Australia does not have an Embassy in Venezuela. However, due to the increase number of Venezuelan migrating to Australia. It will be recommended to analyze the possibility of establishing an Australian Embassy in Venezuela in order to provide a better service for Venezuelan migrants coming to Australia.

At the moment, the Embassy of Australia in Chile addresses the issues concerning Venezuela; therefore the establishment of an Australian Embassy in Venezuela will strengthen the bonds and international relations between countries.

Any assistance that you may render in regards of the re-opening of the Embassy of Australia in Venezuela will be gratefully received
