CARE PLANS

The Department must ensure a “care plan” is in place prior to a person in immigration detention entering an APOD arrangement. A pro-forma care plan, detailing specific requirements to provide for the welfare of the person in an APOD placement is at Plan for community support.

10 HEALTH CARE ARRANGEMENTS

All persons in immigration detention, including those in APOD in the community are able to access a level of health care commensurate to that available in the broader community. For specific information on how persons in APOD in the community access health care refer to DSM - Chapter 6 - Detention health or contact Detention Health Services at detention.health@immi.gov.au

11 MINORS IN APOD

Minors placed in immigration detention under APOD arrangements require immediate attention as the ‘best interests of the child’ are a primary consideration. Officers must escalate to the relevant deputy state/territory director who will then brief the Assistant Secretary, Case Management NatO when planning the detention or removal of a minor. The detention of minors is only to be used as a last resort, for the shortest practicable time, and in the least restrictive form appropriate to a minor’s circumstances. Minors are not to be detained in an IDC for accommodation or immigration processing purposes at any time.

For policy and procedures on caring for all minors in detention, including those who are in foster care, see DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Minors in detention.

12 FOSTER CARE

It is the Department’s preferred position that unaccompanied minors who are in immigration detention are placed in foster care under residence determination (community detention). However, there may be instances where minors in foster care will need to be placed in an APOD. This is most likely to occur while they await a residence determination placement. The Department has agreements in place with state/territory child welfare authorities for the provision of foster carers.

If foster care is to occur under an APOD arrangement, then:

- the foster care residence must be authorised as an APOD (refer to section 5.2 Approving a place as an APOD)
- the foster carer must be authorised as a designated person (refer to section 6.7 Approving a designated person). Respite carers and school teachers may also need to be authorised as designated persons.

13 FINANCIAL SUPPORT & ALLOWANCES

Persons in APOD may be eligible for some financial support to purchase essential goods and discretionary items. Allowances may vary according to the particular circumstances of the APOD and the individual.

OTHER MATTERS

This part comprises:

- section 14 Monitoring & reporting
- section 15 Responsibilities of the person in detention in community placements
- section 16 Access to private premises in the community approved as an APOD
- section 17 Terminating APOD placements.

14 MONITORING & REPORTING

14.1 DSP requirement

In accordance with contractual requirements, the DSP must monitor and report on persons placed in APOD in the community. This includes conducting regular headcounts and providing prompt and accurate incident reporting to the Department.

14.2 Departmental reporting requirements

Frequent follow up and reporting is required by departmental staff for all APOD placements in the community involving designated and directed persons. Reporting requirements must be made clear at the beginning of the placement and might include:

- weekly or fortnightly reporting under a care plan
- regular visits by the Department to the APOD for discussions with the person in detention and the designated person
- regular telephone contact between the person in detention and departmental officers
- visits to departmental offices by the person in detention.

Any combination of the reporting mechanisms could be used to ensure regular contact (at least fortnightly) is made with the person in detention. This enables the Department to confirm that immigration detention is maintained and that its duty of care is fulfilled.

14.3 Designated and directed persons' reporting requirements

Designated and directed persons are required to report to the Department as soon as practicable, any incident that may adversely affect the welfare of the person in detention or may breach the requirements of the Act.

All reporting must be documented immediately and placed on the file of the person in detention.

15 RESPONSIBILITIES OF THE PERSON IN DETENTION IN COMMUNITY PLACEMENTS

The person in detention should complete the Acknowledgment of alternative arrangements for immigration detention. Where required, interpreters and translators should be used to explain the APOD in the community arrangements and the documentation used to establish the arrangements - see DSM - Chapter 4 - Communications & visits - Translating & interpreting services.

Parents or guardians of minors should be asked to provide written consent for their children to participate in activities - see DSM - Chapter 5 - Welfare - Programs & activities.

16 ACCESS TO PRIVATE PREMISES IN THE COMMUNITY APPROVED AS AN APOD

Departmental and DSP officers do not have an automatic right to access private premises in the community that have been approved as an APOD where a designated person is maintaining the conditions of immigration detention. To obtain access to private premises, departmental and DSP officers must have either:

- the consent of an appropriate adult at the premises or
- statutory authority (that is, a warrant) before entering the premises.

Any adult resident of the private premises, including an NGO representative or the person in detention, may be considered an appropriate person to provide consent.

Officers who knowingly enter private premises that have been designated as an APOD, without the consent of an appropriate adult person or without statutory authority (a warrant) may be committing a criminal offence. Unless the officer has a warrant, they must leave the premises if permission to enter or remain is subsequently withdrawn.

In circumstances where it is necessary to enter the private premises without consent, consult Compliance Operational Support Section, mailbox compliance.operations.coordination@immi.gov.au regarding procedures for obtaining a warrant under s251 of the Act.

17 TERMINATING APOD PLACEMENTS

APOD arrangements will be terminated when:

- the person in immigration detention is granted a visa - see DSM - Chapter 3 - Entering & leaving detention - Release from immigration detention
- the APOD arrangement is revoked by the Department because it is necessary to transfer the person to another form of detention, for example, because the APOD arrangement has broken down or
- the person is to be removed from Australia.

Ongoing assessment of APOD placements should be made in accordance with the CPM. If it is necessary to terminate the arrangements for placing a person in an APOD, the reasoning for this must be documented and filed in accordance with the Department's recordkeeping policy - see DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Recordkeeping. The person in detention should be advised in writing and allowed sufficient time to respond.

It is preferable to terminate APOD arrangements with the cooperation of all involved parties, including the person in immigration detention. Where this is not possible, for instance the person in detention does not wish to move, the Assistant Secretary, Community and Detention Operations and the Assistant Secretary, Case Management must be advised.

If it is necessary to enter the APOD in the community without consent in order to terminate the APOD arrangements:

- Compliance Operational Support Section must be consulted about obtaining a warrant under s251 of the Act
- the APOD arrangement must be revoked in writing prior to effecting the warrant and a scan of the completed instrument should be sent to Detention Instruction Mailbox, email detention.instruction@immi.gov.au.

See also section 16 Access to private premises in the community approved as an APOD.

'DESIGNATED PERSONS' -

ALTERNATIVE PLACES OF DETENTION (APOD) ARRANGEMENTS

The Migration Act 1958 (the Act) requires that all unlawful non-citizens in the migration zone remain in immigration detention until they are granted a visa or leave Australia. Therefore, people held in the community in the care of Designated Persons remain in immigration detention.

To ensure that a person remains in immigration detention, the person must be held in an alternative place of detention approved by the Minister in writing (or the Minister's delegate) and in the company of a "Designated Person".

Designated Person means a person who is authorised to hold a person in detention "on behalf of an officer" while the person is in an alternative place of immigration detention. A Designated Person is also directed to accompany a particular person when they are not in a place of detention, for example when a person may be in a shopping centre, or on their way to a medical appointment.

By agreeing to be a Designated Person you acknowledge that, in relation to <Detained Person's Name> you will:

- use your best endeavours to ensure that they remain in immigration detention at all times discouraging them from absconding if they indicate an intention to do so (excluding the use of physical force or restraint);
- immediately notify the departmental contact officer anytime they are not located in the alternative place of immigration detention not accompanied by a Designated Person. The departmental contact officer should be advised as soon as possible of the time and date and the circumstances in which this occurred;
- immediately notify the departmental contact officer if they abscond, or are at serious risk of absconding;
- immediately notify the departmental contact officer if they are injured or seriously ill;
- cooperate with any other care arrangements advised by the Department;
- acknowledge that departmental and/or officers of the Detention Service Provider or Health Services Manager may at any time require access to the person in your care for detention-related purposes and agree to facilitating such access;
- undertake to protect their privacy while they are in your care and avoid all media contact;
- respect the confidentiality of participants and the alternative immigration detention arrangement;
- acknowledge that your Designated Person status will cease at the conclusion of the alternative immigration detention arrangements;
- acknowledge that your Designated Person status may cease at any time at the discretion of an appropriately authorised departmental officer;
- immediately notify the departmental contact officer in the event that you no longer wish to or are able to, continue as a Designated Person;
- ensure that any motor vehicle provided by you to transport the person is registered, covered by at least third party property insurance and ensure that it will not be driven by an unlicensed or unregistered driver or a driver affected by drugs or in breach of the blood alcohol limit applicable in the state or territory in which the vehicle is driven;
- where the Department has agreed to pay you a fortnightly allowance to assist with the costs associated with the ongoing care arrangements for (detained person's name), you are required to complete the Australian Tax Office (ATO) form 'Statement by Supplier' and the departmental form 'External Financial Institution Details'. Departmental officers cannot provide financial advice in relation to the ATO form and its effect on your tax position. You are strongly encouraged to seek advice from a qualified accountant; and

- where the Department has agreed to pay such an allowance, it is the Department's expectation that you will provide a component of the allowance to the person in immigration detention to enable them to purchase incidental items for personal use.

DIRECTED PERSON

ROLE AND RESPONSIBILITIES OF A 'PERSON DIRECTED TO ACCOMPANY'

The Migration Act 1958 (the Act) requires all unlawful non-citizens in the migration zone to remain in immigration detention until they are granted a visa or leave Australia.

Under section 5 of the Act, a person is in immigration detention if the person is accompanied and restrained by another person directed by the Secretary (or a delegate of the Secretary) of the Department of Immigration and Citizenship (the Department).

A “person directed to accompany” means a person who is authorised to accompany a particular person in immigration detention while they are not in a place of detention, for example, when a person in detention may be in a shopping centre, on an excursion or on their way to a medical appointment.

A Directed Person must not use physical force or restraint.

By agreeing to be a Directed Person you acknowledge that, in relation to <Detained Person's Name> you will:

- use your best endeavours to ensure that they remain in your company at all times
- use your best endeavours to discourage them from absconding if they indicate an intention to do so (excluding any form of physical force or restraint)
- immediately notify the Department if they abscond, or are at serious risk of absconding
- immediately notify the Department if they are injured or seriously ill
- cooperate with any other care arrangements advised by the Department

- undertake to protect their privacy while they are in your care and avoid all media contact
- return the person to the custody of the Detention Services Provider (DSP) Officer, or Designated Person no later than the time noted on the Direction to Accompany Instrument
- acknowledge that your Directed Person status will cease when you have returned the detained person to the custody of the Detention Services Provider
- acknowledge that your Directed Person status may be revoked at any time at the discretion of an appropriately authorised departmental officer
- acknowledge that your obligations and responsibilities to accompany do not apply while the detained person is held in a place of detention and
- ensure that any motor vehicle provided by you to transport the person is registered, covered by at least third party property insurance and ensure that it will not be driven by an unlicensed or unregistered driver or a driver affected by drugs or in breach of the blood alcohol limit applicable in the state or territory in which the vehicle is driven.

BACKGROUND

This Part comprises:

- section 1 Purpose
- section 2 Guiding principles
- section 3 Legislative framework
- section 4 Roles and responsibilities for administering the CD Program.

1 Purpose

This instruction provides guidance on the types of circumstances under which individuals in detention may be eligible for community detention consideration and how to effect and revoke a community detention (CD) placement on the Australian mainland.

Important note: Departmental staff should advise the Director of Case Escalation & Liaison Section, National Office and the Director of Community Services Section as soon as they become aware of any cases of minor children who are required to be detained, or are currently in immigration detention, for immediate referral to the Minister for consideration of a CD placement.

2 Guiding principles

The guiding principles that relate to CD are incorporated in the immigration detention values as outlined in DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Service delivery values, which state:

- children, including juvenile foreign fishers and, where possible, their families, will not be detained in an immigration detention centre (IDC)
- persons in detention will be treated fairly and reasonably within the law
- conditions of detention will ensure the inherent dignity of the human person.

Placement into CD arrangements is guided by the client placement model - for policy and procedures see DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Client placement model. The model provides a framework for assessing a person's individual case, balancing their specific circumstances with associated risk factors, and the availability of a range of detention accommodation options.

3 Legislative framework

Section 4AA of the Migration Act 1958 (the Act) states that "the Parliament affirms as a principle that a minor child shall only be detained as a measure of last resort." The objective of the amendments that introduced s4AA was to ensure that families with children in detention are placed in the community, under community detention arrangements, with conditions set to meet their individual circumstances. A non-compellable, non-delegable detention intervention power was introduced under s197AB to enable the Minister to make a residence determination that specifies a person's detention arrangements to take place in the community, if it is in the public interest to do so.

In the explanatory memorandum relating to the amendments to the Act, it states:

... the Government's intention that the best interests of children will be taken into account and where detention of an unlawful non-citizen family (with children) is required under the Act, detention should be under these alternative arrangements where and as soon as possible, rather than under traditional detention.

It is the Government's intention that where persons who are known or reasonably suspected to be unlawful non-citizens who are in a family who have made a valid visa application and are awaiting the Minister's delegate's decision on that application, or removal is imminent, or a family member has breached the conditions of the Minister's residence determination, that the family (including the father) will be detained, if possible, in a residential housing project that is in the city nearest to the family's prior residence.

The Minister has affirmed that under no circumstances should the department place a child (a person under 18 years) in an IDC.

The legislation supporting community detention is in subdivision B of the Act (sections 197AB to 197AG).

4 Roles and responsibilities for administering the CD Program

The department

The department has primary responsibility to ensure that persons placed in CD abide by the conditions specified by the Minister.

Departmental case managers are responsible for achieving an immigration outcome for persons placed in CD.

The Detention Health Services Section (Detention Health) has the responsibility to ensure that the IHMS is managing the health function for persons in CD appropriately.

The Red Cross

The Red Cross ensures that persons in CD are supported in the community, while the department resolves their immigration status.

International Health and Medical Services (IHMS)

International Health and Medical Services (IHMS) (the department's health services manager) has responsibility for managing the health of persons in CD.

The detention services provider (DSP)

The DSP does not have involvement in the CD Program, as there is no requirement to accompany or restrain persons in this immigration detention arrangement. However, they may be required to support client transitions to (or from) CD from IDCs, immigration residential housing (IRHs) or another alternative place of detention (APOD).

PLACEMENT IN COMMUNITY DETENTION

This part comprises:

- section 5 The Client placement model - Guidelines for community detention
- section 6 How to apply for community detention
- section 7 Referring a request to the Minister
- section 8 How to transfer a person into community detention.

5 The Client placement model - Guidelines for community detention

The client placement model has been developed to provide a framework for placing and moving persons within the immigration detention network (see DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Client placement model). The model is characterised by a focus on a person's individual case, balancing their specific circumstances with associated risk factors, and the availability of a range of detention accommodation options.

Under the client placement model, persons with a range of individual circumstances may meet the guidelines for referral to the Minister for consideration of a CD placement. These circumstances include:

- families, including split families, with minor children
- unaccompanied minors
- persons who have been assessed as suffering from torture and trauma
- persons with special needs that cannot be properly cared for in an IDC, where the grant of a bridging visa E (050 or 051) is not appropriate, and whose special needs are exacerbated by their continued placement in an IDC
- persons whose detention would result in continuing hardship to an Australian citizen or Australian family unit (where at least one member of the family is an Australian citizen or Australian permanent resident)
- persons whose prospect of removal is unlikely within a reasonable time frame and who are not eligible for a removal pending bridging visa
- where the Minister has sought a referral under the guidelines and/or
- persons for whom the Minister has intervened under s417, s48B or other non-compellable and non-delegable ministerial intervention powers when the person is in immigration detention and a bridging visa or any other visa is not granted or a person is not eligible for the grant of a bridging visa or any other visa.

After conducting a client placement assessment (see DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Client placement model), any departmental officer who considers that a case may demonstrate any of the above circumstances must refer it to the Director, Case Escalation & Liaison Section for a guidelines assessment for CD.

Note: For the purposes of the guidelines, a split family is a family unit, where one or more members are living in the community lawfully or in an APOD and one or more family members remain in an IDC.

The Minister's detention intervention powers, that is, the power to make a residence determination, are in s197AB of the Act.

6 How to apply for community detention

A person in immigration detention can request at any time that their case be considered for referral to the Minister for a placement in CD by writing to the department by letter, fax or email for assessment under the guidelines.

Other persons (typically an agent or advocate, but this could also include external and internal physical and mental health practitioners, welfare staff, education staff, lawyers, religious practitioners, etc.) may also request, by the same methods, that the Minister consider a CD placement. For these requests, the department will consult with the person in detention to ensure that they consent to their case being presented to the Minister for consideration (this forms part of the pre-submission process - see section 8 How to transfer a person into community detention).

Departmental officers reviewing client placement decisions must refer to the Director of Case Escalation & Liaison Section for consideration against the guidelines any cases that may demonstrate any of the circumstances discussed under section 5 The Client placement model - Guidelines for community detention.

Note: Under s197AA, to be eligible for a community detention placement, the Minister may only consider cases where a person is required or permitted by s189 to be detained, or who is in detention under that section.

7 Referring a request to the Minister

7.1 Initial/first requests

Where a request for the Minister to consider exercising their detention intervention powers is received and the case has not previously been assessed against the guidelines and referred to the Minister, an officer from the Case Escalation & Liaison Section Community Detention team (CELS CD team) in National Office, will assess the person's circumstances against the guidelines, and:

- for cases falling within the scope of these guidelines, bring the case to the Minister's attention in a submission for consideration of a CD placement or
- for cases assessed as not meeting the guidelines, the CELS CD team will write a letter to the person in detention, or their authorised representative, indicating that the case has been assessed and found not to fall within the scope of the detention intervention guidelines.

7.2 Subsequent/repeat requests

Subsequent requests for the Minister to consider placing a person in CD must provide new information:

- for cases falling within the scope of the guidelines and where additional information has been supplied, the CELS CD team will reassess the case against the guidelines and prepare a submission for the Minister's consideration
- for cases remaining outside the scope of the guidelines (because the request either does not contain additional information or the additional information provided, in combination with the information known previously, does not bring the case within the scope of the guidelines), the CELS CD team will write a letter to the person in detention, or their authorised representative, indicating that the case has been assessed and found not to fall within the scope of the CD guidelines
- repeat requests from persons will be assessed and where they continue to not meet the guidelines, and not present new information, the CELS CD team will notify persons that they do not meet the guidelines.

7.3 Pre-submission process

Once a request for the department to consider referring a case to the Minister for a placement in CD has been received by the CELS CD team, the assessing officer must liaise with the person's case manager and removals case officer to discuss placement options for the person in detention.

After receiving confirmation that the person wishes to be considered for a CD placement and the relevant consent to release information to the Red Cross and IHMS, the CELS CD team will assess the case against the guidelines.

Role of CELS CD team:

- advising centre CD liaison officers, case manager, IHMS and removals case officer of the referral and

- forwarding the Privacy and Personal Medical Information Consent form to centre CD liaison officers and the Detention Health team for release of information to the Red Cross and IHMS.

Note: Centre CD liaison officers - The Integrated Business Model Guideline 2007/001 allocates responsibility for monitoring detention arrangements to these officers. In most states and territories, a departmental officer will be allocated from the Detention Services network to work specifically with the CD program, but in some cases, a centre executive or other senior officer (potentially from case management or complex case teams) may be required to perform some aspects of these roles.

Roles of centre CD liaison officers:

- engaging with the person in detention to discuss the placement option of CD and provide the person with an opportunity to accept or decline the offer for the department to present their case for the Minister's consideration
- recording a summary of discussions held and information provided to the client or their authorised representative
- asking the person in detention for consent to release their information to the Red Cross and IHMS for the purposes of a needs assessment and to sign a consent form and
- providing a written case manager's case history of the client to CELS CD team on request, to assist in their assessment of the client's case.

Role of the IHMS:

- liaise with the Community Health Centre in a locality close to where the person/family is to be placed and
- liaise with the pharmacy close to the Community Health Centre to set up an account for the person/family to purchase Pharmaceuticals Benefits Scheme (PBS) items.

Role of the Detention Health team:

- liaise with the IHMS regarding health issues of persons in CD.

Another significant role for centre CD liaison officers in this process is to manage the person's expectations regarding the CD request. It is important to stress that the Minister is not obliged to consider a person's case, and that the involvement of the Red Cross in the process is not an assurance that the person will be placed in CD.

7.4 Submission process:

For cases assessed as meeting the guidelines, the CD program management team (Community Services Section) will contact the Red Cross, the Detention Health team and IHMS.

A key part of the submission process is establishing the address at which the person in detention will reside. The submission to the Minister must include a specific address for the Minister to make a legal decision placing the person in CD.

Role of the CD program management team:

- referring the case to the Red Cross and IHMS, including personal details and any proposed accommodation (for example, if the person in detention has any family members already residing in the community) and
- approving the proposed care arrangements for the person in CD.

Role of CELS CD team:

- finalising the assessment of the case against the guidelines, preparing a submission to the Minister and recording details in ICSE/Portal to ensure that actions and decisions regarding the person in detention are appropriately recorded
- advising stakeholders once the submission is forwarded to the Minister's office.

Role of the Red Cross Community Detention team:

- meeting with the person(s) in detention to conduct a needs assessment
- sourcing accommodation for inclusion in the submission to the Minister (where required)
- establishing the long-term sustainability of the proposed address (either a pre-existing address in the community, or one sourced by the Red Cross) and

- preparing a care plan outlining proposed health and welfare supports while the person resides in community detention.

Role of the health services manager (HSM):

- set up health service providers (GP and dentist) in Community Health Centre
- notify persons in detention about the role of the HSM, the identity card system.

Submissions forwarded by CELS CD team to the Minister will include as attachments:

- an instrument authorising the CD placement under s197AB, in respect of specified persons at a specified address
- a tabling statement to each house of Parliament as required under s197AG and
- a letter to the person in detention outlining the conditions attached to the CD placement.

For details regarding these attachments, please refer to the Director of Case Escalation & Liaison Section (CELS).

7.5 Post-submission process:

Once the Minister has approved a request for CD, including formally signing the appropriate documentation, CELS CD team in National Office will coordinate the notification of the decision to the person in detention and all other stakeholders.

Cases where the Minister declines to make a residence determination

If the Minister declines to intervene in a case, CELS CD team will advise the person in detention, or their authorised representative, in writing of the Minister's decision. This letter will be forwarded to the centre CD liaison officers for delivery by hand to the person in detention. CELS CD team will also notify the case manager of the Minister's decision. The CD Program management team will notify Red Cross at the National Office level and centre CD liaison officers will notify Red Cross at the local level of the decision.

See DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Notifying persons in immigration detention of immigration decisions.

8 How to transfer a person into community detention

Effecting the CD placement will require different procedures to be followed, based on the person's individual circumstances. Depending on the circumstances, the procedures for commencing CD are as follows.

8.1 Person resides at a detention centre

1. CELS CD team in National Office receives documentation from the Minister's office with all required signatures.
2. CELS CD team finalises outcome of Ministerial intervention request in ICSE/CCMD Portal.
3. CELS CD team informs relevant IDC staff of the Minister's decision via phone.
4. CELS CD team faxes signed documents to departmental Detention staff.
5. Centre CD liaison officer notifies person(s), or their authorised representative, of the Minister's decision as soon as possible. This should occur the same day that staff receive notification of the decision. Delivery of the decision to the person by the centre CD liaison officers includes:
  - providing the person with a signed copy of the Minister's letter and conditions attached to the CD placement (the original will be forwarded via post to the person or their authorised representative) including establishing reporting requirements;
  - notifying the DSP and HSP of the person's pending transition to CD, so that they can facilitate the transfer out of the IDC (for example, finalisation of the dossier detailing DSP's record of management of the person and facilitation of medical discharge summary by HSP).

6. Centre CD liaison officer advises Red Cross at the local level of the Minister's decision and that the person has been informed of the decision.
7. Red Cross liaise with IDC staff to establish whether the person requires support in transitioning from the IDC to the community (that is, Red Cross staff may accompany the person from the centre to the specified address). This could also include arranging interim temporary accommodation where the specified address is not ready for the person's arrival.
8. Centre CD liaison officer records the person's exit from the immigration detention centre in ICSE/CCMD Portal.
9. CD Program Management records the person's transition into CD arrangements in ICSE/CCMD Portal.
10. CD Program Management advises all stakeholders via email of the person's transition from an IDC to a CD placement.
11. Red Cross visits all person(s) in detention within the first few days of being placed in CD to implement agreed care plan arrangements and establish rapport. In some cases the Red Cross will provide immediate support.

8.2 Currently residing in alternative detention arrangements, including at an IRH

1. CELS CD team in National Office receives documentation from the Minister's office with all required signatures.
2. CELS CD team finalises outcome of Ministerial intervention request in ICSE/CCMD Portal.
3. CELS CD team informs relevant IDC CD liaison officer of the Minister's decision via phone.
4. CELS CD team faxes signed documents to centre staff.
5. Centre CD liaison officer notifies the person(s), or their authorised representative, of Minister's decision as soon as possible, but this should occur the same day that staff receive notification of the decision. Where persons are residing in an APOD outside a reasonable travel distance from a centre CD liaison officer, notification may occur via phone until the person can be provided with a copy of the documents. Delivery of the decision by the centre CD liaison officer includes:
  - providing the person with a signed copy of the Minister's letter and conditions attached to the CD placement (the original will be forwarded via post to the person in detention or migration agent) including establishing reporting arrangements
  - if the person is residing with a designated person in the community, the designated person should be informed orally and in writing that their responsibilities towards the person in detention have ceased and fortnightly payments will cease, as Red Cross will assume responsibility for all such supports. CD Program Management will finalise all recurring payments being made to the designated person
  - if the person is residing at IRH, the centre CD liaison officer will also notify the DSP of the person's pending transition to CD, so that they can facilitate the transfer out of IRH (for example, finalisation of the dossier detailing DSP's record of management of the person in detention).
6. Centre CD liaison officer advises the Red Cross at the local level of the Minister's decision and that the person in detention has been informed of the decision.
7. Red Cross liaises with centre CD liaison officer to establish whether the person requires support in transitioning from the IDC to the community (that is, Red Cross staff may accompany the person from the IDC to the specified address).

8. Centre CD liaison officer records the person's exit from the IDC in ICSE/CCMD Portal.
9. CELS CD team will record the person's transition into CD arrangements in ICSE/CCMD Portal.
10. CD Program Management advises all stakeholders via email of the person's transition from an IRH or APOD to a CD placement.
11. Red Cross visits the person within the first few days of being placed in CD to implement agreed care plan arrangements and establish rapport. In some cases, the Red Cross will provide immediate support.

8.3 Currently residing as an unlawful non-citizen in the community:

These cases will have been prepared in conjunction with Compliance staff to ensure that they are aware and prepared for detaining the person with an immediate placement in CD.

Following the Minister's decision, Detention and Compliance staff will coordinate the person's entry into detention, and while every effort should be made to facilitate the notification of the decision on the same day, this may not occur due to operational constraints for Compliance officers.

In these circumstances, the following procedure will apply:

1. CELS CD team in National Office receives documentation from the Minister's office with all required signatures.
2. CELS CD team finalises outcome of Ministerial intervention request in ICSE/CCMD Portal.
3. CELS CD team informs relevant Compliance staff of the Minister's decision and awaits advice on when Compliance can inform the person(s) of the detention decision in line with Compliance procedures.
4. CELS CD team informs relevant IDC staff of the Minister's decision via phone.
5. CELS CD team faxes signed documents to Detention and Compliance staff.
6. Compliance staff notifies person(s), or their authorised representative, of Minister's decision as soon as practicable, including advice regarding their new immigration status of "in detention". In line with Compliance procedures for detaining a person, this notification includes:
  - providing the person with a signed copy of the Minister's letter and conditions attached to the CD placement (the original will be forwarded via post to the person in detention or their authorised representative) including establishing reporting requirements
  - Compliance staff explain the person's new detention status, the section of the Act under which they are being detained, and provide all other notifications required when detaining a person
  - if not present with Compliance staff during this notification to the person in detention, centre CD liaison officer will contact them separately to arrange and explain the reporting conditions attached to the person's CD placement.
7. Centre CD liaison officer advises Red Cross at the local level of the Minister's decision and that the person has been informed of the decision.
8. Compliance staff records the person's entry into detention, including the reasons for detaining the person, the detention notes, and any other information required by their procedures in ICSE/CCMD Portal.
9. CD Program Management records the person's entry into CD arrangements in ICSE/CCMD Portal.

10. CD Program Management advises all stakeholders via email that the person's status of "unlawful in the community" has become that of a CD placement.
11. Red Cross visits the person within the first few days of being placed in CD to implement agreed care plan arrangements and establish rapport. In some cases, the Red Cross will provide immediate support.

8.4 Child born to parents residing in community detention:

Similar to the procedures for coordinating the detention of an unlawful non-citizen currently residing in the community, for these cases, Compliance will have been engaged while preparing the submission to the Minister.

Case Management, Complex Case or Compliance staff may also be engaged to facilitate the creation of the person's record in ICSE/CCMD Portal following the child's birth to ensure that all departmental actions are recorded appropriately in the information systems, and enable the Minister to make a legal CD decision.

In these circumstances, the following procedure will apply:

1. Case Management, Complex Case or Compliance staff, create the record of the newborn child in ICSE/CCMD Portal, so that the Minister can make a legal decision placing the child in CD (the Minister must sign an instrument specifying personal identifiers for each person placed in CD). Compliance may also make a decision to place the child in APOD at the hospital, or at the home of the parents, prior to the Minister's consideration of a CD submission.
2. CELS CD team forwards a submission to the Minister within two weeks of the child either being born, or entering detention (where Compliance staff have placed the newborn in APOD).
3. CELS CD team in National Office receives documentation from the Minister's office with all required signatures.
4. CELS CD team finalises outcome of Ministerial intervention request in ICSE/CCMD Portal.
5. CELS CD team informs relevant Compliance staff of the Minister's decision and awaits advice on when Compliance can inform the child's parents of the detention decision in line with Compliance procedures.
6. CELS CD team informs relevant centre CD liaison officer of the Minister's decision via phone.
7. CELS CD team faxes signed documents to IDC and Compliance staff.
8. For cases where Compliance staff have not already placed the child into APOD, Compliance staff will notify the child's parents of the Minister's decision as soon as practicable, including advice regarding their new immigration status of "in detention". In line with Compliance procedures for detaining a person, this notification should include:
  - providing the child's parents with a signed copy of the Minister's letter and conditions attached to the CD placement (the original will be forwarded via post to the child's parents or migration agent) including establishing reporting requirements;
  - Compliance staff explain the child's new detention status to the parents, the section of the Act under which they are being detained, and provide all other notifications required when detaining a person;
  - if not present with Compliance staff during this notification to the parents, centre CD liaison officer will contact the parents separately to arrange and explain the reporting conditions attached to the child's CD placement.
9. Centre CD liaison officer advises Red Cross at the local level of the Minister's decision and that the child's parents have been informed of the decision.

10. Compliance staff record the child's entry into detention, including the reasons for detaining the person, the detention notes, and any other information required by their procedures in ICSE/CCMD Portal.
11. CD Program Management records the child's entry into CD arrangements in ICSE/CCMD Portal.
12. CELS CD team advises all stakeholders via email of the child's transition from either an unlawful in the community status or an APOD to a CD placement.
13. Red Cross visits the family within the first few days of the child being placed in CD to implement agreed care plan arrangements and establish any additional needs for the family which may not have been identified prior to the birth.

POST-PLACEMENT PROCEDURES

This part comprises:

- section 9 Ongoing monitoring of CD placements
- section 10 Cessation of CD arrangements
- section 11 Roles and responsibilities for administering the CD Program.

9 Ongoing monitoring of CD placements

In line with the new directions in detention, the length and conditions of detention, including the appropriateness of the accommodation and the services accessible will be subject to regular review.

Persons placed in CD may have a range of conditions attached to their detention placement consistent with their individual circumstances, as specified in the Minister's letter to the person in detention. These conditions provide the Minister with assurances that any risks related to the person living in the community have been mitigated appropriately.

The centre CD liaison officers in each state have primary responsibility for ensuring that persons placed in CD meet their specified conditions. The Minister's letter provides information regarding their contact officer, who will usually manage the person's reporting and detention monitoring arrangements. This includes being available for weekly phone reporting and regular visits to the person's specified address.

In some cases, the Minister may specify additional reporting to be conducted in person at a departmental office through the Compliance counter. These reporting arrangements will be coordinated by the CELS CD team, the centre CD liaison officers, and Compliance counter managers following Ministerial approval of the CD placement.

The Red Cross is not responsible for monitoring a person's detention arrangements. As the agency engaged to provide welfare supports to persons in CD, they are responsible for raising with the department any concerns about a person's welfare. Red Cross will conduct monthly visits to the person in CD at their specified address to ensure that their welfare needs continue to be met.

From March 2008, IHMS will facilitate health care arrangements for persons in CD to ensure consistency of health care across all detention placements. Red Cross will liaise with the Detention Health team when raising any concerns regarding the person's access to health services.

10 Cessation of CD arrangements

A person may be released from CD, in the following circumstances:

- the person is granted a visa, including a bridging visa
- the Minister revokes a CD placement under s197AD or
- the person acquires citizenship by virtue of birth and in accordance with s12(1)(b) of the Australian Citizenship Act 2007.

Apart from the visa grant or the acquisition of citizenship by virtue of birth, a person cannot be transferred out of CD, or to another detention placement, without the Minister's approval. Only the Minister may make any changes to a person's CD placement.

10.1 The person is granted a visa, including a bridging visa:

A visa grant will automatically override a CD placement and constitute a release from immigration detention. However, it will be necessary to close off the person's detention records to facilitate the visa grant.

The following procedure will apply in these circumstances:

1. The CD Program Management team is advised of visa grant by email or phone from grant area, or receive notification from centre CD liaison officers in the states/territories.

2. Where notification does not come from state office staff, CELS CD team advise the relevant centre CD liaison officer and case manager to confirm or coordinate delivery of visa grant notification to the person in detention.
3. Centre CD liaison officers will be required to record the person's release from detention in ICSE/CCMD Portal to enable the visa grant to be recorded.
4. Centre CD liaison officers are to ensure persons are aware they are no longer in detention due to the visa grant as soon as practicable, but on the same day that they are advised where possible. Centre CD liaison officers may also deliver the visa grant notification (for example, the letter stating the conditions attached to the visa grant and specifying the visa class and subclass) where required, otherwise the case manager is responsible for coordinating visa grant notifications.
5. CD Program Management advises Red Cross National Office and IHMS of the visa grant. Red Cross may assist persons in attending a departmental Client Services counter to facilitate visa evidencing. Departmental Client Services staff will record the visa evidencing event in ICSE/CCMD Portal.
6. Red Cross develops a transitional care plan within 2 days of visa evidencing, which outlines the proposed transitional supports between the cessation of CD supports and supports available to the person through the visa grant. This plan will be approved by CD program management.
7. IHMS arrange for a discharge summary and manage any health related ongoing specialist appointments.
8. Red Cross:
  - sources new accommodation for persons who wish to change residence and
  - organises applications to Centrelink and Medicare for those persons who are eligible for supports from these organisations.
9. Transitional support from the CD program will cease:
  - for accommodation (rental payments and removalist costs), four weeks from the date of visa evidencing and
  - for medical costs and income support, two weeks from the date of visa evidencing.
10. CD program management will provide a copy of the transitional arrangements to the case manager and DSP staff..

10.2 The person acquires citizenship by virtue of birth

Under s12(1)(b) of the Australian Citizenship Act 2007, unless already a citizen, a child becomes an Australian citizen on their tenth birthday where they are born in Australia and have been ordinarily resident in Australia for those ten years. Similar to a visa grant, the Minister is not required to revoke the CD decision as the citizenship will occur automatically as a matter of law and will override the detention decision.

It is necessary to close off the child's detention records to facilitate their new citizenship status:

1. CD program management and the case manager to coordinate advice to the family that the child will become an Australian citizen on their tenth birthday, after which date they will cease to be in immigration detention.
2. In the preceding weeks, the CD program management team liaises with Red Cross and IHMS to ensure that the family are advised of practical implications of the child's new status, including financial support and program-funded access to medical, pharmaceutical and education services. Support from the CD program will not cease until the child can access entitlements from Centrelink and Medicare.

3. Centre CD liaison officers or CD Program management may be required to record the child's release from detention in ICSE/CCMD Portal to enable the citizenship status to be recorded.
4. Centre CD liaison officer to ensure that the family are aware as soon as practicable, but on the child's tenth birthday where possible, that the child is no longer in detention due to acquisition of citizenship. Centre CD liaison officers may also deliver advice regarding how to obtain a record of the citizenship status (for example, a Citizenship certificate or Australian passport) where required, otherwise the case manager is responsible for coordinating the delivery of this information.
5. CD program management advises Red Cross National Office of the citizenship acquisition. Departmental Citizenship and Client Services staff will record the Citizenship event and any evidencing event in ICSE/CCMD Portal.
6. Red Cross develops a transitional care plan, which outlines the proposed transitional supports between the cessation of CD supports and supports available to the client due to their citizenship (that is, Centrelink special benefits access or Medicare support). This plan will be approved by CD program management.
7. Standard transitional support from the CD program is usually:
  - for accommodation (rental payments and removalist costs), four weeks from the date of visa evidencing and
  - for medical costs and income support, two weeks from the date of visa evidencing.

Given that Centrelink may need to facilitate special arrangements for children who acquire citizenship but whose parents remain unlawful non-citizens, support from the CD program will remain in place until these arrangements can be effected.

CD program management provide a copy of the transitional arrangements to the case manager and IDC staff.

10.3 The Minister revokes a CD placement

The Minister may, under s197AD, revoke a CD placement for a variety of reasons, including:

- a person has breached the conditions attached to their CD placement (for example, not reporting as scheduled or not residing at the specified residence) or
- where removal is imminent and it is necessary to detain the person(s) in secure arrangements to effect the removal.

Note: Any families with children who are due for imminent removal should remain in CD until removal is facilitated. They should only be placed in immigration detention facilities prior to removal as a last resort, and for the shortest time possible. In most cases, the department will seek to accommodate these families in APOD arrangements.

A revocation decision may be actioned once the Minister has signed documentation, including an instrument authorising the revocation of the CD (residence determination) arrangement; and a letter to the person in detention, or their authorised representative, stating that the CD placement is no longer in effect. These documents will usually form part of a submission to the Minister requesting consideration of revoking a person's CD placement.

The following procedures will apply:

1. CELS CD team is advised of Minister's revocation decision and receives a copy of all signed documentation from the Minister's office.
2. CELS CD team advises relevant Centre CD liaison officer, IHMS and Detention Health, the case manager and Compliance staff and confirm or coordinate delivery of revocation decision to the person, or their authorised representative and any subsequent actions (for example, transportation to an IDC or APOD).

3. CELS CD team to record outcome of Minister's decision in ICSE/CCMD Portal.
4. Centre CD liaison officer to ensure person(s) in detention, or their authorised representative, is aware they are no longer in CD, as soon as practicable. Where possible, this should occur on the same day as the Minister's decision.
5. CD program management advises Red Cross National Office of the revocation of the CD placement.
6. Red Cross and IHMS may have a role in providing support for a person about to be removed, however this will be facilitated between the relevant centre CD liaison officers, removals officers, the Red Cross and IHMS.
7. Support from the CD Program, including payment of living allowances and rent, will cease immediately. There are some provisions for supporting Red Cross to finalise the person's affairs where required.
8. CELS CD team continues to monitor the case and take appropriate action, where removal is not facilitated within an agreed timeframe and the persons in detention continue to meet the referral guidelines for a CD placement. In these cases, CELS CD team may be required to refer the case again for the Minister's consideration of placing the person(s) back into a CD placement.

11 Roles and responsibilities for administering the CD Program

CELS CD team in National Office:

- ensures the timely assessment and referral of appropriate cases to the Minister for consideration

- establishes the long-term sustainability of the proposed address (either a pre-existing address in the community, or one sourced by the Red Cross)
- prepares a care plan outlining proposed health and welfare supports while the person resides in CD
- provides the primary community and welfare support for persons placed in CD following CD program service standards and relevant policies and procedures and
- works with persons in CD to ensure they have access to appropriate services as identified in the approved care plan.

IHMS:

- manages the health of persons in CD.

Centre CD liaison officers:

BACKGROUND

This part comprises:

- section 1 Purpose
- section 2 Guiding principles
- section 3 Legislative framework.

1 PURPOSE

The purpose of this instruction is to provide departmental and detention services provider (DSP) staff with guidance in the detention and removal of illegal foreign fishers.

This instruction outlines government processes in relation to the apprehension of illegal foreign fishers in Australia's northern waters. It does not apply to illegal foreign fishers intercepted in waters south of Australia.

This instruction identifies and explains the role of the Department and the roles of other agencies involved in the detention and removal of illegal foreign fishers.

2 GUIDING PRINCIPLES

The guiding principles in relation to the detention of illegal foreign fishers are encapsulated in DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Service delivery values, that state that a person in immigration detention will be treated fairly and reasonably within the law and that conditions of immigration detention will ensure the inherent dignity of the human person. For the purpose of detaining illegal foreign fishers in immigration detention this means that:

- on arrival at the wharf, all illegal foreign fishers are held in fisheries detention and are only taken into immigration detention when fisheries detention ceases and the illegal foreign fisher becomes an unlawful non-citizen
- the Department is responsible for the immigration detention and removal of illegal foreign fishers in immigration detention
- illegal foreign fisher minors receive priority to ensure the best interests of the minor are considered (see section 11 Minors)
- illegal foreign fisher minors are NOT, and will not be accommodated in an immigration detention centre (IDC), nor will reception processes for illegal foreign fisher minors be undertaken in an IDC.

The Commonwealth has a duty of care to illegal foreign fishers they apprehend and hold in fisheries and immigration detention subject to the operation of law. This responsibility cannot be delegated or transferred. All agencies must uphold their duty of care obligations.

3 LEGISLATIVE FRAMEWORK

The Northern Immigration Detention Centre (NIDC) is a joint facility. Persons held in NIDC are either in:

- fisheries detention under the Fisheries Management Act 1991 (FMA Act) or
- fisheries detention under the Torres Strait Fisheries Act 1984 (TSFA Act) or
- immigration detention under the Migration Act.

Under the FMA Act, the maximum period any illegal foreign fisher can be held in fisheries detention is 168 hours.

Under the TSFA Act, the maximum period a illegal foreign fisher can be held in fisheries detention is dependent upon whether the illegal foreign fisher and/or the vessel is of Papua New Guinea origin.

Under the TSFA Act:

- a foreign national on a foreign vessel can be held in fisheries detention for a maximum of 168 hours. However, a foreign national on a Papua New Guinea vessel can only be held in fisheries detention for a maximum of 72 hours

- a Papua New Guinea national on a foreign or Papua New Guinea vessel can only be held in fisheries detention for a maximum of 72 hours
- the 72 hour timeframe is not applicable to any illegal foreign fisher of Papua New Guinea origin undertaking traditional fishing activities as per TSFA definitions on a Papua New Guinea vessel.

This instruction does not apply to the Environmental Protection, Biodiversity and Conservation Act 1999, as it is not yet operational.

The following provisions of the Migration Act are relevant to this instruction:

s5(1)	fisheries detention offence
s5(1)	fisheries officer
s5(1)	immigration cleared
s5(1)	master
s5(1)	migration zone
s5(1)	minor
s5(1)	officer
s5(1)	refused immigration clearance
s5(1)	Torres Strait Treaty
s5(1)	traditional activities
s13	lawful non-citizens
s14	unlawful non citizens
s147	Commonwealth criminal justice stay certificate (CJSC)
s151	Certain warrants stay removal or deportation (criminal justice stay warrant - CJSW)
s155	Criminal justice stay visa (CJSV)
s164B	enforcement visa
s172(1)	immigration clearance
s172(3)	when a person is refused immigration clearance
s250	detention of suspected offenders
s262	liability to the Commonwealth for the cost of keeping, maintaining and removing certain persons because of s250.

With the exception of minors, all illegal foreign fishers who require higher level management can be detained in an IDC under s189 of the Migration Act. A higher level of management may be necessary to manage persons exhibiting serious character risks, unconfirmed identity or health requirements or those presenting a higher security or flight risk. For further information on IDCs, see DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Immigration detention centres.

DETENTION

This part comprises:

- section 4 Places of detention
- section 5 Roles & responsibilities
- section 6 From fisheries detention to immigration detention
- section 7 Identification tests
- section 8 Removal of illegal foreign fishers
- section 9 Detention debt.

4 PLACES OF DETENTION

4.1 Immigration detention centre (IDC)

An IDC is part of the immigration detention network (IDN) that offers a range of immigration detention accommodation options. Persons who are detained and held in an IDC are in administrative detention because they are unlawful non-citizens. Administrative detention is a means of detaining a person to enable assessment of their identity, health and security. This enables the Department to resolve their immigration status and/or facilitate their repatriation or the grant of a visa.

Note: Under s164D of the Act, the holder of an enforcement visa, or a person who has remained in Australia after an enforcement visa has ceased, may not apply for a visa other than a protection visa while they remain in Australia. However, in most circumstances illegal foreign fishers are focused on returning to their home country and have little interest in making an application for an Australian visa.

4.2 Alternative place of detention (APOD)

An APOD is part of the IDN, but is separate from an IDC and places identified as part of a residence determination known as community detention. APODs are used by the Department to meet the specific needs of persons in immigration detention who cannot be adequately catered for in an existing immigration detention facility (IDF).

APODs are generally intended for use only in the short term. Illegal foreign fisher minors are placed in Berrimah House, an APOD designed for that purpose. Other examples of APOD placements may include hotels and motels, schools or hospitals.

5 ROLES & RESPONSIBILITIES

5.1 The Department

The Department is responsible for:

- ensuring that all relevant processing and data systems are maintained in a manner that provides current, accurate and complete information necessary for the effective processing and management of illegal foreign fishers in immigration detention
- the care and management of illegal foreign fishers held in immigration detention
- ensuring that minors receive priority and that decisions made in respect to them are informed by consideration of what is in their best interests
- the care and management of illegal foreign fisher minors in APODs
- the removal of illegal foreign fishers having regard to any special needs including those that relate to the support and protection of minors.

5.2 Detention services provider (DSP)

The DSP is responsible for:

- managing IDFs and providing transport and escort services to illegal foreign fishers in detention
- the care and provision of services, other than health services, to illegal foreign fishers in detention

- providing timely advice to the Department regarding any changes in circumstances, new information or management requirements that may impact on illegal foreign fishers in their care.

5.3 Health services provider (HSP)

The HSP is responsible for:

- organising the initial health assessments and screening in the “medical separation” area of NIDC for illegal foreign fishers who arrive directly at Darwin and are held in fisheries detention. These assessments include the public health screening by the Centre for Disease Control
- conducting the induction health assessment for all illegal foreign fishers entering immigration detention
- managing the ongoing health care needs of the illegal foreign fishers when in immigration detention
- providing timely advice to the Department regarding any changes in circumstances, new information or management requirements of illegal foreign fishers in their care.

For policy and procedures on the induction health assessment, see DSM - Chapter 6 - Detention health - Induction health assessment.

5.4 Australian Fisheries Management Authority (AFMA)

AFMA is responsible for:

- regulating fishing within the Australian exclusive economic zone
- managing issues that apply where there is a possibility or the actuality of charges being laid against suspected illegal foreign fishers and any issues associated with fisheries detention
- providing evidence to the Commonwealth Director of Public Prosecutions who is responsible for preparing briefs recommending possible charges that may be laid against suspected illegal foreign fishers for fisheries related offences.

5.5 Australian Customs Service (Customs)

Customs is responsible for:

- intercepting vessels in accordance with the Customs Act 1901 (the Customs Act)
- allocating minders to illegal foreign fisher minors (see section 12 Minders)
- transferring illegal foreign fishers to a place of detention
- conducting immigration clearance. As with normal seaport arrivals, the immigration clearance process will be handled by Customs officers. Every illegal foreign fisher is required to be immigration cleared. In most cases illegal foreign fishers will be refused immigration clearance unless they show appropriate evidence supporting entry - a valid visa and travel documents. However, despite the outcome of the immigration clearance process, all illegal foreign fishers will remain in fisheries detention
- conducting preliminary health checks of illegal foreign fishers at Customs ports, including Broome, Gove, Weipa or Horn Island. Where illegal foreign fishers arrive at other ports, Customs engage their health services provider to organise onsite health assessments and screening before transferring the custody of the illegal foreign fisher to the DSP. The medical records for illegal foreign fishers are transferred to the HSP in a sealed envelope. This assists the HSP conduct the required health induction assessment and manage ongoing health care needs of the illegal foreign fisher while in immigration detention.

5.6 Royal Australian Navy (Navy)

The Navy is responsible for:

- intercepting vessels under the FMA and TSFA
- the handover of illegal foreign fishers to Customs officers in accordance to s15 of the Customs Act.

6 FROM FISHERIES DETENTION TO IMMIGRATION DETENTION

If a vessel fishing illegally in Australia's northern waters is intercepted by the Navy, the illegal foreign fishers on board that vessel are granted an enforcement visa (by law under s164B of the Migration Act) while they are still at sea. When Customs intercept a vessel an enforcement visa is granted to the illegal foreign fisher on arrival at the wharf. The period between interception of the foreign fishing vessel and arriving at the wharf is not classified as fisheries detention.

Fisheries detention commences when a illegal foreign fisher arrives at the wharf.. While in fisheries detention all illegal foreign fishers hold an enforcement visa and are held under the FMA or TSFA (see section 3 Legislative framework). When a illegal foreign fisher is taken into fisheries detention one of four outcomes may occur:

- AFMA decide NOT to charge
- AFMA has not charged the illegal foreign fisher \(time has run out\)
- AFMA decide to charge
- The illegal foreign fisher escapes.

This process is detailed in the IFF flowchart.

AFMA decide NOT to charge

Prior to the expiry of the 168 or 72 hour timeframe, AFMA may make a positive decision not to charge the illegal foreign fisher. Fisheries detention and the enforcement visa end, the illegal foreign fisher becomes an unlawful non-citizen and is taken into immigration detention and becomes subject to removal.

AFMA has not charged the illegal foreign fisher (time has run out)

If at the end of the 168 or 72 hour timeframe no decision has been made to charge the illegal foreign fisher with an offence, then the operation of the fisheries detention and enforcement visa will cease. The illegal foreign fisher then becomes an unlawful non-citizen, is taken into immigration detention and becomes subject to removal.

AFMA decide to charge

In situations where, prior to the expiry of the 168 or 72 hour period, AFMA decide to charge the illegal foreign fisher, that person will be taken before a Magistrate to extend their fisheries detention beyond the 168 or 72 hour timeframe through the granting of a CJSV. A CJSV permits an unlawful non-citizen, who is liable for removal from Australia, to remain temporarily in Australia to assist in the administration of criminal justice. If a CJSV is granted to a illegal foreign fisher, they are released from immigration detention into AFMA's care. AFMA will assume responsibility for the illegal foreign fisher while they are in Australia and for their removal costs when their stay is no longer required.

Note: If a decision is taken to charge the illegal foreign fisher with a fisheries related offence within 168 or 72 hours but it is not possible to take the illegal foreign fisher before a Magistrate at that time, the enforcement visa will still end at the conclusion of the 168 or 72 hour timeframe. The illegal foreign fisher will then be taken into immigration detention and become subject to removal. See also PAM3: Act - Act-based visas - Enforcement visas.

Under policy, illegal foreign fishers may only be detained in immigration detention for a maximum period of 14 days - removal arrangements are to be finalised within this timeframe. The 14 days follows any period of fisheries detention, up to 168 or 72 hours.

The illegal foreign fisher escapes

Should the illegal foreign fisher escape prior to the lapsing of the 168 or 72 hour period of fisheries detention the enforcement visa will immediately end and the person will become an unlawful non-citizen. When relocated, the illegal foreign fisher will be taken into immigration detention and will be subject to removal.

7 IDENTIFICATION TESTS

7.1 Fisheries detention

An identification test will be conducted under fisheries legislation. There are provisions for an additional test under fisheries legislation.

7.2 Immigration detention

Where a illegal foreign fisher has already provided personal identifiers while in fisheries detention, it may not be necessary to collect another personal identifier of the same type when the person enters immigration detention, provided that the original identifier is captured lawfully and can be used for the purposes of the person's immigration detention.

If a personal identifier captured while the illegal foreign fisher was in fisheries detention cannot be used for the purposes of their immigration detention, an identification test must be conducted under the Migration Act. This will not be considered a retest and does not require authorisation to recapture the personal identifiers.

FMA or TSFA officers acquiring the personal identifiers must be authorised under the FMA or TSFA if personal identifiers are being taken while the illegal foreign fisher is in fisheries detention. Where a illegal foreign fisher is in immigration detention an officer seeking to capture personal identifiers must be authorised under the Migration Act and appropriately qualified.

7.3 Seeking authorisation for a retest where applicable

The authorisation to conduct a retest must be applied for under provisions of the Migration Act against which the illegal foreign fisher is being held. Under the Migration Act, FMA and TSFA, retests must be authorised by the Senior Authorising Officer, the Secretary or SES Band 3 employee referred to in the respective Act.

For more information about identification tests see:

- PAM3: Act - Identity, biometrics & immigration status - Identification tests (other than immigration detainees) and
- DSM - Chapter 3 - Entering & leaving detention - Identification tests.

8 REMOVAL OF ILLEGAL FOREIGN FISHERS

Before an illegal foreign fisher is removed from Australia, the HSP conducts a health discharge assessment, including a person's "fitness to travel." This enables the person leaving immigration detention to have some continuity of care in their country or origin.

If AFMA require an illegal foreign fisher to remain in Australia past the 14 days for the purpose of prosecution, a CJSV must be in effect. If a CJSV is granted to the illegal foreign fisher, they are released from immigration detention into AFMA's care. AFMA will assume responsibility for the illegal foreign fisher while they are in Australia and for their removal costs when their stay is no longer required.

For further information on removals, see PAM3: Act - Compliance - Removal - Removal from Australia.

9 DETENTION DEBT

The Abolition of Detention Debt Act came into effect on 9 November 2009, extinguishing all outstanding detention debts for persons in immigration detention, except for:

- newly convicted illegal foreign fishers
- newly convicted people smugglers and
- newly convicted liable third parties (normally owners of boats bringing unauthorised non-citizens to Australia).

The Act specifically makes provisions for new detention debt to be attributed to those who are newly convicted of illegal foreign fishing, people smuggling and newly convicted liable third parties.

Case officers are required to account detention debt accrued by the above categories of persons. Case officers should email the advice to the Debt Management Unit, Financial Services Section, debtors@immi.gov.au.

WELFARE

This part comprises:

- section 10 Health screening
- section 11 Minors
- section 12 Minders
- section 13 Death or serious injury of illegal foreign fishers
- section 14 Communication & interpreters.

10 HEALTH SCREENING

Illegal foreign fishers have presented with communicable diseases more frequently than is common among persons within the Australian community or among other persons in immigration detention.

Health assessments are conducted to protect the illegal foreign fisher and the Australian public from transmissible diseases. Pending the outcome of the medical assessment, the illegal foreign fisher may be held in temporary isolation. Required health checks include screening/testing for diseases such as infectious tuberculosis and influenza. For further information on health assessment, see DSM - Chapter 6 - Detention health - Health assessment for illegal foreign fishers apprehended in Australian waters.

On arrival in Australia most illegal foreign fishers are escorted directly to NIDC. However, depending on the situation, illegal foreign fishers may be transferred to another IDF when medically cleared. The reasons for transfer include but are not limited to situations where:

- there is insufficient accommodation capacity at the NIDC
- the NIDC is unavailable (for example, in the event of a natural disaster).

If there is a need to transfer an illegal foreign fisher to another place of detention, the Northern Territory and/or Queensland regional manager will seek agreement from National Office.

11 MINORS

On arrival, all illegal foreign fisher minors are to be given immediate attention and priority in the removal process.

Minors are not, at any time, to be detained in an IDC for accommodation or immigration processing purposes.

All illegal foreign fisher minors are to be processed in administration buildings located outside the fence line of the NIDC. After processing, those believed to be illegal foreign fisher minors are transferred to an APOD. APODs are available to accommodate illegal foreign fisher minors in Darwin subject to certain conditions.

All decisions made by any officer in relation to a minor must be made in the context of what is in the “best interests” of the minor. Officer responsibilities are outlined in:

- DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Duty of care to persons in immigration detention and
- PAM3: Act - Compliance - Compliance, case management and detention - Treatment of children - Guiding principles.

Where planning is initiated for the detention or removal of a minor, officers must escalate the issue to the relevant deputy state/territory director who will then brief the Case Management Branch Head.

The accommodation provided to minors must be the least restrictive appropriate to the existing circumstances.

It is the Department of Fisheries and Forestry and AFMA policy that illegal foreign fisher minors not be charged unless identified as a master or recidivist.

The Immigration Guardianship of Children Act 1946 (IGOC Act) does not generally apply to illegal foreign fisher minors as there is seldom any intention, on their part, to seek permanent residence in Australia. For policy and procedures on minors in detention see DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Minors in detention.

Minors are to be accommodated in close proximity to their minder (see section 12 Minders). However, it is not generally necessary that the minder should be at the same place as the minor, as minors are not accommodated in IDCs. If the minor is very young, the minder is to be accommodated with the minor (very young is generally defined as under 12 years of age but may also be determined on an individual case basis assessed on vulnerabilities displayed by the minor).

Illegal foreign fisher minors will usually be accompanied by the minder when removed from immigration detention. If, for whatever reason, the minder is unavailable, the removal will only proceed conditional on the appointment of another minder, a DSP escort or a departmental officer. However, the removal of minors must be prioritised to minimise the amount of time a minor may be required to spend in immigration detention.

12 MINDERS

A minder is generally an adult illegal foreign fisher who accepts responsibility for the illegal foreign fisher minor and who is appointed, in that role, by Customs officers (regardless of whether the vessel is intercepted by Customs or the Navy). The crew list is annotated identifying the appointed minder and provided to the Department upon arrival at the processing area outside the NIDC.

On receipt of the crew list, the Department will, at reception processing, review the appropriateness of the minder. The minder must be a person capable of representing the minor's best interests and be available to accompany the minor when repatriated to their country of origin. Due to the difficulty of establishing the identity of illegal foreign fishers and the limited time they are held in immigration detention (a maximum of 14 days), security checks are not conducted for potential minders. However, other factors are taken into consideration:

- the age of the minder (minders are preferably over 21 years of age)
- whether the minder or any of the illegal foreign fisher crew is related to the minor
- whether the minder or any of the illegal foreign fisher crew are residents of the same village as the minor
- the minor's choice of a minder (the minor may prefer to have a minder different from the minder nominated by Customs)
- the way the minor interacts/reacts to the minder
- the possibility of prosecution (a prosecuted illegal foreign fisher cannot accompany the minor when repatriated to their country of origin).

Note: Minders are not legal guardians of the minor. The purpose of the minder is to attend all departmental interviews with the minor and accompany them when repatriated to their country of origin. Where illegal foreign fisher minors are transferred to an APOD, the Department is to ensure that all required arrangements are in place and that minders are available for each minor.

Minders are to be accommodated in close proximity to the minor. However, it is not necessary that minders be accommodated at the same place as the minor, as minors are not accommodated in IDCs. If the minor is very young, the minder is to be accommodated with the minor (very young is generally defined as under 12 years of age but may also be determined on an individual case basis assessed on vulnerabilities displayed by the minor).

Minders will usually accompany the minor when they are removed. If, for whatever reason, the minder is unavailable, the removal will only proceed conditional on the appointment of another minder, a DSP escort or a departmental officer. However, the removal of minors must be prioritised, to minimise the amount of time a minor may be required to spend in immigration detention.

13 DEATH OR SERIOUS INJURY OF ILLEGAL FOREIGN FISHERS

In any situation involving the death or serious injury of a illegal foreign fisher the safety and security of staff and any others in the immediate vicinity must be protected.

When there is a death or serious injury involving an illegal foreign fisher it is important to establish:

Detention Services Manual (DSM), Immigration National Office

- under which legislation the illegal foreign fisher is detained
- where the illegal foreign fisher is detained (for example, NIDC, APOD, Customs holding facility).

If an illegal foreign fisher held within immigration detention presents with a serious injury or illness, immediate medical attention should be obtained. The DSP must control, and if need be, contain the incident, and report on the occurrence and outcome of that incident accordingly.

In instances where there has been a death in an IDF, it is the responsibility of the regional manager of detention services to:

- ensure that any evidence is preserved and that any affected areas have been secured
- orally advise the Director, Network Services, Community and Detention Operations Branch (or the on-call National Office detention duty officer if after business hours)
- ensure that the relevant police services have been notified
- ensure that all departmental and DSP staff comply with any directives from emergency services/police attending the facility
- ensure that the health services manager is notified.

Serious injury and deaths within immigration detention are subject to reporting obligations.

All staff involved in the critical incident should complete an incident report as soon as possible. Such incidents are to be reported orally by the involved DSP officer(s) immediately (no later than 1 hour after the incident) to the relevant DSP General Manager and the regional manager of detention services. If neither is available the most senior staff member is to be advised.

A written report is to be provided within 4 hours. This report should then be entered into the relevant databases and forwarded to the Department. This report is to be entered by the DSP onto the Compliance, Case Management and Detention Portal and the DSP's management system. The report should include the following:

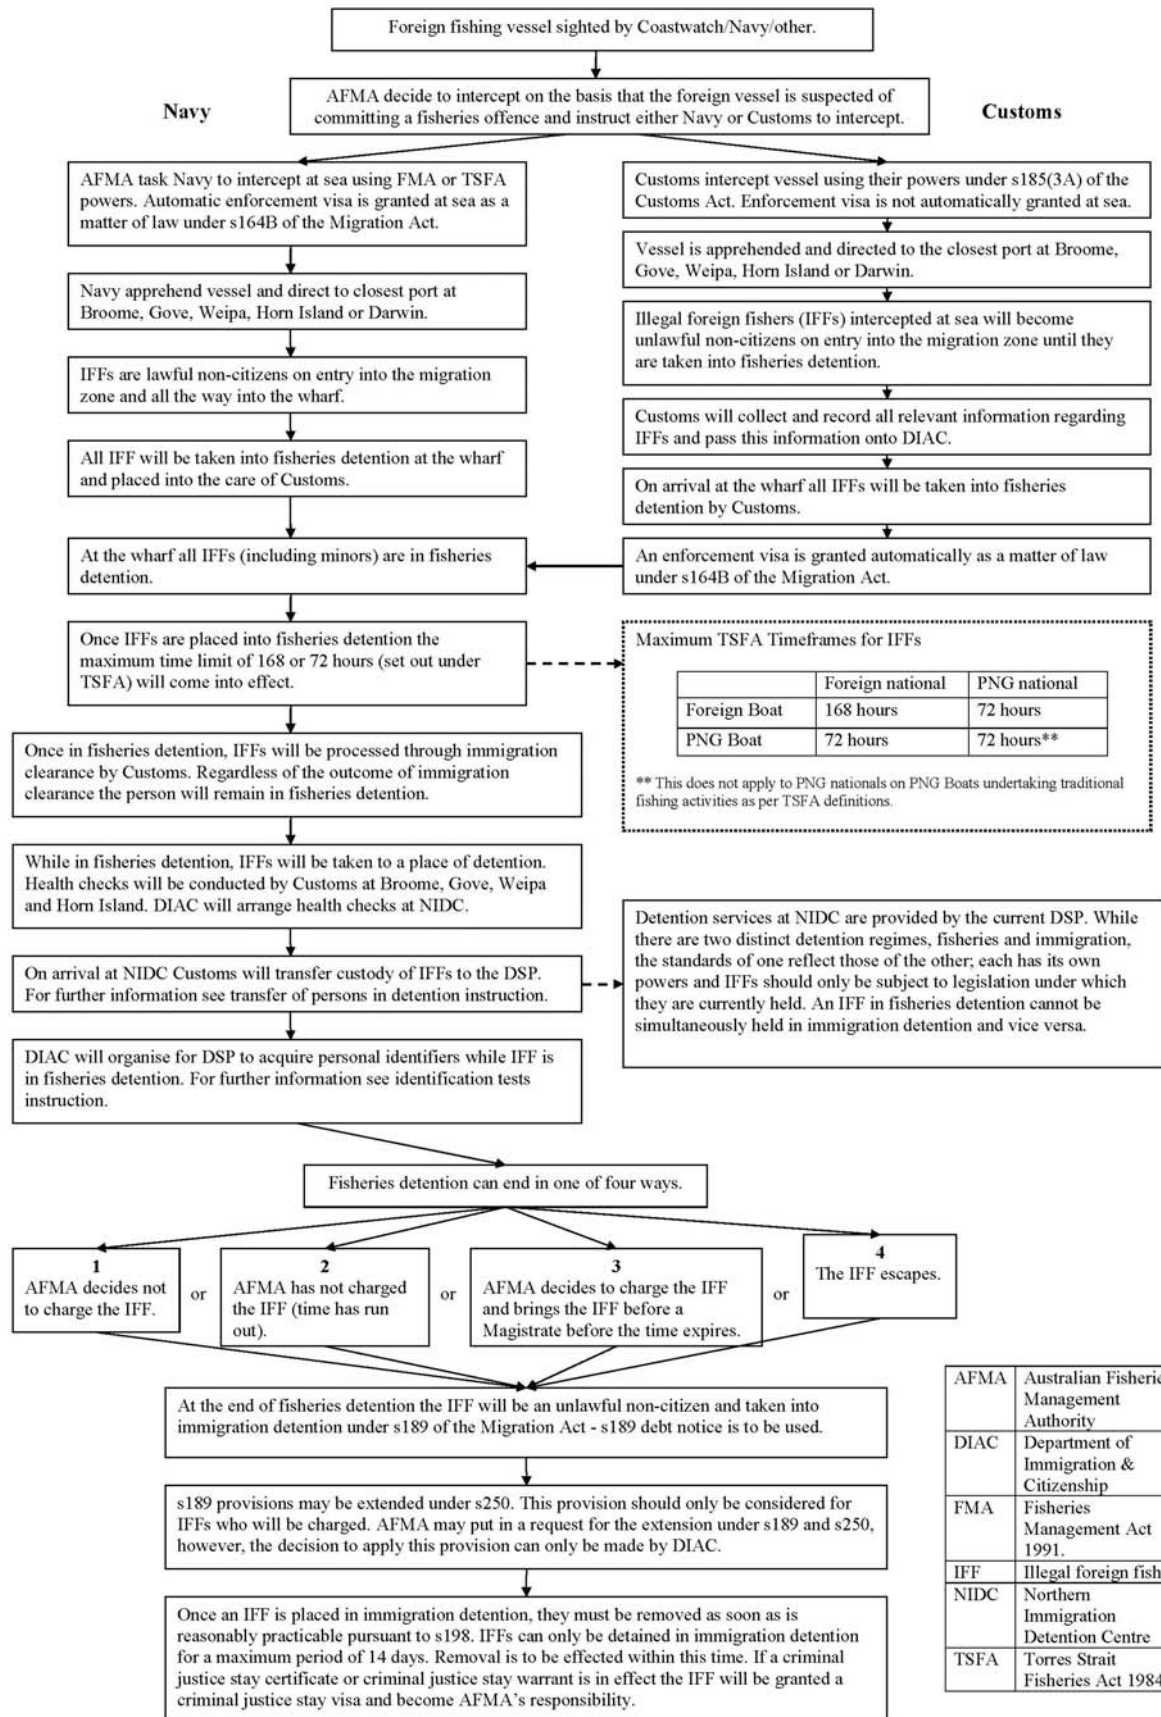

- identification of the legislation under which the illegal foreign fisher is detained
- identification of the place where the illegal foreign fisher is detained (for example, NIDC, APOD, Customs holding facility)
- advice as to whether a log of the incident has commenced
- the numbers of and identity of the participants in the incident
- notification of any injuries sustained during the incident
- description of the type of incident
- request assistance from emergency services (if required, request police attendance for any possible criminal incident)
- advice as to whether there was any use of force or restraints
- identification of any damage done to the facility
- the details of any external agencies alerted
- advice if any further medical attention is required
- any attachments for the individuals' records
- preservation of any closed circuit television (CCTV), held imagery/video that may have recorded the incident.

14 COMMUNICATION & INTERPRETERS

All persons in immigration detention are encouraged to maintain reasonable contact with their family and friends. They are entitled to communicate with external scrutiny bodies including the Australian Human Rights Commission (AHRC) and the Commonwealth Ombudsman's Office. For policy and procedure on access to communication, see DSM - Chapter 4 - Communications & visits - Access to communication services in IDFs.

All persons in immigration detention are to have access to language services as required. Arrangements to facilitate access to communication services (translating and interpreting services), is to be provided when and as necessary. For policy and procedures, see DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Translating & interpreting services.

INTRODUCTION

This part comprises:

- section 1 Purpose
- section 2 Key immigration detention values
- section 3 Legislative framework
- section 4 Guiding principles
- section 5 Minors to whom this instruction applies
- section 6 Minors to whom this instruction does not apply.

1 Purpose

This instruction provides guidance for departmental officers and detention service providers on the care and treatment of minors in immigration detention under the Migration Act 1958 (the Act).

For the purpose of this instruction persons under 18 years of age are referred to as ‘minors’.

2 Key immigration detention values

Consistent with the Government’s Key Immigration Detention Values:

- a minor is to be detained only as a measure of last resort for the shortest practicable time and in the least restrictive form appropriate to a minor’s circumstances
- a minor is not to be detained in an immigration detention centre (IDC) for accommodation or processing purposes under any circumstances
- a clear plan for resolution of the minor’s immigration status must be in place and be actively progressed by the case manager and
- the family unit, where possible and appropriate, must be maintained.

3 Legislative framework

3.1 Migration Act

Section 4AA of the Act states that minors are only to be detained as a measure of last resort. Unaccompanied minors and families with minor children can be referred to the Minister for a residence determination decision for their placement in community-based accommodation.

Under s197AB of the Act the Minister has a non-compellable intervention power that allows the Minister to specify alternative placement in community detention for certain people, including families with children. For an explanation on the circumstances when these powers can be exercised, contact the Director, Case Management Implementation and Support Section for details of the Minister’s Residence Determination Power (s197AB and s197AD of the Act) Guidelines. In relation to minors, these guidelines state:

- where visa or bridging visa options are available, these should be used
- the Minister expects all minors to be identified for a residence determination as soon as they are detained. The Department should notify the Minister’s office that a minor is in detention and that a residence determination submission is being prepared. The submission covering the development of the accommodation and care plan is to be completed as soon as practicable
- the Minister considers the principle of family unity particularly important in the case of minors.

See also DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Community detention.

3.2 Immigration \(Guardianship of Children\) Act \(IGOC Act\)

For information on the statutory responsibilities of guardians under the IGOC Act and application of the IGOC Act to unaccompanied minors, see Roles and responsibilities.

For policy and procedure on the IGOC Act and how it is applied to unaccompanied humanitarian minors, see PAM3: Immigration \(Guardianship of Children\) - I\(GOC\).

4 Guiding principles

The guiding principle in relation to the treatment of minors in immigration detention is encapsulated in the DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Service delivery values which states that a person in immigration detention will be treated fairly and reasonably within the law and that conditions of immigration detention will ensure the inherent dignity of the human person. When dealing with minors in immigration detention this means that:

- a minor is to be detained only as a measure of last resort in order to progress the prompt resolution of the minor's immigration status
- minors must not be placed in an IDC as established under section 273 of the Act
- the priority for placement will be the least restrictive form of accommodation appropriate for the shortest practicable time. These include immigration residential housing (IRH), immigration transit accommodation (ITA) other alternate places of detention (APOD) including those on Christmas Island, or residence determination also known as community detention
- while ITA, IRH and APOD may be used for a short period, all minors will be identified for a residence determination as soon as they are detained
- the best interests of the child should be a primary consideration in the placement of the minor and the minor's immediate family. The family unit must be preserved where possible and appropriate
- in line with the "best interests of the child" principle, the treatment of minors in detention is to be humane and managed to have as little adverse impact as possible. This means that:
  - minors will have access to health, welfare and other support services appropriate to a minor's individual needs, subject to available resources
  - minors will have access to compulsory education
  - meaningful recreational activities and opportunities for excursions will be provided on a regular basis by the detention services provider (DSP)
  - reasonable access to friends/supporters is facilitated whenever practicable, balanced by need to protect the minor from any form of exploitation

4.1 Minors must not be detained in an IDC

Minors in the first instance should be taken to or placed in IRH or APOD, for example at a hotel. Minors with families can be placed, as a measure of last resort in ITA.

In accordance with the "best interests of the child" principle, minors must not be co-located in IRH or ITA with persons who may pose a threat to the well-being and safety of minors. This may include persons who have had a visa cancelled or refused under s501. The senior case manager, in consultation with the DSP duty manager must decide which group is placed in the IRH/ITA at any given time.

The immigration detention regional manager has full responsibility for immigration related matters for any immigration detention facilities and alternative/community detention arrangements within their region. Because they are often delegated guardian, regional managers also approve the assessment for placement of the minor while in immigration detention -see DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Service delivery values.

4.2 Best interests of the minor

All decisions taken by all members of the immigration detention network (IDN) in relation to minors must take into consideration the best interests of the minor, underpinned by staff's responsibilities described in DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Duty of care to persons in immigration detention. The best interests of the minor are not restricted to legally enforceable 'rights'. The minor's best interests include long-term and short-term welfare concerns, consideration of physical and emotional well-being, financial, moral, religious and health interests. The following factors are to be taken into account when determining the best interests of the minor. The list is not exhaustive and other factors may be considered in particular cases. The factors include the:

- minor's wishes and feelings (also considering the relevant weight accorded to these wishes, for example maturity and level of understanding)
- minor's relationship with each parent or other people

- effect of change on the minor, including separation from parents or other people
- practical difficulty of the minor having contact with a parent
- minor's personal characteristics (such as maturity, sex, background, culture)
- need to protect the minor from harm or the risk of suffering harm
- physical, emotional and/or educational needs
- possible existence of family violence and family violence orders
- location of other family members in immigration detention
- likely effect on the minor of any change in the circumstances now and in the future.

A family is not defined in the Act. When determining the composition of a family unit, the Department should have regard to who the family members or primary care giver with responsibility for an accompanied minor are. For the purpose of this instruction a family will generally comprise the child(ren) and their (natural or adopted) parents. Family members, such as grandparents or dependent adult siblings may also be included as family for the purposes of this instruction. The appropriate family unit should remain consistent with definitions such as member of family unit in reg 1.12 and spouse in reg 1.15A.

4.3 Escalation procedure

Where a minor is to be detained for the purposes of removal, a comprehensive and integrated compliance, detention and removal plan must be prepared by a removals officer in consultation with all internal stakeholders prior to detention of the minor and accompanying family members. The removal plan must be approved by the State/Territory Director, and cleared by the Assistant Secretary, Case Management & Review Branch, who will brief the Minister's office before the detention is effected.

5 Minors to whom this instruction applies

This instruction is applicable to the following minors:

- those who entered Australia unlawfully in the care of their parents
- those who entered Australia legally on their own and have become unlawful
- those who entered Australia legally with their parents but the family has become unlawful
- those who have entered Australia legally/illegally with their parents and have subsequently been abandoned or are unable to be cared for by the parent/s
- those who are in immigration detention without a parent to care for them, but who have a parent or relative over 21 years of age already living in the Australian community with whom they are intending to reside. These minors are referred to as unaccompanied non-wards and
- those who have entered Australia as non-citizens and intend to become permanent residents of Australia and who do not have a parent or relative over 21 years of age in Australia to care for them. These minors are referred to as unaccompanied wards.

6 Minors to whom this instruction does not apply

For the following minors, refer to these instructions:

- illegal foreign fishers - see DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Detention of illegal foreign fishers
- unaccompanied humanitarian minors - see GenGuide D - Humanitarian visas (offshore & onshore) - The offshore humanitarian program - Visa application & related procedures.

ROLES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

This part comprises:

- section 7 Background: requirements & checks
- section 8 Responsibilities of the Department
- section 9 Role of Health Services Manager
- section 10 Responsibilities
- section 11 Identifying a minor

- section 19 Legal and immigration advice
- section 20 Bridging visa
- section 21 Leaving immigration detention
- section 22 Independent observer & minors.

7 Background: requirements & checks

7.1 Duty of care

All staff working with minors have a duty of care to provide a safe environment for the minor, see DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Duty of care to persons in immigration detention.

7.2 Qualifications

In this instruction a reference to persons or staff with “appropriate expertise in child welfare” means:

- appropriately qualified staff of the DSP, health services manager (HSM) or non-government organisation (NGO) care provider who have had specific training in working with children and could include a psychologist, nurse, activities officer, education officer or an unaccompanied minor contact officer or
- an appropriately qualified officer of a state/territory child protection/welfare agency.

7.3 Working with children checks (WWCCs)

South Australia is currently (since 1 January 2011) the only jurisdiction in Australia where the department is required to have WWCCs in place for those staff who interact with minors. Staff in South Australia must therefore ensure that they have the required checks. South Australian staff should contact Detention Operations East Branch, National Office (on MailBox: detention operations/IMMI/AU) for further information and advice on obtaining a WWCC.

The department is also investigating the approach it will take more broadly and for all its staff so as to ensure that children in vulnerable circumstances are appropriately protected in the delivery of Australia’s immigration and citizenship programs in those jurisdiction where there is no legislated requirement for the department to have WWCCs in place. It is anticipated that the approach taken will include the development and implementation by Workforce, Planning & Reporting Branch of a child protection policy and accompanying procedures. The department’s contracted DSPs are to have WWCCs for their staff in place in all jurisdictions and as required under the relevant contracts. See DSM - Chapter 7 - Managing the administration of detention - Working with children checks.

8 Responsibilities of the Department

Where detention and removal of a minor is being contemplated by a compliance/removals officer, whether in a family unit or otherwise, the officer will brief the Deputy State Director who will confirm that placement or removal is necessary and consistent with policy. The Deputy State Director will then notify the Assistant Secretary, Compliance & Case Resolution, East and North or the Assistant Secretary, Compliance & Case Resolution, South and West, depending upon the geographical location of the immigration detention facility (IDF), who will advise the Minister's office as soon as possible and no later than the next working day after a minor is detained.

These Assistant Secretaries will provide a conduit for information to the Minister and senior executive about planning for and decisions to detain children; their placement and care arrangements; and planning for the earliest possible resolution of their case.

It is the responsibility of the Department to actively assist families/minors in matters related to their immigration status such as visa processing and following up on enquiries from the minor regarding their case.

It is also the Department's responsibility to negotiate arrangements and agreements (Memoranda of Understanding (MOU)) with state and territory governments where required for the welfare and best interests of minors and to initiate and manage contracts with other service providers.

8.1 Departmental staff roles

Any departmental officer who becomes aware of an unrecorded minor in immigration detention should refer the case immediately to the Case Escalation and Liaison Section, National Office for assessment and referral to the Minister for consideration of a community detention placement.

8.2 Immigration detention regional manager

The immigration detention regional manager has full responsibility for immigration related matters for IDFs and alternative/community detention arrangements within their region. They also approve the assessment for placement of the minor while in immigration detention. See DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Service delivery values.

For unaccompanied minors who come under the IGO Act, the Minister delegates guardianship (with the Minister maintaining overall guardianship responsibilities). This usually is a representative of a state/territory child welfare agency in the non-detention environment or the relevant immigration detention regional manager in the detention environment. For further information on the delegate's responsibilities under the IGO Act see section 14 Responsibilities under the IGO Act.

The regional manager or their delegate in consultation with case management, as necessary, oversees the day to day management of minors who are accommodated in IDFs. The regional manager must facilitate their access to an IAAAS provider who can assist them to prepare and make an appropriate protection visa (PV) application, should any minor make a protection claim. The responsibilities and procedures in this regard are set out in the IAAAS Fact Sheet (URL : <http://www.immi.gov.au/media/fact-sheets/63advice.htm>) and in DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - IAAAS.

Even when the minor is not seeking a Protection visa, referral to an IAAAS provider should be arranged through the Case Management Policy Section.

For policy and procedure on the IAAAS, see section 19 Legal and immigration advice.

8.3 Immigration detention officers

Departmental detention officers are required to monitor a minor's immigration detention arrangements while residing in immigration detention to ensure the minor's needs are being met.

8.4 Role of the case manager

A case manager must be assigned to the minor as soon as it becomes apparent that the unlawful non-citizen is a minor even if they are in the care of a parent or guardian.

Case managers play an important coordination role to ensure that minors and their accompanying families are dealt with in an appropriate manner.

For further information of the role and responsibilities of the case management service in respect of minors as they enter, transit and leave the immigration detention environment see PAM3: Act - Compliance - Compliance, case management & detention - Case management handbook.

9 Role of Health Services Manager

A HSM is contracted by the Department and is responsible for ensuring that minors in immigration detention have access to health services including initial health assessment, ongoing health monitoring and response that is age appropriate and clinically necessary to meet the minor's individual health needs (see section 17 Health).

Depending on the immigration detention placement, the HSM may directly provide health care services onsite or may facilitate these services through its network of suitably qualified health care providers in the community setting. (See DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Community detention). For example, minors in IRH or community detention placements would normally attend a local general practice clinic with referrals to other health providers as clinically necessary.

If at any time the health care provider becomes aware, or suspects that the current placement or management of the minor is contrary to the minor's best interests, they must advise a departmental officer immediately who must escalate the issue to Case Management Implementation & Support (CMIS) Section, Compliance & Case Resolution Division (CCRD), National Office (email: Case Management Implementation and Support Section/IMMI/AU) for consideration of a case management client placement review.

Further information on health services available to minors in immigration detention and the role of the HSM is available in the Detention Health instructions. Contact detention.health@immi.gov.au for advice.

10 Responsibilities

10.1 Responsibilities of the Detention Service Provider

Under s4AA of the Act, minors are only to be detained as a measure of last resort while policy provides that minors are not to be accommodated or processed in an IDC. Minors can be placed in either IRH, ITA or an APOD (for example a hotel). There may be times when the DSP will come into contact with minors, either through:

- the minor being placed in an IRH or ITA or
- placement in a hotel.

The DSP does not provide services for community detention arrangements.

It is the responsibility of the DSP to ensure that their staff are trained:

- appropriately for dealing with minors in identifying and responding to the possibility of abuse or neglect of minors. Any such suspicion or allegation should be immediately referred to the relevant state/territory welfare authority regardless of whether or not mandatory reporting is a requirement and taking into account all relevant privacy obligations. When there is a need to escalate an issue regarding child welfare, the central contact point within the department is the Assistant Secretary, Compliance & Case Resolution, East & North or the Assistant Secretary, Compliance & Case Resolution, South & West, depending upon the geographical location of the IDF. In the first instance, Regional Managers are to escalate any concerns they have in relation to child welfare issues, including allegations or suspicion of abuse or neglect, to these departmental officers, who will liaise with the relevant state or territory welfare authority and
- in age appropriate behaviour and development in relation to minors.

If at any time the DSP becomes aware, or suspects that, the current placement or management of the minor is contrary to the minor's best interests, they must advise a departmental officer immediately who must escalate the issue to CMIS Section, Compliance & Case Resolution Division (CCRD), National Office (email: Case Management Implementation and Support Section/IMMI/AU) for consideration of a case management client placement review.

10.2 Responsibilities of other organisations involved in caring for minors

Organisations such as the Australian Red Cross can be involved in the care of minors, in particular in providing community detention services. For policy and procedure on their role see DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Community detention.

Contact the Community Detention Implementation team (Principal Advisor's Unit, Citizenship Settlement & Multicultural Affairs Division - email Community.Detention.Referrals@immi.gov.au) for the latest advice on the expanded community detention arrangements in place as announced by the Minister on 18 October 2010.

11 Identifying a minor

11.1 Action to be taken when a minor is identified

All departmental staff and the DSP must:

- take reasonable measures to identify any person in immigration detention who is under the age of 18 and
- if they are informed, or have a reasonable suspicion that a person in immigration detention may be under the age of 18, immediately escalate to the relevant Deputy State/Territory Director (who will in turn brief the AS, Case Management and Review Branch).

After escalating the reasonable suspicion that a person is known to be or suspected to be under the age of 18, all staff must:

- seek to determine if the minor is accompanied. This may require staff to ask families and other people in immigration detention whether they are caring for minors other than their own, or whether they know of any minors who are separated from their parents or relatives
- if the minor is accompanied, separate the minor with their guardian or nominated minder to another area inaccessible from the general immigration detention population
- if the minor is unaccompanied, separate the minor from the general immigration detention population with an appointed carer
- assess and address any immediate special needs of the minor, taking into account the minor's age, gender and background. For example, food, clothing, footwear, health requirements, religious needs, mental and emotional needs through age appropriate recreational activities
- treat the person suspected of being a minor, or claiming to be a minor, as though they are a minor until the actual age is established
- manage the minor in accordance with instructions provided by the Department and
- not separate the minor from their family unit or guardian unless directed to do so by the Department.

11.2 Where there is a suspicion that the minor may be an adult

The Department is currently developing a policy approach to testing the age related claims where a person's claims to be a minor are in doubt. In the meantime, until a more settled policy position is developed, if an officer suspects that the age given by a person claiming to be a minor is not correct (for example, by assessing that an alleged minor is visibly more than 18 years old), officers should seek to test whether it is reasonable to accept the person's claim to be a minor. For example, the officer should:

- report the suspicion and reasons for the suspicion to the relevant deputy state/territory director, who, on the available evidence, may refer the minor to the HSM for a psychological assessment (but not a physical assessment)
- inform the person that the Department questions their claim that they are a minor and that the Department needs more information

- document the reasons for suspecting that the person is not a minor
- progress the matter further by
  - asking the person to explain any inconsistencies in their age related claims
  - requesting documentary evidence to support the person's claim and
  - making reference to relevant records and country of origin information.

Making a finding on whether a person is a minor or adult

A finding about whether a person is more likely to be over or under 18 years of age should follow the general requirements for decision making, such as:

- the person should be given an opportunity to comment on information that is adverse to their age related claims before a decision is made
- the finding must be supported by evidence and
- the person should be given reasons for the finding.

The person should always be reminded that any credible contrary evidence that they are able to provide subsequent to such a finding being made will be considered and the finding revisited, if appropriate.

Impact on detention placement decisions

A finding as to whether a person is a minor or an adult has a number of implications, including in relation to their detention placement. Where a person's age is in doubt, the following approaches should be taken:

- where the person previously claimed to be an adult but has since claimed to be a minor, they should continue to be detained as an adult unless and until evidence is accepted as establishing that the person is a minor and
- where the person has never claimed to be an adult and they are claiming to be, or suspected of being, a minor, they should be treated as though they are a minor until their actual age is established.

Further contact details

For further advice on how to manage cases where a client's age is in doubt, contact the Principal Advisor's Unit, CSM Division..

12 Special care needs of the minor

Minors in immigration detention require special care above and beyond the standard care of the adult person in immigration detention. These special care needs may include but are not restricted to:

- safety and security
- education
- entertainment and
- age and developmentally appropriate recreational facilities.

Departmental staff and the DSP are required to provide additional assistance to parents of minors or expectant mothers, such as:

- assistance to prepare any special requirements for the minor
- care for minors when their parents or guardians are temporarily absent from the IDF, for example if they are required to attend appointments or go to hospital
- the provision of training in parenting and life skills
- access to meals - minors may need assistance at meal times to ensure that they understand the options available and select a nutritionally balanced diet
- personal hygiene - minors may require guidance on personal hygiene and cleanliness
- maintenance of clothing - minors may require assistance washing bedding and clothing
- access to relatives and friends - it may be appropriate to offer private areas within the immigration detention setting for minors to make calls to relatives and friends overseas

- appropriate professional services, for example antenatal care for an expectant mother and any post natal care required for mother and baby.

If a minor's parents or other close relatives are temporarily absent (for example, in case of hospitalisation), "Life Without Barriers" is to be contacted to assume appropriate care arrangements. Regional managers (escalated if deemed necessary) are to engage appropriate service providers as required.

13 Education

Minors residing at an IRH, ITA, APOD or in community detention placement will be provided with access to schooling which will be facilitated through the regional manager. The respective facility's regional manager will facilitate the APOD instruments (with copy sent to Detention Operations, National Office) for the school and for the principal and relevant teachers to be authorised as 'directed persons'. The DSP will provide escorts for these arrangements. The term 'designated persons' is defined in DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Alternative temporary detention in the community.

School age minors, including unaccompanied minors, are to have access to and are encouraged to participate in educational services appropriate to their age, intellectual and English-language abilities. Such services:

- may be provided in an IDF, such as an IRH or ITA, and/or by the minor's participation in educational services in the community
- are to be provided by appropriately qualified staff
- are consistent, as far as possible, with state/territory curricula, taking into account the temporary nature of immigration detention and the special needs of the individual minor
- recognise the special cultural, religious and linguistic needs of the minor and any literacy, cognitive or other learning needs that they may have and
- include educational materials of an adequate variety, quantity and quality to assist the minor in their learning.

School age minors have access to a range of after-school and school holiday programs and materials of an adequate variety, quantity and quality to assist in their development of age-appropriate learning and socialisation skills, taking into account the number and profile of minors in immigration detention at any given time.

Pre-school minors have access to appropriate early childhood development activities and toys.

Recognising that parents remain responsible for their children, parents are encouraged to allow their children access to the available educational services. They must be provided with adequate information about educational requirements and practices in the Australian community.

For policy and procedure see DSM - Chapter 5 - Welfare - Education.

14 Responsibilities under the IGO Act

14.1 Application of the IGO Act to unaccompanied minors

The IGO Act gives the Minister guardianship responsibilities over certain children who arrive in Australia without an adult guardian (known as "unaccompanied minors").

Section 6 of the IGO Act sets out the scope of the Minister's guardianship responsibilities for minors covered under that Act.

The concept of 'guardianship' should be interpreted broadly to encompass all the powers and duties that can, in basic terms, be described as encompassing the powers and duties that a parent has in respect of their child.

The IGO Act allows the Minister to delegate certain powers and functions under the IGO Act, so that the day to day exercise of guardianship powers and functions is undertaken by various officers, including officers in state welfare agencies and officers in the Department. For unaccompanied minors in immigration detention, the delegate will be the immigration detention regional manager. The Minister remains the guardian of children covered by the IGO Act.

The delegation is completed through an instrument of delegation.

Generally speaking, the delegate will be responsible for decisions which affect the general health and welfare of the minor, such as approving access to on-going services including medical services. For an unaccompanied minor placed in community detention, for example, the minor will need approval from the immigration detention regional manager for immigration detention issues such as staying overnight at a school camp or requiring an operation.

If the departmental case manager has any doubt about what action should be taken in a situation involving an unaccompanied minor, they should contact the relevant delegated guardian under the IGOC Act (generally the immigration detention regional manager in that State).

The relevant immigration detention regional manager will advise the case manager of the course to take for that minor and/or seek advice as appropriate to ensure the Department's duty of care and the Minister's responsibilities under the IGOC Act are fulfilled. Policy responsibility for the IGOC Act sits with the Principal Advisor's Unit, Citizenship, Settlement & Multicultural Affairs Division. This area is currently preparing more detailed advice about the IGOC Act.

Accommodation arrangements for unaccompanied minors

All cases of minors in immigration detention should be referred to Community Detention Implementation team as soon as officers become aware of the case for assessment against the Minister's detention intervention powers (s197AB of the Act) guidelines and referral to the Minister for consideration of a community detention placement - see DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Community detention. Contact the Community Detention Implementation team (Community.Detention.Referrals@immi.gov.au) for the latest advice on the expanded community detention arrangements in place as announced by the Minister on 18 October 2010.

As soon as possible after being placed in immigration detention, unaccompanied minors should be assessed to determine if they are eligible to be granted a bridging visa and released. Minors must not be processed at, or detained in an IDC. Minors must be placed in either an IRH, ITA or APOD as a last resort. If the minor cannot be granted a bridging visa, they should be immediately placed in either an APOD in the community, an IRH, or an ITA, pending consideration for a community detention placement.

In exceptional circumstances, transferring an unaccompanied minor out of an IRH or ITA may not be the most appropriate arrangement. For example, where:

- an older minor wishes to remain in the facility and it is considered to be in their best interests to do so
- there are security or other management concerns regarding the minor or
- removal of the minor is imminent (a matter of a few days).

The Minister may make a residence determination regarding an unaccompanied minor (s197AB of the Act). A residence determination states that a person is to reside at a specified place, rather than a place of 'immigration detention' (as defined in s5 of the Act). If the Minister determines that making a residence order is not in the public interest, or the Minister has personally revoked a minor's residence determination, the senior case manager should consider placing the minor in an IRH or APOD (for example, a motel). The immigration detention regional manager, the Community Detention Implementation unit and depending on the geographical location, the Assistant Secretary Detention Operation (East or West) and Global Manager Compliance and Case Resolution (North and East or South and West), must be consulted in relation to the management and special care arrangements for the minor.

Changes in guardianship arrangements

In certain situations the IGOC Act also provides that the Minister may become the guardian of certain minors who enter Australia with a relative. This can only be done under direction and can only be given if an 'irretrievable breakdown' has occurred in the relationship between the relative and the minor, and the direction is necessary to:

- protect the minor from risk of injury or danger of impairment of health
- protect the minor from moral danger or

- enable the minor to have the benefit of adequate direction and guidance.

A direction must not be given for the sole purpose of creating or improving eligibility of the person, or the relative of the person, for financial assistance from the Commonwealth or a State.

If there are concerns about a child who is accompanied and it seems that a direction may be required, consult the relevant your detention regional manager in the first instance, and the Principal Advisor's Unit.

15 Placement of the minor

15.1 Accommodation of minors within the immigration detention framework

The case management client placement review process employs a range of placement indicators to assist appropriate client placement (including minors) in the IDN - see placement review documentation at ADD2010/984005. The client placement review forms part of the detention related decision making (DRDM) control framework.

For policy and procedure see:

- placement review documentation at ADD2010/984005
- PAM3: Act - Compliance, case management & detention - Detention - Case management
- DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Illegal foreign fishers.

For further information contact CMIS Section (email: Case Management Implementation and Support Section/IMMI/AU).

Placement in any facility is never an indicator of any migration status resolution outcome.

For policy and procedure on the different types of facilities available to minors, see:

- DSM - Chapter 2 - Client Placement: Immigration residential housing
- DSM - Chapter 2 - Client Placement: Immigration transit accommodation
- DSM - Chapter 2 - Client Placement: Alternative places of detention in the community
- DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement: Community detention.

Officers need to be sensitive to the fact that in some cultures males of 16 years of age are regarded as adults, although they are to be treated as minors under Australian law. Additional monitoring will be required in these circumstances to ensure such issues as age appropriate activities and proximity to younger children are addressed.

15.2 Assigning a case manager

The case management team must be contacted immediately once a minor is detained and a case manager will be assigned to the minor. See section 8.4 Role of the case manager when responsible for a minor and the Case management handbook.

The case manager must notify the relevant Assistant Secretary for either Irregular Maritime Arrivals Branch; Detention Operations West Branch or Detention Operations East Branch if a minor has been placed in APOD, IRH or ITA

15.3 Reception process

If unaccompanied minors and minors with a family are transferred into an IDF they must be given priority in reception processing. The reception process needs to take into consideration the age and special needs of the minors. For example, the minors should be accommodated in a safe environment separate from the general population in IDFs. It is important to check if the minors require food, drinks or access to toilets while waiting to be processed. See:

- section 15.4 Interviewing minors and
- DSM - Chapter 3 - Entering & leaving detention - Reception & induction.

15.4 Interviewing minors

There will be times when a minor in immigration detention will need to be interviewed, for example interviews for visa applications.

Age, maturity and history must be taken into consideration when a minor is to be interviewed. Interpreters must be used in all contact with minors who are unable to speak and understand English.

In cases where a parent or guardian is unavailable, an independent observer should be present who is capable of representing the minor's best interests.

An independent observer is required to have no relationship with either the Department or the minor. For further information see section 22 Independent observer & minors.

Any special needs of a minor that may affect their ability to communicate must be taken into account. These include:

- their understanding of time
- the limitations in their attention span and
- variations between chronological age and developmental maturity.

Care must be taken that the questions asked of a minor:

- are simple and age appropriate
- contain only one idea and
- are open-ended and not leading.

Suggested techniques for interviewing minors:

- introduce the interviewers to the minor
- if possible ensure the minor has an appropriate support person of their choice present during the interview
- attempt to assess the developmental age of the minor which may be different to their chronological age (see section 18.1 Assessment of mental development - unaccompanied minors on assessing mental age/competency using a psychologist)
- arrange seating so interviewer and minor are at equal eye level
- explain why the interview is taking place
- start interview with general questions for example questions about friends, schools
- encourage the minor to ask questions.

At the end of the interview, the interviewer should:

- thank the minor for the interview
- explain what will happen next and
- ensure the minor is supported and feels safe.

For more information on interviewing minors, see the Protection Visa Procedures Manual - Minors.

16 Placement of the unaccompanied minor

16.1 Assistance in placing the minor

Where an MOU exists between the Department and the relevant state/territory child welfare agency, the agency can be consulted regarding appropriate care arrangements for unaccompanied and abandoned minors in immigration detention. Alternatively, care can be provided by Life Without Barriers, a not-for-profit organisation with which the Department has a contract for the care of unaccompanied minors.

16.2 Family tracing for all minors

The importance of family tracing as a means of securing family reunification for a minor is recognised in part of Article 22 of the Convention of the Rights of the Child (CROC) which provides that:

State parties shall provide, as they consider appropriate, co-operation in any efforts by the United Nations and other competent intergovernmental organizations or non-governmental organizations to trace the parents or other members of the family of any refugee child in order to obtain information necessary for reunification with his or her family.

Officers should be aware that family reunification may be achieved by a minor joining relatives in another country or by the minor's relatives joining the minor in Australia if they are entitled to enter and reside in Australia, or by reuniting the minor with relatives already living in the Australian community. The departmental case manager should inform the minor of the procedures for initiating a tracing request with the Australian Red Cross as soon as a minor arrives at a facility. (See the Protection Visa Procedures Manual - Minors.)

16.3 Australian Red Cross tracing

Red Cross tracing can provide tracing for any minor in immigration detention who has been separated by conflict and/or disaster. The Australian Red Cross works with other Red Cross and Red Crescent Societies to trace family members in the midst of war, internal conflict or natural disaster in other countries.

The Department works closely with the Australian Red Cross for the provision of tracing and messaging services to all people in immigration detention including minors.

The DSP must provide and assist a minor with all reasonable facilities (including access to telephone and facsimile services) to conduct a tracing request through the Australian Red Cross. The DSP must also, subject to operational requirements, facilitate any visits from staff of the Australian Red Cross.

If a minor has been assessed for their mental development in accordance with section 18.1 Assessment of mental development - unaccompanied minors as being incapable of providing informed consent and a relative believed to be living in the Australian community has not been located, the case manager should initiate a tracing request with the Australian Red Cross on behalf of the minor. For minors with a relative the decision to initiate a tracing request should be left to the minor and the relative in view of the privacy issues involved.

17 Health

17.1 Provision of health services

Minors in immigration detention are provided with access to health services that are of a standard comparable to health services available to people in the Australian community of the same age and that is clinically recommended to meet the minor's individual physical and mental health needs.

When a minor first arrives in an IDF they are offered a voluntary health induction assessment with a health care provider to identify any health issues. For example, the induction health assessment involves identification of medication, health treatment and/or mental health support requirements and development of a health care plan for the minor while in detention. It also involves review of the minor's immunisation status and commencement of vaccinations in line with the Australian Standard Vaccination Schedule with the informed consent of the minor or guardian.

During their time in detention, minors receive ongoing age appropriate health monitoring and response that is clinically necessary to meet their individual health needs which includes coordination of health services including primary, acute, specialist, pharmaceutical, dental and optical care.

On discharge from detention a minor will be offered a health discharge assessment where the health care provider will:

- assess if they are fit to travel for either interstate air travel or removal from Australia
- complete a discharge health summary outlining the minor's health care during immigration detention and
- identify any handover requirements that may be passed to their new health provider.

Health care is provided by community-based health care providers for those minors in APODs, which is consistent with the Department's policy that persons in alternative and community detention placements are not required to enter an IDC to receive health care. Further information on health services available to minors in immigration detention is available in DSM - Chapter 6 - Detention Health or contact detention.health@immi.gov.au for advice.

18 Welfare

18.1 Assessment of mental development - unaccompanied minors

In accordance with industry standards, health care providers will only medically assess or treat people in detention with the person's informed consent. Informed consent must be supported by appropriately detailed information on health care options and risks, and, where necessary, access to interpreters.

An appropriately qualified health care provider for the HSM, such as a psychologist, must conduct a mental development assessment. The assessment should be designed to determine whether an unaccompanied minor is capable of giving informed consent to medical treatment.

When seeking consent for undertaking the health induction assessment for a minor in immigration detention, the health care provider needs to consider the minor's age and their capacity to consent to health care in accordance with state and territory and Commonwealth legislation.

Consistent with appropriate legislation, the health care provider will make a decision on the minor's capacity to give informed consent for health care. If the health care provider determines that the minor does not have this capacity, the HSM will seek consent from the guardian for the minor in immigration detention.

The outcome of the assessment should be recorded on the unaccompanied minor's immigration file.

18.2 Allegations of abuse and neglect involving minors

Allegations of abuse or neglect of a minor must be handled in accordance with the procedures set out in relevant state or territory legislation and any relevant provision in the Act.

The Department has entered into MOUs with several relevant state/territory agencies in relation to the operation of state and territory child protection and welfare laws in immigration detention facilities.

These MOUs are intended to address the roles and responsibilities of the Department and the individual state/territory welfare authorities in relation to child welfare and protection in facilities and the processes for identifying, reporting and following up allegations of abuse or neglect.

It is mandatory for departmental staff and people working on behalf of the Department, DSP staff and NGO carers to cooperate with any investigation by a state or territory child welfare authority regarding allegations of abuse or neglect in keeping with MOUs or standard practice where there is as yet no MOU in place.

18.3 Mandatory reporting

Some states/territories have mandatory reporting requirements in relation to allegations or suspicion of abuse or neglect of minors. Departmental policy is that any such suspicion or allegation should be immediately referred to the relevant state/territory welfare authority regardless of whether or not mandatory reporting is a requirement.

18.4 Personal identifiers

Personal identifiers are used to assist in the identification of, and to authenticate the identity of a person in immigration detention. Minors under 15 years of age are required to provide a facial photograph, but are not required to provide a fingerprint identifier. Minors aged from 15 to 17 are subject to the same requirements as adults. Consent is required from the minor's parent or guardian before identifiers can be obtained..

For further policy and procedures see:

- Migration Act: Division 13AB-Identification of minors and incapable persons and
- DSM - Chapter 3 - Entering & leaving detention - Identification tests.

18.5 Inappropriate behaviour of a minor in immigration detention

There are a number of steps to be taken in the event that a minor's behaviour exceeds the control of a parent or guardian. These include:

- counselling
- mediation and
- relocating the minor and/or family to a different place of immigration detention.

18.6 Behaviour management

A more formal approach to behaviour management may be required when disciplinary interactions between the parent/guardian and the minor fail to manage or correct inappropriate behaviour. It may be necessary to develop a behaviour management plan, to structure any intervention and aims to alter behaviour in a systematic manner. Behaviour management plans should be developed by persons with demonstrated skills, competencies and expertise in this area such as a child psychologist.

18.7 Complaints

Minors have the right to make a complaint to the Department over any aspect of their care. Reference materials, employing recognisable icons and phone numbers for verbal submission and escalation, have been developed to assist people in detention with language and reading barriers to submit a complaint. For policy and procedure see DSM - Chapter 3 - Entering & leaving detention - Reception & induction. Minors can also request departmental staff to assist with writing their complaint.

19 Legal and immigration advice

19.1 Application assistance and immigration advice

Whenever an unaccompanied minor provides information or makes claims which, prima facie, engage Australia's protection obligations to an officer, the minor is to be offered, and urged to accept, access to independent and professional immigration advice for the lodgement of a PV application. This is to ensure, in conformity with Australia's international obligations, that their claims for protection are comprehensively considered along with all their circumstances as a minor, and that there is no risk of return to a place where they might reasonably fear persecution. Application assistance is to continue for as long as the minor needs it, and extends to APOD, or to Residence Determination, if required.

Assistance from the Immigration Advice and Application Assistance Scheme (IAAAS) provider will include face-to-face contact and support with the aid of an interpreter if necessary; help completing the application; lodgement of the application; explaining clearly the process; developments and outcomes as they occur; answering questions; use of age-appropriate language to explain the services as described in the IAAAS Client Information Leaflet (available in 23 languages); accompanying the minor to interviews with the Department as required; arranging translations of supporting documents and, in the event of a primary visa refusal decision, explaining next steps and preparing the application for Merits Review.

19.2 Immigration Advice and Application Assistance Scheme (IAAAS)

Minors are a particular priority group for IAAAS application assistance and such assistance is guaranteed through quarantined funding for minors in detention or, from specially earmarked funds for minors in the community and managed by the Director, Protection Client Support and Liaison section, Onshore Protection Branch, National Office. Onshore Protection staff in Sydney or Melbourne manage the referrals of persons in immigration detention, including minors, to the next suitable and available IAAAS provider. Where minors in the community are referred, or self-refer, to an IAAAS provider, the provider will generally approach the Director, Protection Client Support & Liaison, for access to the quarantined funds for minors.

The departmental Executive or respective facility's manager must ensure that any unaccompanied minor coming to their attention is promptly referred for application assistance to an IAAAS service provider as soon as they provide information or make claims at the entry interview which, prima facie, appear to engage Australia's protection obligations. Minors and their guardians are, nevertheless, not required to accept IAAAS assistance and may arrange private assistance, or none, if they prefer. For the procedure for appointing an IAAAS provider, see DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - IAAAS.

19.3 Procedure for appointing an IAAAS provider

As soon as it is determined that an unaccompanied minor has provided information or made claims which, prima facie, appear to engage Australia's protection obligations, the regional manager or manager is to explain the IAAAS service to the minor and their guardian, as per the Immigration Detention Checklist.

If the offer of IAAAS assistance is rejected, the departmental centre manager is to ensure that the rejection is formally recorded. If the offer is accepted, the departmental centre manager is to follow the next steps outlined in the DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - IAAAS and notify Onshore Protection in the relevant departmental office in Sydney or Melbourne and ask them to appoint an IAAAS provider to assist the minor at the minor's facility or place of immigration detention, as quickly as possible.

Once appointed, the IAAAS provider will provide advice on the assessment process to the minor, using an interpreter if necessary, and assist them to complete their PV application. The nature and extent of the assistance is more fully described in section 19.1 Application assistance and immigration advice.

Under the terms of their contract, IAAAS providers have two days to confirm whether they will accept a referred case and a further ten calendar days to get the PV application lodged. They can be expected to visit the unaccompanied minor as soon as possible and most probably within two-seven days of the minor raising protection concerns. Because of the sensitivities and the priority attached to unaccompanied minors, any delays in an IAAAS provider being appointed or attending the minor to give application assistance, or actually lodging the application, needs to be closely monitored. The regional manager or manager should therefore consult the relevant Onshore Protection Office promptly where the need arises.

20 Bridging visa

20.1 Periodic assessment of unaccompanied non-ward's eligibility for a bridging visa E

This section of the instruction outlines some of the key criteria for the grant of a bridging visa E (BVE) for which an unaccompanied non-ward in immigration detention may be eligible.

Officers must be familiar with these provisions and should periodically assess an unaccompanied minor's situation to determine whether arrangements should be made for the minor to apply for a bridging visa or in certain circumstances, arrange for a BVE to be granted without application.

This instruction is not intended to replace the detailed instructions concerning bridging visas that are contained in PAM3: Sch2Visa 051 - Bridging E (Protection visa applicant).

Officers should be aware that:

- an unaccompanied non-ward who is immigration cleared might be eligible for a BVE (Subclass 050). Refer to DSM - Chapter 3 - Entering & leaving detention - Protection visa applicants in immigration detention - Ministerial powers to allow BVE applications under s72(1)(c)
  - an unaccompanied non-ward might be unable to make a valid application for a BVE.
- Note: Regulation 2.25 provides for the grant of a BVE without an application.

An unaccompanied non-ward who is immigration cleared may be an eligible non-citizen as defined under reg 2.20 (7) or 2.20(9) and may be eligible for a BVE (subclass 051).

The BVE (051) - Bridging (Protection visa applicant) allows certain unauthorised arrivals with a special need as defined under the migration legislation, to be released from immigration detention while their PV application is being pursued (including merit and judicial review). See PAM3: Sch2Visa 051 - Bridging E (Protection visa applicant). Refer all applications that prime facie meet this criteria for a BVE to the Director, Compliance Policy Section, National Office for consideration.

For further guidance on BVE issues contact the Compliance Help Desk (on 02 6198 7971 or MailBox Compliance.Helpdesk@IMMI.gov.au).

21 Leaving immigration detention

21.1 Overview

Minors will be released from immigration detention permanently either; when the suspicion of their unlawfulness has been resolved, they are granted a substantive visa or removed from Australia.

Where a minor in immigration detention is to be removed, a comprehensive and integrated compliance, detention and removal plan must be prepared by a removals officer in consultation with all internal stakeholders. The removal plan must be approved by the deputy state/territory director, and cleared by the Assistant Secretary, Compliance & Case Resolution, East & North or the Assistant Secretary, Compliance & Case Resolution, South & West, depending upon the geographical location of the immigration detention facility, who will consult with the Minister's office before the removal is effected.

Minors who are granted a substantive visa may require assistance in the immediate period (48 hours) after release from immigration detention.

The Complex Needs & UHM Section should be notified immediately when an unaccompanied ward or non-ward is likely to be granted a Humanitarian visa and released from immigration detention. The Complex Needs & UHM Section is responsible for ensuring appropriate care and accommodation arrangements are put in place for unaccompanied humanitarian minor wards from the time they are granted a visa, and for referring non-wards for appropriate settlement arrangements.

Complex needs and UHM Section can be contacted on MailBox:

UnaccompaniedHumanitarianMinors@IMMI/AU

Minors leaving immigration detention will have a health discharge assessment -see DSM - Chapter 6 - Detention health.

A minor who is a PV applicant and has been in detention for a period of six months and a primary decision has not been made on their application, may be determined by the Minister under s72 of the Act, to be an eligible non-citizen under s72(1)(c) and they may then apply for a BVE - see DSM - Chapter 3 - Entering & leaving detention - Protection visa applicants in immigration detention: Ministerial powers to allow BVE applications under s72(1)(c).

21.2 Removal

For further information on removing a minor from Australia, see PAM3: Act - Compliance - Removal - Removal from Australia.

21.3 Post-release from immigration detention support

For minors leaving community detention, assessment for a range of transitional supports can be arranged until they can access supports provided by the new visa arrangements, (for example, Centrelink and Medicare). For further information, see DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Community detention.

Minors who are released from immigration detention after being granted a substantive visa may require assistance in the immediate period post-release (48 hours). This assistance may include:

- accommodation
- access to appropriate health supports
- transport
- money to purchase food.

Unaccompanied humanitarian minors who are released from immigration detention on grant of a Humanitarian visa are provided with a range of assistance. As noted at section 21.1 Overview, the Complex Needs & UHM Section should be notified immediately when an unaccompanied ward or non-ward is likely to be granted a Humanitarian visa, so that appropriate care and accommodation arrangements can be put in place following the release of the minor from immigration detention.

21.4 Costs of removal

The Migration Act was amended to remove the liability for immigration detention and related costs for certain persons and to extinguish all existing immigration detention debts for people, who are, or have been in detention. However, people who are or have been in immigration detention remain liable for the cost of their removal/deportation and legal costs, if any.

For further advice, contact the National Office Debt Management Section's mailbox at debtors@immi.gov.au. For further information, see PAM3: Act - Financial matters - Debts to the Commonwealth.

22 Independent observer & minors

22.1 Legislative framework & departmental policy

There is no legislative requirement for an independent observer to be present during an interview or discussion with a minor. However, the Minister and the Department owe a duty of care to persons in immigration detention. In addition, under the IGOC Act, the Minister is the guardian of all unaccompanied minors seeking asylum. As such, the Minister has a particular responsibility to protect the welfare of unaccompanied minors. The Department's policy is that an independent observer should be present whenever the Department or other Government agency interviews an unaccompanied minor.

The policy framework describing in detail the role of independent observers when interviewing minors is contained in section 15.4 Interviewing minors:

In cases where a parent or guardian are unavailable, an independent observer should be present who is capable of representing the minor's best interests...An independent observer is required to have no relationship with either the Department or the minor.

Note: This definition does not preclude the presence of independent observers, at the Department's discretion, when accompanied minors are interviewed.

22.2 Definition of independent observer

An independent observer is an adult engaged by the Department to attend interviews and meetings between unaccompanied minors and the Department and/or other agencies. They provide a value-added service to support unaccompanied minors in immigration detention to ensure their physical and emotional wellbeing.

The independent observer role is currently performed by Life Without Barriers (LWB). The Department has a contract with LWB for the provision of care and welfare support services to unaccompanied minors in detention on Christmas Island and the Australian mainland. This contract enables services to be provided to unaccompanied minors living at ITAs, IRHs and other APODs, as well as those living in community detention.

Any perceived conflict of interest between LWB's role in managing the supervision and daily care of unaccompanied minors and its role in providing an independent observer is mitigated by LWB who ensure that any people performing the role of independent observer do not also undertake a caring role.

The staff, who come from a range of LWB state offices, have experience and qualifications in the areas of social and youth work, education, nursing, mental health and human services. LWB, in carrying out services under the contract, complies with all relevant legislation of the Commonwealth or state/territory or local authority in force such as Working with Children and Australian Federal Police (AFP) checks. LWB staff undertake these checks prior to the commencement of the independent observer role.

22.3 Role of & independent observer

The role of the independent observer is to act in the best interests of unaccompanied minors and ensure that the Department's and other agencies' treatment of unaccompanied minors during certain immigration detention processes is fair, appropriate and reasonable.

The independent observer has no casework, legal advocacy, or investigative responsibilities. They do not act as a qualified interpreter for the minor.

More specifically, an independent observer:

- observes the demeanour and presentation of the minor
- draws any concerns about an interview process to the interviewer's attention and makes appropriate suggestions
- draws any concerns about the emotional and physical wellbeing of the minor being interviewed to the attention of the interviewer and
- maintains records of work undertaken and any concerns raised that relate to the interview.

The independent observer is required to:

- introduce themselves to the minor, and try to build rapport and reassure the minor
- explain to the minor that they will be accompanying them in interviews to assist them through the process by providing the minor with physical and moral support
- explain that they are not a legal representative or an advocate for the minor
- maintain a physical presence, ensuring appropriate toilet and food breaks are provided to the minor and monitor for inappropriate questioning and/or behaviour by the interviewer and
- ensure the minor is given the opportunity to ask questions, has their questions answered, is debriefed following the interview, and is returned to their accommodation or other appropriate location.

22.4 When an independent observer is required

Independent observers are required to attend interviews and meetings between unaccompanied minors and the Department and/or other agencies. They are also required to attend interviews and meetings between accompanied minors and the Department and/or other agencies where no adult relative is present or, at the Department's discretion, where concern exists regarding the adult relative's understanding of processes and capability of acting in the best interests of the minor with regards to a minor's physical and emotional wellbeing.

Independent observers are required for formal meetings and, at the Department's discretion, during informal meetings and discussions. More broadly, an independent observer is required during interviews and discussions on topics such as (but not limited to):

- induction processes
- biodata, entry, Refugee Status Assessment (RSA) and Independent Merits Review (IMR) interviews
- discussions on negative hand downs
- removal interviews
- discussions upon release from an APOD or community detention
- transfers or visa grants
- as required to assist with case management processes
- age determination processes
- interviews with external agencies (including, but not limited to, the AFP, Australian Customs and Border Protection Service (Customs) and Attorney-General's Department) and
- interactions with the DSP for some functions such as the return of property to a minor (following release of the property from, for example, the AFP or Customs), or the release or transfer of a minor from an APOD.

An independent observer is generally not required during routine processes that are in the minor's best interests. This includes:

- health related processes (such as medical appointments) and
- facilitation of phone calls (including the "ALIVE" call).

An independent observer is required in other limited circumstances, for example, during an interview by the HSM when referred by the Department in relation to a person's age claim.

Consideration must be given to the continued use of an independent observer for a minor who has recently turned 18 years of age. For example, where an independent observer has been working with a minor who turns 18 years of age before the process is complete, consideration must be given to continuing to provide that person access to the independent observer, particularly in cases where there may be concerns regarding the minor's level of maturity or understanding of processes.

INTRODUCTION

This part comprises:

- section 1 Purpose
- section 2 Guiding principles.

1 Purpose

This instruction provides guidance to departmental and detention service provider (DSP) staff on the management of the reception and induction process for persons placed in immigration detention in immigration detention facilities (IDFs).

This instruction does not apply to those being held by other agencies, for example, Australian Fisheries Management Authority or the Australian Customs Service.

2 Guiding principles

The guiding principles in relation to the reception and induction process within the immigration detention network (IDN) are encapsulated in DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Service delivery values. These principles state that persons in immigration detention will be treated fairly and reasonably within the law and that conditions of detention will ensure the inherent dignity of the individual is upheld.

The contractual obligations that reflect the policy principles outlined in this instruction for IDC and APOD are found at Schedule 2, section 2.2.1, clause 2 of the IDC Detention Services Contract. The contractual obligations that reflect the policy principles outlined in this instruction for ITA and IRH are found at Schedule 2A, Section 2A.1, clause 2 of the Immigration Residential Housing (IRH) Contract and Schedule 2B, Section 2B.1, clause 2 of the Immigration Transit Accommodation (ITA), Contract.

Communication with the person in immigration detention during the reception and induction process should be in a language that they can understand. The use of interpreters is advised to ensure that the process outlined in this instruction is fully understood. In the case of unaccompanied minors (UAMs), the use of carers in conjunction with interpreters is advised. See DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Translating & interpreting services.

RECEPTION

This part comprises:

- section 3 Reception
- section 4 Initial reception into an IDF
- section 5 Unaccompanied minors and the role of carers
- section 6 Biometrics data
- section 7 Initial induction health assessment
- section 8 Preliminary person in immigration detention placement risk assessment
- section 9 Screening and property
- section 10 Wellbeing assessment
- section 11 Final checks.

3 Reception

Reception is the process of receiving and introducing a person in immigration detention into a facility and should be completed within 12 hours of arrival, except in exceptional circumstances.

A minor (a person under 18 years of age), either as part of a group or alone, must not be placed in an IDC. Should minors be placed in an IDF such as IRH or ITA, their reception process will follow the same procedure as for others but with greater consideration of age and vulnerability. Carers engaged by the department will be utilised in the reception process. At all times staff must ensure that minors' best interests are considered and that all due attention is paid to the safety, care and welfare of minors placed in immigration detention. See DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Minors in detention.

4 Initial reception into an IDF

The reception process should ensure that the person is correctly identified, personal identifiers are gathered and that the Transfer of Custody and Request to Hold forms are completed. The reception process must include:

- conducting a preliminary client placement assessment, which is to be completed by the compliance officers who detained the person. For irregular maritime arrivals (IMA) initial client placement decisions are made by Case Management and Detention Operations staff. The immigration detention regional manager has full responsibility for immigration-related matters for any immigration detention facility and alternative/community detention arrangements within their region. They also approve the assessment for placement of the individual while in immigration detention
- reporting from the escorting officers on the behaviour of the individual, such as assault or risk of flight, that may impact on the security of the individual concerned
- ensuring that any records of the person in immigration detention are accepted, stored appropriately and are recorded on departmental and DSP systems
- allocating suitable accommodation to the individual and determining whether border screening detention is required. See DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Border screening detention
- inform the person in immigration detention about their right to consular access at any time; see DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Consular access in immigration detention. Form 1360 (Request for consular access for people in immigration detention) is used to record their response and is placed on their file.

5 Unaccompanied minors and the role of carers

Carers engaged by the department will provide additional support to the DSP in the reception process for UAMs. This support role will ensure:

- the client understands key messages delivered by the DSP and/or the department and seeks clarification on complex issues, if required
- UAMs are accompanied in potentially stressful or new situations to provide emotional support and a level of expertise in recognising signs of depression, anxiety and/or stress in the minor

- an additional level of interpretation, where needed, between the UAM and other persons
- escalation of concerns through agreed channels as described in the Communications Protocol of the contract between the service provider and the department
- allocated bedding, toiletries and clothing are appropriate and that the UAM/s know how to use the items correctly
- access to toilets, showers, health services and meals are explained to the UAM and that any issues or problems are reported to the DSP
- any gaps in cultural understanding, cultural differences and cultural barriers are bridged.

6 Biometrics data

Under s261AA of the Act, a person in immigration detention must provide an authorised officer with personal identifiers. In accordance with this requirement, an authorised officer will obtain a facial image and fingerprints of each person in detention, including airport turnarounds, when the person enters an IDF. The acquisition of these biometrics are taken in the form of an identification test. The person in immigration detention is to be provided with Forms 1243i and 1247i and have the appropriate legislative script with information about the use of biometrics data read to them. See DSM - Chapter 3 - Entering & leaving detention - Identification tests.

7 Initial induction health assessment

Persons entering immigration detention are to be offered an initial medical screening by a qualified medical professional to identify issues that may require medical attention. Consideration should be given to, but not be limited to, the following:

- physical health, particularly health issues including alcohol and drug dependency or withdrawal or other issues requiring immediate attention
- psychological issues and risk factors including risk of self-harm
- use of and/or need for any medication

Where a person declines a health induction assessment the DSP should record this information on the departmental and DSP systems and notify the health services manager. See DSM - Chapter 6 - Detention health - Induction health assessment.

8 Preliminary person in immigration detention placement risk assessment

This preliminary risk assessment categorises persons in immigration detention most likely to be at risk and should be conducted at the same time as the health assessment. Officers conducting the reception process will need to be alert to persons in immigration detention with special needs, such as:

- victims of torture and trauma, any other suspected vulnerabilities, including pregnancy
- those with health problems or disabilities (and possibly requiring disabled access in the facility)
- long term person in immigration detention transferring from other detention facilities

For UAMs, carers engaged by the department should be utilised as an additional resource to identify any minors' issues that could impact on their risk profile. These can include issues that will impact on their induction to and wellbeing in an IDF, such as bullying, sectarianism, personality clashes and religiosity.

9 Screening and property

Screening ensures the good order and security of the IDF by ensuring those in the IDF are safe and those who enter the facility do not pose a risk to the health and wellbeing of self and others, property or security, for which see DSM - Chapter 8 - Safety & security - Screening of persons in immigration detention. For IMAs, mobile phones are to be retained by the DSP on arrival at an IDF. There may be the need to retain some IMA property for evidentiary purposes and advice on this will be provided by law enforcement agencies. See DSM - Chapter 4 - Communications & visits - Access to communication services in IDFs.

During the reception process it should be explained to the person in immigration detention that certain items are not permitted in an IDF, and why. Carers engaged by the department must be used to enhance the UAMs' understanding of the property guidelines in the IDF, see DSM - Chapter 8 - Safety & security - Items not permitted in immigration detention.

Items not permitted in the IDF may be securely stored by the DSP as "in-trust" property. Items permitted within the facility are "in-possession" property and kept with the person in immigration detention; see DSM - Chapter 3 - Entering & leaving detention - Personal property.

10 Wellbeing assessment

The wellbeing assessment consists of a risk evaluation to provide sufficient general information on accommodating the person in immigration detention and includes but is not limited to:

- ensuring that the person in immigration detention has adequate clothing
- ensuring that the person in immigration detention is provided with a meal, refreshment, toiletries pack and the use of toilet/shower facilities
- establishing an individual management plan (IMP) that takes into account health care, diet, and cultural sensitivities
- creating an individual allowance program (IAP) account
- providing the facility information pack and scheduling an induction interview
- advising of complaint mechanisms and complaint resolution
- advising of communication means available for contacting those outside the IDF.

Assistance of the Translating & Interpreting Services should be used when needed. For UAMs, carers engaged by the department should be used as an additional resource to identify issues related to the wellbeing assessment and to support UAMs' understanding. See DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Translating & interpreting services.

11 Final checks

Before finalising the reception process, ask the following questions:

- is the identity of the person in immigration detention correct or able to be verified
- have they been offered an initial health assessment
- was a preliminary risk and wellbeing assessment conducted
- were records updated on the relevant systems
- have they been informed of their rights and responsibilities.

INDUCTION

This part comprises:

- section 12 Induction
- section 13 Role of the detention service provider
- section 14 Role of the department
- section 15 Complaints
- section 16 Final induction checklist.

12 Induction

Induction is the process of informing persons in immigration detention about living in the IDF, how the facility operates and explaining relevant policies, procedures and roles within the facility and should occur within 48 hours of arrival. Consideration should be given to the following points when conducting the induction process:

- ensuring the person understands that they are in immigration detention and why
- determining whether they have contacted their family either in Australia or overseas. If not they should be offered the opportunity to do so to inform someone of their detention
- explaining the department's obligation to remove them in certain circumstances.

For all UAMs, carers engaged by the department are to be involved in the induction process.

13 Role of the detention service provider

The person in detention will be given the DSP's Information Guide for People in Detention, an induction booklet (available in multiple languages) advising on the routines and services in the facility. A DSP officer will explain the role and responsibilities of the DSP. Where necessary, an interpreter should be used to ensure that the person in immigration detention understands:

- an explanation of the operations, functions and guidelines for residing at the facility
- informing the person in immigration detention of the household rules of the IDF, as well as their rights and responsibilities, including signing the Rights & responsibilities form
- an explanation of personal property matters. In particular the person entering detention must understand that - unless placed in safe storage as "in-trust" property - they are responsible for personal items they take into the facility, see DSM - Chapter 3 - Entering & leaving detention - Personal property

14 Role of the department

A case manager will explain the roles and responsibilities of the department and their individual circumstances, such as: the reason for their detention, their removal or other options, or the progress of any applications before the department, courts or Minister. The person in immigration detention also needs to understand how their actions will impact on their immigration pathway. The person in immigration detention must be made aware that the department is required to remove them if and when they become available for removal.

15 Complaints

All persons in immigration detention have the right to lodge complaints while they are in detention. At induction, persons in immigration detention are to be made aware that they are able to complain without hindrance or fear of reprisal including:

- their avenues of complaint and redress
- the roles and responsibilities of external agencies in relation to the conditions of detention to the DSP, the department and external agencies, including the Commonwealth Ombudsman <http://www.ombudsman@ombudsman.gov.au> and the Australian Human Rights Commission (AHRC) <http://www.complaintsinfo@humanrights.gov.au>
- for a suspected criminal offence, to the police
- in the case of suspected child abuse, to the relevant state or territory welfare agency

- that privacy and confidentiality will be respected in all instances and matters raised will be made available only to those who need to know (in order to respond to the complaint)
- that the DSP is responsible for facilitating access to complaints processes via:
  - written complaints addressed to the DSP or the department
  - directly with the department through the Global Feedback Unit on 133 177 or at <http://www.immi.gov.au/contacts/forms/services/services-form.htm>
  - direct communication with external agencies such as the AHRC and the Commonwealth Ombudsman.

16 Final induction checklist

Before completing the induction, the following checks must be made:

- does the person in immigration detention understand how to contact the department, the DSP or other services such as medical services at the IDF
- has the person in immigration detention been provided with the DSP information guide and explained that this contains all the relevant information in relation to their stay at the IDF
- has the “rights and responsibilities” form been signed by the individual
- has the person in immigration detention been informed of their right to consular access
- has form 1360 been signed, placed on their file and the decision entered on the Portal
- have the travel documents of the person in immigration detention been secured in “in-trust” property
- are there any problems regarding the property of the person in immigration detention
- have all systems been updated with the information of the person in immigration detention.

Finalise the interview by having the person in immigration detention sign the induction form.

INTRODUCTION

This Part comprises:

- section 1 Purpose
- section 2 Legislation
- section 3 Definitions
- section 4 Authorised officers.

1 Purpose

1.1 Background

This instruction provides guidance to departmental officers and detention service provider staff about conducting identification tests in immigration detention facilities (IDFs) for the purpose of collecting personal identifiers - the identification test - of persons in immigration detention. This instruction deals with personal identifiers collected under Division 13AA (s261AA) of the Act - refer to the relevant legislation for the collection of personal identifiers in other circumstances.

To assist authorised officers in carrying out identification tests on persons in immigration detention, this instruction includes an Identification test checklist.

The guiding principles that relate to this instruction are found in the service delivery values. For policy and procedure see DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview -Service delivery values. The values state that persons in immigration detention will be treated fairly and reasonably within the law and that the conditions of immigration detention will ensure the inherent dignity of the individual.

1.2 Fisheries and Environment Detention

Persons in fisheries or environment detention may provide personal identifiers pursuant to provisions contained in the following legislation which mirror Division 13AA of the Act:

- Fisheries Management Act 1991
- Torres Strait Fisheries Act 1984
- Environment Protection and Biodiversity Conservation Act 1999.

Persons who are taken into immigration detention directly on the cessation of fisheries or environment detention will not be required to provide personal identifier/s under the Act, provided that the:

- period of fisheries or environment detention immediately precedes the period of immigration detention
- personal identifier/s in question (for example, a facial photograph) was provided in fisheries or environment detention
- authorised officer is satisfied as to the usability and integrity of the personal identifiers that were provided while the person was in fisheries or environment detention
- authorised officer is satisfied that no further personal identifiers need to be collected from the non-citizen for the purpose of section 5A (3) of the Act.

2 Legislation

The provisions of the Act that relate to the collection of personal identifiers are:

- s5A(3), which outlines the purpose of personal identifiers
- Division 13AA - Identification of immigration detainees and
- s258 ('Minister may determine that personal identifiers are not required').

- (a) is capable of representing the interests of a non-citizen who is providing, or is to provide, a personal identifier and
- (b) as far as practicable, is acceptable to the non-citizen who is providing, or is to provide, a personal identifier and
- (c) if the non-citizen is a minor - is capable of representing the minor's best interests.

Minor means a person who is less than 18 years old.

Personal identifier means any of the following (including any of the following in digital form):

- (a) fingerprints or handprints of a person (including those taken using paper and ink or digital livescanning technologies)

- (f) a person's signature
- (g) any other identifier prescribed by the regulations, other than an identifier the obtaining of which would involve the carrying out of an intimate forensic procedure within the meaning of s23WA of the Crimes Act 1914.

Under s261AK, senior authorising officer (SAO) means an officer (other than an SES Band 3 employee of the Department) whom the Secretary has authorised, or who is included in a class of officers whom the Secretary has authorised, to perform the functions of a senior authorising officer under s261AK for retesting to gain personal identifiers.

Video recording means a video recording made under section 261AJ or a copy of such a recording, and includes a related document.

Identifying information means personal identifiers under s336A of the Act, and may also encompass information relating to or derived from a personal identifier. For instructions regarding access, disclosure, storage or any other matter relating to the use of identifying information, see PAM3: Act - Identity, biometrics & immigration status instructions.

4 Authorised officers

For the purpose of carrying out an identification test, care must be taken to ensure that the officer:

- is specifically authorised to carry out identification tests. A list of authorised officers is maintained by National Office and available on ImmiNet. (See http://dimanet.immi.gov.au/DIMA\_services/policy/gazette\_notices/3\_0)
- complies with legislative requirements regarding conduct of identification tests and
- follows the procedures detailed in this instruction.

Under s261AG, an authorised officer may ask another authorised officer or any other officer to help them carry out an identification test.

For assistance, contact Detention Operations mailbox or the after-hours duty phone on 0413 319 277.

IDENTIFICATION TEST PRE-CONDITIONS

5 Preconditions

5.1 Background

The conditions contained in this section must be met before collecting personal identifiers. See also the Identification test checklist.

5.2 Pre-test validity check

Before carrying out the identification test, the authorised officer must check that:

- the correct person is present
- the person has not already provided the identifier at any time during their current term of immigration detention, including during fisheries or environment detention and
- the person is not a minor or an incapable person (special provisions apply - see section 9 Minors & incapable persons).

To conduct the pre-test validity check, the authorised officer should consult:

- the relevant ICSE or Portal record
- ID card if available
- Transfer of Custody form or equivalent and
- any other resource which may assist in this regard.

If the identification test is to be conducted other than during the reception process, a completed Request for Service (RFS) form is required. Should any discrepancies about identity arise, refer the matter to the regional manager and to the relevant senior case manager.

5.3 Information to be provided before carrying out the tests

The person must be advised that they may request:

- that an independent person be present while the test (s261AI) is conducted - see section 10 Independent person
- that a person of the same sex conduct the test (s261AC and s261AH) - see section 7 Guidelines for conducting identification tests.

5.4 Information forms 1243i and 1247i

The person about to undergo an identification test should be provided with forms 1243i and 1247i, in a language that they are able to understand. If the forms are not available in a comprehensible language for the person, an officer will arrange to have the forms explained by an accredited interpreter on site or if not available, the Translating and Interpreting service (TIS) will be engaged.

5.5 Legislative script

The appropriate Legislative scripts must be read to each person in immigration detention immediately before conducting the identification test preferably in the area where the test is held, to provide privacy. If required, an accredited interpreter should be engaged to read the legislative script in a language that the person in immigration detention understands. The Legislative scripts relate to:

- Adults
- Minors between 15 and 18 years
- Minors under 15 years and incapable persons.

The legislative script must be read, completed, signed and placed on the file of the person who undertook the test.

5.6 Video recording identification tests

The authorised officer must video record the identification test. See section 12 Video recording.

GUIDELINES FOR CONDUCTING IDENTIFICATION TESTS

This part comprises:

- section 6 Persons required to provide personal identifiers
- section 7 Guidelines for conducting identification tests.

6 Persons required to provide personal identifiers

6.1 Background

Persons who enter immigration detention are required to undergo an identification test when requested to do so by an authorised officer (s261AA). The same personal identifier (for example, a facial photograph) cannot be collected from the same person more than once, except in cases where that personal identifier:

- was collected from a person who has been in immigration detention previously and
- is of doubtful usability or integrity (see section 13 Retests).

Although s261AA of the Act provides authority to collect five classes of personal identifier, current departmental practice is that identification tests are only conducted for the collection of:

- an image of a person's face and shoulders (a facial photograph) and/or
- fingerprints (except from minors under 15 years of age or incapable persons - see section 9 Minors & incapable persons).

6.2 Location & time

Identification tests must be conducted within 24 hours, preferably during the reception process at the IDF. Where practicable, a person in alternative detention should be taken to the nearest IDF with rooms or booths dedicated to the collection of personal identifiers. If this is not practicable, and an identification test is not conducted, a note must be placed on the file of the person in immigration detention stating the reason for not conducting the test.

7 Guidelines for conducting identification tests

7.1 Legislation

Under s261AD, the guidelines for conducting identification tests are:

- persons in immigration detention must not be asked to remove more clothing than is necessary for the test. Biometrics Acquisition and Matching training has detailed guidance on cultural and religious attire
- the test must not involve more visual inspection than is necessary for conducting the identification test
- the test must not be conducted in the presence or view of a person who is not needed for the test to be conducted, except in the case of minors where a parent or guardian of a minor, or where an independent person may be present.

7.2 Conduct tests together

The facial photograph and fingerprint tests must be conducted together. When the tests are conducted, forms 1243i and 1247i should be provided and the appropriate legislative script read. If the two tests cannot be conducted together, due to equipment failure or other reasons, and the person has not left the testing area, there is no need to re-read the legislative script or provide the person with forms 1243i and 1247i. Once the person has left the testing area, both the legislative script and the forms must be given again.

7.3 Test not to be carried out in a cruel, degrading or inhumane manner

An identification test must not be carried out in a “cruel, inhumane or degrading manner” or in a manner that fails “to treat a person with humanity and with respect for human dignity” - see DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Service delivery values.

7.4 Identification test carried out by a person of the same sex

The Act provides the legal right for the test to be conducted by an authorised officer of the same sex (s261AH). The authorised officer must inform the person that they may have the test conducted by an authorised officer of the same sex, and if requested, an officer of the same sex must conduct the test.

COLLECTING PERSONAL IDENTIFIERS

This part comprises:

- section 8 Collecting personal identifiers
- section 9 Minors & incapable persons
- section 10 Independent person
- section 11 Use of identifying information.

8 Collecting personal identifiers

8.1 Officers must be trained

Facial photograph and fingerprint identifiers must be collected in accordance with the Biometrics Acquisition and Matching training. Only authorised officers who have attended this training and passed the competency based assessment can collect personal identifiers.

Where there is uncertainty about the collection process, seek the advice of the Identity Services Helpdesk in National Office by email at: ITSupport@immi.gov.au

8.2 Personal identifier is unusable or of doubtful integrity

If the Department's authorised officer is dissatisfied as to the integrity or usability of the personal identifier, the collection procedure may be repeated. If the person in immigration detention has already left the identification test area, an authorisation for a retest will be needed to lawfully collect the personal identifier. See section 13 Retests.

8.3 After a personal identifier has been collected

Once personal identifiers have been collected, the person cannot request that the personal identifiers be destroyed or given to them.

If the personal identifiers have not been collected before the person states they do not want to provide them, the officer conducting the test must clarify which identifier/s the person does not want to provide. If the person does not want to provide a particular identifier, the authorised officer should continue to collect the other identifier.

For policy and procedure in relation to when a person refuses to provide one or all personal identifiers see Responding to a person's refusal to undergo an identification test.

9 Minors & incapable persons

9.1 Minors

In the best interests of the minor, treatment and conditions in the detention environment must be humane and have as little adverse impact on the minor as possible. Minors are not to be placed in an IDC for accommodation or processing purposes (including collecting personal identifiers) at any time. For policy and procedure regarding the care of minors in the detention environment, see:

- DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Minors in detention
- PAM3: Act - Compliance - Compliance, case management & detention - Treatment of children - Guiding principles.

9.2 Personal identifier that may be collected

Minors under 15 years of age and incapable persons are required to provide a facial photograph, but are not required to provide a fingerprint identifier (s261AL(1) and s261AM(1)). Minors aged from 15 to 17 are subject to the same requirements as adults - see section 8 Collecting personal identifiers.

Under s261AE of the Act, the use of force to collect a personal identifier from any minor or incapable person is prohibited.

9.3 Parent, guardian or independent person MUST be present

If an identification test is conducted on a minor or incapable person, either a parent, legal guardian or an independent person must be present while the test is conducted (s261AL and s261AM).

An independent person is required if:

- a parent or legal guardian of the minor or incapable person requests the presence of such a person, and that person is readily available and willing to attend
- a parent or legal guardian of the minor or incapable person is not available (s261AL(5) and s261AM(4)) or
- the legal guardian of the minor is the Minister (s261AL(6)).

While a parent, guardian or independent person must be present, their consent for an identification test to be conducted on a minor or incapable person in their care is not required.

9.4 Uncertainty about age or capability

If any suspicion arises that a person might be an incapable person or a minor, the person must be referred to the regional manager. That officer may refer the person to medical personnel to assist in determining if the person is a minor or an incapable person.

10 Independent person

10.1 Who can be an independent person

See section 3 Definitions for a full definition of an independent person. Persons who would be appropriate to act as an independent person may include, but are not limited to:

- family members of the person who is to undergo the identification test
- medical practitioners (other than a practitioner who is also an ‘officer’ or ‘authorised officer’ under the Act)
- a person with guardianship responsibilities in respect of a minor (other than where the Minister is the guardian).

10.2 Presence of an independent person

Under s261AI, an independent person must be present in the following circumstances while the identification test is being conducted:

Request from capable person

Should an adult request the presence of an independent person while the test is being conducted, then such a person must be present, provided that they are readily available and willing to attend. The authorised officer must make genuine attempts to locate an individual willing to act as an independent person. Should repeated attempts fail to locate someone who is readily available and willing to attend the identification test can still be conducted. The full reasons why an independent person was not present must be explained to the individual and recorded on their file.

Minors and incapable persons

An independent person is required if their presence is requested by the parent or guardian, or the parent or guardian is unavailable. See section 9 Minors & incapable persons.

Use of force

An independent person must be present if reasonable force is used (where permitted) to collect a personal identifier - see section 14 Negotiating principles. The use of reasonable force to collect a personal identifier from a minor or incapable person is prohibited (s261AE).

Unable to video-record

If it is not possible to video record the identification test, the authorised officer may decide that the identification test must be conducted in the presence of an independent person (s261AJ). If that officer makes this decision the identification test must be conducted in the presence of an independent person.

Note: If the test is monitored by CCTV (that is, officer monitoring the safety of the test via CCTV) there is no need to have an independent person present unless force is being used (s261AI).

10.3 Role of the independent person

An independent person may:

- observe and witness the conduct of an identification test
- be present as a representative of the person who is to undergo the identification test and
- in the event of disagreement or dispute about the conduct of an identification test, be called upon as a witness by either party in any subsequent inquiry relating to the conduct of that test.

An independent person is not permitted to participate in the conduct of the identification test.

10.4 Information to be provided to the independent person

An independent person should be provided with the following documents:

- forms 1243i and 1247i (see Forms 1243i and 1247i)
- Independent person: Information and acceptance form.

A person who agrees to act as an independent person should sign the Independent person: Information and acceptance form indicating that they understand their responsibilities and agree to be an independent person.

All forms should be provided in a language that the independent person understands and if this is not possible, an accredited interpreter or TIS should be engaged.

11 Use of identifying information

Under s336A of the Act, identifying information includes personal identifiers, and may also encompass information relating to or derived from a personal identifier.

For instructions regarding access, disclosure, storage or any other matter relating to the use of identifying information, see PAM3: Act - Identity, Biometrics & Immigration status instructions.

VIDEO RECORDING IDENTIFICATION TESTS

12 Video recording

12.1 Background

All identification tests must be witnessed and every effort must be made to video record the test.

Note: If the test is being monitored by CCTV (that is, an officer monitoring the safety of the test via CCTV) there is no need for an independent person to be present, unless force is being used or where personal identifiers are being collected from a minor or incapable person and a parent or legal guardian cannot be present.

When recording identification tests (s261AJ):

- an authorised officer should video record the conduct of the test and
- if an authorised officer is unable to video record an identification test, that officer may decide that the test must be conducted in the presence of an independent person. If force is being used, the identification test must be carried out in the presence of an independent person - see section 10.2 Presence of an independent person.

A note should be placed on the file of the person in immigration detention explaining why the test was not video-recorded together with a copy of the completed and signed Independent person: Information & Undertaking form.

12.2 Video recording production, storage, use and disclosure

Subject to the instructions contained in this document, authorised officers must follow any relevant separate instructions relating to video recording events in immigration detention.

12.3 Access and retention of video recordings

Section 261 of the Act creates offences with regard to access and retention of video recordings of identification tests and all officers involved in the collection of personal identifiers must be aware that it is an offence (s261AKB, s261AKC, s261AKD, s261AKH) to:

- access a video recording of an identification test unless specifically authorised to do so
- provide a video recording to another person, except for permitted provision and
- be responsible for the storage of the video recording and fail to physically destroy the recording, and all copies of the recording, within 10 years after it was made.

Decisions to provide video recordings or copies of video recordings to external agencies will be made by the Biometrics & Identity Section, National Office.

12.4 Unauthorised modification or impairment of a video recording

It is an offence under s261AKE for an officer to intentionally make an unauthorised modification to a video recording, or to intentionally cause any unauthorised impairment of:

- the reliability of a video recording
- the security of the storage of a video recording or
- the operation of a system by which a video recording is stored.

All officers and other persons involved in the collection of personal identifiers must be aware of these provisions.

RETESTS

13 Retests

13.1 Two categories

A retest to collect the personal identifiers may be necessary if the initial test fails to meet the required standard. There are two categories of retest:

- Immediate retest
- Authorised retest.

Immediate retest

If it is possible to immediately repeat the collection procedure, authorisation for a retest is not necessary. If it is not possible to immediately repeat the collection procedure, for example, where the person has left the identification test room, a retest is required in order to lawfully collect the personal identifiers.

Authorised retest

Under s261AK, a retest may be required by the department authorised officer for the following reasons:

- the collected personal identifier is unusable and
- the officer is unsatisfied as to the integrity of that personal identifier, for example, where the authorised officer reasonably suspects that the personal identifier belongs to another person.

13.2 Authorisation required for a retest

With the exception of immediate retests above, a retest may only occur if it is authorised in accordance with s261AK. To obtain authorisation, the authorised officer should complete a Request for authorisation to conduct retest form.

The following officers are empowered by the Act to authorise retesting:

- for the first retest - a departmental senior authorising officer (SAO), see section 3 Definitions for a definition of SAO (s261AK(10)) and
- for the following and final retest - the Secretary or an SES Band 3 employee of the department.

The completed Request for authorisation to conduct retest should be forwarded to the Department's regional manager who will send the form to the appropriate officer. The regional manager can receive assistance in identifying an appropriate officer by contacting Detention Operations mailbox or the after-hours duty phone on 0413 319 277.

The SAO, Secretary or SES Band 3 employee may give their authorisation by phone, fax or other electronic means. If authorisation is given by telephone, it must be recorded in writing by the authorised officer within one business day after it has been given.

13.3 Effect of a retest

Under s261AK(2), the effect of a retest is that the person will be taken not to have provided the personal identifier as a result of the earlier test being carried out.

13.4 Authorisation refusal

Under s261AK(9), if the SAO, Secretary or SES Band 3 employee refuses to authorise a retest, the person in immigration detention is regarded as having already complied with s261AA to provide a personal identifier. A retest must not be conducted without further authorisation.

RESPONDING TO A PERSON'S REFUSAL TO UNDERGO AN IDENTIFICATION TEST

14 Negotiating principles

14.1 Negotiating Principles

If a person refuses to undergo an identification test, the authorised officer and any assisting officers must make every reasonable effort to negotiate with the person. In particular, officers must:

- listen to the person
- address as far as practicable any concerns raised by the person
- reason with the person and
- where a minor or incapable person is involved, speak with the parent, guardian or independent person to ensure the minor's or incapable person's fears and concerns are addressed.

14.2 Negotiation process

Steps (a) to (j) must be followed and recorded on the Negotiation checklist & application for authorisation to use reasonable force:

- a. provide a further explanation of the purpose and nature of the test
- b. provide a second verbal explanation of the contents of forms 1247i and 1243i
- c. listen to the person and attempt to negotiate. Ascertain why they are refusing to undergo the test and attempt to address their concerns
- d. explain the powers available to authorised officers under the Act, especially with regard to the possible use of force
- e. allow the person time to re-read forms 1243i and 1247i and consider their options (15-20 minutes) and then again ask if they are willing to undertake the test
- f. escalate the request to a supervisor or senior officer who will repeat that the law requires the person to provide the personal identifiers and that the law gives the authorising officer the power to use reasonable force
- g. allow the person more time to consider their options (perhaps overnight) and advise them of a re-scheduled test day and time. There is no need to restrict the person's contact and interaction with others in the immigration detention facility
- h. ask the person again to undergo the identification test
- i. advise the person that the authorising officer will now seek authority to use reasonable force to conduct the test and
- j. ask the person again to undergo the identification test.

The negotiation process ceases when the person indicates willingness or unwillingness to cooperate.

14.3 The use of reasonable force

Under s261AE, the use of force is only permitted where:

- the person is not a minor or incapable person
- the personal identifier to be collected is not the person's signature

- the person refuses to allow the identification test to be carried out and
- all reasonable measures to carry out the identification test have been exhausted as per the negotiation process s261AE(4).

To satisfy the legal criteria the 'all reasonable measures ... have been exhausted', authorised officers are required to follow and complete the process set out in section 14.2 Negotiation process. The completed Negotiation checklist & application for authorisation to use reasonable force will be a necessary part of an application seeking authorisation to use reasonable force.

14.4 Obtaining authorisation to use reasonable force

Before reasonable force can be used to carry out an identification test, permission from an SAO must be obtained (s261AE(4)). The SAO must be a different officer to the person conducting the test s261AE(3). For Secretarial instruments see http://dimanet.immi.gov.au/DIMA\_services/policy/delegation\_and\_authorisation/m\_and\_s\_series.

The SAO must be alerted if the person has a special condition such as pregnancy, communicable disease or a heart condition. An SAO may authorise the use of reasonable force if they are reasonably satisfied that:

- the person in immigration detention is not a minor or incapable person
- all reasonable measures to carry out the identification test without the use of force have been exhausted
- the person in immigration detention continues to refuse to provide a personal identifier (NOTE: the collection of a signature cannot give rise to the use of reasonable force. See also the department's policy that only fingerprints may be collected by the use of force)
- an independent person will be present and
- the identification test will be video recorded.

The completed Negotiation checklist & application for authorisation to use reasonable force must be signed by the DSP centre manager and forwarded to the SAO. The SAO may provide authorisation by phone, fax or other electronic means. If the authorisation is not provided in writing, it must be recorded in writing by the authorising SAO within one business day after it is given.

14.5 Receipt of authorisation to use reasonable force

Once authorisation to use reasonable force is received, the person refusing to undergo the identification test will be:

- advised of that fact and
- afforded further opportunity to voluntarily undergo the identification test.

If at any stage the person cooperates or complies, the use of reasonable force ceases immediately.

14.6 Authorisation of the use of force is refused

If authorisation to use reasonable force is refused, then force must not be used.

14.7 Medical advice and examination

If authorisation to use reasonable force to collect a personal identifier has been sought, the health services manager (HSM) must be advised as soon as reasonably practicable. If force is used, the HSM will perform a medical examination on the person following the test and deliver any appropriate treatment.

14.8 Staff de-briefing

All officers present during the conduct of an identification test in which reasonable force has been used must be de-briefed by a senior DSP officer as soon as reasonably practicable, preferably before the end of their respective shifts. De-briefing sessions should be structured to provide officers with an opportunity to discuss issues and concerns arising from the identification test and associated use of reasonable force.

14.9 Recordkeeping

All associated documentation should be placed on the person's file.

FORMS

The part includes the following forms:

- Identification test checklist
- Forms 1243i and 1247i
- Legislative scripts

RELEASING PERSONS FROM IMMIGRATION DETENTION

This Part comprises:

- section 1 Purpose
- section 2 Legislative framework
- section 3 Guiding principle
- section 4 Application of this instruction
- section 5 Planning for discharge
- section 6 General discharge considerations.

1 PURPOSE

The purpose of this instruction is to provide guidance to departmental and detention service provider (DSP) officers when releasing a person from immigration detention. In this instruction the processes involved in releasing a person from immigration detention is referred to as discharging.

2 LEGISLATIVE FRAMEWORK

Section 191 of the Act (End of certain detention) provides circumstances when certain persons must be released from immigration detention.

Section 196 of the Act (Duration of detention) provides the period during which certain persons must be kept in immigration detention.

Notwithstanding the above legislative provisions, and following s189, a person in immigration detention must be released when the 'reasonable suspicion' which gave rise to their detention is no longer well-founded.

For information on the operation of detention related provisions contained in the Act see DSM Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Detention legal framework.

3 GUIDING PRINCIPLE

The guiding principles in relation to releasing a person from immigration detention are encapsulated in the DSM Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Service delivery values which state that a person in immigration detention will be treated fairly and reasonably within the law (value 6) and that conditions of immigration detention will ensure the inherent dignity of the human person (value 7). For the purpose of discharging a person from immigration detention this means that:

- immigration detention of a person is a temporary placement until an immigration outcome is achieved for that person
- a person released from immigration detention will be treated with dignity and respect and will be informed and supported during the discharge process.

4 APPLICATION OF THIS INSTRUCTION

This instruction applies to release from:

- immigration detention centres (IDCs)
- immigration residential housing (IRH)
- immigration transit accommodation (ITA) and
- alternative places of detention (APOD).

5 PLANNING FOR DISCHARGE

Each person in immigration detention should be provided with information regarding the discharge process at the beginning of their immigration detention. This may assist the person coping with the detention, their possible (re-)entry into the Australian community, or possible removal, depending on the outcome of their matters before the department.

It is departmental policy that a person being removed from Australia is given at least 48 hours notice of their removal unless authorisation has been given for a waiver of the 48 hour notification. In contrast, a person being released into the community on a visa may only have a few hours notice. These short time frames can impact on issues such as property, arrangements for the continuity of health care, the preparation and/or collection of relevant documentation, arranging community support and any farewells.

For policy and procedures see PAM3: Act - Compliance - Removal - Removal from Australia.

5.1 Reception and induction when detained in an immigration detention facility

When a person in immigration detention arrives at an immigration detention facility (IDF) they are provided with reception and induction sessions, including an induction health assessment. During these sessions, the person in immigration detention will be introduced to the possibility of being removed from Australia. In the induction phase a departmental officer will interview the person in immigration detention seeking information on their intended immigration outcome and visas applied for. During the interview the person will be informed of s198 (the removal power) of the Act.

For policy and procedures see:

- DSM Chapter 3 - Entering & leaving detention - Reception & induction
- DSM Chapter 6 - Induction health assessment.

6 GENERAL DISCHARGE CONSIDERATIONS

6.1 Duty of care

The department's duty of care ceases when a person is released from immigration detention. However, in relation to "special needs" cases, the Case Management Service must address the needs of the person and make appropriate arrangements. "Special needs" cases here are understood to be persons in immigration detention who have been identified during the client placement assessment processes as meriting special consideration as a result of identified medical, psychological or other vulnerabilities. The department has several support programs to facilitate a person into the community. For further information see section 11 Release on a visa.

For policy and procedures see:

- DSM Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles - Duty of care to persons in immigration detention
- PAM3: Act - Compliance - Removal - Removal from Australia.

For services available to a person with special needs refer to:

- Complex Case Support, for which see:
<http://www.immi.gov.au/living-in-australia/delivering-assistance/government-programs/settlement-programs/complex-case-information.pdf>
or
- the Community care pilot, for which see:
http://dimanet.immi.gov.au/DIMA\_services/compliance/5\_0/case\_management\_handbook/8\_external\_providers\_agencies/8\_1\_ccp

6.2 Farewells

A person who has been in immigration detention for even a small amount of time may have formed friendships and relationships with other persons in immigration detention, DSP staff, health care provider staff and departmental staff. Although they may have only a short period of time to prepare to leave immigration detention, the person should be given the opportunity to say goodbye to their friends.

6.3 Property

All property of a person who is permanently leaving immigration detention must be returned to them, with the exception of illegal items.

For policy and procedures see DSM Chapter 3 - Entering & leaving detention - Personal property.

6.4 Purchasing allowance scheme (PAS) points

A person in an IDCs who has accumulated PAS points should be allowed the opportunity to use their PAS points at the IDC shop prior to release.

Note: If the person in immigration detention is still holding points under the previous Merit Point system they will need to have these points cashed out on release.

For policy and procedures see DSM Chapter 5 - Welfare - Purchasing allowance scheme.

6.5 Clothing

Appropriate clothing for the journey and destination must be provided by the DSP to a person being discharged on a visa, removed or deported from immigration detention if their own clothing is insufficient. The clothing must be clean and in good condition and appropriate to the destination. Underwear, including socks, must be new and new shoes will be provided if required.

ROLES & RESPONSIBILITIES

This Part comprises:

- section 7 The department
- section 8 Detention services provider \(DSP\).

7 THE DEPARTMENT

7.1 Notification of an immigration decision

Notification of an immigration decision will be organised and carried out by the relevant area of the department, in accordance with their procedures and any legal requirements relating to the decision. It is also their responsibility to provide notification of the decision to all relevant areas of the department involved in the management of the person in immigration detention.

For policy and procedures see:

- DSM Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Notifying persons in immigration detention of immigration decisions
- PAM3: Act - Notification - Notification requirements.

7.2 The regional manager

The discharge advice to the regional manager, Community and Detention Operations, may be done orally but must be recorded in the department's Compliance Case Management Detention and Settlement (CCMDS) Portal. It is the role of the regional manager or their delegate after being informed by the appropriate visa area to authorise the discharge of the person in immigration detention and to notify the person in immigration detention. The regional manager or their delegate must notify the DSP as soon as possible that a person is to be discharged and on what grounds. The regional manager or their delegate provides a hard copy of the discharge order to the DSP to confirm the discharge and this is added to the file on the person in immigration detention. The department must also notify the health services manager as soon as practicable to arrange for a discharge health assessment to be conducted.

These documents are held in PAM3: Act - Compliance - NCOI - General detention procedures - Pro formas - Release order.

It is the role of the regional manager or their delegate to document the discharge details and procedures in the CCMDS Portal.

7.3 Advising family and community groups of impending discharge

The person in immigration detention may request departmental staff to contact another person/s outside the immigration detention facility (IDF) such as family or appropriate community groups informing them of the person's impending release.

7.4 Departmental case manager

In the case of (re-) entry into the Australian community, depending on the type of visa granted to the person, the case manager from the relevant state or territory office may assist in the transition of the person from immigration detention to the community by:

- ensuring that they are informed about what will be happening
- ensuring that they are linked into a local community group or religious group or into Community care pilot transition support arrangements for Victoria and New South Wales so that they have appropriate support on their discharge from immigration detention where appropriate
- ensuring that the relevant departmental stakeholders (that is, Integrated Humanitarian Settlement Strategy - IHSS in the case of a 202 visa grant) are informed as soon as possible and

- informing the department's regional manager of any concerns about the post-release welfare of the person being discharged from immigration detention.

Health services manager

Upon notification from the department, the health services manager will arrange for an appropriate health care provider to offer a discharge health assessment.

A person in immigration detention is examined by an appropriate health care provider, who will determine the person's health status prior to their release from immigration detention, certify their fitness to travel if travelling by aircraft and provide a health discharge summary.

Further information can be found in DSM Chapter 6 - Detention health - Discharge health assessment, which also includes details on medical escort arrangements, medication supply and continuity of care following a person's release from immigration detention.

8 DETENTION SERVICES PROVIDER (DSP)

The DSP will act as soon as possible on notification from the regional manager of a person to be discharged from immigration detention. The DSP will complete the discharge process and arrange for escorts if required to remove a person from Australia. For further information on the DSP role see:

- section 10.1 Discharge - DSP role
- section 12.2 Discharge for removal from Australia
- section 13 Discharge for deportation.

THE DISCHARGE PROCESS

This Part comprises:

- section 9 Airport turnarounds
- section 10 Discharge from IDCs, IRH or ITA
- section 11 Release on a visa
- section 12 Discharge for removal
- section 13 Discharge for deportation.

9 AIRPORT TURNAROUNDS

A person who is detained at an airport as an unlawful non-citizen must be removed from Australia as soon as practical. If there is a delay of some days before they can be removed, a Preliminary Client Placement Assessment must be completed before accommodation in the most appropriate detention location/facility can be granted.

If a person is in immigration detention for less than 72 hours it is not a requirement for them to be given a fitness to travel certification. This is assessed on a case by case basis because if someone is showing signs or symptoms of having health issues then a health assessment should be conducted and fitness to fly certification sought. All other discharge processes are the same as for a person to be removed - see section 12 Discharge for removal.

For policy and procedure see DSM Chapter 2 - Client placement - Client placement model.

10 DISCHARGE FROM IDCs, IRH OR ITA

The discharge process for a person leaving IDFs should include the following steps:

- a. departmental staff working in an IDF receive notice and relevant documentation of a substantive immigration outcome for a person in immigration detention
- b. departmental staff provide the person in immigration detention with the decision documentation and provide them with the opportunity to ask questions, contact support networks and seek further advice
- c. departmental staff provide written discharge authorisation to the DSP
- d. the person in immigration detention is assessed by an onsite health care provider at the IDC or ITA, or by a local community general practitioner if placed in an IRH
- e. discharge preparations are conducted by the DSP (see section 10.1 Discharge - DSP role)
- f. the above steps must be recorded in departmental systems.

10.1 Discharge - DSP role

When notified by the department, the DSP must prepare the person in immigration detention for discharge from an IDF by:

- confirming the identity of the person in immigration detention matches that in the department's discharge documentation
- confirming the department's discharge documentation is complete and has been properly authorised
- ensuring the person in immigration detention has been provided with clothing appropriate to the journey and destination climate where necessary
- ensuring all personal belongings (except illegal items) are returned to the person; this may involve assisting the person to pack for removal (including explaining relevant airline limitations on excess luggage)

- ensuring that departmental system records for the person in immigration detention are up-to-date and
- ensuring that the physical records held by the DSP of the person in immigration detention are up-to-date and transferred to the department's regional manager within 24 hours of the discharge.

For policy and procedures see DSM Chapter 3 - Entering & leaving detention - Personal property.

10.2 Discharge from APOD

The process of discharging a person in immigration detention who was placed in an APOD will be the same as described in section 10.1 Discharge - DSP role, however, as the person is not in a facility, they will be offered a physical discharge health assessment by a health care provider authorised by the health services manager.

For policy and procedures see: DSM Chapter 6 - Detention health - Discharge health assessment.

11 RELEASE ON A VISA

A person granted a substantive visa may be entitled to post-release assistance from the department. This assistance can be in the form of rental, living and medical costs assistance.

Depending on the visa subclass, a person granted a humanitarian visa may be eligible to access services under the IHSS. These services include a package of household goods, information and orientation to the new community, assistance in finding accommodation and accessing mainstream services such as Centrelink and Medicare.

Humanitarian visa holders (subclass 202) often have support in the community, but may be eligible for some of the above settlement services. Protection visa holders may be eligible for torture and trauma counselling services.

For information on IHSS and the services available for eligible clients, see:

- GenGuide D - Humanitarian visas (offshore & onshore) - The offshore humanitarian program - Post-arrival services
- Fact sheet 66 - Integrated Humanitarian Settlement Strategy.

When a person has been granted a visa they become a lawful non-citizen and are therefore not required to be escorted. The department's role in such circumstances is to assist the person to move into the community. The department should:

- book temporary accommodation if required (for example, in a hostel or motel) and provide transport to that accommodation
- issue a temporary living allowance to the person when they are released (see section 11.1 Temporary living allowance)
- transport the person to an airport if required
- have the person met at the destination point if the person has travelled interstate (capital cities only). If the person is being met by a contact at the destination, the department does not need to accompany the person to their new accommodation and
- refer the person to IHSS (email: IHSS@immi.gov.au) as soon as possible, in cases where a humanitarian visa is granted.

For a person with special needs refer to Complex Case Support, for which see:

- <http://www.immi.gov.au/living-in-australia/delivering-assistance/government-programs/settlement-programs/complex-case-information.pdf>

For persons in the Community care pilot see:

- http://dimanet.immi.gov.au/DIMA\_services/compliance/5\_0/case\_management\_handbook/8\_external\_providers\_agencies/8\_1\_ccp

11.1 Temporary living allowance

A person in immigration detention is assessed by departmental officers as to the amount of funds they have to support themselves on release into the community. Each person discharged is given a taxi fare and a person without funds is given between AUD 220 and AUD 300 for meals and incidentals depending on the level of support available to them in the community.

For policy and procedures see DSM Chapter 2 - Client placement - Community detention.

11.2 Lawful non-citizen not wishing to leave immigration detention

The department cannot accommodate lawful non-citizens in IDFs.

In the event that a person granted a visa does not wish to leave the IDF, it is recommended that departmental staff:

- discuss with the person the options available to them
- offer to arrange for the person to speak with a professional regarding their concerns and
- assist the person to find short term accommodation in a hotel/motel/hostel or similar accommodation for a short period of time (the time period is to be decided by the regional manager. The decision is discretionary and made on a case by case basis).

12 DISCHARGE FOR REMOVAL

12.1 Preparation for removal

Each person in immigration detention will have been advised, when they were detained, of the department's obligation to remove them in certain circumstances. The department is required by law to ensure that the person in immigration detention is aware of their impending removal from Australia.

A person who is being removed after having their residence determination revoked by the Minister may be returned to an IDF for a short period to allow for the preparation of their removal. The discharge process, including records management, for these persons will be the same as for other persons being removed from a facility. For policy and procedures see PAM3: Act - Compliance - Removal - Removal from Australia.

12.2 Discharge for removal from Australia

Further to section 10.1 Discharge - DSP role, when notified by the department that a person in immigration detention is being removed, the DSP must:

- ensure a valid discharge health assessment certification (from a physical examination conducted in the last 28 days) for the person in immigration detention from the health services manager (for airport turnarounds see section 9 Airport turnarounds)
- update the security risk assessment of the person in immigration detention before removal and complete the DSP Assessment for air travel and
- organise packing and weighing of the property of the person being removed.

For policy and procedures see:

- DSM Chapter 6 - Detention health - Discharge health assessment
- DSM Chapter 3 - Entering & leaving detention - Personal property.

12.3 Destitute allowance

The destitute allowance is discretionary and managed by the Returns and Removals Program Support Section, National Office. The allowance is calculated at a rate sufficient to get the person home to their usual place of residence. For illegal foreign fishers the allowance is organised through the department's Darwin office.

For policy and procedures see PAM3: Act - Compliance - Removal - Removal from Australia.

13 DISCHARGE FOR DEPORTATION

Persons who are being deported from Australia may be detained in an IDF to assist the deportation. Further to section 10.1 Discharge - DSP role the following steps need to be carried out. The person in immigration detention must:

- have their travel documentation confirmed
- be positively identified against their travel documents if they are to be deported
- have a valid discharge health assessment (from a physical examination conducted in the last 28 days)
- undergo a 'pat down' search and screening if they are being escorted
- have their baggage, including carry-on baggage, searched.

For policy and procedures see:

- DSM Chapter 8 - Safety & security - Searches of persons in immigration detention
- DSM Chapter 8 - Safety & security - Screening of persons in immigration detention
- PAM3: Act - Compliance - Removal - Removal from Australia.

BACKGROUND

This part comprises:

- section 1 Purpose
- section 2 Guiding principle
- section 3 Roles and responsibilities
- section 4 Support for persons who receive news that may adversely affect them.

1 Purpose

This policy instruction provides guidance on access to communication services such as telephone, mobile phone, facsimile, photocopying and mail to ensure that people in immigration detention facilities (IDFs) are able to communicate freely with family members, friends, community contacts, legal or consular representatives and other organisations or individuals.

2 Guiding principle

The guiding principle in relation to access to communication services in IDFs is encapsulated in DSM -Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Service delivery values which states that persons in immigration detention will be treated fairly and reasonably within the law and that conditions of immigration detention will ensure the inherent dignity of the human person. For the provision of communication services in IDFs this means that persons in immigration detention:

- are encouraged to maintain reasonable contact with their family, friends and community contacts
- are entitled to communicate with external scrutiny bodies including the Australian Human Rights Commission (AHRC) and the Commonwealth Ombudsman's Office
- will be informed during induction about accessing the telephone, facsimile, mail and photocopying services
- will be afforded the same level of privacy when communicating externally as they would have in the community. Neither the Detention Services Provider (DSP) nor the department may record, intercept, read, copy or otherwise listen to a person's communication without their explicit invitation. It is a legislative requirement of the Human Rights and Equal Opportunity Commission Act 1986 (s20(6)) that persons in immigration detention can correspond with the Commission without their correspondence being opened
- will be given reasonable access to communication services unless it presents a serious safety or security concern
- will have explained to them, in a language in which they are reasonably fluent, arrangements for access to all communication services, using an interpreter and translated documents where necessary. See DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Translating & interpreting services.

3 Roles and responsibilities

3.1 DSP

The DSP is responsible for:

- looking after normal communication services of a facility including the provision and maintenance of fully functioning landline telephones, facsimile machines, photocopying machines, mail services and adequate supplies of paper and toner for the external communication needs of persons in IDFs
- informing all persons residing in or visiting a facility, about their access to communication services
- notifying the department about any problems with the communication systems
- implementing a booking system for all persons in immigration detention to access telephones, facsimiles and other communication services, if this is necessary due to high demand for these services

- ensuring that all persons in immigration detention receive their correspondence personally and in a timely manner
- keeping at each facility a register of all mail and facsimiles received
- respecting and protecting a person's privacy when they are using communication services.

See also section 10 DSP responsibilities.

3.2 The department

The department retains ultimate responsibility for the following:

- facilitating efficient communication between a person in immigration detention and legal representatives (see DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Access to legal representation) and consular representatives (see DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Consular access in immigration detention), review tribunals and other official visitors including external scrutiny bodies
- deciding and applying restrictions on access to communication services by a person in immigration detention where there is a clearly documented need. For example, due to serious individual health and safety concerns or for reasons of security
- managing access by persons in immigration detention to mobile phones
- providing fair and reasonable access to the communication services covered by this policy instruction for persons in immigration detention who do not have the resources to pay for those services themselves
- managing access to communication services for persons who are in border screening detention (see DSM Chapter 2 - Client placement - Border screening detention)
- ensuring mail and other items delivered to an IDF are not withheld without reasonable cause (for example, due to safety or security concerns)
- ensuring that rights to privacy are upheld
- working with the DSP to ensure the communication requirements of persons in IDFs are met and
- providing support for persons in immigration detention who receive news that may adversely affect them and impact on their wellbeing - see DSM - Chapter 5 - Welfare - Notifying persons in immigration detention of immigration decisions.

4 Support for persons who receive news that may adversely affect them

Persons who receive advice that may adversely affect them through the mail or through other communication services provided at an IDF must be provided with appropriate support. Examples of news that may adversely affect a person include, but are not limited to:

- decisions relating to immigration status
- personal news, such as a death in the family.

See DSM - Chapter 5 - Welfare - Notifying persons in immigration detention of immigration decisions.

ACCESS TO TELEPHONES

This part comprises:

- section 5 Landlines
- section 6 Mobile phones.

5 Landlines

Subject to restrictions that apply to persons held in border screening detention (see DSM Chapter 2 - Client placement - Border screening detention), persons in IDFs can:

- make personal telephone calls on communal telephones. Local calls can be made at no cost. International and mobile phone calls are made at the person in immigration detention's own cost. Persons in detention are able to make these calls using their phone cards
- receive incoming telephone calls at all times. If a person is unable to receive a call, the officer who receives the call must maintain the privacy of the person by not confirming the presence of the person in the facility, and must inform the person of the call as soon as practicable (preferably by way of a written message). Where public address systems are used to alert persons to incoming calls, care should be taken to minimise disruption to other persons in detention
- communicate with the Commonwealth Ombudsman's Office, AHRC, the Australian Red Cross, family members, legal or consular representative in relation to an immigration matter, at no cost and
- purchase phone cards of varying denominations from the DSP operated Centre Shop or Canteen.

6 Mobile phones

6.1 Background

The current policy for persons in immigration detention differs depending on how they entered Australia, that is, the policy for IMAs is different from that for non-IMAs.

6.2 Persons (other than IMAs) in IDFs

Persons in IDFs who possess mobile phones are able to use them with the following provisos:

- the mobile phone must not have recording capabilities such as camera, audio, video; or internet access functions. See DSM - Chapter 8 - Safety & security - Items not permitted within immigration detention. Mobile phones with this capability are to be placed in property storage while the person is in immigration detention
- persons possessing mobile phones should be discouraged from sharing their use with others in immigration detention.

6.3 IMAs in IDFs

Under policy:

- IMAs cannot use mobile phones in IDFs. If an IMA possesses a mobile phone it is to be placed in property storage while the person is in immigration detention
- IMAs are not to be given a mobile phone by a departmental or Serco staff member
- IMAs are to be informed of the policy and asked to surrender a mobile phone that may have been given to them from a visitor.

6.4 All persons entering an IDF, including visitors

The DSP should check that all persons entering an IDF, including visitors:

- have their mobile phones with recording capabilities placed in storage and returned on exiting the IDF
- have the same phone on exit as they did on entry.

ACCESS TO FAX MACHINES

7 Access to fax machines

Subject to restrictions that apply to persons held in border screening detention (see DSM Chapter 2 - Client placement - Border screening detention), persons in IDFs should generally be able to receive and send faxes irrespective of the destination, place of origin or time differences at no cost to themselves.

All fax use (both incoming and outgoing) facilitated by the DSP and the department will be noted on the DSP Facsimile Register or other appropriate recordkeeping documents.

Sending a fax

Faxes should be sent on behalf of persons in IDFs either by a departmental or a DSP officer during business hours. If necessary, provision should be made to fax outside business hours if there is a critical or time-sensitive need (for example, in the preparation of a legal case or to make arrangements to leave an IDF).

When a person in an IDF sends a personal fax, they will be required to complete a DSP Request Form. Translating and interpreting services should be provided where necessary (see DSM Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Translating & interpreting services).

In cases where a fax cannot be sent within an hour of receipt by the DSP, the DSP should record the reason for the delay and provide that advice to the sender. This is particularly important where the fax relates to immigration pathway events or decisions. Alternative arrangements should be made for sending time sensitive faxes to courts and tribunals if problems are encountered in transmission (for example, faxing from a local post office).

When a fax has been sent, the person will be given a copy of the transmission report.

If a document is over 30 pages long and is not urgent, the person should be encouraged to post the document through the mail. If a document is not faxed, the officer should discuss this with the sender and record the reasons the document was not sent.

Receiving a fax

The DSP will:

- identify a designated fax number at each facility which will be available to receive messages 24 hours a day
- receive, sort, envelope and deliver incoming faxes to persons in the IDF during business hours
- refrain from reading any information contained in the fax other than the name of the recipient
- deliver the next calendar day faxes received outside core business hours
- deliver any fax marked as URGENT and received outside core business hours, as soon as possible and so as not to disturb others.

If a departmental officer receives a fax for a person held in an IDF the officer will place the fax in an envelope and as soon as possible pass it onto the DSP for registration and delivery. Each person is required to sign for the faxes they receive.

ACCESS TO PHOTOCOPYING SERVICES

8 Access to photocopying services

A person in immigration detention can photocopy documents free of charge which:

- are not listed on the items not permitted in IDFs list (see DSM - Chapter 8 - Safety & security - Items not permitted in IDFs) or other relevant policies
- comply with relevant copyright legislation
- comply with requirements relating to personal photographs - see:
  - DSM - Chapter 3 - Entering & leaving detention - Induction and
  - DSM - Chapter 5 - Welfare - Personal photographs.

Copies of documents relating to immigration pathway events or decisions can be made free of charge.

ACCESS TO MAIL

This part comprises:

- section 9 Access to mail - general
- section 10 DSP responsibilities
- section 11 E-mail
- section 12 Access to mail - safety and security
- section 13 Receiving money or valuables through the post.

9 Access to mail - general

9.1 Background

No limit will be placed on the number of letters that a person in an IDF can receive or send at their own expense.

The DSP will collect from and deliver all mail to Australia Post each business day.

Persons in immigration detention may ask visitors to mail items on their behalf. There are no restrictions placed around visiting third parties taking receipt of items to be mailed on behalf of persons in immigration detention when they have been requested to do so.

If community organisations (including advocacy groups) or individuals in the community wish to correspond with persons in immigration detention, they can only do so if they already have the name and address details of a person in immigration detention. In that case they are free to address mail to that recipient.

In instances where intending correspondents do not have the name of the person in detention, for privacy reasons it would be inappropriate for the department to provide these. What intending correspondents can do is address mail to the DSP in the respective IDF. If such correspondence relates to a proposed visit or the provision of certain services, and these are not in contravention of the broader policy on visits (see DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Visitors & entry to immigration detention facilities) or other relevant DSM policy settings, then the DSP may convey the contents of such correspondence to persons in immigration detention. It will then be for the persons in immigration detention to decide if they wish to consent to whatever the correspondent is proposing.

9.2 Sending mail

Writing paper, envelopes and stamps will be available for purchase through the Centre Shop or Canteen.

If a person sends a personal item through the mail, which has previously been registered as personal property with the DSP, the item will be taken off the property register in accordance with DSM Chapter 3 - Entering & leaving detention - Personal property.

The details of all mail received unsealed or in poor condition should be recorded by the DSP and provided to the relevant Regional Manager - Detention Services and the addressee.

9.3 Receiving mail

At no time should staff of the department or the DSP open, withhold or read letters to, or from, persons in IDFs except at the express invitation of the addressee or where there are safety or security concerns (see section 12 Access to mail - safety and security).

If mail is received for a person who is no longer residing in the facility, an officer of the department will forward the mail unopened to the addressee or where applicable, their authorised representative. If this is not possible, the mail will be returned to the sender.

10 DSP responsibilities

The DSP will:

- distribute all mail, unopened, on the day it is received in the centre, unless the addressee is in border screening detention (see DSM Chapter 2 - Client placement - Border screening detention), or there are safety and security concerns about the mail, (see section 12 Access to mail - safety and security)
- encourage a person who receives items through the mail to register these as 'in-possession' property on the person's Property Receipt Form (Form 41)
- only deliver mail to the addressee. If the addressee is unable to accept the mail this will be recorded and the mail held until the person is able to accept their mail and
- notify the relevant Regional Manager - Detention Services when a person in immigration detention receives any correspondence from the Refugee Review Tribunal or the Migration Review Tribunal.

Mail which is not addressed to a specific person or group of persons in immigration detention (for example, post cards) can be displayed in a common area, if the content of the mail does not cause offence or affect the security and good order of the facility.

11 E-mail

For e-mail communications see DSM Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Access to computer and internet services in IDFs.

12 Access to mail - safety and security

12.1 Items that pose a risk

Mailed items that pose a health, safety or security risk to the facility, include:

- any item, the possession of which is illegal (for example, illicit drugs)
- a weapon or an implement that could be used to aid escape (for example, a knife) or
- any item, that appears on the items not permitted in IDFs list (see DSM Chapter 8 - Safety and security - Items not permitted in IDFs).

Suspicion that an item may pose a risk to the facility could be based on the following criteria:

- the DSP has received intelligence from another party that a dangerous item has been mailed to a facility
- the shape or outline of a piece of mail indicates that it may contain an illegal or dangerous item
- the sound, smell or physical appearance of the mail suggests it contains a suspicious item and/or
- screening procedures, applicable in IDCs only, indicate that the mail contains a suspicious item. See DSM Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Screening and inspection powers - Entry to immigration detention centres.

Items suspected of posing a risk to the facility should be dealt with as follows:

- the article should be separated from other mail being delivered
- the matter should be reported immediately to the relevant Regional Manager, Detention Services and
- an incident report and/or report to the duty officer in National Office should be generated
- the addressee advised and action taken in accordance with section 12.2 Dealing with items that may present a risk to the facility and section 12.3 Dealing with suspected illegal, dangerous or hazardous items.

12.2 Dealing with items that may present a risk to the facility

If a mailed item is suspected of presenting a risk to the facility but its possession is lawful (for example alcohol), the addressee must be informed that they have received an item that is suspected of presenting a risk to the facility and advised that:

- they will be asked to open the mail in front of a DSP and departmental officer
- they have the right to refuse to open their mail (see section 12.5 When a person does not consent to opening mail)

- if they do not consent to the mail being opened, then the following procedures may apply:
  - the DSP may put the mail into secure storage which the addressee can retrieve when they leave the facility
  - the DSP officer may choose to open the mail without the addressee's consent (see section 12.5 When a person does not consent to opening mail) and
  - if items are found that breach Federal, state or territory laws, the police will be involved.

Once the addressee has been advised of the above, they should be asked if they wish to have a support/independent person present. If the person is a minor they should be accompanied by their parent or guardian. An interpreter should be used if necessary.

12.3 Dealing with suspected illegal, dangerous or hazardous items

If there is a suspicion or a discovery that the mail contains items that are illegal, dangerous or hazardous, the following action should be taken:

- the police and appropriate emergency services should be informed and requested to take possession of the item
- in the meantime, the item must be handled in accordance with any police advice, until the relevant emergency services arrive
- the DSP should take the advice of the police as to whether to inform the person in immigration detention about the mailed item
- all hazardous or dangerous items should be handled in accordance with the appropriate Occupational Health and Safety guidelines.

12.4 When a person consents to opening mail

If the person consents to opening mail they must either:

- open it in full view of the DSP and departmental officers or
- permit a DSP officer to open the mail.

If the person has opened their own mail then a DSP officer may initially only visually inspect the contents of the mail. The DSP officer may only physically inspect the contents of the mail if they have been given permission by the addressee to open the mail or they have seen an item that presents a safety or security concern.

The officer's discretion should be used when inspecting an item to ensure the person's privacy is maintained. The officer should not attempt to read any letters, notes or other messages that may be included in the mail.

If inappropriate items are not found in the mail, the items should be recorded on Form 41 Property Receipt and the person should be allowed to return to their accommodation with their belongings. The incident must be recorded appropriately.

If inappropriate items are found they should be dealt with in accordance with legal requirements and DSM Chapter 3 - Entering & leaving detention - Personal property.

12.5 When a person does not consent to opening mail

If the person does not consent to opening mail, the DSP officer should reassess the risk of the mail on the basis of:

- the nature of the item believed to be in the mail
- possible consequences if the item is allowed into the facility
- possible consequences if the mail is not opened and
- any discussions the department, the DSP and the person have had about the nature of the mail.

If the DSP officer still has concerns that the item may be inappropriate but does not present an immediate safety and security risk to the facility, they may give the person up to 24 hours to reconsider opening the mail in front of them. During this time the mail should be placed in confiscated in-trust storage and the person informed that the item is in storage.

If the person does not give consent to open the mail following the 24 hour period and it is believed the item does not present an immediate safety and security risk to the facility then the DSP should place the mail in confiscated in-trust storage, which the person may retrieve when they leave the facility. The person to whom the mail is addressed should be given a property receipt for the item and the incident should be recorded.

If the item is considered to be a serious or imminent threat to the safety and security of the facility, a joint decision will be made between the DSP Manager and the relevant Regional Manager, Detention Services as to whether the mail is to be opened. In making this decision ALL of the following conditions are to be met:

1. The DSP officer has well-founded reasons to suspect that, even in secure storage, the item presents a serious and imminent threat to the safety and security of the facility.
2. There are reasonable indicators of this risk (see reasons to suspect mail above).
3. Opening the mail would be a fair and reasonable act to ensure the safety and security of the facility.
4. The person to whom the mail is addressed has been given every reasonable opportunity to open their own mail.
5. All other reasonable options to find out the contents of the mail have been exhausted.

The decision should be appropriately recorded and the person informed of the decision and given a final opportunity to open the mail. Any action taken by the DSP Officer should be in the presence of:

- a departmental officer
- the addressee and
- if requested by the addressee, an independent/support person.

All action taken in relation to mail suspected of presenting a risk to the facility must be fully documented.

The DSP may also choose to video record the incident, to ensure a visual record is maintained. The decision to video record the incident and the reasoning on which it was based must be recorded in writing. See DSM Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Audio-visual recording of persons in immigration detention.

13 Receiving money or valuables through the post

Monies or valuables received through the post for a person in an IDF should be managed in accordance with DSM Chapter 3 - Entering & leaving detention - Personal property.

TRANSLATING & INTERPRETING SERVICES

14 Translating & interpreting services

All information provided to persons in IDFs under this instruction (oral and written) should be provided in a language that the person understands - either through translating important documents or by providing interpreters. This is particularly important in situations where persons in detention are asked to agree to a specific course of action (for example, when providing consent to open their mail in front of an officer from the DSP or the department). See DSM Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Translating & interpreting services.

VISITORS

15 Visitors

Visitors should generally not have access to communication services supplied by the department and the DSP except where they are:

- visiting under the IAAAS scheme - see DSM Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - IAAAS checklist.
- visiting in a professional capacity and have negotiated access through the department or the DSP Manager (for example, the Australian Red Cross) or it is a reasonable requirement of their visit (for example, legal representatives) - see DSM Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Access to legal representation or
- given permission by a departmental or DSP officer.

For policy and procedure on the items visitors can bring into an IDF see DSM Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Visitors & entry to immigration detention facilities.

Chapter 4 - Communications & visits

Translating & interpreting services

IMPORTANT NOTICE

Minors require immediate attention to ensure their best interests are considered.

Particular care should be taken for the delivery of appropriate translating and interpreting services where minors are concerned. For example, cultural sensitivities should be observed (where appropriate and subject to available services).

In the case of minors, officers should implement translation and interpreting services whenever there is any doubt about the minor's level of English proficiency.

- section 2 Guiding principles
- section 3 Persons to whom this instruction applies.

1 PURPOSE

The purpose of this instruction is to outline the responsibilities of the department, the detention services provider (DSP) and the health service manager (HSM) to use translating and interpreting services when communicating with persons in immigration detention who are not proficient in English. This will assist persons in immigration detention from diverse cultural and linguistic backgrounds to:

- be informed about issues related to their immigration status
- use services and programs appropriate to their needs and
- participate equitably in appropriate aspects of their detention.

2 GUIDING PRINCIPLES

The guiding principles in relation to access to translating and interpreting services in immigration detention are encapsulated in DSM Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Service delivery values which states that persons in immigration detention will be treated fairly and reasonably within the law, have access to appropriate services and that conditions of immigration detention will ensure the inherent dignity of the human person. For the provision of translating and interpreting services this means that the department, the DSP and the HSM will work with persons in immigration detention to ensure that they are:

- provided with current, accurate and comprehensive information relevant to their detention in a language and in terms they understand
- assisted by interpreters to facilitate effective, timely and open communication.

When an interpreter is required the Translating and Interpreting Service (TIS) National should be contacted in the first instance (see section 10 Immediate and pre-booked telephone interpreters and section 12 Booking an on-site interpreter). In the rare circumstance where TIS National cannot provide an interpreter for the language or dialect required, an interpreter from another provider should be sought.

Irregular maritime arrivals (IMAs)

If an interpreter is required in relation to irregular maritime arrivals (IMAs) in detention, TIS National will arrange the interpreters in all circumstances, including through sourcing interpreters externally. TIS National normally should be approached through the IMA Section, National Office. In the first instance, TIS National will supply the interpreter from their own resources or from an external interpreting agency contracted to supply interpreters on behalf of the department. Under no circumstances should external agencies be directly approached in relation to IMA interpreting without reference to TIS National first.

3 PERSONS TO WHOM THIS INSTRUCTION APPLIES

This instruction applies to departmental, DSP and HSM staff who communicate with persons in immigration detention who are not proficient in English. This instruction also applies to staff when dealing with visitors to persons in immigration detention facilities.

ROLES & RESPONSIBILITIES

This part comprises:

- section 4 The department
- section 5 DSP
- section 6 HSM
- section 7 The interpreter.

4 THE DEPARTMENT

The department is responsible for:

- informing the person, when they arrive at an immigration detention facility, or are placed in community detention, that interpreting services are available to them if required
- using the most effective form of interpreting and translating services when communicating with persons in immigration detention who are not proficient in English
- ensuring where possible that the interpreter is acceptable to the person involved (particularly in relation to sex, religious and ethnic preference)
- ensuring that specific requirements of minors are addressed
- making information about interpreting accessible to staff and ensuring that relevant staff are aware of the guidelines for communication using an interpreter (see section 13 Guidelines for communication using an interpreter) and
- making information about interpreting services available to the Australian Red Cross (ARC) to facilitate their communication with persons in community detention and for the information of persons in community detention.

5 DSP

The DSP is responsible for:

- assessing the understanding of and ability to communicate in English for each person in immigration detention
- arranging an interpreter, when necessary, for those who cannot communicate adequately in English (see section 9 Situations when an interpreter is necessary)
- ensuring where possible that the interpreter is acceptable to the person involved (particularly in relation to sex, religious or ethnic preference)
- ensuring that specific requirement of minors are addressed
- ensuring DSP staff and persons in immigration detention are aware of how to access interpreting services if required
- installing equipment such as conference or speaker phones to facilitate telephone interpreting
- making information about interpreting accessible to staff and ensuring that relevant staff are aware of the guidelines for communication using an interpreter, (see section 13 Guidelines for communication using an interpreter)
- making written information available in appropriate languages
- collecting information about language use from persons in immigration detention and
- recording information about interpreter use in the provision of services.

6 HSM

The HSM is responsible for:

- arranging an interpreter for health appointments, when necessary, for those who cannot communicate adequately in English
- ensuring where possible that the interpreter is acceptable to the person involved (particularly in relation to sex, religious and ethnic preference)
- ensuring that specific requirements of minors are addressed
- making information about interpreting accessible to staff and ensuring that relevant staff are aware of the guidelines for communication using an interpreter, (see section 13 Guidelines for communication using an interpreter)

- ensuring that information provided to persons in immigration detention on the range of health services available to them and how to access these services is available in appropriate languages and
- recording information about interpreter use in the provision of services.

7 THE INTERPRETER

The role of the interpreter is to facilitate communication between persons of different languages. All interpreters provided by either TIS National or external interpreting agencies are bound by the Australian Institute of Interpreters and Translators (AUSIT) professional code of ethics, which (among other duties) requires them to interpret accurately while maintaining impartiality and confidentiality. It is not the role of the interpreter to provide direct counselling or advice to the person in immigration detention, nor to provide cultural or linguistic advice to immigration staff.

PROCEDURES

This part comprises:

- section 8 When an interpreter is required
- section 9 Situations when an interpreter is necessary
- section 10 Immediate and pre-booked telephone interpreters
- section 11 Facilitating telephone interpreter interviews
- section 12 Booking an on-site interpreter
- section 13 Guidelines for communication using an interpreter
- section 14 Translation of documents and signs
- section 15 Who pays for interpreting or translating services?

8 WHEN AN INTERPRETER IS REQUIRED

TIS National will provide professional interpreters. Where possible, it will provide interpreters who are accredited or recognised by the National Accreditation Authority for Translators and Interpreters Ltd (NAATI). Interpreters referred to in this instruction are professional interpreters, whether or not they are NAATI accredited or recognised interpreters.

Interpreters should be used for all formal communication with persons in immigration detention who are not proficient in English or who request that an interpreter be used. Interpreting services should also be used so that all persons in immigration detention facilities are:

- able to effectively participate in day-to-day life at a detention facility including being able to access all programs and services available to them
- able to share information in an accessible and consultative manner, for example, in consultative meetings/forums and
- provided with clear explanations of procedures and decisions that affect them.

Persons placed in community detention should be able to participate effectively in the Australian community and may require interpreting services to facilitate their understanding of, and access to, appropriate medical, social, religious, cultural and educational supports. The ARC plays an important role in supporting the welfare needs of persons in community detention, and is responsible for ensuring that interpreting services are engaged where necessary to facilitate communication and welfare supports to enable them to live independently in the community.

When communicating with members of the public (including friends and family of persons in immigration detention and community organisations) the same broad principles apply - interpreting services must be used when an assessment is made that the person receiving a service from the department may be disadvantaged as a consequence of their lack of English proficiency or when they have requested the use of an interpreter.

Staff who have bilingual skills (including those who are NAATI accredited/recognised interpreters), other persons in immigration detention or family/friends of persons in immigration detention should not be used as interpreters for formal communication except in cases of extreme urgency, until professional language assistance can be arranged.

Staff and other persons in immigration detention may be used as interpreters for informal communication such as providing advice on sporting, recreational and cultural events.

9 SITUATIONS WHEN AN INTERPRETER IS NECESSARY

A professional interpreter (ideally, where available one who is NAATI accredited/recognised) must be used in the following situations for persons who are not proficient in English: these include but are not limited to:

- interviews
- reception and induction processes, including the health induction assessment
- discharge procedures, including the health discharge assessment
- screening and search procedures including searches of a person's room
- briefing and advising a person in immigration detention

- advising changes to detention facility routines
- on receipt of an official letter regarding immigration status or medical, judicial or law enforcement issues
- addressing complaints and requests
- assessments and development of all plans and agreements with the person in immigration detention
- Client Consultative Committee meetings
- discussions seeking consent for legal matters or visits
- informing persons in immigration detention of results of investigations and procedures
- providing health services, including mental health assessment and treatment
- removal and transfers from immigration detention facilities
- counselling
- situations involving suspected sexual assault and emotional abuse or child abuse
- at the request of a person in immigration detention
- where there is any doubt about a person's ability to comprehend or express themselves in English
- when a person has basic competence in English, but may not possess the English language skills required to engage in conversations involving complicated, technical, or highly emotive material and
- when a person under stress temporarily loses his/her capacity to communicate fluently in English (this can happen in situations similar to those identified above).

Even if a person has some English skills, they may still require an interpreter for more complex communication. If in doubt, arrange an interpreter.

If a person in immigration detention declines the use of an interpreter, it should be noted on their file that an interpreter was offered, that the person declined to use an interpreter and any reasons the person gave for not wanting to use an interpreter.

Where there is a large population of persons in an immigration detention facility from a single language group, employment of on-site interpreters should be considered. The Regional Manager, should make the decision whether to employ an on-site interpreter. This decision is made on a needs basis at facility level and should be agreed between the department and DSP management. For example, if there is a cohesive caseload of a single language group, the DSP may contract an on-site interpreter to support operations.

10 IMMEDIATE AND PRE-BOOKED TELEPHONE INTERPRETERS

TIS National provides a national 24 hour a day, seven days a week telephone interpreting service. To access an immediate telephone interpreting service call TIS National on 131 450.

In emergency situations (for example, an urgent medical situation), the emergency priority line can be called on 1300 655 040. This line is only for genuine emergencies when a very quick connection is necessary.

Booking a telephone interpreting service in advance ensures that any special requirements can be catered for and that the services of the best available interpreter can be secured for the nominated time. This is especially important if an interpreter of a particular sex, religion or for a language or dialect, which is not common, is required.

To pre-book a telephone interpreter, fax or email the booking form (available for the department's website: immi.gov.au/living-in-australia/help-with-english/help\_with\_translating/publications-forms.htm) to TIS National.

Contact details for pre-booking a TIS telephone interpreter are:

- Email: tis@immi.gov.au
- Fax: 1300 654 151
- Phone: 131 450

Where IMAs are involved and TIS National cannot source an interpreter internally, it will invoke its IMA related contractual arrangements with its panel of external interpreting agencies to source a telephone interpreter.

11 FACILITATING TELEPHONE INTERPRETER INTERVIEWS

When officers are arranging interviews using a telephone interpreter they must ensure that the telephone has a conference or dual handset. In general, interpreter telephones are located in reception areas, interview rooms and visiting areas of immigration detention facilities.

12 BOOKING AN ON-SITE INTERPRETER

For lengthy or complex interviews and for interviews of a legal or professional nature, an on-site interpreter may be preferable. Due to the lead time required and the lack of availability of interpreters in some locations, this may not always be practical.

To book an on-site interpreter, fax or email the booking form (available for the department's website: immi.gov.au/living-in-australia/help-with-english/help\_with\_translating/publications-forms.htm) to TIS National.

Contact details for booking a TIS on-site interpreter are:

- Email: tis@immi.gov.au
- Fax: 1300 654 151
- Phone: 1300 655 082

Where IMAs are involved and TIS National cannot source an interpreter internally, it will invoke its IMA related contractual arrangements with its panel of external interpreting agencies to source a telephone interpreter.

13 GUIDELINES FOR COMMUNICATION USING AN INTERPRETER

When communicating using an interpreter the following guidelines apply:

- staff must be thorough in interview preparation when using an interpreter. Ascertain what language, language variant or dialect the person in immigration detention speaks and have a clear list of all the questions to be asked and issues to be canvassed.
- when talking to persons who are not proficient in English do not shout, mumble, speak quickly, use colloquialisms, use acronyms, use sarcasm or jokes, show impatience or frustration, patronise or condescend or use double negatives.
- secure a suitable interview area. This area should be private, free from background noise and other distractions. If necessary, temporarily move the interpreter telephone to a quieter location.
- when a telephone interpreter has been acquired, brief them on the nature and purpose of the interview, and request that they ask only the questions you ask and relay the person in immigration detention's exact response.
- advise the interpreter that they are to disclose any conflict of interest. Should the interpreter state that they are known to, or know the person in immigration detention (other than from previous interpreting assignments), an alternative interpreter must be requested.
- advise the person in immigration detention of the role of the interpreter. Reinforce your role as the interviewer, and that the role of the interpreter is an independent facilitator, not a participant.
- ask the person in immigration detention if they are comfortable with the particular interpreter provided.
- during the interview, speak directly to the person in immigration detention.
- help the interpreter by speaking clearly and confidently. Pause after a few sentences, or other suitable period, to enable the interpreter to translate your words.
- to avoid misinformation and misunderstanding, the interpreter may ask you to clarify or rephrase some points that may not translate easily. Use plain English and avoid jargon.
- allow the interpreter sufficient time to interpret and obtain responses from the person in immigration detention. It is the responsibility of the interpreter to determine whether the person in immigration detention has understood the question. This may take the interpreter some time, particularly in stressful, emotive, or complex situations.

- allow opportunity for the person in immigration detention to ask questions or express concerns.
- avoid private discussions with the interpreter.

14 TRANSLATION OF DOCUMENTS AND SIGNS

Translated materials (for example brochures, books, signs) can be a valuable aid to communication. Key departmental, DSP and HSM documents and signs should be translated into the core languages of the facility.

Persons in immigration detention may request, via the DSP or their case manager, that official letters they receive from the department be translated. Complaints by persons in immigration detention to the DSP or the department, that are written in a language other than English, must also be translated.

TIS National does not provide a document translation service. Translation services can be arranged through a local translation provider. The DSP officer organising the translation must request that the translation be completed by a NAATI accredited/recognised translator (except where none is available).

Where possible, signs applicable to the functions and amenities of the facility should be posted in the contemporary core languages of the centre. Such signs may include:

- identification of buildings
- identification of amenities
- hazard warnings
- emergency routes and assembly areas
- unauthorised areas
- complaints mechanisms and
- Australian Human Rights Commission, ARC and Ombudsman contact details.

15 WHO PAYS FOR INTERPRETING OR TRANSLATING SERVICES?

The department is responsible for the cost of interpreting and translating services when the communication is between the department and a person in immigration detention. The DSP or HSM pays for the services they use when communicating with persons in immigration detention.

If a person in an immigration detention facility wishes to use interpreting or translating services to communicate with other organisations or individuals, the costs for the service would usually be met by the person in immigration detention or the organisation with whom they are communicating, not the department.

The department has arrangements in place with the ARC for the care of persons in community detention. The costs associated with interpreting or translating services are a part of that arrangement.

BACKGROUND

This part comprises:

- section 1 Purpose
- section 2 Guiding principles
- section 3 Legislative framework
- section 4 Responsibility for visitor entry.

1 Purpose

The purpose of this instruction is to provide guidance to departmental and detention services provider (DSP) staff in relation to visitor and entry procedures to IDFs. The Department and the DSP encourage visits to persons in immigration detention as a positive contribution to their mental and emotional well being.

2 Guiding principles

The guiding principles in relation to visitors and entry to IDFs are encapsulated in DSM - Chapter 1- Legislative & principles overview - Service delivery values which states that persons in immigration detention will be treated fairly and reasonably within the law, have access to appropriate services and that conditions of immigration detention will ensure the inherent dignity of the human person. These values articulate that visitors will be made to feel welcome whilst on site and that they are able to communicate openly and freely with staff and the person in detention they are visiting. All staff will treat persons in detention and their visitors professionally and with dignity and respect.

3 Legislative framework

The Act contains a provision (s252G) in relation to screening and inspection powers of visitors to IDCs. See:

- Conduct of visits and
- DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Screening & inspection powers - Entry to immigration detention centres.

4 Responsibility for visitor entry

The Department and the DSP have a duty of care to ensure that IDFs are safe and secure for all persons entering, working in and accommodated in the facilities.

The Department and the DSP also have a right to determine who may enter an IDF and the conditions upon which entry will be granted in order to fulfil that duty of care - see DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Duty of care to persons in immigration detention.

The DSP, in consultation with the regional manager (RM), as necessary, will be responsible for non-official visitor entry, including visits coordination, reporting and liaison.

For arrangements applicable to official visitors, see section 9 Official visitors.

CATEGORIES OF VISITORS

This part comprises:

- section 5 Personal visitors
- section 6 Professional visitors
- section 7 Volunteers & community groups
- section 8 Visitors who provide religious & spiritual care
- section 9 Official visitors
- section 10 Consular officials
- section 11 Other government agencies
- section 12 Border screening
- section 13 Contractors
- section 14 Emergency services organisations.

5 Personal visitors

Personal visitors comprise friends, family members, and members of community groups visiting a person in detention.

6 Professional visitors

Professional visitors comprise visitors who wish to communicate with a person in detention for a specific professional purpose such as lawyers, migration agents and health care professionals.

7 Volunteers & community groups

Volunteers and community groups seeking to visit IDFs to conduct activities for persons in immigration detention should provide details of the proposed activities to the DSP centre manager at the specific facility. The Department may provide standing approval for visits to individuals from approved volunteer organisations. When selecting community organisations to undertake activities within facilities, the DSP ensures that only organisations with the capability to provide a beneficial service to persons in immigration detention are selected.

Members of these organisations are required to provide AFP police checks and other appropriate checks required by law, including (where relevant) working with children checks - see DSM - Chapter 7 - Managing the administration of detention - Working with children checks.

The DSP is responsible for initiating these checks. It is the responsibility of the DSP to immediately notify the RM if any of these checks indicate that an individual may not be a suitable person to work with persons in IDFs.

8 Visitors who provide religious & spiritual care

Representatives of religious organisations should contact the DSP's Religion Liaison Officer at the specific facility. For policy and procedure, see DSM - Chapter 5 - Welfare - Religious & spiritual care.

9 Official visitors

Official visitors comprise representatives of organisations or governments and external scrutiny bodies. Official visitors are required to organise visits through Detention Visits in National Office by emailing detention.visits@immi.gov.au or phoning (02) 6264 3383. Departmental staff intending to visit IDFs must also use this process to organise visits. The responsible officer in Detention Visits will contact the DSP to notify them of the details of each visit. It is preferable this should be done one week prior to the intended visit, however in all cases such visits should be facilitated wherever possible.

Official visitors may include:

- Australian Human Rights Commission (AHRC)
- Commonwealth Ombudsman
- Staff working for international agencies
- Members of Parliament
- Representatives of government agencies and official delegations
- Media representatives
- Detention Health Advisory Group (DeHAG) members
- Council for Immigration Services and Status Resolution (CISSR) members
- Consular officials and foreign government representatives.

AHRC may enter IDFs to conduct investigations.

Under s14 of the Ombudsman Act, the Commonwealth Ombudsman may enter an IDF for the purposes of conducting an investigation at any reasonable time of the day.

For media visits see:

- section 34 Complaints and feedback and
- DSM - Chapter 7 - Managing the administration of detention -Interaction with the media.

10 Consular officials

Consular officials and foreign government representatives visiting in an official capacity, should email or phone, if possible at least one week prior to the intended visit, so appropriate arrangements can be made.

- email: detention.visits@immi.gov.au
- Telephone: 02 6264 3383.

11 Other government agencies

Other government agencies that may be involved in the detention and removal of persons in immigration detention comprise the Australian Customs and Border Protection Service, the Australian Fisheries Management Authority and the Department of the Environment, Water, Heritage and the Arts. These organisations will typically be entering Northern Immigration Detention Centre (NIDC) in relation to illegal foreign fishers - see DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Illegal foreign fishers.

12 Border screening

Persons held in border screening detention are generally not entitled to receive personal visitors except with the written approval of the RM. Other visitors, particularly official and professional visitors, may visit persons held in immigration detention with the approval of the department.

On Christmas Island the decision to restrict visitor access must be made by the Assistant Secretary or the Assistant Secretary of the Irregular Maritime Arrivals Branch, National Office - see DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Border screening detention.

13 Contractors

Contractors may undertake work in any area of an IDF under the escorted supervision of a DSP officer.

14 Emergency services organisations

Emergency services organisations include state and federal law enforcement agencies and fire and ambulance services. A police officer executing a warrant has a right to enter an IDF without the completion of any forms, although a written record must always be made of:

- name(s)
- rank(s)
- if a firearm is taken in and
- any other relevant details.

See DSM - Chapter 8 - Safety & security - Weapons procedures for IDFs.

VISITOR ENTRY PROCEDURES

15 Visitor application forms

Entry procedures are applicable to all visitors to IDFs.

Visitor entry procedures outline the important requirements for visiting an IDF.

Completed Visitor application and Visitor conditions of entry forms must be provided to the DSP centre manager for access to a designated facility. The forms can be posted or faxed prior to the visit.

Visitors are encouraged to make arrangements to visit an IDF at least 24 hours in advance.

Formatted versions of the Visitor application form and Visitor conditions of entry form for all facilities can be found in TRIM (file PCF2010/450) or via the website (www.immi.gov.au/managing-australias-borders/detention/visiting/visiting.htm).

For policy and procedure in relation to visits to persons held in IDCs, see DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Immigration detention centres.

For policy and procedure in relation to visits to persons held in immigration residential housing, see DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Immigration residential housing.

For policy and procedure in relation to visits to persons held in immigration transit accommodation, see DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Immigration transit accommodation.

For policy and procedure in relation to visits to persons held in alternative places of detention in the community, see DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Alternative places of detention in the community.

For policy and procedure in relation to visits to persons held in community detention, see DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Community detention.

VISITOR MANAGEMENT & THE ROLE OF THE DSP

This part comprises:

- section 16 General provisions
- section 17 Visitor facilities
- section 18 Requirement for advance notice
- section 19 Notifying the person in detention and visitors
- section 20 Consent to visit
- section 21 Visit application is refused.

16 General provisions

The DSP is contractually responsible for managing the following:

- visits administration
- visitor log
- designated visits area
- private interview rooms
- wishes of persons in detention regarding visitors
- visits for persons in detention being held in restrictive detention
- visitor conditions and restrictions
- refusal or removal of visitors
- standard and non-standard visiting hours
- visits by approved volunteers and community group representatives
- visits by religious practitioners
- media visits
- standing approval for CISSR and Commonwealth Ombudsman visits and other Commonwealth bodies
- accepting property
- visitor escorts.

17 Visitor facilities

Under the contract with Immigration Application Assistance and Advice Scheme (IAAAS) service providers (see DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - IAAAS), the department is further required to provide:

appropriate facilities (such as a room, desk, chairs) and access to relevant equipment (such as telephone, facsimile, photocopier) for the IAAAS provider to interview their clients. ... and ...at its discretion, access to a computer (internet and e-mail facilities) in relation to client interviews...on Christmas Island.

Wherever possible, private interview rooms are to be provided for professional and official visitors in which to interview people being held in immigration detention.

The DSP must ensure that posters are displayed in the reception area regarding items not permitted and screening and identification requirements.

Personal visits are conducted in the visits centre of each IDF.

Professional visitors are entitled to access private interview rooms in which to interview their clients.

Volunteers and community groups delivering services are entitled to access approved areas of a facility, subject to advance approval of the relevant DSP officer.

Official visitors are entitled to access certain areas of a facility, subject to the approval of the department and being escorted by a DSP officer.

Contractors delivering services within an IDF have access to certain areas of the facility, as necessary, subject to being escorted by a DSP officer.

18 Requirement for advance notice

Visitors should give at least 24 hours notice to the DSP of their intention to visit an IDF, by email, telephone or facsimile, so that:

- high-profile visitors can be escalated to senior departmental staff
- it can be ascertained that the person in detention consents to the visit and will be available at the time of the visit
- the visitor is informed of visiting hours and of their rights and responsibilities
- the visitor can complete appropriate forms before arriving at a facility and
- controlled items can be assessed in advance - see Conduct of visits.

19 Notifying the person in detention and visitors

People in immigration detention must be notified as soon as possible when their visitor has arrived.

People in immigration detention should, wherever possible, be given sufficient opportunity to advise scheduled visitors, particularly professional visitors, if they are to be moved from a particular facility.

20 Consent to visit

Persons in immigration detention must be notified of the visitor's identity and give their consent to the visit before it takes place. People in immigration detention cannot be forced to consent to a visit.

21 Visit application is refused

If the application for a visit is refused by the person in detention the visitor must be notified of the reason for refusal and a record made by the DSP.

If the application for a visit is refused for operational reasons both the person in detention and the visitor must be notified of the reason for refusal and a record made by the DSP. A visit may be refused after being given initial consent due to operational reasons.

Note:

- entry refusal of a high profile visitor is to be treated as a "critical incident"
- entry refusal of other visitors is to be treated as a "minor incident"

For further information see: DSM - Chapter 8 - Safety and security - Incident management & reporting

22 General provisions

Generally visitors need to provide information about themselves and the purpose of the visit before the visit or at the time of the visit. They will also be required to provide identification - see Visitor identification requirements.

Personal information provided to the DSP will be retained for the Commonwealth and may be used to improve the care of persons in detention or investigate incidents in which they may be involved. All information provided will be treated confidentially and will be used or disclosed only in accordance with the provisions of the Migration Act and the Privacy Act - see DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Privacy.

Translating and interpreting services must be offered to any visitor who cannot read or understand the appropriate forms - see DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Translating & interpreting services.

23 Professional visitors

Note: Section 256 of the Act provides that a person in immigration detention will have access to legal representation upon request.

24 Official visitors

Detention Visits in National Office (telephone: 02 6264 3383, email: detention.visits@immi.gov.au) maintains a visits register, which is distributed every Friday for the information of RMs and the DSP. It reports upcoming visits on a weekly basis and details the visits for the next week.

25 Contractors

Contractors must complete a Visitor application form and a Visitor conditions of entry form for the first visit only. Names of contractors may be placed on the register of frequent visitors (see Conduct of visits) if the work to be undertaken is of sufficient duration.

VISITOR IDENTIFICATION REQUIREMENTS

This part comprises:

- section 26 Personal visitors
- section 27 Legal representatives and assistants.

26 Personal visitors

Visitors over the age of 18 must provide:

- one item of identification with a photograph such as a driver's licence, a valid passport or a professional or student identification or
- one item of identification which proves address details such as a council rates bill, telephone bill or another utility bill.

Visitors under 18 and accompanied by a parent or guardian may be admitted without producing proof of identity. If there is any doubt regarding the visitor's age and/or relationship to the accompanying adult, particular care must be taken to establish identity.

Visitors under 18 who are not accompanied by a parent or guardian are usually not admitted. However, such visits may be permitted in limited circumstances. This is subject to the prior approval of the RM or the DSP and production of proof of identity. Safety and security concerns and best interests of the child requirements must be met in these circumstances.

Persons formerly held in IDFs who as yet do not possess a substantive form of identification, may instead produce a letter from either the DSP or the RM, attaching a photograph of the person formerly held in immigration detention. An example of this letter is available in TRIM (file PCD2007/7466).

All personal visitors will be required to wear a form of identification during the visit. The type of identification is at the discretion of the individual centre.

27 Legal representatives and assistants

Legal representatives must show evidence of employment with a registered legal firm, and of their engagement to act as the legal representative or migration agent of the person in detention, at their first visit.

Assistants and paralegals of legal representatives are required to provide the same evidence of employment on their first visit. Once they have done so, they are not permitted to visit their client in a private interview room without the presence of the legal representative, unless the assistant/paralegal has been employed directly on their client's behalf.

CONDUCT OF VISITS

This part comprises:

- section 28 How many persons in detention may be visited per visit by personal visitors
- section 29 Register
- section 30 Frequent visitor register
- section 31 Monitoring of visits
- section 32 Items that may not be brought into an IDF
- section 33 Screening & searches of visitors to an IDF
- section 34 Complaints and feedback.

28 How many persons in detention may be visited per visit by personal visitors

The DSP may nominate the number of persons in immigration detention who can be visited at any one time, subject to the safety and security of the facility and based on what is reasonable in the particular situation.

29 Register

All visitors must sign a register on entry and on exit from an IDF.

30 Frequent visitor register

Visitors who have a need to enter the facility on a regular basis may have their name placed on a register of frequent visitors and will not be required to fill out the information forms for each visit. They will still be required to produce identification as set out in Visitor identification requirements and undergo screening procedures each time they enter. They will still be required to sign the register upon arrival and departure - see section 29 Register.

31 Monitoring of visits

Visits should be conducted in sight of a detention services officer but, whenever possible, out of earshot. Detention services officers regularly patrol visits areas and may inadvertently overhear some conversations, however at all times they should be sensitive to the right to privacy of the person in detention.

Visitors may be monitored by closed circuit television cameras whilst in IDFs.

32 Items that may not be brought into an IDF

Certain categories of items that cannot be brought into IDFs include:

- items that are illegal under Australian law
- items that present a risk to the health of persons in detention, visitors or staff
- items that present a risk to privacy, safety or security, and
- items that may be offensive to others.

See DSM - Chapter 8 - Safety & Security - Items not permitted in IDFs.

Where a visitor is not permitted to bring an item into an IDF the visitor must be told the reason for the refusal and asked to leave the item in a specified place, usually a secure storage locker. If the item is illegal to possess, the visitor must be requested to hand it to an officer. It is to be given into police possession as soon as possible. If the visitor refuses to hand over the item, the visitor will be refused access. The police should still be notified of the incident - see DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Screening & inspection powers - Entry to immigration detention centres.

33 Screening & searches of visitors to an IDF

Screening and inspection powers in relation to visitors to IDCs are governed by s252G of the Act. See DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Screening & inspection powers - Entry to immigration detention centres.

Visitors to IRHs and ITAs are not screened or searched but may be requested to present their bag for inspection to ensure alcohol or illegal items are not brought in. However they cannot be compelled to do so, although the visit can be denied on the grounds of non-compliance with safety and security requirements - see DSM - Chapter 8 - Safety & security - Items not permitted in IDFs.

Departmental and DSP staff have no lawful authority to screen or search visitors to IRH or ITA. All visitors must sign and be aware of the conditions of entry. Where a visitor is found to have breached the conditions of entry, they may be asked to leave the IRH or ITA - see:

- DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Immigration residential housing - Visitors to IRH and
- DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Immigration transit accommodation - Visits to ITA - Security.

34 Complaints and feedback

Individual visitors and visitors representing community groups

Visitors and volunteers may wish to make oral or written comments, raise issues of concern or make complaints in relation to IDFs and conditions. Staff should assist them in this process and in the first instance advise them to contact the DIAC Global Feedback Unit.

The Global Feedback Unit can be contacted during business hours by phone on 133 177 or a feedback form can be completed online (at www.immi.gov.au/contacts/forms/services/index.htm).

Official visitors

Official visitors wishing to raise any issues should do so in the first instance with the RM or their delegate on exiting the facility.

National Communications Branch, National Office must be contacted by these visitors before any contact with the media is considered in relation to the visit. The National Communications Branch's Media Team can be contacted on 02 6264 2244.

Any subsequent reports commenting on the visit or containing information obtained during the visit must first be sent for a response to the Secretary, and the First Assistant Secretary, Community and Detention Services Division, prior to being publicly released.

Non-official visitors with institutional affiliations

Non-official visitors with institutional affiliations (including NGOs, human rights organisations and refugee advocacy groups) wishing to raise any issues should do so in the first instance with the RM or their delegate on exiting the facility.

National Communications Branch, National Office must be contacted by these visitors before any contact with the media is considered in relation to the visit. The National Communications Branch's Media Team can be contacted on 02 6264 2244.

Any subsequent reports commenting on the visit or containing information obtained during the visit must first be sent for a response to the First Assistant Secretary, Community and Detention Services Division, prior to being publicly released.

RESEARCHING IMMIGRATION DETENTION

35 Researchers

Non-official visitors with institutional affiliations seeking to conduct research

Non-official visitors with institutional affiliations (including universities, NGOs, human rights organisations and refugee advocacy groups) wishing to conduct research into any aspect of immigration detention in the first instance should write to the First Assistant Secretary, Community and Detention Services Division, Department of Immigration and Citizenship, providing all relevant details, including the name of the sponsoring institution, a detailed research proposal and intended future use of the research data should the request be granted. The department must ensure that the privacy of its clients is protected at all times and may make decisions on requests for such research on a case by case basis.

BACKGROUND

This part comprises:

- section 1 Purpose
- section 2 Guiding principles
- section 3 Legislative framework.

1 Purpose

This instruction provides guidance on access to legal advice and representation by persons in immigration detention. Persons in immigration detention have the right to seek professional legal assistance of relevance to their immigration pathway.

2 Guiding principles

The guiding principles in relation to access to legal representation are encapsulated in the Government's key Immigration Values encapsulated in DSM - Chapter 1- Legislative & principles overview - Service delivery values. The values state that persons in immigration detention will be treated fairly and reasonably within the law, have access to appropriate services and that conditions of immigration detention will ensure the inherent dignity of the person. Relating these values to the provision of legal representation means that persons in immigration detention are entitled to have access to legal representatives in line with applicable community standards.

3 Legislative framework

Section 256 of the Migration Act (the Act) sets specific provisions for persons in detention access to certain advice and services. Section 256 of the Act states that, at the request of a person in immigration detention, the person responsible for their immigration detention shall provide them with application forms for a visa or afford all reasonable facilities for making a statutory declaration for the purpose of the Act or for obtaining legal advice or for taking legal proceedings in relation to their immigration detention.

PROVISION OF LEGAL ADVICE

This part comprises:

- section 4 Information about entitlements to legal advice
- section 5 Access to information on legal representation
- section 6 Minors & persons with mental health issues or intellectual disabilities
- section 7 Border screening.

4 Information about entitlements to legal advice

On arrival at an immigration detention facility (IDF), as part of the induction process persons in immigration detention are informed of their entitlement to seek legal advice. Each person is informed of their right to receive visits from their legal representatives and their right to contact them by phone and to send and receive correspondence via fax or post.

Compliance officers must provide persons in detention with a “Very Important Notice” (VIN) and a “Visa Options Notice.” The VIN sets out information required under s194 of the Act. It includes advice that a person in immigration detention is eligible to apply for visas. In addition, it advises of matters such as:

- the right to request access to lawyers or consular representatives and
- the options for leaving Australia.

For policy and procedure on the VIN see PAM3: Act - Compliance - NCOI - General detention procedures.

5 Access to information on legal representation

Persons in immigration detention are able to access information on legal representation to facilitate their choice of service provider, for example, legal providers who advertise in the Yellow Pages. The Department does not endorse any particular provider.

6 Minors & persons with mental health issues or intellectual disabilities

The Department recognises that some persons in immigration detention may not be able to understand the advice given to them. For example, minors and persons with mental health issues or intellectual disabilities.

The guiding principle in relation to the treatment of minors in immigration detention is encapsulated in the DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Service delivery values.

Minors are to be treated fairly and humanely and are to be supported to best facilitate normal educative and social development. This will include their having access to support services appropriate to their individual needs. Irrespective of the minor having an appointed guardian or accompanied by parents, the minor may have a need for legal representation - see:

- DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Minors in detention and
- DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & principle overview - Guardianships.

In accordance with departmental mental health policy (see DSM - Chapter 6 - Detention health) detention service provider (DSP) staff in IDFs, are trained to recognise signs of mental health issues. A person in immigration detention who may have mental health issues will be referred to a qualified mental health practitioner.

In a situation where a person has a mental condition that renders them incapable of communicating their intentions or making decisions, a medical practitioner may apply to have a guardian appointed under the relevant state/territory mental health legislation. The guardian, once appointed, has the power to seek legal advice on behalf of the person in immigration detention as well as to commence or continue legal proceedings on behalf of that person. For policy and procedure on the management of mental health in the detention network, see DSM - Chapter 6 - Detention health. For policy and procedure about guardianship arrangements for persons who have a mental incapacity that renders them incapable of communicating their intentions or making decisions, see DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Guardianship.

7 Border screening

Border screening detention applies both onshore, through the protection visa (PV) process, and offshore, through the non-statutory process for persons arriving at an excised offshore place. The purpose of border screening detention is to maintain the integrity of Australia's refugee status determination process by protecting the authenticity of personal accounts of protection claimants - see DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Border screening detention.

Border screening detention is to ensure that newly arrived unlawful non-citizens seeking Australia's protection are not coached by others in the IDF on the protection process before they are screened in - see DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Border screening detention. If persons in border screening detention request access to legal advice, the Department will approve such visits. Persons in border screening detention also have access to the Commonwealth Ombudsman and to the Australian Human Rights Commission.

LEGAL ADVICE PROGRAMS FOR PERSONS IN IMMIGRATION DETENTION

This part comprises:

- section 8 Background
- section 9 Commonwealth Legal Aid
- section 10 Legal Advice Scheme
- section 11 Immigration Advice Application Assistance Scheme \(IAAAS\).

8 Background

Assistance with legal advice or representation may be provided through pro bono activities offered by legal firms or practitioners, or funded through the Commonwealth or state/territory legal aid systems.

The Commonwealth facilitates the provision of legal advice and migration assistance and advice to persons in immigration detention through the following programs:

- Commonwealth Legal Aid (see section 9) and
- Legal Advice Scheme (see section 10).

9 Commonwealth Legal Aid

The Commonwealth Legal Aid Program provides limited assistance to visa applicants including those matters where there is a “difference of judicial opinion” or where “the proceedings seek to challenge the lawfulness of detention, not including a challenge to a decision about a visa or a deportation order.” For more information on the services available through the Legal Aid Program, see the Attorney-General’s Department website.

10 Legal Advice Scheme

The Legal Advice Scheme (LAS) is a program funded by the Department but administered by the NSW Bar Association and the Law Society of Western Australia.

The LAS provides PV applicants with independent legal advice in relation to judicial review of tribunal decisions. The LAS is available only to self-represented applicants in New South Wales and Western Australia. Assistance is not available where the applicant appeals an adverse court decision, or where they have previously litigated the same RRT decision. Applicants are only allowed to participate in this scheme on one occasion and for one application to the court.

Every self-represented applicant for judicial review of a tribunal decision in NSW and WA is offered access to the scheme upon application to the courts. If they choose to participate in the scheme, they are appointed a legal practitioner who meets with them, provides assistance drafting court papers and provides a written memorandum of advice. The legal practitioner is only funded to provide advice to their client, not to represent their client before the court.

Consistent with the principles that persons in immigration detention will be treated fairly and reasonably within the law, and that conditions of detention will ensure the inherent dignity of the person, LAS advisors will be given access to their clients in the same way as access is granted to other legal representatives of persons in immigration detention.

11 Immigration Advice Application Assistance Scheme (IAAAS)

The IAAAS, provides professional assistance, free of charge, to the most vulnerable visa applicants, to help with the completion and submission of visa applications, liaison with the Department, and advice on complex immigration matters. It also provides migration advice to prospective visa applicants. For policy and procedure on IAAAS, see DSM - Chapter 4 Communication & visits - IAAAS.

VISITOR ENTRY FOR LEGAL REPRESENTATIVES

This part comprises:

- section 12 Visitor entry procedures for legal representatives
- section 13 Ongoing legal action and client placement.

12 Visitor entry procedures for legal representatives

The Department has a right to determine who may enter IDFs. Conditions of entry are imposed in order to fulfil the Department's duty of care to persons in IDFs.

All visits by legal representatives are subject to the consent of the person in immigration detention and should comply with the normal entry requirements for visitors to IDFs. It is required that all visitors undergo screening procedures before entering an IDF (see DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Screening & inspection powers: Entry to immigration detention centres). The visit should be coordinated in advance to allow an appropriate meeting room to be booked and to ensure that privacy can be maintained.

Legal representatives are generally given unrestricted access to their clients in immigration detention through:

- visits or, where available, video conferencing during normal business hours and after hours in emergency cases or
- by telephone at any time.

Access to legal representatives and other visitors is not restricted other than in exceptional circumstances and never for disciplinary or behavioural purposes.

For general rules applying to all visitors to IDFs, including legal professionals, see DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Visitors & entry to immigration detention facilities.

13 Ongoing legal action and client placement

It is important that a person's placement location does not hinder the progress of any legal action. The client placement model provides guidance on placement options that take account of legal action. Where ongoing legal action exists (for onshore placements) the detention placement must be able to provide the person in detention with access to their legal proceedings. For policy and procedure, see DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Client placement model.

Placement decisions are to take account of the impact of a transfer on the ongoing management of the legal affairs of the person in immigration detention. For persons who cannot be placed near the place of their legal proceedings, arrangements should be made to facilitate their ongoing access to their legal proceedings, for example, video conferencing facilities.

BACKGROUND

This part comprises:

- section 1 Purpose
- section 2 Guiding principles.

1 Purpose

This instruction guides the department's detention and compliance officers and the detention services provider (DSP) officers in implementing Australia's international obligations relating to consular access for persons in immigration detention.

2 Guiding principles

The guiding principles in relation to access to consular representation are encapsulated in the immigration values in DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Service delivery values which states:

- people in immigration detention will be treated fairly and reasonably within the law and
- conditions of detention will ensure the inherent dignity of the human person.

Relating these principles to the provision of consular representation, this means that Australia is obliged to ensure that foreign consular officials can carry out their functions within Australia, including in the delivery of consular services to their nationals who are placed in immigration detention by Australian authorities.

OBLIGATIONS

This part comprises:

- section 3 Australia's international obligations
- section 4 Chinese, Indonesian & Vietnamese nationals - additional obligations
- section 5 Where a person seeks asylum
- section 6 Disclosure of information to consular officers
- section 7 If a person is unable to give consent to consular access.

3 Australia's international obligations

Australia is a party to the Vienna Convention on Consular Relations 1963 (the VCCR). Article 36 of the VCCR creates obligations for Australia to ensure that foreign consular officers have access to their nationals who are in immigration detention in Australia.

Consistent with these obligations, all persons in immigration detention must be informed of their right to:

- request consular access at any time, without delay
- receive consular access without delay
- refuse consular access at any time
- change their decision on consular access at any time.

4 Chinese, Indonesian & Vietnamese nationals - additional obligations

Australia's bilateral agreements with China, Indonesia and Vietnam set out additional obligations and requirements for notification and access relating to the detention of those nationals. These agreements are the:

- Consular Agreement between Australia and the Socialist Republic of Vietnam, 2004. Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade, Australian Treaty Series Number 25
- Agreement on Consular Relations between Australia and the People's Republic of China, 2000. Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade, Australian Treaty Series Number 26
- Arrangement on Consular Notification and Assistance between the Australia and the Republic of Indonesia, 2010. Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade.

See also section 8 Detention of Chinese, Indonesian & Vietnamese nationals.

5 Where a person seeks asylum

Regardless of nationality, where a person in immigration detention is an asylum seeker and does not clearly express an informed view about consular assistance, there is a presumption that the person does not want consular assistance - see section 7 If a person is unable to give consent to consular access.

In such situations, and for privacy reasons, the consular post should not be notified of the person's detention or allowed visits with the person, unless that person requests that such notification be made and/or visits be facilitated.

Departmental and DSP officers must not disclose any information that might identify current and former protection visa (PV) applicants or the existence of claims for protection in any communication with consular officers or other representatives of foreign governments. This prohibition includes information regarding a person's ongoing PV processing, ongoing review following a determination on their PV applications, and any information on failed asylum seekers, which it is not necessary to disclose to effect removal.

Unauthorised disclosure of this information may breach domestic and international laws, contravene the APS Code of Conduct, compromise the safety of the person and their family or provide sur place grounds for new claims for protection.

Risks of sur place refugee claims may arise if the identity of a person in immigration detention is made known as a result of identifying photographs or claims for protection by persons in immigration detention being disseminated widely or in a public forum. In some cases, the very act of applying for a PV may give rise to a well-founded fear of persecution in a person's home country.

6 Disclosure of information to consular officers

6.1 No legal obligation

The Department is not legally required, nor obliged, to provide personal information about a person in immigration detention at the request of another country.

Personal information about a person may only be disclosed by the Department to consular officers or representatives of foreign governments where permitted under the Information Privacy Principles (IPP) in the Privacy Act 1988. This includes situations where the disclosure is authorised by law or with the person's consent.

6.2 Authorised by law

In certain circumstances, under the IPP, the identifying information of persons held in immigration detention may be disclosed to inform the governments of foreign countries of the identity of unlawful non-citizens who are being, or are to be, removed or deported from Australia - see:

- s336F of the Act - Authorising disclosure of identifying information to foreign countries and
- s198 of the Act - Removal from Australia of unlawful non-citizens.

6.3 With a person's consent

A person's consent to disclose their personal information to consular officers or other representatives of foreign governments must be documented in writing and if possible by using form 1360 (Request for consular access for people in immigration detention) - this form is available in LEGEND in different languages - search by form number. The use of this form is to ensure that the individual's choice is recorded and that they are also fully informed of the consequences of that decision.

Form 1360 is to be provided in a language that the person is able to read and understand (translated versions are available in LEGEND) or where appropriate, arrangements are to be made for the person to have access to TIS in seeking instructions relating to consular notification (see DSM - Chapter 4 - Communications & visits - Translating and interpreting services). The purpose of the form must be explained in as simple language as possible to ensure that the person understands what they are agreeing to - see section 15 Explaining the policy instruction on consular access & form 1360.

7 If a person is unable to give consent to consular access

7.1 Consent of parent or guardian

In circumstances where a person in immigration detention is unable to make an informed decision on consular access or representation (in the case of minors or where there is a reasonable suspicion that the person is incapacitated), the consent of the person's parent or guardian must be obtained.

7.2 Minors

Where a parent or guardian of a minor cannot be located, departmental officers should provide an independent person who is capable of acting in the best interest of the minor to express an opinion as to whether the minor wants consular access. The presence of an independent person can allay concerns over a potential conflict of interest in cases where an immigration detention facility (IDF) manager has temporary guardianship of a minor who is in detention.

Where a person in immigration detention is an asylum-seeker and does not clearly express an informed view about consular assistance, there is a presumption that they do not want consular assistance until they make a substantive request.

7.3 Incapacity

If a person is, or is reasonably suspected to be an incapable person and that person has applied for/requested protection in Australia, the presumption against disclosing information would apply until a guardian or independent person is appointed to represent their best interests.

DETENTION

This part comprises:

- section 8 Detention of Chinese, Indonesian & Vietnamese nationals
- section 9 Detention of other (non-Chinese, non-Indonesian & non-Vietnamese) foreign nationals
- section 10 Reception & induction
- section 11 Death of a person in immigration detention.

8 Detention of Chinese, Indonesian & Vietnamese nationals

Departmental officers must orally inform the nationals of the Socialist Republic of Vietnam, the Republic of Indonesia and the People's Republic of China that, unless they explicitly request that their consular post not be notified, their consular post will be advised of their detention (without releasing identifying information) and the reasons for their detention - see section 16 What to do when a foreign national is detained for a flowchart explaining this process.

Unless explicitly requested that consular contact not occur, departmental officers will:

- a. ensure that the relevant consular post is advised of the detention of one of their nationals and the reasons for that detention within:
  - three calendar days in the case of China
  - three business days in the case of Indonesia and Vietnam
- b. inform these nationals of their right to have their communication forwarded to their consular post
- c. allow consular officers to visit, correspond and arrange legal representation for the person in immigration detention within two days of the initial notification of detention of a Chinese, Indonesian or Vietnamese national and, thereafter, at least once a month
- d. make available to the person in immigration detention adequate translating and interpreting services during legal proceedings
- e. facilitate communication between the person and the consular post without delay.

In the above circumstances, written evidence of the decision of the person in immigration detention must be obtained.

9 Detention of other (non-Chinese, non-Indonesian & non-Vietnamese) foreign nationals

In discharging Australia's international obligations, departmental and DSP officers must, without delay:

- a. inform the person that they may request that the Department notify their consular post of their detention and facilitate any request for a consular officer to visit them in detention
- b. provide the person with a copy of form 1360, in a language that they are able to read and understand, or, where appropriate, arrange for the person to have access to the TIS
- c. inform the relevant consular post of a person's immigration detention if the person so requests
- d. allow consular representatives to visit, converse or correspond with the person, and arrange for their legal representation (only if the person agrees to such contact)

- e. inform the person of their right to have any communication forwarded to the consular post and ensure such communications are passed to their consulate
- f. inform the person that their personal information may be disclosed to a foreign consulate without their consent to facilitate their removal.

10 Reception & induction

10.1 Consular access or representation

A person in immigration detention may, at any time, request or refuse consular access or representation.

10.2 Role of the DSP

As part of the handover documents relating to the person's admission or transfer to an IDF, the DSP officer must check for a completed form 1360 and give the completed form to the relevant departmental officer.

Where a copy of form 1360 has either not been provided in the person's handover documents or is incomplete, the DSP must:

- a. inform the relevant departmental officer at the IDF
- b. inform the person that they can change their mind about consular access at any time
- c. provide a copy of the form to the person in immigration detention
- d. ask the person to complete and return their signed copy of form 1360 within three calendar days of entering immigration detention (meeting prescribed notification timeframes for Chinese, Indonesian and Vietnamese nationals - see section 8 Detention of Chinese, Indonesian & Vietnamese nationals)
- e. inform the person that they can change their mind about consular access at any time.

10.3 Role of the department

The relevant departmental officer must:

- a. ensure that the person's signed form 1360 is scanned and attached on the CCMD Portal, with an additional copy placed on their paper file
- b. ensure that the person's instructions relating to consular access have been implemented
- c. inform the person that they can request consular access or change their mind at any time
- d. give the person a further copy of form 1360 (for subsequent use if required).

10.4 Illegal foreign fishers - induction of crew

There are different induction requirements for crews of illegal foreign fishers held in immigration detention. In such cases, the Department, or the DSP must, without delay:

- a. inform the crew of their individual right to request or refuse consular access at any time (depending on the person's nationality, refer to:
  - section 8 Detention of Chinese, Indonesian & Vietnamese nationals or
  - section 9 Detention of other (non-Chinese, non-Indonesian & non-Vietnamese) foreign nationals

- b. record each crew member's wishes relating to consular access on the nominal roll
- c. provide a copy of the Fishers Information Booklet to each crew member
- d. ensure that each person's instructions relating to consular access have been implemented
- e. record in ICSE or relevant departmental system, for each crew member, that the person has been informed of their right to consular access.

11 Death of a person in immigration detention

In the case of a death of a foreign national in immigration detention, the Department should inform the relevant, local consular post of the death without delay. The Privacy Act does not apply to deceased persons.

The consular post will be able to provide next of kin details or make other notification arrangements.

For Chinese and Vietnamese nationals in immigration detention, the consular post must be provided with a copy of the death certificate, if requested.

For Indonesian nationals in immigration detention, if requested, the consular post must be provided with a death certificate or copy of other documentation certifying the death.

Australia's obligation to inform the relevant consulate of the death of one of its foreign nationals in immigration detention does not extend to the obligation to provide details of any dependant of that deceased person.

The disclosure of personal information of a dependant of a deceased foreign national to the consular post or other foreign representative is subject to privacy requirements (see section 6 Disclosure of information to consular officers) and is not to be provided without consent unless consistent with the IPPs.

CONSULAR ACCESS

This part comprises:

- section 12 Contact by consular officers
- section 13 Visits by foreign government representatives
- section 14 Recordkeeping
- section 15 Explaining the policy instruction on consular access & form 1360.

12 Contact by consular officers

Departmental and DSP officers must not disclose any personal information to any person, including the status of outstanding matters in relation to a visa application, or acknowledge that a person is in immigration detention unless authorised under the Privacy Act.

The Immigration Status Service (ISS) provides a 24 hour point of contact for Australian-based embassies, high commissions or consulates to inquire about their nationals who may be in immigration detention.

ISS contact details:

email address: iss@immi.gov.au

telephone: 1800 558 414

fax: 1800 709 505

When a diplomatic or consular official contacts the ISS, the ISS will advise that it is unable to confirm whether the person is in immigration detention, but that if the person's contact details are known, the ISS would inform that person of the communication made by the relevant embassy, high commission or consular official.

On receipt of advice from ISS, the relevant departmental officer must:

- a. inform the person in immigration detention of the enquiry and assure them that the Department has not released any of their personal or other information to the person enquiring about their immigration status and
- b. use form 1360 to seek the person's instructions in relation to contact with their embassy, high commission or consulate before consular access is granted.

13 Visits by foreign government representatives

All visits to a person in immigration detention by consular and other foreign government representatives must be coordinated through the Detention Visits mailbox (detention.visits@immi.gov.au), and comply with the normal entry requirements for visitors to places of immigration detention - see DSM - Chapter 4 - Communications & visits - Visitor & entry to immigration detention facilities. Where consular officials attend an IDF on a regular scheduled basis, for example in the Northern IDC, which, on occasions can be up to five times a week, the DSP need only advise departmental staff, the Detention Visits mailbox and Detention Operations of such ongoing visits on the first occasion.

These visits can include:

- a. consular officers at the request, or with the consent, of the person involved
- b. consular officers to arrange a person's return to their home country

- c. other foreign government representatives at the invitation of the Department to a place of immigration detention.

In conducting approved consular visits, officers must ensure:

- a. the person's privacy is respected
- b. an independent person is present to represent the best interest of any minor
- c. consular staff have no contact with other persons in immigration detention, particularly those of the same nationality
- d. other persons are not inadvertently identified by name
- e. they manage the visit with the assistance of appropriately qualified interpreters and/or an independent support person to ensure that the immigration status of the person is not compromised
- f. no information is disclosed that might identify current and former PV applicants, the existence of ongoing claims, including reviews and any information on failed asylum seekers, which it is not necessary to disclose to effect removal
- g. consular and other foreign government representatives must:
  - accurately identify themselves to the person at the beginning of the visit
  - explain the purpose of their visit
  - be advised that they are to restrict their questions to the stated purpose of the visit.
- h. no information about other persons in immigration detention is exchanged during these visits.

14 Recordkeeping

All departmental and DSP officers should ensure that all information relating to consular access by a person in immigration detention, including all requests, refusals, visits and other contact with consular officers or other foreign government representatives, is recorded and stored on the person's files and relevant departmental recordkeeping systems.

15 Explaining the policy instruction on consular access & form 1360

The following points may be used as guidance in explaining the function of consular access for persons in immigration detention.

- Hello, my name is            and I am an Australian immigration officer
- You are in Australia and have been detained under Australian migration law
- Since you have been detained, I need to ensure that you know that you have a right to request access to officials of your government at any time - we refer to this as consular assistance:
  - If you wish to personally contact your government representative you can ask an immigration officer for assistance to do so at any time
  - You can also telephone your government's representative at any time
  - A telephone will be made available to you for this purpose
  - You also have a right to refuse to speak to officials of your government at any time
  - If you make a decision you can also change your mind at any time.

- If you choose to contact your government they may be able to assist you with a range of things, including:
  - visiting you while you are detained
  - making contact with relatives if you wish
  - assisting with your return home
  - assisting you to obtain appropriate legal representation
  - providing other types of advice and assistance.

You can get assistance with these services - such as a lawyer - even if you do not agree to speak to officials from your government.

If you chose not to contact your government or to not make a decision at this time, the Australian Government will not disclose your personal information (unless Indonesian, Vietnamese or PRC nationals) to your government, or any other person, including the fact that you have been detained.

- — There may be a reason for us to provide information about you to your government without your consent but this will only occur under certain circumstances, including if we are authorised or required by Australian law to do so.

If the detainee is an Indonesian national:

- Your government has requested that I read this letter to you and hand you a copy to assist you to make your decision. [A copy of the “Notification of Consular Assistance” letter from the Indonesian Embassy is in TRIM container: ADF2010/26537].
- The telephone numbers of your government’s officials are on the letter and you can telephone them at any time if you wish.
- The letter includes a link to a video presentation on your Embassy’s website, which you may also wish to view. [A translation of this video is in TRIM container ADF2011/291499.]

Questions

- Do you understand that you can contact your government representative at any time?
- Do you understand that you have the right to refuse to contact your government representative?
- Do you understand that you can change your mind at any time?
- Do you have any questions or would you like further explanation?
- I have a form to record your consular access decision which I am going to read out to you now [officer should explain the different parts of form 1360, read out the questions at part B and request a signature at part C].

Have translated copies of form 1360, Request for consular access for people in immigration detention been provided to the detainee?

Has access to a translator been provided?

BACKGROUND

This part comprises:

- section 1 Purpose
- section 2 Guiding principle.

1 Purpose

This instruction is for departmental officers dealing with a person's entitlement to the Immigration Advice and Application Assistance Scheme (IAAAS), when it is known that a person in immigration detention:

- intends to apply for a protection visa (PV) or
- in the case of irregular maritime arrivals (IMAs), has requested refugee status assessment (RSA).

2 Guiding principle

The guiding principle in relation to the provision of IAAAS to people in immigration detention is encapsulated in DSM Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Service delivery values which states that people in detention will be treated fairly and reasonably within the law and that conditions of immigration detention will ensure the inherent dignity of the human person. For the provision of IAAAS this means that persons in immigration detention are provided with assistance that:

- supports Australia's international protection obligations under the 1951 UN Convention relating to the Status of Refugees and the 1967 Protocol by:
  - ensuring that they have access to professional and independent application assistance to put their claims for protection in Australia as comprehensively as possible, in conformity with Australia's international non-refoulement obligations.
- delivers appropriate services by:
  - permitting a valid PV application to be lodged or a request for RSA or merits review to be made and
  - ensuring that persons in immigration detention are actively assisted to resolve their immigration pathway in the most effective and timely manner.

THE IMMIGRATION ADVICE & APPLICATION ASSISTANCE SCHEME

This Part comprises:

- section 3 The IAAAS service
- section 4 Offering the IAAAS service
- section 5 The Department's responsibilities under IAAAS contracts.

3 The IAAAS service

The IAAAS - see Fact Sheet 63 on the Department's website - funds selected registered migration agents to provide independent and professional application assistance to all persons in immigration detention and seek to make a PV application or RSA request, at no cost to the applicant.

Application assistance is provided to persons in immigration detention to prepare and lodge applications for PV or requests for RSA. It also includes application assistance to prepare requests for review by the RRT (in the case of PV applicants) or independent merits review (IMR) (in the case of people in the RSA process) where the primary outcome is negative.

IAAAS contracts require the IAAAS provider to explain to their client, as a first order of business, the nature of the IAAAS service using the Client Information Leaflet (CIL). The CIL has been translated into many languages and an interpreter may also be used to ensure there is good understanding of the service to be provided. The IAAAS provider will obtain their client's signature to the 'Acknowledgement' attached to the CIL and attach the signed Acknowledgement to the client's PV application, RSA request, or merits review request. Applicants may decline IAAAS application assistance if they so choose.

4 Offering the IAAAS service

When a person in immigration detention has been screened in or has made known to the appointed case manager their intention to apply for a PV (assuming they are not barred or otherwise legally prevented from making that application) or RSA, the IAAAS service is to be offered to them as soon as possible.

Where appropriate, departmental case managers should ensure that the responsibilities outlined in the IAAAS checklist are properly discharged and appropriate records made.

5 The Department's responsibilities under IAAAS contracts

The Department's responsibilities under IAAAS contracts include:

- offering the IAAAS service to persons in immigration detention who seek to make a PV application or RSA request
- arranging for the allocation of an IAAAS provider to persons in immigration detention and
- engaging as necessary with the DSP to facilitate contact between the migration agent and their client, for example, interpreter, interview room, etc.

IAAAS services do not extend beyond assistance at the primary and merits review stages. The client may then elect to retain the provider (at their own expense) for further immigration related assistance.

BACKGROUND

This part comprises:

- section 1 Purpose
- section 2 Guiding principle
- section 3 Roles and responsibilities of staff.

1 PURPOSE

This instruction outlines the protocol and staff roles and responsibilities for organising meetings of the community consultative groups (CCGs) established for immigration detention facilities (IDFs) in each state and territory. These facilities include immigration detention centres (IDCs), immigration residential housing (IRH) and immigration transit accommodation (ITA) and other facility-based alternative places of detention (APODs).

The Community consultative group protocol outlines the role of the CCG and includes details regarding membership and meetings. All prospective CCG members should be provided with a copy of the protocol and requested to sign the Conflict of interest declaration.

2 GUIDING PRINCIPLE

The CCG has been established to allow the Council for Immigration Services and Status Resolution (CISSR), the department, the detention service provider (DSP), the health services provider (HSP) and key external stakeholders to meet and discuss any issues within the local immigration detention environment.

CCGs are in line with the service delivery values - see DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Service delivery values. The values state that the provision of services to persons in immigration detention will be underpinned by respect for human dignity and fair and reasonable treatment within the law.

3 ROLES AND RESPONSIBILITIES OF STAFF

The regional management team is responsible for:

- nominating a representative to attend meetings
- providing secretariat services including room bookings, invitations, preparation of agenda items, minute taking and records management
- providing a summary of minutes to CCG members for their consideration and action
- inviting local community group representatives to attend meetings or become a member of the CCG
- assessing community group representatives' eligibility for membership of the CCG
- assessing conflict of interest declarations and other membership issues
- considering members' requests to distribute CCG minutes to non-members
- considering members' requests to tour the IDF.

Visits to IDFs outside of CCG meetings should adhere to the visitor procedures. See DSM Chapter 4 - Visitors & entry to immigration detention facilities.

The DSP is responsible for:

- providing a representative to attend meetings
- providing members with frequent visitor passes and facilitating access in line with relevant procedures.

The CISSR Secretariat Section, National Office, is responsible for:

- supporting CISSR members with their role of chairing CCG meetings.

PURPOSE

The CCG has been established to allow CISSR, the department, the DSP, the HSP and key external stakeholders to meet and discuss any issues within the local immigration detention environment.

TERMS OF REFERENCE

To explore and consider issues relating to the range of services, activities and welfare opportunities available to people in immigration detention with a view to enhancing service delivery in compliance with:

- legal requirements and policy relating to immigration detention
- the DSP's policy and procedures manuals
- good order and security of IDFs.

MEMBERSHIP

CCG membership will generally comprise of:

- the Chair (member/s of the Council for Immigration Services and Status Resolution)
- the regional manager (or delegate)
- the detention service provider (DSP) centre manager (or delegate)
- other departmental or DSP officers involved in service delivery
- a representative from the Commonwealth Ombudsman's office
- up to ten community representatives, as determined by the regional manager, for a period of 12 months.

Community representatives will generally be drawn from local community support organisations or service providers who have an interest, knowledge and commitment to making a positive contribution to the effective operation of the IDF.

Community representation should endeavour where possible to reflect the profile of the detention population, with representatives or advocates from relevant ethnic and religious community organisations.

Criteria for membership will include how the person will add value to the group and enhance the group's ability to provide balanced and constructive input to improve service delivery. If members represent a particular community or religious group this should be declared.

CCG members can propose nominations for membership. Membership will generally be by invitation from the regional manager after consultation with the Chair. Persons interested in joining the CCG should contact the regional manager at the relevant IDF.

From time to time other persons with specialist knowledge or contributions may be invited as guests to attend CCG meetings. Attendance of guests at CCG meetings must be agreed to by the Chair in advance.

Members will be appointed for one calendar year and may be replaced or re-appointed after that time.

Prospective CCG members will be required to sign a Conflict of interest declaration and disclose any matter that could adversely affect, or might be perceived to affect their CCG membership. The CCG Chair and the regional manager will consider such declarations before confirming membership. A written record of the declaration and decision should be stored with the signed conflict of interest declaration form.

Where situations arise that breach the declarations signed by the member, the seriousness of the situation will be assessed by the regional manager. If warranted and in consultation with the Chair and other CCG members, the regional manager may consider termination of membership.

INFORMATION SESSION FOR COMMUNITY REPRESENTATIVES

In the interests of safety and security the regional management team will arrange for all community representatives to take part in an information session at the IDF prior to attending their first meeting. This session will provide instruction on occupational health and safety requirements within the IDF, including, but not limited to, fire safety and security requirements.

ACCESS TO FACILITIES

Before their first visit to an IDF, new members will be asked to complete and acknowledge visits documentation, which includes the DSP's visits application and conditions of entry form.

The DSP will issue all CCG members with frequent visitor passes in order to facilitate access to the IDF. A meeting room will be provided for CCG meetings and members should not access other areas of the IDF without permission from the regional manager.

All visitors are asked to abide by the conditions of entry form which aims to protect the safety, welfare and security of all people within IDFs.

PRIVACY/CONFIDENTIALITY

Deliberations of the CCG are in-confidence and this confidence should be respected when communicating with external parties.

Documentation provided at CCG meetings should not be circulated outside membership of the group without prior written approval from the regional manager. This does not apply to representatives of the Commonwealth Ombudsman's Offices who are at liberty to circulate documentation obtained at CCG meetings to relevant staff within the Commonwealth Ombudsman's office. The prior written approval of the regional manager is required for representatives of the Commonwealth Ombudsman's offices to circulate documentation to persons outside their offices.

Information discussed that has the potential to breach the privacy of people in immigration detention must not leave the meeting. Breaches of privacy requirements or other aspects of this protocol by a CCG member may lead the regional manager to reconsider the person's membership of the CCG.

If issues raised in the presence of a particular member of the CCG present a potential conflict of interest, the member concerned should exclude themselves from discussion of that issue. The Chair may elect to exclude a member from a discussion where there is a potential conflict of interest.

CCG SECRETARIAT

The regional management team is responsible for organising and preparing meeting venues, issuing invitations, distributing the agenda and preparing and distributing meeting records and papers. Agendas will be distributed to members at least ten working days in advance of each meeting.

MEETINGS

CCG meetings will occur on a frequent and scheduled basis, but at a minimum of twice a year.

TABLING MINUTES OF CLIENT CONSULTATIVE COMMITTEE (CCC) MEETINGS

CCC meetings enable persons in immigration detention to raise and discuss issues of concern relating to services provided within IDFs. The minutes from the previous CCC meeting should be tabled at each CCG meeting.

For privacy reasons, the minutes of CCC meetings must be tabled without including the names of persons in immigration detention involved in the meetings or who raised specific issues.

MEETING AGENDA AND MINUTES

All CCG meetings are required to have documented agendas and minutes.

The CCG Secretariat will distribute meeting records promptly. Records of meetings should be distributed to:

- CCG Chair
- CCG members
- CISSR Secretariat Section, National Office
- the regional manager of the state or territory in which the IDF is located.

2 Guiding principle .....	2
3 Roles and responsibilities of staff .....	2
Client consultative committees .....	3
4 Functions of the CCC .....	3

BACKGROUND

This Part comprises:

- section 1 Purpose
- section 2 Guiding principle
- section 3 Roles and responsibilities of staff.

1 PURPOSE

This instruction outlines the role of the Client consultative committees (CCC) at immigration detention facilities (IDFs).

2 GUIDING PRINCIPLE

The guiding principle in relation to CCCs in IDFs is encapsulated in DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Service delivery values which states that persons in immigration detention will be treated fairly and reasonably, within the law and that conditions of immigration detention will ensure the inherent dignity of the human person. For convening CCCs in IDFs this means that:

- persons in immigration detention will be provided with an appropriate forum for communication between departmental staff, detention service provider (DSP) staff and other persons in immigration detention concerning detention conditions and the practicalities of daily life in the IDF
- persons in immigration detention will be provided with an opportunity to make suggestions regarding service delivery enhancements.

3 ROLES AND RESPONSIBILITIES OF STAFF

3.1 The detention service provider

The DSP is responsible for:

- ensuring that persons in immigration detention are appropriately represented at the meeting
- ensuring that persons in immigration detention can meet prior to each CCC meeting so that client representatives can gather information
- providing secretariat functions for the meetings in a timely fashion, including:
  - circulating the CCC agenda before meetings
  - organising interpreters where required
  - organising the venue and facilities
  - nominating staff members to attend CCC meetings
  - recording and circulating minutes and
  - following up on action items.

3.2 Departmental staff

Departmental responsibilities:

- CCC meetings will be attended by the regional manager or their delegate
- available staff are encouraged to attend CCC meetings and facilitate meaningful interaction between persons in immigration detention and other IDF staff. In particular, Case Management staff should be invited to attend
- staff should monitor requests and issues raised by persons in detention and respond to DIAC-related questions should they arise.

3.3 Service providers

Some service providers will regularly attend meetings, and others will be invited to attend as required.

CLIENT CONSULTATIVE COMMITTEES

4 FUNCTIONS OF THE CCC

Each IDF will establish a CCC at which persons in immigration detention can raise matters of concern and interest to persons detained at the IDF.

The CCC provides an opportunity for persons in immigration detention to raise issues and suggestions about services and conditions within the IDF; it is not a forum for discussing personal matters or administrative aspects of immigration detention, including pending visa applications, reviews or any other immigration matters.

Depending on the size of the IDF and the number of persons accommodated in it, individual facilities may wish to establish additional consultative forums to discuss specific topic areas such as food or activities.

4.1 Terms of reference

Each IDF will establish the terms of reference applicable to the CCC at that location. The terms of reference will specify details including meeting frequency and those in attendance at meetings.

Each IDF will, after consultation, outline who will be the chair of the CCC at that location. There is no requirement for the DSP or the department to chair the meetings. However, the DSP acting as chair has been found by many IDFs to be the most efficient way of operating these meetings.

4.2 Attendees

Attendees will include the DIAC regional manager (or their delegate), nominated DSP representatives (for example, operations manager, programs and activities coordinator), and other nominated on-site DSP personnel (for example, health services manager representatives). Interpreting services should be used where appropriate - see DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Translating & interpreting services. Case Management and other detention operations staff should be invited to attend.

The number of persons in immigration detention invited to attend the CCC will largely depend on the size of the IDF and the number of persons accommodated at any one time. Each IDF will specify whether CCC attendance is open to all persons in the IDF or whether appropriate representatives only will attend.

The DSP should encourage persons in immigration detention to participate in the CCC in order to establish a committee that is, where possible, a balanced representation of the overall population of the IDF at the time (for example, in relation to sex, nationality, religion or accommodation areas).

Due to the high turnover of persons in immigration detention, causing fluctuations in the numbers of residents, representatives for the CCC may need to be sought on a regular basis.

The Ombudsman's local office representatives and Australian Red Cross representatives are to be advised in a timely manner of upcoming CCC meeting(s), should they wish to attend. They should be provided with the relevant documentation (minutes and agenda) in a timely fashion prior to meetings.

4.3 Minutes

The DSP will take minutes and distribute copies to attendees and any other parties responsible for action items. Copies of the minutes (translated where required) should be made available to other interested persons in immigration detention. The DSP and on-site departmental staff will keep a record of minutes and follow up on action items. Where issues of national significance are raised on-site departmental staff will liaise with Community & Detention Operations Branch, National Office, to seek clarification or resolution of these issues. The outcome should then be passed on to the CCC representatives who were present at the last meeting, and included in the minutes.

INTRODUCTION

This Part comprises:

- section 1 Purpose
- section 2 Entry to IDCs - legal framework.

1 PURPOSE

This instruction gives policy and procedures for officers exercising the screening and inspection powers available under s252G of the Migration Act (the Act) which apply to persons entering IDCs. For a list of persons to whom this instruction may apply see section 4 Persons who may be screened.

The powers are available only at the point the person is seeking entry to an IDC. A person does not have to comply with the screening or inspection measures, however:

- if a person wanting to enter an IDC as a visitor does not comply they may be refused entry to the IDC (see section 5.5 Visitors refusing an inspection) and
- if a person in immigration detention does not comply they can be screened under s252AA or searched under s252 (see section 4.3 Screening a person in immigration detention).

See also the ministerial direction No. 20 under s499 - Powers concerning the entry of visitors to immigration detention centres.

2 ENTRY TO IDCs - LEGAL FRAMEWORK

2.1 The legislative framework

Section 252G of the Act is the only Commonwealth legislation that provides specific powers relating to the entry of persons to IDCs. Ministerial direction No. 20 under s499, which is to be read with this instruction, provides further guidance on s252G and officers are to follow this direction when exercising these powers. Departmental officers and the Detention Service Provider (DSP) are not to disclose personal information except in accordance with the provisions of the Privacy Act 1988 - for further information see the ministerial direction.

The screening and inspection powers in the Act apply to IDCs established by the Minister under s273 of the Act.

The DSP as the “occupier” of the IDC, has the right under certain provisions of the Act to:

- regulate the entry of persons and
- impose conditions of entry.

2.2 Authorisation to screen and/ or inspect

Only an officer, as defined in s5(1) of the Act, can exercise the screening power of s252G(1) of the Act. This includes:

- departmental officers and
- DSP officers defined under item (g) of the definition of officer under s5(1) of the Act.

The inspection power is a separate power. Only an officer who is also an authorised officer for the purposes of s252G of the Act can exercise the inspection powers of s252G(3), (4), (5) and (6).

Officers who need to check their authorisations/ delegations should refer to the Instruments of Delegations and Authorisation (Ministerial Instrument M10 - Externals - Ministerial Instruments) on IMMIInet or they can email the Legislative Instruments Unit at delegations@immi.gov.au.

ENTRY OF PERSONS TO AN IDC

This Part comprises:

- section 3 Facilitation of visitors' entry to IDCs
- section 4 Persons who may be screened
- section 5 Inspection of a person's possessions
- section 6 Items discovered as a result of screening or inspection
- section 7 Refusal of entry - procedures
- section 8 Use of force to prevent entry - remove a visitor from an IDC
- section 9 Records - entry to IDCs.

3 FACILITATION OF VISITORS' ENTRY TO IDCs

3.1 Facilitation of visits

Every reasonable effort should be made to facilitate the entry of a visitor to an IDC during visiting hours, subject to:

- compliance by a visitor with any requests made under s252G
- the good order and security of the centre
- the safety of all persons within the centre
- the protection of the dignity and privacy of persons in immigration detention
- maintaining the integrity of the visa decision-making process.

3.2 Information on screening and inspection to be provided to visitors entering IDCs

While the use of screening equipment is normally non-intrusive and familiar to most people, it is important that the visitor entering an IDC is provided with the information about the screening and inspection process - as outlined in Information for visitors about to enter an IDC. Prior to completing their visit application, visitors may also be referred to the public signage which explains prohibited items. If a visitor wishing to enter an IDC has difficulties reading the information, assistance should be provided, as far as it is practicable in the circumstances, to help the visitor understand the screening and other entry requirements.

Officers are to respect the privacy and dignity of visitors - this is of particular relevance when exercising their screening or inspection powers, see section 5.4 Conducting an inspection.

4 PERSONS WHO MAY BE SCREENED

All persons entering an IDC may be requested to undergo screening, including:

- persons in immigration detention
- family and friends of a person in immigration detention
- legal advisers
- migration agents
- medical practitioners
- religious representatives
- government officials
- interpreters or community representatives
- other non-government officials, eg a members of the Australian Red Cross, United Nations
- employees of the DSP or any employee of a subcontractor of the DSP
- departmental officers
- persons providing goods or services to the IDC
- contractors
- any other person, who is considered by the officer, to be a person required to undergo screening.

4.1 Process for screening

All persons entering an IDC can be asked to:

- walk through screening equipment
- have hand-held screening equipment (such as a metal detector) used over or around them and their possessions
- have x-ray or screening equipment used on their possessions.

The agreement of the person entering the IDC is required before screening.

4.2 Persons refusing to be screened

Persons seeking to enter an IDC have a right not to be screened and can withdraw their consent at any stage of screening. They must not be forced to give reasons about their not wanting to be screened.

Failure to comply with a request for screening may result in the:

- a visitor being refused entry to the IDC (see section 7 Refusal of entry - procedures) and
- a person in immigration detention being screened under s252AA (see section 4.3 Screening a person in immigration detention).

4.3 Screening a person in immigration detention

There are two circumstances where under s252G an authorised officer may screen a person in immigration detention in an IDC:

- when a person in immigration detention first enters an IDC as part of the reception process and
- when a person in immigration detention returns to the IDC after attending a tribunal hearing, medical appointment, court case or other external journey under escort.

If the person in immigration detention has refused a request under s252G(4), the person can be screened under s252AA or searched under s252. For policy and procedures see:

- DSM Chapter 8 - Safety & Security - Screening of people in immigration detention and
- DSM Chapter 8 - Safety & Security - Searches of people in immigration detention.

5 INSPECTION OF A PERSON'S POSSESSIONS

5.1 What is an inspection?

Under s252G(4) an authorised officer (only) may request a person about to enter an IDC to:

- allow the authorised officer to inspect things in the person's possession
- remove some or all of their outer clothing, such as a jacket, coat or similar item (under policy overcoat, gloves and shoes are regarded as similar items)
- remove items from the pockets of their clothing
- open items in their possession, remove the contents and present them for inspection
- leave the item or items in a specified place (see section 5.2 Reasonable grounds for requesting an inspection).

5.2 Reasonable grounds for requesting an inspection

An authorised officer can ask to inspect a person's possessions if they suspect 'on reasonable grounds' that the person has in their possession a thing that might:

- might endanger the safety of persons in immigration detention, staff or other persons at the IDC or
- disrupt the order or security arrangements at the IDC (see s252G(3) and (4)).

Reasonable grounds for suspicion that the visitor entering an IDC has in their possession an item which might endanger the safety of persons in the IDC or disrupt the centre (s252G(3)) must be supported by some foundation of fact. This could include but is not limited to some or all of the following:

- the visible outline of something hidden in the person's clothes or evidence of an item revealed by the screening equipment

- an X-ray of a thing or things in their possession that the person will not disclose on request and which cannot be checked without an inspection
- information provided by another person that the person entering an IDC has such an item in their possession
- unusual behaviour of a person who has in the past been found with such an item.

5.3 Information must be given to visitor

If an authorised officer has determined that a visitor's possessions require an inspection, the visitor must be provided with the following information:

- the reason for the inspection
- the process to be used for the inspection
- the visitor's rights at law set out in the information sheet Information for visitors about to enter an IDC, which include the right of the person not to undergo an inspection on the understanding that they may be refused entry to the centre
- the reasons for retention of any items and
- that information obtained during entry to an IDC will not be disclosed, except in accordance with the Privacy Act.

Officers can use the information sheet Information for visitors about to enter an IDC for this purpose.

5.4 Conducting an inspection

In conducting an inspection, the authorised officer must make every effort to:

- conduct the inspection in a private area, if the person wishes and
- have another officer present to witness the manner in which the inspection is conducted. It is preferable that the authorised officer and any other officer present during the inspection should be of the same sex as the person undergoing the inspection.

In conducting an inspection, the 'authorised officer' must not:

- frisk a person, ie: run their hands over a person's outer clothing while the person is wearing that clothing
- examine anything that is contained in a person's outer clothing while they are wearing that clothing
- request a person to remove an item of clothing (such as a shirt, blouse, trousers, skirt, or underwear) that would compromise the person's privacy or dignity
- take a photo of a person during an inspection or
- pass on or use personal information, except in accordance with the disclosure and use of personal information provisions contained in the Privacy Act or any other relevant law.

See also the ministerial direction.

5.5 Visitors refusing an inspection

Visitors wishing to 'enter an IDC' have a right not to be inspected and can withdraw their consent at any stage of inspection. They must not be forced to give reasons why they do not wish to comply with such a request.

If an authorised officer has started to carry out the inspection process, the authorised officer must stop immediately if the person requests or makes it known that they do not want those powers to be exercised any further.

A person who refuses to undergo an inspection may be refused entry to the IDC.

6 ITEMS DISCOVERED AS A RESULT OF SCREENING OR INSPECTION

If an item is discovered which might endanger the safety of any other person or disrupt the order or security arrangements at the IDC, the authorised officer is to follow the following procedures:

- if the item is lawful but prohibited from the IDC and the person is a visitor to the IDC:

- place the item in a 'specified place', such as a secure locker, and return the item to the visitor at the end of the visit
- if the item is lawful but prohibited from the IDC and the person is in immigration detention:
  - place the item in storage and process it through the normal security procedures and property protocol - see DSM Chapter 8 - Safety and security - Items not permitted in immigration detention centres and DSM Chapter 3 - Entering & leaving detention - Personal property
- if an item is unlawful (see s252G(6)):
  - confiscate the illegal item and store it safely in the presence of another DSP officer
  - record and store on file an itemised description of the illegal item and
  - notify the police and ask that they collect the illegal item from the IDC - see s252G(6), which refers to the Crimes Act 1914.

When the police collect the illegal item the following procedure must be followed by the DSP:

- ask the police officer to sign a receipt for the illegal item
- provide a copy of the receipt to the police officer and retain a copy for file
- if the item was in the possession of a visitor, the visitor should be provided with a receipt for the item before it is passed to the police
- request the police officer sign the item description record and
- file the record as required.

If the police are unable to attend the IDC to collect the illegal item the following procedure must be followed:

- the DSP will write to the relevant police station requesting that the illegal item be collected within a specific timeframe
- if the timeframe passes and the illegal item has not been collected, a further letter must be written to the police station stating that the item will be delivered to the police station by the DSP Duty Manager on a specified date
- telephone contact must be made with the police station on the specified date and advice provided that the item will be delivered at a specific time that day (details of the police officer contacted should be taken)
- the duty manager and another officer should deliver the item to the police station. Copies of all documentation sent to the police station regarding the item should be carried by the duty manager and
- the receiving police officer should sign the copies of the documentation carried by the duty manager.

7 REFUSAL OF ENTRY - PROCEDURES

7.1 Power to refuse entry - s252G(7)

Section 252G (7) of the Act states that a person may be refused entry if they do not comply with a request under s252G, such as a request for screening or to have their possessions inspected. Cases should be referred to the Centre Manager who will decide whether entry to the centre is to be refused - the Centre Manager should consider this in the context of the good order and security of the centre.

The reasons for the refusal of entry should be explained to the person and an opportunity should be provided for them to respond. Assistance should be provided to the person if they wish to make a complaint.

7.2 Reporting procedures

The refusal of entry to an IDC requires that officers accurately record the details of the refusal and report to the department using the following guidelines:

- refusal of a "high profile visitor" is classified as a "critical incident" and must be reported orally immediately (no later than 1 hour after the incident and in writing within 4 hours) and

- refusal of other visitors is classified as a 'minor incident' and must be reported in writing within 24 hours of the incident.

The DSP is, at all times, responsible for reporting to the department in accordance with its incident reporting procedures.

If a person seeking to visit a person in immigration detention is refused entry to an IDC, the officer involved will inform the person in immigration detention (whom the person intended to visit), of the reasons for the refusal. Opportunity should be provided for the person in immigration detention concerned to comment and these comments should be included in the record.

8 USE OF FORCE TO PREVENT ENTRY - REMOVE A VISITOR FROM AN IDC

Refusal of entry is provided for under s252G(7) of the Act. The power to require a person to leave the IDC is based on the occupier's (DSP's) common law right to take such action. The DSP has the power to use such force as is reasonably necessary to eject a trespasser from an IDC. The power is also used in cases where a person has entered an IDC but has been asked to leave. Prior to using reasonable force, the person must first be given a reasonable amount of time and an opportunity to leave.

If a person is refused entry under s252G(7) officers are to:

- inform the person of the reasons and
- explain the process for making a complaint.

The DSP officer is then to ask them to leave the premises. If necessary, officers are to use an interpreter to assist the person in understanding their circumstances.

Should the person resist, a DSP officer is to inform them that unless they leave the premises the assistance of the police will be requested. At this point, officers should provide the visitor with sufficient time to leave of their own accord. If this is not does not occur, officers are to contact the police.

9 RECORDS - ENTRY TO IDCS

Records about visitors seeking to 'enter an IDC' are to be completed correctly and maintained in accordance with the department's Record Management Guide. Records that are relevant to the entry of visitors that are to be kept include:

- forms completed by persons entering IDCs
- documents related to granting entry
- documents relating to refusal of entry
- receipts for unlawful items
- documents relating to passing unlawful items to the police
- complaints
- any other records that the officer or authorised officer considers to be relevant.

INFORMATION FOR VISITORS ABOUT TO ENTER AN IDC

THE LAW

Under section 252G of the Migration Act 1958 (the Act), an officer can request you to:

- walk through screening equipment
- allow the officer <sup>1</sup> to use hand-held equipment (such as a metal detector) over or around you and your possessions
- allow the officer to use X-ray or screening equipment on your possessions.

If an authorised officer <sup>2</sup> has reasonable grounds for suspecting that something in your possession might:

- endanger the safety of persons in immigration detention, staff or other people within the IDC or
- disrupt the order or security at the IDC,

the authorised officer can request you to leave the item in a place specified by that officer.

YOUR RIGHTS UNDER THE LAW

If an authorised officer has requested that you leave an item in a specified place before you enter the IDC:

- generally, you are entitled to the return of the item or items when you leave the IDC
- if it is unlawful for you to possess such an item, it will not be returned to you. Instead, the authorised officer is required by law to give that item to a police officer
- you do not have to agree to a request by an officer or an authorised officer. However, if you choose not to comply with the request, you may be refused entry to the IDC. You must then be prepared to leave the IDC with your possessions, provided they can lawfully be returned to you.

PRIVACY ACT

The department and its service provider will not disclose to others, personal information about you obtained during your entry to an IDC, except in accordance with the Privacy Act 1988. Information may be passed on to law enforcement agencies and others who carry out departmental functions.

<sup>1</sup> The term “officer” can include an officer of the department, an officer of certain other instrumentalities or an officer of the Detention Service Provider. In the context of this instruction, an “officer” may exercise only the screening power of s252G(1).

<sup>2</sup> An “authorised officer” must be authorised in writing by either the Minister or the Secretary to carry out specific provisions of the Act. An “authorised officer” can exercise both the screening power and the inspection power of the Act.

GUIDING PRINCIPLES

This part comprises:

- section 1 Principles
- section 2 Religion liaison officer
- section 3 Accommodating religious practices
- section 4 Religious visits
- section 5 Chaplains
- section 6 Access to areas in an IDF for religious purposes
- section 7 Persons in immigration detention held outside an IDF or in separation detention or in an emergency situation
- section 8 Recordkeeping.

1 PRINCIPLES

The following principles guide the provision of religious and spiritual care in immigration detention facilities (IDFs):

- the provision of religious services to persons in immigration detention will be consistent with the religious and spiritual care provided in the Australian community and relevant to the current population of persons in immigration detention
- persons in immigration detention have the right to maintain their own religious and spiritual affiliations and will be provided with opportunities to practise the religion of their choice
- all religious or spiritual groups will be recognised
- religious services, practices and access will only be limited when the good order and security of the facility is at risk
- attendance by a person in detention at any religious activity is voluntary
- a person's religious and spiritual beliefs and affiliations will not have an impact on that person's immigration status
- persons in immigration detention will be able to freely communicate with any religious visitor and a request from a person in detention for the provision of religious and spiritual care will be met wherever possible
- a religious visitor may only visit a person in immigration detention with that person's consent and
- minors are not to be detained in an immigration detention centre (IDC) for accommodation or immigration processing purposes at any time. The provision of religious services for minors will be delivered in other appropriate environments outside the IDC - see DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Minors in detention.

2 RELIGION LIAISON OFFICER

The DSP will appoint a religion liaison officer (RLO) at each IDF as a first point of contact for persons in immigration detention and visitors regarding the provision of religious and spiritual care in the IDF. The RLO will:

- coordinate all religious activities, including after hours activities and bringing religious items into an IDF
- coordinate all access by all religious visitors to the IDF and areas within the facility and
- help persons in immigration detention contact appropriate religious visitors.

The RLO will be the first point of contact for persons in immigration detention and visitors regarding the provision of religious and spiritual care in the IDF.

3 ACCOMMODATING RELIGIOUS PRACTICES

3.1 Religious requirements

Specific requirements for religious practices, including food, clothing and books will be facilitated, where possible. The DSP must discuss with the department any problems they may have in fulfilling a person's religious requirement.

The department will then assist the DSP fulfil any religious request, where possible. Approval through the RLO will be required for items required for religious purposes in IDFs - see Guide for religious and spiritual visitors visiting immigration detention facilities.

3.2 Ceremonies inside an IDF

Religious ceremonies will be facilitated by the RLO wherever possible. The privacy of persons in immigration detention and the integrity of the ceremony will be respected. Religious ceremonies may be performed by:

- any person in immigration detention conducting personal religious ceremonies for themselves and their family or
- religious visitors, chaplains and designated persons in immigration detention conducting ceremonies for groups of persons in a facility.

3.3 Ceremonies outside an IDF

Attendance at religious services outside of the facility is considered an excursion and can be authorised at the discretion of the DIAC regional manager (RM) or their nominated delegate - see DSM - Chapter 8 - Safety and Security - Excursions.

3.4 Death of a person in immigration detention

If a person dies while in immigration detention the DSP will ensure that, subject to legal protocols, all relevant religious and spiritual customs are recognised and respected. This may include the attendance of an appropriate religious visitor.

4 RELIGIOUS VISITS

4.1 Religious visitors

A religious visitor is a recognised official of any religion who has an ongoing pastoral relationship with a person in immigration detention and they may provide:

- religious and spiritual support including:
  - conducting religious services
  - performing religious ceremonies and
  - providing religious education.
- pastoral care and appropriate counselling including:
  - helping persons in the IDF address personal problems
  - supporting persons in the IDF in times of crisis, distress or illness and
  - providing emotional support.

Religious visitors will be subject to standard visitor procedures, see Chapter 4 - Communication and Visits - Visitors entry to immigration detention facilities. All religious visitors will be provided with appropriate identification to allow the persons in an IDF to recognise their special position within the IDF.

All religious visitors will be provided, upon request, a Guide for religious and spiritual visitors visiting immigration detention facilities.

5 CHAPLAINS

Chaplains are religious visitors who are nominated by their religious organisation, the department or the DSP to undertake the pastoral care of persons in the IDF.

All religious visitors who have:

- been granted appropriate clearances consistent with Volunteering Australia guidelines (www.volunteeringaustralia.org)
- signed a Conditions of Entry form and
- have attended an introduction session (see Introduction session) at the IDF will be known as chaplains.

Both the chaplain and the DSP are to retain a copy of the signed Conditions of Entry form for their records.

The special position of trust that chaplains occupy in the IDF allows them greater access to persons in immigration detention including:

- access to areas of the IDF beyond the visitors centre
- special escorting arrangements (see The need to be escorted)
- access to an IDF outside visiting hours to fulfil their religious duties and
- bringing a colleague into the IDF for a specific purpose, such as assisting in ceremonies (see Colleagues).

The number of chaplains at an IDF will be determined by the DSP, in consultation with the RM and individual religious organisations or denominations. The numbers, to be reviewed annually, will be based on the religious, cultural and linguistic composition of those in the IDF.

The need to be escorted

Chaplains who have been nominated by their religious organisation may have unescorted access to communal areas of an IDF. Escorting arrangements for other chaplains will be determined by the DSP manager based on the needs of persons in the IDF. Chaplains who would not normally require an escort may be provided with one should they request such, subject to operational requirements, for all or part of their visit.

Colleagues

A chaplain may bring a colleague into the IDF for a specific purpose, such as assisting in ceremonies but must escort that colleague at all times.

Introduction session

The introduction session conducted at the relevant IDF will familiarise the participants with the detention environment and will include information on:

- the Migration Act and administrative detention
- departmental religious visitors policy
- occupational health and safety in the IDF
- the special escorting arrangement associated with being a chaplain
- the requirements for bringing in a colleague and
- general security in the IDF.

The introduction session will also include a facility orientation session.

6 ACCESS TO AREAS IN AN IDF FOR RELIGIOUS PURPOSES

Any area set aside in an IDF for religious purposes will be interfaith friendly, with no permanent religious symbols. Wherever possible, taking existing infrastructure limitations into consideration, each IDF, will designate:

- space for communal worship
- space for prayer and meditation and
- private rooms for individual spiritual counselling.

Use of these areas should be booked through the RLO.

Operational requirements may take precedence over existing bookings. If a reserved area becomes unavailable for operational reasons, the RLO will negotiate alternative arrangements.

7 PERSONS IN IMMIGRATION DETENTION HELD OUTSIDE AN IDF OR IN SEPARATION DETENTION OR IN AN EMERGENCY SITUATION

If a chaplain or a religious visitor asks to visit a person who is being held outside of a facility, approval for access may be arranged on a case-by-case basis by the DSP. Factors which will be taken into account include:

- the welfare of the person in detention
- the wishes and privacy of the person in detention
- the requirements of the place in which they are being held and
- operational requirements at the time.

If a person in immigration detention requests to speak with a chaplain or religious visitor about matters of a spiritual nature during an emergency or while in separation detention, access may be granted, taking into consideration:

- the nature and location of the emergency or exceptional circumstance
- the good order, safety and security of the IDF
- the welfare of the person in detention.

When appropriate, the department and DSP should consider engaging a chaplain or religious visitor in the process of resolving an incident or conflict in an IDF.

8 RECORDKEEPING

All decisions affecting religious or spiritual practice and religious visits should be recorded - see DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative and principles overview - Recordkeeping.

GUIDE FOR RELIGIOUS AND SPIRITUAL VISITORS VISITING IMMIGRATION DETENTION FACILITIES

The Department of Immigration and Citizenship (the department) welcomes you as a religious visitor to its immigration detention facility (IDF).

Religious and spiritual support makes a valuable contribution to the mental and physical well-being of people in detention.

Arranging your visits

A religion liaison officer (RLO) is an officer appointed by the detention services provider (DSP) in each IDF. This officer is the point of contact for all religious visits, coordinates all religious activities and will be your first point of contact about any issues related to your visit. The RLO can assist with:

- conducting a ceremony in an IDF
- using private spaces in the IDF and
- organising celebrations and religious festivals.

Visiting an IDF

Standard visitor procedures include:

- agreeing to the Conditions of Entry form
- completing a Visits Application form (each time you visit) and
- access to the visitors centre.

Where possible, please visit during the visiting hours of each IDF. To ensure your smooth access please discuss your visiting times with the RLO.

Items which can be brought into a facility

You may take special items for worship or ritual, such as sacramental wine and candles, into the IDF. To ensure the items may be brought in an IDF please advise the RLO of your needs before the visit so they can organise the appropriate process.

Conducting ceremonies

If you wish to conduct a ceremony in a facility, such as a weekly service or a group meditation session, please discuss this with the RLO before your visit. During times of extended religious celebrations, such as Ramadan, Easter and Diwali, the RLO can make arrangements to use a specific area in an IDF for the duration of the celebration.

Access to areas beyond the visitors centre

You may access areas in the IDF, such as private rooms for counselling or areas for prayer and worship beyond the visitors centre, if the centre is not appropriate for your religious needs. Access to these areas may be arranged with the RLO prior to your visit. However, such arrangements are subject to the operational requirements of the IDF.

Escorting

While you are inside a facility you will be escorted by a DSP officer. These officers will not interfere with your visit, unless there is a perceived risk to safety and security. The officer will be within eyesight, but not within hearing distance during your visit.

Information provided to people in detention

The IDF you visit will maintain a register of all the religious visitors who attend the facility for the information of those in the facility and other religious visitors.

The RLO will provide a monthly timetable at each IDF in consultation with those in the facility and religious visitors to ensure all parties have fair and reasonable access to the limited space available in each IDF.

Communication and advocacy

Please relay any concerns you have about a person's welfare to the DSP or the department. All conversations you have with people in immigration detention are confidential, except where you consider that the safety of a person in immigration detention is at risk. You should report such matters to the DSP or departmental staff.

It is a criminal offence for an unregistered person to provide immigration assistance. If people are seeking advice about any aspect of their visa application process they should be referred to departmental staff or a registered migration agent.

You can provide a written statement about a person's religious conviction for inclusion in a visa application process, if requested.

Separation detention, emergencies and exceptional circumstances

If a person requests to speak to you about matters of a spiritual nature during an emergency, exceptional circumstance or while in separation detention, the DSP will endeavour to facilitate access that is appropriate to the particular circumstance. Factors which will be taken into account include:

- the nature and location of the emergency or exceptional circumstance
- the good order, safety and security of the IDF and
- the welfare of the person in detention.

People in immigration detention held outside an IDF

Where a person in immigration detention is held outside an IDF, for example in a hospital, the department may arrange for you to visit them, taking into consideration:

- the wishes, welfare and privacy of the person in detention
- the requirements of the place in which they are being held and
- operational requirements at the time.

Privacy

The department and the DSP will not disclose any personal information, except in accordance with the Privacy Act 1988.

Chaplains

Chaplains are religious visitors who are nominated by their religious organisations, the department or the DSP to undertake the pastoral care of those in the IDF.

All religious visitors who have been granted appropriate clearances consistent with Volunteering Australia guidelines (www.volunteeringaustralia.org), signed a Conditions of Entry form, and have attended an introduction session at the IDF will be known as chaplains.

The special position of trust that chaplains occupy in the IDF allows them greater access to people in immigration detention including:

- access to areas of the IDF beyond the visitors centre
- special escorting arrangements
- access to an IDF outside visiting hours to fulfil their religious duties and
- bringing a colleague into the IDF for a specific purpose, such as assisting in ceremonies.

LEGAL FRAMEWORK

1 Unlawful non-citizens working in IDFs

Under the provisions of s235(6) of the Act and regulation 5.32A, an unlawful non-citizen in an IDF participating voluntarily in programs and activities (“P&A”) is not committing an offence under s235(3) of the Act, which makes it an offence for an unlawful non-citizen to perform work in Australia.

The Secretary’s “Approval of activities” instrument, approving the participation by persons in immigration detention in activities for the purposes of s235 (7) and s245AF(a) of the Act, is in TRIM - ADD2011/144911.

GUIDING PRINCIPLES

This part comprises:

- section 2 Overview
- section 3 Objectives of IAP
- section 4 Eligibility for IAP
- section 5 Administration of IAP.

2 Overview

The purpose of IAP is to provide access to discretionary items likely to improve the quality of life for persons in immigration detention and as an incentive to participate in P&A as a means towards maintaining mental health.

3 Objectives of IAP

The objectives of IAP are to:

- encourage participation in meaningful P&As by persons in immigration detention.
- promote the physical and mental well-being of persons in immigration detention through participation in P&A (the means of earning IAP points).
- improve the quality of life for persons in immigration detention by providing them with access to incidental items.
- enable persons in immigration detention to exercise a level of control over their daily lives by providing them with access to incidental items through limited acquisition capacity.

4 Eligibility for IAP

IAP is for use by persons in all Australian IDFs, but excluding persons in community detention (residence determination).

Persons in border screening detention receive the minimum weekly points. Additional points may only be accrued through participation in P&A, provided that it does not breach the conditions of their border screening detention. For policy and procedure on border screening detention, see DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Border screening detention.

5 Administration of IAP

IAP must be administered across all IDFs in a nationally consistent and transparent manner. IAP points are portable across the immigration detention network - see:

- section 15 Transfers and
- section 18 Recording IAP.

IAP points must only be allocated to, and used by, persons in IDFs. The “point” value of incidental items shall remain consistent across all IDFs - see: section 20 Cost of incidental items.

ALLOCATION OF IAP POINTS

This part comprises:

- section 6 Timeframe of allocation
- section 7 Number of points
- section 8 Mandatory points
- section 9 Program & activities points.

6 Timeframe of allocation

Across the IDF network:

- points are allocated to individuals each week at 00:01 on a prescribed day determined by the DSP
- any outstanding points that the individual holds are forfeited at midnight (24:00) prior to the prescribed day on which weekly points are allocated
- points can not be accrued or carried forward to the following week.

7 Number of points

Across the IDF network:

- adults are to be allocated 25 mandatory points per week and 25 points available to be accrued through participation in P&A per week. (50 points in total per week)
- minors aged between 12 and 17 (inclusive) are to be allocated 25 mandatory points per week and 15 points available to be accrued through P&A per week. (40 points in total per week)
- minors under the age of 12 are to be allocated 20 mandatory points per week only (20 points in total per week).
- minors under the age of 12 will not be able to accrue points through P&A. Nevertheless, they should still be encouraged by parents, guardians or carers to participate in appropriate P&A.

8 Mandatory points

Upon first entry into immigration detention, irrespective of the day of the week:

- every adult will receive 25 points.
- every minor aged between 12 and 17 (inclusive) will receive 25 points.
- every minor under the age of 12 will receive 20 points.

For the period in which adults and minors remain in an IDF, they will be allocated the mandatory points according to their age category on a weekly basis - see section 6 Timeframe of allocation.

9 Program & activities points

In addition to the allocation of mandatory points, a person in an IDF may accrue additional points through participation in P&A.

Points are allocated at the rate of two (2) points per hour, or substantial part of an hour of participation. The number of points per activity allocated to a person for participating in P&A is at the discretion of the DSP.

Points received for participation in P&A in one week will be included in the following week's IAP allocation. For example, if a person participates in five hours of P&A, and receives 10 points for their participation, they will be allocated 35 points when new points are allocated (25 mandatory points + 10 P&A points).

See DSM - Chapter 5 - Welfare - Programs & activities.

IAP OPERATIONAL REQUIREMENTS

This part comprises:

- section 10 Programs & activities
- section 11 Limitations on IAP
- section 12 IAP & families
- section 13 Unaccompanied minors
- section 14 Release & removal
- section 15 Transfers
- section 16 IRH welfare allowance
- section 17 Illegal foreign fishers & crew.

10 Programs & activities

It is a contractual requirement for the DSP to ensure that all IDFs have a program of organised P&A in place. Lack of capacity by the DSP to provide sufficient P&A will not disadvantage IAP point allocation to persons in immigration detention.

When P&A is not available, postponed or rescheduled (for example due to inclement weather), points may be allocated at the discretion of the DSP and regional manager. See: DSM - Chapter 5- Welfare - Programs & activities.

A person who is incapacitated and unable to participate in P&A (for example, due to sickness or injury or is a vulnerable client) may be awarded points at the discretion of the DSP in consultation with the regional manager.

The content and structure of P&A is at the discretion of the DSP in consultation with the regional manager and approval of the NatO Branch Head. As such, P&A can be moulded to accommodate the particular conditions of each IDF (for example, it will be easier to run a soccer game in an IDC than at IRH).

P&A may include educational classes, skills programs, sports, leisure activities, social activities, and excursions. Participation in P&A in order to receive additional IAP points is entirely voluntary. See: DSM - Chapter 5 - Welfare - Programs & activities.

If a person in immigration detention consistently disrupts or interferes with others participating in P&A events, the regional manager may deny that person access to P&A for a specific period of time or activity. The consequence of a person's behaviour, being denial of or having limited access to P&As and thus a reduction of accrued IAP points each week, must be explained to the person prior to a decision to deny access being made. See: PAM3: DSM - Chapter 5 - Welfare - Programs & activities.

11 Limitations on IAP

IAP points cannot be accrued or carried forward to the following week. Any outstanding points that a person holds are forfeited at midnight (24:00) prior to the prescribed day on which points are allocated each week.

Cash cannot be provided in lieu of IAP, nor can IAP points be exchanged for cash (either while in immigration detention or upon release from immigration detention).

IAP points cannot be used to purchase services already provided as basic amenities (such as internet usage). Persons in immigration detention can only use IAP points accrued in their own account. With the exception of families (see section 12 IAP & families), IAP points cannot be exchanged, borrowed, combined or transferred among persons in immigration detention. They are to be used to purchase incidentals only - see section 21 Types of incidental items.

12 IAP & families

IAP points are non-transferable between individuals, although some discretion/flexibility may be applied where it concerns parental oversight of children's use of IAP. Acceptable family relations should not be interfered with.

Parents may use their own or their children's points, to acquire items for their children's specific needs or to obtain incidental items to share with their children.

DSP staff should be mindful of parents who may attempt to exploit this privilege for self-serving purposes (for example, a parent using their children's points to purchase cigarettes for themselves). The DSP in consultation with the regional manager can take appropriate action to discourage this behaviour through education.

13 Unaccompanied minors

Unaccompanied minors, as with adults, will have personal control over how they use points. The DSP and carers should be mindful of minors' use of IAP points and, in consultation with the regional manager, encourage minors to use their IAP points soundly. Decisions to manage exploitation of IAP must be made on a case-by-case basis when there is clear evidence of exploitation, for example bullying between minors over use of points.

14 Release & removal

Persons who are released or removed from immigration detention forfeit their IAP points. Where practicable, they should be given a reasonable opportunity to use their IAP points prior to release or removal. See: PAM3: DSM - Chapter 3 - Entering & leaving detention.

15 Transfers

As IAP points are portable across the IDF network, when a person is transferred between IDFs:

- they will retain their remaining weekly IAP point balance at the new facility
- their IAP points will be forfeited at 24:00 on a prescribed expiry day
- they will not be disadvantaged by the loss of IAP points accrued through P&A, due to differences in DSP schedules for prescribed expiry days
- the DSP must ensure that any participation in P&A during the week of the transfer is accounted for and that the person is allocated the appropriate extra IAP points.

16 IRH welfare allowance

Persons in IRH receive funds under the household allowance scheme (HAS).

IAP has replaced the welfare allowance previously included in HAS.

For policy and procedure on HAS, see DSM - Chapter 2 -Client placement -Immigration residential housing.

17 Illegal foreign fishers & crew

While in immigration detention, illegal foreign fishers (IFFs) and crew have the same entitlements to IAP as other persons in immigration detention.

IAP allowance cannot be used to offset IFF and crew's liability for detention debt. The operation of IAP for IFF and crew is exactly the same as for all other persons in immigration detention, with any remaining points being forfeited on the prescribed day or on release from immigration detention.

RECORDING OF IAP POINTS

18 Recording IAP

The DSP is responsible for IAP administration and recordkeeping as follows:

- administering and allocating IAP
- ensuring that individual weekly IAP allocations are recorded, updated in their management plan and IDF database and provide a copy to the person concerned each month and on request
- collecting P&A attendance sheets
- updating IAP balances with additional points obtained through participation in P&A
- providing persons in detention with receipts for all IAP purchases
- ensuring that when an individual is transferred to another IDF their IAP accounts are maintained and points carried forward and transferred with them
- upon request from the department, providing as soon as possible, full details of current balances of any or all IAP accounts, including details of all credit point allocations and expenditures
- providing the department with a monthly summary of all IAP accounts, including details of all IAP point allocations and expenditures for each IAP account
- managing the IDF centre shop - see section 19 Access to incidental items.

INCIDENTAL ITEMS

This part comprises:

- section 19 Access to incidental items
- section 20 Cost of incidental items
- section 21 Types of incidental items
- section 22 Phone cards
- section 23 Lay-bys & special buys.

19 Access to incidental items

Each IDF will put in place a system whereby persons in immigration detention can exchange IAP points to obtain incidental items. This can be:

- a physical location (such as a centre shop/canteen) or
- a means of back-ordering incidental goods.

A canteen or shop within an IDF must be open for a minimum of four (4) hours each day, seven (7) days a week, with services available in both the morning and afternoon. While the shop may be closed without notice due to operational or security requirements, it is preferable to provide persons in immigration detention with prior notice of any changes to opening hours - see Schedule 2, section 2.2.1 clause 1.1.1 of the DSP IDC contract and Schedules 2A.1 and 2B.1 of the DSP IRH /ITA contract.

The DSP will provide persons in IDFs with information on how the IAP system works, including:

- how to purchase incidental items using points
- shop opening hours and
- a list of commonly available incidental items and their point value.

The DSP is responsible for managing the provision of incidental items, recordkeeping and updating IAP point balances - see section 18 Recording IAP.

It is the responsibility of the DSP to ensure that IDF canteens/shops are stocked sufficiently - see Schedule 2, section 2.2.1, clause 1.9 of the IDC contract and Schedules 2A.1 and 2B.1 of the IRH/ITA contract.

20 Cost of incidental items

All incidental items will have a defined “points” value as determined by the DSP. This value will be applied consistently across the detention network (for example, a packet of cigarettes will cost 10 points across the network and a packet of chips will cost 3 points across the network). To prevent fluctuation in the value of incidental items when persons in immigration detention are transferred between IDFs, IAP points do not carry a dollar equivalence.

21 Types of incidental items

The incidental items available to be purchased in IDFs are not a substitute for the provision of basic entitlements. The DSP is responsible for providing food, clothing, personal hygiene items and a range of services. The DSP will provide a list of common incidental items available for purchase by persons in IDFs. This list will be distributed across the detention network.

Items on this list should include:

- personal care products
- phone cards
- writing materials, envelopes, and stamps
- additional beverages, including soft drinks and juices
- additional processed food, including snack foods
- cigarettes
- hobby items, games, CDs, DVDs, books and magazines

- personal entertainment devices that do not exceed 50 points in cost, such as generic MP3 players
- hats, sunscreen, and sunglasses and
- items determined, in consultation between the regional manager, DSP and client consultative committee (CCC) - see DSM - Chapter 4 - Communications & visits - Client consultative committees.

Persons in immigration detention may request, via the CCC, additional incidental items that they would like to see stocked. If the incidental item list needs to be revised, new items should be included if:

- there is reasonable demand for the item and
- the item's value does not exceed fifty points and
- the item can be procured easily and locally.

If an incidental item is temporarily out of stock, a person may back-order the item using their current IAP points.

22 Phone cards

Phone cards should be purchased using IAP, rather than being provided to a person separately and free of charge.

Persons in IDFs must use their phone cards to make personal, local and international telephone calls. Personal telephone calls cannot be charged to the DSP or the department.

For the purpose of this instruction, personal telephone calls are those telephone calls that are not immigration pathway related. See DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Access to communication services in IDFs.

23 Lay-bys & special buys

Lay-by of items and the ordering of special buys to be procured by the DSP are no longer allowed as a means of obtaining items by persons in immigration detention.

BACKGROUND

This part comprises:

- section 1 Purpose
- section 2 Guiding principle.

1 Purpose

This instruction provides guidance on the ownership and management of personal photographs and the ownership and use of photographic equipment within an immigration detention facility (IDF), not including community detention. The instruction applies to persons in immigration detention, visitors and facility staff.

2 Guiding principle

The guiding principle in relation to personal photographs and photographic equipment is encapsulated in DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Service delivery values which states that persons in immigration detention will be treated fairly and reasonably within the law and that conditions of immigration detention will ensure the inherent dignity of the human person.

For the purposes of this instruction this means striking an appropriate balance between maintaining the privacy and security of persons in immigration detention, visitors and facility staff, while also providing persons in immigration detention with the opportunity to have access to personally meaningful photographs and enabling official visitors to carry out their responsibilities.

PROCEDURES

This part comprises:

- section 3 Procedures for handling personal photographs
- section 4 Procedures for handling photographic equipment
- section 5 Requests for photographs to be taken
- section 6 Media visits to immigration detention
- section 7 Use and protection of personal photographs
- section 8 Potential for sur-place refugee claims.

3 Procedures for handling personal photographs

Personal photographs include photographs of the person in immigration detention or their family or other images of significance to the person and may include pictures taken from magazines, newspapers or downloaded images.

With the exception of material that is illegal under Australian law, photographs owned by persons in immigration detention are broadly classified as controlled items that may be subject to discretion and either:

- retained in the possession of the owner; or
- if the owner prefers, they can be stored by the detention service provider (DSP) on behalf of the owner as in-trust property.

However, photographs are to be placed in storage as “retained in trust” property where they:

- constitute excluded items not permitted in immigration detention such as pornographic or offensive images or
- include images that may present a risk to privacy, safety or security, for example photographic identification documents, including passports.

IDF staff should apply discretion when assessing personal photographs on the basis of what is safe, fair and reasonable.

If persons in immigration detention wish to retain personal photographs in their room or on their person, IDF staff may point out the risk of loss or damage and suggest in trust storage.

Photographs contained in digital media, for example school photographs or wedding photographs contained on CDs or other storage devices, may be held in trust until the person in immigration detention leaves the facility.

If material suspected to be illegal under Australian Law has been brought to the attention of the DSP the matter must be referred to the police, and the Regional Manager Community and Detention Services Division must be notified.

The procedures for identifying and handling illegal, excluded and controlled items and items to be held in trust or retained in trust are contained in:

- DSM - Chapter 3 - Entering & leaving detention - Personal property and
- DSM - Chapter 8 - Safety & security - Items not permitted in immigration detention.

4 Procedures for handling photographic equipment

Personal photographic equipment such as cameras and camcorders are classified as excluded items and, with some exceptions such as photographic equipment carried by official visitors, are not permitted in IDFs - see section 4.3 Photographic equipment belonging to visitors.

4.1 Photographic equipment belonging to persons in immigration detention

Where the equipment belongs to a person in immigration detention it should be placed in storage (retained in trust) and returned to the person when they leave the facility. The procedures for handling excluded items, including photographic equipment, are specified in:

- DSM - Chapter 3 - Entering & leaving detention - Personal property and ▪ DSM - Chapter 8 - Safety & security - Items not permitted in immigration detention.

Persons in immigration detention are not, while resident in an IDF, permitted to use mobile phones that have photographic capabilities. Refer to DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Access to communication services in IDFs.

Computers and computer equipment with audio or video capabilities may be permitted within IDFs at the discretion of the regional manager. However, the use of internet cameras and/or other image or voice recording devices is not permitted. The regional manager can terminate access to computers and computer equipment at any time if the Access to computer and internet services Conditions of Use and Code of Conduct are not strictly adhered to. Refer to DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Access to computer & internet services in IDFs.

4.2 Audio-visual recording of persons in immigration detention

Audio-visual (AV) recording is not permitted by persons in immigration detention. However, AV recording of persons in immigration detention by the DSP is permitted in certain situations.

Certain events in an IDF should be recorded by staff and stored in a manner that provides for security and ready access where the events and any operational response to them are questioned, reviewed or scrutinised for legal or procedural reasons, or where the information contained could be used as evidence in criminal investigations and/or future legal proceedings.

The AV recording of certain events is required to verify that the duty of care owed to people in immigration detention and staff has been met, and to ensure that any inappropriate activity is identified and addressed. Refer to DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Audio-visual recording of persons in immigration detention.

4.3 Photographic equipment belonging to visitors

Should a visitor bring photographic equipment to an IDF, that equipment is to be held temporarily in a secure locker or storage area and returned to the visitor on their departure. Refer to DSM - Chapter 8 - Safety and security - Items not permitted in immigration detention.

Official visitors may bring photographic equipment into an immigration detention facility where they need to take photographs as part of their official duties. However, the taking of and use of photographs must acknowledge the privacy of the individual concerned, the privacy of any staff and any security issues that might apply. See section 5.2 Requests by official visitors.

4.4 Community Detention

Persons held in community detention are free to move and act in the community in accordance with the conditions of their detention. They are, therefore, generally free to use photographic equipment. However, duty of care obligations require the department and its contracted service providers to explain to persons in community detention the possible sur-place implications of them placing their personal photographs on-line. It is incumbent upon a person in community detention to act responsibly, and in their own self-interest, when using any photographic medium. The use of on-line media is inappropriate in most situations.

5 Requests for photographs to be taken

Approval must be obtained from the Regional Manager Community & Detention Services Division prior to any photographs being taken within an immigration detention facility. Prior approval is required in order to reduce the possibility of a sur-place claim ensuing (see section 8 Potential for sur-place refugee claims) and to mitigate potential security risks.

5.1 Requests by persons in immigration detention

Persons in immigration detention may wish to have a photographic record of special or significant events, such as birthdays, weddings and personal milestones. Where a request for a photograph is made by a person in immigration detention the DSP must record that request and retain a copy of the subsequent approval/refusal letter on the requesting person's client file in the portal. The DSP may assist with facilitating the request and provide oversight and assistance as required.

As photographic equipment is an excluded item and may not be brought into an IDF by clients or visitors, other than official visitors as part of performing their official duties, all approved photographs will need to be facilitated by the DSP.

To avoid potential security risks, DSP officers should ensure that no identifiable detention infrastructure or DSP or departmental staff is visible in photographs.

If a photograph is likely to contain images of other persons in immigration detention, then the advance consent of those other persons is to be obtained and recorded as appropriate. If consent is not given, those persons should not be in the frame when the photograph is taken.

As outlined in section 3 Procedures for handling personal photographs, personal photographs can be held by the person in immigration detention or stored by the DSP on behalf of the owner as in trust personal property. To reduce the likelihood of sur-place claims, personal photographs should not be removed from the immigration detention facility except when the person leaves the facility. There could be occasions when visitors are included in photographs, for example when they are part of a wedding ceremony, and the visitors would like to have a copy of those images. However, except for official visitors (see section 5.2 Requests by official visitors), visitors are not permitted to take photographs, or the digital medium that contains the images, with them when they leave the facility.

5.2 Requests by official visitors

Organisations such as the Australian Red Cross, the Australian Human Rights Commission, the Commonwealth Ombudsman or other recognised external scrutiny bodies can take photographs in immigration detention facilities where those photographs are taken as part of their official functions. However, it is appropriate for such bodies to provide prior notice to the regional manager that this may occur.

Regional managers receive notice of impending official visits through the weekly list circulated by Detention Visits, National Office. This should alert departmental and DSP staff around the network to the possibility of official visitors taking photographs as part of their formal inspection duties. In addition, Regional Managers, their delegates and/or DSP escorts should proactively liaise with official visitors during their visits and alert them to any inherent sensitivities or concerns associated with specific photographs they might wish to take (for example security, privacy and sur-place issues).

If an organisation advises the regional manager that, in the particular circumstances that apply, there is a need for them to take photographs in an immigration detention facility:

- the organisation should ensure that photographs do not include any DSP or departmental staff or include any persons in immigration detention in a manner that would enable those persons to be identified;
- where a photograph includes a person in immigration detention, even if that person cannot be readily identified in the photograph, the consent of that person should be obtained for privacy purposes and a record of that consent placed on the client's file in the portal;
- in their further use of photographs, organisations must exercise due care to protect the identity and privacy of people in immigration detention and be cognisant of any possible sur-place implications. In practice, this would mean that any photograph that could still lead to the identification of a person in immigration detention must not be published in publicly accessible web pages or in reports that are publicly available; and
- photographs should not include any images that could compromise security of the facility, including where the facility is located on a Department of Defence site.

5.3 School photographs

To protect the privacy and security of minors in immigration detention and their families, minors attending school should not be included in any school photographs that could be made public. It may be appropriate for individual photographs to be taken as part of official school photograph programs, subject to the approval of the regional manager and the consent of the parent/guardian. However, the minors should not be included in group photographs or in a collage of the individual photographs because of the wider circulation of group or composite photographs.

It is possible that the individual photographs could be provided to minors and their families in hard copy or electronic form. As for other personal photographs (see section 3 Procedures for handling personal photographs) these may be held by the minor, their family or appointed carer or stored by the DSP as in-trust property.

6 Media visits to immigration detention

The National Communications Branch is the department's sole point of contact for media inquiries. All media inquiries to staff below senior executive service level should be referred immediately to the National Communications Branch's Media Section on 02 6264 2244. See DSM - Chapter 7 - Managing the administration of detention - Interaction with the media.

7 Use and protection of personal photographs

Personal photographs may not be used by the DSP as personal identifiers. For further information on the use of photographs for the collection of biometric information refer to DSM - Chapter 3 - Entering & leaving detention - Identification tests.

All DSP and departmental officers involved in the handling and storage of photographs must be aware of the department's obligations under the Information Privacy Principles contained in the Privacy Act and of the potential for sur-place refugee claims - see section 8 Potential for sur-place refugee claims. When photographs are stored on behalf of persons in immigration detention, the department and the DSP have a duty to ensure that they are protected against loss, unauthorised access, use, modification and disclosure.

8 Potential for sur-place refugee claims

A person who is not a refugee on departure from their country of origin, but who subsequently becomes a refugee, is called a refugee sur-place. This may occur as a result of events in the country of origin, for example a significant change in political circumstances; or because of their activities outside the country of origin, for example religious conversion while in Australia. In some cases, the very act of applying for a protection visa (PV) may give rise to a well-founded fear of persecution.

Risks of sur-place refugee claims may arise if the identity of a person in immigration detention is made known as a result of their photographs being disseminated widely and/or published in a public forum, thereby possibly creating an adverse personal profile in the country of origin.

In particular, this risk may result when a photograph has been disseminated where:

- the person in immigration detention has been photographed with senior officials or parliamentarians
- the photograph of a person in immigration detention contains identifying material such as names or states and
- it may be inferred from the photograph that the person in immigration detention has applied for a PV.

Where such a risk exists, public dissemination (including via social media) or distribution of these personal photographs should be limited and photographs only made available to others in situations where the depicted person in immigration detention clearly understands any implications of their doing so (if necessary assisted by an interpreter) and they have provided their written consent.

As stipulated in the Privacy Act 1988, the DSP and the department must act to ensure that the identity and privacy of persons in immigration detention is protected from the media and the public.

BACKGROUND

This part comprises:

- section 1 Purpose
- section 2 Legislative framework
- section 3 Guiding principles.

1 PURPOSE

The purpose of this instruction is to provide guidance to departmental and detention service provider (DSP) staff on what programs and activities are and how they are implemented, in order to provide mental and physical stimulation to persons in detention. Programs and activities were previously known as “meaningful activities”.

2 LEGISLATIVE FRAMEWORK

There is no legislative framework to provide programs and activities. Broader legal requirements apply to programs and activities: for instance, they must not contravene occupational health and safety legislation.

Programs and activities are provided for the benefit of persons in detention and does not constitute work. Section 235(7) of the Migration Act 1958 puts this beyond doubt by stipulating that work does not include:

- (a) an activity in which a person who is a detainee in immigration detention voluntarily engages where the activity is of a kind approved in writing by the Secretary for the purposes of this paragraph.

The Secretary has approved in writing a range of activities that are covered by the provisions of section 235(7)(a).

The Secretary’s instrument outlines certain activities in immigration detention that are acceptable for persons in immigration detention to participate in, without being considered to be working.

The operation and administration of immigration detention facilities is contracted to the DSP. Voluntary participation in programs and activities is not work and must not replace the duties contracted to the DSP.

3 GUIDING PRINCIPLES

The guiding principles for programs and activities are encapsulated in the DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Service delivery values which state:

- persons in immigration detention will be treated fairly and reasonably within the law
- the conditions of detention, including the appropriateness of both the accommodation and the services provided, will be subject to regular review
- conditions of detention will ensure the inherent dignity of the human person.

PROGRAMS AND ACTIVITIES

This part comprises:

- section 4 Availability of programs and activities
- section 5 Participation in programs and activities
- section 6 Enrolling in programs and activities
- section 7 Types of programs and activities
- section 8 Adult recreational education
- section 9 Minors accessing programs and activities
- section 10 Conditions of programs and activities
- section 11 Excursions
- section 12 Allocation of individual allowance points (IAP).

4 AVAILABILITY OF PROGRAMS AND ACTIVITIES

Programs and activities are available to persons in immigration detention centres (IDCs), immigration residential housing (IRHs), immigration transit accommodation (ITAs) and some other alternative places of detention (APODs).

The department reserves the right to cancel or postpone programs and activities. Relevant considerations when cancelling or postponing programs and activities may include:

- the availability of equipment
- relevant security and risk assessments
- access to excursion destinations and
- the availability of sufficient staff to safely and effectively undertake the activity and maintain good order.

The short-term unavailability of staff and facilities is not a valid reason to indefinitely postpone programs and activities.

5 PARTICIPATION IN PROGRAMS AND ACTIVITIES

The objective of implementing programs and activities in immigration detention facilities is to provide persons in immigration detention with:

- physical and mental stimulation
- increased health, fitness and wellbeing
- empowerment to choose day-to-day activities
- socialisation and interaction with other people and
- the opportunity to pass the time in a constructive manner.

Participation in programs and activities is not compulsory. Persons in immigration detention have the right to refuse to participate in the offered programs and activities. They may also ask to participate in programs and activities after initially refusing to participate. They may contact the programs and activities co-ordinator themselves or through the DSP staff.

6 ENROLLING IN PROGRAMS AND ACTIVITIES

The DSP programs and activities coordinator will inform persons in immigration detention about available programs and activities during their induction and will enrol them accordingly.

7 TYPES OF PROGRAMS AND ACTIVITIES

The range of programs and activities offered will vary across the immigration detention network and be subject to availability. Persons in immigration detention are to be offered a range of activities, including but not limited to:

- religious
- cultural
- sporting and fitness
- library
- educational
- excursions
- community activities
- art and craft.

Consideration must be given to the cultural and gender mix of the immigration detention population when deciding on the type of programs and activities offered. Wherever possible, persons in detention should be consulted on the types programs and activities offered.

8 ADULT RECREATIONAL EDUCATION

Community college and adult recreational education courses may be appropriate programs and activities for persons in immigration detention. Decisions need to be made on a case-by-case basis in terms of equity, security, cost and immigration pathway issues.

When determining whether an education course might be an appropriate activity, the nature of the course, the circumstances of the person in immigration detention and other relevant issues should be considered. For example:

- does the course require attendance at a campus or college
- length of study (generally, the educational programs undertaken by persons in immigration detention are of a short duration)
- cost.

It is departmental policy that persons in immigration detention do not undertake tertiary courses, as to do so might undermine student visa policy objectives and be perceived as inequitable when compared to the requirements that are placed on full-fee paying foreign students.

9 MINORS ACCESSING PROGRAMS AND ACTIVITIES

Minors have access to programs and activities, when it is necessary to hold them in lower-security facilities within the immigration detention network such as IRHs, ITAs and some APODs. As a statement of principle, minors, including juvenile foreign fishers, and where possible, their families will not be detained in an IDC.

Minors living in a family situation will need the permission of their parent or guardian before they can participate in programs and activities. If minors are participating in excursions off-site, a permission form must be signed by a parent or guardian and filed appropriately. Minors require the utmost care and attention to ensure their best interests are considered in determining access to a suitable range of programs and activities.

Minors and education

School-aged minors when in an immigration detention facility, have access to appropriate formal schooling. Formal schooling does not fall under the scope of programs and activities.

10 CONDITIONS OF PROGRAMS AND ACTIVITIES

10.1 Amount of time spent participating in programs and activities

Equity amongst the immigration detention population participating in programs and activities must be considered. When programs and activities have limited availability, persons with the fewer participation hours should be prioritised where possible.

10.2 Restrictions on programs and activities

Programs and activities must be culturally appropriate and sensitive to issues of gender.

Programs and activities are provided in all IDCs, ITAs and IRHs. They are also offered in some other forms of APOD, including APODs in the community. When considering whether programs and activities should be offered in APOD, both the needs of the person in detention and the likely length of stay in the APOD should be considered. For example, it would be impractical to offer programs and activities to a person detained in a hotel room designated as an APOD for one or two days while they await transfer to another form of detention.

Special care must be taken in deciding the appropriateness of particular programs and activities where the person is assessed as a current security or flight risk or has a current adverse risk assessment.

Persons in border screening detention (previously known as separation detention) are not able to apply for, or participate in excursions during the period of border screening detention, but they may participate in some programs and activities as a separate group. For policy and procedures see DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Border screening detention.

11 EXCURSIONS

Appropriately supervised excursions to approved venues are also acceptable under programs and activities - see DSM - Chapter 8 - Safety & security - Excursions.

12 ALLOCATION OF INDIVIDUAL ALLOWANCE POINTS (IAP)

Persons in some forms of immigration detention are allocated individual allowance points (IAP) that can be exchanged for incidental items. Additional IAP may be allocated for participating in programs and activities. IAP allows persons a level of control of their daily lives while in immigration detention, by providing a means to obtain incidentals and by encouraging participation in programs and activities. For policy and procedures see DSM - Chapter 5 - Welfare - Individual allowance points.

BACKGROUND

This part comprises:

- section 1 Purpose
- section 2 Guiding principles.

1 Purpose

This instruction provides guidance to the relevant departmental staff to ensure that both the welfare needs of persons in immigration detention and any potential risks to the community and staff are considered and addressed by both the department and the detention services provider (DSP) when persons in immigration detention receive adverse decisions. These may include adverse immigration pathway decisions or any other decisions that may negatively affect persons in immigration detention. It provides for a nationally consistent approach that ensures the ongoing wellbeing of persons in immigration detention and staff. For policy and procedure on the notification process, see PAM3: Act - Notification instructions- Notification requirements.

2 Guiding principles

A guiding principle in relation to the welfare needs of persons in immigration detention when notified of adverse decisions is contained in DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Service delivery values which state that persons in immigration detention will be treated fairly and reasonably within the law and that conditions of immigration detention will ensure the inherent dignity of the human person.

A second guiding principle that derives from the values is contained in DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Duty of care to persons in immigration detention, which states that the department owes a non-delegable duty of care towards persons in immigration detention and must exercise reasonable care to prevent any reasonably foreseeable harm and ensure their health and welfare, including their mental well-being.

ENSURING CLIENT WELFARE UPON NOTIFICATION OF ADVERSE DECISIONS

This part comprises:

- section 3 Introduction
- section 4 Planning and managing post-notification client welfare
- section 5 Implementation.

3 Introduction

Unlawful non-citizens are held in immigration detention pending their removal from Australia or a final immigration status resolution determination. The progress through their immigration pathway of a person in immigration detention is of critical importance to them and is often the singular focus of their efforts and attention while in immigration detention.

Detention management and non-immigration events and decisions can likewise have a major impact on persons in immigration detention.

Departmental officers must consider the possibility that persons in immigration detention may have an adverse reaction when being notified of an immigration pathway decision, particularly one they may perceive as negative. A range of adverse reactions should be anticipated, including the possibility of depression, attempted self-harm, attempts to harm other persons in immigration detention or staff, disruptive behaviour and disturbances with possible damage to property, or attempted escape.

The measures described in section 4 Planning and managing post-notification client welfare can assist persons in immigration detention come to terms with these decisions and assist staff in planning for and managing or minimising disappointment or negative behaviour. They can also assist other areas of the department to give effect to an immigration outcome for the person in detention.

4 Planning and managing post-notification client welfare

Persons in immigration detention will often be notified of a range of decisions. These can include immigration pathway events, involving decisions that determine a person's immigration status, such as visa decisions, tribunal or court decisions, ministerial intervention outcomes, or notifications of their imminent removal from Australia. There are also detention management events and decisions that are solely related to the persons' stay in immigration detention, for example, detention placement decisions, community detention referral outcomes, and excursion requests. It can also include decisions that are unrelated to the immigration pathway or detention management of persons in immigration detention, such as the outcomes of non-immigration litigation, police investigations, personal news, and so on.

The receipt of these decisions, particularly in the case of persons in immigration detention who have exhibited a high risk of self-harm or violent behaviour, can lead to situations where competing demands must be carefully managed. These include the duty of care to ensure the safety and wellbeing of persons in immigration detention, staff and visitors, and the duty of care to the Australian community to maintain the integrity of the migration program.

The process of notifying a person in immigration detention of a decision must meet legal notification requirements. For policy and procedure on immigration notifications, see PAM3: Act - Notification instructions- Notification requirements - Notification at decision stage. Additionally, the process of notifying persons in immigration detention must also ensure, by means of early (that is pre-notification) planning, that appropriate support services are delivered to the person in immigration detention, including if appropriate:

Health and mental health support

The department's contracted health services manager (HSM) may be required to provide counselling or other support to the person in immigration detention and their affected dependants, if any, immediately following notification and on an ongoing basis - if this involves after-hours support, this should be organised through Detention Health Services, National Office. For policy and procedure on health and mental health issues see DSM - Chapter 6 - Detention health.

Coordinating the notification of a decision

The relevant case manager or departmental officer responsible for notifying the person of the decision must ensure that all other areas of the department managing the immigration pathway and detention of the person in immigration detention are engaged and either involved in or aware of the decision and the notification process in a timely manner. This can include detention staff, case management staff, litigation, ministerial intervention and removals areas of the department at local and national levels, and relevant detention and HSPs. This process should provide other areas of the department with as much notice as possible to allow appropriate support measures to be arranged. For the Case Management Framework and Case Management responsibilities, see PAM3: Act - Compliance - Compliance, case management & detention - Case Management Handbook.

Methods of notification

Case management staff should choose the most appropriate methods of notification of the decision whether in person, by letter or by other means, mindful of the legal notification requirements that apply to certain decisions.

The actual notification will be organised and carried out by the relevant case manager in accordance with PAM3: Act - Notification - Notification requirements - Notification at decision stage as well as case management procedures for notifying persons in immigration detention of the decision concerned. This must be done in a manner that ensures that appropriate and timely support services can be delivered to the person in immigration detention and, if possible, during business hours.

Appropriate and timely support arrangements should be put in place prior to notification to ensure that risks are comprehensively and holistically managed. Some or all of the following support measures may be requested by the Case Management Service or other areas of the department, or implemented at the discretion of the case manager who will coordinate the DSP and the HSM, to support the person in immigration detention through the notification of the decision.

Timeframes for notifying persons of decisions

Communication of decisions that impact on a person's immigration status must be timely. The timeframes for notifying of decisions and the procedures for escalating cases that require extended notification are set out in interim guidelines available in TRIM link ADD2011/335787.

Minors

Under policy, notification relating to a minor is generally given to a person who is a carer of the minor. For the purposes of notification, a person is a carer of a minor if:

- the person is at least 18 years old and
- the Minister reasonably believes the person:
  - has day-to-day care and responsibility for the minor or
  - works in or for an organisation that has day-to-day care and responsibility for the minor and whose duties, whether alone or jointly with another person, involve care and responsibility for the minor.

The carer must be a natural person, but may be an employee of a corporation (such as a child protection agency).

Officers should investigate the departmental files in order to form reasonable belief. Officers should make a record of the information upon which they based their belief.

As a matter of law notification must not be given to a carer if:

- the minor has appointed an authorised recipient or
- the minor is part of a combined application (for example, a combined application with the minor's parent/s).

If the above circumstances do not apply and the minor has a carer, then the notification may be given to the carer. This does not prevent a copy of the notification being given to the minor.

Although there is no obligation to give the notification to the carer, under policy, officers should give notifications to carers, rather than the minor. If officers consider that the minor should also be notified directly, a copy of the notification should be given to the minor.

If an officer does not reasonably believe that a person has day-to-day care and responsibility for the minor or does not work in or for an organisation that has day-to-day care and responsibility for the minor, the notification must, as a matter of law, be given to the minor.

A notification given to a carer should be addressed in the same way the notification would be addressed and sent to an authorised recipient. For policy and procedure, see of PAM3: Act - Notification - Notification requirements - Methods of giving documents to an authorised recipient.

Notification may be given to a carer using the following methods:

- dispatching the notification by prepaid post or
- sending the notification by fax, email or other electronic means

For policy and procedure on notifying minors in detention, see PAM3: Act - Notification instructions - Notification requirements - Notifying minors in detention.

If notification is to be given to a minor in detention (whether the original notification in the first instance, or a copy of the original notification given to the carer), the 'best interests of the child' principle is a primary consideration. Their treatment, including the delivery of notifications, is to be humane and have as little adverse impact on the minor as possible.

Whenever a notification is to be delivered to a minor, either a parent, legal guardian or an independent person (that is, one who can safeguard the best interests of the child) must be present while the notification is delivered.

An independent person is required if:

- a parent or legal guardian of the minor requests the presence of an independent person, and the independent person is readily available and willing to attend
- a parent or legal guardian of the minor is not available or
- the legal guardian of the minor is the Minister.

Review of detention placement

An immigration decision may trigger a review of the detention placement arrangements for the person in immigration detention and their security risk and flight risk profile. This may result in a recommendation to change the placement or detention management arrangements for the person in immigration detention immediately following notification, particularly to meet security, health or monitoring needs as appropriate given the circumstances.

Language issues

The Translating & Interpreting Service (TIS) may need to be engaged to ensure that the notification occurs in a language the person in immigration detention can understand.

See DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Translating & interpreting services.

Registered migration agent and/or legal representative

If the person in immigration detention has a migration agent or a legal representative (as advised to the department by the migration agent or the legal representative in writing, for example on Form 956), notification relating to an immigration decision about the person in immigration detention must always be given to the migration agent, legal representative or authorised recipient.

Arrangements should be made to enable the migration agent or legal representative to explain the decision and describe the next steps to the person in immigration detention as soon as possible. Not only is such timely explanation fair and reasonable for the person in immigration detention, it also contributes positively to managing their responses if the decision is negative. Communication between the person in immigration detention and their advisor must therefore be facilitated, so that the advisor can provide timely advice to the person in immigration detention on the implications of the decision and their options (for example, whether to seek review).

Note: Migration agents have a contractual obligation to assist their clients with understanding the processes used by the department. They must explain the outcome of visa or tribunal decisions whenever they provide application assistance and merits review services under the Immigration Advice and Application Assistance Scheme (IAAAS) to persons in immigration detention who have sought protection in Australia or who are subject to a finding of Convention refugee status under refugee status assessment (or protection obligation determination after 1 March 2011) procedures on Christmas Island.

Authorised recipient who is not a registered migration agent or legal representative

If the person in immigration detention has an authorised recipient who is NOT a registered migration agent or a legal representative (as advised to the department by the person in immigration detention in writing, for example on Form 956A), as a matter of law notification relating to an immigration decision about the person in immigration detention must also be given to the authorised recipient. However, unlike registered migration agents or legal representatives, an authorised recipient cannot provide immigration assistance or advice to the person in immigration detention. Therefore, although arrangements should be made to facilitate the authorised recipient passing on the notification to the person in immigration detention, it would not be appropriate to arrange a meeting between the authorised recipient and the person in immigration detention for the purpose of enabling the authorised recipient to advise the person in immigration detention on the implications of the decision and their options.

Officers should be aware, however, that the prohibition against the provision of immigration assistance does not apply if the authorised recipient is a person who is exempt from the prohibition, for example, member of a diplomatic mission or consular post, a close family member (spouse, child, adopted child, parent, brother or sister).

For policy and procedure on notifying an authorised recipient (whether or not the authorised recipient is a registered migration agent or a lawyer), see PAM3: Act - Notification instructions- Notification requirements - Notifying authorised recipients - s494D.

Family and community supporters

If a person in immigration detention has previously given written consent allowing their personal information to be shared with another person or organisation, including family and community supporters, and that consent is still valid at the time of the notification, consideration should be given to advising that person or organisation of the decision and engaging their support. In addition, it may be appropriate to facilitate phone calls for the person to family and friends.

Detention services provider

Close coordination between case management and the DSP must take place to manage the notification of a decision to the person in immigration detention, combining both case management's knowledge of the case and the DSP's information obtained from their day-to-day dealings with the person.

The DSP holds carriage of all security/flight risk assessments and individual management plans (IMPs). The DSP is expected to amend the IMP where any significant (negative) decisions are planned to be delivered and they are expected to manage any potentially adverse reactions that may result. The DSP should actively engage with persons in immigration detention, exercising a regime of ongoing risk monitoring, and have in place mechanisms to mitigate any risks identified.

Managing suicide & self harm risks

The person in immigration detention may require assessment of their suicide and self-harm risk and support may be required through the psychological support program (PSP). Liaison in advance of the notification will enable the HSM to arrange ongoing support, as a negative response from the person may or may not be immediate. PSP arrangements are an HSM responsibility in the first instance, however departmental and on-site DSP staff play an important role by passing on their observations and feedback from interactions with persons in immigration detention. For policy and procedure on health and mental health issues, see DSM - Chapter 6 - Detention health - Psychological support program (PSP).

Visits & excursions

The person in immigration detention may benefit from visits to their place of immigration detention by family, friends or community supporters, particularly if the decision will lead to imminent removal from Australia. However, participation in excursions or other escorted movements by the person in immigration detention should be reviewed in light of any changes to security or flight risk - see DSM Chapter 8 - Safety and security - Excursions.

Removal support

In the case of an imminent removal from Australia, consideration should be given to:

- (1) ensuring the person in immigration detention is available for removal
- (2) planning transport and escort
- (3) conducting a risk assessment in relation to self-harm or flight risks and
- (4) ensuring that fit-to-travel assessments have been conducted. For policy and procedure, see PAM3: Act - Compliance - Removal instructions- Removal from Australia.

Privacy issues

In arranging these measures, due consideration should always be given to protecting the privacy of the person in immigration detention, including seeking their written consent (where required) before discussing personal information outside the department and ensuring that there is otherwise no unauthorised disclosure of personal information.

Impact on others

Consideration should also be given to identifying any risks and implementing contingency plans to manage any potential adverse reaction, including those related to the person's individual health and welfare, from other persons in immigration detention. This includes any minors or other dependants on a different immigration pathway who may be affected by the relevant decision.

5 Implementation

These measures may be requested by the Case Management Service or other areas of the department, or implemented at the discretion of the DSP centre manager and staff or the HSM, to support persons in immigration detention through the notification of immigration decisions.

INTRODUCTION

This part comprises:

- section 1 Purpose
- section 2 Guiding principles
- section 3 Definitions
- section 4 Background.

1 PURPOSE

The purpose of this instruction is to provide advice to departmental officers on policy and procedures for the induction health assessment that is offered to a person when they enter immigration detention, to ensure that they receive appropriate healthcare.

Note: This instruction provides advice to inform good decision making (see IDEAL for further information on decision making models). Officers should contact the Detention Health Services Section (detention.health@immi.gov.au) where difficulties arise in coming to a decision in the context of this Instruction.

2 GUIDING PRINCIPLES

The guiding principles in relation to the provision of health care services within the immigration detention network are encapsulated in DSM Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview: Service delivery values which state that persons in immigration detention will be treated fairly and reasonably within the law (Value 6) and that conditions of immigration detention will ensure the inherent dignity of the human person (Value 7). For the purpose of this instruction, this means that:

- each person entering immigration detention is offered an induction health assessment, which is conducted subject to their consent
- induction health assessments are appropriately tailored for each person's individual health risk factors and are conducted by qualified health care providers
- each person in immigration detention is promptly referred to an appropriate health care provider for further assessment, treatment and management (as clinically appropriate and in line with community standards), where a health concern or issue is identified
- health information is personal information under the Privacy Act 1988
- a health care provider should not disclose personal information, without the person's consent, to another party unless there is an overriding requirement by law
- the health services manager is responsible for making clinical decisions about a person's health care and for providing health advice to the department and the detention services providers (DSP) only where a person's health status is relevant to their care while in immigration detention (the department has a duty of care to follow that advice in managing the care of persons in immigration detention).

3 DEFINITIONS

Detention services provider (DSP)

Organisation contracted by the department to manage all operational and general welfare aspects of immigration detention facilities.

Health services manager

Health services organisation contracted by the department to facilitate access to health care for persons in immigration detention. The current health services manager is International Health and Medical Services (IHMS).

Health care provider

Health care professionals, such as general practitioners (GPs) or registered nurses, engaged by the health services manager to provide health care to persons in immigration detention.

Induction health assessment

The health care provider's assessment of a person in detention to determine their health status shortly after entering immigration detention.

Discharge health assessment

The health care provider's assessment of a person in detention to determine their health status shortly before leaving immigration detention.

4 BACKGROUND

The health care and management of persons in immigration detention is a shared responsibility between the individual, the department and the health care providers who provide health services to persons in immigration detention.

It is the responsibility of the department to ensure a person in immigration detention has access to a level of health care that meets their individual health needs, and that is commensurate to that available to persons in the wider Australian community. It should be noted that the circumstances of being in immigration detention may result in some persons not actively pursuing or accessing the health services that are offered. It is important to recognise a person's right to refuse health services. However encouragement to use the services on offer should be provided. It should also be noted that health services are provided by the Commonwealth at no cost to the person in immigration detention.

The department contracts a health services manager to provide access to the full range of health care services for persons in immigration detention. Decisions about a person's health and wellbeing are clinical decisions made by the treating health care provider engaged by the health services manager. The health services manager and the health care providers they engage provide health services in accordance with the Royal Australian College of General Practitioners Standards for health services in Australian immigration detention centres for persons in immigration detention centres, or community general practice health standards. The privacy of persons in immigration detention must be respected and their health information managed in accordance with the Privacy Act 1988.

The Detention Health Framework was released in November 2007, to provide a policy framework for health care for persons in immigration detention. The framework highlights the importance of the induction health assessment as the most critical stage of a person's immigration detention to identify existing or potential health problems that require attention to reduce risk and optimise an individual's well being while in immigration detention. In particular, it may be relevant for departmental staff to familiarise themselves with the five core health principles outlined in section 4.2 of the Detention Health Framework.

A person's health and mental wellbeing are relevant factors in the claims of that person for an immigration outcome and/or in relation to the care provided to that person by the department, the health services manager and the DSP. It is important that submissions or reports used in determining an outcome are informed by the most up-to-date health advice from the treating health care provider, which may be obtained by contacting the Detention Health Services Section (detention.health@immi.gov.au). Detention Health Services Section will advise on matters of consent around the release of information for these purposes.

THE INDUCTION HEALTH ASSESSMENT

This part comprises:

- section 5 Who is offered an induction health assessment
- section 6 What is consent for an induction health assessment
- section 7 What is assessed in an induction health assessment
- section 8 When does an induction health assessment take place
- section 9 Where does an induction health assessment take place
- section 10 What is a health care record
- section 11 What are the privacy requirements
- section 12 How do persons in detention know how to access health services
- section 13 Managing complaints.

5 WHO IS OFFERED AN INDUCTION HEALTH ASSESSMENT

An induction health assessment is offered to every person entering immigration detention under s189 of the Migration Act.

An induction health assessment will only be conducted with the consent of the person in detention. See section 6 What is consent for an induction health assessment for further information.

6 WHAT IS CONSENT FOR AN INDUCTION HEALTH ASSESSMENT

Consent must be obtained from a person in detention prior to an induction health assessment being conducted. The health care provider will explain the purpose and importance of the assessment and discuss the assessment process to enable the person in detention to make an informed decision. Access to an interpreter will be provided as necessary and is a contractual requirement for the health services manager. For further information refer to DSM Chapter 4: Legislative & principles overview - Translating & interpreting services.

Where a person in immigration detention is unable or refuses to give consent for the physical examination component of the induction health assessment, the health care provider will record the refusal and document the person's health history, where supplied.

Where it is determined that a person may not have the mental capacity to properly look after their interests, consideration will be given to seeking the appointment of a guardian for that person. This may involve making an application to the relevant guardianship board in the relevant state or territory. Refer to DSM Chapter 6: Detention health - Ongoing health care for further information.

In seeking consent for undertaking the induction health assessment for a minor in immigration detention, the health care provider will consider the minor's age and their capacity to consent for health care in accordance with state, territory and Commonwealth legislation.

In line with the appropriate legislation, the health care provider will make a decision on the minor's capacity to give informed consent for health care. If the health care provider determines that the minor does not have this capacity, the health care provider will seek consent from the appropriate guardian for the minor in detention, who may be a family member or an appointed guardian.

7 WHAT IS ASSESSED IN AN INDUCTION HEALTH ASSESSMENT

The purpose of the induction health assessment is to establish a person's health status, including any physical or mental health issues or conditions that require immediate attention or ongoing health management while the person remains in immigration detention. The process involves the collection of a medical history, including vaccination history, a physical examination and a mental health assessment.

Additional screening may be undertaken, with the consent of the person in detention, where there is an indicated risk or it is required by a public health authority. For example, the induction health assessment for persons entering detention who have recently arrived from a country with a known increased risk of communicable diseases, such as tuberculosis, includes screening for these conditions.

The health care provider conducting the induction health assessment may perform additional screening or testing for different health conditions where they observe clinical symptoms indicating such a need. The decision to offer additional testing and the nature of the additional testing offered is made by the treating health care provider based on their professional judgement and the information and observations they have collected during the health assessment process.

An induction health assessment can also provide advice on a person's fitness to travel, which is valid for 28 days, subject to provisions of DSM Chapter 6: Detention health - Discharge health assessment.

7.1 Health information prior to client placement

Health-related information (or staff observations) may arise prior to a formal induction health assessment. A person may disclose such information or may have prescribed medications in their possession that indicate an existing health condition.

Health-related information the health care provider may receive prior to conducting the health assessment can inform the induction health assessment. To protect the person's privacy and subject to their consent, such advice should be placed in a sealed envelope and provided directly to the health care provider. Where this is not possible, the sealed envelope should be provided to the DSP to pass on to the health care provider.

7.2 Medication management

Upon entry into an immigration detention centre (IDC), the DSP requests all prescribed medication from the person during their property check. Where this causes concern an immediate referral to the health care provider will be made. In all other cases the medication will be provided to the health care provider for appropriate follow up and administration where necessary.

In immigration transit accommodation, immigration residential housing, alternative places of detention and community detention, a person in immigration detention is responsible for storage and self administration of medication as required, in conjunction with advice from the health care provider.

7.3 Mental health screening and assessment

The health services manager is responsible for ensuring that mental health screening and assessment processes are incorporated in the induction health assessment for persons in immigration detention.

Mental health screening tools are used to assess and identify mental health issues and ensure the appropriate mental health care is provided during a person's placement in immigration detention.

Where a person's health status, including mental health, is relevant to their welfare and care being provided to them, the health services manager will provide such information to the department as is necessary to ensure that the department meets its duty of care.

The health services manager will also inform the department where it believes a person may have experienced torture and/or trauma so that specialist treatment can be provided and alternative placement considered. The health services manager will organise such specialist referral.

- Mental health screening for persons in immigration detention policy and
- DSM Chapter 6: Detention health - Identification & support of survivors of torture & trauma.

7.4 Health risk factors

The department's Detention Health Framework recognises that persons in immigration detention present with differing health risk profiles. Risk profiles should be taken into account during the induction health assessment, for example where persons are detained at sea or on arrival from countries bordering our northern shores, they present a higher risk of communicable diseases, such as tuberculosis and thus require screening.

Routine screening for communicable diseases is conducted on some high-risk groups, such as illegal foreign fishers (IFFs). Screening for these groups is conducted prior to their induction health assessment, at which time IFFs are in fisheries detention.

Screening and testing of communicable diseases must be conducted as per the Guidelines for the public health management of communicable diseases in Australian detention environments and ministerial decisions.

The Detention Health Framework also recognises that clinical indicators may require further diagnostic procedures.

7.5 Drug-related health problems

The induction health assessment also provides an opportunity for a person in detention to discuss any drug-related health problems or drug dependencies with the health care provider.

If the health care provider observes a person in immigration detention who is (or is suspected to be) withdrawing from drugs and/or alcohol, appropriate care is provided as clinically appropriate - see DSM Chapter 6: Detention health - Ongoing health care.

Clinical handover of health information, such as the person having drug-related health problems, is important in establishing health plans for persons in detention. For example, if a person is being transferred from a prison to an IDC, the health care provider at the detention centre will make contact with the prison health provider to seek handover, which might include information on whether the person experiences drug-related health problems and how these problems have been managed.

7.6 HIV (Human immunodeficiency virus)

Detention health policy on HIV testing is informed by the Guiding principles for HIV testing in Australia. HIV testing will not be offered on a routine basis, but a voluntary HIV test with pre-test and post-test counselling will be performed if requested by the person in detention. HIV tests will be offered to persons in detention if there is a clinical indication. Further information can be obtained by contacting: detention.health@immi.gov.au

8 WHEN DOES AN INDUCTION HEALTH ASSESSMENT TAKE PLACE

The health care provider will complete an induction health assessment as soon as possible, but in all cases within three days (that is, 72 hours) of the person entering immigration detention (unless the person declines). Relevant health risk factors may require an immediate response, which will be facilitated by the health care provider.

Departmental and DSP staff must notify the health services manager that a person is entering immigration detention at the first practicable opportunity, either by phone or email, to ensure that an induction health assessment can be organised within the specified timeframe.

Where a person comes into immigration detention while in hospital, the induction health assessment will be conducted on arrival at the immigration detention placement option. Liaison with the hospital is coordinated through the health care provider.

9 WHERE DOES AN INDUCTION HEALTH ASSESSMENT TAKE PLACE

Health services provided for persons in immigration detention are structured to reflect the nature of the placement and departmental detention policy.

The location and procedures for induction health assessments differ depending on the placement option within the immigration detention network (see DSM Chapter 2: - Client placement - Placement options within the immigration detention network) in which the person is placed, as follows:

IDs

An onsite registered nurse usually conducts the induction health assessment and refers a person for a more detailed clinical assessment to a GP, as appropriate.

Immigration residential housing and alternative places of detention

The health services manager engages a local community GP to conduct the induction health assessment in the community setting. The health services manager will ensure that the GP is aware of the reasons for, and implications of, the health assessment prior to it occurring. The person is escorted by the DSP, or a designated person, to the appointment at the GP's clinic.

Immigration transit accommodation

An onsite registered nurse usually conducts the induction health assessment, and refers a person for a more detailed clinical assessment to a local community GP, as appropriate. In some circumstances the initial assessment may be conducted by a local community GP. However this is dependent on the arrival time of the person entering the immigration transit accommodation.

Community detention

It is not common practice for a person to be placed straight into community detention. Prior to entering community detention a person will usually be placed in an IDC, immigration residential housing, alternative place of detention or immigration transit accommodation where they will be offered their induction health assessment.

Where a person in immigration detention is placed directly into community detention, the health services manager engages a local community GP to conduct the induction health assessment.

10 WHAT IS A HEALTH CARE RECORD

The health services manager creates a health care record for persons in detention at the time of their induction health assessment in accordance with privacy and confidentiality requirements, and in line with their professional registration and codes of conduct. Refer to DSM Chapter 6: Detention health - Privacy of health information for further information on the management of health information.

The record contains confirmation of consent (see section 6 What is consent for an induction health assessment) and a contemporaneous note of all relevant details (including any follow-up action or referrals) relating to the outcome of the assessment. The refusal by a person in detention to give consent to a physical examination or undergo any other recommended investigation, procedure or treatment is also be recorded on the health care record. This may include a copy of the person's signed form refusing medical treatment.

With the person's consent, the local community GP performing the induction health assessment for persons in community detention, immigration residential housing, immigration transit accommodation and alternative detention, will forward the patient's health information to the health service manager. This ensures adequate records are kept and are entered into the health services manager's health database.

11 WHAT ARE THE PRIVACY REQUIREMENTS

The broad principle of the privacy policy is that health information is confidential information that can only be obtained by a third party upon disclosure by, or with consent from, the person whose information it is.

The health services manager is required to protect personal health information that they have collected from persons in immigration detention when providing health care. However the health services manager will make that information available to departmental officers with the consent of the person in immigration detention.

Where an officer of the department or the DSP believes that they do not have sufficient information about a person's health and wellbeing to carry out their duties, they should contact the Detention Health Services Section for advice (detention.health@immi.gov.au). The Detention Health Services Section coordinates requests for health information of persons in immigration detention and consent processes to ensure that the need for the request is substantiated and the appropriate consent is sought.

Refer to DSM Chapter 6: Detention health - Privacy of health information for further information.

12 HOW DO PERSONS IN DETENTION KNOW HOW TO ACCESS HEALTH SERVICES

Each person in detention must be provided with appropriately tailored and translated information that sufficiently details the health services available to them while in detention.

The department is taking steps to provide persons in immigration detention with booklets containing information about available health care. These booklets will provide relevant written information about the range of available health care services. This may include the provision of the health brochure for immigration residential housing and immigration transit accommodation. For further information on these booklets, or to obtain copies, contact the Detention Health Services Section (detention.health@immi.gov.au).

13 MANAGING COMPLAINTS

Persons have a right to complain about the health care services or treatment they receive while in immigration detention. The health care provider will during the induction health assessment advise persons in immigration detention of their right to complain and how a complaint can be raised.

The health services manager is required contractually to establish protocols to manage complaints by persons in immigration detention about their treatment by health care providers, and is obliged to report complaints to the department. The health services manager is also liable to manage complaints in accordance with state laws and standards.

INTRODUCTION

This part comprises:

- section 1 Purpose
- section 2 Background
- section 3 Who does this policy apply to
- section 4 Intended audience.

1 PURPOSE

This policy aims to:

- provide a clinically recommended approach for the identification and support of persons in immigration detention who are at risk of self-harm and suicide, thereby reducing risk and improving health outcomes reduce the level of uncertainty and stress for staff in dealing with persons in immigration detention who exhibit self-harming and suicidal behaviour.

This policy acts as a basis for, but does not replace, in-depth training and operating procedures.

2 BACKGROUND

The current self-harm prevention policy used in immigration detention is known as the Suicide and Self-Harm (SASH) Protocol. On advice from the Detention Health Advisory Group (DeHAG), the department commissioned Monash University to conduct an independent review of this protocol. This review was completed in February 2008. Augmented by additional advice from the DeHAG Mental Health Sub-Group, the review has informed the new approach set out in this instruction.

The new approach set out in this policy accepts the impossibility of eliminating all risk and balances the need for 'end-stage' safety with a new emphasis on prevention, support, engagement, autonomy and reintegration.

The term 'SASH' will no longer be used. The new acronym is 'PSP' (for psychological support program).

3 WHO DOES THIS POLICY APPLY TO

This policy is aimed at all persons in immigration detention, whether they are accommodated in an immigration detention facility (an immigration detention centre, immigration residential housing or immigration transit accommodation), alternative temporary detention in the community or in community detention. It does not apply to persons living in the community on bridging visas.

The principles contained in this policy apply to all forms of detention. However, some of the processes are tailored to immigration detention facilities. This not only recognises that some self-harm risk factors are more prevalent in more highly controlled detention environments, but also reflects the limited control available under community detention arrangements, which necessarily allow more freedom and less oversight. Limited guidance on the operation of this policy for non-facility based detention placements is provided at section 30 Self harm prevention in community detention.

4 INTENDED AUDIENCE

The intended audience for this instruction is all personnel who interact with, or advocate for, persons in immigration detention, including:

- the health services manager, currently International Health and Medical Services (IHMS):
  - health providers working in, or consulting to, immigration detention facilities

community-based health service providers engaged by the health services manager for persons in community detention

- the Department of Immigration and Citizenship (the department):

- Community and Detention Services Division, including personnel working at detention facilities and in policy roles
- Compliance and Case Management Division, including personnel working in case management, enforcement and policy roles
- state and territory personnel with interactions with persons in detention
- the detention service provider (DSP), currently G4S (formerly Global Solutions Limited (GSL)) service providers involved in the support of persons in community detention

- the Health Service Delivery Group (HSDG)
- the Detention Health Advisory Group (DeHAG)
- the Immigration Detention Advisory Group (IDAG)
- external stakeholders, including:
  - the Red Cross
  - Commonwealth (Immigration) Ombudsman
  - the Australian Human Rights Commission
  - the United Nations High Commission for Refugees
  - asylum seeker support groups and advocates
  - legal representatives.

OVERVIEW OF SELF HARM RISK

This part comprises:

- section 5 Definition of self harm
- section 6 Distinguishing between self harm & suicide
- section 7 Risk Factors for self harm & suicide
- section 8 Warning signs
- section 9 Protective factors
- section 10 Staff training.

5 DEFINITION OF SELF HARM

For the purposes of this policy, suicide and self-harming behaviour is defined as actions or threats of actions which, if carried out, may lead to self-injury or death.

Self-harming behaviours form a continuum ranging from indirect self-harming behaviour, to placing oneself in a physically dangerous situation, to suicidal thoughts, threats of suicide (verbal and non-verbal), non-accidental self-infliction of injury, attempted suicide and committing suicide.

Voluntary starvation (voluntary total fasting) can be viewed as self-harming behaviour; however, it will not be managed using this process unless clinical assessments indicate that a psychological support program (PSP) intervention is appropriate.

6 DISTINGUISHING BETWEEN SELF HARM & SUICIDE

The literature on suicide indicates that it is notoriously difficult to distinguish between suicidal gestures (actions resembling suicide attempts while not being fully committed) and “genuine” suicide attempts (actions taken with intent to die). While it is well established that self-harming behaviour frequently occurs in the absence of suicidal intent, it is equally true that the motivations of persons in deep distress can be impossible to know (even they may not be clear on their intentions) and that self-harm attempts not intending to cause death can result in serious harm or even unintentional death.

Research also suggests that deliberate self-harm is a major risk factor for future suicide. This does not mean that every person who self-harms will go on to make further self-harm or suicide attempts, but indicates that such persons should be considered ‘at-risk’ until further risk assessments can be made by a qualified clinician.

This policy does not attempt to provide guidance on the distinction between self-harm without suicidal intent and “genuine” suicide attempts but recognises that such judgements may be necessary for assessing the level of risk. Judgements of this nature will always be made by qualified clinicians.

7 RISK FACTORS FOR SELF HARM & SUICIDE

It is well known that the causes of self-harm and suicide are particularly complex. There are both exogenous (that is, factors outside of the individual) and endogenous factors (that is, factors within the individual) involved in the development of self-harmful behaviour. When the causes of self-harm are largely attributed to exogenous factors, as can be the case for some persons in immigration detention, individual interventions offer only limited efficacy. On the other hand, some of those who engage in self-harming behaviour come to detention with pre-existing vulnerabilities for which identification and accommodation is required. Regardless of which factors might be involved in precipitating self-harming behaviour, expert advice suggests that it is possible to identify and help manage risks of self-harm and suicide among persons in detention.

This instruction cannot provide a definitive list of risk factors for self-harm and suicide, and a more detailed exploration should be provided through training. Even then, it must be acknowledged that little research has been conducted on self-harm and suicide among persons in immigration detention, the existing evidence base coming from prison and community settings. Notwithstanding these limitations, it is possible to provide an overview of risk factors based on this research and advice from experts in the area of self-harm.

Generic risk factors include:

- history of self destructive behaviour (including deliberate self-harm)
- demographics (for example, being male, risk peaking at 23 years of age)
- behavioural traits (for example, impulsivity, poor problem solving, poor coping skills)
- long standing or recently diagnosed medical illness
- known psychiatric illness, particularly:
  - mood disorders
  - psychotic disorders
  - drug and alcohol disorders
  - past and current traumatic experiences, with or without a diagnosis for Post Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD)
  - co-occurring mental illness and substance abuse
- significant loss (for example, bereavement)
- being a victim of criminal action, including physical or sexual assault
- harm to, or self-harm in, friend / family member / close contact (including war or natural disasters in a person's home country).

Risk factors which may be more common for persons in immigration detention include:

- separation from family and significant others
- witnessing, or being involved in, group self-harming or destructive behaviours
- attempted or committed self-harm or suicide amongst others in detention
- distress associated with being detained, including significant fear of being returned to country of origin
- increased risk following visits
- increased risk following negative visa decisions
- religious holidays.

8 WARNING SIGNS

A full appreciation of the range of potential warning signs is equally complex and should be explored in training. However, some of these may include:

- expressed feelings of guilt or shame
- emotional stress
- statements suggesting feelings of hopelessness or helplessness
- depression
- agitation
- social isolation or withdrawal
- threats or talk of suicide or self-harm
- giving away many or all belongings.

9 PROTECTIVE FACTORS

A protective factor is any factor whose presence is associated with a reduced likelihood of a disease, condition or event. Protective factors enhance resilience and may serve to counterbalance risk factors. While there is no specific research on protective factors for persons at risk of self-harm and suicide in immigration detention, protective factors for suicide in the general community include:

- a significant other who listens and understands
- effective clinical care for mental, physical and substance use disorders
- easy access to a variety of clinical interventions and support for help-seeking
- restricted access to highly lethal means of suicide
- strong connections to family and community support
- support through ongoing medical and mental health care relationships
- skills in handling difficult emotions, problem solving, conflict resolution and non-violent handling of disputes
- cultural and religious beliefs that discourage suicide and support self preservation.

The approach outlined in this instruction seeks wherever possible to strengthen these protective factors.

10 STAFF TRAINING

All personnel who work with persons in detention, including the DSP, the department and the HSP, must be trained to recognise and respond to the warning signs and risk factors of self-harm and suicide.

Training should include:

- awareness of the key risk and protective factors associated with self-destructive behaviour
- cultural awareness issues as they relate to mental state, expression of distress and self-harm
- recognising signs and symptoms and events that would trigger an evaluation (or re-evaluation) of risk
- routes and processes for referral to health services for those experiencing distress
- PSP processes, including periodic updates as a result of continuous quality improvement.

Training for DSP personnel must also address the specific skills required to conduct self-harm risk assessment interviews at reception and to perform monitoring and engagement as described in this policy.

Training should be nationally consistent and delivered in an ongoing format (initial training and an annual refresher), with further, ongoing specialist support by the health services manager and supervision by a senior independent mental health clinician. This may involve audits of knowledge and competence in the PSP process outlined in this instruction.

NINE PRINCIPLES FOR THE PREVENTION & MANAGEMENT OF SELF HARM

11 NINE PRINCIPLES

The following nine principles underpin the prevention and management of self-harm for persons in immigration detention:

- A supportive environment
- Clinically-informed response
- A positive, supportive response
- Early identification of risk
- Response appropriate to the level of risk
- External referral in high risk cases
- Well trained and supported staff
- Cultural competence is critical
- Response must actively seek out and offer support to others who may be affected.

A supportive environment

The first priority in preventing self-harm is a focus on health promotion and prevention to reduce risk factors and strengthen protective factors in the immigration detention environment. The department's approach to this is outlined in

- DSM Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview: Service delivery values
- the Detention Health Framework.

Providing a supportive detention environment to prevent self-harm is primarily the responsibility of the department and the DSP, with support from the health services manager.

Clinically-informed response

Managing the risk of self-harm is everyone's responsibility and must be holistic and multidisciplinary.

Clinicians, on the basis of their training in mental health and self-harm management issues, determine the appropriate level of risk and response, including any other health issues relevant to the individual. However, in many cases the causes of self-harm risk and the best ways to address this are by non-health means and thus all service providers have a role to play in supporting and ensuring the safety of persons at risk of self-harm.

The health services manager has a responsibility to proactively share appropriate information about self harm risk, and the DSP and the department have a responsibility to seek and act on clinical advice. While there is a range of levels of expertise in mental health amongst different health professionals, all professionally trained clinicians have the capacity for effective risk assessment and exercise of informed judgement. This capacity needs to be based on education, training and peer review.

A positive, supportive response

It is important to safely care for those who are at risk for self-harm or suicide without further increasing their risk through excessive surveillance and scrutiny, which may actually increase distress and risk. It is imperative that the PSP is not primarily a defensive response. The department recognises that it is not possible to fully eliminate the risk of self-harm and accepts the reasonable risks associated with a response that aims to support and reintegrate persons at risk of self-harm into the detention community as soon as possible rather than attempting to prevent self-harm at all costs.

Responses must recognise the basic human need for autonomy as well as safety, and this means generating strategies to enable autonomy for persons in immigration detention wherever possible. Even in secure environments risk cannot be eliminated completely, and calculated risks must sometimes be taken openly in discussion with all parties, and documented for the purposes of review.

Interventions for persons at risk of self-harm should emphasise:

- not “watching” but “being with”
- not “containing” but “maintaining support”
- not “isolating” but “integrating”
- not “controlling” but “facilitating appropriate expressions of distress and anger”.

These are important changes in emphasis at a systemic level; they are not absolute prohibitions. Each case must be carefully assessed to seek an appropriate balance.

Underpinning the entire PSP process is the philosophy that staff are engaging in an ongoing process of getting to know each person in detention, all the time gathering knowledge and increasing their understanding of the evolving culture and dynamics in the individual detention facility.

Early identification of risk

Early identification of persons at risk of self harm and suicide is critical. Evidence from correctional environments indicates that half of all suicides occur within the first 24 hours following intake. However, the net for those perceived to be at risk must not be cast so broadly as to inaccurately identify many who do not in fact pose a real risk.

Response appropriate to the level of risk

Identification of risk must be followed promptly by a response that is proportionate to the level of risk. The starting point when someone appears to be experiencing emotional difficulty and self-harming or suicidal thoughts with low intent is a “kind ear” and encouragement. However, when a person is expressing or suspected of having suicidal thoughts with high intent, or is actively suicidal, close observation and more intensive, supportive engagement is essential.

External referral in high risk cases

Persons assessed as at High imminent risk of suicide or serious self-harm should be referred immediately for mental health assessment, including consideration of transfer to an external health service such as a hospital. Immigration detention centres (IDCs) are not equipped, and must not be expected, to provide acute psychiatric care where there is a high imminent risk of self-harm.

See also:

- section 21 Self harm risk levels
- section 27 24 hour limit on management of ‘high imminent’ self harm risk.

Well trained and supported staff

Staff will be provided with the knowledge and skills to assist them in their early identification, intervention, monitoring and support roles. Skills development in relation to the prevention and management of self-harm should be embedded into routine practice and considered part of the core business of all staff working in IDCs.

See also section 10 Staff training.

Cultural competence is critical

An awareness and understanding of culture, cultural differences, and cultural manifestations of distress and mental disorder are central to identifying, supporting and eventually alleviating a person’s distress. This requires training in cultural competence and may also involve engaging assistance from those who have a specialist understanding of a person’s cultural and ethnic group. Interpreters, preferably onsite interpreters, must be used where language barriers are present.

Response must actively seek out and offer support to others who may be affected

If threats of self-harm and/or suicide lead to an action or attempted action it is vitally important to recognise the impact of this incident not only on the individual, but also on the wider community in, and possibly beyond, immigration detention. Services should adopt an inclusive policy that actively seeks out and identifies those close to the person involved in the primary incident, then also considers the wider peer group of that person. See also section 29 Post-incident response.

ROLES & TEAM ARRANGEMENTS

This part comprises:

- section 12 Generic roles & responsibilities
- section 13 Specific roles & responsibilities
- section 14 PSP team arrangements
- section 15 Privacy & confidentiality.

12 GENERIC ROLES & RESPONSIBILITIES

All parties are expected to:

- work together to provide an environment that seeks to prevent self-harm by reducing risk factors and enhancing protective factors, including activities and programs targeted at mental health promotion and prevention
- participate in PSP team meetings and processes, including case reviews and ongoing quality improvement
- keep complete and accurate records.

13 SPECIFIC ROLES & RESPONSIBILITIES

The roles and responsibilities of the DSP, the HSP and the department are outlined below.

Detention service provider

conduct initial self-harm risk assessment interviews and refer persons at risk of self-harm to a health professional

- be alert to early warning signs and seek immediate advice from the HSP where risk of self-harm is suspected
- follow clinical advice from the HSP engage with persons identified as at risk of self-harm in a supportive way

- record meaningful observations of persons on monitoring and engagement plans and ensure these are communicated to the PSP team
- respond to any attempted or committed self-harm or suicide incidents and submit incident reports to the department
- ensure that responsibility for supporting persons at risk of self-harm is transferred effectively at shift changeovers.

Health service provider

- conduct initial and scheduled comprehensive mental health screening, as well as ad hoc assessments where an individual displays deterioration in their mental state or undergoes a significant change in their situation which may exacerbate distress
- develop and maintain therapeutic relationships with persons in immigration detention
- provide advice to the DSP about levels of risk and strategies for engaging and supporting persons at risk of self-harm
- seek out and use all collateral information when making assessments, providing care, and formulating advice regarding the management of persons at risk of self-harm
- refer persons for assessment by external health services where directed in this policy or wherever onsite support is unable to adequately cater for the mental health needs of person at risk of self-harm
- with support from the PSP team, provide a coordinated post-incident response in the event of a serious self-harm incident, including written reports to the department on any triggers or contributing factors identified through post-incident debriefing

The department

- communicate with persons in detention about the progress of their case in a sensitive, supportive and coordinated manner (using interpreters and third party supports if necessary)

- collate incident reports relating to self-harm, and provide these as inputs to PSP quality improvement processes
- take responsibility for working with the DSP and the HSP to resolve systemic or ad hoc issues that threaten the effectiveness of self-harm prevention arrangements.
- conduct scheduled and triggered client placement assessments and detention review assessments.

14 PSP TEAM ARRANGEMENTS

The day to day management of cases involving risk of self-harm is undertaken by the PSP team, led by a senior clinician and supported by representatives from the DSP and the department.

A multi-disciplinary team approach is essential because, while decisions about the management of persons at risk of self-harm are led by clinicians, it is recognised that DSP personnel interact most frequently with persons at risk of self-harm, and departmental staff may also have regular contact, especially in relation to application milestones.

While the PSP team should aim for consensus, the senior clinician leading the team may make unilateral decisions on issues such as levels of risk and response, including referrals for external assessment. The DSP and the department must act on clinical advice or, in highly contentious cases, escalate issues to senior management as per the arrangements described at section 28 Escalation of complex issues.

Membership of the PSP team is dependent on the circumstances of the case in question but would normally include:

- a senior clinician from the mental health team, who will act as the PSP team leader
- the DSP's shift manager
- departmental staff on a need-to-know basis<sup>1</sup>
- (at the request of the PSP Team Leader) any person who may provide useful information and input, especially those who have had direct contact with the person at risk of self-harm.

In rare cases where a member of the mental health team cannot attend PSP team meetings the registered nurse must be present and, if necessary, a mental health professional consulted by telephone.

The PSP team will meet as often as required to guide the management of cases where there is a risk of self-harm, noting that demand will vary depending on caseloads and between facilities. In a critical situation (meaning generally life threatening) the team would meet daily, or more frequently.

15 PRIVACY & CONFIDENTIALITY

The appropriate forum for detailed clinical discussions about health issues relating to persons at risk of self-harm is the clinical complex case meetings convened by the health service provider. Non-clinical members of the PSP team do not normally need to know detailed diagnoses or other clinical information of a highly personal nature in order to successfully manage self harm risk. Instead, clinicians provide health summaries, risk assessments and management recommendations. In most cases, decisions about the level of private health information that can be shared in PSP meetings are made by the health service provider in accordance with professional standards and its obligations under the Privacy Act 1988.

Where non-health personnel believe they have a need to access private health information beyond the level provided by the health service provider, requests are to be forwarded to the Detention Health Mailbox (detention.health@immi.gov.au).

Where any party believes that a rigid application of privacy and confidentiality requirements is creating a barrier to appropriate care, this should first be escalated through the Detention Health Mailbox and then, if unsuccessful, to senior management as described at section 28 Escalation of complex issues.

<sup>1</sup> The respective roles of case managers and detention services officers in cases involving self harm risk is being clarified. Whichever adopts the primary client support role will need to attend PSP team meetings.

16 PSP PROCESS IN CONTEXT

The PSP process commences at reception and continues while a person is in immigration detention. It occurs within the framework of a larger mental health assessment process, which includes scheduled and triggered re-screening. This process is documented separately.

18 INITIAL SELF HARM RISK ASSESSMENT

The DSP may conduct a self-harm risk assessment for persons entering immigration detention using the scripted interview at - see Self harm risk assessment interview. This process is optional and based primarily on individual client need and/or circumstances. In the interests of avoiding unnecessary and potentially intrusive screening processes, the DSP is entitled to rely on risk assessments conducted by health professionals where these can be or have been obtained on the day of arrival. This may be the case, for example, where one has already been performed by a health professional on a boat prior to landing on Christmas Island or where a health professional is onsite at an immigration detention facility and able to conduct an induction health assessment on the day of arrival.

DSP staff, through training in recognising signs and symptoms and events that would trigger an evaluation of self harm risk must nonetheless be alert for presentations that require referral to a health professional. Regardless of whether the DSP chooses to conduct or not to conduct the self-harm screening interview, the DSP must take reasonable steps to respond to concerning behaviours and document on the detainee's case file these and any action taken.

Where the person being interviewed is not fluent in English, interpreting services must be arranged, preferably face-to-face. Staff conducting interviews must be carefully selected and trained to ensure that they have the aptitude and skills required to conduct interviews effectively. Observations recorded by the interviewer are provided to the registered nurse undertaking the induction health assessment or, where the assessment indicates a more serious risk, immediately to the mental health team or an emergency health service. The interview transcript, including any follow up action taken, must be recorded in the detainee's case file.

The reception environment may be busy and un conducive to such a sensitive line of questioning. DSP officers undertaking these assessments must do everything possible to:

- conduct the assessment in an environment that is as private as possible
- adopt the demeanour of someone whose role is to help the person express themselves and reduce any distress they may be feeling about being detained
- reassure the person that their safety and wellbeing is a personal responsibility of staff.

If the person's behaviour poses a serious risk to others, then minimising this risk would need to be the priority. DSP officers are trained in de-escalation and should be aware that fear and distress can manifest as hostility, which may be amenable to de-escalation. The wording of the interview is aimed at achieving this to some extent. Health professionals, where available, should be engaged to assist with de-escalation strategies or even direct intervention where appropriate. Notwithstanding this, there may be situations where a person needs to be contained until they calm down. Such containment should wherever possible be undertaken with the input from the mental health team, be for the shortest possible time, and be well documented.

19 TRIGGERED REASSESSMENT OF RISK

After the initial reception screen and comprehensive mental health screening, it is vital to recognise that one or more of a list of events should trigger re-evaluation of this risk. Some of these events should automatically trigger re-evaluation of risk, whilst others indicate the need to use an informed judgement as to the need for re-evaluation.

Need for re-evaluation of risk status	Presenting factors
Automatic and absolute	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>▪ Negative visa outcome - primary or appeal</li> <li>▪ Upcoming deportation / removal</li> <li>▪ Other significant set-backs with appeal progress</li> <li>▪ Harm to, or self-harm in, friend / family member / close contact</li> <li>▪ Time: unless otherwise triggered, reassessment of self harm risk will occur during scheduled mental health re-screening as per the mental health screening process (at 6, 12 and 18 months, and 3-monthly thereafter).</li> </ul> See also Mental health screening for persons in immigration detention

Need for re-evaluation of risk status	Presenting factors
Judgement required	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>▪ Changes in sources of support (for example, separation from close family members)</li> <li>▪ Signs of changes in behaviour</li> <li>▪ Increased aggression</li> <li>▪ Withdrawal or social isolation</li> <li>▪ Signs and symptoms of depression</li> <li>▪ Threats and warning of self-harm</li> <li>▪ 'Contagion' (where one incident of self-harm or suicide attempt leads to a mass outbreak of self-harming or other protest behaviours)</li> <li>▪ Others identified in training.</li> </ul>

Risk assessments are performed by the mental health team; however, a multidisciplinary response is particularly important to ensure that an assessment is triggered. The presenting factors listed above will sometimes not be apparent to all parties. PSP team meetings therefore need to be forward looking in sharing of information about upcoming triggers where these are foreseeable. All parties outside of PSP meetings need to be alert to signs and communicate them as soon as possible to the PSP team.

20 SUPPORTING FORMS

Supporting forms should be as few and as simple as possible. Monitoring and engagement plans should allow recording of meaningful observations rather than tick boxes. Arguably more important than written management plans are robust handover procedures to ensure that knowledge and responsibility are transferred effectively at the changeover of shifts.

21 SELF HARM RISK LEVELS

There are three self-harm risk levels, depending on the severity and imminence of risk. The level of risk is determined by a member of the mental health team or another qualified mental health clinician following a face to face assessment. Broad guidelines for the assessment of each risk level are provided in the following table.

	Risk Level	Assessment Guidelines
1	High imminent	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>▪ For use where an individual has expressed clear plans to attempt serious self-harm or suicide, or where there is a high level of expressed intent, or where the person's level of psychological distress is so severe that clinicians believe there is a high risk of the same.</li> <li>▪ A clinician considers that constant 1:1 monitoring and engagement is necessary to prevent serious self-harm or suicide.</li> </ul> Note: Strict time limits apply to the use of high imminent risk of self-harm. See section 27 24 hour limit on management of 'high imminent' self harm risk.
2	Moderate	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>▪ For use where a person may have threatened self-harm or expressed ideas of hopelessness, but has not engaged in serious self-harming behaviour.</li> <li>▪ A clinician believes that an increased level of scrutiny is warranted but that constant 1:1 monitoring would contribute to the level of distress.</li> </ul>
3	Ongoing	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>▪ A person may have previously engaged in self-harming behaviour or has a pattern of threatening self-harm but is highly unlikely to have serious suicidal intent.</li> </ul> The ongoing level may be used for persons who engage in non-lethal self-harming behaviour in the absence of known suicidal intent. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>▪ A clinician believes that some level of observation is warranted but that intrusive monitoring and engagement would contribute to the level of disturbance.</li> </ul>

Notes:

- The broad guidelines above are provided as a high level guide only. Health professionals are trained in assessment of risk and must use clinical judgement in each situation.

- In addition to the guidelines above, clinicians may move a person up or down through risk levels where there is improvement or deterioration in a person's mental state or intent to self-harm.

22 MONITORING & ENGAGEMENT PLANS

Monitoring and engagement plans are tailored to the level of risk. They are aimed at keeping the person safe and encouraging their reintegration with the wider community in immigration detention through a process of supportive monitoring and engagement.

The three levels of monitoring and engagement, from most to least intensive, are:

Constant - "arms length eye sight"
Constant monitoring and engagement is for persons at High imminent risk of self-harm or suicide. It requires constant one-on-one monitoring of, and engagement with, the individual in a safe and secure place with a minimum of written observations recorded every 30 minutes. Despite the need for high levels of monitoring, staff should continue to consider ways in which contact with human supports and any other strategies may be used to enhance safety and encourage autonomy and reintegration. The person should also be offered professional psychological support. It is not realistic or desirable for the primary support person to constantly 'be with' and interact with someone, whilst simultaneously recording observations. For constant plans, a secondary support person (DSP or HSP staff member) should visit every 30 mins to make observations in a non-intrusive way by engaging both the primary support person and the person at risk of self-harm in conversation (assuming the person is awake). This helps to mitigate any risk that scrutiny is being used as behaviour management and protects staff against any allegations of this. It also provides the primary support person with opportunities for breaks from what is acknowledged to be a very draining role, and for both parties to temporarily 'disengage' (an analogy being the understandable wish to disengage from fellow passengers on a crowded long distant flight). Note: Strict time limits apply to the use of constant monitoring and engagement. See section 27 24 hour limit on management of 'high imminent' self harm risk.
30 Minute
30 Minute monitoring and engagement is for persons at moderate risk of self-harm. It requires formally reported monitoring of, and engagement with, the individual once every 30 minutes at random times (meaning at not precisely the same times such as on the hour and half hour). If the person is not immediately available at scheduled observation times, officers should locate and engage with them as soon as possible after 30 minutes. The person may need to be relocated to a safe environment to maximise their feeling of psychological support but they should be encouraged gradually to move out of the safe environment with appropriate support. The focus of this level of monitoring and engagement is to encourage and to document attempts to reintegrate the person into the wider detention community. The support person should make enquiries about how the person is feeling and make offers that encourage a return to normal activities. Examples include getting a friend to visit, going outside, joining others for a meal, listening to music, reading a book. The person should also be offered professional psychological support.
Ongoing
Ongoing monitoring and engagement is for persons at ongoing risk of self-harm where clinical judgement is that more intensive monitoring is unwarranted. It does not necessarily require specific placement but does require staff to be generally aware of the individual's circumstances and to record observations on three occasions during day shifts hours. The focus for this level of monitoring and engagement is to encourage normal behaviour and to document the level of social interaction, noting progress such as improvements or any signs of distress or deterioration.

23 RISK & RESPONSE AT A GLANCE

The following table provides an at-a-glance view of risk levels and response, including timing of clinical reviews.

Risk level	Monitoring and engagement plan	Accommodation arrangements	Clinical review
High imminent	Constant - “arms length eye sight”	Secure, safe environment with supervised exercise and interaction with others	Every 12 hours, with assessment by an external mental health professional after 24 hours
Moderate	30 Minute	A secure, safe but less restrictive environment	Every 24 hours
Ongoing	Ongoing - general non-intrusive	Normal accommodation	Every 7 days

24 GENERAL GUIDELINES FOR MONITORING & ENGAGEMENT

Monitoring and engagement should emphasise:

- not ‘watching’ but ‘being with’
- not ‘containing’ but ‘maintaining support’
- not ‘isolating’ but ‘integrating’
- not ‘controlling’ but ‘facilitating appropriate expressions of distress and anger’.

Written observations must be meaningful and recorded in detail, including details of the individual’s mood, what they say, and their behaviours.

Where possible, encourage the person to maintain contact with outside social supports such as family, friends and cultural/religious figures where these are judged to be a protective factor - see section 6 Protective factors (this may not always be the case). Visits, phone calls, and recreation should be maintained, encouraged and supported.

Handovers at changes of shift are critical. Incoming staff must be fully briefed and continue the monitoring and engagement plans developed by the PSP team. It is the responsibility of shift managers to ensure that plans are adhered to.

When choosing a primary support person, the DSP should take into account that there may be a good match or an existing relationship of trust that would maximise the effectiveness of monitoring and engagement. Females should be paired with a female primary support person.

Monitoring and engagement must be direct. Observation via closed circuit TV (CCTV) may be important for evidentiary purposes but must never replace direct human contact.

25 ACCOMMODATION ARRANGEMENTS

As a general rule, unless the degree of risk necessitates accommodating an individual in a highly safe and secure environment, every effort should be made to accommodate them in their regular living environment in a way that does not draw undue attention to their situation. In some circumstances, it may be appropriate to relocate persons to a safer, but not highly secure, environment. Such accommodation should, as far as possible, retain a residential feel. Highly safe and secure environments are essential for persons at high imminent risk of self-harm.

Accommodation in a highly secure environment does not necessarily mean isolation. In fact, isolation should be avoided in all but the most extreme cases as research has shown that it significantly increases risk and, if isolation is perceived by persons in detention as an automatic consequence of disclosing distress, it may discourage honest communication of thoughts of suicide and self-harm. Where segregation is ultimately indicated, supervision and human contact is essential.

Highly secure environments for persons at risk of self-harm should be free of hanging points, free of objects that can be smashed or broken to fashion a sharp implement and free of any shoelaces, drawstrings, ties, belts, long socks or any other material that could be used to fashion a noose. The removal of any items of clothing or personal items must be handled sensitively and explained as a measure to keep the person safe.

Persons on 30 Minute plans would normally be accommodated in a secure but less restricted environment and should be encouraged gradually to move out of the environment with appropriate support.

Persons on Ongoing plans would not normally have their movement restricted in any way.

It is acknowledged that not all immigration detention facilities have the infrastructure required to satisfy these guidelines. In such cases, the PSP team should seek to arrange the best fit possible within the constraints of the particular facility or seek offsite accommodation where appropriate.

All accommodation changes will be supported by a client placement assessment and adhere to the policy and procedures outlined in the DSM Chapter 2 - Client placement - Client Placement.

26 STEP-DOWN FROM MONITORING AND ENGAGEMENT

Gradual removal of self-harm prevention responses should take place in a considered, managed and documented fashion, according to advice from the clinician leading the PSP Team.

27 24 HOUR LIMIT ON MANAGEMENT OF 'HIGH IMMINENT' SELF HARM RISK

A person who remains at High imminent risk of self-harm for more than 24 hours must be referred for assessment by an external mental health professional (ideally onsite but if necessary at a hospital). If still considered to be at high imminent risk of self-harm at 24 hours, the person should be transferred to a community-based health service.

Experience has shown that it can be difficult to obtain hospital admission for persons in these circumstances due to capacity issues in the public health system and the fact that self-harm may occur in the absence of mental illness. Where a hospital refuses to admit someone in these circumstances, the person must only be cared for at the IDC for a further 24 hours, after which they should again be reassessed and, if still at high imminent risk, once again transferred to a community-based health service. In parallel, the case should be escalated to senior management as described in section 28 Escalation of complex issues and there should be ongoing and well documented attempts to increase supports and offer strategies for reintegration of the person into the wider community in detention (for example, stepping up professional psychological support services, encouraging a phone call to lawyer, arranging for a friend to visit for an hour).

28 ESCALATION OF COMPLEX ISSUES

There may be times when the PSP Team is unable to effectively manage a case in accordance with this policy. This may be because one or more parties is unwilling to proceed without seeking direction at a more senior level, or because the group encounters barriers to accessing care from the public health system. In these circumstances, the case should be escalated for resolution to:

- the FAS, Community and Detention Services Division
- the Medical Director of IHMS.

29 POST-INCIDENT RESPONSE

Post-incident response is critical to prevent harm extending to others in detention. In its worst form, the failure to actively diffuse the flow on effects of self-harm incidents can result in the so-called 'contagion' effect, where one incident of self-harm or suicide attempt leads to an outbreak of self-harming or other protest behaviours.

The following table describes the four stage process that is followed in the event of a serious self-harm event. The PSP team leader determines which self harm incidents are serious enough to warrant a post-incident response.

	Stage	Who	Description
	Pre-requisite: Awareness.	DSP, HSP, the department, external trainers.	Staff need to be made aware through training that self-harming activities can cause distress to others in detention - the so-called 'contagion' effect. This should be included in mandatory training on the prevention and management of self-harm.
1	Immediate response - communication.	DSP, HSP (particularly the mental health team).	Communicate what has happened to anyone who may have witnessed or been involved in the self-harm event in a way that provides reassuring messages, for example, 'X is being treated and cared for / has been taken to hospital'. If the self-harm is serious and the prognosis unknown, simply indicate that the person is being treated. Communication should continue for as long as the mental health team considers necessary.
2	Post-incident response-debrief with individuals and offer support.	Mental health team.	Ask all staff to identify persons (including staff) who they think might be particularly affected, such as those who may have witnessed or been somehow involved in the self-harm event, or who may know the person. The mental health team should debrief with these persons. The aims are to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>▪ identify persons who are distressed</li> <li>▪ offer support, including connection with services if appropriate</li> <li>▪ help persons in detention see that self-harming is not a constructive course of action</li> <li>▪ identify any triggers or contributing factors.</li> </ul>
3	Post-incident response - debrief with wider community and offer support (optional).	Mental health team.	Debrief with the wider community to give accurate information, with the aim of preventing gossip. Offer support. The need for this type of debriefing should be determined with regard to the severity of the self-harm event and the extent to which news is likely to travel. It should be assumed that word of serious self-harm events will spread widely throughout an immigration detention facility. It is not necessary to disclose private health information to do this.

	Stage	Who	Description
4	Report systemic issues to centre management.	HSP (particularly the mental health team), DSP, the department.	Any triggers or contributing factors identified through debriefing should be reported to centre management through incident reports and team meetings, and must be actively addressed as part of quality improvement processes.

30 SELF HARM PREVENTION IN COMMUNITY DETENTION

Community detention is a form of immigration detention, which is authorised by the Minister personally by a residence determination under s197AB of the Migration Act, if the Minister thinks it is in the public interest to do so. Community detention is primarily used where there is a risk that an individual's pre-existing vulnerabilities may be exacerbated by facility-based detention. Most persons placed in community detention undergo initial health screening at an immigration detention facility, including a number of measures design to identify risk of self-harm. Where a person enters community detention without first passing through an immigration detention facility, health checks are performed by community-based health services coordinated by the health services manager.

The Red Cross provides the primary support role for persons in community detention, and is responsible for brokering health and other support services. The Red Cross is monitored and assisted in this role by community detention liaison officers stationed in each region and by Health Services Section and Community Services Section in National Office. Departmental case managers also have an important role in ensuring that reasonable measures are in place to ensure the wellbeing of persons in community detention while their immigration status is being resolved.

Health services for persons in community detention are coordinated by the health services manager, who has responsibility for ensuring that health discharge arrangements from an immigration detention centre include appropriate health referrals, and that its network of community-based health providers is equipped to cater for the special needs of persons who may be at risk of self-harm.

The principles and processes outlined in this instruction apply to persons at risk of self-harm who are in community detention. However, such cases may be managed outside of formal PSP meetings using a more flexible case conferencing approach involving the various parties mentioned above.

31 EVALUATION & QUALITY IMPROVEMENT

The DSP is responsible for providing the department with formal incident reports on all threats, attempts or occurrences of self-harm and suicide.

Where a serious self-harm attempt or incident occurs, the HSP has primary responsibility for post-incident response, one function of which is to identify triggers and contributing factors. The HSP must provide written documentation of these to the PSP team and the department for input to quality improvement processes.

The PSP team, with appropriate support from the department, is responsible for conducting regular case reviews and analysis of incident reports to identify issues that need to be addressed in order to improve self-harm prevention, identification and response arrangements. The adequacy of the arrangements documented in this policy should be a regular item for review as part of PSP quality improvement arrangements.

SELF HARM RISK ASSESSMENT INTERVIEW

Hello, my name is [name of officer] and I am here to ask you a few routine questions about how you are feeling and if there is anything we need to do to help you feel comfortable right now.

A nurse will see you soon, probably on [state probable day/time]. They will talk to you and see if there is anything you need to manage your health.

I'm going to ask you a few questions about how you are feeling now. Try and answer them as honestly as possible. There are no right or wrong answers; they will just help me to understand if there is anything we can do for you.

I may need to take some notes while I talk to you.

1. Is it OK if I ask you a few questions now? If you do not want to continue at any time, just let me know, and I will stop.
  - If Yes, continue to question 2

- If No:

I understand that this can be a stressful time for some people, and you do not have to answer these questions if you do not want to. But it is important for me to ask you these questions to ensure that I'm doing everything I can to help you. Is it OK to continue or would you like to have this discussion with the nurse?

  - If OK, proceed to question 2
  - If Not OK:

Do you think that you need to see the nurse now?

    - If Yes, proceed to Scenario 1 of the Interview Wrap-up
    - If No, proceed to Scenario 2 of the Interview Wrap-up.

Note: This boxed text should be used at any point in the interview if the person indicates that they do not wish to continue.

2. Do you have any friends or family, in Australia or in any other country? Would you like us help you get in touch with them, or can we tell someone that you are here?
3. Have you ever experienced difficulties in managing your levels of stress, or times where you have felt overwhelmed by your emotions or unable to manage your emotions?
  - If Yes:

On a scale of 1 to 10, with 10 being the most severe, how would you rate these difficulties?

(Note the person's rating and go to question 4.)
  - If No, go to question 5.
4. Can you tell me about it, or would you prefer to talk to the nurse? If you are willing to tell me, then I will let the nurse know that you have had these difficulties.
  - If the person is willing to talk about it:

Can you tell me about what happened?

(Allow the person to answer in their own words.)

Did you have any thoughts about harming yourself or about suicide at that time?

(Listen attentively and supportively but do not press the person to talk about their self-harm or suicidal thoughts if they do not volunteer this information)
  - If the person is unwilling to talk about it:

That's OK, I'll let the nurse know that you have had these problems.

5. Can you tell me how you are feeling now?
(Allow the person to answer in their own words)
6. Do you feel in control of your emotions now?
  - If Yes, continue.
  - If No:
Are you having any thoughts about hurting or harming yourself now?
    - If Yes:
Is there anything I can do to help now?
    - If No, continue.
7. This is my understanding of what you have told me [summarise what the person has told you]. Is that right?
8. Is there anything else that you think I need to know, or you would like to tell me?

(Proceed to Interview Wrap-up)

Interview wrap-up

Scenario	If the person...	Then conclude...
1	has refused to answer the questions and wants to see the nurse immediately	OK, I will arrange for the nurse to see you as soon as possible. Until then ( explain the process of closer observation until the person sees a health professional ).  Is that OK with you?
2	has refused to answer the questions and does not want to see the nurse immediately	I'm sorry that you do not feel that you can answer these questions at this time. If you change your mind, please let one of the staff know as we are keen to help you if you need it. The next thing that you will be doing is ( explain the next stages in the reception process ).  Note: Use judgement about whether the person needs closer monitoring and engagement.
3	Has no past or current difficulties	Thank you for answering these questions. A nurse will see you on ( date, time ) to do a more thorough assessment of your health needs. The next thing that you will be doing ( explain the next stages in the reception process ).
4	has had problems in the past	Thank you for answering these questions. I understand that it can be difficult to talk about these things to someone that you don't know. It sounds as though you have had problems managing difficult or stressful situations in the past. I will let the health staff know this in case you need some additional support while you are here. If you feel that these problems are coming back while you are here, please let the staff know so that we can get help for you. The next thing that you will be doing ( explain the next stages in the reception process ).

Scenario	If the person...	Then conclude...
5	is currently experiencing problems	Thank you for answering these questions. I understand that it can be difficult to talk about these things to someone that you don't know, but we know that this can be a stressful time for people and we want to ensure that you are safe and receive any help that you need. Based on what you have told me, we will need to provide you with some extra support to keep you safe. The things that we will be doing are (explain the process of closer observation and that you will alert a health professional). Is that OK with you?

Notes:

- This interview process should not be attempted for a person who is obviously highly distressed or agitated. In such cases, refer the person immediately to a health professional and maintain close monitoring and engagement.
- An interpreter must be used where a person is not proficient in English, or requests an interpreter.
- This interview is designed to be delivered in an easy conversational style. However, without adequate training it is capable of being delivered as an impersonal set of questions that the interviewer has to get through to move on to the next stage in the reception process. Training is absolutely critical to ensure that interviewers deliver the interview in a way that engenders trust and elicits honest responses.
- The interviewer's goal is to help the person express themselves and to identify, resolve or reduce the distress associated with their human responses to being detained. An open questioning style will assist with helping the person express themselves.
- Staff conducting these interviews should carefully observe the person's level of distress. Even if they answer all questions in a way that appears to indicate they are feeling safe, certain signs (such as tone and volume of voice, mannerisms, posture, gait) may indicate that the person is distressed and should be referred for assessment by a health professional. Staff will need training in how to recognise signs of distress or hopelessness, and how to conduct interviews in a sensitive and supportive manner.
- Staff must follow through as soon as possible with any offers made to assist the person, or referrals for assessment by a health professional. Follow up actions should be recorded in the person's case file.
- If the person is aggressive or hostile, de-escalate the situation by asking essential questions only and responding appropriately to the situation. Give the person as much physical space as practicable. This will be covered by training.
- This interview seeks to collect information that could be important in identifying risk of self-harm. Collecting information is only useful if that information is acted upon. If the interviewer has any concerns for the person's safety, they should immediately take steps to obtain advice from a health professional. Interview transcripts must be provided to clinicians conducting health assessments.

1 INTRODUCTION AND CONTEXT

1.1 Purpose

The purpose of this document is to describe the Mental health screening and assessment process for people in immigration detention.

1.2 Background

In September 2005, the government announced enhanced Mental health screening arrangements for people in immigration detention, incorporating the following clinical processes and instruments:

- Mental state examination (MSE)
- Health of the Nation Outcomes Scale (HoNOS)
- Kessler 10 self report questionnaire.

Under these arrangements, all people entering immigration detention (apart from illegal foreign fishers) were screened on entry and re-screened every three months or when otherwise indicated.

In 2007–08, the Mental Health Sub-Group (MHSG) of the Detention Health Advisory Group (DeHAG) reviewed Mental health screening arrangements. It found that the measures in place had been useful in focusing the detention health system on the mental health needs of people in detention. It also found, however, that with the exception of the MSE the tools used were not the most appropriate for the immigration detention environment.

The process described in this document reflects the revised approach recommended by the MHSG and endorsed by the DeHAG on 28 February 2008.

1.3 Intended audience

The primary audience for this document is the Health Services Manager, currently International Health and Medical Services (IHMS), and:

- health providers working in, or consulting to, immigration detention facilities
- community-based health service providers engaged by the Health Services Manager for people in community detention.

The main secondary audiences are:

- Department of Immigration and Citizenship (DIAC) personnel working in policy and operational roles relating to detention, case management, compliance and onshore protection
- the detention service provider.

1.4 Who does the process apply to?

The mental health screening process described in this document applies to:

- people entering immigration detention centres (Villawood, Maribyrnong, Perth, Darwin and Christmas Island).
Exception: Illegal foreign fishers currently undergo a basic mental health screening during the health induction assessment and only those for whom mental health concerns are indicated proceed to a full mental health assessment.
- people entering immigration transit accommodation (ITA) who are new to the detention services network.

All people listed above undergo a screening Mental state examination as part of the health induction assessment; however, unless this identifies mental health presentations warranting further investigation, only those who remain in detention for more than seven days go on to receive comprehensive mental health screening.

1.5 Who does the process not apply to?

The process does not apply to:

- illegal foreign fishers and people in an immigration detention centre for less than seven days, unless mental health issues are identified during the health induction assessment

- people in alternative temporary detention in the community
- people in community detention
- people in immigration residential housing (IRH).

Health care for people in alternative temporary detention in the community, community detention and immigration residential housing is provided by a network of community-based health providers coordinated by the Health Services Manager. The Health Services Manager is responsible for ensuring that its network of community-based health providers is equipped to cater for the special needs of people in immigration detention, including people with mental illness, people who have experienced torture and trauma and people at risk of self-harm. These health providers are not obliged to adopt the tools or processes described in this document, though they may wish to do so.

2 PURPOSE AND PRINCIPLES OF SCREENING

2.1 Purpose of mental health screening and assessment

The mental health screening and assessment process serves slightly different purposes at induction and subsequently during a person's period of immigration detention.

At induction, it:

- records a baseline mental health assessment
- identifies people with mental health problems who may need attention or treatment during their period of immigration detention
- provides a basis for the development of treatment plans.

At prescribed intervals, or when subsequently triggered by referral, it:

- seeks to identify people for whom previous screening resulted in false negatives and people who may have developed mental health problems while in immigration detention
- collects data to monitor an individual's mental health status over time.

2.2 Principles for selecting and using mental health screening tools

In selecting and using mental health screening tools, the MHSG identified the following principles:

- Avoid multiple, intrusive screens.
- Be clear about what is being screened for and why.
- Health screening is offered but not imposed.
- Use clinical judgement when deciding whether to use screening instruments. In certain situations, direct referral for clinical assessment may be appropriate where individuals could be unnecessarily distressed by screening procedures.
- Embed tools within a process. They do not replace judgement and an ongoing focus on cultural issues.
- No tools have been adequately validated for culturally and linguistically diverse (CALD) groups, so monitoring will be important.
- Screening for risk of self-harm should be integrated into the larger mental health screening process.
- Screening tools are for flagging the need for clinical investigation and for trend analysis, not for diagnosis.

3 SCREENING INSTRUMENTS AND ASSESSMENTS

3.1 Mental state examination (MSE)

Of the mental health screening tools introduced in 2005, the MHSG recommended continuing the use of the MSE with some important qualifications:

- It should be referred to as a 'Screening MSE' when conducted by a registered nurse or mental health nurse. The term 'screening' is used deliberately to acknowledge that an MSE conducted by registered nurses or mental health nurses can flag issues for further investigation but does not result in a diagnosis.

- A screening MSE should be conducted twice, once during the health induction assessment and again as part of the seven day comprehensive mental health screen. This is considered appropriate, as new information and observations may have arisen over the intervening period, resulting in a more accurate assessment.
- The MSE pro-forma should include certain mandatory elements described at Appendix A.
- Standard training for registered nurses includes some basic competency in the conduct of an MSE. However, it does not equip them to conduct an MSE in the complex cross cultural detention environment. Registered nurses and others who conduct screening MSEs should be trained at commencement of work in the detention environment, and retrained periodically to ensure they maintain competencies. Suggested learning outcomes are at Appendix B and guidance on cultural considerations during Mental state examination is provided at Appendix C.

3.2 General Health Questionnaire (GHQ30)

The GHQ30 was chosen because it:

- indicates subjective distress
- is not overly specific
- has good reliability, including some level of cross cultural validity
- presents no difficulties in scoring
- does not require a high level of training
- is available at no cost.

The time required to conduct the GHQ30 is 8–10 minutes, or about 15–20 minutes when using a translator. A cut-off score of 4/5 (recommended by Goldberg D.P et al, 1997) should be used initially and reviewed after six months. A delay of seven days for administration of the GHQ recognises that the instrument is designed to capture differences between a person's current and 'usual' mental state and is therefore sensitive to changes in a person's environment. Given that people entering detention have often undergone a dramatic change in environment, earlier use is likely to result in invalid results.

3.3 Depression Anxiety Stress Scales (DASS-21)

The DASS-21 was chosen because:

- it is a reliable and valid instrument for the detection of depression and anxiety
- depression, anxiety and somatic symptoms are the most common mental health complaints for people in immigration detention
- it has been used with several different population groups.

3.4 Harvard Trauma Questionnaire

The Harvard Trauma Questionnaire (16-question short form by Richard F. Mollica, 1991) was chosen because it:

- has been used extensively in traumatised populations
- has been used with many different cultural groups.

3.5 Health induction assessment

A health induction assessment is conducted for every person in immigration detention (who consents) and is the generally the first time a person sees a health professional following entry to immigration detention. It presents a critical opportunity to identify and respond early to health (including mental health) issues. A period of 72 hours is provided to allow for arrivals on a Friday evening, weekend or public holiday, or for large groups. However, most health induction assessments are conducted on the day of arrival or, where a person arrives after-hours, the following morning.

The health induction assessment includes a screening MSE incorporating the elements described at Appendix A.

3.6 Self-harm risk assessment interview

Screening for risk of self-harm may be conducted by the detention service provider (DSP) during the reception process, prior to any health screening. To support this, the DeHAG MHSG has developed a conversational style self-harm risk assessment interview specifically for use by non-health professionals in the detention environment. See also 4.7 (Identifying people at risk of self-harm).

4 MENTAL HEALTH SCREENING PROCESS

4.1 Mental health screening process description

The following table shows the screening and assessment process used for people in immigration detention. This may be preceded by a self-harm risk assessment conducted by the detention service provider. See also 4.7 (Identifying people at risk of self-harm).

Stage	Who *	Timing	Process/Tool(s)
1. Health induction assessment	Registered nurse (min)	On reception or within 72 hours	Screening MSE conducted as part of health induction assessment
2. Universal screening (excluding Illegal Fishers)	Registered nurse (min)	At 7 days	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>▪ Screening MSE</li> <li>▪ General Health Questionnaire (GHQ30)</li> <li>▪ Depression Anxiety Stress Scales (DASS-21)</li> </ul>
3. Indicated screening	Psychologist (min)	<24 hours, only if indicated	Harvard Trauma Questionnaire
4. Specialist clinical assessment	Clinical psychologist (min)	ASAP, only if indicated	Clinical assessment, including full MSE, leading to diagnosis and development of a treatment and intervention plan. The nature of specialist clinical assessments will vary depending on the nature of the problem. Torture and trauma counselling will be provided by a specialist torture and trauma service.
5. Scheduled or triggered re-screening	Various, depending on instruments and assessments used	At 6, 12 and 18 months, and then 3-monthly thereafter OR when concerns are raised about a person's mental health OR after bad news or other potential triggers	Various options as described at 4.4 (Scheduled re-screening) and 4.5 (Triggered re-screening). Note: A comprehensive psychiatric assessment by an external psychiatrist is undertaken for all people who remain in detention for 18 months.

* The 'Who' column contains minimum qualifications required to perform screens and assessments. In practice, these may be performed by more qualified staff where available.

4.2 Mental health screening process flowchart

[Not yet available in this plain text version. The flowchart is provided in the pdf version - see the LEGEND home page.]

4.3 Exceptions to the standard process

Screening at stages 3 and 4 is generally dependent on a positive screen at stage 2, with the following important exceptions:

- Automatic stage 3 screening in certain circumstances
In certain circumstances it will be appropriate to automatically screen people at stage 3 regardless of whether they screen positive at stage 2, for example, where they have arrived from geo-political situations known to be high risk for torture and trauma. See also 4.6 (Identifying survivors of torture and trauma).
- High index of suspicion is a valid flag for screening at stages 3 and 4
Clinicians must have the freedom to respond to 'gut feelings' and request screening at stages 3 and 4 even where someone screens negative at an earlier stage. People with mental illness, particularly psychosis, can sometimes be very good at answering screens in a way that results in a false negative and there is evidence that some torture and trauma survivors hide their experience as a survival mechanism.

4.4 Scheduled re-screening

Scheduled re-screening serves two purposes:

1. to identify people for whom earlier screening returned a false negative or those who may have developed mental health problems while in immigration detention
2. for individuals who have previously screened positive, it collects data to monitor mental health status over time.

Scheduled re-screening will occur at 6 months, 12 months, 18 months and then 3-monthly thereafter.

At 18 months, there will be a mandatory comprehensive assessment by a psychiatrist.

At 6 and 12 months, scheduled re-screening should include the screening MSE, GHQ30 and DASS-21, and should be carried out by a registered nurse (minimum).

Where mental health problems have been previously identified for an individual, scheduled re-screening should ideally be carried out by a clinical psychologist, psychiatrist or other mental health professional qualified to make a diagnosis.

4.5 Triggered re-screening

Any concern raised about a person's mental health by friends, family, advocates, legal representatives, others in detention, health personnel, DIAC staff or security personnel should trigger re-screening or specialist clinical assessment at any time following induction, especially after rapport and trust is established with staff. Triggered re-screening may also be carried out following the receipt of bad news or other stressful events.

Clinical judgement should determine whether to re-administer the GHQ30, DASS-21 and Harvard Trauma Questionnaire. If concerns arise about the mental health of a person who has screened negative using any screening instrument within the previous two months, consideration should be given to moving directly to specialist clinical assessment by a mental health professional.

4.6 Identifying survivors of torture and trauma

Measures to identify and support survivors of torture and trauma are built into the mental health screening and assessment process outlined in this document.

Features include:

- a health induction assessment that is attuned to identifying signs and symptoms of torture and trauma

- a range of universal mental health screens designed to identify signs of distress, chosen for their cross-cultural validity and applicability to the mental health issues most relevant to people entering immigration detention
- the Harvard Trauma Questionnaire (16 question short form):
  - as a triggered screen for people identified during universal screening as symptomatic in ways suggesting a history of trauma
  - as an automatic screen for people considered to be at high risk of having experienced torture and trauma
- referral for assessment by a Forum of Australian Services for Survivors of Torture and Trauma (FASSTT) service where a person screens positive on the Harvard Trauma Questionnaire or, even in the absence of a positive screen, where there is a high index of suspicion.

Full details of arrangements for the identification and support of survivors of torture and trauma are in DSM - Chapter 6 - Detention health - Identification & support of survivors of torture & trauma.

4.7 Identifying people at risk of self-harm

The screening MSEs conducted during the health induction assessment and again at seven days by the Mental Health Team incorporate a self-harm risk assessment.

Screening for risk of self-harm may also be conducted by the detention service provider (DSP) during the reception process, prior to any health screening. The DSP uses a conversational style self-harm risk assessment interview developed specifically for use by non-health professionals in the detention environment.

This process is optional and based primarily on individual client need and/or circumstances. In the interests of avoiding unnecessary and potentially intrusive screening processes, the DSP is entitled to rely on risk assessments conducted by health professionals where these can be or have been obtained on the day of arrival. This may be the case, for example, where one has already been performed by a health professional on a boat prior to landing on Christmas Island or where a health professional is onsite at an immigration detention facility and able to conduct an health induction assessment on the day of arrival.

The text of the self-harm risk assessment interview and full details of self-harm prevention arrangements are in DSM - Chapter 6 - Detention health - Psychological support program (PSP).

4.8 Monitoring and evaluation of these arrangements

Monitoring and evaluation of these arrangements will be essential, as no instruments have been validated for use in the detention environment. Monitoring and evaluation will be heavily reliant on the capture and analysis of sound data on:

- scores for screening instruments: totals, and if the instrument has sub-scales, the sub-scale scores
- prescription of psychotropic medications
- self-harm incidents
- psychiatric admissions
- external specialist examinations/reviews (including for complaints which may be psychosomatic, such as irritable bowel).

APPENDIX A: RECOMMENDED CORE ELEMENTS OF A SCREENING MENTAL STATE EXAMINATION

[Not yet available in this plain text version]

APPENDIX B: SUGGESTED LEARNING OBJECTIVES FOR MSE TRAINING IN THE IMMIGRATION DETENTION ENVIRONMENT

The aim of an education and training session should be to:

- develop skills in environmental assessment specific to the immigration detention environment
- critically evaluate multiple factors that affect mental health outcomes for people in immigration detention
- identify and describe key terms related to mental state examination
- identify the importance of undertaking a mental state examination for people of diverse cultural and linguistic background within immigration detention
- identify essential interviewing and observation skills required for the assessment process
- gain knowledge in documentation and communication of relevant data
- discuss interventions appropriate to persons with mental health problems in immigration detention
- identify appropriate mental health outcome measures for use in the detention environment.

Material presented should assist participants to extend their scope of practice in the areas of mental health assessment, environmental analysis, documentation and positive interventions for people in the detention environment.

These learning objectives were prepared by Associate Professor Nicholas Procter and endorsed by the Mental Health Sub-Group on 15 February 2008.

APPENDIX C: CULTURAL CONSIDERATIONS DURING MENTAL STATE EXAMINATION

The following excerpt is adapted from Procter, N.G. (2007) Mental health emergencies, in K. Curtis, C. Ramsden and J. Friendship (Eds), Emergency and Trauma Nursing, Elsevier Press: New York.

Mental State Examination

The Mental State Examination (Table 1) is designed to obtain information about specific aspects of the individual's mental experiences and behaviour at the time of interview. Examination can be based upon one or two interviews or developed from data generated over a period of time. This may be through interactions and involve information from relatives and friends.

Cultural and language issues

'Culture' gives people meaning and context to the way they communicate thinking, action and events. 'Culture' also allows people to make assumptions about social and emotional life, illness and death and how they should be understood within a particular context or setting. When individuals from one culture find themselves living in a different cultural context there may be differences in the way that they communicate idioms of distress and suffering. In mental state examination it is important to look beyond taken-for-granted assumptions regarding the way that symptoms of mental distress are communicated and the personal meaning that people from culturally and linguistically diverse cultures give to their experience. For this reason people from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds remain a population group requiring special attention to their mental health status.

The challenges of a diverse population—of developing a culturally inclusive mental state examination remain.

Below are some cultural and language considerations relevant to mental state examination:

- It is not uncommon for stress to increase the likelihood that a person from a culturally and linguistically diverse culture may revert to their language of origin.
- Be aware that a prior relationship between the person and an interpreter can be a problem in small ethnic groups—in particular new and emerging communities—where there tend to be fewer accredited interpreters.
- Cultural differences can result in markedly variable mental health presentations. Cultural differences can influence the way in which symptoms are presented, what is considered a good outcome, acceptance of involvement from health professionals (if required) and help seeking behaviour more generally.

When providing health services to people from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds it is important to communicate clearly. Wherever possible, people should be able to use their preferred language, especially in stressful situations. If the person requests an interpreter or has inadequate language skills, a professional interpreter should be used except in emergency situations. The following tips adapted from Multicultural Mental Health Australia will help discover how well and to what extent a person speaks and understands English.

[Language Competency Tips. Multicultural Mental Health Australia, 2004. Available from URL <http://www.mmha.org.au> Accessed 29 January 2008.]

- Ask questions the person has to answer in a sentence. Avoid questions that can be answered by 'yes' or 'no'. What? Why? How? When? questions are usually best as they allow for an 'opening-up' and expression of ideas.
- Ask the person to repeat in their own words some information you have just given them.

If the person cannot answer the questions easily, or can't repeat back information accurately, use a professional interpreter. When working across cultures it is important to remember:

- Asking people their name, address, date of birth and other predictable information is not an adequate test of English language skills.
- Having social conversation skills in English does not always mean a person understands complex information in spoken or written English.

Verbal skills do not always equate with reading and writing skills. Remember the need to tell people their rights and get informed consent.

As previously mentioned, people may lose their second language skills in stressful situations, for example, when talking about mental health problems or seeking help.

Table 1: Important items for mental state examination

Appearance	racial origin; attire, general physical condition; cleanliness; posture (sitting and/or standing) and gait
Behaviour	facial expression; relaxed or cooperative or aggressive; describe in detail activity, agitation, level of arousal (including physiological signs), eye contact, appropriateness of behaviour
Speech	form and pattern; language spoken, volume and rate; is it coherent, logical, and congruent with questioning?
Mood	unconcerned, irritable, labile; optimistic or pessimistic; thoughts of suicide; do reported experience and observable mood agree?
Risk	thoughts of suicide or deliberate self-harm. Thoughts of harm to others
Thought	particular preoccupations; ideas and beliefs; are they rational, fixed, or delusional? Do they concern the safety of the person or other people? Do they relate to the person's attire, speech or mood and if so, how?
Perception	abnormalities including hallucinations occurring in any modality (auditory, visual, smell, taste, touch)
Insight	how does the person explain or attribute his or her symptoms or experiences? What is the person's understanding of the factors contributing to their current situation? How the person perceives her/his need for care and/or treatment and support?
The full mental state examination may be built up over several interviews by elaboration of these topics using increasingly direct, closed questioning, as well as collateral information provided by friends and family members. It is helpful to report the person's experiences and symptoms word-for-word.

Crucial to the practice of effective mental state examination is the way that an assessment is communicated, the way in which symptoms are described and the language used by both practitioners and person in this process. The formulation of a succinct summary of a person's history, current circumstances, and main problems will help set a considered response in context. It is particularly useful in conveying essential information upon referral for specialist assessment, or a referral for other specialist intervention. The time and trouble taken to communicate assessment findings will go a long way to helping ensure continuity of information and, if more than one provider is involved, continuity of the therapeutic relationship and ensure timely referral for additional assessment and/or care (Table 2).

Clinical engagement and cultural competence

Active engagement with people to achieve cultural competence will depend upon the practitioner's openness and flexibility around cultural awareness. The cultural awareness questions listed below are adapted from Multicultural Mental Health Australia's Cultural Awareness Tool

[Cultural Awareness Questions. Multicultural Mental Health Australia, 2004. Available from URL <http://www.mmha.org.au>
Accessed 29 January 2008.]

and designed to help practitioners respond to people in the context of their mental health problems and/or mental ill health:

- Can you tell me about what brought you here? What do you call _____ (use the person's words for their problem)?
- When do you think it started, and why did it start then?
- What are the main problems it is causing you?
- What have you done to try and stop/manage _____ to make it go away or make it better?
- How would you usually manage _____ in your own culture to make it go away or make it better?
- How have you been coping so far with _____?
- In your culture, is your _____ considered 'severe'? What is the worst problem _____ could cause you?
- What type of help would you be expecting from me/our service?
- Are there people in your community who are aware that you have this condition? What do they think or believe caused _____? Are they doing anything to help you?

Conclusion

Mental state examination across cultures requires practitioners to understand the concept of culture, its impact on human behaviour, and the interpretation and evaluation of thought, actions and behaviour. A culturally competent assessment therefore implies recognition of other issues sometimes associated with working with people from different cultures. These may include stigma, isolation, shame and embarrassment, and communication and language difficulties. Clinicians and other service providers such as interpreters and translators should be sensitive to these and other issues experienced by people from diverse cultural backgrounds in the detention setting. After-care and treatment planning also demands that practitioners understand the emphasis many cultures place on the involvement of family in the person's care and an understanding of the role of family and its implications, particularly in relation to confidentiality and gaining trust.

INTRODUCTION

This part comprises:

- section 1 Purpose
- section 2 Scope
- section 3 Background
- section 4 Intended audience
- section 5 Evaluation.

1 PURPOSE

The purpose of this instruction is to describe arrangements to ensure that persons in immigration detention who have experienced torture and trauma are:

- identified as early as possible based on clinical presentation, available background and country information
- connected as soon as possible with appropriate services to assist them with any aspect of their experience of torture and trauma, in such a way that they can avail themselves of these services as freely as possible
- encouraged and supported, wherever possible following consideration of health, character and security risks, to reside legally in the community while their immigration status is being resolved or, where this is not possible, in the least restrictive form of detention to minimise the potential for immigration detention to exacerbate any vulnerabilities associated with their previous experience of torture and trauma. Continued accommodation of survivors of torture and trauma in an immigration detention centre is only to occur as a measure of absolute last resort where risk to the Australian community is considered unacceptable
- actively managed to an immigration outcome as quickly as possible.

This instruction does not attempt to provide a complete guide to the complex set of issues surrounding torture and trauma. The information provided here should be seen as articulating principles and high level processes that must be supplemented by operational procedures and training for the full range of staff working in the immigration detention environment.

2 SCOPE

This instruction applies to all persons who enter the immigration detention network, regardless of pathway.

It provides:

- contextualising information about torture and trauma
- principles guiding a best practice response to survivors of torture and trauma
- processes to identify persons entering the detention network who may be survivors of torture and trauma
- processes to manage cases involving torture and trauma through to release from detention.

The instruction does not provide:

- detailed arrangements for processing and support of survivors of torture and trauma who are not taken into, or released from, detention through the grant of a visa. Instead, it provides an indication of which areas and programs are responsible for such support
- detailed guidance on the management of any removal which may be required for survivors of torture and trauma who have exhausted all options to remain in Australia. Instead, it provides some guiding principles to inform the management of these cases.

3 BACKGROUND

The potential for the experience of immigration detention to compound psychological damage caused by previous torture and trauma demands a carefully considered response by health services and other staff working in the immigration detention environment.

In response to a recommendation by the Immigration Detention Advisory Group (IDAG) in 2007, the Department of Immigration and Citizenship (the department) worked with the Detention Health Advisory Group (DeHAG), and particularly its Mental Health Sub-Group (MHSG), to develop a best-practice approach to the identification and support of survivors of torture and trauma in immigration detention. This instruction reflects the results of this collaboration.

This instruction is informed by recent policy changes that identify immigration detention as a last resort, and incorporates a presumption that persons will remain in the community unless there are substantial grounds to justify their detention following consideration of health, identity and security risks.

4 INTENDED AUDIENCE

The intended audience for this document is all persons who interact with, or advocate for, persons in immigration detention, including:

- the health services manager, currently International Health and Medical Services (IHMS):
  - health providers working in, or consulting to, immigration detention facilities
  - community-based health service providers engaged by the health services manager for persons in community detention
- the department:
  - Refugee, Humanitarian and International Division, including officers performing onshore protection visa (PV) processing in Australia, entry screening interviews and refugee status assessments on Christmas Island, and officers working in policy roles
  - Community and Detention Services Division, including officers working at detention facilities in Australia and on Christmas Island, and officers working in policy roles
  - Compliance and Case Management Division, including officers working in case management, case resolution, enforcement and policy roles
  - Citizenship, Settlement & Multicultural Affairs Division, particularly officers managing the Integrated Humanitarian Settlement Strategy (IHSS)
  - state and territory officers who have interactions with persons in detention
- the Detention Service Provider (DSP), currently G4S (formerly GSL)
  - the Health Service Delivery Group (HSDG)
  - the DeHAG
  - the IDAG
- external stakeholders, including:
  - the Red Cross
  - Commonwealth (and Immigration) Ombudsman
  - the Australian Human Rights Commission
  - the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR)
  - the Forum for Australian Services for Survivors of Torture and Trauma (FASSTT).

5 EVALUATION

The principles and processes described in this instruction should be evaluated within 12 months of initial approval to determine whether they are achieving the objectives outlined at section 1 Purpose.

THE POLICY CONTEXT

This part comprises:

- section 6 Pathways into detention for survivors of torture & trauma
- section 7 Differing levels of risk & response
- section 8 Options for placement & status resolution
- section 9 A risk management approach.

6 PATHWAYS INTO DETENTION FOR SURVIVORS OF TORTURE & TRAUMA

Survivors of torture and trauma may enter immigration detention via two main pathways. In recent years, the most common pathway has been by entering the migration zone as an unlawful non-citizen at an excised offshore place. For convenience, this is referred to as the Offshore pathway.

A smaller but nonetheless significant number enter Australia other than at an excised offshore place and are either an unlawful non-citizen at the time of entry or the holder of a visa which subsequently ceases or is cancelled. This is referred to as the Onshore pathway.

Offshore pathway

An unlawful non-citizen who enters the migration zone at an excised offshore place is known as an offshore entry person. Offshore entry persons are prevented from making a valid visa application by s46A(1) of the Migration Act (the Act) while they are in Australia and are an unlawful non-citizen, unless the Minister lifts the bar to do so (s46A(2)).

Offshore entry persons are generally unauthorised boat arrivals, and are taken to Christmas Island for initial processing and consideration through an administrative process of any claims to remain in Australia. The nature of this caseload is such that torture and trauma must be considered likely. Arrangements on Christmas Island differ in some important respects, and differences will be discussed where appropriate.

Onshore pathway

Persons who are taken into immigration detention in Australia fall generally into the following two categories:

- persons who enter the migration zone, other than at an excised offshore place, and are an unlawful non-citizen on entry into the migration zone. These persons are generally:
  - illegal foreign fishers (IFFs) - see PAM3: Act - Act-based visas - Enforcement visas (IFFs are considered very low risk for torture and trauma)
  - unauthorised air or sea arrivals
- persons who arrive lawfully but become an unlawful non-citizen by:
  - overstaying their visa
  - having their visa cancelled for breaching a visa condition and on any other cancellation ground including cancellation as a result of criminal conviction.

Persons in the first category are detained. Illegal foreign fishers are generally removed quickly and torture and trauma is not considered likely. Some unauthorised air or sea arrivals are removed quickly, while others may seek a PV and remain for longer periods while their claims are assessed. Torture and trauma is more likely among unauthorised air or sea arrivals.

For those in the second category, immigration detention is used as a last resort when other avenues for maintaining the person lawfully in the community have been considered and judged to be inappropriate. Some persons who arrive lawfully and live in the community prior to becoming unlawful, and who subsequently apply for a PV, come from situations known to be high risk for torture and trauma. Persons in this category who are ineligible for other visas may be considered for a Bridging Visa E (subclass 051) (BVE), which is potentially available to certain categories of persons, including (under reg 2.20(9)(c)) a person:

...who has a special need (based on health or previous experience of torture or trauma) in respect of which a medical specialist appointed by Immigration has certified that the non-citizen cannot properly be cared for in a detention environment.

Notwithstanding attempts at diversion away from detention, a survivor of torture and trauma may enter immigration detention via the onshore pathway for a number of reasons. For example, they may not disclose a history of torture and trauma or they may be ineligible for a bridging visa on other grounds (they may fail character requirements or may have repeatedly refused to comply with visa conditions).

7 DIFFERING LEVELS OF RISK & RESPONSE

The prevalence of torture and trauma will be higher in some groups and almost non-existent in others. In line with the principles articulated in the Detention Health Framework, the detention health system will be geared towards closer examination where risks are known to be higher. Specialised screening and assessment will therefore be provided automatically for some groups, for example unauthorised arrivals from geo-political situations known to be high risk for torture and trauma. At the same time, everyone entering immigration detention, including through pathways considered to present a lower risk for torture and trauma, will undergo universal health screening designed to detect signs of psychological distress. This screening will make it possible to identify mental health issues and other presentations compatible with a history of torture and trauma, and referrals will be made for specialist assessment where indicated.

8 OPTIONS FOR PLACEMENT & STATUS RESOLUTION

The inevitable entry of survivors of torture and trauma into immigration detention means that processes are required within the detention system to identify survivors of torture and trauma, to review the reasonableness of their ongoing detention, and to respond appropriately, either by seeking their release from detention or arranging the most supportive placement possible within the detention network.

Use of community detention

Since 2005, community detention (residence determination) has been the most frequently used option for reducing the health risks associated with the detention of survivors of torture and trauma.

Community detention is a form of immigration detention, which is authorised by the Minister personally by a residence determination under s197AB of the Act, if the Minister thinks it is in the public interest to do so. Torture and trauma is a flag for referring a person to the Minister for consideration of placement in community detention - see:

- DSM Chapter 2: Client placement - Client placement model - Vulnerable people and
- the guidelines for Ministerial consideration of submissions for placement in community detention.

Key immigration detention values

On 29 July 2008, the Minister announced a number of significant government changes to detention arrangements. The policy retains mandatory detention as an essential component of strong border control for:

- unauthorised arrivals for management of health, identity and security risks to the community
- unlawful non-citizens who present unacceptable risks to the community
- unlawful non-citizens who have repeatedly refused to comply with their visa conditions.

The policy also includes:

- the detention of persons in immigration detention centres (IDCs) only as a last resort, for the shortest practicable time and in the least restrictive form appropriate to an individual's circumstances
- a presumption that persons will remain in the community while their immigration status is resolved, and a new onus on the department to justify why a person should be detained against this presumption

- a move away from ongoing detention for unauthorised arrivals following consideration of health, identity and security risks.

These new directions have significant implications for the management of survivors of torture and trauma, which can be summarised as follows:

- where possible, maintaining a survivor of torture and trauma legally in the community while their immigration status is being resolved is preferable to community detention
- the presumption that all persons, not just those with special needs, will remain in the community or in the least restrictive form of immigration detention reduces the need for the department to make judgements about the genuineness of claimed histories of torture and trauma as grounds for accommodation in a less restrictive environment
- this same presumption paves the way for a relaxing of the previous emphasis on establishing formally diagnosed disorders as the basis for accommodation outside an IDC. This is supported by expert advice from the DeHAG and the FASSTT as discussed in section 10 Identification of survivors.

See also DSM Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Service delivery values.

Other status resolution options

It must also be noted that the full suite of status resolution options for survivors of torture and trauma is broader than community detention or grant of a bridging visa. These options differ slightly between the onshore and offshore pathways but include:

- grant of a PV or other substantive visa, at primary or appeal stage, or via Ministerial intervention
Note: Offshore entry persons being processed on Christmas Island are barred under s46A(1) of the Act from making an application for a PV, but the Minister can lift this bar under s46A(2)
- removal from Australia.

A full analysis of these options is beyond the scope of this instruction. Suffice it to say that case managers and others investigating ways to support survivors of torture and trauma should look beyond interim solutions such as placement in community detention. In certain complex situations, a fair and reasonable solution may be to seek expedited resolution through Ministerial intervention rather than waiting until all other avenues have been pursued.

9 A RISK MANAGEMENT APPROACH

This policy adopts an approach that seeks to manage the risks associated with persons who have had traumatic experiences that predispose them to health risks in the detention environment. In this context, the threshold for preventative action is the risk of harm, not actual damage.

Any process which confers a benefit is open to the risk of abuse. However, the risk of failing to identify and provide appropriate support to a survivor of torture and trauma far outweighs this risk. Moreover, the key immigration detention values effectively eliminate the relative benefits conferred on survivors of torture and trauma in relation to others in detention. In this context, detailed assessments for the purpose of determining genuineness are only warranted where a person poses a risk to the Australian community that needs to be carefully weighed against health risks associated with remaining in immigration detention.

OVERVIEW OF TORTURE & TRAUMA

This part comprises:

- section 10 Identification of survivors
- section 11 Definition of a survivor of torture & trauma for the purpose of health referral & therapeutic support
- section 12 Engaging assistance from specialist torture & trauma services
- section 13 Children & adolescents
- section 14 Staff training.

10 IDENTIFICATION OF SURVIVORS

Identifying persons who have experienced torture and trauma is complex as not all have obvious physical or psychological signs. Persons with post traumatic conditions may not necessarily wish or feel safe to mention the fact that they have had a traumatic experience when they first see a doctor or another health professional. Shame, guilt and socio-cultural implications of their mistreatment may become barriers in the process of disclosing torture and trauma experiences. Thus, torture and trauma survivors may present with any of a range of problems, including anger, relationship problems, poor sleep or physical health complaints such as fatigue, headaches or gastrointestinal problems. The distress and stigma associated with mental health problems may also prevent some persons from talking about their experiences.

Torture and trauma experts caution against an overemphasis on Post Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD) and other formally diagnosable disorders as evidence of torture and trauma, arguing instead that it may be preferable to speak of “post traumatic mental distress” and “post traumatic conditions”. Typically, PTSD is not the most common post traumatic reaction in traumatised populations. Often depression, generalised anxiety disorder, and no disorder are more common than PTSD. A variety of other disturbances related to mood and behavioural regulation, and interpersonal functioning, may be clinically significant but are not formally diagnosable.

11 DEFINITION OF A SURVIVOR OF TORTURE & TRAUMA FOR THE PURPOSE OF HEALTH REFERRAL & THERAPEUTIC SUPPORT

This policy is concerned only with defining a survivor of torture and trauma for the purpose of responding to special needs, including health referrals and optimal accommodation, to avoid compounding any pre-existing vulnerabilities associated with previous torture and trauma. In this context, the threshold is deliberately set low. This policy does not attempt to define a survivor of torture and trauma as a basis for more substantial decisions such as grant of a PV or other status resolution options for which the threshold may need to be set higher.

In defining torture in this context, the department takes an inclusive approach that incorporates any act by which severe pain or suffering, whether physical or mental, is intentionally inflicted on a person. Trauma refers to negative physiological, psychological or social responses to such events. The definition also incorporates persons who are traumatised through their relationship to a survivor of torture (for example, a close family member) and persons who have been traumatised through any war-like or refugee-like situation (for example, women who have lived with a constant fear of rape, or who have survived rape, while in refugee camps).

To be defined as a survivor of torture and trauma for the purpose of health referral and therapeutic support, it is sufficient that a person discloses such experiences or, in the absence of disclosure, that the health service provider or a specialist torture and trauma service holds a high index of suspicion that the person has had such experiences.

12 ENGAGING ASSISTANCE FROM SPECIALIST TORTURE & TRAUMA SERVICES

In the immigration detention environment, the health service provider plays an important role in identifying persons who may be survivors of torture and trauma. In addition, this policy recognises the need to offer specialist assessment, and if necessary treatment, by an independent torture and trauma service. The FASSTT is the peak body for torture and trauma services in Australia. Specialist torture and trauma assessments and treatment recommendations under this policy will be provided by a FASSTT service, unless there are exceptional circumstances, in which case this should be formally acknowledged by senior management as described in section 31 Escalation of complex issues.

Torture and trauma services affiliated with FASSTT can provide:

- an account of any indications of torture and trauma
- results of screening procedures for formal disorders
- advice on the most appropriate options for care and support.

13 CHILDREN & ADOLESCENTS

Australia has international obligations under article 39 of the Convention for the Rights of the Child to “take appropriate measures to promote physical and psychological recovery and social reintegration of a child victim of...torture or any other form of cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment...”.

Children and adolescents may experience or witness torture and trauma, and their responses to their experiences will vary by age and level of support. Children are often unable to verbalise their experiences of trauma. In such cases, the health service provider should take steps to obtain assistance from specialist services with expertise in working with traumatised children and adolescents. This is particularly critical with unaccompanied minors.

14 STAFF TRAINING

Staff who work with persons in detention, including DSP, DIAC detention, DIAC case management and the health service provider staff, must have some level of training in identifying and/or responding to survivors of torture and trauma. Torture and trauma awareness training will also be incorporated into training for other staff working in areas with a role in managing the pathways into and out of immigration detention, including the detention review unit, staff working at Australian air and seaports and compliance officers working in the field.

The nature of this training will vary considerably by role, with health staff requiring the most in-depth training. Training and guidelines for nurses conducting induction health assessments should focus on recognising possible signs and symptoms of torture and trauma, understanding the implications of cultural diversity for the identification of idioms of distress, and avenues for seeking assistance when faced with challenging presentations. Health staff must also be competent to provide practical risk management advice to the department and the DSP in relation to survivors of torture and trauma.

Non-health staff working directly with persons in immigration detention are not expected to be able to identify signs and symptoms of torture and trauma, though they are encouraged to have an awareness of these. They must, however, be aware of how torture and trauma can affect survivors and be able to interact with persons identified as such in a way that seeks to avoid re-traumatisation. They must also be able to pick up general signs of psychological distress which should trigger a health referral.

As a minimum, training for all staff should include the following issues:

- the socio-political background to torture and trauma
- recognising signs and symptoms of torture and trauma (from basic to advanced, depending on role)
- cultural issues as they relate to the expression of trauma
- routes and processes for referral to health services for persons for whom torture and trauma risk indicators are identified.

Training should be nationally consistent and delivered in an ongoing format.

PRINCIPLES

15 PRINCIPLES UNDERPINNING THE IDENTIFICATION & SUPPORT

The following principles underpin the identification and support of survivors of torture and trauma in immigration detention:

15.1 Early identification and response is critical

There is strong evidence of the effectiveness of early intervention for persons with histories of torture and trauma who have developed symptoms. Excluding the assessment of self-harm risk conducted by the DSP immediately upon entry to immigration detention, the first major opportunity for identification of survivors is the induction health assessment. This assessment needs to ask direct but sensitive questions about histories of trauma, detention, exposure to violence and loss, and to be alert to physical signs and symptoms suggesting a history of torture and trauma. All subsequent mental health screening and assessments must also be alert to such signs and symptoms.

In cases where self disclosure or third party information raises concerns at a later point in a person's period of detention, this must trigger trauma assessment as soon as possible.

15.2 Useful therapeutic work does not depend on full disclosure

Depending on the circumstances it may take as long as a year or more before some persons are willing to talk about their trauma. Even following disclosure to a clinician, readiness to receive treatment is highly variable and does not necessarily correlate with evidence of symptoms. Some persons are ready and have acute symptoms requiring immediate attention. Others, even those who may be highly symptomatic, may not be ready and need to be given the option of accessing treatment at a time of their choice.

Unwillingness to disclose or accept treatment initially does not mean that useful therapeutic work cannot be done from the outset. Interventions that seek to reduce risk factors and strengthen protective factors can be pursued regardless of a person's willingness to seek treatment. The process outlined in this instruction must respond in a supportive and appropriate way to persons who are not yet ready to disclose or accept treatment.

15.3 Balance the need for timely communication with respect for privacy & confidentiality

The importance of timely communication between the various parties who have a role in identifying and providing support to survivors of torture and trauma in immigration detention cannot be overstated. Tempering this is the need to respect privacy and confidentiality when communicating private health information. While this balance can be difficult to achieve, parties must work together in the best interests of the individual.

See also section 29 Balancing the need for timely communication with privacy & confidentiality requirements.

15.4 Expedited placement into the community

Advice from trauma experts indicates that a survivor's torture and trauma memories can be triggered as a direct result of confinement in an environment that has a strong resemblance to contexts in which they have been tortured, and that placement in an environment perceived as "safe" by the survivor is a prerequisite to an effective treatment response. This policy stops short of stating that no survivor of torture and trauma will ever be accommodated in an IDC following consideration of health, character and security risks because there have been, and may again be, cases where a survivor presents genuine security concerns and may even have been a perpetrator of torture. However this situation is rare and the intention for the vast majority of survivors is rapid placement in the community.

15.5 Screening is necessary but not conclusive

Notwithstanding the best torture and trauma screening and assessment, some level of over and under identification must be expected. This policy recognises that it is preferable to set a relatively low threshold to trigger referral for specialist clinical assessment. This is consistent with a harm prevention approach, and avoids the more serious risks associated with failing to identify persons with torture and trauma histories.

15.6 Flexible application of this policy is critical

The approach to torture and trauma assessments and response needs to be flexible. The highly variable experiences of survivors of torture and trauma and the very different detention environments onshore and on Christmas Island require a high degree of flexibility when approaching torture and trauma assessments and response. Examples include whether to use particular screening instruments where these may compound distress; whether to work with persons individually or in groups; and whether to pursue less restrictive placements if this would result in separation from a supportive group.

See also section 30 The need for flexible application of this policy.

15.7 Case conferencing approach

A multidisciplinary “case-conferencing” approach involving clinicians, the department and community-based service providers will be used, with regard to the individual’s consent and appropriate limitations on the disclosure of confidential health information. The goal of case conferencing is to provide holistic, coordinated, and integrated services across providers, and to reduce duplication. Case conferences are usually interdisciplinary, and include one or more internal and external providers and, if possible and appropriate, the individual and close supports. This reflects the reality that an effective response may need to address a wide range of needs including medical, legal, social and psychological assistance.

15.8 Well-trained and supported staff

The approach set out in this policy is critically dependent on high quality training that equips staff to be aware of and respond appropriately to issues that are not well understood in the Australian community. Various levels of training will be provided to DSP, DIAC and health service provider staff working with persons in immigration detention, and to other staff working in areas with a role in managing the pathways into and out of immigration detention.

See also section 14 Staff training.

ROLES & RESPONSIBILITIES

This part, which is to be read in conjunction with Torture and trauma response process, comprises:

- section 16 Generic responsibilities
- section 17 The critical role of the departmental case manager
- section 18 Specific roles & responsibilities.

16 GENERIC RESPONSIBILITIES

All parties are expected to:

- share information relevant to the identification or support of survivors of torture and trauma (referred to in this chapter as ‘relevant information’) with any other party who has a need to know, subject to privacy and confidentiality requirements. The default communication pathway is through the case manager
- participate in case conferencing forums
- keep complete and accurate records.

17 THE CRITICAL ROLE OF THE DEPARTMENTAL CASE MANAGER

The departmental case managers are assigned to persons who exhibit one or more risk indicators, including being in immigration detention and being a survivor of torture and trauma. They play a critical role in communicating and coordinating across functions both within and outside the department to ensure that application milestones are achieved and a person’s wellbeing is looked after during the process. Case managers must be distinguished from the various “case officers” or “decision makers” who handle specific aspects of immigration processing.

The large number of parties involved in cases involving survivors of torture and trauma means that the risk of communication failures is significant, and the coordinating role of case managers is arguably the most significant mitigation for this risk. In performing this role, case managers have both responsibilities and needs. On the one hand, they have a responsibility to assertively seek out and pass on relevant information within privacy and confidentiality constraints; on the other, they have a need to know relevant information at the level required to properly manage a case. Other parties who come into possession of relevant information have an obligation to communicate this to the case manager.

See also section 29 Balancing the need for timely communication with privacy & confidentiality requirements.

18 SPECIFIC ROLES & RESPONSIBILITIES

Health service provider

- Provide health assessments and services that are competent in identifying signs and symptoms of torture and trauma
- Follow the referral pathways outlined in this policy
- Notify the departmental case manager (or, where none has yet been assigned, departmental detention staff) where a person in detention is identified as a survivor of torture and trauma, subject to the individual’s consent
- Consider continuity of care for survivors of torture and trauma when conducting health discharge assessments
- Maintain a network of community health providers with competence in recognising and responding to torture and trauma issues for persons in community detention.

FASSTT

- Provide specialist torture and trauma assessments for persons referred by the health service provider which include:
  - an account of any indications of torture and trauma
  - results of screening procedures for formal disorders
  - advice on the most appropriate options for care and support

- Where relevant, provide psychological support services for survivors of torture and trauma in immigration detention while their immigration status is being resolved.

Departmental case manager (regional)

- Act as a communication and coordination hub, so that relevant information is communicated across functions and providers. In particular:
  - pass on relevant information from the health service provider (or any other source) to any other party with a need to know. For example, notify the relevant PV decision maker when someone is identified as a survivor of torture and trauma so that relevance to any protection claims can be considered
  - feed relevant information into the detention review, client placement and status resolution processes
- Ensure that the appropriate torture and trauma risk indicator is recorded for the person on the immigration portal
- Refer cases involving torture and trauma to Case Escalation and Liaison Section for consideration of case resolution options
- Actively pursue placement and status resolution outcomes by engaging relevant areas of the department and third parties
- Ensure that all reasonable steps are taken to support survivors of torture and trauma in community detention
- In the event of grant of a PV, refer the case to IHSS Operations for consideration of support under the IHSS
- Where the person is being removed, liaise with departmental removal officers, the health service provider and any other party to ensure that torture and trauma issues are factored into the planning and implementation of removals.

Departmental detention staff (regional)

- Ensure that any local arrangements for managing “special needs” cases incorporate, as far as possible, the torture and trauma process outlined in this instruction
- Liaise with the relevant case management service to arrange for allocation of a departmental case manager where this has not yet occurred
- Communicate relevant information from the Australian Customs and Border Control Service or entry screening teams to the departmental case manager and health service provider (Christmas Island only)
- Communicate relevant information from family, friends, advocates, community contacts or any other source to the departmental case manager and health service provider.

Case Escalation and Liaison Section, National Office

- Work with the departmental case manager to obtain relevant information for input to status resolution outcomes including, where appropriate, submissions for Ministerial consideration
- Actively pursue status resolution outcomes for survivors of torture and trauma.

Departmental detention review unit (regional)

- Liaise with the departmental case manager and consider relevant information when conducting detention review assessments.

Departmental refugee status assessment officers and entry screening teams (Christmas Island only)

- Communicate relevant information disclosed during interviews or applications to the departmental case manager.

Departmental onshore protection decision makers (regional)

- Communicate relevant information disclosed during interviews or applications to the departmental case manager.

Health Services Section and Community Services Section, National Office

- Liaise with the health services manager, the Red Cross, the case manager and community detention liaison officers to ensure that the health needs of survivors of torture and trauma in community detention are appropriately addressed.

Departmental community detention liaison officers (regional)

- Liaise with the health services manager, the Red Cross, the case manager, Community Services Section and Health Services Section to ensure that the health needs of survivors of torture and trauma in community detention are appropriately addressed.

Departmental compliance officers (regional)

- Where a survivor of torture and trauma is released from immigration detention by grant of a bridging visa, refer the case to the relevant regional case management service and ensure that the appropriate torture and trauma risk indicator is recorded for the person on the immigration portal
- Where a survivor of torture and trauma is detained, pass on relevant information to the relevant case management service and departmental detention staff.

Compliance Operational Support Section, National Office

- Undertake assessments for BVE for survivors of torture and trauma.

DIAC removal officers (regional)

- Seek relevant information from the departmental case manager when planning removals for survivors of torture and trauma
- Act on advice from the health service provider when managing removals for survivors of torture and trauma.

DSP (regional)

- Communicate relevant information to DIAC detention staff and the health service provider
- Act on advice from the health service provider and DIAC on the support of survivors of torture and trauma within an immigration detention facility.

Red Cross

Red Cross humanitarian observers conducting activities in immigration detention facilities

- Communicate information relevant to the identification and/or support of survivors of torture and trauma to the DIAC case manager, subject to the individual's consent.

Red Cross community detention caseworkers

- Coordinate with the health services manager, the DIAC case manager, Health Services Section and community detention liaison officers, to broker services for survivors of torture and trauma in community detention.

19 TORTURE & TRAUMA IDENTIFICATION WITHIN THE MENTAL HEALTH SCREENING PROCESS

From a health screening perspective, the identification and support of survivors of torture and trauma commences at reception at an immigration detention facility and continues throughout an individual's period of detention, regardless of placement. It occurs within the framework of a larger mental health assessment process, which includes scheduled and triggered re-screening. This process is documented separately.

See also Mental health screening for people in immigration detention.

Measures to identify and support survivors of torture and trauma that are built into the mental health screening and assessment process include:

- an induction health assessment that is attuned to identifying signs and symptoms of torture and trauma
- a range of universal mental health screens designed to identify signs of distress, chosen for their cross-cultural validity and applicability to the mental health issues most relevant to persons entering immigration detention
- the Harvard Trauma Questionnaire (16 question short form):
  - as a triggered screen for persons identified during universal screening as symptomatic in ways suggesting a history of trauma
  - as an automatic screen for persons considered to be at high risk of having experienced torture and trauma
- referral for assessment by a FASSTT torture and trauma service where a person screens positive on the Harvard Trauma Questionnaire or, even in the absence of a positive screen, where there is a high index of suspicion.

Clinicians must use judgement when deciding whether or when to use the Harvard Trauma Questionnaire or other screening instruments.

See also section 30 The need for flexible application of this policy.

20 DETAILED TORTURE & TRAUMA PROCESS

Within the context of the comprehensive mental health screening and assessment process described above, the following table provides a generic four-stage process for the identification and support of survivors of torture and trauma. Implementation of the generic process may vary according to local arrangements for each region, facility or detention placement.

Complex issues may arise at any point during this process, and may require escalation.

See also Dealing with complex issues.

21 TORTURE & TRAUMA ASSESSMENTS ON CHRISTMAS ISLAND

Due to the higher likelihood of torture and trauma among unauthorised boat arrivals, FASSTT torture and trauma services are engaged on Christmas Island to conduct clinical interviews as part of the induction health assessment for all consenting individuals.

22 MANAGING CASES WHERE A PERSON REFUSES REFERRAL TO FASSTT

If a person declines referral to a FASSTT service for assessment, the health service provider should emphasise to the person that the referral remains open and can be accessed at any time. Where a clinician holds significant concern for a person's wellbeing in these circumstances, they may need to advocate assertively on behalf of the person by escalating the case to the department for consideration of appropriate accommodation and status resolution options. In handling such cases, the health service provider may conduct its own assessments, but preferably with advice from a FASSTT service.

23 GUIDANCE ON GEO-POLITICAL SITUATIONS THAT TRIGGER AUTOMATIC TRAUMA SCREENING

As described in Stage 3 of the above process, torture and trauma screening is automatically provided for all persons who come from geo-political situations where the experience of trauma is common (for example, persons from countries undergoing civil war or who claim to belong to a persecuted group). If in doubt, advice should be sought from Country Research Section, National Office.

24 APPROPRIATE FORUMS FOR CASE CONFERENCING

Stages 3 and 4 of the process described in section 20 Detailed torture & trauma process employ a case conferencing approach that seeks to engage the specific parties appropriate to a particular case. The reality for larger immigration detention facilities is that these discussions often occur as part of scheduled meetings designed to deal with a range of issues for several persons in detention (for example, client placement meetings). While such meetings may go some way to managing torture and trauma issues at the caseload level, they cannot be relied upon as the sole source of case conferencing because:

- not all parties present have a need to know detailed case information
- key parties cannot practically be involved and
- time constraints preclude an individually tailored approach.

The aim of such meetings should be to identify cases requiring individual case conferencing and then to ensure that this occurs.

25 CLIENT PLACEMENT AND DETENTION REVIEW ASSESSMENTS

The client placement model provides departmental officers with a nationally consistent framework and accompanying assessment tools for placing persons in the most appropriate detention accommodation. The process begins with a preliminary assessment conducted as soon as border control or compliance officers make a decision to detain a person, followed by a 48/72 hour review of the initial placement and monthly reviews thereafter (or sooner where triggered). These reviews take into account a range of factors including health and wellbeing, with survivors of torture and trauma explicitly recognised as a vulnerable group requiring special attention.

See also DSM Chapter 2: Client placement - Client placement model.

A related process of three monthly detention review assessments is conducted by the detention review unit. The detention review unit undertakes additional reviews in support of the Ombudsman's six month and biannual reviews of a person's immigration detention. Detention reviews assess, among other things, the reasonableness and appropriateness of detention in light of the new detention policy settings.

Case managers play a crucial role in ensuring that relevant information in relation to survivors of torture and trauma is fed into client placement and detention review assessments.

26 TORTURE & TRAUMA SERVICES FOR PERSONS IN THE COMMUNITY

Although it is recognised that aspects of the environment in IDCs may act as health risk factors for survivors of torture and trauma, placement in community detention or grant of a bridging visa without adequate supports may in fact increase isolation and decrease access to services and supports. This section describes support arrangements for survivors of torture and trauma who are placed in the community while their immigration status is being resolved.

Persons on bridging visas

Where a survivor of torture and trauma is not taken into detention (by grant of a bridging visa), the responsible departmental compliance officer must notify the relevant case management service at the state/territory level and update the relevant immigration portal to indicate that the person may be a survivor of torture and trauma. A departmental case manager will be assigned and should seek to engage support, including any torture and trauma-related services, for the person through the community care pilot (see DSM Chapter 1: Legislative & principles overview - Service delivery values - Community care pilot) or through the Asylum Seeker Assistance Scheme.

A survivor of torture and trauma would normally qualify for inclusion in the community care pilot under exceptional circumstances criteria. A survivor would need to meet some other criteria to be eligible for asylum seeker assistance, including financial hardship, being at certain stages of visa processing, and being unable to work due to the effects of the torture or trauma.

Where a survivor of torture and trauma is released from immigration detention on a bridging visa, the case manager should ensure a smooth transition to community support under the community care pilot. Subject to the individual's consent, the health discharge assessment for survivors of torture and trauma should include appropriate referrals so that any therapeutic relationships can be continued under the community care pilot.

Persons in community detention

The Red Cross provides the primary support role for persons in community detention, and is responsible for brokering health and other support services. The Red Cross is monitored and assisted in this role by community detention liaison officers in each region and by Health and Community Services Section in National Office.

Health services for persons in community detention are coordinated by the health services manager, who is responsible for ensuring that its network of community-based health providers is equipped to cater for the special needs of persons who have experienced torture and trauma. Where possible, the health services manager should attempt to preserve any therapeutic relationships developed prior to discharge from an IDC, for example with specific FASSTT counsellors.

27 TRANSITION FOR PERSONS GRANTED PERMANENT VISAS

Under new arrangements in force from December 2008, persons in immigration detention who are granted PVs onshore have full access to services available under the IHSS on a needs basis.

IHSS services include:

- initial information and orientation assistance
- assistance in finding accommodation
- basic goods to help establish a household
- information and assistance to access services and become part of the local community
- access to short term torture and trauma counselling and
- referral to longer term counselling if required.

Subject to the individual's consent, the health discharge assessment for survivors of torture and trauma should include appropriate referrals so that any therapeutic relationships can be continued under longer term torture and trauma services provided under the IHSS. IHSS is not available for visa outcomes other than PVs.

Survivors of torture and trauma in immigration detention who are granted PVs onshore may also be eligible for additional case management services through the complex case support (CCS) program. This program is designed to meet the needs of individuals who have particularly high levels of need which cannot be adequately met through existing settlement services (including IHSS). While persons can be referred to this service at any time and from any source, referrals should generally be made to IHSS in the first instance to ensure access to longer term torture and trauma services and to assess whether additional case management support through CCS is required.

Persons granted other forms of substantive visa may be eligible for temporary support under the community care pilot.

28 MANAGING REMOVALS FOR SURVIVORS OF TORTURE & TRAUMA

In some circumstances, a survivor of torture and trauma may exhaust all available options to remain in Australia, including Ministerial intervention, and may face removal. In these circumstances, it is essential that the person's status as a survivor of torture and trauma be foremost in the minds of officers making decisions about the removal so that harm is avoided in the removal process and appropriate supports can be arranged in the destination country. As far as possible, the case conferencing approach described in this document should be continued so that decisions regarding management of removals are made with maximum knowledge of the person's vulnerabilities and any protective factors which may assist in achieving the least traumatic removal possible within the circumstances. Case officers must be involved as early as possible in the removals planning process to ensure that any torture and trauma issues are identified..

DEALING WITH COMPLEX ISSUES

This part, which provides guidance on some complex issues that may arise in relation to survivors of torture and trauma that require special attention and, if necessary, escalation to senior management, comprises:

- section 29 Balancing the need for timely communication with privacy & confidentiality requirements
- section 30 The need for flexible application of this policy
- section 31 Escalation of complex issues.

29 BALANCING THE NEED FOR TIMELY COMMUNICATION WITH PRIVACY & CONFIDENTIALITY REQUIREMENTS

Timely communication is critical to the successful implementation of this policy. Tempering this is the need to respect privacy and confidentiality when communicating private health information. In most cases, this balance can be achieved by obtaining the individual's consent and sharing health information only at the level required to manage a particular case. Case managers often have a need to request information from clinicians about whether a person meets the definition of a survivor of torture and trauma for the purpose of health referral and therapeutic support (see section 11 Definition of a survivor of torture & trauma for the purpose of health referral & therapeutic support), the general nature of any related health issues, and any implications these may have on placement or status resolution options. Case managers and other non-health staff do not need to know detailed diagnoses or other clinical information of a highly personal nature.

Where non-health staff believe they have a need to access private health information beyond this level, requests are to be forwarded to the Detention Health Mailbox (detention.health@immi.gov.au). In rare cases, a survivor of torture and trauma may expressly refuse consent for the clinician to pass on information about their status as a survivor of torture and trauma. Where this occurs, clinicians should seek advice from senior colleagues on how to balance their professional obligations. Legal advice on obligations under the Privacy Act 1988 may also need to be sought. Where any party believes that a rigid application of privacy and confidentiality requirements is creating a barrier to appropriate care, this should first be escalated through the Detention Health Mailbox and then, if unsuccessful, to senior management as described in section 31 Escalation of complex issues.

30 THE NEED FOR FLEXIBLE APPLICATION OF THIS POLICY

The highly variable experiences of survivors of torture and trauma and the very different detention environments onshore and on Christmas Island require a high degree of flexibility when undertaking torture and trauma assessments and response. Examples of this include the following:

- the mental health screening instruments prescribed for immigration detention, and the timings for conducting them, have been deliberately chosen for their suitability to the detention environment. However, clinicians must exercise clinical judgement to avoid unnecessary or potentially harmful screening processes. For example, where signs and symptoms of torture and trauma are obvious, clinicians should consider referring a person directly to a specialist torture and trauma service for clinical interview rather than screening using the Harvard Trauma Questionnaire
- where persons enter detention as groups, some may be more amenable to group interventions rather than individual counselling, while the opposite may be true for others. Similarly, assessment needs to take into account cultural differences and geo-political issues impacting on world-view and expectations. The Australian experience in the context of the IHSS has shown that some groups who may be highly traumatised may be better served by a number of group sessions aimed at building trust and "normalizing" common symptoms of post-traumatic stress, loss and relocation before any torture and trauma issues are even raised
- protective factors supporting a survivor may need to be preserved even if this means a departure from the letter of this policy. For example, where an individual's membership of a group is a protective factor, emphasis may need to be given to keeping the group together rather than separating individuals in the name of expediting the individual's transfer to community detention.

Significant departures from this policy should be formally acknowledged by senior management, as described in section 31 Escalation of complex issues.

31 ESCALATION OF COMPLEX ISSUES

There will be cases for which this instruction does not provide adequate guidance, for example, where:

- identity and security checks may not be finalised as quickly as is desirable and persons with torture and trauma histories are at risk of being held in an IDC for extended periods of time
- trauma assessments and treatment recommendations under this policy cannot practically be provided by a FASSTT member
- a torture and trauma assessment by FASSTT does not provide adequate information to support a placement decision, such that a second opinion may be warranted
- departures from this policy are required to sensibly support someone with a history of torture
- there is concern that a rigid application of privacy and confidentiality requirements are creating a barrier to appropriate care.

In such circumstances, the case should be escalated for resolution to:

- the First Assistant Secretary, Community and Detention Services Division
- the Medical Director of IHMS
- (and where appropriate) the First Assistant Secretary, Compliance and Case Resolution Division.

Interaction with the media

IMPORTANT NOTICE

Minors require immediate attention to ensure their best interests are considered.

Minors are never to be detained in an immigration detention centre for accommodation or immigration processing purposes.

Placement of a minor in an immigration detention facility is to be used only as a last resort, for the shortest practicable time, and the least restrictive form appropriate to the minor's circumstances.

1 PURPOSE

This instruction provides guidance to departmental staff on interaction with the media.

2 NATIONAL COMMUNICATIONS BRANCH

In order to deliver consistent, timely, accurate and coordinated information, the National Communications Branch is the sole point of contact for all media within the department.

The National Communications Branch is responsible for providing strategic direction on communication. It also provides professional advice on and services for a range of communications issues, including media liaison, campaigns, advertising, events management and publication and digital productions.

3 MEDIA INQUIRIES

All media inquiries to staff below Senior Executive Service level should be referred immediately to the National Communications Branch's Media Team on 02 6264 2244.

For further information, refer to the Communication tab on IMMIInet.

Where media interest regarding minors in immigration detention occurs, in addition to referral to National Communications Branch's Media Team, the following departmental officers must be advised:

- regional manager
- senior case manager
- relevant Deputy State/Territory Director, who will then brief
  - Assistant Secretary, Case Management and Review Branch.

4 CONTACT WITH THE MEDIA BY PERSONS IN IMMIGRATION DETENTION

While the department's policy is not to facilitate media contact with detainees, due to privacy obligations, persons in immigration detention may contact the media at any time. There is no restriction on this, but journalists should have respect for concerns about identifying individuals.

National Communications Branch's media section must reinforce with media representatives that a person in immigration detention's individual identity and privacy should be protected.

INTRODUCTION

This part comprises:

- section 1 Purpose
- section 2 Guiding principles & values
- section 3 Legislative framework
- section 4 Definitions.

1 PURPOSE

This instruction provides departmental and detention service provider (DSP) officers with guidance on the reasonable use of force and/or restraint to achieve lawful and operational outcomes in the immigration detention environment, as specified in the Act. This guidance is intended to minimise the inappropriate use of force and risk of harm to persons in detention, officers (as defined in section 5 Officers) and third parties, thereby reducing the risk exposure of the Department. This Instruction is consistent with the use of force instruction for compliance officers, see PAM3: Act - Compliance - NCOI - Guiding principles - Reasonable use of force.

2 GUIDING PRINCIPLES & VALUES

The guiding principles in relation to the application of reasonable use of force and/or restraint in the immigration detention environment is encapsulated in the immigration values in DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Service delivery values which states that persons in immigration detention will be treated fairly and reasonably within the law and that conditions of immigration detention will ensure the inherent dignity of the human person. For the application of reasonable force and/or restraint in the immigration detention environment this means that:

- conflict resolution through negotiation and de-escalation is, where practicable, to be considered before the use of force and/or restraint is used
- reasonable force and/or restraint should only be used as a measure of last resort
- reasonable force and/or restraint may be used to prevent the person in immigration detention inflicting self-injury, injury to others, escaping or destruction of property
- reasonable force and/or restraint may only be used for the shortest amount of time possible to the extent that is both lawfully and reasonably necessary. If the management of a person in immigration detention can be achieved by other means, force must not be used
- the use of force and/or restraint must not include cruel, inhumane or degrading treatments
- the use of force and/or restraint must not be used for the purposes of punishment
- the excessive use of force and/or restraint is unlawful and must not occur in any circumstances
- the use of excessive force on a person may constitute an assault
- all instances where use of force and/or restraint are applied (including any follow-up action), must be reported in accordance with the relevant DSP operational procedures.

3 LEGISLATIVE FRAMEWORK

The legislative provisions for the use of force in the immigration detention environment under the Act are found in DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Service delivery values.

4 DEFINITIONS

Force

Force is defined as an action, or the perception of action taken to limit or control the movement or freedom of an individual. Force is also action applied against an object to search or gain entry of a property.

Reasonable force

Reasonable force is the minimum amount of force, and no more, necessary to achieve legislative outcomes and/or ensure the safety of all persons in immigration detention, staff and property. The use of force is considered to be reasonable if it is objectively justifiable and proportionate to the risk faced. Action that may be used to control a situation will range from non-contact options (for example, physical presence alone), to options involving physical contact.

Excessive force

Excessive force is that force or restraint beyond that which is reasonably necessary in the circumstances.

Restraint

Action that may be used to control a situation will range from non-contact options (for example, physical presence alone) to options that involve physical contact, which may include the application of an approved instrument of restraint - see section 8 Instruments of restraint.

Legislative outcome

Legislative outcome is the exercise of power in making a decision, to achieve an outcome provided for under the Act. Note: Being an unlawful non-citizen is neither a civil contravention nor a criminal offence and that any use of reasonable force would be to achieve a legislative outcome only.

OPERATIONAL CONSIDERATIONS

This part comprises:

- section 5 Officers
- section 6 Persons of special consideration
- section 7 Examples where force may be used
- section 8 Instruments of restraint
- section 9 Scheduled travel
- section 10 Last resort principles
- section 11 Reporting the use of force and/or restraint
- section 12 Complaints
- section 13 Debriefing.

5 OFFICERS

An officer is a departmental or DSP officer.

Officers may use an appropriate level of reasonable force and/or restraint that might otherwise constitute an assault, to protect themselves and others, when safety issues arise in conjunction with the performance of their duties.

Officers must possess the necessary knowledge, training, and skills to safely, effectively and lawfully apply reasonable force and/or restraint.

If officers who have not been trained in the use of reasonable force and/or restraint are requested to assist in the use of reasonable force and/or restraint, such requests should only occur in circumstances where there is an immediate need and where there is absolutely no alternative available to prevent harm to people in detention, officers or third parties.

6 PERSONS OF SPECIAL CONSIDERATION

Persons of special consideration are vulnerable persons that include those:

- who are minors
- requiring special medical attention
- at risk of self-harm
- with physical or known psychological vulnerabilities such as being victims of torture and trauma
- suspected of having been the victims of people trafficking
- the frail and/or the elderly.

Officers must use greater care than would otherwise be required should reasonable force be warranted against a person of special consideration.

Officers must be aware of the distress that can be inflicted on a minor should they see their parent, guardian or any person being restrained. Restraint should be used in the presence of minors only in the most extreme circumstances, that is, where there is a high risk of escape or to prevent a person harming themselves or others.

7 EXAMPLES WHERE FORCE MAY BE USED

Appropriate use of reasonable force and/or restraint in a place of immigration detention may be necessary to:

- prevent a minor from harming persons or preserve them from situations that would otherwise harm them
- prevent escape
- prevent a person from injuring themselves or others
- manage riotous behaviour by a group of people
- prevent a person inflicting damage to property

- conduct a search procedure (see DSM - Chapter 8 - Safety & security - Searches of persons in immigration detention)
- conduct a screening procedure (see DSM - Chapter 8 - Safety & security - Screening of persons in immigration detention)
- conduct a strip search procedure (see DSM - Chapter 8 - Safety & security - Strip searches of persons in immigration detention)
- collect personal identifiers (see DSM - Chapter 3 - Entering & leaving detention - Identification tests).

8 INSTRUMENTS OF RESTRAINT

8.1 Only approved items

Whether mechanical or otherwise, only items approved by the Secretary of the Department are to be used in an immigration detention facility. Law enforcement agencies may use other restraints in the lawful execution of their duties and in accordance with any applicable legislation and/or policy.

Instruments of restraint must:

- never be applied as a punishment or for discipline
- never be applied as a substitute for medical treatment
- never be used for convenience or as an alternative to reasonable staffing
- be removed once the threat has diminished and the officer believes that the person is no longer a threat to themselves, others or property.

Unless the situation requiring instruments of restraint is an emergency, any planned application first requires a detailed risk-management assessment to be undertaken in accordance with established procedures.

8.2 Restraints must only be used by trained officers.

The use of all chemical agents of restraint, including sedatives, tear gas, pepper spray and capsicum spray by all departmental and DSP officers are prohibited. Whenever an instrument of restraint is applied, where practicable, an appropriately trained/qualified staff member not involved in the process should observe and record the occurrence.

In an emergency situation the decision to apply an instrument of restraint will be made by the most senior officer present. Once restraints are applied, the DSP Director Detention Services is to be advised of the use of the instrument of restraint as soon as is practicable. The use of an instrument of restraint is to be reported to the Department in accordance with normal reporting standards - see DSM - Chapter 8 - Safety & security - Incident management & reporting.

9 SCHEDULED TRAVEL

Restraint during escorted visits and scheduled travels only applies to people who have a serious or violent criminal history, those who have a history of escape, and those for whom the risk assessment indicates that they potentially pose a high risk. In practice this means that reasonable force and/or restraint will be determined following risk-management procedures - see DSM - Chapter 8 - Safety & security - Scheduled travel.

An instrument of restraint may be used on a person who, at any stage of being escorted, exhibits behaviour that could reasonably be viewed as posing a risk to the safety of themselves, others, property or attempt to escape.

If a person is restrained an officer must:

- conduct checks at regular intervals
- be aware at all times of the safety of the person including whilst travelling in a restrained manner in a motor vehicle
- take special account of the person's comfort and dignity, particularly when there is a need to apply restraints to the person for a lengthy period.

10 LAST RESORT PRINCIPLES

All use of force and/or restraint should be proportionate to the situation, objectively justifiable and only used as a measure of last resort. What this means is that the officer reasonably believes that there is no other option other than the use of reasonable force and/or restraint. The level of force must be proportionate to the threat being faced and always at the minimum level to achieve legislative outcomes.

In the first instance, staff should seek to achieve the desired objective, whenever possible, by de-escalation techniques such as discussion, negotiation, or verbal persuasion.

11 REPORTING THE USE OF FORCE AND/OR RESTRAINT

In line with established departmental occupational health and safety reporting procedures, any instance of any use of force and/or restraint must be reported pursuant to s68 of the Occupational Health and Safety Act 1991:

- (1) If an employer is conducting an undertaking, and there arises out of the conduct of the undertaking or out of work performed by an employee in connection with the undertaking:
  - (a) an accident that causes the death of, or serious personal injury to, any person; or
  - (b) an accident that causes an employee who performs work in connection with the undertaking to be incapacitated from performing work for a period prescribed for the purposes of this paragraph; or
  - (c) a dangerous occurrence

the employer must, in accordance with the regulations, give to the Commission such notice of the accident or dangerous occurrence as the regulations require.

The DSP must ensure that where force has been applied or restraint used against a person, an appropriate medical professional should examine the person as soon as reasonably practicable.

Wherever practicable, when reasonable force is used in a planned way, the entire incident is to be recorded on video.

A written incident report must be made within four hours or before the officer completes their shift, whichever is earlier - see DSM - Chapter 8 - Safety & security - Incident management & reporting. The report, with any relevant imagery, should be placed on the person's file, a note made in the CCMD Portal with copies forwarded to the relevant case manager.

12 COMPLAINTS

Where a person in immigration detention believes they have been subjected to force that is excessive, not appropriate or unreasonable, they must be advised of, and allowed to access, the full range of complaints handling mechanisms available to all immigration clients, including:

- the DSP
- the Department
- the Australian Human Rights Commission
- the Commonwealth Ombudsman
- the police and
- legal representation if requested.

13 DEBRIEFING

All officers present during situations in which force and/or restraint has been used must be debriefed by a suitably qualified senior officer as soon as reasonably practicable. Debriefing sessions should be structured to provide officers with an opportunity to discuss issues and concerns arising from the particular incident and its associated use of force and/or restraint.

Departmental staff may also avail themselves of the Employee Assistance Program (EAP) which provides free confidential and professional assistance through short-term counselling and consulting.

Debriefing should also be provided to people who have been the subject of use of force and/or restraint. This process serves an important role in reducing stress, and can assist in re-establishing positive relationships between those involved in the incident.

Screening of persons in immigration detention

IMPORTANT NOTICE

Minors require immediate attention to ensure the best interests of the child are considered.

In relation to any welfare issues concerning minors and when planning the detention or removal of a minor, officers must escalate to the relevant Deputy State/Territory Director who will then brief the Assistant Secretary, Compliance & Case Resolution, East & North or the Assistant Secretary, Compliance & Case Resolution, South & West, depending upon the geographical location of the IDF.

Detention accommodation of minors is only to be used as a last resort, for the shortest practicable time, and in the least restrictive form appropriate to a minor's circumstances. Minors are not to be detained in an immigration detention centre (IDC) for accommodation or while their immigration pathway is being progressed.

BACKGROUND

This part comprises:

- section 1 Definitions
- section 2 What is screening
- section 3 Legal framework
- section 4 Guiding principles.

1 Definitions

In this instruction, any reference to ‘person/s in immigration detention’ refers only to those unlawful non-citizens held in immigration detention and to not visitors or staff in immigration detention facilities (IDFs).

2 What is screening

Screening procedures are similar to those used at airports, and involve the use of equipment such as walk-through devices, hand-held scanners (also known as wands) or x-ray equipment in an effort (broadly) to find whether the person in immigration detention has hidden on them a weapon or other item capable of being used to inflict injury or to assist escape from immigration detention. In this instruction any reference to screening procedures refers to the procedures contained in s252AA of the Act.

The detention service provider (DSP) is required under section 2.2.4, paragraph 2.2(a) of the IDC/APOD Detention Services Contract to “...(i) detect Excluded and Controlled Items, Illegal Items and any other items that may pose a risk to the security of the Centre; and (ii) screen all persons, personal belongings, vehicles and goods entering the Centre...”.

The DSP is required under sections 2A.1/2B.1, paragraph 2.3.5 of the IRH/ITA Detention Services Contract to “... (ii) screen, and where necessary search, all people in detention and their property on arrival at an IRH/ITA to detect illegal, excluded or controlled items...”.

3 Legal framework

There are three distinct search powers under the Act which only apply to persons in immigration detention. These search powers are:

- screening procedures (s252AA)
- searches of persons in immigration detention (pat down searches), their clothing and property under their immediate control (s252) and
- strip searches (s252A).

Screening powers outlined in s252AA can only be used to screen for items that can inflict bodily injury and/or help a person to escape immigration detention. The powers do not extend to items such as prohibited items. For more information see Responsibility for screening of persons in immigration detention.

Section 252G can also be used to screen persons in immigration detention on entering an IDC only, however, that is by consent only. If the person in immigration detention refuses, then they are screened under s252AA.

This instruction provides policy and procedures for persons carrying out screening procedures contained in s252AA of the Act and is complemented by ministerial direction No. 26 - Screening procedures in relation to immigration detainees.

For policy and procedure on strip search procedures (s252A) see DSM - Chapter 8 - Safety & security - Strip searches of persons in immigration detention.

The power to screen visitors entering an IDC and persons in immigration detention, on a voluntary basis, is contained in s252G of the Act. For further information on screening of visitors and persons in immigration detention under s252G see DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Screening and inspection powers - Entry to immigration detention centres.

4     Guiding principles

The guiding principles in relation to the screening of persons in immigration detention are encapsulated in the immigration detention values, see DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & Principles overview - service delivery values which state that people in immigration detention will be treated fairly and reasonably within the law and that conditions of detention will ensure the inherent dignity of the human person.

Relating this principle to the screening of persons in immigration detention means that people in immigration detention are entitled to be treated within the law to make certain their safety and the safety of others in the facility is assured.

RESPONSIBILITY FOR SCREENING OF PERSONS IN IMMIGRATION DETENTION

This part comprises:

- section 5 Duty of care
- section 6 Who is authorised to conduct a screening procedure
- section 7 Who is subject to a screening procedure?
- section 8 Screening provisions for illegal foreign fishers & persons in environment detention
- section 9 When is a screening procedure conducted
- section 10 Screening procedure is independent of other searches.

5 Duty of care

The department and the DSP have a duty of care under common law for the safety and security of all persons in immigration detention, staff and other visitors at IDFs. See DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Duty of care to persons in detention. Further, the DSP has a contractual obligation under all three detention services contracts, (see section 2 What is screening), to detect excluded, controlled and illegal items. In meeting duty of care and contractual obligations, lawfully conducted screening procedures on persons during the period of their immigration detention are conducted, where required.

Section 252AA(1) of the Act provides that a screening procedure ‘...may be conducted by an authorised officer, without warrant, to find out whether there is hidden on the detainee, in his or her clothing or in a thing in his or her possession a weapon, or other thing capable of being used:

- to inflict bodily injury or
- to help the detainee, or any other detainee, to escape from immigration detention.’

Screening procedures involving minors must be conducted with particular sensitivity.

6 Who is authorised to conduct a screening procedure

Under s252AA, a screening procedure in relation to a person in immigration detention may be conducted only by an authorised officer.

Serco employees are authorised officers under s5(1) of the Act. In addition, they must have:

- successfully completed the relevant training
- a current police clearance and
- a current working with children police clearance check.

See DSM - Chapter 7: Managing the detention environment - Staff training.

7 Who is subject to a screening procedure?

The screening procedure under s252AA(1) of the Act applies only to a person who is held in immigration detention as defined under s5(1) of the Act. A person can be held in immigration detention in a detention facility and in other places approved by the Minister in writing, including, but not limited to immigration residential housing (IRH), immigration transit accommodation (ITA) and alternative places of detention in the community (APOD).

Due to logistical and technical limitations it may not be practical to conduct a screening procedure on a person held in certain places of detention.

The screening procedure under s2512AA does not apply to persons in immigration detention to whom s252F of the Act applies (that is, persons in immigration detention held in state or territory prisons or remand centres). Section 252AA also does not apply to persons in detention to whom s197AC applies (that is, persons covered by residence determinations). See DSM - Chapter 2 - Client placement - Community detention.

8 Screening provisions for illegal foreign fishers & persons in environment detention

The screening provisions under s252AA apply equally to illegal foreign fishers held in immigration detention and persons in environment detention. However, when illegal foreign fishers are held in:

- fisheries detention at the Northern IDC(NIDC) under the Fisheries Management Act 1991 (FMA), the power to conduct the equivalent screening procedure is Clause 16 of Schedule 1A of the FMA
- fisheries detention under the Torres Strait Fisheries Act 1984 (TSFA) at the NIDC, the power to conduct the equivalent screening procedure is contained in Clause 16 of Schedule 2 of the TSFA
- environment detention under the Environmental Protection and Biodiversity Conservation Act 1999 (EPBCA) at the NIDC, the power to conduct the equivalent screening procedure is contained in clause 16 of Schedule 1 of the EPBCA.

An authorised officer who is empowered to conduct a screening procedure on illegal foreign fishers under s252AA of the Act is also empowered to do so under the FMA, TSFA, or EPBCA depending upon which Act was used to support the relevant fisheries/environment detention of the person concerned. Please refer to clause 7 of Schedule 1A of the FMA, clause 7 of Schedule 2 of the TSFA or clause 16 of Schedule 1 of the EPBCA. See DSM - Chapter 2 - Client Placement - Illegal foreign fishers.

9 When is a screening procedure conducted

The screening procedure (under s252AA) is conducted by an authorised officer, without warrant, to find out whether there is hidden on the person, in their clothing or in an item in their possession a weapon, or other item capable of being used to inflict injury or to assist escape from immigration detention.

Under s252AA of the Act, a screening procedure can be conducted at any time while a person is held in immigration detention. There are two circumstances where under departmental policy, authorised officers must screen (wand or pass through x-ray equipment) persons in immigration detention, including ITA/IRH. These circumstances are, when a person in immigration detention:

- first enters an IDF as part of the reception process, if the person has not already been screened under s252G or has refused a request under s252G(4) (see DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication and visits - Screening and inspection powers - Entry to immigration detention centres) and
- is leaving and re-entering the facility on an external escort (for example, to attend a tribunal hearing or medical appointment).

Screening is undertaken concurrently with pat searches of persons in immigration detention. For policy and procedures on when a search procedure can be conducted see DSM - Chapter 8 - Safety and security - Searches of persons in immigration detention.

As the legislative power to screen persons in immigration detention can be exercised at any time, screening is to be conducted in other exceptional circumstances at the discretion of the centre manager (DSP). For example, intelligence has been received that a person has a weapon.

Authorised officers must prepare an incident report on the screening of a person/s in immigration detention as a result of exceptional circumstances and provide it to the centre manager (DSP) and to the departmental regional manager. See DSM - Chapter 8 - Safety & Security - Incident management & reporting.

10 Screening procedure is independent of other searches

Section 252AA(4) provides that a screening procedure may be conducted in relation to a person in immigration detention under this section irrespective of whether a search of the person is conducted under s252 or s252A. For example, a person in immigration detention entering the detention environment for the first time and undergoing the reception process would be both pat searched under s252 and screened under s252AA.

HOW TO CONDUCT A SCREENING PROCEDURE (S252AA)

This part comprises:

- section 11 What is screening equipment?
- section 12 Rules for conducting a screening procedure
- section 13 Screening minors
- section 14 Methods of screening
- section 15 If a person in immigration detention refuses to undergo screening.

11 What is screening equipment?

Screening equipment is defined in s252AA(5) to mean ‘...a metal detector or similar device for detecting objects or particular substances.’

12 Rules for conducting a screening procedure

An authorised officer conducting a screening procedure in relation to a person in immigration detention under s252AA must:

- be an officer authorised to conduct screening procedures in immigration detention
- explain to the person in immigration detention why they are being screened
- ensure the requirements as specified in s252AA, are followed and
- ensure that, if they take possession of and retain an item/s found during the search, the requirements outlined in s252C are followed.

They must not:

- subject the person in immigration detention to greater indignity than is reasonably necessary to conduct the screening procedure
- be conducted for any reason other than those provided for in s252AA or for no reason at all
- be conducted by an officer who is not an authorised officer for the purposes of conducting the screening procedure
- involve the removal of any of the person’s clothing
- involve the use of greater force than is reasonably necessary to conduct the procedure or
- contravene the requirements set out in ministerial direction No. 26 - Screening procedures in relation to immigration detainees.

13 Screening minors

Screening officers should ensure that the treatment and conditions of the screening process for minors are humane and have as little adverse impact on the individual as possible.

The minor must have a parent, guardian or adult/independent person present who is capable of representing their best interests and who, as far as practicable, is acceptable to the minor. Every opportunity, including a reasonable amount of time must be given to the minor to comply with the screening request.

Departmental policy is that minors are not taken to or detained in an IDC. Minors are, however, taken to IRH, ITA or APODs.

14 Methods of screening

Screening is non-intrusive, and while it will be familiar to most persons who have visited airports or other locations where security is paramount, this will not always be the case. Staff should be mindful that this procedure may be a new experience for a person arriving at a place of immigration detention.

In conducting a screening procedure under s252AA(5) of the Act, an authorised officer may:

- (a) ‘...cause a detainee to walk through screening equipment; or
- (b) pass hand-held screening equipment (such as a metal detector) over or around the detainee or around things in the detainee's possession; or

- (c) pass things in the detainee's possession through screening equipment or examining such things by X-ray.'

15 If a person in immigration detention refuses to undergo screening

If a person in immigration detention refuses to undergo a screening procedure under s252AA and it appears that reasonable force may be required, the authorised officer conducting the screening procedure must:

- advise the person involved that s252AA of the Act allows reasonable force to be used in order to conduct a screening procedure
- advise the person involved that unless cooperation is forthcoming, the authorised officer intends to use reasonable force in order to conduct the screening procedure
- allow the person involved a reasonable period in which to voluntarily submit to the procedure
- only proceed to use reasonable force to conduct the procedure with the approval of and under the supervision of their line manager
- if appropriate, seek the assistance of another authorised officer prior to conducting the procedure and
- if reasonable force is used officers should follow the policy on the use of reasonable force - see DSM - Chapter 8 - Safety & security - Use of reasonable force in immigration detention and the DSP Policy and Procedures Manual Officers and
- maintain accurate records when force is used - see DSM - Chapter 1: Legislative & principles overview - Recordkeeping.

All use of force should be proportionate to the situation, objectively justifiable and only used as a measure of last resort. In the first instance, staff should seek to achieve the desired objective, whenever possible, by de-escalation techniques such as discussion, negotiation, or verbal persuasion.

POSSESSION & RETENTION OF CERTAIN ITEMS OBTAINED DURING A SCREENING PROCEDURE

This part comprises:

- section 16 Items retained during a screening procedure
- section 17 Items not permitted in immigration detention
- section 18 Dealing with an illegal item
- section 19 Referral to health services manager
- section 20 Return of items retained during a screening procedure
- section 21 Not returning items found during a screening procedure
- section 22 Authorised officer may apply for an item to be retained for a further period
- section 23 Replacement of clothing
- section 24 Record keeping
- section 25 The department's obligations under the Privacy Act.

16 Items retained during a screening procedure

Under s252C(1) of the Act, '...an authorised officer may take possession of and retain a thing found in the course of a screening procedure under s252AA or conducting a strip search under s252A if the thing:

- (a) might provide evidence of the commission of an offence against the Act; or
- (b) is forfeited or forfeitable to the Commonwealth.'

Should an item/s that is/are forfeited or forfeitable to the Commonwealth are found and taken into possession:

- give the person in immigration detention a Property Receipt Form if the item is one which might provide evidence of the commission of an offence against the Act. However, no receipt is required if the item is forfeited or forfeitable to the Commonwealth. The original form should be kept on file, with a copy provided to the person in immigration detention and
- the item that is forfeited or forfeitable to the Commonwealth must be given to a police officer as defined in the Crimes Act 1914 (Cwth).

Officers are to maintain accurate records when an item is retained - see DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Recordkeeping.

17 Items not permitted in immigration detention

A lawful item found during a screening procedure, which is not required as evidence but which is a controlled item and not permitted in immigration detention, should be placed in storage and processed through the normal security procedures and property protocol see:

- DSM - Chapter 8 - Safety and security - Items not permitted within immigration detention centres
- DSM - Chapter 3 - Entering & leaving detention - Personal property.

18 Dealing with an illegal item

If, during the course of a screening procedure under s252AA, a person in immigration detention is found to be in possession of illegal items, for example, illegal drugs or child pornography, items that are forfeited or forfeitable to the Commonwealth, the officer must:

- confiscate the illegal item and store safely in the presence of another DSP officer
- record and store on file an itemised description of the illegal item and
- notify the police and ask that they collect the illegal item from the facility.

When the police collect the illegal item the following procedure must be followed by the DSP:

- ask the police officer to sign a receipt for the illegal item

- provide a copy of the receipt to the police officer and retain a copy for file
- request the police officer sign the item description record and
- file the record as required.

If the police are unable to attend the facility to collect the illegal item the following procedure must be followed:

- the DSP will contact the relevant police service, initially by phone but following up in writing, requesting that the illegal item be collected within a specific timeframe; and
- if the timeframe passes and the illegal item has not been collected - a further letter must be written to the police station requesting that the item be collected.

19 Referral to health services manager

If, during the course of a screening procedure under s252AA, a person in immigration detention is found to be in possession of illegal drugs or non-prescribed medications, vitamins or supplements, refer the person in immigration detention immediately to the health services manager for assessment.

20 Return of items retained during a screening procedure

Under s252C(4), the authorised officer must take reasonable steps to return an item seized/retained during a screening procedure to the person from whom it was taken, or to the owner if that person is not entitled to possess it, ‘...if one of the following happens:

- it is decided that the item is not to be used in evidence;’
- the period of 60 days after the authorised officer takes possession of the item ends.’

21 Not returning items found during a screening procedure

Under s252C(5) and s252E, an authorised officer is not required to return to a person an item retained during a screening procedure if:

- the officer is authorised by a law, court or tribunal of the Commonwealth, a state or territory to retain, destroy or dispose of the item - see s252C(5)(b)
- proceedings involving the retained item were instituted before the end of the 60 day period and have not yet been completed, for example, an appeal to a court in relation to those proceedings - see s252C(5)(a)(i) or
- notwithstanding the 60 day period, upon an application by an authorised person under s252D (see below), a Magistrate orders that the authorised officer may retain the thing for a specified period - see s252C(5)(a)(ii) and s252E:
  - for an investigation into whether an offence has been committed or
  - so that evidence of an offence can be secured for a prosecution.

The order must specify the period for which the authorised officer may retain the item. A Magistrate is not compelled to accept the power conferred by s252E. If the Magistrate chooses to exercise a power under s252E, they have the same protection and immunity as if exercising that power as, or as a member of, the court of which they are a member - see s252E(5).

22 Authorised officer may apply for an item to be retained for a further period

An item does not have to be returned after the 60 day period has lapsed if the authorised officer believes it is necessary to retain the item for a further period under certain circumstances. They must then apply to a Magistrate for an extension of time to retain the item.

The certain circumstances under which an application to a Magistrate can be made are when the proceedings in which the item might provide evidence have not commenced before the end of:

- the 60 day period or
- a period previously specified in a Magistrate’s order under s252D.

Prior to making the application, the authorised officer must:

- take reasonable steps to discover whose interests would be affected if the item continued to be retained - see s252D(3)(a) and

- if it is practicable to do so, notify that person or those persons that an application is to be made - see s252D(3)(b).

Officers can use a standard form to seek an order by a state Magistrate for the retention for a further period of items obtained during a screening procedure - see Request to Magistrate. Contact details for local state Magistrates are available from the regional manager for each IDF. When providing reasons for seeking an order (refer to Clause 4 of the form), authorised officers should provide an indication of the length of the further period of retention required.

An application under s252D of the Act should ordinarily be made by the authorised officer who originally took possession and retained the item under s252C.

If the authorised officer who originally took possession and retained the item under s252C has moved to another IDF, that officer should be contacted so they can make the application under s252D. The authorised officer should ensure that the outcome of the application is brought to the attention of the regional manager at the relevant IDF.

If the authorised officer who originally took possession and retained the item under s252C is on leave, has resigned, or retired, or is unable to make an application under s252D for any other reason, an application under s252D for the item to be retained for a further period may be made by another officer who is an authorised officer for the purposes of s252D.

23 Replacement of clothing

Should any clothing belonging to a person in immigration detention be damaged, destroyed or retained during a screening procedure, that person must be given adequate replacement clothing.

24 Record keeping

Any record of personal information that is created or obtained as a result of the screening procedure power must be treated in accordance with the department's obligations under the Privacy Act 1988 (Privacy Act).

25 The department's obligations under the Privacy Act

All officers involved in conducting a screening procedure must be aware of the department's obligations under the Information Privacy Principles contained in the Privacy Act - see DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Privacy.

Chapter 8 - Safety & security

Strip searches of persons in immigration detention

IMPORTANT NOTICE

Minors require immediate attention to ensure their best interests are considered.

Detention accommodation of a minor is to be used only as a last resort, for the shortest practicable time, and in the least restrictive form appropriate to the minor's circumstances.

Minors are never to be detained in an immigration detention centre (IDC) for accommodation or while their immigration pathway is being progressed.

Minors ten years of age and younger can never be strip-searched

Minors between 10 and 18 when being strip-searched must have their guardian or independent person present

Other vulnerable clients or clients not fully capable of managing their own affairs ('incapable persons') also must have an independent person present when being strip-searched

- section 11 Strip search provisions relating to illegal foreign fishers and persons in environment detention.

1 Purpose

This instruction provides guidance on strip search procedures conducted on persons in immigration detention.

In this instruction, any reference to 'persons in immigration detention' does not encompass persons other than persons in immigration detention who may (for example) be in immigration detention facilities.

2 Guiding principles

The guiding principle in relation to the way strip searches are conducted is encapsulated in DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Service delivery values which states that persons in immigration detention will be treated fairly and reasonably within the law and that conditions of immigration detention will ensure the inherent dignity of the human person. Relating this principle to the conduct of strip searches of persons in immigration detention, this means that persons in immigration detention who are the subject of such a search for the purpose of ensuring the safety of all in the facility, must nevertheless be afforded the level of privacy and respect that safeguards the inherent dignity of their person.

Where a strip search of a minor in immigration detention is considered necessary, in addition to the authorisation procedures outlined in this instruction the following departmental officers must be advised immediately:

- relevant senior case manager
- relevant regional manager (guardian in case of UAM)
- relevant deputy state/territory director and
- First Assistant Secretary, Community & Detention Services Division

3 What is a strip search

As per s252A(2) of the Migration Act 1958 (the Act), a strip search of a person in immigration detention means a search of the person, of their clothing or of a thing in their possession, and may include:

- (a) requiring the person to remove some or all of their clothing and
- (b) an examination of that clothing and of the person's body (but not the person's body cavities, including the mouth).

4 Legislative framework

There are three distinct search powers under the Act, which only apply to persons in immigration detention. These are the powers to conduct:

1. searches of persons in immigration detention (pat down searches), their clothing and property under their immediate control (s252 of the Act)
2. strip searches (s252A of the Act) and
3. screening procedures (s252AA of the Act).

This instruction provides policy and procedural guidance to officers and authorised officers (including police) who are involved in the conduct of strip searches under s252A of the Act and is complemented by Direction No. 25 - Strip search of immigration detainees made by the Minister under s499 of the Act.

5 Responsibility for strip searches of persons in immigration detention

The department and the detention services provider have a duty of care under common law for the safety, security and wellbeing of all persons in immigration detention, staff and other persons at immigration detention facilities. In meeting duty of care obligations, lawfully conducted strip search procedures on persons during the course of their immigration detention may be carried out where the circumstances require it. All officers need to treat persons in immigration detention with dignity and respect while strip searches are undertaken, and are reminded to maintain the privacy of persons in immigration detention. For policy and procedures see DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Duty of care to persons in immigration detention.

6 What is the purpose of a strip search and who can be searched

Section 252A(1) of the Act provides that a strip search procedure may be conducted on a person in immigration detention ‘...by an authorised officer, without warrant, to find out whether there is hidden on the person, in his or her clothing or in a thing in his or her possession a weapon or other thing capable of being used:

- (a) to inflict bodily injury; or
- (b) to help the detainee, or any other detainee, to escape from immigration detention.’

Persons in immigration detention who are under 10 years of age cannot be strip searched in any circumstances (s252B(1)(f)).

Persons in immigration detention who are at least 10 but under 18 can be strip searched in certain circumstances (s252B(1)(g)). See Rules for conducting a strip search.

A strip search under s252A of the Act can be conducted only in relation to ‘detainees’, in other words, persons ‘detained’, that is, held in immigration detention (see s5(1) of the Act). A person can be held in immigration detention in a detention centre and in other places approved by the Minister in writing, including, but not limited to immigration residential housing and immigration transit accommodation. Detention centres and other places of detention are known collectively as immigration detention facilities (IDF).

The strip search procedure does not apply to persons covered by residence determinations, as well as persons in immigration detention to whom s252F of the Act applies (that is, persons in immigration detention held in state or territory prisons or remand centres).

Checklists for authorised officers have been prepared outlining the procedural and legislative requirements depending on the age and circumstances of the person in immigration detention to be strip searched. The checklists reiterate the rules for conducting a strip search which are set out in the instruction and are to be used as an additional safeguard. The checklists are:

- Checklist - Strip search of persons in immigration detention aged at least 10 but under 18 years
- Checklist - Strip search of persons in immigration detention aged at least 18 years who are capable of managing their own affairs

- Checklist - Strip search of persons in immigration detention aged at least 18 years who are incapable of managing their own affairs.

The checklists must be used and strictly followed when conducting a strip search.

7 Who can conduct a strip search

Under s252A(1) of the Act, a strip search procedure in relation to a person in immigration detention may be conducted by an authorised officer.

An authorised officer means an officer authorised in writing by name by the Minister or the Secretary in accordance with s5(1) of the Act. In practice it is the Minister who usually provides the written authorisation by way of a written instrument. Only a person who is an authorised officer, that is, someone who is authorised and has received the required training, and holds a current police clearance is able to conduct a strip search when legislative requirements are satisfied - see section 29 Strip search training requirements.

In practice, employees of the detention services provider who are authorised officers will usually conduct strip searches of persons in immigration detention.

Officers can check authorisations/delegations by referring to the Instruments of Delegations and Authorisation (Ministerial Instrument M10 - External - Ministerial Instruments) TRIM link on IMMinet, or Legislative Instruments Unit can be emailed at: delegations/immi/au.

8 The department's obligations under the Privacy Act

All officers involved in conducting a strip search procedure must be aware of the department's obligations under the Information Privacy Principles contained in the Privacy Act. For more information on privacy issues see DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Privacy.

9 Who can assist in the conduct of a strip search

Section 252B(5) of the Act provides that '...a strip search of a detainee may be conducted with the assistance of another person if the authorised officer conducting the strip search considers that to be necessary for the purposes of conducting it. That person must not be of the opposite sex to the detainee unless:

- (a) the person is a medical practitioner; and
- (b) a medical practitioner of the same sex as the detainee is not available within a reasonable time.'

For further explanation, see Rules for conducting a strip search.

10 Strip search procedure is independent of other searches

Section 252A(7) of the Act provides that '...a strip search of a detainee may be conducted under this section irrespective of whether a search of the detainee is conducted under s252 or a screening procedure is conducted in relation to the detainee under s252AA' of the Act.

For example, a person entering the detention environment for the first time and undergoing the reception process could initially be searched under s252, and if required, subsequently screened under s252AA of the Act. If a reasonable suspicion is formed for the purposes of s252A(3)(a) then a strip search under s252A of the Act could be carried out in addition to these other searches.

11 Strip search provisions relating to illegal foreign fishers and persons in environment detention

The strip search provisions under s252A apply equally to illegal foreign fishers held in immigration detention. The Fisheries Management Act 1991 (FMA), the Torres Strait Fisheries Act 1984 (TSFA) and the Environmental Protection and Biodiversity Conservation Act 1999 (EPBCA) contain provisions that correspond closely to s252A of the Migration Act that empower authorised officers to conduct strip searches of persons in fisheries detention under those other Acts.

When illegal foreign fishers are held in fisheries detention at an IDF, under the FMA, the power to conduct the equivalent strip search procedure is Clause 17 of Part 3, Division 3 of Schedule 1A of the FMA. When they are held in fisheries detention under the TSFA, the power to conduct the equivalent strip search procedure is contained in clause 17 of Part 3, Division 3 of Schedule 2 of the TSFA. When they are held in environment detention under the EPBCA at, for example the Northern Immigration Detention Centre, the power to conduct the equivalent strip search procedure is contained in clause 17 of Part 3, Division 3 of Schedule 1 of the EPBCA.

An authorised officer who is empowered to conduct a strip search procedure on illegal foreign fishers under s252A of the Act is also empowered to do so under the FMA, TSFA and EPBCA depending upon which Act was used to support the relevant fisheries detention of the person concerned - refer to clause 17 of Schedule 1A of the FMA, clause 17 of Schedule 2 of the TSFA or clause 17 or Schedule 1A of the EPBCA.

The following general guidelines can be followed in relation to the corresponding provisions under the FMA, TSFA and EPBCA:

- this instruction as a whole applies to the conduct of strip searches under those corresponding provisions described above
- authorised officers for s252A are also authorised for those corresponding provisions (unless specifically excluded) and
- different officers (for example under the FMA) must authorise the conduct of strip searches under those corresponding provisions.

THE STRIP SEARCH PROCEDURE (S252A)

This part comprises:

- section 12 What are the preconditions for conducting a strip search?
- section 13 What is suspicion on reasonable grounds?
- section 14 How do I obtain authorisation for a strip search?
- section 15 Information to be provided to persons in immigration detention.

12 What are the preconditions for conducting a strip search?

Under s252A(3), ‘...a strip search may be conducted by an authorised officer only if:

- (a) an officer suspects on reasonable grounds that there is hidden on the detainee, in his or her clothing or in a thing in his or her possession a weapon or other thing described in subsection (1); and
- (b) the officer referred to in paragraph (a) suspects on reasonable grounds that it is necessary to conduct a strip search of the detainee to recover that weapon or other thing; and
- (c) the strip search is authorised as follows:
  - i. if the detainee is at least 18 - the Secretary or an SES band 3 employee in the department (who is not the officer referred to in paragraphs (a) and (b) nor the authorised officer conducting the strip search), authorises the strip search because he or she is satisfied that there are reasonable grounds for those suspicions;
  - ii. if the detainee is at least 10 but under 18 - a State Magistrate orders the strip search because he or she is satisfied that there are reasonable grounds for those suspicions.’

13 What is suspicion on reasonable grounds?

Legal precedent provides guidance on what can be reasonable grounds for suspicion, namely:

“a suspicion that something exists is more than a mere idle wondering whether it exists or not; it is a positive feeling of actual apprehension or mistrust, amounting to ‘a slight opinion’, but without sufficient evidence”

(Kitto J High Court - Bacon Pty Ltd v Rees).

It is relevant to keep in mind that different persons need to form reasonable suspicions at different times, for example, the officer who forms the initial reasonable suspicions, and the person who authorises the strip search, who must, in effect, confirm that there are reasonable grounds for those suspicions.

An officer must also reasonably suspect that it is necessary to conduct a strip search of the person in immigration detention. Reasonable suspicion may come from any of the following, but is not limited to:

- information from a witness
- unusual behaviour from the person in immigration detention
- answers given to questions asked by the officer and/or
- the visible outline of something weapon-like hidden in the person’s clothes or that appears to be hidden on his or her body and that cannot be recovered using the ordinary screening and search powers under s252AA and s252 respectively.

Where an authorised officer suspects on reasonable grounds that it is necessary to conduct a strip search of the person in immigration detention to recover the weapon or other item (s252A(3)(b) of the Act), could include but is not limited to, the case where a person refuses on request, to identify or hand over to an officer a weapon or item reasonably suspected to be hidden on their person. See DSM - Chapter 8 - Safety & security - Weapons procedures for IDFs.

14 How do I obtain authorisation for a strip search?

14.1 Authorisation for a strip search

Once reasonable suspicion has been established, before the authorisation of a strip search is obtained, the authorised officer should make every effort to advise another officer - such as one of the officer's line managers or an officer authorised to conduct strip searches - of their suspicions and of any course of action they believe may be necessary. The officer should also notify the Regional Manager, Community and Detention Operations of the relevant IDF.

Prior to requesting authorisation for a strip search, the Detention Services Provider (DSP) is to consult the Health Services Manager (HSM) at the IDF in which the person is being detained, although this may not always be possible, depending on all the circumstances. Contacting the Director, Detention Health Services Section, National Office can assist in locating the HSM if they are not immediately accessible. The HSM can advise whether the person in question has a condition (for example, a history of mental health issues, torture and trauma or sexual assault) that could potentially be exacerbated by the intrusive nature of a strip search.

If the DSP continues to seek authorisation for a strip search, the authorising State Magistrate, Secretary or SES Band 3 officer should be made aware of all health-related issues and the potential impacts that a strip search may have on the person in immigration detention. Where authorisation has been obtained for a strip search of a person with health-related issues, the HSM should wherever possible be on hand during the search, or alternatively, be physically present during the strip search if:

- the person has nominated the HSM to attend the strip search or
- the HSM is representing the person's interests and the person has no objection to the HSM being present.

It is intended that the advice of the HSM would not prevent a strip search from occurring if there is otherwise reasonable suspicion that the person in immigration detention is carrying a weapon or other dangerous item, but be available in a support capacity.

14.2 For a person in immigration detention over the age of 18

A written request for the authorisation of the strip search of persons in immigration detention over the age of 18 must be provided to the Regional Manager at the IDF using the Request for / provision of authorisation to conduct a strip search of a person in immigration detention aged at least 18 years. The regional manager will liaise with the department in relation to obtaining authorisation from the Secretary of the department or a SES Band 3 officer.

The DSP centre manager is responsible for drafting the request.

A strip search must not be conducted until authorisation has been given by the Secretary, or SES Band 3 officer in the department, for the strip search of a person in immigration detention over 18 years of age. The request for authorisation may be conveyed to the Secretary, an SES Band 3 officer, or a Magistrate either orally or in writing. As a matter of practice, the request for authorisation should be faxed or emailed to the Secretary or SES Band 3 officer authorising the strip search. The Secretary or SES Band 3 officer is required to record and sign the written request for authorisation within one business day after it is given (s252A(4)(b)).

14.3 For a person in immigration detention between 10 and 18 years of age

It is departmental policy that minors are not to be processed or accommodated in an IDC for any reason. Minors must not be taken to an IDC for the purposes of undertaking a strip search.

Minors under the age of 10 must not be strip-searched.

Searching officers should be aware that the treatment and the conditions of the searching process for minors are humane and have as little adverse impact on the minor as possible.

A searching procedure of a minor should be conducted in the presence of a parent or guardian (and an independent person where the minor is unaccompanied). If it is not acceptable to the minor to have their parent, guardian or independent person present, another person can be present, who is capable of representing the minor's best interests and who, as far as practicable, is acceptable to the minor.

The form Request for / provision of an order by a State Magistrate to conduct a strip search of a person in immigration detention aged at least 10 but under 18 years is to be completed when making a request to a State Magistrate for authorisation to strip search a person in immigration detention aged at least 10 but less than 18 years. The Regional Manager at the IDF will arrange to place the request before a State Magistrate. As a matter of practice, where a State Magistrate is required to authorise the strip search, the basis for the suspicions on reasonable grounds should be faxed or emailed to the Magistrate.

Whenever a State Magistrate is asked to authorise a strip search, it is necessary for legal reasons to ensure that the magistrate is aware that, under the Migration Act, this power is conferred upon the magistrate in their personal capacity and the magistrate need not accept the conferral of the power.

The provisions in the Act relating to authorisation by a State Magistrate are as follows:

- a Magistrate has this power conferred in a personal capacity and not as a court or a member of a court (s252A(6A))
- a Magistrate need not accept the power conferred (s252A(6B)) and
- exercising the power has the same protection and immunity as if they were exercising that power as a member of the court of which the Magistrate is a member (s252A(6C)).

A strip search of a person in immigration detention over the age of 10 but less than 18 years of age must not be conducted until authorisation has been given by a State Magistrate. The magistrate is required to record and sign the written request for authorisation within one business day after it is given (s252A(4)(b)).

14.4 For a group of persons in immigration detention

It is permissible to request authorisation to conduct a strip search under s252A on a group of persons in immigration detention. In such a case, a schedule listing the names and dates of birth, their sex, nationality, IDF identification number and languages spoken of all the persons in immigration detention who are proposed to be strip searched must be attached to the request for authorisation.

DSP officers must never include the names of both adults and minors over 10 years of age in the same schedule. Requests to search adults and minors must be entirely separate.

14.5 How authorisation for a strip search may be provided

It is the responsibility of the person authorising the strip search to decide whether the information provided justifies the strip search as required by s252A(3)(c) of the Act.

Under s252A(4), an authorisation for a strip search for the purposes of (3)(c):

- may be given by telephone, fax or email and
- must be recorded in writing and signed by the person giving the authorisation within one business day after it is given.

Under s252A(8) a 'business day' is a day that is not a Saturday, Sunday or public holiday in the place where the authorisation is given.

Failure to comply with the requirements above will not affect the validity of a strip search conducted on the basis of that authorisation (s252A(5) of the Act).

14.6 Oral authorisation

In extreme circumstances it may not be possible to obtain written authorisation for a strip search from the Secretary of the department, SES Band 3 officer or a State Magistrate, for example, due to communications failure. In such circumstances, it may be possible to obtain oral authorisation, however, a notation must be made by the officer requesting the authorisation or order on the request form to indicate the reasons why oral authorisation has been sought. The notation must include the name of the person who provided the authorisation or order, their position, the date and time of the authorisation and the information they provided orally to the authorising officer. The requesting officer should also sign the written notation on the Request for / provision of authorisation to conduct a strip search of a person in immigration detention aged at least 18 years or the Request for / provision of an order by a State Magistrate to conduct a strip search of a person in immigration detention aged at least 10 but under 18 years as appropriate. The authorising officer is still required to complete and sign the written authorisation at the earliest opportunity to comply with their statutory obligation. As a matter of policy, oral authorisation should only be sought in extreme circumstances where it is impossible to obtain written authorisation.

14.7 The power to authorise a strip search cannot be delegated

S252A(6) of the Act provides that the power to authorise a strip search under s252A(3)(c) cannot be delegated to any other person.

15 Information to be provided to persons in immigration detention

15.1 Background

A strip search of a person in immigration detention can be an intrusive and humiliating experience. Therefore, it is important that the person is provided with information in a language that the person understands that explains:

- the reason for the strip search
- the process for conducting the strip search
- that, if the person so wishes, an interpreter will be made available either in person where at all possible or by telephone and
- the person's rights under s252A and s252B of the Act with regard to the strip search
- any consequences associated with the possible detection of illegal or contraband items.

15.2 Information sheet for persons in immigration detention

The person in immigration detention must be given information explaining the effect of s252A and s252B of the Act prior to undergoing a strip search. The information must be in writing and in a language that the person can understand.

The information sheet Information to be provided to a person in immigration detention about strip searches and the law is to be provided to persons in immigration detention prior to a strip search.

If a person in immigration detention is illiterate or appears to have reading difficulties an interpreter must be provided to explain the written information to the person.

In the case of minors, their parent/guardian (or if an unaccompanied minor), an independent person, must be present when this information is provided.

15.3 Acknowledgement form for persons in immigration detention

Before a strip search is conducted, the person in immigration detention must be asked to sign a form acknowledging that they have been given:

- information explaining the effect of s252A and s252B and
- adequate time to read the information.

The Acknowledgment form for a person in immigration detention who is to undergo a strip search is to be provided to the person in immigration detention.

If the person in immigration detention is aged at least 10 but under 18 years or is incapable of managing their own affairs and does not sign, their parent, guardian or an independent person should be provided with the opportunity to sign the acknowledgment form on the person's behalf.

A copy of the acknowledgment form is to be offered to the person in immigration detention, in a language they understand.

If the person in immigration detention refuses to sign the acknowledgment form, the officer authorised to conduct the strip search must record on the form:

- the fact of the refusal
- that the relevant information was provided to the person and
- the grounds for the refusal, if those grounds are given.

The person in immigration detention should be advised that refusal to sign the acknowledgment form will not prevent the strip search from proceeding.

The acknowledgment form is to be maintained as part of the central records of strip searches, with a copy to be placed in the person's file, in accordance with the Information Privacy Principles of the Privacy Act (refer to section 8 The department's obligations under the Privacy Act).

RULES FOR CONDUCTING A STRIP SEARCH

This part comprises:

- section 16 Rules
- section 17 Additional requirements when performing a strip search.

16 Rules

A strip search procedure conducted on a person in immigration detention under s252A of the Act must be carried out in accordance with the rules set out under s252B and must:

- be conducted in a private area
- be conducted by an authorised officer of the same sex as the person undergoing the strip search
- if the person undergoing the strip search is at least 10 but under 18, or incapable of managing their affairs, be conducted in the presence of:
  - (i) the person's parent or guardian if that person is in immigration detention with the person undergoing the strip search and is readily available at the same place or
  - (ii) if that is not acceptable to the person undergoing the strip search or there are no such persons, another independent person (other than an authorised officer) who is capable of representing the person's interests and who, as far as is practicable in the circumstances, is acceptable to the person undergoing the strip search
- if the person undergoing the strip search is at least 18, and is not incapable of managing their affairs, be conducted in the presence of
  - another person (if any) nominated by the person undergoing the strip search, if that other person is readily available at the same place as the person undergoing the strip search and willing to attend the strip search within a reasonable time

A strip search will not be prevented from being conducted if a person in immigration detention who is capable of managing their affairs refuses or fails to nominate a person to attend the strip search within a reasonable time, or if the person is unable to nominate a person to attend the strip search who is readily available at the same place as the person and willing to attend the strip search within a reasonable time

- provide the person undergoing the strip search with reasonably similar replacement clothing if during or as a result of the strip search any of the person's clothing is damaged or destroyed, or retained under s252C of the Act and
- provide a paper smock to the person undergoing the strip search if required during the search as a means of ensuring a level of dignity while enabling the search to continue.

An authorised officer conducting a strip search procedure under s252A of the Act in accordance with the rules set out under s252B must not:

- subject the person undergoing the strip search to greater indignity than is reasonably necessary to conduct the strip search
- conduct the strip search in the presence or view of a person who is of the opposite sex to the person undergoing the strip search, unless they are either a medical practitioner assisting the authorised officer conducting the strip search, where a medical practitioner of the same sex is not available within a reasonable time, or they fit within one of the following categories of persons and the person undergoing the search does not object to their presence:
  - (i) a parent or guardian, or person representing the person's interests, other than an authorised officer or
  - (ii) a person nominated by the person undergoing the strip search to attend the strip search
  - (iii) an independent person in the case of vulnerable clients or clients not fully capable of managing their own affairs ('incapable persons').
- conduct the strip search in the presence or view of a person whose presence is not necessary for the purposes of the strip search, unless they are one of the following persons:

- (i) a parent or guardian or person representing the person in detention's interests (other than an authorised officer) if the person has no objection to that person being present
- (ii) a person nominated by the person undergoing the strip search to attend the strip search
- (iii) an independent person in the case of vulnerable clients or clients not fully capable of managing their own affairs ('incapable persons')
- (iv) a medical practitioner assisting the authorised officer conducting the strip search
- conduct a strip search on a person in immigration detention who is under 10 years of age
- conduct a search of the person's body cavities
- remove more items of clothing, or undertake more visual inspection than they believe on reasonable grounds to be necessary to determine whether there is hidden on the person in their clothing or in a thing in his or her possession, a weapon or other thing described in s252A(1) or
- conduct a strip search with greater force than is reasonably necessary to conduct the strip search.

17 Additional requirements when performing a strip search

17.1 Rules

In addition to the rules set out in s252B of the Act for conducting a strip search, an authorised officer should ensure that the following rules are followed:

- that they do not request the person in immigration detention to adopt certain postures or positions during the strip search that compromise the privacy and dignity of the person
- a photograph or video is not to be taken of the person when they are stripped of clothing or
- personal information about the person in immigration detention is not passed on to others, except in accordance with the disclosure and use of personal information under the Privacy Act and other relevant laws.

17.2 Uncertainty about the age of the person in immigration detention

Where there is uncertainty that a person in immigration detention is under 18 years of age, the authorised officer should err on the side of caution and presume that the person is a minor. Where it is uncertain that a person is under 10 years of age, the authorised officer should also err on the side of caution and presume that the person is under this age.

17.3 Access to interpreter during a strip search

If it is practicable in the circumstances and if required by the authorised officer or requested by the person in immigration detention, an interpreter must be provided for the person being strip searched.

The interpreter's role is to brief the person in immigration detention on the details provided in the written information and assist the person with any questions they may wish to ask the officer authorised to conduct the strip search. The interpreter should not be present in the room during the course of the strip search procedure unless they are nominated to be present by the person being strip searched.

If an interpreter nominated by the person in immigration detention is not available in person, then an interpreter should be accessed by telephone.

The person in immigration detention being strip searched may request that the interpreter remain present during the strip search procedure. See DSM - Chapter 4 - Communication & visits - Translating & interpreting services.

17.4 Access to counselling

All persons in immigration detention who undergo a strip search are to be offered counselling after the search has been conducted.

17.5 Access to medical assessment

All persons in immigration detention who undergo a strip search are to be offered access to a nurse for medical/health assessment after the search has been conducted.

17.6 Occupational health and safety requirements

Authorised officers conducting the strip search must wear surgical/protective gloves in addition to the standard issue uniform.

17.7 Persons assisting the authorised officer

If considered necessary, the authorised officer conducting the strip search may seek the assistance of another person or persons during the search. Such person(s) must not actually conduct the strip search, however, such person(s) may assist in tasks such as using reasonable restraint on the person in immigration detention being strip searched.

Apart from assisting the authorised officer during the strip search, the person required to assist can also act as a witness to the proceedings. This is important to help ensure that correct procedures are followed at all stages of the search. Such a person might include another officer in the IDF or a medical practitioner. Such a person does not have to be an 'officer' for the purposes of the Act however they must be of the same sex unless they are a medical practitioner assisting the authorised officer conducting the strip search, and a medical practitioner of the same sex as the person being strip searched is not available within a reasonable time.

A person who authorises a strip search of a person in immigration detention must not participate in the conduct of the search.

17.8 When is a person in immigration detention considered as not being able to manage their own affairs?

For the purposes of determining whether a person is 'incapable of managing their own affairs', this may be assessed by, but is not limited to, circumstances where:

- a medical practitioner provides a certificate indicating, in their opinion, that the person in immigration detention is temporarily or permanently incapable of managing their own affairs
- a psychiatric assessment has been obtained indicating that the person in immigration detention is temporarily or permanently incapable of managing their own affairs or
- the officer conducting the strip search forms the opinion, based upon reasonable grounds, that the person in immigration detention is in a traumatised or stressful state and is presently unable to comprehend the situation, or make a significant decision, in relation to their own affairs.

17.9 If a person in immigration detention refuses to undergo a strip search

If a person in immigration detention refuses to undergo a strip search procedure under s252A of the Act and it appears that reasonable force may be required, the authorised officer conducting the strip search procedure must comply with the following procedure:

- advise the person in immigration detention that s252B(1)(k) of the Act allows reasonable force to be used in order to conduct a strip search
- advise the person in immigration detention that unless cooperation is forthcoming, the authorised officer intends to use reasonable force in order to conduct the strip search
- allow the person in immigration detention a reasonable period in which to voluntarily remove any items of clothing that are necessary to conduct the strip search. At this point the authorised officer should provide the person with the opportunity to hand over the item they believe them to be concealing
- if necessary, seek the assistance of another officer prior to conducting the strip search and
- if force is used officers must follow the advice provided on the use of reasonable force and record keeping in the use of reasonable force. For policy and procedure see DSM - Chapter 8 - Safety & security - Use of reasonable force in immigration detention
- minors under the age of 10 must not be stripped searched, therefore use of force must not be applied to minors under the age of 10 for the purposes of strip searching - see Ministerial Direction 25

- use of force must be applied only as a last resort, must be justifiable and proportionate to the amount of resistance offered
- the level of force used must not involve greater force than is reasonably necessary to conduct the strip search procedure. If at any stage the person cooperates or complies, the use of reasonable force must cease immediately
- the use of force must not subject the person being searched to greater indignity than is reasonably necessary to conduct the strip search procedure
- every endeavour must be made to try and preserve the humanity and dignity of the person being searched. For example, ensure privacy from anyone not required to be involved..

POSSESSION AND RETENTION OF CERTAIN THINGS OBTAINED DURING A STRIP SEARCH PROCEDURE

This part comprises:

- section 18 Items retained during a strip search procedure
- section 19 Items not permitted in an IDF
- section 20 Dealing with an illegal item
- section 21 Referral to Health services manager staff
- section 22 Return of items retained during a strip search
- section 23 Not returning items found during a strip search
- section 24 An authorised officer may apply for a thing to be retained for a further period
- section 25 State Magistrate may order that a thing be retained.

18 Items retained during a strip search procedure

Under s252C of the Act, an authorised officer may take possession of and retain an item found in the course of a strip search procedure under s252A of the Act, if the item:

- might provide evidence of the commission of an offence against the Act or
- is forfeited or forfeitable to the Commonwealth (which includes things that are the object of a s252A search).

Examples of items forfeited or forfeitable to the Commonwealth are described under s252A(1) and include a weapon or other thing, capable of being used to inflict bodily injury, or to help the person in immigration detention, or any other person, to escape from immigration detention.

If an item is found and taken into possession:

- a DSP officer must give the person in immigration detention a Property Receipt Form if the item is one which might provide evidence of the commission of an offence against the Act, however, no receipt is required if the item is forfeited or forfeitable to the Commonwealth and
- if it is a thing that is forfeited or forfeitable to the Commonwealth, s252C(3) requires that it must be given to a member or special member of the Australian Federal Police or a member of the police force or police service of a state or territory - see s252G(6) of the Act, which refers to the Crimes Act 1914.

19 Items not permitted in an IDF

A lawful item found during a strip search procedure, which is not required as evidence but which is a controlled item and not permitted in the IDF, should be placed in storage and processed through the normal security procedures and property protocol. See:

- DSM - Chapter 8 - Safety & security - Items not permitted in IDFs and
- DSM - Chapter 3 - Entering & leaving detention - Personal property.

20 Dealing with an illegal item

If, during the course of a strip search procedure under s252A of the Act, a person in immigration detention is found to be in possession of illegal items, for example, illegal drugs or child pornography, the officer must:

- retain the illegal item and store safely in the presence of another DSP officer
- record and store on file an itemised description of the illegal item
- notify the police and ask that they collect the illegal item from the facility and
- ensure that any action such as storing illegal drugs is taken at the instigation of the police.

When the police collect the illegal item the following procedure must be followed by the DSP:

- ask the police officer to sign a receipt for the illegal item
- provide a copy of the receipt to the police officer and retain a copy for file
- request the police officer sign the item description record and

- file the record as required.

21 Referral to Health services manager staff

If, during the course of a strip search under s252A, a person in immigration detention is found to be in possession of illegal drugs or non-prescribed medications, vitamins or supplements, the authorised officer should refer the person in immigration detention immediately to the HSM for assessment.

22 Return of items retained during a strip search

Under s252C(4) of the Act, the authorised officer must take reasonable steps to return a non-controlled item permitted in detention facilities, that was retained during a strip search to the person from whom it was taken, or to the owner if that person is not entitled to possess it, if one of the following happens:

- it is decided that the item is not to be used in evidence or
- the period of 60 days after the authorised officer takes possession of the item ends.

23 Not returning items found during a strip search

Under s252C(5) and s252E of the Act, an authorised officer is not required to return to a person an item retained during a strip search if:

- the authorised officer is authorised by a law, court or tribunal of the Commonwealth, a state or territory to retain, destroy or dispose of the item (refer s252C(5)(b))
- proceedings involving the retained item were instituted before the end of the 60 day period and have not yet been completed, for example, an appeal to a court in relation to those proceedings (refer s252C(5)(a)(i)) or
- notwithstanding the 60 day period, upon an application by an authorised person under s252D (see below), a Magistrate orders that the authorised officer may retain the thing for a specified period (refer s252C(5)(a)(ii)) and (refer s252E):
  - (i) for an investigation into whether an offence has been committed or
  - (ii) so that evidence of an offence can be secured for a prosecution.

24 An authorised officer may apply for a thing to be retained for a further period

An item does not have to be returned after the 60 day period has lapsed if the authorised officer believes it is necessary to retain the item for a further period under certain circumstances. The officer must then apply to a Magistrate for an extension of time to retain the item.

The certain circumstances under which an application to a Magistrate can be made are when the proceedings in which the item might provide evidence have not commenced before the end of:

- the 60 day period or
- a period previously specified in a Magistrate's order (refer s252E).

Prior to making the application, the authorised officer must:

- take reasonable steps to discover whose interests would be affected if the item continued to be retained (refer s252D(3)(a)) and
- if it is practicable to do so, notify that person or those persons that an application is to be made (refer s252D(3)(b)).

There is a standard form to be used for obtaining an order by a State Magistrate for the retention for a further period of things obtained during a strip search or screening procedure (see LINK to Form in TRIM - 'Request for/provision of an order by a State Magistrate for the retention for a further period of things obtained during a screening procedure or strip search'). Contact details for local State Magistrates are available from the Regional Manager or Manager at each IDF. When providing reasons for seeking an order (refer to Clause 4 of the form), authorised officers should provide an indication of the length of the further period of retention required.

An application under s252D of the Act should ordinarily be made by the authorised officer who originally took possession and retained the item under s252C.

If the authorised officer who originally took possession and retained the item under s252C has moved to another IDF, that officer should be contacted so they can make the application under s252D. The authorised officer should ensure that the outcome of the application is brought to the attention of the Regional Manager or Manager at the relevant IDF.

If the authorised officer who originally took possession and retained the item under s252C is on leave, has retired or is unable to make an application under s252D for any other reason, an application under s252D for the item to be retained for a further period may be made by another officer who is an authorised officer for the purposes of s252D.

25 State Magistrate may order that a thing be retained

Under certain circumstances a State Magistrate may order that a thing retained by an authorised officer during a screening procedure or a strip search be retained for a further period (s252E).

The order must specify the period for which the authorised officer may retain the thing.

A State Magistrate is not compelled to accept the power conferred by s252E of the Act. The power is conferred in a personal capacity.

If the State Magistrate chooses to exercise a power under s252E, they have the same protection and immunity as if exercising that power as, or as a member of, the court of which they are a member (s252E(5)).

RECORDKEEPING

26 Recordkeeping

Any record of personal information that is created or obtained as a result of the exercise of the strip search procedure must be treated in accordance with the department's obligations under the Privacy Act 1988 (Privacy Act). For details on record keeping see DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Recordkeeping.

26.1 Information to be contained in the record

The record of each strip search must include information necessary to ensure that an accurate report of the search has been made. Such information includes:

- the name of the person in immigration detention who underwent the strip search
- where and when the strip search was conducted
- why the strip search was conducted
- the names of the officers who:
  - (i) formed the suspicion on reasonable grounds, (s252A(3)(a) and (b))
  - (ii) sought the authorisation for the strip search and
  - (iii) conducted the strip search (s252A(1))
- if the person in immigration detention is at least 18 years of age, the name of the officer who authorised the strip search and the record of authorisation by that officer (s252A(3)(c)(i) and s252A(4)(b))
- the names of all other persons present during the strip search and the reason they were present
- if the person in immigration detention is at least 10 but under 18 years of age, the name of the State Magistrate and a copy of the State Magistrate's order authorising the strip search (s252A(3)(c)(ii))
- whether a partial or full strip search was conducted
- the completed relevant checklist to ensure a clear record of the procedures that were followed. The checklists are:
  - Checklist - Strip search of persons in immigration detention aged at least 10 but under 18 years
  - Checklist - Strip search of persons in immigration detention aged at least 18 years who are capable of managing their own affairs
  - Checklist - Strip search of persons in immigration detention aged at least 18 years who are incapable of managing their own affairs.
- whether the person in immigration detention co-operated or not, attaching the Acknowledgment form for a person in immigration detention who is to undergo a strip search
- if force was used, the circumstances surrounding the use of force
- whether a weapon or other thing was obtained from the strip search and, if so, what was done with them and
- any other matters relevant to the conduct of the strip search.

A copy of this record should be maintained as part of the central file of the records of strip searches, and a copy should be placed on the person in immigration detention's file.

REPORTING REQUIREMENTS AND OTHER MATTERS

This part comprises:

- section 27 Reporting requirements
- section 28 Strip searches conducted in contravention of the Act
- section 29 Strip search training requirements.

27 Reporting requirements

Strip searches must be reported orally by an authorised officer to the Regional Manager at the IDF, as soon as reasonably practicable (and no later than 2 hours after the search), on the conduct and outcome of the search.

A strip search is classified as a “Major Incident”. Authorised officers must notify the Detention Operations Duty Phone on 0413 319 277 and prepare an incident report on the strip search. The Incident Report is to be provided to the regional manager at the IDF and to the relevant Detention Operations Assistant Secretary (East / West / IMA) in National Office within 6 hours of the search or before the end of their shift, whichever comes first. See DSM - Chapter 8 - Safety & security - Incident management & reporting.

27.1 Strip searches must be reported to the Secretary and the Minister.

The relevant Detention Operations Assistant Secretary (East / West / IMA) in National Office is responsible for notifying the Minister and the Secretary within 24 hours of the authorisation for the strip search being given. The documentation required is a ministerial submission with an attached Statement to Parliament which is subsequently included in a summary schedule to be tabled before Parliament on a six monthly basis.

The Brief on strip search of person in immigration detention is a sample document to be used in preparing the Ministerial Brief. The most recent departmental cleared template is to be used in preparing the Brief.

27.2 Reporting to parliament

Once every six months, the Minister will cause to be laid before each House of the Parliament a statement providing summary information on the number of strip searches undertaken under the powers conferred by s252A of the Act within 15 sitting days of that House:

- if the strip search is undertaken between 1 January and 30 June (inclusive) in a year - after 1 July in that year or
- if the strip search is undertaken between 1 July and 30 December (inclusive) in a year - after 1 January in the following year.

A template for preparing the Statement to Parliament is included in this instruction. A formatted printable version of the template is available to officers through TRIM (reference PCD2008/9872).

The Statement to Parliament is not to include the names or any information about the person/persons in immigration detention, the officer/s who conducted the strip search/es, any person assisting in the strip search/es, any officer or Magistrate who authorised or ordered the strip search/es, or any other person in attendance at the strip search/es.

The Statement to Parliament will be returned from the Minister’s Office signed by the Minister. The Tabling Officer in the Parliamentary Coordination Section, National Office will photocopy all signed tabling statements to Parliament which accompany submissions and briefs. The original Statement to Parliament is kept by the Tabling Officer and a photocopy is returned to the officer who prepared it. If the original Statement to Parliament is returned to the officer who prepared the submission, it is to be forwarded to the Tabling Officer and a copy will be provided in return. It is the Tabling Officer’s responsibility to prepare and send to the Minister’s office a summary of all Statements to Parliament on a six monthly basis.

28 Strip searches conducted in contravention of the Act

A strip search that has been conducted in contravention of the Act must be immediately reported to the Regional Manager. For example, when an officer thinks that a strip search may have been unlawful, because the officer is aware that a strip search was not authorised, or an officer was present at a strip search when excessive force may have been used in all the circumstances. The Regional Manager must report the matter to the:

- relevant senior case manager
- relevant deputy state/territory director
- Assistant Secretary Case Management & Review Branch and
- First Assistant Secretary, Community and Detention Services Division

who will report the incident to the AFP for investigation.

29 Strip search training requirements

The Secretary or an SES Band 3 officer must not authorise a strip search to be conducted pursuant to s252A(3)(c)(i) of the Act unless they have received training in the relevant legislative and policy requirements. The relevant training includes:

- the power to conduct a strip search
- the grounds for authorising and conducting a strip search
- the pre-conditions for a strip search
- the role of officers authorising a strip search
- record keeping and
- reporting requirements.

DSP officers who are nominated as potential authorised officers for the purpose of conducting a strip search must:

- undergo mandatory training and
- hold a current police clearance.

An officer must not be made an authorised officer for the purpose of conducting a strip search under s252A unless they have received and satisfactorily completed training in the relevant legislative and policy requirements, including:

- civil rights and liberties
- cultural awareness
- the grounds for conducting a strip search
- the pre-conditions for a strip search
- the role of officers involved in conducting a strip search
- the procedures for conducting a strip search
- the procedures relating to items retained during a strip search
- record keeping and
- reporting.

CHECKLISTS AND FORMS

Formatted printable versions of these documents are available to officers through TRIM (reference PCD2008/9872).

This part comprises:

- Checklist - Strip search of persons in immigration detention aged at least 10 but under 18 years
- Checklist - Strip search of persons in immigration detention aged at least 18 years who are capable of managing their own affairs

Information to be provided to a person in immigration detention about strip searches and the law

The Migration Act 1958 provides for the strip search of people in immigration detention under the following conditions:

- if an officer* suspects on reasonable grounds that you have hidden on your body, or in your clothes, or in something in your possession:
  - a weapon or
  - other thingwhich could be used to hurt someone or to help you or another person in immigration detention escape from immigration detention and
  - you do not hand over the weapon or any such things to the officer and
  - authorisation has been obtained for the search.

A warrant is NOT required for the strip search to take place.

- Under the Migration Act children under 10 years old can not be strip searched.
- If you are between the ages of 10 years and 18 years, authorisation for the search has been given by a State Magistrate** in accordance with the Migration Act.
- If you are over 18 years of age, authorisation for the search has been given by a senior officer (the Secretary or a Senior Executive Officer, Band 3) of the Department in accordance with the Migration Act**.

The search will be conducted by an officer authorised under the Migration Act to conduct strip searches.

WHAT IS A STRIP SEARCH?

- This means you will have to TAKE OFF some or all of your clothes so that the authorised officer*** conducting the search can see if you have hidden a weapon or thing described above in your clothes or on your body.
- The search WILL NOT include a search of your body cavities.
- The search will be carried out in a private area by an authorised officer of the same sex as you.
- The authorised officer may ask another person to help him or her carry out the search. This person will be of the same sex as you unless:
  - the person is a medical practitioner, for example a doctor, and
  - a medical practitioner of the same sex as you is not available within a reasonable time.
- The authorised officer conducting the search must wear gloves for health and safety reasons.
- There will be a paper smock provided for you during the search.
- An authorised officer may take possession of and retain a weapon or thing described earlier, or another thing that might provide evidence of the commission of an offence against the Migration Act.
- If you have any information or know of any reasons that might affect the search, please tell the officer who is to conduct the search.
- You may ask questions or seek the assistance of an interpreter.

YOUR RIGHTS UNDER THE LAW

If you are a child (at least 10 but under 18), or you are over 18 and incapable of managing your affairs:

- your parent or guardian must be present if they are in detention with you and are readily available.
- If your parent or guardian is not available or if you do not wish either of them to be present during the strip search, someone who is capable of representing your interests will be present. This person, as far as is practicable in the circumstances, should be acceptable to yourself.

If you are an adult (18 and over), you:

- may nominate another person to be present during the strip search. If you are unable to nominate someone who is readily available at the same place as you, and who is willing to attend the strip search within a reasonable time, the strip search can still proceed.
- will be provided with adequate clothing if during the search any of your clothing is retained, damaged or destroyed.

PRIVACY ACT 1988

The department and its service provider will not disclose personal information about you obtained during a strip search to others, except in accordance with the Privacy Act 1988. Information may be passed on to law enforcement agencies and others who carry out the department's functions.

2 Guiding principles.....	2

4 Requests for special purpose visits .....	4

EXCURSIONS

This part comprises:

- section 1 Definitions
- section 2 Guiding principles
- section 3 Roles and responsibilities
- section 4 Requests for special purpose visits.

1 Definitions

An excursion is a trip offsite of the immigration detention facility (IDF) other than for attendance at medical, immigration, judicial and law enforcement appointments. Requests for excursions will in the main be for contractually obligated excursions that have a recreational aspect, and/or excursions that fit the particular objective of contractually obligated programs and activities.

Also included in this instruction are those offsite trips that are for the purpose of so-called “special purpose visits” (SPVs). Requests for SPVs (RfSPVs) are discussed under section 4 Requests for special purpose visits.

2 Guiding principles

The guiding principles in relation to the ability of all persons in immigration detention to apply for, or be offered the opportunity to participate in excursions are encapsulated in the immigration values in DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Service delivery values which states that persons in immigration detention will be treated fairly and reasonably within the law and that conditions of detention will ensure the inherent dignity of the human person.

Persons in border screening detention are not able to apply for, or participate in, an excursion during the period of border screening detention.

All excursions are based on principles of risk management; the Australian Risk Management Standard (ASNZ s4360:2004) and the department’s risk management framework apply.

All persons in immigration detention can have their request for an excursion considered including persons who have had a visa cancelled under character grounds.

However, favourable consideration of their request is subject to the necessary risk assessments and the availability of detention service provider (DSP) staff to effect excursions safely.

The DSP and the relevant Regional Manager, Community and Detention Services Division, will ensure that evaluation of the request is progressed quickly.

3 Roles and responsibilities

3.1 The department

The officer responsible for approving excursions is the Regional Manager, Community and Detention Services Division.

An excursion cannot proceed without the express approval of the Regional Manager or their nominated delegate. The department reserves the right to cancel or postpone excursions.

Factors for the Regional Manager to consider:

- operational capacity of the IDF
- availability of DSP staff to escort the persons in immigration detention on the excursion
- current security, site and flight risk assessments
- advice of medical professionals who may be treating the person in immigration detention
- appropriateness of the excursion to the security and flight risk
- equity amongst persons in the immigration detention population (for example, how many excursions each individual has participated in, particularly where there is a limit on the number of participants for an excursion)

- individual person's circumstances (for example, sick wife in hospital)
- the department's duty of care obligations to the persons in immigration detention in ensuring that their health and wellbeing is safeguarded.

Approval for regular low risk excursions (for example, the library) can be approved by the Regional Manager for the period of one month with valid security, flight and site risk assessments.

In all cases, consideration of requests for contractually obligated excursions must include assessment of the visa pathway history and support from Case Management therefore MUST be sought.

When considering requests for excursions, decision makers may attach certain conditions to the granting of a request, for example, the person should have no recorded incidents against them for at least one month prior to the request being considered. Decision makers should also be mindful in relation to who may be eligible, and not favour requests for excursions from persons who have been in immigration detention for relatively short periods of time if it would mean that longer term detainees who require additional support miss out.

Persons in immigration detention will be provided with written advice in response to their requests.

3.2 Detention service provider

The DSP will provide appropriate supervision during the excursions and will complete the relevant supporting documentation.

A request for an excursion will go to the DSP in the first instance and then the DSP will provide the Regional Manager with the following information and any additional information to assist the Regional Manager in making a decision:

- type of excursion
- date
- number of participants
- number of escorts required and relevant gender information
- location of excursion
- estimated time frame
- current security risk
- current flight risk
- current site risk assessment
- risk to the person in immigration detention.

The DSP will record all movement of persons in immigration detention in the portal (and/or any other relevant records management systems) as well as any incidents that occurred during any excursion.

Special consideration must be given to the cultural and gender mix of the immigration detention population when deciding on the type and destination of an excursion.

3.3 Directed persons

There may be instances where persons in immigration detention are escorted while on an excursion by a directed person. Such excursion may be part of organised programs and activities that are implemented with the assistance of NGO personnel and volunteer community organisations. A directed person is a person authorised under paragraph (a)(ii) of the Act definition of immigration detention to act on behalf of an officer to maintain immigration detention of a person while they are outside a place of immigration detention. For further information see DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Directed persons.

4 Requests for special purpose visits

4.1 Considering a request for special purpose visits' (RfSPV)

SPVs are visits by persons in immigration detention in instances where significant compassionate or humanitarian circumstances exist. These may include death or critical illness of close family and the birth of a child to the person. A further circumstance may be where a person is transferred interstate as no detention facility exists in the location where their immediate family resides (parents, spouse and children, as the case may be) and where the immediate family cannot visit the person in immigration detention.

Decisions to grant such requests must:

- be in accordance with the service delivery values
- be fair and reasonable and
- uphold the dignity of and respect for the person in immigration detention.

However, RfSPVs should also be balanced against the interests of the tax payer: in case of interstate requests, any relevant alternatives must also be explored, for example:

- facilitating a family member to visit the facility (circumstances permitting)
- facilitating video conferencing.

Consideration of these requests in all cases must include assessment of the visa pathway history and support from Case Management therefore MUST be sought.

Depending on the humanitarian and compassionate urgency associated with a request, decision makers may attach certain conditions to the granting of a request, for example, the person should have no recorded incidents against them for at least one month prior to the request being considered.

4.2 Approval required from AS Detention Operations

Given the possible public sensitivities and potential for media interest in relation to SPVs, with all such requests approval must be sought from the relevant AS Detention Operations, National Office, who may inform the Minister's office, if necessary.

If granted, the above roles and responsibilities of both the department and the DSP equally apply, with special emphasis on correct assessment of current security risk, current flight risk, current site risk, and risk to the person in immigration detention, and the involvement of Case Management. While all excursion requests and decisions must be properly recorded and documented, this is especially important for RfSPVs. Where granted, such escorted visits may attract public and media interest and therefore staff must be able to demonstrate that decisions are transparent and accountable.

GUIDING PRINCIPLES

The guiding principles in relation to access to transfers within immigration detention centres (IDCs) are encapsulated in the immigration values in DSM Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview: Service delivery values which state that people in immigration detention will be treated fairly and reasonably within the law and that conditions of detention will ensure the inherent dignity of the human person. Relating this principle to the transfer of persons within an IDC means that persons in immigration detention who may be placed in a more restrictive form of accommodation will be treated reasonably within the law to ensure their own safety and the safety of others within the facility.

All internal transfers, including transfers into more restrictive forms of accommodation, are determined on a case-by-case basis and must be the result of a client placement assessment (see DSM Chapter 2 - Client placement: Client placement model).

The client placement assessment will ensure that the decision to transfer is transparent, documented, nationally consistent, demonstrably reasonable, proportionate to the circumstances, and necessary to meet the department's duty of care requirements.

The decision to transfer must incorporate all relevant information and circumstances of the individual case, including physical and mental health among other key client placement model indicators.

Where a transfer forms part of the imposition of restrictions, the timeframe must be in accordance with the stated objective of those restrictions and generally be for a short-term only.

Where internal transfers form part of a strategy to address health concerns, the transfer must be:

- in accordance with the provision of DSM Chapter 6 - Detention health and
- supported by a client placement assessment.

In all instances, and as detailed in DSM Chapter 2 - Client placement: Client placement model, a case management approach will apply to ensure that the needs of the individual are addressed. This will include appropriate physical and mental health checks and regular review to ensure that the transfer remains appropriate.

No part of the centre is to be used as a place to restrict the movement of a person in immigration detention without the prior approval of the Regional Manager, Community and Detention Operations (Regional Manager).

IDC ACCOMMODATION

This Part comprises:

- section 1 Accommodation options within IDCs
- section 2 MSUs and the status of multipurpose rooms.

1 ACCOMMODATION OPTIONS WITHIN IDCs

Places of accommodation within an IDC range on a scale from less restrictive to more restrictive, including:

- general compounds
- more restrictive compounds
- behavioural management units (including Management Support Units - MSUs)
- multi-purpose rooms (see section 2 MSUs and the status of multipurpose rooms) and
- observation rooms (medical observation rooms or other observation rooms not located within a management support unit).

It is important to note that the list of places of accommodation is not exhaustive and that other places may be developed as the immigration detention network is expanded, remodelled or constructed in response to operational requirements. The use of individual areas of an IDC for a specific purpose may differ over time as operational needs of the IDC change.

Each IDC may differ as to the range of on-site accommodation options that are available. Further, each type of accommodation within an IDC can hold a limited number of persons. These logistical limitations may impact on the decision to transfer persons within IDCs.

2 MSUS AND THE STATUS OF MULTIPURPOSE ROOMS

The only MSU remaining in the immigration detention network is located at Villawood IDC. However, Christmas Island has the capability to provide a secure facility if required.

MSUs are a more restrictive form of accommodation used as a last resort to manage persons in immigration detention that present with behavioural or security concerns. (See section 10 Additional requirements for transfer to MSU.)

In some IDCs, multipurpose (including observation and/or “hardened”) rooms may also be used for this purpose. A hardened room is equipped with robust furniture and fittings and is designed to be resistant to the effects of aggressive physical behaviour and is also used to accommodate persons who are at risk of self-harm.

The flexibility of multipurpose rooms means they can be used appropriately for a variety of reasons with solutions tailored to the special needs of a person in immigration detention. For this reason it is inappropriate to identify them as MSUs.

However, it is possible to configure and operate some of the multipurpose facilities in such a way that the level of amenity, privacy and control of movement is equivalent to that in an MSU.

For this reason, safeguards and reporting requirements commensurate with those in place for MSUs also apply to multipurpose rooms when they are used in the same way as an MSU.

TRANSFERS

This Part comprises:

- section 3 Reason for transfer
- section 4 Transfers for behaviour management purposes
- section 5 Warning of transfer for behaviour management purposes
- section 6 Notification of detention placement review
- section 7 Approval and notice of transfer
- section 8 Effecting the transfer
- section 9 Review of transfer decisions
- section 10 Additional requirements for transfer to MSU
- section 11 Use of reasonable force
- section 12 Communicating with persons in immigration detention about transfers
- section 13 Orientation
- section 14 Health care needs
- section 15 Visits
- section 16 Records management.

3 REASON FOR TRANSFER

It may be necessary to transfer a person to another place of accommodation within an IDC for several reasons including:

- to restrict a person's movements for behaviour management reasons
- to manage the behaviour of persons in immigration detention who are non-compliant with lawful orders and directions and when their behaviour impacts on security and safety and other strategies to manage the persons behaviour have been unsuccessful
- to recognise compliant behaviour
- to improve welfare and care arrangements
- to protect the physical and mental health of a person in immigration detention
- to protect the physical safety of other persons in immigration detention and staff
- to prevent the probable occurrence of a serious incident (where there is intelligence that the transfer is likely to assist in preventing such an incident)
- for logistical purposes (such as to enable a person to be closer to internal medical facilities)
- for infrastructure purposes (such as reorganisation of compounds or structural problems) or
- to facilitate a request by a person in immigration detention to be transferred.

4 TRANSFERS FOR BEHAVIOUR MANAGEMENT PURPOSES

Internal transfer is a mechanism to assist in the management of unacceptable behaviour and to maintain the good order and security of an IDC and the safety and welfare of persons in immigration detention, staff and visitors to the IDC.

Any transfer being considered for behavioural management purposes must directly relate to the behaviour or risk being managed and be linked to a behaviour management plan.

In turn, this behaviour and its associated risk must directly relate to the "Code of Conduct for Detainees", which provides both a bench-mark for what is expected, and a point of reference at which any transfer and associated de-escalation can be targeted - see DSM Chapter 8 - Safety and security: Behaviour management.

A behaviour management agreement must be established for a person who has been transferred to a more restrictive place of accommodation for behaviour management reasons. For further information regarding behaviour management see DSM Chapter 8 - Safety and security: Behaviour management.

5 WARNING OF TRANSFER FOR BEHAVIOUR MANAGEMENT PURPOSES

A person being considered for a transfer on behavioural management grounds, where practicable, should be given a warning identifying behavioural concerns and be allowed the opportunity to address these concerns and demonstrate within a reasonable timeframe an improvement in their behaviour. This information should be recorded in a behaviour management plan.

Issuing a warning for non-compliant behaviour is not part of the client placement model process and therefore separate records need to be kept when a warning is given. All details of a warning of possible transfer should be recorded in a behaviour management plan and placed on the person's file, including the date of the warning, the advice given to the person of the consequences of non-compliance with the warning, use of interpreters if applicable and the person's response to the warning.

If there is any suspicion that a medical, psychological or psychiatric condition may be causing or contributing to non-compliant behaviour, the health services manager should be included in discussions regarding management strategies prior to any transfer being put in place. Where it is not practicable to consult the health services manager before the transfer, this must be done as soon as possible after the transfer.

6 NOTIFICATION OF DETENTION PLACEMENT REVIEW

Where practicable, a person in immigration detention for whom a transfer is being considered, should be given a completed 'Notification detention placement review pending' form (see DSM Chapter 2 - Client placement: Client placement model) in a language they understand (including using interpreters as needed).

7 APPROVAL AND NOTICE OF TRANSFER

Before a transfer can take place, a departmental officer must prepare a Client placement assessment form for approval by the Regional Manager, as outlined in DSM Chapter 2 - Client placement: Client placement model.

In urgent circumstances it may be necessary for the safety of the person in immigration detention and/or others, to transfer the person into more appropriate accommodation before a client placement assessment can be carried out. In such circumstances, a client placement assessment must be completed as soon as reasonably practicable and within 48 hours.

It is essential that a clear record of the decision making process is available. The reasons for the transfer should be clearly stated, and all relevant considerations that were addressed in the decision making process should also be documented. It is not sufficient to state the reason(s) in general terms.

Any connections with an existing care plan, behaviour management agreement and other behaviour management strategies already employed must be clearly identified. In the absence of any of these, consideration must be given to establish these.

Where possible, the health services manager should be notified of an intention to transfer a person, prior to the transfer taking place.

Where a decision to transfer a person to another place of accommodation has been made, the person is to be provided with a Notification of placement assessment outcome - see DSM Chapter 2 - Client placement: Client placement model. A copy must also be placed on the person's file.

8 EFFECTING THE TRANSFER

Once the Regional Manager or delegate has approved a transfer, the transfer must be carried out as soon as practicable. The Regional Manager or delegate must inform the DSP that the transfer is to take place to facilitate the transfer in a timely manner.

The Regional Manager is to ensure that the DSP has made the appropriate arrangements prior to any transfer taking place. Such arrangements include, but are not limited to, the following:

- allocation of appropriate accommodation
- advice to health services so that medication is delivered to the new location

- redirection of mail and telephone calls
- preparation for transfer of personal belongings (for example, providing containers and assigning responsibility for packing to the person in immigration detention or the DSP), see DSM Chapter 3 - Entering & leaving detention: Personal property and
- possible rescheduling of educational and recreational activities.

The DSP must ensure all property of the person is either moved with the person upon transfer or appropriately secured to prevent the possible loss of property. A record must be made of the action taken in relation to the property and the location of the property following transfer. Where possible, the person will be provided with the opportunity to pack and remove their own belongings (see DSM Chapter 3 - Entering & leaving detention: Personal property).

9 REVIEW OF TRANSFER DECISIONS

Review of a transfer decision will be made in accordance with the client placement model. Any party, including the person in immigration detention, can request such a review. Where the transfer is to a more restrictive place of detention such a review must be undertaken within seven days and in the case of an MSU within 48 hours.

If a decision is taken to transfer the person back to their original or another place of accommodation, the transfer must be carried out as soon as practicable after the decision is made.

All information regarding the review of the place of accommodation within the IDC, including relevant factors in making the decision as to whether the person is to remain in the current place of accommodation or to be transferred, must be recorded on the person's file.

10 ADDITIONAL REQUIREMENTS FOR TRANSFER TO MSU

Within 24 hours of any MSU placement, the Regional Manager must notify:

- the National Manager Operations and
- the First Assistant Secretary, Community & Detention Services Division.

The First Assistant Secretary, Community & Detention Services Division must endorse all placements over 24 hours.

The transfer of a person to the MSU will occur only when there is no viable alternative for ensuring the safety of an individual or individuals (not necessarily the person concerned) in their current location.

It is not appropriate to allow a person to remain in an MSU for an extended period of time and alternative measures must be considered after placement of a person in an MSU for a period in excess of 48 hours.

If it necessary for a person to remain in the MSU for longer than 48 hours, a full review of the placement, including a health review by the health services manager, must be initiated.

For other aspects related to detention in MSUs, see DSM Chapter 8 - Safety and security: Restrictive detention.

11 USE OF REASONABLE FORCE

If the use of force or an instrument of restraint is required to carry out a transfer, this must be reasonably necessary and proportionate to the particular circumstances and only undertaken by officers who have undertaken training in the use of force. It must only be used as a last resort and employed for the minimum time necessary to achieve its objective - that is, to restore the safety and good order of the IDC or prevent the person from harming themselves or others. For policy and procedures see DSM Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview: Use of force in detention.

12 COMMUNICATING WITH PERSONS IN IMMIGRATION DETENTION ABOUT TRANSFERS

Persons in immigration detention should be informed of all stages of the assessment and review process for transfers and be given the opportunity to improve any non-compliant behaviour and avoid negative consequences - see:

- DSM Chapter 8 - Safety and security: Behaviour management and
- DSM Chapter 8 - Safety and security: Restrictive detention).

This requirement can be dispensed with when the situation is so urgent that to take the time to do so would impact on the good order and security of the IDC or the safety of any individual in it.

Persons in immigration detention must be given, in writing, information about their circumstances, any decisions made affecting them and the reasons for those decisions - see DSM Chapter 2 - Client placement: Client placement model.

The Regional Manager must be satisfied that persons in immigration detention have access to the complaints mechanism and are aware of their rights to contact the Australian Human Rights Commission, the Commonwealth Ombudsman, the Australian Red Cross, and interpreting services at all times before, during and after the transfer process.

13 ORIENTATION

A person who has been transferred should be given an orientation of their accommodation as soon as practicable; this may include explanation of the following:

- access to health services
- when medication is dispensed
- laundry facilities
- mail and property deliveries
- arrangements for visitors
- arrangements for smokers and
- any curfews.

14 HEALTH CARE NEEDS

Persons in immigration detention, including those who have been transferred, must be able to access timely and effective primary health care, psychological/psychiatric services, including counselling:

- in a culturally responsive framework
- where a condition cannot be managed within the IDC, by referral to external advice and/or treatment.

For further information on health care needs see the DSM Chapter 6 - Detention health.

15 VISITS

Persons in immigration detention are, subject to their agreement, able to receive visits from relatives, friends, community contacts or legal, diplomatic or consular representatives. Visits may be subject to restrictions on the person's movements.

A person in immigration detention may be denied, or have limited access to, a visitor or visits for behavioural management reasons. Any restrictions should only be in place for a minimum period of time. A record must be kept of each instance where visits are not facilitated and the reasons for the restriction.

If a transfer will limit access to visits, arrangements should be made to inform any regular visitors of the change in circumstances, whether by the person in immigration detention or the DSP. It is particularly important that if a decision is made to cancel a pre-approved visit, the visitor be informed in a timely manner - see DSM Chapter 4 - Communication & visits: Visitors & entry to immigration detention facilities.

16 RECORDS MANAGEMENT

Record keeping is an integral and critical component in transferring persons in immigration detention to other places of accommodation within an IDC. All records and relevant information in relation to a transfer to another place of accommodation must be placed on the person's file as soon as practicable and preferably within 24 hours of making the notation. Such documents include, but are not limited to:

- completed client placement assessments
- email correspondence regarding the transfer
- minutes of counselling
- incident reports
- DSP security intelligence reports
- file notes on any telephone or other conversations in relation to the transfer
- video recordings
- whether a warning of possible transfer is given
- any notices and other paperwork in relation to pre-transfer and transfer
- a list of any personal property that is transferred with the person
- comments by the person in immigration detention who was transferred
- "detainee care plan"
- behaviour management agreement (if any)
- case management strategies
- detailed case notes
- details of the outcome of monitoring and review processes
- any other information relevant to the person's welfare or good management
- records of other administrative action and
- any other document referred to in this instruction.

As far as practical, all records in relation to the transfer should be kept on the approved departmental electronic record keeping system (for example ISIS, ICSE, TRIM, CCMD Portal). If the information is not appropriate for electronic recording in full, a reference note is to be made to the presence of these notes on the person in immigration detention's individual hardcopy file.

Files should be kept in good order and in accordance with departmental policy and best practice in records management - see DSM Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview: Records management.

INTRODUCTION

This Part comprises:

- section 1 Scope
- section 2 Legislative references.

1 SCOPE

This instruction applies to persons in immigration detention assessed under the department's client placement model (CPM) as unable to be managed effectively in the immigration detention network (IDN) and who to be placed in a correctional facility. The decision to place a person in immigration detention is not to be made for punitive reasons.

Approval for a person in immigration detention to be placed in a correctional facility can only be made after assessment under the CPM and a full submission presented to the Assistant Secretary, Detention Operations and Client Services Branch for approval.

Placement of a person in immigration detention in a correctional facility following assessment under the CPM must be negotiated on a case-by-case basis between the head of the relevant correctional facility and the Assistant Secretary, Detention Operations and Client Services and is to be for the shortest period of time possible.

2 LEGISLATIVE REFERENCES

2.1 Person in immigration detention

Immigration detention is defined in s5(1) of the Migration Act to include being held by, or on behalf of, an officer in a prison or remand centre of the Commonwealth, a state/territory.

Officers for the purposes of the Act include employees of correctional services departments and corporations engaged by the state/territory to manage correctional institutions - see the legislative instrument.

AUTHORISATION PROCESS FOR TRANSFER TO A CORRECTIONAL FACILITY

This Part comprises:

- section 3 Procedures
- section 4 Notice of transfer to a correctional facility.

3 PROCEDURES FOR OBTAINING AUTHORISATION

3.1 The departmental Central Executive

The departmental Centre Executive will complete a client placement assessment. If the person in immigration detention is assessed as not being able to be managed in the IDN, the departmental Centre Executive must recommend to the Assistant Secretary, Detention Operations and Client Services, that the person in immigration detention be placed in a correctional facility.

The departmental Centre Executive will provide a full submission to the Assistant Secretary, Detention Operations and Client Services (see Submission to AS DOCS), outlining the reasons for the recommendation for the placement of a person in immigration detention in a correctional facility. The following documentation must be included as part of the submission:

- client placement assessment
- history of the person in immigration detention
- the current circumstances of the person in immigration detention
- an outline of the alternative placements which have been considered and rejected and the reasons for not proceeding with the alternate placements.

3.2 The submission

In considering the request, the Assistant Secretary, Detention Operations and Client Services will also take into account the department's duty of care to the person in immigration detention and in particular consider:

- the period of time the person in immigration detention will be placed in a correctional facility
- the location of the correctional facility including its proximity to family and friends of the person in immigration detention and other required services providers
- facilities, services and freedoms of movement and association that the person in immigration detention will have in the correctional facility.

3.3 Negotiations with the correctional facility

Should the Assistant Secretary, Detention Operations and Client Services agree with the request, it is the responsibility of the Assistant Secretary, Detention Operations and Client Services, to negotiate a placement in a correctional facility with the head of the relevant correctional facility. The negotiation should include the following:

- the period of time of the placement
- reasons upon which the placement is sought
- issues which may affect the person in immigration detention's placement
- any special care needs that may be required and
- the most appropriate placement within the correctional facility for the person in immigration detention.

3.4 Refusal by correctional facility to accommodate the person in immigration detention

If the request is refused by the head of the correctional facility the Minister for Immigration may, at the request of the Assistant Secretary, Detention Operations and Client Services, intervene and negotiate with the state/territory Minister.

4 NOTICE OF TRANSFER TO A CORRECTIONAL FACILITY

Once placement in a correctional facility has been authorised, the person in immigration detention must be provided with a Notice of transfer to a correctional facility. The Notice provides the reasons for the placement and the date of the formal review of the placement. Copies must be sent to the person in immigration detention's legal representative and/or migration agent, if engaged by the person in immigration detention.

The person in immigration detention must be asked who they wish to be notified of their transfer and appropriate notification made as soon as reasonably practicable. The person in immigration detention's records will be appropriately reviewed and copies and/or summaries will accompany the person in immigration detention to the correctional facility.

ACTION REQUIRED DURING THE PLACEMENT

This Part comprises:

- section 5 Responsibilities of the nominated departmental officer
- section 6 Welfare checks
- section 7 Changes in circumstances
- section 8 Formal placement review
- section 9 Transfer back to the IDN
- section 10 Recordkeeping.

5 RESPONSIBILITIES OF THE NOMINATED DEPARTMENTAL OFFICER

5.1 Responsibilities of the nominated departmental officer

The Assistant Secretary, Detention Operations and Client Services will nominate a departmental officer who will be responsible for overseeing and managing the person in immigration detention's welfare in a correctional facility.

The nominated officer is to:

- provide the person in immigration detention with their contact details and
- advise them that they are available should they wish to discuss any aspect of their detention or immigration status.

The nominated officer must negotiate appropriate communication protocols with the correctional facility. Except in emergencies, this should occur prior to the person in immigration detention being accommodated in the correctional facility. The protocols should include:

- contact details for the correctional officer with management responsibility for the person in immigration detention, including emergency contact protocols
- contact details for routine liaison with the person in immigration detention and corrective services staff
- schedules and routines, as appropriate, for conducting welfare checks and visits
- procedures for immediate notification to the department of changes in the person in immigration detention's location, security classification, health or welfare while accommodated at the correctional facility and
- any other communication arrangements required/set out by the Assistant Secretary, Detention Operations and Client Services when negotiating the placement.

The nominated departmental officer must take all practical steps to ensure that the person in immigration detention can maintain or initiate communication with family members, outside agencies such as the Ombudsman, as well as legal, consular, spiritual, IDAG, Australian Human Rights Commission, Review and Tribunals representatives.

5.2 Request to be returned to the IDN

A person in immigration detention who has been placed in a correctional facility may request a review for transfer from the correctional facility to the IDN, at any time. The Assistant Secretary, Detention Operations and Client Services must be informed of a person in immigration detention's request for review. A formal review may be prepared, see Review of placement. In the case of a refusal, the Assistant Secretary, Detention Operations and Client Services must sign a letter, see Notice of refusal.

5.3 Visits to the person in immigration detention

All persons in immigration detention accommodated in a correctional institution shall be visited by the nominated departmental officer within 24 hours of arrival at the correctional facility.

Regular visits by the nominated departmental officer are required. These visits must include contact, at a minimum of once a week, and a personal visit, at a minimum, of once every 28 days. A visits schedule will be agreed between the Assistant Secretary, Detention Operations and Client Services and the head of the correctional facility. The nominated departmental officer is responsible for recording all visits and monitoring activity.

Must respond to a request to visit

The nominated departmental officer must also respond to all requests to visit the institution, whether these requests are made by the person in immigration detention or the correctional facilities authority. The nominated departmental officer must also respond to any reports of harassment or violence towards a person in immigration detention.

5.4 Immigration status to be regularly advised

The nominated departmental officer is responsible for ensuring that the person in immigration detention is regularly kept informed of their immigration and detention status. Translations and interpreters must be used when required. The person in immigration detention must be provided with written copies of all responses to requests or decisions made about their immigration or detention status.

6 WELFARE CHECKS

The nominated departmental officer is to contact a nominated officer of the relevant state/territory correctional facility in order to monitor the welfare of the person in immigration detention. The welfare check and associated records must be expanded (if required) to cover any:

- other conditions negotiated at the time of placement
- issues raised by the person in immigration detention or prison staff
- special care needs the person in immigration detention may have.

See also Welfare check form.

7 CHANGES IN CIRCUMSTANCES

Where the nominated departmental officer receives advice from the correctional facility about a change in the circumstances potentially affecting health, mental health or welfare of the person in immigration detention the nominated departmental officer must provide a report to the Assistant Secretary, Detention Operations and Client Services within 24 hours. Changes in circumstances affecting the person in immigration detention, include but are not limited to:

- any change in the placement within the correctional facility
- any changes to security classification
- any changes to freedom of movement, freedom of association including visits and phone privileges or access to amenities which last for more than 48 hours
- any reported health or mental health concerns, including treatment received and medical advice provided; and/or any issues relating to immigration status, detention at the correctional facility or concerns for health, mental health or welfare.

If the nominated departmental officer considers that the department's duty of care to the person in immigration detention is compromised by the change in circumstances, they must either take immediate steps to:

- seek authorisation from the Assistant Secretary, Detention Operations and Client Services to continue the placement in the correctional facility or
- effect the removal from the correctional facility to an appropriate placement within the IDN in accordance with the CPM.

8 FORMAL PLACEMENT REVIEW

Each case must be formally reviewed at least once every 28 days and endorsed by the Assistant Secretary, Detention Operations and Client Services and the nominated departmental officer must conduct a formal placement review, see Review of placement, at least 2 days prior to the person in immigration detention's intended release from the correctional facility.

The review is to be submitted to the Assistant Secretary, Detention Operations and Client Services, who may:

- approve the person in immigration detention's return to the IDN or
- request an extension of placement to the head of the correctional facility for endorsement.

If the recommendation is for the placement to continue past the initially agreed time frame, the Assistant Secretary, Detention Operations and Client Services should negotiate with the head of the correctional facility as soon as possible.

9 TRANSFER BACK TO THE IDN

The nominated departmental officer shall arrange for all departmental files and electronic files to be updated accordingly.

10 RECORDKEEPING

Records which must be kept by the nominated departmental officer tasked with managing the welfare of the person in immigration detention include:

- authority for transfer signed by the Assistant Secretary, Detention Operations and Client Services
- any information exchanged during the negotiation of the placement with the head of the correctional facility, including information provided about the person in immigration detention's history and welfare requirements and any agreements made about location and conditions in the correctional facility (Note: Submission to AS DOCS - Submission for Assistant Secretary, Detention Operations and Client Services for transfer of person in immigration detention to correctional facility.)
- records of the initial welfare check, visits and monitoring by a departmental nominated officer during the person in immigration detention's stay
- records of all subsequent welfare checks, including time and date of when the check was conducted and whether it was conducted in person, over the phone or with correctional staff
- behaviour management plans and agreements
- incident reports
- file notes in respect of conversations (including by telephone) with the person in immigration detention or other parties involved in their management or welfare
- all written advice to and from external parties involved in the placement at the correctional facility
- written records of all visits to the person in immigration detention held in a correctional facility and
- all records of transfers within the correctional facility, returns to the IDN and/or release from immigration detention.

These records must be placed on the person's individual file, as well as on ICSE.

Medical advice in respect of the behaviour, management or transfer of the person in immigration detention including discharge summaries, is to be transferred and/or made available from the correctional facility's health services provider to the detention health services provider, if the person in immigration detention is transferred back to the IDN.

INTRODUCTION

This part comprises:

- section 1 Definitions
- section 2 Purpose
- section 3 Scope
- section 4 Legislative framework
- section 5 Guiding principles.

1 DEFINITIONS

Term	definition
Immigration detention facilities (IDFs)	immigration detention centres (IDCs), immigration residential housing (IRH) and immigration transit accommodation (ITA).
Law enforcement officer	officers of state/territory police services, the Australian Federal Police, military personnel, Customs and government law enforcement agencies.
Storage facility	the designated secure area for storing the weapons of law enforcement officers. In most instances, this will be in the form of an approved gun safe that meets defined legislative requirements.
Weapon	a term broadly covering items that may be carried by law enforcement officers, which they may or may not elect to take into an IDF for safety and security purposes.

2 PURPOSE

This instruction gives guidance on policy and procedures for the departmental and detention service provider (DSP) staff coordinating the entry of law enforcement officers into IDFs. This instruction aims to remove the risks associated with handling weapons in an immigration detention environment.

The instruction's key role is to ensure that the weapons held by law enforcement officers are only handled by those officers, and not by DSP or departmental staff, whether that officer holds a firearms license or not. It is not the duty of DSP and departmental staff to handle firearms when working in the immigration detention environment.

The purpose of this instruction is to reduce the Department's exposure to the danger of an accidental discharge of a firearm. It also removes the possibility of any perceptions of the Department and of immigration detention which may be formed through the possession of weapons by DSP or departmental staff. These perceptions could include the notion that IDFs are similar to correctional facilities.

3 SCOPE

This instruction deals only with the handling of weapons at IDCs, IRHs and ITAs.

This instruction does not cover residence determinations (community detention) or alternative places of detention (APOD). While a duty of care remains when people are detained in community detention or an APOD, the decision to retain a weapon is at the discretion of law enforcement agencies to behave as they would in the Australian community. For policy and procedures on the Department's duty of care to persons in immigration detention, see DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Duty of care to persons in immigration detention.

4 LEGISLATIVE FRAMEWORK

4.1 Powers surrounding the entry of persons to IDFs

Section 252G of the Act provides specific powers relating to the entry of persons to IDCs. Ministerial direction under s499 - direction No. 20, which is to be read with this instruction, provides further guidance on s252G and officers are to follow this direction when exercising these powers.

The screening and inspection powers in the Act apply to IDFs established by the Minister under s273 of the Act.

The DSP has the right under certain provisions of the Act to:

- regulate the entry of persons
- impose conditions of entry.

For policy and procedures on the entry of persons into IDFs, see DSM - Chapter 4 - Communications & visits - Visitor entry to immigration detention facilities.

4.2 Firearms legislation

Legislation covering the storage and handling of firearms varies between states and territories. The Department has provided appropriate storage facilities commensurate with the relevant legislation.

5 GUIDING PRINCIPLES

Guiding principles in relation to the screening of persons in immigration detention are encapsulated in the immigration detention values as outlined in DSM - Chapter 1 - Legislative & principles overview - Immigration detention service delivery values, which state that people in immigration detention will be treated fairly and reasonably within the law and that conditions of detention will ensure the inherent dignity of the human person.

The values aim to ensure the appropriateness of both the accommodation and services provided. Relating this principle to the management of weapons at an IDF means that there is a responsibility to facilitate an environment in which the safety of persons in immigration detention and the safety of others in the facility is assured. Providing a means for law enforcement officers to store their weapons if they choose, allows such officers to use their discretion in assessing the best approach to attaining this safe environment.

Additionally, the following principles guide this instruction:

- law enforcement officers are responsible for their own weapons
- law enforcement officers will adhere to their standard operating procedures (SOPS) on weapons
- it is prohibited for any DSP or departmental employee to handle the weapons of law enforcement officers
- the Department has a duty of care to ensure the safety of all people in an IDF
- community law enforcement standards apply at all IDFs.

MANAGING WEAPONS AT IDFS

This part comprises:

- section 6 Relationships with law enforcement agencies
- section 7 Discretionary authority to retain weapons
- section 8 Maintaining records of weapons entering an IDF
- section 9 Storing weapons and firearms appropriately
- section 10 Handling of weapons upon exit from an IDF
- section 11 Accidental discharge of a firearm in an IDF
- section 12 Entry into an IDF during emergency situations.

6 RELATIONSHIPS WITH LAW ENFORCEMENT AGENCIES

Memoranda of understanding (MOU) and agreements are in place with a number of state and territory policing services and law enforcement agencies. These MOUs and agreements establish protocols for the delivery of policing services at IDFs. Efforts should be made to ensure that all dealings with police and law enforcement agencies reflect the content and spirit of the relevant MOU or agreement. The regional manager of each IDF should also ensure that local law enforcement officers understand the mutual arrangements associated with weapons at IDFs.

7 DISCRETIONARY AUTHORITY TO RETAIN WEAPONS

The decision to enter an IDF with or without weapons is the responsibility of the law enforcement officers, in consultation with the regional manager.

Law enforcement officers are responsible for the safe handling and storage of their weapons when on duty. Accordingly, if law enforcement officers decide to take firearms into an IDF, the DSP or departmental officer will not deny this request.

It is important however, that the law enforcement officer is made aware that weapon storage facilities are available. The decision to store or retain weapons must be made by the law enforcement officer.

8 MAINTAINING RECORDS OF WEAPONS ENTERING AN IDF

Records should be kept of each occasion when a law enforcement officer enters an IDF, and their decision to remove or retain their weapons. If a law enforcement officer decides not to take their weapons into an IDF, then a departmental or DSP officer will direct the law enforcement officer to the appropriate storage area. At no time should a DSP or departmental officer physically handle the weapon/s.

In instances where the law enforcement officer decides to retain their weapons this should be noted, along with the time of their entry and exit of the IDF. The record should include:

- a) type of weapon (in broad terms - that is, handgun, rifle, knife, capsicum spray, taser etc.)
- b) the time the weapon is put into and removed from storage
- c) the time when the key to the storage facility is collected and returned
- d) the name of the law enforcement officer responsible for the weapon
- e) any other relevant information (for example, circumstances of entry).

9 STORING WEAPONS AND FIREARMS APPROPRIATELY

Adequate facilities are provided at all IDFs for law enforcement officers to store their weapons if they choose to do so. Storage facilities at IDFs must allow for the storage of all weapons that may be carried by police or law enforcement personnel.

It should also be noted that different weapons can have different storage requirements. Storage requirements for firearms are defined under the relevant state or territory legislation as outlined in section 4.2 Firearms legislation.

Safely storing any firearm and its components is the responsibility of the law enforcement officer. The law enforcement officer is responsible for ensuring this process is followed in accordance with the relevant applicable legislation and procedures.

The law enforcement officer will also have responsibility for possessing the key or code for the storage facility while their weapon is being stored. In the event that the key or code is misplaced, or the security of the storage facility is compromised, measures should be taken to address the situation and ensure the ongoing security of the storage facility.

10 HANDLING OF WEAPONS UPON EXIT FROM AN IDF

The principles outlined in section 8 Maintaining records of weapons entering an IDF still apply when exiting an IDF. Responsibility for collecting the firearm and its components from the storage facility must rest with the law enforcement officer.

The law enforcement officer is also responsible for returning the key or code to the storage facility, upon collecting their weapon.

11 ACCIDENTAL DISCHARGE OF A FIREARM IN AN IDF

Any discharge of a weapon in an IDF, whether accidental or intentional must be reported to National Office as soon as possible, by contacting Network Services Section.

Measures should be taken to ascertain whether the presence of armed law enforcement officials has had any mental health ramifications for people in immigration detention, in particular, survivors of torture and trauma.

After a firearm has been discharged, measures should be taken to ensure that this has not resulted in disturbances within the IDF. Checks should be made to ascertain whether any people in immigration detention require a debriefing, additional counselling or psychological support. For policy and procedures, see:

- DSM - Chapter 6 - Mental health screening
- DSM - Chapter 6 - Identification & support of survivors of torture & trauma.

12 ENTRY INTO AN IDF DURING EMERGENCY SITUATIONS

In the event of emergency situations, police and emergency personnel will enter the IDF at their discretion. Police should not be asked to sign the sign-in register if there is a pressing emergency situation. However, entry staff should record as accurately as possible the entry and exit of such personnel, including whether they have removed or retained weapons, situation permitting.

ABOUT DETENTION OPERATIONS UPDATES

Detention operations updates (DOUs) provide all departmental and detention services provider staff working in the detention services network with nationally consistent guidance on interpreting and applying operational procedures.

Updates are binding on departmental staff and all detention services providers and their staff. Each update supersedes any earlier update on the topic and relevant operational procedures to the extent of any inconsistency. Centre managers and executives should implement this update in consultation with detention services providers.

Updates must be interpreted and applied in accordance with the law and all relevant departmental standards, policies and procedures.

For further information on any update, contact the Detention Procedures Help Desk through the form on IMMIInet, by phone on (02) 6264-1448 or by email to detention.procedures@immi.gov.au.

AUTHORISATION OF DOUS

All Detention Operations Updates have been authorised by the First Assistant Secretary, Community & Detention Services Division.

DOUs and the centralised departmental instructions system - A note from the managers of the CDIS

These DOUs are part of the centralised departmental instructions system (CDIS), the contents of which are departmental policy instructions and therefore also listed in the department's s9 FOI statement.

Material referred to in these DOUs as "operating instructions (OPs)", however, is currently not part of the CDIS. Public access to that material is therefore currently only via standard FOI request to the department.

Also, although these DOUs are part of the CDIS, in order to facilitate timely release as part of the CDIS, the content of the DOUs is as provided and authorised by the policy owner of the DOUs. Among other matters, the content of the DOUs and the effect of these DOUs on other policy instructions in the CDIS (ie current PAM3 documents) have not been further checked or vetted by the managers of the CDIS. Accordingly, the electronic repository of the CDIS (ie LEGEND) currently does not provide full electronic linkages to or from these DOUs.

DOU 2006/01 - VISITORS TAKING LAPTOP COMPUTERS INTO CENTRES

PURPOSE

Certain visitors may take laptop computers into immigration detention centres.

UPDATE

Visitors may bring laptop computers into immigration detention centres, on two conditions:

- the laptop stays in the possession of the visitor at all times and
- the laptop leaves with the visitor when they exit the centre.

The categories of visitor include:

- “legal visitors” (lawyers, migration agents and Immigration Advice and Application Assistance Scheme (IAAAS) providers)
- “official visitors” (such as diplomatic and consular representatives, or the Australian Red Cross)
- “regulatory visitors” (such as the Commonwealth Ombudsman, the Australian Human Rights Commission, and the Immigration Detention Advisory Group - IDAG) and
- “other visitors” at the discretion of the centre manager in consultation with the service provider.

BACKGROUND

While laptop computers are currently on the contraband list (Operational Procedure 12.6 (part 1) - Entry of Visitors), a review of that list is currently underway. It is anticipated that the review will make a number of changes, and may recommend that laptop computers be allowed into immigration detention centres. This is an early measure to improve the services provided to clients in immigration detention.

IMPLEMENTATION AND TRANSITIONAL ARRANGEMENTS

Centre managers and executives should implement this update in consultation with detention services providers. Provide feedback to the Detention Procedures Help Desk by return email to detention.procedures@immi.gov.au.

DOU 2006/04 - INCIDENT REPORTING IN ALTERNATIVE DETENTION

PURPOSE

All incidents occurring within the detention services network, including in alternative places of detention, must be reported.

UPDATE

All incidents (as described in Operational Procedure 15.7 Reporting of Incidents) occurring within the detention services network, including in alternative places of detention, must be reported.

BACKGROUND

Incident reporting is currently governed by Operational Procedure 15.7 Reporting of Incidents. This update is intended to resolve any ambiguity as to whether incidents as described in that Operational Procedure should be reported if they occur in alternative places of detention.

IMPLEMENTATION AND TRANSITIONAL ARRANGEMENTS

Departmental Centre Executives and managers should implement this update immediately and in consultation with detention services providers. Please provide feedback to the Detention Procedures Help Desk by return email to detention.procedures@immi.gov.au.

DOU 2006/07 - PLACEMENT IN A MANAGEMENT SUPPORT UNIT (MSU)

PURPOSE

Formally decommissioning the Management Support Unit (MSU) in Baxter Immigration Detention Centre and clarifying arrangements for placement in the Villawood MSU.

UPDATE

The former Management Support Unit (MSU) in Baxter Immigration Detention Centre is now formally decommissioned and is not to be used for detainee behaviour management. The only remaining MSU in the immigration detention services network is located at Villawood Immigration Detention Centre.

Within 24 hours of any MSU placement, departmental Centre Executives must notify:

- the Assistant Secretary, Detention Operations and Client Services Branch and
- the First Assistant Secretary, Detention and Offshore Services Division.

All placements over 24 hours must be endorsed by the First Assistant Secretary, Detention and Offshore Services Division.

BACKGROUND

The Palmer report recommended that the department “carry out a thorough review of the purpose and nature of the Management Unit in the light of a changed immigration detention environment and a changed detainee population” (recommendation 4.11: July 2005). Since then, and pending the recommended policy review, a number of operational changes have been made, including changes to the use of Higher Security Compound Red One and suspending the use of the MSU at Baxter Immigration Detention Centre. A formal policy review is also expected to commence into behaviour management within the immigration detention environment, in accordance with Palmer recommendation 4.11.

This update is intended to document and formalise changes to the use of Management Support Units and to the procedures set out in Operational Procedure 2.6 Management Support Unit - Transfer and Accommodation and Migration Series Instruction 403 Transfer of detainees within immigration detention facilities, in advance of the final outcomes of that review process.

IMPLEMENTATION AND TRANSITIONAL ARRANGEMENTS

Centre executives and managers should implement this update immediately and in consultation with detention services providers. Please provide feedback to the Detention Procedures Help Desk by return email to detention.procedures@immi.gov.au.

DOU 2007/02 - REPORTING NATIONAL SECURITY THREATS

PURPOSE

This Detention Operations Update is to provide advice to Centre Executives, departmental and Detention Services Provider (DSP) staff in the event that a threat or allegation of a threat to Australian interests is made by or through detainees.

UPDATE

The National Security and Counter Terrorism Branch has released a Standard Operating Procedure for dealing with allegations of terrorist sympathies, affiliations, activity or other issues pertaining to National Security (Attachment A).

The reporting arrangements in this SOP are to be followed by departmental and DSP staff if threats or allegations are received.

The Assistant Secretary, Detention Operations and Client Services Branch must be immediately informed of all referrals to the National Security and Counter Terrorism Branch.

Assessment and investigation of any allegation or threat will be made by the relevant agencies, and not by onsite staff. These agencies will liaise directly with departmental staff.

BACKGROUND

Terrorism remains a serious threat to Australia, and Australia's counter-terrorism strategy is continually evolving to address the security environment. Individuals, business and government agencies provide valuable support in reducing these threats by reporting information to the appropriate law enforcement and investigatory bodies for their action.

The department supports this approach through ongoing national and international cooperation with relevant agencies and has formal information sharing, operational support and reporting responsibilities in order to respond to current and future threats. The National Security and Counter Terrorism Section is responsible for the attached SOP and for ensuring allegations of links to terrorism are promptly referred to relevant agencies.

IMPLEMENTATION AND TRANSITIONAL ARRANGEMENTS

Centre executives and managers should implement this update immediately and in consultation with detention services providers. Please provide feedback to the Detention Procedures Help Desk by return email to detention.procedures@immi.gov.au.

DOU 2007/03 - ITEMS NOT PERMITTED IN IMMIGRATION DETENTION CENTRES

PURPOSE

To implement a revised list of items that are not permitted in Immigration Detention Centres (IDCs), including excluded and controlled items.

UPDATE

Excluded items

Items that are not permitted in Immigration Detention Centres (IDCs) include items that are illegal in the Australian community, items that present a risk to the health of detainees, visitors and staff, items that present a risk to privacy, safety or security, or items that may be offensive to others.

The attached list provides examples of items that are either 'excluded' (not permitted in any circumstances) or 'controlled' (may be permitted under strict conditions of entry and use) in IDCs. All previous information referring to contraband items is to be withdrawn from circulation.

Items that are permitted

Detainees and visitors may retain any items that are permitted within these revised guidelines as 'in possession' property, including previously contraband items held as 'in trust' property.

Controlled items

Detention Services Officers and Centre Management may permit onsite staff, official visitors and professional visitors to bring certain 'controlled' items (marked with an asterisk '*') into the centre, subject to conditions of entry and use.

Official visitors include offsite departmental and Detention Services Provider (DSP) staff, emergency workers, and representatives from law enforcement agencies, the Immigration Detention Advisory Group (IDAG), the Detention Health Advisory Group (DeHAG), the Ombudsman, the Australian Human Rights Commission, Australian Red Cross and similar organisations. Professional visitors include consular officials, religious visitors, legal practitioners, migration agents and others providing services to detainees.

Conditions of entry and use can include the requirement to register the item on entry and exit, not to use the item or provide it to detainees, and other requirements at the discretion of the DSP, Centre Executive or their representative.

Refusing permission and handling breaches

Decisions in respect of particular items are to be made by staff using their discretion in accordance with prevailing community standards. All disputes as to whether particular items are permitted in the IDC, or conditions of entry and use, are to be referred to and resolved by the Centre Executive or their representative.

Queries in respect of particular items may be directed to the Detention Procedures Help Desk on (02) 6264-1448 or by email to detention.procedures@immi.gov.au.

Items that are identified as being unlawful under a Commonwealth law or in the State or Territory in which the detention centre is located must be immediately referred to the appropriate law enforcement agency for investigation and disposal. They must not be returned to the detainee or visitor.

Visitors are to be provided with access to lockers or secure storage for items that they are not permitted to bring into the centre and other items that they decide not to bring into the centre. Visitors use these lockers at their own risk.

Items that belong to a detainee but are not permitted in the IDC are to be held as 'in trust' property or otherwise dealt with in accordance with procedures, including forfeiture or disposal where required.

An incident report is to be raised in accordance with procedures whenever items are not permitted to detainees and visitors (such as at reception) and whenever such items are found in the centre. Non-compliance by visitors with conditions of entry and use for controlled items is also to be reported through an incident report.

This update does not alter the specific requirements of the Migration Act 1958 relating to entry of persons to immigration detention centres (s252G), screening procedures in relation to immigration detainees (s252AA), or strip search of immigration detainees (s252A).

BACKGROUND

The previous contraband list, as outlined at Attachment C to Operational Procedure 10.4 Detainee Visits Entitlements and Processing, has been revised to ensure consistency with the client-focused immigration detention services network. The revision also provides greater flexibility and discretion to the DSP and Centre Executives to permit 'controlled' items, in accordance with the Centre Management Model.

This has involved a reduction in the number of items not permitted in IDCs, for example:

- a range of personal items are permitted;
- food may be brought in by visitors to cook or consume and is restricted to reasonable amounts not for long-term storage, resale or trade within the IDC;
- mobile phones without camera capabilities are permitted (DOU2006/03), but mobile phones with camera capabilities should be considered controlled items;
- computers are permitted, but computers with modems should be considered controlled items as these services are or will be provided through the DSP;
- electrical items may be brought in with prior approval, subject to space restrictions, safety considerations and where applicable, a current electrician's certificate that the item complies with relevant safety regulations;
- craft tools and sporting equipment used for programs and activities (for example, knitting/sewing needles and scissors) run by approved visitors should be considered controlled items;
- other tools and equipment should be considered controlled items; and
- items used in religious worship (eg sacramental wine and candles) should be considered controlled items to a registered Religious Visitor and consumed or removed at the end of the visit.

IMPLEMENTATION AND TRANSITIONAL ARRANGEMENTS

Centre executives should implement this update in consultation with the DSP with effect from 1 March 2007.

The Public Information Office will provide Centre Executives with posters and information brochures explaining the revised list. Please arrange for the posters to be displayed in all reception and visits areas, and for the information brochures to be freely provided to detainees, visitors, staff or other parties. The Public Information Office will also arrange for the revised list to be made available on the departmental Internet site.

Centre executives should monitor compliance with the revised list and incident reporting by Detention Services Officers. Please provide feedback, or direct queries in respect of particular items, to the Detention Procedures Help Desk on (02) 6264-1448 or by email to detention.procedures@immi.gov.au.

Prior approval should be sought should you wish to bring such items into an IDC. The entry of all items to an IDC may be subject to screening or searching by centre staff. All disputes as to whether items are permitted in the IDC, or conditions of entry and use, are to be resolved by the departmental Centre Executive.

Question: Has the Minister or the preceding Minister ever requested a particular dashboard of particular measures that they would like to see on a regular basis to help them understand what is happening in the detention network?

Answer: The department has generated a range of reports concerning irregular maritime arrivals (IMAs) that are sent to the Minister's office on a regular basis. These reports include the number of people in detention, capacity of facilities, IMA processing updates and other adhoc reports as required. Since late 2008 the reports have varied and adapted to the various circumstances, and incorporated feedback from the Minister's office.

Question: How long has the department been providing weekly reports on the detention network to the minister?

Answer: The department has provided weekly reports to the Minister's Office regarding irregular maritime arrivals since July 2009.

Question: When did the government first ask the department for options on how to stop the boats?

Answer: Noting that several agencies are involved in developing advice on issues associated with Irregular Maritime Arrivals, the department has for some time been providing policy advice to the government on a range of matters relating to irregular migration to Australia.

Question: Is that [the decision to suspend processing for individuals from Sri Lanka and Afghanistan] a proposal which came from the department?

Answer: The suspension of processing of asylum claims for individuals from Sri Lanka and Afghanistan was a result of an iterative process of policy development based on discussions between the department and the government. This resulted in the announcement by Minister Evans on 9 April 2010 to immediately suspend processing of new asylum claims from Sri Lankan and Afghan nationals, for a period of three months and six months respectively, while country information and related guidelines for refugee status determination were reviewed.

Question: Why was not the residence determination power used back in April and was there any request to that end to investigating using those powers at that time?

Answer: The Residence Determination power is a personal, non-compellable, non-delegable Ministerial power. As such, the extent of the use of this power is a matter for the Minister of the day.

The Residence Determination power has been available since 2005 and has been exercised routinely since that time. Statistics on the use of the power are presented in the table below, including for the period covering April 2009.

2007-2008	44 Residence Determinations
2008 - 2009	196 Residence Determinations
2009 -2010	161 Residence Determinations

Question: How many of the individuals who were subject to that freeze were still in the system in March this year or may indeed have been in Villawood when events took place there? Could you confirm how many people who were still in the network on Christmas Island were subject to that freeze, particularly in aqua and lilac wings, where most of the disturbances were, and also in Villawood during the disturbances there?

Answer: As at close of business 11 March 2011, there were 1841 Irregular Maritime Arrivals (IMAs) being accommodated at Christmas Island IDC. Of these, 384 were accommodated in the Aqua compound and 197 were accommodated in the Lilac compound.

Of the 1841, 139 were subject to the processing suspension. Of which, 33 were being accommodated in the Aqua Compound and two were accommodated in the Lilac compound.

As at close of business 20 April 2011 there were 172 IMAs being accommodated at Villawood IDC. Of these, two clients were subject to the processing suspension.

There is no evidence that any of those subject to the suspension were involved in the incidents at Christmas Island and Villawood IDC.

Question: Provide a breakdown of the percentage of cases now going on to ASIO for assessment and those not going on for assessment.

Answer: We cannot provide the percentage breakdown of this complex caseload. As occurs with many other caseloads, the percentage of cases subject to security assessment changes from time to time, depending on the individual characteristics of the client cohorts.

All relevant adult IMAs are subject to security assessment to inform visa suitability. ASIO is responsible for the security assessment of IMAs and provides this advice to DIAC. Under the new arrangements the vast majority of adult IMAs who have been found to be refugees are security assessed within days. ASIO is the appropriate agency to comment on the security assessment caseload.

Question: Does Serco have any of their own internal benchmarks around staff-to-detainee ratios in their centres and how are they performing against those?

Answer: Serco advises that it does have internal staffing models in place.

Serco's advice is that its staffing models take into consideration a wide range of factors, in addition to detainee numbers. These include the detainee demographics, and risk profile of individual detainees. Environmental considerations include the available infrastructure, security systems, and the proximity of the centre to support services. Other factors include the requirements for detainee transport, and provision of programs & activities.

For the most part, Serco is performing within acceptable levels according to its internal modelling. There are, however, ongoing challenges associated with recruiting and retaining staff in remote locations.

JOINT SELECT COMMITTEE ON AUSTRALIA'S

*Q89***

Question: Is the department aware of the level of staff at each centre? Is that information reported to the Minister?

Answer: The contract stipulates that the service provider ensures that personnel levels at facilities are adequate to deliver the services in accordance with the contract.

Under Schedule 2, Section 2.2.3 – 3.2 (b) human resource management, the service provider must provide the department with fortnightly rostering arrangements.

Additionally, under Schedule 2, Section 2.2.4-1.9(a)(ii) security services - rostering of security personnel, the service provider must, from the handover for each centre, provide the department with rostering arrangements at the commencement of each alternate business week for the coming fortnight.

Staff levels are not routinely reported to the Minister.

Question: Can the department confirm the date current detention services contract went to tender?

- Detention Services for Immigration Residential Housing (IRH) / Immigration Transit Accommodation (ITA); and

Question: North West Point: what was the movement in the staff-to-detainee ratio over the course of the six to nine months leading up to the events in March?

Answer: Serco has advised that the staff numbers at the Christmas Island Immigration Detention Centres increased by 35% during the six months from September 2010 to February 2011. Operational Serco staff employed at North West Point increased by 37% during this period. This increase exceeded the expansion in the number of detainees.

JOINT SELECT COMMITTEE ON AUSTRALIA'S IMMIGRATION DETENTION NETWORK

*Q92***

Question: There is a standard set out for the number of square meters per detainee. I would like to know whether we meet that standard. Are you meeting it now? What about Curtin? Effectively what we are looking for is a time series of the performance against the standard over the last 12 months or so, ideally quarterly; if not, six months.

Answer: The specified standards for Immigration Detention Centres are 10 square metres for standard single occupancy or 15 square metres for dual occupancy. In surge conditions two clients may be placed in a standard bedroom where the clients are not related (unless it is culturally desirable to form larger groups).

The detention network has been in surge conditions since late 2009. During this time the department has maintained the required acceptable solution of two clients per standard bedroom in the general living quarters.

As a result of surge conditions the department has been required to provide additional temporary living quarters in the centres. This includes the use of recreation rooms, education rooms, dorms and marquees. This is always to be used for the shortest possible period.

Below is a table with the average square metres at the four main Immigration Detention Centres.

Average square metres for the four main Immigration Detention Centres by specific date		Specific date
		30 June 2010	30 Sept 2010	31 Dec 2010	31 March 2011	30 June 2011	30 Sept 2011
Immigration Detention Centre	Christmas Island	3.1	3.0	3.0	7.5	7.5	7.3
	Curtin	4.3	3.6	4.3	3.9	3.9	4.5
	Northern	5.4	6.8	5.9	6.0	6.0	6.3
	Scherger	n/a	n/a	4.4	3.4	3.4	4.2

Please note:

1. The average squares metres is derived from the total squares metres (bedroom only) at each site in conjunction with the number of IMAs at each site on the specified date. This does not take into account ensuites, ablutions, living spaces or recreation areas.
2. Christmas Island IDC contains data for North West Point only. The other facilities on Christmas Island are alternate places of detention.
3. Scherger IDC was not operating on 30 September 2010 and 30 June 2010.

Question: Is there a specific line item in the contract saying that maintaining order in the centres is part of what DIAC requires?

Answer: The contract requires the service provider to ensure the safety and security of the centres and the well-being, safety and security of all people within.

In particular, the contract statement of work articulates the department's expectation that order in the centres will be maintained at all times. The service provider must:

- (i) maintain a safe and secure environment in each centre; and
- (ii) ensure that people in detention and other people onsite are safe and secure at all times.

Question: When did the Minister first ask to be briefed by the department on the capacity to respond to a major incident? When did he ask to be briefed on the department's capacity – and Serco's and others – to respond to a major incident? Has he made such a request?

Answer: The department has regular and ongoing communications with the Minister about a range of matters relating to his portfolio. These include operational briefings and general discussions on the immigration detention network at which the Minister may seek advice on a range of issues, including incident management. Any information the Minister may have received around the preparedness of our service provider and other stakeholders to manage an incident would have been provided in these forums.

From 18 October 2010 to 30 June 2011, a total of 770 children were approved for community detention.

Answer: As at close of business on 15 August 2011, there were 845 clients in immigration detention who were subject to the processing suspension. Of these clients, 89 were in community detention as reflected below. The breakdown of these clients is as follows:

- 752 single adult men (12 of whom were in community detention);
- 4 single adult females (2 of whom were in community detention);
- 62 people from 23 family groups including 24 accompanied children (48 of whom were in community detention); and

Question: Can you tell us what the outcomes are?

Answer: Broadly, to meet the required outcomes of the Detention Services Contract, Serco must:

1. Comply with the immigration detention values as stated in the recitals of the contract.
2. Actively participate in and meet all requirements of the performance management manual. The contract requires Serco to meet key performance areas which cover service delivery broadly across the following:
  - duty of care;
  - appropriate amenities;
  - healthy environment; and
  - supportive culture.
3. Deliver the services as required in the statements of work in the contract, comprising:
  - 2.2.1 People in Detention Services;
  - 2.2.2 Facilities Management and Support Services;
  - 2.2.3 Business Services and Continuous Improvement;
  - 2.2.4 Security Services; and

Question: Does Serco have an internal requirement that, where they are operating facilities where there are children, they have a policy that requires people to be trained in looking after children?

Answer: Serco employs Client Support Workers (CSWs) at facilities where there are children. CSWs are required to hold relevant certification III level qualifications in child welfare or community services.

Serco has developed a policy and procedure manual on 'working with minors' which details specific requirements for the care of minors.

- (i) comply with relevant State Child Protection Legislation;
- (ii) are subject to all necessary checks in accordance with the relevant State Child Protection Legislation; and
- (iii) hold relevant Certificate III qualifications in child welfare.

JOINT SELECT COMMITTEE ON AUSTRALIA'S

Question: What are the requirements, and if there are requirements, how are they being monitored?

Answer: Serco advises that it maintains a register of the status of qualifications, certifications and accreditations of all staff. The register also includes the status of AFP clearances and working with children checks.

Staff working with minors must:

- (i) comply with relevant state child protection legislation;
- (ii) are subject to all necessary checks in accordance with the relevant state child protection legislation; and
- (iii) hold relevant certificate III qualifications in child welfare.

As part of contract performance management, the department has requested information on training, clearances and qualifications of Serco staff and this has been provided on a case by case basis.

*Q103***

Question: What is the value of monthly abatements for Serco?

Answer: Under the IDC Contract, there is a requirement for the department and Serco to conduct an audit against detailed abatement indicator metrics on a monthly basis under a process called Joint Facility Audit Team (JFAT). This has occurred every month from March 2010 to June 2011 for Christmas Island (including Northwest Point, Phosphate Hill, Construction Camp and Lilac/Aqua compound), Northern IDC, Villawood IDC, Melbourne IDC, and Perth IDC. The total of all abatements for this period is $14.8 Million.

The IRH/ITA Contract specifies that an audit against the relevant detailed abatement indicator metrics must occur quarterly under a process called Joint Site Audit Team (JSAT). There have been four reviews from May 2010 to April 2011 for Brisbane ITA, Melbourne ITA, Sydney IRH and Perth IRH. The total of all abatements for this period is $215,000.

Question: You have categorised them into two or three areas: actual self-harm, threatened self-harm and attempted serious self-harm. The 2009-10 date only has two categories. Can you explain to me why it was recorded in the 2008-09 year but then not? What was the reason for not recording it?

Answer: In 2008-2009 G4S was the department's sole detention service provider and reports were recorded under three categories.

From September 2009 to February 2010, the detention services contract was transitioning from G4S to Serco. The categories for recording self-harm were not identical in the G4S and Serco systems, so for accuracy and consistency, a two-category system was adopted for departmental reporting during transition.

Following the transition to Serco, the reporting moved back to a three category system.

There are 386 cases of actual self-harm, which is extremely high in comparison to the previous year, which is only 38. At what stage, and where, would you like to discuss the details of this? Question: Has there been an audit or assessment of the services delivered by IHMS in any of the facilities since the contract was signed in 2008?

Answer: IHMS has undertaken, or commissioned, the following audits or assessments of its services in immigration detention facilities:

- During 2009: Internal audit against the RACGP standards conducted by IHMS head office personnel at a number of facilities.
- April 2011: Internal audit at Christmas Island facilities against RACGP standards conducted by IHMS head office personnel.
- May-Jun 2011: A detailed audit of the management processes and governance of health services, commissioned by IHMS and conducted by International SOS (parent company).
- June 2011: Each site conducted a self-assessment against the RACGP Standards
- Quarterly: Internal audit of health records and medication records conducted at each site.

The department has commissioned various reviews of health services delivery in detention facilities:

Review of Health Service Delivery Model Christmas Island

The department engaged Phillipa Milne and Associates to provide independent expert advice on the appropriate level of health care services to be provided to people in immigration detention on Christmas Island. The report was completed in June 2010.

Review of Health Service Delivery Model Mainland Detention Facilities

The department engaged Phillipa Milne and Associates to provide independent expert advice on the appropriate level of health care services to be provided to people in immigration detention facilities on the Australian mainland. The report was completed in October 2010.

Royal Australian College of General Practitioners (RACGP) Accreditation Pilot

The department commissioned Quality in Practice (QIP) to review the RACGP Standards for health services in Australian immigration detention centres, develop an accreditation process, and provide a Detention Health Standards Report detailing recommended changes to the Standards. QIP provided a final report to the Department in October 2010.

Review of Christmas Island Detention Health Services Clinical Governance Processes

The department contracted Communio to conduct a clinical governance review (the Review) of health services provided to people in immigration detention on Christmas Island. The Review was conducted on 28 April 2011 and 3 May 2011. This work included the development of an audit tool, to enable assessment of the clinical governance arrangements on Christmas Island. Communio presented the findings of the review to the Department on 19 May 2011.

Question: So what changes were made?

Answer: Following the incidents on Christmas Island, a review of the existing contingency plans for the Curtin IDC was conducted. The review was undertaken by a multi-disciplinary team comprising of representatives from DIAC, Serco and IHMS. The review resulted in the following changes and operational arrangements:

- a review of all available canteen items was conducted to ensure that accelerants and flammable items were not available to clients. This review did not find any items available in the canteen of concern;
- a full centre security risk assessment was conducted and updated on the national document distributed to Serco and DIAC national offices;
- contingency exercises were conducted (both desktop and live) to ensure the robustness of the documents and staff preparation should an event arise;
- full security sweeps of the compounds and client areas were conducted;
- stakeholders were advised of the updated site risk assessments;
- increased targeted interaction with client demographics was conducted focusing on client leaders within the facility;
- an increased presence of DIAC and Serco management within the facility.

In addition to these changes, DIAC, Serco and IHMS worked together as a multi-disciplinary team to review all proposed transfers from Christmas Island to the Curtin IDC to ensure that clients being transferred were suitable for placement at the IDC given its location, infrastructure and available resourcing. This is standard practice at the Curtin IDC where there is a very close relationship between DIAC and the Serco Security and Intelligence team, who conduct regular meetings to address security issues and identify current intelligence or risks and formulate appropriate mitigation strategies to address these issues.

Question (121) :

The Christmas Island Incident Management Protocols are developed by the detention service provider, Serco.

As per the contract, DIAC requested Serco provide the Incident Management Protocols in November 2009. Serco commenced discussions for the Christmas Island Incident Management Protocols in early 2010.

DIAC wrote to Serco on 23 August 2010 seeking clarification on the consultation process with DIAC. Serco responded on 13 October 2010.

Due to the surge in IMA arrivals, DIAC was provided with the finalised Christmas Island Management Protocols by Serco on 21 March 2011.

Given the complex nature of detention operations on Christmas Island other stakeholders, including representatives from the Australian Federal Police and Customs, also attend the daily meetings.

Question: Was local DIAC management consulted by the Australian Federal Police (AFP) on the termination of Operation Chiron on Christmas Island?

Answer: Departmental management on Christmas Island was not consulted on the termination of Operation Chiron as that is a matter for the Australian Federal Police (AFP). The department and the AFP have ongoing discussions on the range of security and other client management and facility management issues on Christmas Island.

JOINT SELECT COMMITTEE ON AUSTRALIA'S IMMIGRATION DETENTION NETWORK

*Q125***

Question: What response did DIAC put in place after withdrawal of those high-order public order management federal police from the island? Was a local security management response discussed amongst the three organisations at your regular meetings?

Answer: There were and continue to be a number of formal mechanisms in place to review and ensure that security and other client facility management issues on Christmas Island are communicated on an ongoing and regular basis to the relevant stakeholders. This includes the Inter-agency Coordination Committee and the Security Working Group both of which have representation from the AFP.

Following the withdrawal of the AFP Organisational Response Group in November 2010, the AFP maintained the ability to rapidly deploy specialist capacity to Christmas Island within 24 hours if required.

In recent months Serco has increased its rapid response capability including the number of Emergency Response Teams (ERT) that can be deployed.

Supplementary Response to 125 and 127:

On 17 November 2010, senior departmental staff were advised by the Australian Federal Police (AFP) that the continued deployment of ORG officers to Christmas Island was unsustainable due to competing operational priorities, and that the withdrawal of these officers would commence on 27 November 2010.

In response to this decision, the department and Serco implemented a number of risk management strategies including:

- Ensuring ongoing and visible staff engagement in client compounds to reassure clients and remind them of appropriate behaviour (including room searches to identify and remove any contraband items);
- Enhancing meaningful activities within the limitations of a high population; and
- Increasing mainland transfers to facilitate the movement of appropriately cleared longer-term clients to suitable mainland facilities.

Additionally, shortly after the incident commenced in March members of CISSR (Council for Immigration Services and Status Resolution) were invited to assist in engagement with clients.

The Department worked closely with the key stakeholders such as the AFP to ensure that they were appropriately briefed on the operational situation in the detention facilities.

The decision to review the AFP presence is a matter for that agency.

*Q126***

Question: What was your understanding of the response timeframe for federal police officers with that level of training to get to the island from their base in Perth after they were removed from the island?

Answer: The department understood that once the Australian Federal Police (AFP) presence was decreased, appropriately trained AFP staff would be able to be transported to Christmas Island within a 24 hour timeframe to respond to an incident as required.

JOINT SELECT COMMITTEE ON AUSTRALIA'S
IMMIGRATION DETENTION NETWORK

*Q127***

Question: Whether locally DIAC had raised, as a result of their regular meetings with the Federal Police and what they were aware of with what was going on in their centres, whether there was a need to review the presence of Federal Police and their skills on the island?

Answer: There were, and continue to be, a number of formal mechanisms in place to ensure that information on security and other client and facility management issues on Christmas Island is provided to relevant stakeholders. These include the Inter-agency Coordination Committee and the Security Working Group, both of which have representation from the Australian Federal Police (AFP) on them.

The decision to review the AFP presence, and related skills of the officers based on information received in these forums, is a matter for that agency.

*Q128***

Question: I just want to know whether it was ultimately a ministerial decision to have a compound as part of North West Point that had a lower level of security?

Answer: North West Point (NWP) was opened by the former Minister in December 2008. At the time, the Government chose to open the facility in a low-security mode. This approach was viewed by Government as appropriate given the compliant detention population at that time and the desire to maintain a positive culture and mood.

The development of Aqua and Lilac compounds with the NWP facility was done in a manner consistent with this approach.

*Q129***

Question: Can you confirm that that fence was the one that detainees were also able to fashion weapons from during the course of those 10 days?

Answer: During the period 11 March 2011 to 18 March 2011 clients were able to adapt materials from the fence between Aqua and Lilac for use as weapons.

JOINT SELECT COMMITTEE ON AUSTRALIA'S
IMMIGRATION DETENTION NETWORK

*Q130***

Question: Maybe if you could just tell me the time of the decision and whether the minister was involved in that decision or appraised of that decision?

Answer: The decision to increase the Australian Federal Police (AFP) presence on Christmas Island is a matter for that agency and as such any questions relating to this decision should be directed to the AFP. The Minister for Immigration and Citizenship was not involved in that decision making process. In the course of regular and ongoing briefing from the Department about the incident, the Minister was advised of the increase of AFP personnel on the island.

IMMIGRATION DETENTION NETWORK

*Q131***

Question: So that issue was never raised in all the security assessments that the Australian Federal Police (AFP) would have done prior to the March riots?

Answer: When the Christmas Island Immigration Detention Centre started receiving clients, relevant agency stakeholders would attend regular forums to discuss personnel and facility security related matters. At these meetings a range of issues were canvassed, including the activation of the perimeter fence. For operational reasons the perimeter fence at the Christmas Island IDC was not energised prior to the March 2011 disturbances.

Question: Whose decision was it to use that hall area, which is the visits area, as a place to monitor people who were particularly vulnerable?

*Q133***

Question: Does DIAC know whether, for the clients under the ultimate duty of care of the Department of Immigration, the Serco staff, the MSS staff, anybody involved with them have been able to access the mental health awareness training?

Answer: The detention services provider, Serco, is required to ensure that their detention services staff attend mental health awareness training before commencing work at a detention facility, and then bi-annually thereafter at a refresher course.

Metropolitan Security Services (MSS) staff are not required to undertake mental health awareness training as their interaction with clients is limited and differs from other detention services staff, being predominantly perimeter security and patrolling.

The health services provider, International Health and Medical Services (IHMS), is required to ensure that their staff are appropriately trained in the risks and sensitivities relevant to the delivery of health care to people in detention.

IHMS provides its employees with induction training and then regular ongoing training at detention facilities on a wide range of health service delivery issues, including mental health awareness and management.

IHMS is also required to ensure that all health care providers, including community network providers, have the necessary and appropriate registrations, accreditations, qualifications, skills, training and experience to provide health care to people in immigration detention.

Training in the Mental Health Policies - 2010

Training and implementation of the Government's detention mental health policies, including mental health awareness, took place across the detention network February-November 2010.

The department coordinated training of staff from:

- DIAC;
- Serco;
- IHMS;
- the Australian Red Cross;
- Life Without Barriers (who provide support services to unaccompanied minors); and
- Member organisations of the Forum of Australian Services for Survivors of Torture and Trauma (FASSTT) (who provide torture and trauma counselling).

Mental Health Awareness and Policy Training - 2011

Updated mental health awareness and policy training has been developed and is now being delivered across the detention network. In response to participant feedback, the training incorporates additional mental health awareness material. It is being delivered to new detention services staff, and as well as those who attended the training in 2010.

The updated training has been delivered at Pontville Immigration Detention Centre, places of detention in Darwin and Leonora Alternate Place of Detention. The training is being delivered at Christmas Island (October-November 2011) and will be rolled-out across the remainder of the detention network over approximately six months.

Answer: Of the 871 IMAs who arrived between 1 July 2011 and 30 September 2011, 647 (74.28%) were undocumented.

("Undocumented" means holding no form of identifying document (official or semi-official) which contains, at a minimum, the IMA's name – "Documented" means documents presented also include photocopies and electronic copies of originals not currently available or which have been lost or destroyed in transit to Australia).

Answer: Figures below indicate biodata discrepancies identified through Australia's participation in the Five Countries Conference (FCC) Data Sharing Protocol, these figure are consistent with all FCC matches including but not restricted to IMA's.

The FCC Data Sharing Protocol is a program whereby biometrics (fingerprint) and related biographics (name, date of birth, nationality) are checked against the data holdings of member countries of the FCC, namely Australia, Canada, New Zealand, the United Kingdom and the United States. When a match occurs, cases are investigated to determine reasons for previous encounters with the client, sometimes resulting in discrepancies in their statements to immigration officials. The match report is provided to the relevant case officer for their consideration.

Question: Is there any view around that the facility might be extended more than what it is? Or is that what is expected to be there for the long term?

Answer: The department is conscious of the need for clients to be able to keep in contact with relatives and stay abreast with what is happening around the world. In the past 18 months, the department added an additional 33 Internet accessible computers for clients across Christmas Island in addition to the 27 that were already there.

There are no plans for additional computers.

Question:

Can you confirm that prior to that, on the evening of 5 October, there were two arson incidents in the Aqua/Lilac compounds and there was writing found on a wall, after those demountables were inspected afterward, with words I understand to the effect that "we will burn our way to freedom"? Can you confirm that there were those two incidents that took place? Was an incident reported and was it a critical incident? So particularly, if you can confirm whether there was that wording and I imagine it would need translation.

Answer:

On 6 October 2010, the Detention Services Provider advised of two fires in classrooms in the Aqua Compound. The incidents were reported as critical/major within the Daily Incident Report Summary on 7 October 2010. A departmental situation report was distributed on the 7 October 2010, advising of the incident.

There is no reference to any writing on the wall in the demountables in the Serco incident report.

Question: Was it discussed at your daily meetings and the meetings you had with Serco and the AFP—the changing nature in the detention population and the extent to which that would change the risk profile of the centre? Can you identify if and when that issue was raised? Could you also identify if and when that was reported back up through the chain?

Answer: The daily meetings on Christmas Island did, and continue to, include discussion around the changing nature in the detention population at each of the facilities and the extent to which that could potentially change the risk profile at each site. Information on significant client population dynamics and associated issues is communicated to relevant senior DIAC officers on a daily basis.

The department had been aware of the changing nature of the detention population for some time and had provided advice to the Government on related issues.

Question: When that someone comes down off the roof, what is the consequence of having done something like that or engaged in disruptive activity within the centre? More broadly, if they engage in other activity which is disruptive and potentially aggressive and against what I hope would be a code of behaviour in the centre, what would be the consequence?

Answer: Apart from the security of the facility the primary focus is the well-being and the welfare of the individual concerned. When a person ceases a rooftop protest they are seen by Detention Health Service Provider, IHMS as soon as practicable and the client's physical and mental health is assessed. Serco, IHMS and DIAC officers will determine the most suitable placement option for the client based on health and risk assessments. At an appropriate time Serco will discuss with the client the code of conduct and may develop a Behaviour Management Plan, which may include limited access to activities and amenities.

Question: Who makes the decision to whether there is a clinically recommended second opinion needed? How can the health service, which makes the initial assessment then be assessing themselves as to whether there is a second assessment needed? What is the communication to detainees around the charging of independent psychiatric assessments?

Answer: Clinicians employed by the Health Services Provider, International Health and Medical Services (IHMS), make clinical recommendations for a second opinion.

The need for a second opinion is considered on a case by case basis, and may be discussed by the primary IHMS clinician with the IHMS Medical Director at the detention facility, or with other senior IHMS clinicians.

IHMS advises that in most cases where a second opinion is sought, this is done to help alleviate client anxiety or to clarify client expectations about treatment or management.

The IHMS clinician may refer the client to another IHMS clinician for provision of a second opinion.

If the client is seeking a second opinion in relation to a diagnosis made by a medical specialist, including a non-IHMS specialist, the IHMS GP may refer the client to a different specialist.

Where IHMS does not consider a second-opinion to be clinically warranted, the client or their representative can seek to make their own arrangements for a second opinion at their own expense.

The option of organising a private assessment is usually explained by the department to client representatives such as migration agents and lawyers, in response to enquiries made to the department. IHMS staff may also explain this option to clients.

The Residence Determination power has been available since 2005 and has been exercised routinely since that time. Statistics on the use of the power are presented in the table below.

Question: If we can get those two other dates—the decision date and the date that the department started contingency planning for bringing people from Christmas Island to Darwin—that would be great.

The decision was effected on 19 April 2010, when 68 clients were transferred to NIDC from Christmas Island.

Question: Are those percentages different between Airport Lodge and NIDC?

Answer: Please see tables below for information on clients in Darwin as at close of business 26 September 2011. Information is based on data in departmental systems.

Client Processing Stages as a percentage by facility population.

Processing stage	Darwin Airport Lodge Stages 1, 2 & 3	Northern IDC

Undergoing Refugee Status Assessment/Protection Obligation Determination processing	67%	25%
Found not to be a refugee and undergoing Independent Protection Assessment	18%	52%
Pending Judicial Review outcome	1%	15%
Screened out of the refugee process (on a removal pathway)	1%	1%
Total	100%	100%

*The 7% of the population at NIDC awaiting an entry interview as at 26 September 2011 may be attributed to the pipeline of cases awaiting processing as a result of the Malaysia announcement. On 5 September 2011, following the High Court decision, the department began processing claims of the more than 300 boat arrivals who had been subject to transfer under the arrangement with Malaysia.

Question:

I want to go back to Airport Lodge, the incident that took place there after the internet disagreement and the 11 people who were followed up by the Federal Police for weapons offences. Where are those people now? I understand that those prosecutions were not carried forward. Where are the 11 that the Federal Police thought were worth having a close look at for weapons offences?

Answer:

The incident identified by Mr Morrison was initiated by an argument between Afghan and Iranian clients on a bus returning from school. The argument resulted in tension at the Darwin Airport Lodge APOD which escalated over several hours into a physical altercation between family groups and UAMs. The Australian Federal Police (AFP) investigated the matter and determined no charges would be laid. The AFP has advised the 11 clients initially identified as persons of interest are no longer of interest.

As at cob 25 September 2011 of the 11 clients referenced above; five have been granted Protection visas, five are currently in Community Detention, and one client remains in detention at an Immigration Detention Centre.

*Q150***

Question: I wonder if you could explain to us the reasoning and the decision on that; why that procurement method was adopted, as opposed to the alternatives: who made that decision and the circumstances surrounding it generally?

Answer: The department had an urgent need for alternative accommodation for both families and unaccompanied minors as the Christmas Island facilities were at capacity.

As a result, the department investigated a number of accommodation options which included the Darwin Airport Lodge (DAL). The DAL required no capital outlay and no additional maintenance, catering, cleaning or utility costs as the owner covers all these costs. Additionally, the DAL presented an opportunity to accommodate a significant number of clients in one location rather than fragment clients around Australia.

In October 2010, the department announced a Defence site, known as 11 Mile Antenna Farm in Darwin, would be a contingency site for detention purposes. The NT Government opposed the use of this land as they had an interest in the site to address an acute shortage of residential housing in Darwin. The department gave an undertaking that it would work with the NT Government and look at other sites.

The department was advised that a development at Wickham Point had been approved by the NT Government for a construction workers camp. Due to the urgent need for further accommodation the department entered into an arrangement with the developer on a direct sourcing basis.

The Chief Financial Officer approved:

- an exemption from the Mandatory Procurement Procedures for both agreements. This was approved, as the Mandatory Procurement Procedures do not apply to "leasing or purchase of real property or accommodation". (Commonwealth Procurement Guidelines - item 1 of Appendix A: Exemptions from Mandatory Procurement Procedures)

and also approved

- direct sourcing due to the urgency for the facilities management services provided by the developer of Wickham Point. This was approved, as it satisfied the condition for direct sourcing "for purchases made under exceptionally advantageous conditions that only arise in the very short term, such as from unusual disposals, unsolicited innovative proposals, liquidation, bankruptcy, or receivership and which are not routine purchases from regular suppliers". Dear [Mr/Mrs/Miss etc] [name]

Notification of Independent Protection Assessment

This letter is to inform you of the outcome of the Independent Protection Assessment of your refugee claims.

Following careful consideration of all available information, the independent assessor who conducted the Independent Protection Assessment recommended on [date] that you not be recognised as a person to whom Australia has protection obligations under the 1951 Convention relating to the Status of Refugees and its 1967 Protocol. It is departmental policy to accept independent assessors' recommendations.

A copy of the independent assessor's assessment and recommendation is attached.

You may be aware that on 11 November 2010 the High Court of Australia found that irregular maritime arrivals (people who travel to Australia by boat without a visa and who arrive at or are transferred to Christmas Island) can seek judicial review if they are found not to be a refugee.

Judicial review is where a case is considered by a magistrate or judge to determine whether the procedure and approach taken were legally correct. In the present context, judicial review is not a review of a person's claims for protection or a determination of a person's refugee status. If the court found that there was legal error in the assessment process, the court could not find that you are a refugee or grant you a visa. Rather, the court would normally, in these circumstances, require that a fresh assessment of your refugee claims be conducted by an independent reviewer.

If you decide to seek judicial review of the independent protection assessment, you have 35 days from the date of this letter to lodge your application. You would remain in detention while your case is considered.

people our business

Information about how to apply for judicial review is available on the Federal Magistrates Court website (<http://www.fmc.gov.au>), including the forms to be filed with the Court and the cost of judicial review. The Federal Magistrates Court also provides an online brochure about judicial review of migration decisions available in different languages at <http://www.fmc.gov.au/services/html/migration.html>.

Your migration agent will not be available to assist you with your application for judicial review or provide you with legal advice about whether to make an application. You may be able to obtain free legal advice from a legal aid commission or community legal centre, including community legal centres that specialise in refugee and asylum seeker assistance.

You can find the number for obtaining assistance from your local commission on the national legal aid website at <http://www.nla.aust.net.au>. Information about legal assistance services is available at <http://www.accesstojustice.gov.au>.

Otherwise you may wish to hire a private lawyer at your own expense. You can find a lawyer using the phone book or on the internet.

If you decide not to seek judicial review of this assessment, the department will make arrangements for your return to [country]. This will include obtaining travel documents on your behalf. Your case manager will contact you to discuss this process.

Whether or not you decide to seek judicial review, the department will be making an assessment of any humanitarian concerns or international human rights obligations that may affect your return to [country] as part of a pre-removal clearance. You may wish to submit further information to be considered in this assessment. You have 35 days from the date of this letter to provide further information which you would like to have taken into consideration. This information should be emailed to the department's International Obligations mailbox (vic.preremovals@immi.gov.au). If you do not provide further information for this assessment, the department will make this assessment using the information you have already provided.

The department remains committed to ensuring that all clients receive not only fair and reasonable treatment, but also an efficient standard of service that is sensitive to each client's needs. # Seeking protection in Australia

Information for irregular maritime arrivals assessed under the Protection Obligations Determination process

You have arrived by boat and have indicated that you are seeking Australia's protection. This information sheet will help you to understand how your claims for protection will be assessed.

Who does Australia give protection to?

Australia provides protection to people found to be refugees under the 1951 Refugees Convention. Not everybody is entitled to Australia's protection, even if you come from a country where there is violence or lack of security.

According to the Refugees Convention, a refugee is someone who is outside their country and is unable or unwilling to go back because they have a well-founded fear of being persecuted because of their race, religion, nationality, political opinion or membership of a particular social group.

How does Australia decide if I am a refugee?

The Department of Immigration and Citizenship will assess your case through the Protection Obligations Determination (POD) process. The first part of this process is an evaluation by a trained departmental officer to determine if you are a refugee.

You will need to give the departmental officer correct information about who you are, how you came to Australia, and why you are seeking protection. This is done through a written statement of claims and an interview. It is important that you tell the truth and provide as much information as you can as early as possible.

Do I get help with my case?

The department will provide you with a professional, independent migration agent to help you prepare your case. The agent will explain the process to you, help you write your statement of claims, and accompany you to your interview.

Your migration agent is not employed by the department, and does not make the decision on whether you are a refugee. You do not need to pay for the services of the agent.

What information is used to decide my case?

Departmental officers consider the criteria in the Refugees Convention, relevant Australian law, all the information you provide and a wide range of current information on the conditions in your home country. The department makes sure this information is accurate, credible and current before it is used to assess your case.

How will the department process my case?

Generally cases are processed in order of arrival but priority is always given to vulnerable clients, such as unaccompanied minors and family groups.

It is important to know that each case is assessed individually and some may take longer to decide than others. Reasons for this include:

- complex claims that require more research by the departmental officer
- difficulty in determining your identity or nationality
- the need to obtain information from other agencies.

You can help the departmental officer to process your case as quickly as possible by:

- giving complete and truthful information at your interview
- providing any documents or evidence that support your claims
- providing any documents to prove your identity and family relationships (for example, passports, birth and marriage certificates, or identity cards, including copies sent from home).

What happens if I am found to be a refugee?

If you are found to be a refugee, you also need to meet health, character and security checks before you can be granted a visa. These checks are done by other Australian agencies and can take some time.

If you satisfy these checks, the department will recommend to the Minister for Immigration and Citizenship (the minister) that you are allowed to apply for a protection visa. If you are successful with your application, you will be given a permanent visa to live in Australia. You will also receive help to settle into the Australian community.

What happens if I am not found to be a refugee?

If the departmental officer is not satisfied that you are a refugee, your case will be referred for an Independent Protection Assessment. You will be given a copy of the reasons for the finding.

An assessor who is independent from the department will review your case. You can provide new information to the independent assessor and respond to anything in your referral record you disagree with. The independent assessor will interview you, unless they find that you are a refugee based on the information they have already received. Your agent will help you with the process.

If you do not want an Independent Protection Assessment and you want to return to your home country, you can do so at any time. Please talk to your case manager about this.

How long will the Independent Protection Assessment take?

Independent assessors try to process your case as quickly as possible. Each case is assessed individually and some cases may take longer than others. The Australian Government is increasing the number of independent assessors available to assist with this process.

What happens after the Independent Protection Assessment?

The independent assessor will make a recommendation to the department as to whether or not you are a refugee. The department will then continue to process your case.

If you are found to be a refugee, the process will continue as outlined in 'What happens if I am found to be a refugee?'

If you are found not to be a refugee, you must work with the department to prepare to leave Australia.

If you think an error of law was made in your case, you have the right to apply for judicial review. Judicial review is where the Court determines whether any legal errors were made in the assessment of your case. It is not a review of your claims or a determination on whether you are a refugee. Not all judicial review applications are likely to succeed.

If the Court agrees that a legal error was made, they will not be able to grant you a visa. They will return your case to the department for a new assessment.

If you decide to seek judicial review, it can take a long time for the courts to hear your case and you will remain in immigration detention during this time.

If you do not seek judicial review, or your judicial review application is unsuccessful, the department will make plans to return you to your home country.

Can I get help with judicial review?

The migration agent provided by the department will not be available to give you legal advice about whether to make a judicial review application, or help you lodge an application. A legal aid commission or community legal centre may be able to give you free advice or information. You can obtain information on legal aid and on how to contact your local commission at <http://www.nla.aust.net.au>.

Information about other legal assistance services is available at <http://www.accesstojustice.gov.au>.

Otherwise you may wish to pay for a private lawyer. You can find a lawyer using the phone book or the internet.

What if I need more advice?

If you have questions about your case, you should contact your migration agent in the first instance. Your agent will inform you of the progress of your case and explain any findings by the department or the independent assessor.

Your case manager will give you information about the process, help you understand what to expect and explain your responsibility in working with the department to resolve your immigration status. Case managers cannot give you immigration advice. They do not make decisions about your refugee claims, but they will tell you about any significant developments or decisions in your case.

What if I have a complaint?

If you are not happy with a service or believe you have been treated unfairly, you should talk to your case manager or a detention services officer. If you are not happy with their response, you can call the department's Global Feedback Unit on 133 177 or complete an online feedback form at www.immi.gov.au/contacts/forms/services/

If you are unhappy with the services provided by your migration agent, you can write to:

Director, Client Support & Liaison Section
Department of Immigration and Citizenship
PO Box 25
Belconnen ACT 2616

The department will investigate the complaint. If the complaint is substantiated, you may be provided with a different migration agent.

جستجوی حفاظت در استرالیا

معلومات برای واردین از طریق کشتی (ورود غیر قانونی از طریق بحر) که تحت پروسه "تعیین کردن مکلفیت های حفاظت" (Protection Obligations Determination - POD) ارزیابی می شوند

دانستن این امر حایز اهمیت است که هر کیس به شکل انفرادی ارزیابی میشود و بعضی از آنها ممکن است نسبت به دیگران وقت بیشتری را دربر بگیرد.

دلایل آن شامل اند بر:

- تقاضا های پیچیده که تحقیق بیشتری توسط افسران را ایجاب می نماید
- مشکلات در تعیین نمودن هویت یا ملیت شما
- ضرورت برای بدست آوردن معلومات از ادارات دیگر.
- شما می توانید افسران وزارت را از طرق ذیل در سرعت بخشیدن طی مراحل کیس تان یاری کنید:
- ارائه نمودن معلومات مکمل و صادقانه در مصاحبه تان
- ارائه نمودن هر گونه شواهد مستند در حمایت از تقاضاهای تان
- ارائه نمودن هر گونه اسنادی که هویت و نسبت های خانوادگی تان را تصدیق نماید (به عنوان مثال، پاسپورت، تصدیق تولد یا نکاحنامه، یا کارت های هویت، بشمول نقل های اسنادی که از خانه فرستاده شده باشند).

در صورتی که من پناهنده شناخته شوم چه واقع میشود؟

اگر تثبیت شود که شما پناهنده هستید، شما همچنان ضرورت دارید تا قناعت بررسی های صحت، شخصیت و امنیت را بدست آورید قبل از اینکه برایتان ویزه اعطا شود. این بررسی ها توسط ادارات دیگر استرالیایی صورت می گیرد و می تواند مدتی را در برگیرد.

اگر شما قناعت این بررسی ها را بدست آورید، کیس شما به وزیر مهاجرت و تابعیت راجع خواهد شد، با این توصیه که وزیر به شما اجازه دهد تا برای ویزه محافظت درخواست نمایند. در صورتیکه شما در درخواست تان برای ویزه موفق شوید، برای شما ویزه دائمی زندگی در استرالیا داده خواهد شد. شما همچنان در قسمت مسکن گزینی در جامعه استرالیا کمک دریافت خواهید کرد.

در صورتی که من به حیث پناهنده شناخته نشوم چه واقع میشود؟

در صورتی که افسر وزارت در مورد پناهنده بودن شما متیقین نباشد، کیس شما به "ارزیابی مستقل محافظت" فرستاده خواهد شد. یک نقل از سوابق ارزیابی به شما داده خواهد شد، که دلایل این نتیجه گیری را توضیح میدهد.

ارزیابی کننده، که مستقل از وزارت عمل میکند، کیس شما را مورد تجدید نظر قرار خواهد داد. شما میتوانید به ارزیابی کننده مستقل معلومات جدیدی فراهم کنید و به هر بخش از سوابق ارزیابی تان که با آن مخالف هستید، پاسخ بگویید. ارزیابی کننده مستقل با شما مصاحبه خواهد کرد، مگر اینکه آنها بر اساس معلوماتی که از قبل دریافت نموده اند، تصمیم بگیرند که شما پناهنده هستید. وکیل شما در جریان این پروسه به شما کمک خواهد کرد.

در صورتیکه شما ارزیابی مستقل محافظت را نمی خواهید و آرزو دارید که به کشور اصلی تان برگردید، هر وقت میتوانید تصمیم بگیرید. لطفاً در این باره با مدیر کیس تان صحبت کنید.

ارزیابی مستقل محافظت چه مدتی را دربر خواهد گرفت؟

ارزیابی کننده گان مستقل سعی دارند تا کیس شما را به زود ترین فرصت ممکن ارزیابی کنند. هر کیس به شکل انفرادی مورد ارزیابی قرار میگیرد و بعضی

شما از طریق کشتی به استرالیا رسیده اید و خاطر نشان نموده اید که در جستجوی حفاظت هستید. این ورق معلوماتی در دانستن این امر اینکه تقاضای محافظت شما چگونه ارزیابی خواهد شد، به شما کمک خواهد کرد.

آسترالیا از چه کسی محافظت میکند؟

آسترالیا از اشخاصی حفاظت میکند که تحت کنوانسیون پناهندگان مصوب سال 1951 سازمان ملل متحد به حیث پناهنده شناخته میشوند. هر کسی مستحق محافظت در استرالیا نیست، حتی اگر شما از کشوری بیابید که در آنجا خشونت و یا بی امنیتی وجود داشته باشد.

بر طبق کنوانسیون پناهندگان، پناهنده کسی است که در خارج از کشور شان باشند و نمی توانند و یا نمی خواهند که به کشور شان برگردند زیرا ترس دارند که به دلایل نژاد، مذهب، ملیت، عقیده سیاسی یا عضویت در یک گروه مشخص اجتماعی مورد اذیت و آزار قرار خواهند گرفت.

آسترالیا چگونه تصمیم میگیرد که اگر من پناهنده هستم؟

وزارت مهاجرت و تابعیت کیس شما را از طریق پروسه "تعیین کردن مکلفیت های حفاظت" (Protection Obligations Determination - POD) ارزیابی خواهد کرد. مرحله اول در این پروسه عبارت از ارزیابی توسط یک افسر آموزش دیده وزارت است که پناهنده بودن شما را تعیین میکند.

شما باید معلومات درستی به افسر وزارت ارائه کنید، اینکه شما کی هستید، چگونه به استرالیا آمده اید، و اینکه شما چرا در جستجوی محافظت هستید. این کار از طریق بیان تحریری تقاضا و مصاحبه صورت می گیرد. این امر حایز اهمیت است که شما حقیقت را بگویید و هر گونه معلومات را با تفصیل و به زودترین فرصت ممکن ارائه نمایید.

آیا میتوانم در مورد کیس خود کمک دریافت کنم؟

وزارت مهاجرت و تابعیت برای شما یک وکیل مسلکی و مستقل مهاجرت مهیا خواهد کرد تا در آماده ساختن کیس تان با شما کمک نمایند. وکیل پروسه را به شما توضیح خواهد داد، در نوشتن شرح تحریری تقاضای تان به شما مساعدت خواهد کرد، و در جریان مصاحبه شما را همراهی خواهد کرد.

وکیل مهاجرت شما توسط وزارت مهاجرت و تابعیت استخدام نشده است، و در مورد پناهندگی شما تصمیم نمی گیرد. شما مکلف به پرداخت پول در بدل خدمات وکیل نیستید.

در مورد تصمیم گیری کیس من از کدام معلومات استفاده میشود؟

افسران وزارت معیارهای موجود در کنوانسیون پناهندگان، قوانین مربوطه استرالیا، تمام معلوماتی را که شما ارائه داده اید، و معلومات در باره شرایط فعلی کشور تان را مدنظر می گیرند. افسران در باره درست بودن، مربوط بودن، قابل باور بودن و کیفیت آن اطمینان می یابند، قبل از آنکه در ارزیابی کیس شما مورد استفاده قرار گیرند.

وزارت کیس من را چگونه بررسی خواهد کرد؟

کیس ها عموماً به اساس نوبت رسیدن آنها بررسی می شوند اما حق اولویت همیشه به موکلین آسیب پذیر، مانند گروه های خرد سالان بدون همراه و خانواده ها داده میشود.

صحبت کنید. اگر شما با پاسخ آنها راضی نیستید، شما می‌توانید به اداره جهانی بازخواست وزارت (Global Feedback Unit) به شماره 133 177 تماس بگیرید و یا یک فورمه بازخواست را در صفحه اینترنتی زیر تکمیل کنید:

کیس ها ممکن است نسبت به دیگران وقت بیشتری را بگیرد. دولت استرالیا تعداد ارزیابی کننده گان مستقل موجود را افزایش میدهد تا در تسریع جریان پروسه کمک نمایند.

بعد از ارزیابی مستقل محافظت چه واقع میشود؟

ارزیابی کننده مستقل به وزارت در باره اینکه شما پناهنده هستید و یا نه، مشوره خواهد داد. به تعقیب آن، وزارت به پروسه کیس شما ادامه خواهد داد.

در صورتیکه تثبیت شود که شما پناهنده هستید، پروسه بعدی آن طوری که در "در صورتی که من پناهنده شناخته شوم چه واقع میشود؟" توضیح داده شده است، ادامه خواهد یافت. در صورتیکه تثبیت شود که شما پناهنده نیستید، شما باید در تفاهم با وزارت آماده شوید تا استرالیا را ترک کنید.

اگر به این باور باشید که در کیس شما کدام اشتباه قانونی صورت گرفته است، حق دارید تا خواستار تجدید نظر قضایی شوید. تجدید نظر قضایی پروسه است که یک کیس توسط قضای یا قوه قضاییه تحت بررسی قرار میگیرد تا تعیین کنند که آیا در مورد ارزیابی کیس شما کدام اشتباه قانونی صورت گرفته است یا نه. این تجدید نظر تقاضای شما برای محافظت نیست یا تثبیت کردن اینکه شما پناهنده هستید یا نه. احتمال ندارد که تمام درخواست های تجدید نظر های قضایی موفق شوند.

در صورتیکه محکمه توافق کند که اشتباه قانونی صورت گرفته است، آنها نمی توانند به شما ویزه اعطا کنند. آنها کیس شما را جهت ارزیابی جدید به وزارت بر می گردانند.

اگر شما تصمیم می‌گیرید که خواستار تجدید نظر قضایی شوید، این مدتی را در بر خواهد گرفت تا محاکم قضیه شما را استماع کنند و در طی این مدت شما در توقیف مهاجرت باقی خواهید ماند.

اگر خواستار تجدید قضایی نشوید، یا درخواست تجدید نظر قضایی شما ناموفق باشد، وزارت پلان های لازم برای برگردان شما به کشور تان را روی دست خواهد گرفت.

آیا می‌توانم در تجدید نظر قضایی کمک دریافت کنم؟

وکیل مهاجرت که توسط وزارت مهیا شده، در باره اینکه برای تجدید نظر قضایی درخواست کنید یا نه، به شما مشوره قانونی داده نمی‌تواند، و نه هم در آمادگی و ثبت درخواست تان با شما کمک کرده می‌تواند. کمیسیون حمایت حقوقی یا مرکز حقوقی اجتماعی ممکن است به شما مشوره اریگان و یا معلومات بدهند. شما می‌توانید در باره حمایت حقوقی و اینکه چگونه با کمیسیون محلی تان تماس بگیرید، در این صفحه اینترنتی معلومات بدست آورید:

<http://www.accesstojustice.gov.au>

در غیر آن شما می‌توانید وکیل قانونی شخصی مقرر کنید و پول آن را پرداخت کنید. شما می‌توانید با استفاده از کتاب راهنمای تلفون و یا اینترنت وکیل قانونی بیابید.

اگر به مشوره بیشتر ضرورت داشته باشم؟

اگر در مورد کیس تان سوالاتی داشته باشید، باید در قدم اول با وکیل مهاجرت تان تماس بگیرید. وکیل شما در مورد پیشرفت در کیس تان شما را اطلاع داده و در باره هر گونه نتیجه گیری توسط وزارت و یا ارزیابی کننده مستقل به شما توضیحات خواهد داد.

مدیر کیس تان در مورد پروسه به شما معلومات ارائه خواهد کرد، در دانستن اینکه چه توقعاتی باید داشت به شما کمک خواهد کرد و در تفاهم با وزارت مسئولیت های شما را توضیح خواهد کرد، تا وضعیت مهاجرت شما حل کنند. مدیران کیس نمی توانند در باره مهاجرت به شما مشوره بدهند. آنها در مورد تقاضای پناهندگی شما تصمیم نمی گیرند، اما در مورد هر گونه پیشرفت مشخص یا تصمیم گیری ها در مورد کیس تان، شما را آگاه خواهند ساخت.

اگر من شکایت داشته باشم چه کنم؟

اگر شما با خدمتی راضی نیستید و یا بر این باور هستید که با شما رفتار غیر عادلانه شده است، شما باید با مدیر کیس تان و یا افسر خدمات توقیفگاه

جستجوی حفاظت در استرالیا

معلومات برای واردین از طریق کشتی (ورود بحری غیر قانونی) که تحت پروسه "تعیین کردن مکلفیت های محافظت" (Protection Obligations Determination - POD) ارزیابی می شوند

دلایل آن شامل اند بر:

- تقاضا های پیچیده که تحقیق بیشتری توسط آفیسران را ایجاب می نماید
  - مشکلات در تعیین نمودن هویت یا ملیت شما
  - ضرورت برای بدست آوردن معلومات از ادارات دیگر.
- شما می توانید آفیسران وزارت را در سرعت بخشیدن طی مراحل کیس تان از طریق زیر کمک کنید:
- ارائه نمودن معلومات مکمل و صادقانه در مصاحبه تان
  - ارائه نمودن هر گونه شواهد مستند در حمایت از تقاضاهای تان
  - ارائه نمودن هر گونه اسنادی که هویت و نسبت های خانوادگی تان را تصدیق نماید (به عنوان مثال، پاسپورت، تصدیق تولد یا نکاحنامه، یا تذکره نامه، بشمول کاپی هایی که از خانه فرستاده شده باشند).

اگر من پناهنده شناخته شوم، چه واقع می شود؟

اگر تعیین شود که شما پناهنده هستید، شما همچنان ضرورت دارید تا قناعت بررسی های صحت، شخصیت و امنیت را بدست آورید قبل از اینکه برایتان ویزه اعطا شود. این بررسی ها توسط ادارات دیگر استرالیایی صورت می گیرد و می تواند مدتی را در برگیرد.

اگر شما قناعت این بررسی ها را بدست آورید، کیس شما به (وزیر) مهاجرت و تابعیت راجع خواهد شد، با این سفارش که وزیر به شما اجازه دهد تا برای ویزه محافظت درخواست نمایند. در صورتیکه شما در درخواست تان برای ویزه موفق شوید، برای شما ویزه دائمی داده خواهد شد تا در استرالیا بود و باش کنید. شما همچنان در قسمت مسکن گزینی در جامعه استرالیا کمک دریافت خواهید کرد.

اگر من پناهنده شناخته نشوم، چه واقع می شود؟

در صورتی که آفیسر وزارت در مورد پناهنده بودن شما متقین نباشد، کیس شما به ارزیابی محافظت مستقل فرستاده خواهد شد. یک کاپی از سوابق ارزیابی به شما داده خواهد شد، که دلایل این نتیجه گیری را توضیح می دهد.

ارزیابی کننده که مستقل از وزارت می باشد، کیس شما را مورد تجدید نظر قرار خواهد داد. شما می توانید به ارزیابی کننده مستقل معلومات جدیدی فراهم کنید و به هر بخش از سوابق ارزیابی تان که با آن مخالف هستید، پاسخ بگویید. ارزیابی کننده مستقل با شما مصاحبه خواهد کرد، مگر اینکه آنها بر اساس معلوماتی که از قبل دریافت نموده اند، تصمیم بگیرند که شما پناهنده هستید. وکیل شما در جریان این پروسه به شما کمک خواهد کرد.

در صورتیکه شما ارزیابی محافظت مستقل را نمی خواهید و خوش دارید که به کشور اصلی تان برگردید، می توانید هر وقتی که بخواهید این کار را انجام دهید. لطفاً در این باره با مدیر کیس تان صحبت کنید.

ارزیابی محافظت مستقل چه مدتی را دربر خواهد گرفت؟

ارزیابی کننده گان مستقل سعی می کنند تا کیس شما را به زود ترین فرصت ممکن ارزیابی کنند. هر کیس به شکل انفرادی مورد ارزیابی قرار می گیرد و بعضی کیس ها ممکن است نسبت به دیگران وقت بیشتری را مصرف کنند. دولت استرالیا تعداد ارزیابی کننده گان مستقل موجود را افزایش می دهد تا در انجام پروسه کمک نمایند.

شما توسط کشتی رسیده اید و خاطر نشان نموده اید که در جستجوی حفاظت در استرالیا هستید. این برگه معلوماتی در دانستن و درک این امر به شما کمک خواهد کرد که ادعای محافظت شما چگونه ارزیابی خواهد شد.

استرالیا از چه کسی محافظت می کند؟

استرالیا به مردمانی حفاظت می دهد که تحت کنوانسیون سال 1951 پناهندگان سازمان ملل متحد به حیث پناهنده شناخته می شوند. هر کسی مستحق محافظت در استرالیا نیست، حتی اگر شما از کشوری آمده باشید که در آنجا خشونت و بی امنیتی وجود داشته باشد.

بر طبق کنوانسیون پناهندگان، پناهنده کسی است که در خارج از کشور شان باشند و اینکه نمی توانند و یا نمی خواهند که به کشور شان برگردند بخاطر اینکه ترس اصلی و اساسی دارند که مورد آذیت و آزار قرار خواهند گرفت به دلایل نژاد، مذهب، ملیت، عقیده سیاسی یا عضویت در یک گروه بخصوص اجتماعی.

استرالیا چگونه تصمیم می گیرد که اگر من پناهنده هستم؟

وزارت مهاجرت و تابعیت کیس شما را از طریق پروسه "تعیین کردن مکلفیت های محافظت" (Protection Obligations Determination - POD) ارزیابی خواهد کرد. قدم اول در این پروسه عبارت از ارزیابی توسط یک آفیسر تعلیم دیده وزارت است که پناهنده بودن شما را تعیین می کند.

شما باید معلومات درستی به آفیسر وزارت بدهید، در باره اینکه شما کی هستید، چگونه به استرالیا آمده اید، و اینکه شما چرا در جستجوی محافظت هستید. این کار از طریق بیان تحریری ادعا و یک مصاحبه صورت می گیرد. این مهم است که شما حقیقت را بگوئید و معلومات را هر قدر بیشتر و زودتر که امکان داشته باشد ارائه نمایید.

آیا در مورد کیس خود کمک دریافت کرده می توانم؟

وزارت مهاجرت و تابعیت برای شما یک وکیل مسلکی و مستقل مهاجرت مهیا خواهد کرد تا در آماده ساختن کیس تان به شما کمک نمایند. وکیل پروسه را به شما توضیح خواهد داد، در نوشتن شرح تحریری ادعای تان به شما کمک خواهد کرد، و در جریان مصاحبه شما را همراهی خواهد کرد.

وکیل مهاجرت شما توسط وزارت مهاجرت و تابعیت استخدام نشده است، و این تصمیم را که آیا شما پناهنده هستید یا نه، نمی گیرد. شما مکلف به پرداخت مصارف در بدل خدمات وکیل نیستید.

از چه معلوماتی درمورد تصمیم گیری کیس من استفاده می شود؟

آفیسران وزارت معیارهای موجود در کنوانسیون پناهندگان، قوانین مربوطه استرالیا، تمام معلوماتی را که شما ارائه داده اید، و معلومات در باره شرایط فعلی کشور تان را مدنظر می گیرند. افسران در باره صحت بودن، مربوط بودن، قابل باور بودن و کیفیت آن اطمینان می گیرند، قبل از آنکه در ارزیابی کیس شما مورد استفاده قرار گیرند.

وزارت کیس من را چگونه بررسی خواهد کرد؟

عموماً کیس ها به اساس نوبت رسیدن آنها بررسی می شوند اما حق اولویت همیشه به موکلین آسیب پذیر، مانند گروه های افراد کم سن بدون همراه و خانواده ها داده می شود.

این مهم است که بدانید که هر کیس به شکل انفرادی ارزیابی می شود و بعضی از آنها ممکن است نسبت به دیگران وقت بیشتری را دربر بگیرد.

ஆஸ்திரேலியாவில் பாதுகாப்பைக் கோருதல்

பாதுகாப்புக் கடப்பாடுகள் தீர்மான நடைமுறையின் கீழ் மதிப்பீடு செய்யப்பட்ட, கடல்வழியாக விதிமுறைகளுக்கு மாறாக வந்திறங்கியவர்களுக்கான தகவல்கள்

நீங்கள் ஆஸ்திரேலியாவுக்கு படகு மூலமாக வந்துள்ளீர்கள் மற்றும் நீங்கள் ஆஸ்திரேலியாவின் பாதுகாப்பை கோருகிறீர்கள் எனக் குறிப்பிட்டுள்ளீர்கள். பாதுகாப்புக்கான உங்களுடைய கோரல்கள் எவ்வாறு மதிப்பீடு செய்யப்படும் என்பதை நீங்கள் புரிந்துகொள்ள இந்த தகவல் தான் உதவிடும்.

ஆஸ்திரேலியா யார் யாருக்கு பாதுகாப்பு அளிக்கிறது?

ஐக்கிய நாடுகள் அகதிகள் சாசனம் 1951யின் கீழ் அகதிகளாக கண்டறியப்படும் மக்களுக்கு ஆஸ்திரேலியா பாதுகாப்பை அளிக்கிறது. அகதி தகுதிநிலை பெறுவதற்கு அனைவருமே தகுதிபெறுவதில்லை. வன்முறை அல்லது பாதுகாப்புக் குறைபாடு உள்ள ஒரு நாட்டிலிருந்து நீங்கள் வந்தாலும் கூட.

அகதிகள் சாசனத்தின்படி, அகதி என்பவர் தன்னுடைய நாட்டை விட்டு வெளியேறிய ஒரு நபராவார் மற்றும் தன்னுடைய இனம், மதம், நாட்டினம், அரசியல் கருத்து அல்லது ஒரு குறிப்பிட்ட சமூகக் குழுவில் உறுப்பினராக இருப்பது போன்ற காரணத்தால், தான் கொடுமைப்படுத்தப்படுவேன் என்று பயப்படுவதன் காரணமாக, மீண்டும் தன்னுடைய நாட்டுக்குத் திரும்பிச் செல்ல இயலாத அல்லது விரும்பாத ஒரு நபராவார்.

நான் ஒரு அகதி தான் என்று எவ்வாறு ஆஸ்திரேலியா தீர்மானம் செய்கிறது?

குடியேற்றம் மற்றும் குடியுரிமைத் துறை (குடிவரவுத் துறை) உங்கள் வழக்கை பாதுகாப்புக் கடப்பாடுகள் தீர்மான நடைமுறை (POD) மூலமாக மதிப்பீடு செய்யும். இந்த நடைமுறையின் முதல் பகுதி ஒரு பயிற்சி பெற்ற குடிவரவுத் துறை அலுவலரால் நீங்கள் ஒரு அகதி தானா என்பதை தீர்மானம் செய்வதேயாகும்.

நீங்கள் யார், எவ்வாறு ஆஸ்திரேலியாவிற்கு வந்தீர்கள், மற்றும் ஏன் பாதுகாப்பைக் கோருகிறீர்கள் என்பது குறித்த சரியான தகவல்களை நீங்கள் குடிவரவுத் துறை அதிகாரியிடம் அளிக்க வேண்டியிருக்கும். இது ஒரு எழுத்துப்பூர்வமான கோரல் அறிக்கை மற்றும் ஒரு நேர்காணல் வாயிலாக மேற்கொள்ளப்படும். நீங்கள் உண்மையை கூறுவதும் கூடுமான வரையில் அதிகத் தகவல்களை அளிப்பதும் முக்கியமாகும்.

என்னுடைய வழக்கு தொடர்பாக எனக்கு உதவி கிடைக்குமா?

உங்கள் வழக்கிற்காக உங்களை தயாராக்குவதற்கு உதவ குடிவரவுத் துறை உங்களுக்காக தொழில்முறையிலான, சுதந்திரமான குடிப்பெயர்ச்சி முகவர் ஒருவரை வழங்கும். அம்முகவர் செயல்முறை குறித்து உங்களுக்கு விளக்குவார், உங்களுடைய கோரல் அறிக்கையை எழுத உங்களுக்கு உதவுவார், மற்றும் நேர்காணலுக்கு உங்களுடன் வருவார்.

உங்களுடைய குடிப்பெயர்ச்சி முகவர் குடிவரவுத் துறையால் பணியில் அமர்த்தப்படுவதில்லை, மற்றும் அவர் நீங்கள் ஒரு அகதி தானா என்பதை முடிவு செய்வதில்லை. நீங்கள் அம்முகவரின் சேவைகளுக்காக பணம் செலுத்த வேண்டிய அவசியமில்லை.

என்னுடைய வழக்கை முடிவு செய்வதற்கு என்ன தகவல்கள் பயன்படுத்தப்படுகிறது?

அகதிகள் சாசனம், தொடர்புடைய ஆஸ்திரேலியச் சட்டம், நீங்கள் அளிக்கின்ற அனைத்து தகவல்கள் மற்றும் உங்களுடைய சொந்த நாட்டில் தற்போது நிலவும் சூழ்நிலை குறித்த பலதரப்பட்ட தகவல்கள் ஆகியவற்றை குடிவரவுத் துறை அதிகாரி கருத்தில் எடுத்துக் கொள்கிறார். உங்கள் வழக்கை மதிப்பீடு செய்ய இத்தகவல்களைப் குடிவரவுத் துறை பயன்படுத்துவதற்கு முன்பாக இவற்றின் துல்லியம், நம்பகத்தன்மை மற்றும் நடப்பு ஆகியற்றை உறுதி செய்துகொள்கிறது.

என்னுடைய வழக்கை எவ்வாறு குடிவரவுத் துறை செயல்முறைப் படுத்தும்?

பொதுவாக, நீங்கள் ஆஸ்திரேலியாவிற்கு வந்திறங்கிய வரிசை முறைப்படி வழக்குகள் செயல்முறைக்கு எடுக்கப்படும், ஆனால் துணையிலாத பருவமடையாதவர்கள் மற்றும் குடும்பக் குழுக்கள் போன்ற பிறரை எளிதில் நம்பக்கூடிய பலவீனமான வாடிக்கையாளர்களுக்கே எப்பொழுதும் முன்னுரிமை அளிக்கப்படும்.

ஒவ்வொரு வழக்கும் தனித்தனியாக மதிப்பீடு செய்யப்படுகிறது மற்றும் சில வழக்குகள் மற்றதைக் காட்டிலும் அதிக காலத்தை எடுத்துக்கொள்ளக் கூடும் என்பதை அறிந்துகொள்வது மிகவும் முக்கியமாகும். அதற்கான காரணங்கள்:

- குடிவரவுத் துறை அலுவலரால் மேற்கொண்டு கூடுதலாக ஆய்வு செய்யப்பட வேண்டிய தேவையுள்ள சிக்கலான கோரல்கள்
- உங்களுடைய அடையாளம் அல்லது நாட்டினத்தை தீர்மானிப்பதில் சிரமம்
- மற்ற முகமைகளிடம் இருந்து தகவல்களைப் பெறுவதற்கான தேவை.

நீங்கள் கீழ்க்கண்டவற்றின் மூலம் உங்கள் வழக்கை குடிவரவுத் துறை அலுவலர் வேகமாக செயல்முறைப்படுத்த உதவ முடியும்:

- நேர்காணலின் போது உண்மையான மற்றும் முழுமையான தகவல்களை கொடுப்பது
- உங்களுடைய கோரல்களை ஆதரிக்கும் ஏதேனும் ஆவணங்கள் அல்லது சான்றுகளை அளிப்பது
- உங்களுடைய அடையாளம் மற்றும் குடும்ப உறவுமுறைகளை நிரூபணம் செய்வதற்காக ஏதேனும் ஆவணங்களை அளிப்பது (உதாரணமாக, கடவுச் சீட்டுகள், பிறப்பு மற்றும் திருமணச் சான்றிதழ்கள் அல்லது அடையாள அட்டைகள், சொந்த நாட்டிலிருந்து அனுப்பி வைக்கப்பட்ட நகல்கள் உள்பட).

நான் ஒரு அகதி என்று கண்டறியப்பட்டால் என்ன நடக்கும்?

நீங்கள் ஒரு அகதி என்று கண்டறியப்படுகிறீர்கள் எனில், உங்களுக்கு ஒரு நுழையுரிமை வழங்கப்படுவதற்கு முன்பு நீங்கள், உங்களுடைய உடல்நலம், குணநலன், மற்றும் பாதுகாப்புச் சோதனைகள் திருப்தியாக உள்ளன என்பதை உறுதிப்படுத்த வேண்டியிருக்கும். இந்த சோதனைகளை ஆஸ்திரேலிய முகமைகள் செய்திடும் மற்றும் இதற்கு சிறிது காலம் ஆகலாம்.

இச்சோதனைகளை நீங்கள் வெற்றிகரமாக நிறைவேற்றினால், நீங்கள் பாதுகாப்பு நுழையுரிமை ஒன்றுக்காக விண்ணப்பிப்பதற்கு அமைச்சு அனுமதியளிக்க வேண்டி உங்களுடைய வழக்கு குடியேற்றம் மற்றும் குடியுரிமைத் துறைக்கான அமைச்சிடம் (குடிவரவு அமைச்சு) குடிவரவுத் துறை பரிந்துரைக்கும். உங்களுடைய விண்ணப்பம் ஏற்றுக்கொள்ளப்பட்டால், நீங்கள் ஆஸ்திரேலியாவில் நிரந்தரமாக தங்குவதற்கான நுழையுரிமை ஒன்று உங்களுக்கு வழங்கப்படும். மேலும் நீங்கள் ஆஸ்திரேலிய சமுதாயத்திற்குள் நிலைகொள்வதற்கான உதவியையும் பெறுவீர்கள்.

நான் ஒரு அகதி அல்ல என்று கண்டறியப்பட்டால் என்ன நடக்கும்?

நீங்கள் ஒரு அகதி தான் என்று குடிவரவுத் துறை அலுவலர் திருப்தியடையவில்லை எனில், உங்களுடைய வழக்கு ஒரு தனிப்பட்ட பாதுகாப்பு மதிப்பீட்டுக்காக பரிந்துரைக்கப்படும். அக்கண்டுபிடிப்புகளுக்கான காரணங்கள் அடங்கிய நகல் ஒன்று உங்களுக்கு வழங்கப்படும்.

குடிவரவுத் துறையைச் சாராத மதிப்பீட்டாளர் ஒருவர் உங்களுடைய வழக்கை மேலாய்வு செய்வார். நீங்கள் இந்த தனிப்பட்ட மதிப்பீட்டாளரிடம் புதிய தகவல்களை அளிக்க முடியும் மற்றும் மதிப்பீட்டுப் பதிலில் இருக்கும் ஏதேனும் விவரங்களை நீங்கள் ஒப்புக்கொள்ள மறுப்பதற்கான காரணங்களையும் விளக்க முடியும். குடிவரவுத் துறை ஏற்கனவே பெற்ற தகவல்களின் அடிப்படையில் நீங்கள் ஒரு அகதி தான் என்று அவர்களால் கண்டறிய இயலவில்லை எனில் உங்களை தனிப்பட்ட மதிப்பீட்டாளர் நேர்காணல் செய்திடுவார். உங்களுடைய முகவர் இந்த செயல்முறையில் உங்களுக்கு உதவிடுவார்.

நீங்கள் ஒரு தனிப்பட்ட பாதுகாப்பு மதிப்பீட்டை விரும்பவில்லை மற்றும் உங்களுடைய சொந்த நாட்டிற்கு திரும்ப விரும்புகிறீர்கள் எனில், அவ்வாறே நீங்கள் எந்த நேரத்திலும் செய்யலாம். இது குறித்து உங்களுடைய வழக்கு மேலாளரிடம் பேசவும்.

தனிப்பட்ட பாதுகாப்பு மதிப்பீட்டுக்கு எவ்வளவு காலம் பிடிக்கும்?

தனிப்பட்ட மதிப்பீட்டாளர்கள் உங்கள் வழக்கை கூடுமான வரையில் விரைவாக செயல்படுத்த முயற்சிக்கிறார்கள். ஒவ்வொரு வழக்கும் தனித்தனியாக மதிப்பீடு செய்யப்படுகிறது மற்றும் சில வழக்குகள் மற்றவற்றைக் காட்டிலும் அதிக காலம் எடுத்துக் கொள்ளக்கூடும். ஆஸ்திரேலிய அரசு இந்த செயல்முறையில் உதவுவதற்கு தனிப்பட்ட மதிப்பீட்டாளர்களின் எண்ணிக்கையை அதிகரித்து வருகிறது.

தனிப்பட்ட பாதுகாப்பு மதிப்பீட்டுக்குப் பிறகு என்ன நடக்கும்?

இந்த தனிப்பட்ட மதிப்பீட்டாளர் நீங்கள் ஒரு அகதியா இல்லையா என்பது குறித்த பரிந்துரை ஒன்றை குடிவரவுத் துறைக்கு அனுப்பி வைக்கும். குடிவரவுத் துறை பிறகு உங்கள் வழக்கை செயல்படுத்துவதைத் தொடரும்.

நீங்கள் ஒரு அகதி எனக் கண்டறியப்பட்டால், 'நான் ஒரு அகதி என்று கண்டறியப்பட்டால் என்ன நடக்கும்?' என்ற தலைப்பில் குறிப்பிடப்பட்டுள்ளவாறு செயல்முறை தொடரும்.

நீங்கள் ஒரு அகதியாக கண்டறியப்படவில்லை எனில், நீங்கள் ஆஸ்திரேலியாவை விட்டு வெளியேறத் தயாராகுவதற்கு குடிவரவுத் துறையுடன் இணைந்து செயல்பட வேண்டியது கட்டாயமாகும்.

உங்கள் வழக்கில் சட்டப் பிழை ஒன்று செய்யப்பட்டுள்ளது என நீங்கள் நினைத்தால், நீங்கள் நீதிமன்ற மேலாய்வுக்காக விண்ணப்பிக்க உங்களுக்கு உரிமையுள்ளது. உங்கள் வழக்கில் ஏதேனும் சட்டப் பிழைகள் இருக்கின்றனவா என்பதை தீர்மானிப்பதற்கு குற்றவியல் நீதிபதி அல்லது நீதிபதி ஒருவரால் உங்கள் வழக்கு பரிசீலனை செய்யப்படும் செயல்முறையே நீதிமன்ற மேலாய்வு ஆகும். இது உங்கள் கோரிக்கைகளின் மேலாய்வு அல்ல, அல்லது நீங்கள் ஒரு அகதியா இல்லையா என்பதைத் தீர்மானிப்பதற்கானது அல்ல. அனைத்து நீதிமன்ற மேலாய்வு விண்ணப்பங்களும் வெற்றியடைவதற்கு வாய்ப்புள்ளது என்று கூறமுடியாது.

உங்கள் வழக்கில் சட்டப் பிழை ஒன்று செய்யப்பட்டுள்ளது என்பதை நீதிமன்றம் ஏற்றுக் கொண்டால், அவர்களால் உங்களுக்கு நுழையுரிமை ஒன்றை அளிக்க இயலாது. அவர்கள் உங்கள் வழக்கை ஒரு புதிய மதிப்பீட்டுக்காக குடிவரவுத் துறையிடம் திருப்பி அனுப்பிடுவார்கள்.

நீங்கள் நீதிமன்ற மேலாய்வை நாட முடிவு செய்கிறீர்கள் எனில், உங்களுடைய வழக்கை விசாரிக்க நீதிமன்றம் நீண்ட காலம் எடுத்துக் கொள்ளும் மற்றும் இந்த காலத்தில் நீங்கள் தடுப்புக் காவலிலேயே தங்க வைக்கப்படுவீர்கள்.

நீங்கள் நீதிமன்ற மேலாய்வை நாடவில்லை எனில், அல்லது உங்களுடைய நீதிமன்ற மேலாய்வு விண்ணப்பம் தோல்வியடைகிறதெனில், உங்கள் சொந்த நாட்டிற்கு உங்களை திருப்பியனுப்புவதற்கான ஏற்பாடுகளை குடிவரவுத் துறை செய்திடும்.

நீதிமன்ற மேலாய்வில் நான் உதவி பெற முடியுமா?

நீதிமன்ற மேலாய்வு விண்ணப்பம் ஒன்றைச் செய்யலாமா வேண்டாமா என்பது குறித்த சட்ட ஆலோசனையை உங்களுக்கு அளிப்பதற்கு, அல்லது விண்ணப்பம் ஒன்றைத் தாக்கல் செய்ய உங்களுக்கு உதவிட, குடிவரவுத் துறையினால் அளிக்கப்படும் குடிப்பெயர்ச்சி முகவர் உங்களுக்கு கிடைக்கப் பெறமாட்டார். ஒரு சட்ட உதவி ஆணையம் அல்லது சமுதாய சட்ட மையம் உங்களுக்கு இலவச ஆலோசனை அல்லது தகவல்களை அளிக்க இயலக் கூடும். சட்ட உதவி குறித்த தகவல்களையும் உங்களுடைய உள்ளூர் ஆணையத்தை எவ்வாறு தொடர்பு கொள்வது என்பது குறித்த தகவல்களையும் <http://www.nla.aust.net.au> என்ற இணையதளத்தில் பெறலாம்.

மற்ற சட்ட உதவிச் சேவைகள் குறித்த தகவல்கள் <http://www.accessjustice.gov.au> யில் கிடைக்கப்பெறுகின்றன.

மாற்றாக நீங்கள் ஒரு தனியார் வழக்கறிஞருக்கு பணம் செலுத்தி உங்களுக்குக் கையாடலுக்குக் கொள்ளலாம். வழக்கறிஞர் ஒருவரை நீங்கள் தொலைபேசிப் புத்தகம் அல்லது இணையத்தை பயன்படுத்தி கண்டறியலாம்.

எனக்கு மேலும் அதிக ஆலோசனை தேவைப்பட்டால் என்ன செய்வது?

உங்களுடைய வழக்கு குறித்து உங்களுக்கு ஏதேனும் கேள்விகள் இருந்தால், முதல் முறை உங்கள் குடியேற்ற முகவரை தான் நீங்கள் தொடர்புகொள்ள வேண்டும். உங்கள் வழக்கின் நிலை குறித்து உங்கள் முகவர் உங்களுக்கு தெரியப்படுத்துவார் மற்றும் குடிவரவுத் துறையால் அல்லது தனிப்பட்ட மதிப்பீட்டாளரால் கண்டறியப்படும் ஏதேனும் தகவல்களை உங்களுக்கு விளக்குவார்.

செயல்முறை குறித்த தகவல்களை உங்களுடைய வழக்கு மேலாளர் உங்களுக்கு அளித்து, நீங்கள் என்ன எதிர்பார்க்கலாம் என்பதை நீங்கள் புரிந்துகொள்ள உதவுவார் மற்றும் உங்களுடைய குடிவரவு நிலைமையைத் தீர்வு செய்வதற்கு குடிவரவுத் துறையுடன் இணைந்து பணிபுரிவதில் உங்களுக்கு உள்ள கடமையை விளக்குவார். வழக்கு மேலாளர்களால் குடிவரவு தொடர்பான ஆலோசனைகளை வழங்க முடியாது. உங்களுடைய அகதி கோரல்கள் குறித்த முடிவுகளை அவர்கள் எடுப்பதில்லை, ஆனால் உங்கள் வழக்கில் ஏதேனும் குறிப்பிடத்தகுந்த முன்னேற்றங்கள் அல்லது முடிவுகள் ஏற்பட்டால் அவை குறித்து உங்களுக்கு கூறுவார்கள்.

நான் புகார் ஒன்றைக் கொண்டிருந்தால் என்ன செய்வது?

உங்களுக்கு சேவை ஒன்றுடன் மகிழ்ச்சியில்லை என்றால் அல்லது நீங்கள் நியாயமற்ற முறையில் நடத்தப்பட்டுள்ளீர்கள் என நீங்கள் நம்பினால், உங்களுடைய வழக்கு மேலாளரிடமோ அல்லது சிறைச் சேவைகள் அதிகாரி ஒருவரிடமோ பேச வேண்டும். அவர்களின் பதிலில் நீங்கள் மகிழ்ச்சியடையவில்லை எனில், குடிவரவுத் துறையில்

உங்களுடைய குடியேற்ற முகவரால் வழங்கப்படும் சேவைகளுடன் நீங்கள் மகிழ்ச்சியடையவில்லை எனில், நீங்கள் இவருக்கு எழுதலாம்:

குடிவரவுத் துறை உங்கள் புகாரை விசாரிக்கும். அப்புகார் நிரூபிக்கப்பட்டால், உங்களுக்கு வேறொரு குடியேற்ற முகவர் வழங்கப்படலாம்.

பின்வரும் முகமைகள் உங்களுக்கு ஆலோசனை வழங்க அல்லது நீங்கள் கொண்டிருக்கக்கூடிய ஏதேனும் புகார்கள் தொடர்பான உதவிகளை வழங்க இயலக் கூடும்:

پناهندگی در استرالیا

اطلاعات مخصوص تازه واردان غیرقانونی از راه دریایی، که طبق روند تصمیم گیری تعهدات پناهندگی ارزیابی می شوند

اداره مهاجرت چگونه پرونده من را ارزیابی می کند؟

عموماً پرونده ها به ترتیب تاریخ ورود بررسی می شوند اما اولویت همیشه با پرونده های متقاضیان آسیب پذیر است، مانند افراد نابالغ بدون همراه و گروه های خانوادگی.

مهم است بدانید که هر پرونده به صورت مجزا مورد بررسی قرار می گیرد و تصمیم گیری درباره برخی پرونده ها ممکن است بیش از سایرین به طول بینجامد. دلایل این امر عبارتند از:

- ادعاهای پیچیده که نیاز به بررسی بیشتر از سوی مسئولان سازمانی دارند
- مشکل در تعیین هویت یا ملیت شما
- نیاز به کسب اطلاعات از سایر نهادها.

شما می توانید با اقدامات زیر به مسئول سازمانی خود کمک کنید تا هر چه سریعتر پرونده شما را بررسی نماید:

- ارائه اطلاعات کامل و صادقانه در جلسه مصاحبه
- ارائه هرگونه سند یا مدرک که ادعای شما را اثبات کند
- ارائه هرگونه سندی که هویت و نسبت های خانوادگی شما را ثابت کند (مانند، پاسپورت، گواهی تولد و ازدواج، یا کارت شناسایی، شامل نسخه های ارسالی از کشورتان).

اگر مشخص شود که پناهنده هستم چه اتفاقی خواهد افتاد؟

اگر مشخص شود که پناهنده هستید، پیش از اینکه ویزا به شما اعطا شود، باید مشخص شود که شرایط سلامتی، شخصیتی و امنیتی را نیز دارا هستید. این بررسی ها توسط سایر نهادهای استرالیایی انجام می شوند و ممکن است مدتی به طول بینجامد.

اگر این بررسی ها را با موفقیت پشت سر بگذارید، اداره مهاجرت به وزیر مهاجرت و تابعیت (وزیر) توصیه می کند که شما مجاز هستید برای ویزای پناهندگی درخواست ارائه دهید. اگر درخواست شما موفقیت آمیز باشد، ویزای اقامت دائم در استرالیا به شما اعطا خواهد شد. شما همچنین برای مستقر شدن در جامعه استرالیا کمک دریافت خواهید کرد.

اگر مشخص شود که پناهنده نیستم چه اتفاقی خواهد افتاد؟

اگر مسئولان سازمانی متقاعد نشوند که شما پناهنده هستید، پرونده شما برای یک ارزیابی مستقل پناهندگی ارجاع داده می شود. یک نسخه از دلیل یافته های این ارزیابی در اختیار شما قرار خواهد گرفت.

یک ارزیاب مستقل از اداره مهاجرت پرونده شما را بررسی خواهد کرد. شما می توانید اطلاعات جدیدی را به ارزیاب مستقل ارائه دهید و به هر موردی که در سابقه ارجاع شما وجود دارد و با آن مخالف هستید پاسخ دهید. ارزیاب مستقل با شما مصاحبه خواهد کرد، مگر اینکه بر اساس اطلاعاتی که پیش از این دریافت کرده به این نتیجه برسد که شما پناهنده هستید. نماینده تان در این روند به شما کمک خواهد کرد.

اگر مایل به برگزاری یک ارزیابی مستقل پناهندگی نیستید و می خواهید به کشور خود بازگردید، در هر زمان قادر به انجام این کار هستید. لطفاً درباره این موضوع با مسئول پرونده خود صحبت کنید.

شما با قایق وارد استرالیا شده اید و قصد خود را برای پناهندگی در استرالیا اعلام نموده اید. این برگه اطلاعاتی به شما کمک می کند تا از نحوه ارزیابی پرونده پناهندگی خود آگاه شوید.

استرالیا به چه افرادی پناهندگی می دهد؟

استرالیا به افرادی پناهندگی می دهد که طبق معاهده پناهندگان مصوب سال 1951 پناهنده شناخته شوند. همه افراد شرایط کسب پناهندگی در استرالیا را ندارند، حتی اگر از کشوری آمده باشند که در آن خشونت و عدم امنیت حاکم باشد.

طبق معاهده پناهندگان، پناهنده فردی است که خارج از کشور خود به سر می برد و به دلیل هراس موجه از قرار گرفتن تحت پیگرد قانونی به واسطه نژاد، مذهب، ملیت، عقیده سیاسی یا عضویت در گروه اجتماعی خاص، قادر یا مایل نیست به کشور خود بازگردد.

استرالیا چگونه درباره پناهندگی من تصمیم می گیرد؟

اداره مهاجرت و تابعیت پرونده شما را از طریق روند تصمیم گیری تعهدات پناهندگی (POD) مورد بررسی قرار می دهد. بخش اول این روند عبارت است از ارزیابی توسط یکی از مسئولان آموزش دیده سازمانی تا مشخص شود که شما پناهنده محسوب می شوید یا خیر.

شما باید اطلاعات دقیق و صحیح مربوط به هویت خود، نحوه ورود به استرالیا، و علت درخواست پناهندگی را در اختیار مسئول سازمانی قرار دهید. این کار با تنظیم اظهارنامه کتبی و انجام مصاحبه صورت خواهد گرفت. بیان حقیقت از سوی شما و ارائه هر چه بیشتر و سریعتر اطلاعات حائز اهمیت بسیار است.

آیا در رابطه با پرونده خود کمکی دریافت خواهم کرد؟

اداره مهاجرت یک نماینده متخصص و مستقل در زمینه مهاجرت به شما معرفی خواهد نمود تا در آماده کردن پرونده به شما کمک کند. این نماینده روند کار را برای شما شرح خواهد داد، در نوشتن اظهارنامه به شما کمک کرده، و شما را در جلسه مصاحبه همراهی خواهد نمود.

نماینده مهاجرتی شما کارمند اداره مهاجرت نیست، و تصمیمی در زمینه پناهنده بودن شما اتخاذ نمی کند. شما نباید پولی برای خدمات این نماینده پرداخت نمایید.

برای تصمیم گیری درباره پرونده من از چه اطلاعاتی استفاده خواهد شد؟

مسئولان سازمانی مواردی از قبیل ضوابط معاهده پناهندگان، قوانین مربوطه استرالیا، کلیه اطلاعاتی که ارائه داده اید و مجموعه گسترده ای از اطلاعات موجود درباره شرایط کشور شما را در نظر خواهند گرفت. اداره مهاجرت پیش از استفاده از این اطلاعات جهت ارزیابی پرونده تان، اطمینان حاصل می کند که این اطلاعات دقیق، معتبر و جدید باشند.

ارزیابی مستقل پناهندگی چه مدت به طول می انجامد؟

ارزیابان مستقل سعی می کنند هر چه سریعتر پرونده شما را بررسی نمایند. هر پرونده به صورت مجزا مورد بررسی قرار می گیرد و تصمیم گیری درباره برخی پرونده ها ممکن است بیش از سایرین به طول بیانجامد. دولت استرالیا تعداد ارزیابان مستقلی که به روند انجام این کار کمک می کنند را افزایش می دهد.

پس از ارزیابی مستقل پناهندگی چه اتفاقی می افتد؟

ارزیاب مستقل نظر خود مبنی بر پناهنده بودن یا نبودن شما را در قالب توصیه ای به اداره مهاجرت اعلام می کند. سپس اداره مهاجرت رسیدگی به پرونده شما را ادامه خواهد داد.

اگر مشخص شود که پناهنده هستید، روند کار مطابق با آنچه در بخش "اگر مشخص شود که پناهنده هستم چه اتفاقی خواهد افتاد؟" ذکر شد، ادامه خواهد یافت.

اگر مشخص شود که پناهنده نیستید، باید برای ترک استرالیا با اداره مهاجرت همکاری کنید.

اگر معتقد هستید که خطای قانونی درباره پرونده شما به وقوع پیوسته است، حق دارید برای بازبینی قضایی درخواست ارائه دهید. بازبینی قضایی بدین صورت است که دادگاه تصمیم می گیرد آیا خطای قانونی در ارزیابی پرونده شما صورت گرفته است یا خیر. این روند، بازبینی پرونده شما یا تصمیم گیری درباره پناهنده بودن یا نبودن شما نخواهد بود. لزوماً همه درخواستهای بازبینی قضایی موفقیت آمیز نخواهند بود.

اگر دادگاه موافقت کند که خطای قانونی صورت گرفته است، آنها قادر نخواهند بود ویزای اقامت به شما اعطا کنند. آنها پرونده شما را برای ارزیابی جدید به اداره مهاجرت باز می گردانند.

اگر قصد درخواست بازبینی قضایی را نداشته باشید، ممکن است مدت زمان زیادی طول بکشد تا دادگاه پرونده شما را بررسی کند و در این مدت زمان شما باید در بازداشتگاه مهاجران باقی بمانید.

اگر قصد درخواست بازبینی قضایی را نداشته باشید، یا بازبینی قضایی شما موفقیت آمیز نباشد، اداره مهاجرت برای بازگشت شما به کشورتان برنامه ریزی خواهد کرد.

آیا می توانم برای روند بازبینی قضایی کمک دریافت کنم؟

نماینده مهاجرتی که از سوی اداره مهاجرت به شما معرفی شده است برای ارائه مشاوره حقوقی در زمینه ارائه یا عدم ارائه درخواست بازبینی قضایی، یا کمک در زمینه ارائه درخواست در دسترس نخواهد بود. یک کمیسیون کمک های حقوقی یا یک مرکز حقوقی اجتماعی ممکن است بتواند مشاوره و اطلاعات رایگان در اختیار شما قرار دهد. شما می توانید اطلاعات مربوط به کمک حقوقی و نحوه تماس با کمیسیون محلی خود را در این وب سایت مشاهده کنید.

<http://www.nla.aust.net.au>

اطلاعات مربوط به خدمات کمک حقوقی در وب سایت <http://www.accesstojustice.gov.au> موجود است.

در غیر اینصورت، می توانید هزینه یک وکیل خصوصی را پرداخت نمایید. شما می توانید با استفاده از راهنمای تلفن یا اینترنت یک وکیل پیدا کنید.

اگر به مشاوره بیشتری نیاز داشته باشم باید چه کار کنم؟

اگر سوالی درباره پرونده خود دارید، باید ابتدا با نماینده مهاجرتی خود تماس بگیرید. نماینده تان شما را از روند پیشرفت پرونده تان مطلع می سازد و یافته های اداره مهاجرت یا ارزیاب مستقل را برای شما شرح خواهد داد.

مسئول پرونده تان اطلاعاتی درباره روند کار به شما ارائه خواهد داد، آنچه را که باید انتظار داشته باشید برای شما شرح خواهد داد و مسئولیت های شما در همکاری با سازمان جهت مشخص شدن وضعیت پناهندگی تان را برای تان توضیح خواهد داد. مسئولان پرونده نمی توانند در زمینه مهاجرت به شما مشاوره ارائه دهند. آنها درباره ادعای پناهندگی شما تصمیم گیری نمی کنند، اما هرگونه پیشرفت یا تصمیمی مربوط به پرونده تان را به اطلاع شما خواهند رساند.

اگر شکایتی داشته باشم چه کار باید بکنم؟

اگر از خدماتی رضایت ندارید یا تصور می کنید ناعادلانه با شما رفتار شده است، باید با مسئول پرونده یا مسئول خدمت بازداشتگاه صحبت کنید. اگر از پاسخ آنها نیز رضایت نداشتید، می توانید از طریق شماره 133 177 با واحد نظرسنجی جامع اداره مهاجرت تماس بگیرید یا فرم آنلاین نظرات را در این آدرس تکمیل نمایید

www.immi.gov.au/contacts/forms/services/

السعي إلى الحماية في أستراليا

معلومات لمن يصلون عبر البحر بشكل غير نظامي والذين تم تقييمهم بموجب عملية تحديد التزامات الحماية

لقد وصلت بالمركب وأشرت إلى أنك تسعى للحماية في أستراليا. سوف تساعدك ورقة المعلومات هذه على فهم كيفية تقييم طلباتك للحصول على الحماية.

من هم الذين تمنحهم أستراليا الحماية؟

توفر أستراليا الحماية للأشخاص الذين يثبت أنهم لاجئون بموجب معاهدة اللاجئين لسنة 1951. ليس جميع الأشخاص موهلون للحصول على حماية في أستراليا، حتى إذا كنت قد قدمت من دولة يوجد بها عنف أو انعدام أمن.

ووفق معاهدة اللاجئين، فإن اللاجئ هو شخص يوجد خارج دولته وغير قادر أو غير راغب في العودة بسبب خوف قائم على أسس قوية من الاضطهاد بسبب العرق أو الدين أو الجنسية أو الآراء السياسية أو الانتماء لمجموعة اجتماعية معينة.

كيف تقرر أستراليا ما إذا كنت لاجئاً أم لا؟

سوف تتولى وزارة الهجرة والجنسية تقييم حالتك من خلال عملية تحديد التزامات الحماية (POD). والجزء الأول من هذه العملية هو إجراء تقييم من قبل مسؤول مدرب في الوزارة لتحديد ما إذا كنت لاجئاً أم لا.

سيتعين عليك إعطاء مسؤول الوزارة معلومات صحيحة بشأن هويتك وكيفية قدومك إلى أستراليا وسبب سعيك وراء الحماية. ويتم القيام بهذا من خلال إفادة خطية بالمطالبات ومقابلة شخصية. ومن الأهمية أن تقول الحقيقة وأن توفر أكبر قدر من المعلومات بأسرع وقت ممكن.

هل سأحصل على مساعدة في قضيتي؟

سوف توفر لك الوزارة وكيل هجرة محترف ومستقل لمساعدتك على إعداد قضيتك. وسوف يشرح لك الوكيل العملية ويساعدك على كتابة بيان بالمطالبات، كما سيرافقك إلى المقابلة الشخصية.

وكيل الهجرة ليس موظفاً من قبل الوزارة، ولا يتخذ القرار بشأن ما إذا كنت لاجئاً أم لا. ولن يتعين عليك دفع أي رسوم مقابل خدمات الوكيل.

ما هي المعلومات المستخدمة لاتخاذ قرار في حالتني؟

ينظر مسؤولو الوزارة في معايير معاهدة اللاجئين والقانون الأسترالي ذي الصلة وكافة المعلومات التي تقدمها إلى جانب مجموعة كبيرة من المعلومات الحالية حول الأوضاع في دولتك. وتؤكد الوزارة من أن هذه المعلومات دقيقة وموثوقة وسارية قبل استخدامها لتقييم حالتك.

كيف ستنظر الوزارة في حالتني؟

يجري النظر في الحالات بشكل عام حسب الترتيب الزمني للوصول، لكن تُعطى الأولوية دائماً للعلاء الضعفاء، مثل القاصرين الذين لا يرافقهم أحد أو المجموعات العائلية.

من المهم معرفة أنه يجري تقييم كل حالة على حدة وأن بعض الحالات قد تستغرق مدة أطول من الحالات الأخرى. من بين أسباب هذا:

- المطالبات المعقدة التي تتطلب المزيد من البحث من قبل موظف في الوزارة
- الصعوبة في تحديد هويتك أو جنسيتك
- الحاجة للحصول على معلومات من وكالات أخرى.

يمكنك مساعدة مسؤول الوزارة للنظر في حالتك بأسرع وقت ممكن من خلال:

- إعطاء معلومات مستوفاة وصادقة في المقابلة معك
- توفير مستندات أو أدلة تدعم مطالباتك
- توفير مستندات تثبت هويتك وعلاقاتك العائلية (على سبيل المثال، جوازات السفر أو شهادات الميلاد والزواج أو بطاقات الهوية، بما في ذلك النسخ المرسلة من الوطن)

ما الذي يحدث إذا وُجد أنني لاجئ؟

إذا وُجد أنك لاجئ فعلياً، فسوف تحتاج أيضاً إلى الوفاء بمعايير الفحوصات الصحية وفحوصات حسن السير والسلوك والفحوصات الأمنية قبل أن يتم منحك التأشيرة. تُجري هذه الفحوصات وكالات أستراليا أخرى وقد تستغرق بعض الوقت.

إذا استوفيت معايير هذه الفحوصات، فسوف ترفع الوزارة توصياتها إلى وزير الهجرة والجنسية (الوزير) بأن يتم السماح لك بالتقدم بطلب للحصول على تأشيرة حماية. إذا نجح طلبك للحصول على تأشيرة، فسوف تحصل على تأشيرة دائمة للعيش في أستراليا. كما ستتلقى المساعدة للاستقرار في المجتمع الأسترالي.

ما الذي يحدث إذا وُجد أنني غير لاجئ؟

إذا لم يَنتَظِرَ موظف الوزارة بطلبك لاجئاً، فسوف تتم إحالة حالتك إلى تقييم مستقل للحماية. وسوف يتم إعطاؤك نسخة تتضمن أسباب ذلك الاستنتاج.

وسوف يقوم مقيم مستقل عن الوزارة بمراجعة حالتك. ويمكنك توفير معلومات جديدة إلى المقيم المستقل والرد على أي شيء أنت غير موافق عليه في سجل إحالتك. وسوف يقوم المقيم المستقل بإجراء مقابلة معك، ما لم يجد أنك لاجئ استناداً إلى المعلومات التي تلقاها بالفعل. وسوف يساعدك وكذلك في الإجراءات.

إذا لم تكن تريد إجراء تقييم مستقل للحماية وأردت العودة إلى دولتك الأم، فيمكنك القيام بذلك في أي وقت. يرجى التحدث إلى مدير حالتك حول هذا الأمر.

ما المدة التي سيستغرقها التقييم المستقل للحماية؟

يحاول المقيمون معالجة حالتك بأسرع وقت ممكن. ويتم تقييم كل حالة على حدة وقد تستغرق بعض الحالات وقتاً أطول من الحالات الأخرى. تعمل الحكومة الأسترالية على زيادة عدد المقيمين المستقلين المتاحين للمساعدة في هذه الإجراءات.

ما الذي يحدث بعد التقييم المستقل للحماية؟

سوف يقدم المقيمون توصيات إلى الوزارة حول ما إذا كنت لاجئاً أم لا. وسوف تواصل الوزارة بعد ذلك النظر في حالتك.

إذا وُجد أنك لاجئ، فسوف تستمر الإجراءات المبينة في القسم الوارد تحت عنوان "ما الذي يحدث إذا وُجد أنني لاجئ؟".

إذا وُجد أنك غير لاجئ، فيجب عليك أن تتعاون مع الوزارة من أجل الاستعداد لمغادرة أستراليا. إذا كنت ترى أن هناك خطأ قانوني قد تم في حالتك، فيحق لك التقدم بطلب للمراجعة القضائية. وفي حالة المراجعة القضائية، تنتظر المحكمة فيما إذا كان قد تم ارتكاب أي أخطاء قانونية في تقييم حالتك. وهي ليست مراجعة لمطالبك أو تقريراً لما إذا كنت لاجئاً أم لا. ومن غير المرجح أن تنجح جميع طلبات المراجعة القضائية.

إذا وافقت المحكمة على وقوع خطأ قانوني، فلن يكون بإمكانها منحك تأشيرة. وسوف تعيد قضيتك إلى الوزارة لإجراء تقييم جديد.

إذا قررت طلب مراجعة قضائية، فقد يستغرق الأمر بعض الوقت حتى تنتظر المحاكم قضيتك وسوف تظل في مركز الاحتجاز التابع لدائرة الهجرة أثناء هذه الفترة.

إذا لم تكن تسعى لمراجعة قضائية أو إذا لم ينجح طلب المراجعة القضائية الذي تقدمت به، فسوف تضع الوزارة خططا لإعادتك إلى دولتك الأم.

هل يمكنني الحصول على المساعدة في المراجعة القضائية؟

لن يكون وكيل الهجرة الذي وفرته الوزارة متاحاً لإعطائك مشورة قانونية بشأن تقديم طلب المراجعة القضائية من عدمه، أو مساعدتك على تقديم طلب. قد يكون بوسع لجنة مساعدات قانونية أو مركز قانوني مجتمعي تقديم استشارات أو معلومات مجانية إليك. يمكنك الحصول على معلومات حول المساعدات القانونية وكيفية الاتصال بلجنة محلية من على الموقع <http://www.nla.aust.net.au>.

تتوافر معلومات بشأن خدمات المساعدات القانونية الأخرى على <http://www.accesstojustice.gov.au>.

وخلافاً لذلك، فسوف تحتاج إلى دفع أتعاب محام خاص. يمكنك العثور على محام خاص باستخدام دليل الهاتف أو الإنترنت.

ماذا لو كنت بحاجة لاستشارات إضافية؟

إذا كانت لديك أسئلة بشأن حالتك، فيجب عليك الاتصال بوكيل الهجرة في المقام الأول. سوف يخطر وكيالك بالتقدم في حالتك ويبين لك أي نتائج تتوصل إليها الوزارة أو المقيم المستقل.

سوف يعطيك مدير حالتك معلومات بشأن الإجراءات ويساعدك على فهم ما تتوقعه ويبين لك مسؤوليتك في العمل مع الوزارة للتوصل لحل لوضعك من الهجرة. ولا يمكن لمدراء الحالات إعطائك استشارات حول الهجرة. وهم لا يتخذون القرارات بشأن مطالباتك المتعلقة بالهجرة، لكنهم سوف يخبرونك بأي تطورات أو قرارات مهمة في حالتك.

ماذا لو كانت لدي شكوى؟

إذا لم تكن راضياً عن الخدمة أو ترى أنك تلقيت معاملة غير عادلة، فينبغي عليك التحدث إلى مدير حالتك أو مسؤول خدمات الاحتجاز. وإذا لم تكن راضياً عن ردهم، فيمكنك الاتصال بوحدة التعقيبات الولية التابعة للوزارة على الرقم 133 177 أو استكمال نموذج التعقيبات على الإنترنت على www.immi.gov.au/contacts/forms/services/

إذا لم تكن راضياً عن الخدمات التي يقدمها وكيل الهجرة، فيمكنك الكتابة إلى:

Director, Client Support & Liaison Section
Department of Immigration and Citizenship
PO Box 25
Belconnen ACT 2616

سوف تقوم الوزارة بالتحقيق في الشكوى. وإذا كانت الشكوى مدعومة بالأدلة، فقد يتم تزويدك بوكيل هجرة مختلف.

قد يكون أيضاً بوسع الوكالات التالية مساعدتك في أي شكوى قد تكون لديك أو إبداء المشورة إليك:

Questions and Answers—The new Protection Obligations Determination (POD) process

What is the new Protection Obligations Determination (POD) process?

It is a new process designed to reduce the time taken to assess protection claims of irregular maritime arrivals (IMAs), and to ensure you are given an opportunity to respond to information adverse to your case before a decision is made.

All IMAs who arrive in Australia on or after 1 March 2011 will be assessed under this new process.

Under the POD process, a departmental officer will make an initial Protection Obligations Evaluation (POE) on whether you are owed protection obligations under the 1951 Refugees Convention.

If the officer finds that you are owed protection obligations, and if you also meet health, character and security requirements, the officer will make a recommendation to the minister to allow you to apply for a Protection visa.

If the officer is unable to conclude that you are owed protection, he or she will refer your case directly to an independent assessor for an Independent Protection Assessment (IPA). The independent assessor will consider your case, and may ask you for a further submission and conduct an interview. The independent assessor will then make a recommendation whether you are or are not owed protection under the Refugees Convention.

Why is the Government introducing this new process?

The aim of the new process is to identify refugees quickly, and provide final decisions to those who are found not to be refugees earlier, so they spend less time in detention.

Will my case be considered under the POD process?

The POD process starts on 1 March 2011 and it will apply to some IMAs already in Australia and to all IMAs who arrive on or after that date.

If you arrived in Australia before 1 March 2011 and have already been interviewed about your claims for protection, your assessment will be finalised under the Refugee Status Assessment (RSA) process. You will have access to an Independent Merits Review if your RSA outcome was negative.

If you arrived in Australia before 1 March 2011 but have not had your RSA interview by that date, your case will be assessed under the POD process.

Please see the following table:

Did you arrive on or after 1 March 2011?	Has your RSA interview taken place?	Will your case be assessed under the POD process?
Yes	Not applicable	Yes
No	No	Yes
No	Yes	No

Can I choose to have my claims considered under the new POD process?

No. You will only be considered under the POD process if you were in Australia before 1 March 2011 and have not yet had an RSA interview by 1 March 2011, or if you arrive in Australia on or after 1 March 2011.

Will it be harder under the POD process to be granted a visa?

No, the assessment of your claims under the POD process will be against the same legal criteria for the grant of a Protection visa used in the RSA process, including the definition of a refugee under the Refugees Convention.

The departmental officer assessing your claims will interview you, ask you for supporting evidence, and assess your claims against current information about your country of claimed persecution.

If you are assessed to be a refugee under the Refugees Convention and you meet the health, character and security requirements, your case will be referred to the minister with a recommendation that he allow you to apply for a Protection visa.

Can I seek judicial review of my negative decision?

Yes, under the POD process you can seek judicial review if you receive a negative Independent Protection Assessment. You have 35 days from the date of the letter notifying you of your negative assessment to seek judicial review. Please note that the outcome of your judicial review depends on whether any legal errors were made in the assessment of your case.

Questions and Answers—Impact of the High Court of Australia's decision on Refugee Status Assessment (RSA) clients

What was the High Court's decision?

The High Court of Australia considered the cases of two asylum seekers who were found not to be refugees by both an officer of the Department of Immigration and Citizenship (the department) and an independent merits reviewer. These clients were irregular maritime arrivals (IMAs).

On 11 November 2010, the Court found that the department's Refugee Status Assessment (RSA) and the Independent Merits Review (IMR) processes were legally valid, but that certain legal errors were made in the processing of the two cases before the Court.

Improved practices have been put in place to ensure that these errors are not repeated. This includes making sure that people seeking refugee status are given the opportunity to respond to country information that has a negative impact on their cases.

The Court also found that people can seek judicial review if they receive a negative merits review assessment.

What is judicial review?

Judicial review is where a case is considered by a magistrate or judge to determine whether the approach taken in deciding the case was legally correct.

It is not a review of a person's claims for protection, or a determination on whether a person is or is not a refugee.

What are my chances of success if I seek judicial review?

Success in judicial review depends on whether any legal errors were made in your case during the merits review assessment. Please note that not all applications for judicial review are likely to succeed.

How long does the judicial review process take?

If you decide to seek judicial review, it will take some time for the courts to hear your case and you will remain in immigration detention during this time.

Which clients were offered a second independent merits review?

Following the High Court decision, a second review by a different reviewer was offered to those clients who received a negative independent merits review before the High Court decision of 11 November 2010.

If you were offered a second review, your agent was informed of this so he or she can assist you to prepare for your interview and to present any additional information you may wish to provide.

If the second reviewer finds that you are a refugee, and you meet all the criteria for a Protection visa grant, your case will be referred to the Minister for Immigration and Citizenship with a recommendation that the minister allow you to apply for that visa.

If the second reviewer finds that you are not a refugee, you may be able to seek judicial review.

You will not be removed from Australia until your new review and any court appeal are finalised.

I was offered a second review. How long will it take?

All second reviews have been prioritised and have been allocated to different reviewers and scheduled for interview in January and February 2011.

The Government is increasing the number of reviewers available. This will reduce the time it takes to review your claims and make a recommendation on your case.

I am still waiting for an outcome in my case. How long will this take?

It may take some months for your claims to be assessed, and even longer if you decide to seek judicial review of a negative review decision.

If you want to return to your country, you can choose to do so at any time. You can discuss arrangements for your voluntary return with your case manager or with the International Organization for Migration.

Options following a negative refugee outcome

Information for irregular maritime arrivals

As you entered the Australian migration zone without permission and you do not hold a valid Australian visa, you will remain in immigration detention until you are granted a visa or you leave Australia.

What is my current immigration status?

A trained officer from Department of Immigration and Citizenship (DIAC) assessed your protection claims and did not find you to be a refugee. Your case was then referred for an independent review which also found that you are not a refugee. This means that you do not have a lawful right to remain in Australia. You now need to decide if you are ready to return home with support and a plan for assistance from the International Organization for Migration (IOM).

What happens next?

There are some key choices available to you. More information about these follows:

- You can choose to return home now with planned assistance from IOM.
- If you think a legal error was made in your case, you may want to get some legal advice about applying for a judicial review of the assessment process.

What if I want to go home now?

At any time while you are in immigration detention, you can tell your case manager that you want to go home. Reasons to consider departing voluntarily include:

- You can leave immigration detention and return to your family and friends.
- You can talk with IOM to plan for your departure and prepare to return to your home country.
- You can receive assistance through IOM to help you re-establish yourself, which may include support such as skills-based training, finding a job, or starting your own small business. You can also receive, as needed; medical assistance, temporary accommodation and a small amount of cash. Talk with IOM for impartial information about these return options.

You will be asked to sign a Request for removal form. DIAC will make your travel arrangements and obtain a valid travel document for you if you do not have one. A removal officer will tell you more about this process.

What if I think a legal error was made in my case?

Judicial review is where a court decides if any legal errors were made during the assessment of a case. To seek judicial review you should apply to the Federal Magistrates Court within 35 days from the date of your review outcome letter. Note that a judicial review is not another protection review process and will not determine whether you are a refugee. If the court agrees that a legal error was made, it cannot grant a visa. Instead, your case will be returned to an independent reviewer to conduct a new assessment of your refugee status.

Judicial review can take several months and you should expect to remain in detention during this time. You should continue to prepare yourself to leave Australia if the court finds no legal error in how your case was processed. You should talk to your case manager to find out more about the departure process.

The migration agent provided by DIAC is not funded to provide legal advice about whether to apply for judicial review or to lodge an application. You may wish to pay for a lawyer yourself. You can find a lawyer using the telephone book or internet. A legal aid commission or community legal centre may be able to give you free advice or information. For more information visit: www.nla.aust.net.au. For information about other legal assistance services visit: www.accesstojustice.gov.au. There is also a list of additional contact details attached to this fact sheet.

Further information about judicial review, including the forms that need to be filed with the court is available on the Federal Magistrates Court website at: www.fmc.gov.au.

What if I don't do any of these things?

After 35 days (from the date of your assessment letter), DIAC will complete an International Treaties and Obligations Assessment and will proceed to make arrangements for your removal. While DIAC will seek your cooperation in these arrangements, we will not need your consent.

If you cannot pay for your own return costs, you will incur a debt to the Australian Government for the costs of your removal. This may include costs for your travel and those of any staff required to escort you on your journey. You will usually be expected to repay this debt before you can lawfully re-enter Australia. Also, you cannot be granted some Australian visas for at least three years after you leave.

What is an International Treaties and Obligations Assessment?

DIAC will assess whether there are any humanitarian concerns or international human rights obligations (other than the United Nations Convention on the Status of Refugees), which may affect you returning to your home country. You have 35 days from the date of your assessment letter to provide any new or additional information that should be considered in this assessment. Your case manager and migration agent can give you more information. You should note this is not a re-assessment of your refugee claims.

DIAC will notify you in writing of the outcome of the International Treaties and Obligations Assessment. If no obligations are found, arrangements will continue to be made for your removal.

It is important to obtain reliable advice and to ask questions so that you can make well informed decisions. Please speak to your case manager for information, or contact your registered migration agent or legal representative for advice.

SCHEDULE 2A

Community Care and Welfare Services for Clients in Community Detention

Item A. Background and Philosophy

Community Detention is a form of Immigration Detention that enables people in detention to reside and move about freely in the community without needing to be accompanied or restrained by an officer under the Migration Act 1958.

Community Detention was introduced in 2005 to enable children, families with children and people with special needs to be placed in detention in the community, rather than at a secure Immigration Detention Centre.

The program has afforded detained people the ability to live in the community, subject to certain conditions, while their immigration status is resolved.

The Department works with non government organisations (NGOs) to support people placed in Community Detention while their immigration status is resolved. These people must reside at a nominated address and comply with other conditions which include regular reporting to the Department.

Currently, International Health and Medical Services (IHMS) are contracted to provide health services to people in Community Detention on the mainland. The services are provided through local community General Practitioners.

Note: Client costs can vary from these examples. Costs per site/model are dependent on the number of clients at any time.

For example: using a [REDACTED] carer to client ratio

Cost if [REDACTED] UAMs are on a site with a ratio of [REDACTED]

Cost if [REDACTED] UAMs are on a site with a ratio of [REDACTED]

-- The [REDACTED] UAMs would still require [REDACTED] carers.

These figures are based on examples of numbers used in each site/model and should not be considered an exact costing

No Client costs have been included in these calculations -- these are just the costs of providing carers and carer supervision

Establishment Costs for recruitment and training, household formation etc have not been included in the total program costs as this is not applied on an ongoing basis. These costs must be considered for each model, but as a one-off expense at initial set-up.

Question: Have you had any contact from the Northern Territory Children's Commissioner, regarding the relationship between the Commonwealth and the Territory government, in relation to the welfare of children?

Answer: The department has not had any recent contact with the Northern Territory Children's Commissioner, regarding the relationship between the Commonwealth and the Territory government, in relation to the welfare of children in immigration detention.

The department has worked with the National Association for Prevention of Child Abuse and Neglect (NAPCAM) in relation to training and procedures for DIAC and Detention Service Provider officers regarding child protection issues and mandatory reporting requirements under the NT legislation.

Question: It would also be helpful if we had a list of the MOUs that you do currently have between the Commonwealth and various state government and Territory departments.

Question: Is there a protocol for the assessments that are undertaken before you move somebody from one facility to another? I am asking: do you have a protocol? What is the assessment that is undertaken before somebody is moved from one facility to another?

Answer: The department's guidelines for the movement of clients between Immigration Detention Facilities are included in Chapter 2 of the department's Detention Services Manual. The Detention Services Manual is provided as part of the department's response to question 77.

When a client has been identified for transfer the client's individual circumstances are assessed.

Factors such as the client's mental and physical health and welfare, the availability of health and other services locally, any possible family contacts, the outcome of a security risk assessment completed by the detention services provider, and any behavioural concerns are considered prior to a transfer being completed.

A client with a pending court, tribunal or Independent Merit Review hearing will not be considered for transfer unless exceptional circumstances exist.

Question: One of the examples that was given to the committee earlier was of the distress of a man who was moved from the MITA to Darwin. What assessment was undertaken of that man's mental health needs before he was moved? I would like you take it on notice and provide in confidence the assessment what (sic) was undertaken for that particular man who was moved from the MITA to Darwin, as a case study of the assessment process.

Answer: The following steps are taken to ensure that people transferred between immigration detention facilities receive continuity of care:

- International Health and Medical Services (IHMS) reviews the people identified for possible transfer and provides DIAC with advice regarding the suitability of the destination placement, taking into consideration the medical needs of the clients.
- If a transfer is to proceed IHMS completes a Health Discharge Assessment (HDA), which incorporates a Fitness to Travel (FTT) assessment. A FTT assessment may identify the need for a medical escort.
- Depending on the particular treatment needs of the client(s) a supply of medication, radiological films/reports, and relevant medical documentation will be provided to the Detention Service Provider (DSP) to accompany the client on transfer.
- IHMS conducts a health assessment of the client within 72 hours of their arrival at the destination facility. IHMS staff can access the client's medical and treatment history on their national electronic system, as well as any hardcopy reports transferred with the client. IHMS continues treatment as required.
- If a client requires more specialised medical treatment this will be coordinated between the two facilities by IHMS before the transfer occurs.

In respect of the client identified by Senator Hanson-Young, the client was transferred in accordance with the above process. Specifically, the client was transferred from Melbourne Immigration Transit Accommodation facility (MITA) to Maribyrnong Immigration Detention Centre (MIDC) in March 2011. This transfer was performed as the client had turned 18 years of age.

Due to operational requirements at the MIDC it was necessary to consider a number of clients for transfer to the Northern Immigration Detention Centre (NIDC). The client identified by Senator Hanson-Young was listed for potential transfer to NIDC.

Prior to the transfer being finalised this client, along with the other clients listed for transfer, was assessed for transfer suitability. The assessment process included seeking the views of Case Management, IHMS and Serco in relation to each of the clients who had been identified.

JOINT SELECT COMMITTEE ON AUSTRALIA'S

*Q163***

Clients who had been identified by IHMS as suffering from mental or physical health issues were removed from the list, along with clients who had imminent court, tribunal or Independent Merit Review hearings on the basis of advice from Case Management.

As the client identified by Senator Hanson-Young was not the subject of any concerns raised by Case Management, IHMS or Serco, he remained on the transfer list and subsequently moved to NIDC.

Question: I would like to know what that waiting list is and what the bottleneck is created by.

Answer: As of 24 October 2011, 73 clients were on the waiting list to receive an initial session of torture and trauma counselling at Melaleuca Refugee Centre. The current waiting time for the initial session is six to eight weeks.

Melaleuca Refugee Centre triages clients and those in greatest need of torture and trauma counselling are given higher priority.

The current waiting times reflect the demand for torture and trauma counselling in the Northern Territory immigration detention network.

The department will continue to monitor the waiting times for torture and trauma counselling in the Northern Territory.

The department is currently in discussions with the detention health services provider, IHMS, and the counselling provider about the current waiting times.

Question: Could you take on notice how many independent advocates will be appointed to those 75 unaccompanied minors? If it is Life Without Barriers, how many Life Without Barriers staff will be accompanying those children?

Answer: The contract with Life Without Barriers (LWB) stipulates the provision of an 'Independent Observer' service.

The role of the Independent Observer (IO) is to provide pastoral, or physical, care of the child throughout formal processes. IO numbers vary from time to time in response to operational requirements and are reflective of the number of formal processes performed in any given period (i.e. entry processing, age determination interviews, discharge processes etc). Since arriving in Leonora, the 75 unaccompanied minors have had 4 LWB IOs and 1 LWB IO Team Leader available to them during any formal processes.

Question:

I know I asked you the question about the direct sourcing method you have used for both Airport Lodge and Wickham Point but, in going back to Canberra can you confirm which of those categories the direct sourcing method was used for. Secondly, there is also a decision maker in the guidelines in terms of approving those sorts of arrangements. Can you advise who that was?

Answer:

The Chief Financial Officer approved:

- an exemption from the Mandatory Procurement Procedures for the property leases. This was approved, as the Mandatory Procurement Procedures do not apply to "leasing or purchase of real property or accommodation". (Commonwealth Procurement Guidelines - paragraph 1 of Appendix A: Exemptions from Mandatory Procurement Procedures)

and also approved

- direct sourcing due to the urgency of finding suitable accommodation for asylum seekers. This was approved, as it satisfied the condition for direct sourcing "where, for reasons of extreme urgency bought about by unforeseen by the agency, the property or services could not be obtained in time under open tendering procedures". (Commonwealth Procurement Guidelines, Division 2:Mandatory Procurement Procedures for Covered Procurements, Paragraph 8.33 (b))

Separate approvals were sought and granted for the Wickham Point facility and the Darwin Airport Lodge.

*Q170***

Question: Can you confirm when the critical incident response management plan that I referred to in the discussions with the Federal Police took effect here in Darwin, before the formalised signed, sealed and delivered version?

Answer: There are a number of documents governing the management of critical incidents and emergencies at facilities in Darwin. These documents have been developed by the department's detention service provider, Serco.

There is a protocol called the Northern Immigration Detention Centre (NIDC) Protocol between Serco, AFP, NT Police and DIAC, which was never signed given the decision to enter into a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) for the provision of policing services to Immigration Detention Facilities (IDFs).

The department is in the process of finalising the MOU with the AFP and each state and territory law enforcement agency.

Other documents that have been developed by Serco include:

- The Northern IDC Evacuating People in Detention, Staff and/or Visitors Contingency Plan dated 21 November 2011;
- The Darwin Immigration Detention Centre Emergency Procedures Manual dated February 2011;
- The Northern IDC Escape Incident Contingency Plan dated 21 November 2011; and
- The Northern IDC Serco Immigration Services Emergency Control Organisation & Incident Command Structure Workbook dated November 2011.

*Q171***

Question:

At any stage has an audit of the facilities here in Darwin been undertaken like similar ones undertaken on Christmas Island, Curtin and other places, particularly by the AFP but more broadly, that identified risks to infrastructure at the facility from a security perspective? Were any recommendations made to upgrade any of the infrastructure security perspective, and is there any outstanding work in relation to those security upgrades of the infrastructure.

Answer:

In September 2010 DIAC engaged a security consultant to review the operational and physical security following incidents at the Northern IDC on 29 August 2010 and 1 September 2010. The consultant noted that the Northern IDC was developed to contain low risk short stay foreign fishers, but now contains people who are staying much longer with outcomes that are uncertain.

A final report and recommendations were submitted to the department on 24 September 2010. The department accepted all the recommendations contained in the report and a project management firm was engaged to implement those recommendations. These works have now been completed.

JOINT SELECT COMMITTEE ON AUSTRALIA'S

*Q172***

Question: Will any of that be made public?

Answer: The department provided its action plan to Comcare on 19 August 2011 as requested by Comcare under section 53(4) of the Occupational Health and Safety Act 1991.

The department understands that Comcare undertook to provide a copy of the action plan to the Joint Select Committee at the hearing held in Canberra on 22 November 2011.

JOINT SELECT COMMITTEE ON AUSTRALIA'S
IMMIGRATION DETENTION NETWORK

*Q173***

Question: Has the department got a position on the core findings of the Comcare report, which was based on the fact that regardless of whether they are Serco officers, contracted Serco officers or DIAC staff ultimately all staff working within the facilities were under the responsibility of the department?

Answer: In relation to the core findings arising from the Comcare investigation of seven Immigration Detention Facilities completed in June 2011, the department takes health and safety matters relating to staff, contractors and clients very seriously and responded to Comcare's recommendations on 19 August 2011. The department has and continues to work very closely and cooperatively with Comcare to ensure its obligations under the Work Health Safety Act 2011 are met in what is a very challenging detention environment.

In terms of the department's responsibilities when it comes to staff, it is assumed that the "facilities" referred to in the question are Commonwealth premises under the Work Health Safety Act 2011 ('the WHS Act') and therefore workplaces under that Act. On this basis and under the WHS Act, the Commonwealth has a duty to Serco personnel (Serco officers and contracted Serco officers, where those contracted employees are not independent contractors), as well as DIAC staff, to take all reasonably practicable steps to protect their health and safety at work.

Question:

When we were asking for incidents by month, there were two accident injuries, one escape, one self-harm, one use of emergency equipment and one use of restraints unplanned, but there is no report there of a critical incident that related to damage or this type of nature. I am trying to understand whether this matter was reported as both the department and Serco have stated, but it does not actually appear in the information that the department has provided to us?

Answer:

The incident was recorded by Serco under two categories being Damage - Minor (IR 1-6FCMPP), which is categorised as a minor incident. This was based on the fact that fire only caused minimal damage, was quickly extinguished, and caused no injuries to clients or staff. The incident was also recorded by Serco as Use of Emergency Equipment (IR 1-6GWOG8), which is categorised as a critical incident.

Question: Where are those 89 now?

Answer: As at 5 October 2011, 50 have been granted Protection Visas and released into the community, four have been removed from Australia, three have been transferred to another immigration detention facility, one has been transferred to Community Detention, two are located within a correctional facility in NSW, and 29 remain at the Villawood Immigration Detention Facility.

JOINT SELECT COMMITTEE ON AUSTRALIA'S IMMIGRATION DETENTION NETWORK

*Q178***

Question: Could you please provide as to the 89 what the other branches of transfers were to Villawood and the stated purpose for making those transfers.

Answer: All transfer decisions are made on a case-by-case basis.

The department regularly transfers IMAs from Christmas Island to other detention facilities, including Villawood Immigration Detention Centre (VIDC). Groups or individuals may be moved for a range of reasons including:

- Health and wellbeing;
- Family structure;
- Availability of community support;
- Immigration pathway;
- Cultural and religious sensitivities;
- Availability of detention accommodation; and
- Security risk assessment.

Each detention facility is designed to accommodate different groups. Each client will be transferred to a detention facility that is appropriate to their needs.

The department moves clients between facilities in accordance with their cultural background, location of family units, client vulnerabilities, pathways, and where suitable accommodation is available.

The practice of accommodating vulnerable groups such as families and unaccompanied minors in less restrictive forms of detention is a long-standing practice implemented under successive governments.

VIDC comprises six compounds, with compounds accommodating specific groups, as follows:

- Banksia compound: females;
- Blaxland compound: single adult males;
- Fowler compound: single adult males;
- Hughes compound: adult males and females in family groups;
- Murray compound: various clients; and
- Sydney Immigration Residential Housing (SIRH): family groups.

The department transferred 290 clients from Christmas Island to VIDC on 22 separate charter flights between 1 March 2010 and 26 October 2011.

This included:

- 15 single adult males transferred to Blaxland IDC;
- 231 single adult males transferred to Fowler IDC;
- 1 single adult male transferred temporarily to Hughes IDC (this client was a witness

- Seven had been charged; and
- 15 were still under investigation.

Of the 15 people:

Question: Were any others identified other than those 25, as having been involved in the riots or disturbance that night and were any decisions taken in respect of any other individuals directly related to their behaviour on that night by DIAC?

Answer: Initially 58 clients were identified as Persons Of Interest in the AFP investigation into the disturbance in April 2011, some were transferred to the custody of NSW Corrections, the remaining group were transferred to Blaxland at Villawood IDC as they were identified. As the investigation has progressed, the number of persons that are still of interest to the investigation has reduced to 27.

Of those remaining of interest to the investigation, nine have been charged and the remaining 18 are accommodated at Maribyrnong IDC and Villawood IDC.

Question: What input has DIAC had into those protocols and policies?

Answer: The department works closely with Serco to review Serco's Policy and Procedures Manuals (PPM) to ensure those policies and procedures comply and remain consistent with department policies.

When the department releases a new policy or instruction, Serco is required to either update any relevant existing PPM or develop a new PPM to include the policy or instruction and provide the PPM to the department for clearance. Serco is required to annually review and update the PPM and provide the updated documents to the department within prescribed timeframes.

IMMIGRATION DETENTION NETWORK

*Q187***

Question: I have put this same question to Serco, but what has the DIAC staff turnover been for those who have been deployed to detention centres?

Answer: The term 'turnover', is normally calculated by expressing the number of permanent staff who cease employment over a given period, as a percentage of the total number of staff permanently employed over the same period.

The term does not apply in the detention centre context because the department has arrangements in place to manage the deployment of departmental staff to work at detention centres for a specific duration. The duration of deployment may vary according to job, family and role requirements and is generally either between two to six weeks or three to 12 months. In the case of longer term deployments, those greater than three months, staff must undergo a general health assessment and resilience check before being deployed. In addition, staff working in very remote detention centre environments must take respite leave after being deployed for three months.

The combined number of departmental staff deployed to various Immigration detention facilities over the last two financial years (FY09/10 and FY10/11) was 3,139.

As at 31 October 2011, 308 departmental staff were deployed at detention facilities.

*Q189***

Question: Does the department have a response to the concerns raised in the Refugee Council's submission as to the substandard medical care and welfare for pregnant women currently held in detention?

Answer: The Refugee Council of Australia's (RCOA) submission cites two examples to support its concern that there have been 'instances of pregnant asylum seekers being treated in a manner which contravenes the principle that the inherent dignity of a person in immigration detention must be upheld'.

The department takes seriously the issues raised by RCOA in its submission to the JSC. If RCOA wishes to provide details of the clients involved each case will be followed up individually.

Provision of appropriate clothing

The department relies on Serco to provide or manage a range of detention services at each facility, and facilitate and encourage people in detention to access these services. All service delivery decisions taken by Serco take into account individual needs including clients who are pregnant.

Both the Immigration Detention Centre Contract and the Immigration Residential Housing/Immigration Transit Accommodation Contract make provision for sufficient supply of new clothing and new footwear to meet the ongoing needs of people in detention.

It is unfortunate that it appears from the RCOA submission that Complaints Management System (CMS) may not have worked effectively in this instance. In accordance with the contract Serco develops and manages a CMS through which people in detention are able to lodge a formal complaint on matters relevant to their detention including issues they may have with the level of services received. The CMS includes timeframes for acknowledgement, feedback on progress and resolution of complaints. People in detention are advised of the process during their induction. In addition Serco displays material in appropriate languages advising people in detention of their right to complain and how to contact agencies such as the Australian Human Rights Commission, United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees and the Commonwealth and Immigration Ombudsman.

Provision of medical information by the Health Services Provider to the department

The Health Services Provider (HSP) will disclose information about a person's health or medical history to departmental staff if there is a need for such staff to know.

A person's medical history or current presentation will be raised by the HSP to the department to recommend, for example, an alternative placement of the client within the detention network. The HSP will provide such information at client placement meetings which are held at detention facilities.

Departmental staff are able to request health information from the HSP to help inform placement decisions or client care arrangements.

*Q191***

Question: Can you respond to the Human Rights Commission's recommendation around the need for an independent body to be charged with the function of monitoring the provision of health and mental health services in immigration detention. Does the department have a specific view on that and have they responded to the Human Rights Commission recommendation?

Answer: The department responded to the Australian Human Rights Commission (AHRC) on this recommendation in September 2011.

The full text of the Department's response to the AHRC follows:

The Department monitors the delivery of physical and mental health services in immigration detention through:

- an expert advisory body The Detention Health Advisory Group (DeHAG);
- input from The Council for Immigration Services and Status Resolution (CISSR);
- external scrutiny and complaints processes;
- feedback from the Detention Health Services Provider International Health and Medical Services (IHMS); and
- health reviews conducted by independent consultants.

The Detention Health Advisory Group (DeHAG)

The DeHAG and its Mental Health Sub-Group (MHSG) provides DIAC with independent expert advice to design, develop, implement and monitor health and mental health care services and policies for people in immigration detention. The DeHAG consists of key health and mental health professional and consumer group organisations including:

- Australian Medical Association
- Royal Australian College of General Practitioners
- Mental Health Council of Australia
- Australian Psychological Society
- Forum of Australian Services for the Survivors of Torture and Trauma
- Victorian Health Promotion Foundation
- Royal Australian and New Zealand College of Psychiatrists
- Royal College of Nursing Australia
- Public Health Association of Australia
- Australian Dental Association.

The Commonwealth Ombudsman's Office has an observer status on the DeHAG.

The DeHAG represents the Department's commitment to working in an open and accountable manner with our key health stakeholders to improve the general and mental health of people under our care.

The DeHAG's work program includes site inspections of places of immigration detention, including the Northern IDC, Darwin Airport Lodge APOD, places of immigration detention on Christmas Island, Curtin IDC, Scherger IDC, Villawood IDC, Maribyrnong IDC, Melbourne ITA, Inverbrackie APOD and Adelaide ITA. Following these inspections, the DeHAG has provided expert advice on a range of health issues, including mental health, dental services, communicable disease prevention and child health issues. DeHAG has also provided advice on safety concerns, including Occupational Health and Safety issues for some of the sites visited. These are followed up with relevant areas of the Department.

The Council for Immigration Services and Status Resolution (CISSR)

CISSR provides feedback to the Department about the influence of health service delivery on the wellbeing of people in immigration detention, including how it can impact status resolution.

External Scrutiny and Complaints Processes

The Department also receives feedback on health service delivery to people in immigration detention from organisations such as the Commonwealth Ombudsman and the Australian Red Cross.

The Commonwealth Ombudsman visits detention facilities and scrutinises service delivery, including health services. It provides feedback to the Department about possible issues with service delivery and the Department follows up on the issues identified as required.

The Red Cross, through its work with people in immigration detention, also provides valuable feedback to the Department about services delivery including health services.

Formal complaint mechanisms allow people in immigration detention, or their representatives, to raise their concerns directly to the Department. The Commonwealth Ombudsman and the Australian Human Rights Commission also receive and investigate complaints about health services provision in detention facilities. These organisations will, if applicable, advise the Department of instances where they consider the provision of health care services has been deficient. The Department considers this reporting and feedback carefully and follows up as appropriate, including with the Detention Health Services Provider IHMS.

IHMS is part of International SOS, which provides health services to a number of governments and companies. It has its own internal audit and assessment processes.

Audits and Assessments

IHMS undertakes audits and assessments of its services in immigration detention facilities:

- During 2009: Internal audits against the Royal Australian College of General Practitioner (RACGP) Standards were conducted by IHMS head office personnel at a number of facilities.
- April 2011: An internal audit at Christmas Island facilities against RACGP standards was conducted by IHMS head office personnel.
- May-Jun 2011: A detailed audit was undertaken of the management processes and governance of health services. The audit was commissioned by IHMS and conducted by International SOS (IHMS's parent company).
- June 2011: Each site conducted a self-assessment against the RACGP Standards.
- Quarterly: An internal audit of health records and medication records is conducted at each site.

JOINT SELECT COMMITTEE ON AUSTRALIA'S IMMIGRATION DETENTION NETWORK

*Q191***

The Department has also commissioned various reviews of health services delivery in detention facilities:

Review of Health Service Delivery Model Christmas Island

The Department engaged Phillipa Milne and Associates to provide independent expert advice on the appropriate level of health care services to be provided to people in immigration detention on Christmas Island. The report was completed in June 2010.

Review of Health Service Delivery Model Mainland Detention Facilities

The Department engaged Phillipa Milne and Associates to provide independent expert advice on the appropriate level of health care services to be provided to people in immigration detention facilities on the Australian mainland. The report was completed in October 2010.

Royal Australian College of General Practitioners (RACGP) Accreditation Pilot

The Department commissioned Quality in Practice (QIP) to review the RACGP Standards for health services in Australian immigration detention centres, develop an accreditation process, and provide a Detention Health Standards Report detailing recommended changes to the Standards. QIP provided a final report to the Department in October 2010.

Review of Christmas Island Detention Health Services Clinical Governance Processes

The Department contracted Communio to conduct a clinical governance review (the Review) of health services provided to people in immigration detention on Christmas Island. The Review was conducted on 28 April 2011 and 3 May 2011. This work included the development of an audit tool, to enable assessment of the clinical governance arrangements on Christmas Island. Communio presented the findings of the review to the Department on 19 May 2011.

*Q192***

Question: When was the last time the department responded to recommendations put forward by the Human Rights Commission in relation to detention?

Answer: The Australian Human Rights Commission (AHRC) regularly monitors and reports on the conditions for people in immigration detention. Their work includes investigating complaints about alleged breaches of human rights in immigration detention facilities and monitoring conditions in facilities through a program of inspections.

The most recent AHRC report related to conditions at Curtin Immigration Detention Centre. This report was provided to the Department on 5 September 2011 and the Department responded to the recommendations in the report on 28 September 2011. AHRC reports and departmental responses are published on the AHRC website.

Question: How many staff are on the ground in each facility who have not done the training?

Answer: The Psychological Support Program (PSP) training which occurred in 2010 was delivered to approximately 1180 staff across the immigration detention network. This training was delivered to staff from:

- DIAC
- Serco
- IHMS
- the Australian Red Cross
- Life Without Barriers (who provide support services to unaccompanied minors)
- member organisations of the Forum of Australian Services for Survivors of Torture and Trauma (FASSTT) (who provide torture and trauma counselling).

Due to staff turnover and movement between facilities, the department is unable to advise how many staff at each detention facility have not attended some form of PSP training.

*Q194***

Question: Is there a requirement set out as to how the program is monitored?

Answer: The department's Psychological Support Program (PSP) policy is detailed at Chapter Six of the Detention Services Manual.

The following excerpt details how the PSP is to be monitored.

31 EVALUATION & QUALITY IMPROVEMENT

The DSP is responsible for providing the department with formal incident reports on all threats, attempts or occurrences of self-harm and suicide.

Where a serious self-harm attempt or incident occurs, the HSP has primary responsibility for post-incident response, one function of which is to identify triggers and contributing factors. The HSP must provide written documentation of these to the PSP team and the department for input to quality improvement processes.

The PSP team, with appropriate support from the department, is responsible for conducting regular case reviews and analysis of incident reports to identify issues that need to be addressed in order to improve self-harm prevention, identification and response arrangements. The adequacy of the arrangements documented in this policy should be a regular item for review as part of PSP quality improvement arrangements.

Note that 'DSP' is Detention Services Provider, 'HSP' is Health Services Provider and that a PSP team will be formed at each facility when required. A PSP team is led by an HSP senior clinician and includes representatives from the DSP and the department.

*Q195***

Question: Is there anything in the program that requires refresher training?

Answer: The department's Psychological Support Program (PSP) policy is detailed at Chapter Six of the Detention Services Manual.

The policy states that all personnel who work with persons in detention should have annual refresher training. An excerpt from the policy is quoted below:

10 STAFF TRAINING

All personnel who work with persons in detention, including the DSP, the department and the HSP, must be trained to recognise and respond to the warning signs and risk factors of self-harm and suicide.

Training should include:

- awareness of the key risk and protective factors associated with self-destructive behaviour
- cultural awareness issues as they relate to mental state, expression of distress and self-harm
- recognising signs and symptoms and events that would trigger an evaluation (or re-evaluation) of risk
- routes and processes for referral to health services for those experiencing distress
- PSP processes, including periodic updates as a result of continuous quality improvement.

Training for DSP personnel must also address the specific skills required to conduct self-harm risk assessment interviews at reception and to perform monitoring and engagement as described in this policy.

Training should be nationally consistent and delivered in an ongoing format (initial training and an annual refresher), with further, ongoing specialist support by the health services manager and supervision by a senior independent mental health clinician. This may involve audits of knowledge and competence in the PSP process outlined in this instruction.

*Q196***

Question: Have any of the recommendations put forward by DeHAG in that meeting been implemented?

Answer: The department has undertaken, and continues to undertake, steps to improve mental health services for people in immigration detention in response to DeHAG recommendations. This includes:

- Commissioning a review of the former self-harm management protocols and developing new best-practice policies such as the Psychological Support Program.
- Increasing mental health staffing resources across the detention network, including in remote areas.
- Instituting regular psychiatrist visits to Christmas Island.
- Infrastructure changes, such as improving existing health facilities and de-commissioning others considered unsuitable (such as the observation rooms in the medical centre at the North-West Point Immigration Detention Centre (Christmas Island)).
- Pursuing an external review of the implementation of the Psychological Support Program.
- Gathering and analysing, in consultation with DeHAG, self-harm data to determine possible ways to manage self-harm risks.
- Increasing the use of community detention for vulnerable clients.

JOINT SELECT COMMITTEE ON AUSTRALIA'S
IMMIGRATION DETENTION NETWORK

*Q197***

Question: In consultation with advice from DeHAG at all?

Answer: The Detention Service Provider's (DSP) procedures for managing people at risk of self-harm are based on the department's Psychological Support Program (PSP) policy. The PSP policy was developed in consultation with the Detention Health Advisory Group (DeHAG).

The DeHAG was not consulted in relation to the preparation of the DSP's procedures for managing people at risk of self-harm. However, at its 24 November 2011 meeting DeHAG members provided feedback (at the DSP's invitation) on those procedures and offered to provide further review.

IMMIGRATION DETENTION NETWORK

*Q199***

*Q200***

Question: Perhaps you could come back to us with what the existing procedure is within DIAC for informing Serco and any other relevant person?

Are those protocols in existence?

Answer: The Minister's delegation of his roles and responsibilities as guardian for unaccompanied minors is set down in the instrument of delegation. The DIAC positions to whom the Minister has delegated his roles and responsibilities as guardian are designed to facilitate the day-to-day decision making required in regard to minors in detention, such as decisions about medical treatment (where the UAM is not of capacity to provide their own consent) or education where consent is required for enrolment for example.

The instrument of delegation is reviewed and updated from time to time to ensure that the roles and responsibilities of guardianship continue to be delegated to the most appropriate DIAC positions. The current instrument of delegation came into effect on 16 June 2011.

For unaccompanied minors in immigration detention, the delegated guardian is the senior regional detention manager in the State or Territory in which they are located. In addition, in Darwin and on Christmas Island, the Minister has also delegated his roles and responsibilities as guardian to other senior managers at the Executive Level 2 classification.

The instrument of delegation is available to all staff on the department's intranet and is also provided and explained to delegated guardians and other senior detention officers when it is updated for appropriate dissemination to operational staff.

Protocols for the management of unaccompanied minors, including how and when the guardian should be consulted, are set down in a number of departmental Procedural Advice Manuals and operating manuals. For example, the Detention Services Manual includes a chapter on Minors in Detention, which includes advice on when to consult the delegated guardian; interviewing unaccompanied minors; access to the Immigration Advice and Application Assistance Scheme (IAAAS); and handling allegations of abuse and neglect. Serco's policy and procedures manual "Alternative Place Of Detention (APOD) Working With Minors" provides advice to Serco staff on guardianship issues, including information on the delegated guardian and the appropriate contact in an immigration detention facility.

The Department's advice and training policies and processes in relation to unaccompanied minors are currently being reviewed (by the recently established Children's Unit), with a view to consolidating and strengthening processes and protocols and staff knowledge. We are also developing new tools to assist DIAC staff and service providers to understand the Minister's guardianship obligations, particularly in community detention.

A detailed interim policy advice that brings together all the various guardianship advices has been collated and circulated.

*Q201***

Question: Is DIAC in the process of drafting up any memorandum of understanding with the welfare agencies of states and territories in relation to the welfare of children?

Answer: The department is not actively negotiating any memoranda of understanding with state and territory jurisdictions in relation to the welfare of children.

However, the department is working with state and territory jurisdictions on a range of issues relating to the welfare of children and children's issues more broadly, including through various working groups under the National Framework for Protecting Australia's Children 2009-2020. In particular, the Community and Disability Services Ministers' Advisory Council has recently agreed to establish a sub-committee for the Commonwealth and state/territory jurisdictions to explore issues and policy reforms related to guardianship and unaccompanied humanitarian minors.

*Q202***

Question:

Does the department handle questions of compensation?

Answer:

Comcover provides the Government's insurance services within the Department of Finance and Deregulation. Comcover, in consultation with the Civil Litigation and Compensation Section of the department, manages all civil compensation claims that are reported in accordance with the Comcover Policy and that relate to incidents that occurred after 9 November 1998. This is the retroactive date for claims applicable to the general liability cover (as stated at 2.10.2 of the "Other Conditions" section of the Comcover Policy).

The department manages all other claims for compensation that do not fall within the Comcover Policy.

JOINT SELECT COMMITTEE ON AUSTRALIA'S IMMIGRATION DETENTION NETWORK

*Q203***

Question: What is the department's view on this?

Answer: The Health Services Contract was signed in 2009 and designed to deliver health services to a smaller number of clients with fewer health needs.

The growth in the Irregular Maritime Arrival (IMA) population and the opening of additional places of detention required changes to the service delivery model and the Contract.

The Contract is being renegotiated to provide a more flexible service delivery model better suited to the detention population.

The department or the Health Services Provider, IHMS, is able to propose services additional to those specified in the Contract.

The department received IHMS's proposal of 26 October 2011 for the provision of additional psychiatric services. IHMS amended the proposal and re-submitted it to the department on 9 November 2011. The department has now approved the proposal.

JOINT SELECT COMMITTEE ON AUSTRALIA'S

*Q204***

Question: Do you have any idea of the timeframe of that review of the contract and services?

Answer: The department anticipates that the Christmas Island variation to the contract will be signed by December 2011.

The contract variation for inclusion of all mainland facilities is currently being negotiated with the health services provider. The department anticipates that the majority of the negotiations should be completed by the end of 2011.

*Q205***

Question: It would be good if the department could perhaps respond to some of the concerns raised by the union's supplementary information and their actual submission as well.

Answer: The department would, in-principle, be happy to respond to any specific issues of concern to the Committee as raised in the United Voice submission.

The United Voice submission and supplementary material is reasonably substantial totalling 35 pages. The submission refers to a range of subject matters, covering a number of the Committee's terms of reference.

It is the department's view that because of the resource implications involved in responding to all of the matters raised by the United Voice, it would be useful if the Committee could highlight the specific matters to be addressed. The department would endeavour to respond where possible.

In this context, it is worth noting that the department has provided the Committee a substantial submission addressing the terms of reference, as well as responded to (or is in the process of responding to) 210 questions on notice, with many more likely following upcoming hearings.

*Q207***

Question: I raise this as a point and ask whether there is some explanation that may sit behind that jump?

Answer: The major contributing factor which contributed to the increase in incidents between October 2010 and November 2010 was the increase in instances where a single situation resulted in multiple incident reports being created. Some of these incidents included a client death (which resulted in 16 related incidents) and a client escape (resulting in a total of 8 related incidents).

Critical incidents rose by 20 incidents between October and November. The most significant increase was incident reports for Unauthorised Media presence which increased by 8, Accident/Injury and Off Site Demonstrations which increased by 7. Both the media presence and demonstrations were in the days following the death of a client.

The number of incidents for December 2010 reduced to being comparable to the number for October 2010.

Question: How do you justify the $3 million claim?

Answer: The department advised that close to $3 million has been injected into the local Adelaide Hills economy since the Inverbrackie facility was commissioned.

The department has spent $600,000 with various local traders for work relating to infrastructure at the Inverbrackie facility.

Additionally, to provide adequate services to clients the Detention Service provider has spent:

- $1,249,463 at Klose's Supermarket,
- $280,000 on bus services to take children to and from school,
- $45,558 at Lobethal Bakery, and
- $25,794 at Top cut foods.

DIAC and the detention service provider staff have contributed significantly to local businesses, to purchase accommodation, meals and so on. This data is unavailable as it is personal expenditure.

Question: Did that go to market or was it a decision to choose – (University of South Australia?)

Answer: The department carried out a select tender process to secure the contract for research into the Social Impacts of the Alternative Place of Detention on the Inverbrackie Community. Proposals for the research were invited from selected South Australia-based research institutions/consultancies with expertise in this area of social research. The University of South Australia was chosen as the successful tenderer for the project in line with departmental research procurement principles – based on its proposal, credentials, experience and overall value for money.

Question: What constitutes a family group? Do two brothers constitute a family group?

Answer: When determining the composition of a family unit, the department takes into account a number of factors, including family members or primary care givers of an accompanied minor. A family often comprises the child(ren) and their (natural or adopted) parents. Family members, such as grandparents or dependent adult siblings may also be included in a family unit.

Two brothers are considered to be a family group. Their placement in the detention network would be dependent on their ages. If they are both unaccompanied minors (UAMs) they would be accommodated at a facility suited for UAMs or, where appropriate, in a UAM community detention household.

The department endeavours to keep families together where appropriate.

Question: (I have here this document about incident type and level, it values the incident and so forth) Who makes these decisions? Is this your document?

Answer: The document was created by the department's IT development team in February 2011. The document records the changes to the department's Information Technology systems to bring the Incident Types into line with those specified in the Detention Services Contract - Immigration Detention Centres (the Contract) with Serco.

It should be noted that the document tabled by Jamie Briggs MP is not a complete list of all Incident Types. The document represents those Incident Types that were updated in February 2011.

Changes to the values in the Contract were undertaken after extensive consultation during the development of the Contract with Serco.
