

Senator Madigan

Submission from HELEN ANN GORDON, for:

HEALTH INSURANCE AMENDMENT 2013 (Medical Funding for Certain Types of Abortion)

I overwhelmingly support Senator Madigan's Health Insurance Amendment (above). This is because I see an illthought out and destructive use of Medicare for the killing of unborn children because of gender selection: S17(1)(b)"the termination is carried out solely because of the gender of the foetus". Our Government whose responsibility is to care for the living, is going downhill in the business of murder, trying to make taxpayers pay for their horrendous foolishness, over the murderous whims of minorities.

Abortion, the killing of the foetus, in gender-selection, foolishly denounces an intelligent concept of family within society in which prospective parents understand that society as a whole has promoted and protected social intercourse and marriage across society under our government's Constitution. The unhappy unamended bill would OK the turning of families in on themselves in the process of posterity; it rather promotes ghettos and even incest. The bill contains vain desires to control what would be passing decisions on whether boy or girl is wanted to stay alive. For such type of passing erroneous thinking, we decry 'capital punishment'.

Many immigrant families would have old-world views of valueing boys more than girls. One can envisage child-trafficking and sex-trafficking evolving out of such a stupid law if the bill is not amended through Senator Madigan. The Constitution of Australia is built on relative commonsense for the common good. The need for the Amendment to stop the encouragement of gender-select killing of babies has a basic moral tone, that ought to awaken the government as to what taxpayers are paying for through Medicare. We are killing our own children. Gender selection makes it worse. We desperately need to have a wise government in power.
