Select Committee on Regional Development and Decentralisation Inquiry into Regional Development and Decentralisation

Issue date: 9 October 2017

Select Committee to hold public hearings in Victoria and Tasmania

Bendigo will host the first of a series of public hearings this week, as the Select Committee on Regional Development and Decentralisation heads to Victoria and Tasmania.

Launceston and Burnie in Tasmania, and Wodonga, on the border of New South Wales and Victoria, will also host public hearings.

The Chair of the Committee, Dr John McVeigh MP said, “these public hearings will provide the Committee with some good opportunities to engage with local communities in regional Australia. The Committee is keen to hear from the diverse range of witnesses to better inform ourselves of the issues impacting regional communities, and what can be done to address them.

“Each regional and rural community in Australia is unique, with localised issues. The Committee has heard that what works well for these communities is local, tailored strategies. We are hoping to hear more about the local strategies being adopted by the communities of Bendigo, Launceston, Burnie, Albury and Wodonga,” said Dr McVeigh.

Dr McVeigh indicated that witnesses across the four public hearings will include business and communities leaders, universities and TAFEs, community advocacy groups, healthcare providers, and regional development specialists.

The hearing will be broadcast live at aph.gov.au/live and a transcript will be available on the Committee’s website.
