1.11 The committee thanks the ministers and officers who provided evidence, and support for, the committee's hearings.

Procedural matters

1.12 During the hearings, there were occasions where departmental officers declined to provide information requested by the committee. At the start of each estimates hearing, officers at the hearing are reminded by the Committee Chair that:

...there are no areas in connection with the expenditure of public funds where a person has discretion to withhold details or explanations from the Parliament unless the Parliament has expressly provided otherwise.<sup>9</sup>

1.13 The underlying principle of this provision is that the Parliament has an overarching right to obtain information, in accordance with the powers provided to the Parliament by section 49 of the Constitution. The committee recognises that it is not always in the public interest to disclose information and, if needed, established processes exist for raising and determining claims of public interest immunity.
