Senator WHISH-WILSON: ...I am interested in your reaction and recommendations to the Task Force on Climate-related Financial Disclosures. Have you received any feedback from the task force or other stakeholders in relation to your recommendations?

Mr Day: I have not been directly involved in engaging with the task force.

CHAIR: If you like, you could take it on notice.

Response to this question on notice

Following the public consultation on their recommendations, the Task Force on Climate-related Financial Disclosures (TCFD) is not currently discussing this matter externally. As such we have not received any formal feedback as yet from the Task Force on our submission. We have however briefly looked at some publicly available responses to the consultation. A common theme that seems to be present in many of these submissions is the need for further guidance to help companies report in line with the TCFD's recommendations. We aim to provide this guidance through the CDP questionnaire and the CDSB Framework to help companies report under the TCFD's recommendations.
