10. UNITED STATES OF AMERICA—VISIT OF FLEET.—Mr. Speaker laid upon the Table the following copy of the Address presented on behalf of the Parliament of the Commonwealth to Rear-Admiral Charles S. Sperry, and of the proceedings at the presentation :—

VISIT OF THE AMERICAN FLEET TO AUSTRALIA.

COMMONWEALTH'S WELCOME.

Address from Parliament.

Prior to the dinner given by the Commonwealth Government to the American Admirals on the 31st August, 1908, Members of the two Houses of the Federal Parliament assembled in the Senate Chamber, where a Joint Address of Welcome was presented to Rear-Admiral Sperry. Senator Gould, President of the Senate, addressing Admiral Sperry, said :—

The privilege of presenting an Address to you as representative of the Government of the United States of America from the Parliament of the Commonwealth of Federated Australia, has devolved upon Mr. Speaker and myself; but, before presenting the Address, I desire to say that, although the Governor-General and the Prime Minister of the Commonwealth, and the Governors and representatives of the States of New South Wales and Victoria, have already had an opportunity of welcoming you and your fleet to our shores, and although you have had evidences of the great interest taken by the people of this country in your visit, and of the friendly feeling shown towards the United States by the demonstrations that have awaited you in New Zealand, and in the States of New South Wales and Victoria, still it has been thought but fitting that the representatives of the Commonwealth Parliament should join in that welcome. (Hear, hear.) It was felt that the Commonwealth Parliament, representing as it did the people, and elected upon a franchise so free and so wide as to be truly a reflex of the feelings of the people of this country, should not be behind in expressing its congratulations upon your arrival, and the good-will felt by the people of this country towards the people of the United States. We desire to thank the Government of the United States for affording Australians the opportunity of becoming better acquainted with the people of America. The late Lord Tennyson, in writing of the events that occurred between America and England more than 100 years ago, had said—

"O thou, that sendest out the man
To rule by land and sea,
Strong mother of a Lion-line,
Be proud of those strong sons of thine
Who wrench'd their rights from thee!"

When we look at the great fleet lying in these peaceful waters, and remember the great achievements of the nation you represent, we feel proud of those "strong sons" who have sprung from the same motherland as have we. (Cheers.)

The Speaker (Sir Frederick Holder), addressing the Admiral, said :—

Many years ago your forefathers and ours dwelt together in the motherland. Yours went westward, and founded a great nation. Ours moved eastward, and also founded a nation. To-day the eastern and the western paths meet, and we rejoice at the opportunity thus afforded us of offering to you a hearty greeting. (Applause.) Representing, as I do, the House of Representatives, elected directly on the broad franchise of all the manhood and womanhood of the Commonwealth, in its name, and on behalf of the people it represents, I offer you a cordial greeting to this Australia of ours; and I hope, as the President has said, that the events transpiring here now, like those in another State the other day, will tend as the years pass to draw together the two great nations, not only that there may be peace between them, but that through their influence the peace of the world may be preserved. (Applause.)

The Address was then read as follows :—

To

Rear-Admiral CHARLES S. SPERRY,
Commander-in-Chief United States Atlantic Fleet.

On behalf of the Parliament of the Commonwealth of Australia, we desire to offer the most hearty welcome to yourself and to every member of your fleet.

Your visit would be a matter of great interest to any community, and especially so to any British community; but to Australians, who have so lately started under a Federal system which in many ways resembles that of your own Republic, the presence of this magnificent representative of the powerful and successful federation which occupies such a prominent position in the social and commercial progress of the world, is an occasion of exceptional rejoicing. We feel sure, from the widespread interest that has been taken in your visit by every one of our citizens, that you will receive a most cordial welcome from all classes in this Commonwealth.

Many bonds of sympathy already exist between your great Nation and the British Empire. Your intercourse with us will, we are confident, increase and strengthen those bonds. The friendly relations existing between the United States and Great Britain constitute an important factor in the peace of the world. We are certain that this meeting between your people and the Australians, short as it is, will add to their mutual friendly feeling and respect. We hope that every member of your fleet will feel that he has come amongst friends, and that he will be able to take away a happy recollection of his visit to Australia.

A. J. GOULD, President of the Senate.

F W HOLDER, Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Melbourne, 31st August, 1908.

16th September, 1908.

Rear-Admiral Sperry said in reply—

Nothing could confer higher pleasure than the welcome of the Parliament of this great Commonwealth, representing in a concrete form the union of the six States of the Australian Commonwealth. We have watched the federation of these great States, and the development of their resources, with the keenest interest. I must express, as the immediate head of a military organization, and as the representative of 15,000 active, patriotic sons of the American Republic, sincere acknowledgment of the generous welcome that has been given. I cannot but feel that those for whom I speak, and the people who have received them so warmly, will work together for the peace of the world. (Applause.)
