Do you report [gross revenue] in the US?

Google is subject to US accounting principles and standards, and presents figures in compliance with those standards, including all revenue that is earned as a result of the company's global operations. Our reporting is aligned with Australia's accounting standards, and we continue to provide increased transparency through our Voluntary Tax Transparency Code reporting.

Is [Google's Australia's] parent company a Singaporean company? Where does that 7.1 billion dollars in 2022 [of advertising reseller revenue] go?

Google Australia's immediate parent company is not a Singaporean company, rather its immediate parent company is a US company. Google Australia enters into Ads contracts with Australian customers in its capacity as a reseller, which means revenue from sales is recognised in Australia after deducting direct cost of sales, which includes reseller costs.

Do you work with the AI safety institutes in the UK and the US?

Google is in close contact with the AI safety institutes in the UK and the US.

In the US, we participate in the U.S. AI Safety Institute Consortium, which is operated through the National Institute of Standards and Technology.⁹ We are also actively working together with the UK AI Safety institute to build more robust evaluations for AI models, as well as seek consensus on best practices as the sector advances.¹⁰
