I wish to ask the Senate Committee to consider our grandchildren's future as they make their recommendations. It is too late to keep the world as we currently know it, but at least we can still try to save our grandchildren from a global disaster. We have lived beyond our means for too long. It's time to go without in order to save the planet. It won't make you popular but at least you can look your grandchildren in the eye and say that you did your best. Please be strong!
