Dear Tony Windsor,

Reference Murray Darling Plan meeting which understand you are to chair? 19 Jan 19

The dramatic change from drought to floods necessitates appraisal of long range "climate change" effect.

Whether the extremely harsh restrictions placed/proposed on river communities were/are necessary.

A near pristine river objective is commendable for "all the world" to enjoy; particularly the "mass millions" of urban Australians

Having in mind the great river community and personal loss already suffered it is reasonable that the "mass millions" be taxed to compensate

Spread over "mass millions, for the global icon gained this would be a reasonable impost.

With known significant population increase, Governments have badly mismanaged; such as - over allocation, decentralisation/detence, food production; and, knowledge of the very many means of increasing water availability of water, with of abrogation, over two wars, of soldier settlers (and their families) guarantee, Governments have a lot to answer for!

Over a wide range of interests many are suffering enforced depression; indeed suicidal tendency

Yours sincerely
