Topic: Moorabbin Airport - Compliance of plans with relevant planning schemes

Senator Bridget McKenzie asked:

Under the Airports Act, the Department of Infrastructure are meant to ensure all airport master plans and major development plans comply with the relevant state or territories planning scheme.

How did the Minister confirm the veracity of what is contained in the master plan or major development plan and that it complies with the relevant planning schemes?

Answer:

Master plans and major development plans are not required to comply with state and territory planning schemes. Rather, the Airports Act 1996 requires Airport Lessee Companies to explain the extent of consistency or otherwise that master plans and major development plans have with relevant state or territory planning schemes.

In providing advice to the Minister, the Department of Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development, Communications and the Arts assesses draft master plans against the requirements of the Airports Act 1996.
