

Preserve the unique place of the ABC in our national life

1. Fund the ABC adequately so that it can maintain specialist units across the sciences, the arts, public affairs and the exploration of our shared national culture.
2. Preserve the ABC as a public broadcaster making a wide variety of programs in-house.
3. Recognise that only the ABC makes independent, critical and intellectually searching programs which we as a nation need.
4. Acknowledge the special role of the ABC in stimulating minds and shaping public taste rather than slavishly following where commercial media lead.
