

Set back on wind turbines

We do feel it is absolutely essential to built all turbines at a minimum distance of two kilometres from all residences and houses for health reasons. This should be government policy and be adhered to by the companies building the turbines, consideration should be given to this as the houses are already built.

We would appreciate your introduction of this.

Yours sincerely

robert and caroline marshall