Technological progress and globalisation are changing the structure of the Australian media market and patterns of media consumption—undeniably Australian media organisations are responding to these changes by investing in new technology enterprises and forming broader strategic partnerships, but the regulation of ownership and control of Australian media has been largely static. This creates ongoing tension between the trend towards convergence in the communications market and a regulatory framework which is based on sector-specific regulation and an assumption that influential sources of news and opinion are limited to the traditional domestic media outlets...The government is committed to the need for ongoing diversity of opinion and information in the Australian media.

1067 Senator McLucas: To ask the Minister representing the Minister for Transport and Regional Services—With reference to general aviation matters in North Queensland:

- (1) Is the Minister aware of an e-mail sent to the office of the Minister for Transport and Regional Services on 25 May 2005 on behalf of a former Trans Air pilot, known as Pilot B, who raised serious questions about aspects of Trans Air Papua New Guinea's safety and operational practices with the Papua New Guinea (PNG) authorities in 2002.
- (2) Did that e-mail: (a) contain advice that Pilot B had reiterated his warnings about Trans Air directly to the Australian Transport Safety Bureau (ATSB) and the Civil Aviation Safety Authority (CASA) by telephone in October 2004; and (b) strongly criticise the lack of action by CASA and the ATSB in investigating those allegations against Trans Air, made in October 2004.
- (3) Did ATSB state to Pilot B, as claimed in the e-mail, that it could not act on his information unless it was put in writing.
- (4) Is it the case that the ATSB has repeatedly stated that in-confidence telephone reports remain an acceptable means of whistle-blowing and that all that is required is a name and contact details.
- (5) Did the e-mail state that: (a) CASA had failed 'to deal with systematic breaches of the regulations' by Trans Air 'over a long period of time'; and (b) Pilot B had made ATSB aware by telephone in October 2004 of Trans Air's 'attitude towards rules and regulations', and the likelihood 'of dire consequences unless the relevant authorities acted'.
- (6) Is it the case that, at no stage, did Pilot B claim knowledge of the events immediately surrounding the Lockhart River accident.
- (7) Is it correct that Pilot B claimed knowledge of a prior history of safety and operational failings by Trans Air and inaction by the authorities when they were, or should have been, aware of those failings.
- (8) Did Pilot B telephone Mr John Robbins, the ATSB's Confidential Aviation Incident Reporting System manager, at 11am on 20 October 2004 to discuss aspects of Trans Air's safety and operational conduct in PNG.
- (9) (a) Did Mr Robbins refer Pilot B to CASA's legal counsel, Mr Jonathon Aleck; and (b) is it the case that Mr Aleck and the pilot had a long discussion about this matter.
- (10) Can the Minister confirm that during this conversation Pilot B repeated his allegations against Trans Air.
- (11) Is it correct that, despite both CASA and ATSB knowing of these serious allegations against Trans Air 7 months prior to the Lockhart River tragedy, no action was taken by either organisation by way of investigation of Trans Air.
- (12) Did Mr Alan Stray, ATSB Deputy Director of Aviation Safety Investigations, telephone another former Trans Air pilot, Pilot A, on the morning of 20 May 2005 to ask Pilot A to go on the record with similar allegations about Trans Air.
- (13) Why is it necessary for the allegations by these two pilots specifically to be 'on the record' when making a call to CASA or the ATSB hotline, giving personal particulars and providing details of allegations, is enough to trigger an investigation.

- (14) Did ATSB legal counsel, Mr Pat Hornby, also speak to Pilot A and tell him that he had the power to call him for a formal interview.
- (15) Does Mr Hornby have this power and did he use it; if not, why not.
- (16) Did the ATSB's Lockhart River investigator, Mr William Fry, receive an e-mail from Pilot A about noon on 20 May 2005 repeating his willingness to take part in an off-the-record interview at a venue suitable to both parties and subject to the inclusion of a witness of Pilot A's choosing.

1068 Senator McLucas: To ask the Minister representing the Minister for Transport and Regional Services—With reference to general aviation matters in North Queensland:

- (1) Is it correct that at least one set of allegations against Trans Air, made verbally by a third pilot known as Pilot C, was investigated a matter of months before the Lockhart River crash and that 'nothing was found'.
- (2) Can the Minister confirm that the Civil Aviation Safety Authority (CASA) investigated a series of allegations made by Pilot C about the operating practices of Trans Air such as 'inappropriate procedures, not appropriate training and checking arrangements for pilots and inexperience of co-pilots'.
- (3) Is it correct that Pilot C contacted CASA three times before the Lockhart River crash with serious allegations against Trans Air and its Big Sky operations in New South Wales.
- (4) Can the Minister confirm that interview notes taken by CASA in September 2004 state that the pilot 'expressed his concerns clearly and sincerely. There is no reason to doubt the veracity of his information'.
- (5) Can the Minister confirm that the interview notes contained the following entries or issues:
 - (a) 'A pilot told to fudge the figures on a load sheet of an overloaded aircraft';
 - (b) 'the interviewed pilot was faced with attempted coercion when told of other pilots' agreement to fly an aircraft with unserviceable landing light/s when the Minimum Equipment List (MEL) does not permit operation of the aircraft at night without landing lights and told to fly the aircraft';
 - (c) 'poor training of first officers illustrated by them not knowing how to complete an aircraft walk-around';
 - (d) 'a Maintenance Controller does not encourage the writing up of aircraft defects';
 - (e) 'a 'cost cutting culture' articulated by describing an event that had an aircraft descending below steps of an instrument approach in order to save time by not flying overhead the airfield';
 - (f) 'as Captain he was required to take control of the aircraft from first officers on a number of aircraft landing occasions. This event description was to re-enforce a statement that he thought the training of first officers was very poor';
 - (g) 'he alluded to the possibility of false experience being recorded';
 - (h) 'when joining the company he had no access to regulatory documentation because the computer was down';
 - (i) 'no CAO 20.11 training given';
 - (j) 'no dangerous goods training given';

- (k) 'no instrument rating check undertaken/or check of instrument proficiency before revenue operations';
- (l) 'no examination of aircraft knowledge prior to being released to line operations';
- (m) 'described his check and being released for line operations as being minimal. He expressed he had expected more checking';
- (n) 'during a CASA line check (audit), no check of aircraft documentation or licences by the CASA Freedom of Information'; and
- (o) 'loading of passengers when the 'offside' engine is still running (Metro Operation)'.
 - (6) Did Pilot C also state that Trans Air's Big Sky Express operation had a cost-saving culture that extended to short-cutting.
 - (7) Will the Minister provide full details of the investigation conducted as a result of Pilot C's allegations.
 - (8) Is it the case that despite finding no evidence to sustain the allegations, CASA increased its surveillance of Trans Air, and then carried out a "fairly fulsome audit" of the airline earlier in 2005.
 - (9) Can the Minister give precise details of the 'fairly fulsome audit', and state whether it covered the same ground as the earlier investigation.
 - (10) Has Trans Air conducted ground school for the pilots it has trained on its larger aircraft such as the Fairchild Metroliner and Cessna Citation types over the past 2 years; if so, who conducted the ground school, and how extensive was it.
 - (11) Can a copy be provided of the written examinations completed by these pilots and required to be kept on file by the airline.
 - (12) In relation to the allegations made to CASA and the ATSB about Trans Air's performance in Papua New Guinea, is it correct that CASA does not monitor, or is not required to monitor, Australian-registered aircraft and Australian-licensed pilots when they are operating overseas.
 - (13) Is it correct that CASA is not required to be informed by its overseas counterparts in relation to Australian-registered aircraft and Australian-licensed pilots operating overseas when a regulatory breach is found to have occurred overseas, or when such a pilot is disciplined by his employer.

- (4) Can a description be provided on how the safety assessment undertaken by FSANZ for Bt-10 differs from the normal food safety assessment processes and why.
- (5) Under what provisions of the Food Standards Australia New Zealand Act 1991 or Code did FSANZ: (a) review Bt-10; and (b) determine that no testing of imports or food products was required.
- (6) Given that the Act provides for urgent assessment of a food under Division 5, following a declaration of 'urgency' under section 24 in that division, has FSANZ made any declaration of urgency.
- (7) Is it the case that allowing a product to possibly remain on supermarket shelves and to continue to be imported into the country while an assessment is being undertaken, circumvents established processes.
- (8) Given that the fact sheet claims that FSANZ has no health or safety concerns regarding Bt-10, has Syngenta 'demonstrated' the safety of Bt-10, which would appear to be a higher standard.
- (9) Was all the data received from Syngenta produced according to good laboratory practice; if not, why not.
- (10) The critique Dr Jack Heinemann has produced, located at <http://www.nzige.canterbury.ac.nz/>, of two Syngenta documents released by FSANZ, Western Blot Analysis of Cry1Ab and PAT Proteins Expressed in Field Corn – Report No. SSB-112-05 – a Western blot analyses of leaf extracts of Event Bt-11 and Event Bt-10-derived corn plants ... Sequencing of the Bt-10 insert and comparison with the previously reported Bt-11 sequence, Report No. SSB – 104-05, makes a number of findings apparently at odds with conclusions of FSANZ. Has FSANZ read that critique; if so, how does FSANZ respond to the critique's conclusions regarding Bt-10 and Bt-11.
- (11) Does FSANZ have a comprehensive dossier of quality assured raw experimental data for Bt-10; if not, why not.
- (12) Given that the FSANZ website located at <http://www.foodstandards.gov.au/mediareleasespublications/factsheets/factsheets2002/faqsongmfoods6august1632.cfm> indicates that FSANZ undertakes comparative analysis of the 'molecular, toxicological and nutritional and compositional properties of the food to the non-GM form', was such an analysis done for Bt-10 corn.
- (13) Can a list be provided of the documents upon which FSANZ relied for its safety assessment.
- (14) Given that the FSANZ safety assessment of Bt-10 was based on documents received from Syngenta, did FSANZ receive safety studies carried out on Bt-10 from Syngenta; if so, did this include: (a) human feeding studies; (b) animal feeding studies; if so, were any of the animal feeding studies long-term (at least several months); and (c) did this study include: (i) any feeding studies using the whole corn, (ii) any studies of allergenicity, (iii) generational feeding studies, and (iv) cancer studies.

- (15) Did FSANZ receive: (a) molecular characterisation of Bt-10 from Syngenta; (b) a genetic profile of Bt-10; and (c) a complete and certified history of the planting and shipments of Bt-10.
- (16) Did FSANZ require or seek any independent verification of the data provided by Syngenta; if so, can details be provided on how verification was provided.
- (17) Given that the FSANZ fact sheet on Bt-10 indicates that Bt-11, which has been approved for human consumption in Australia, and Bt-10, produce identical novel proteins, what data forms the basis for that conclusion.
- (18) Do identical proteins in different genetic structures and inserted in different locations in a plant cell express themselves identically.
- (19) Is it the case that Northrop King (later taken over by Syngenta) applied for unregulated status of Bt-11 in 1995 and that in the appendix to that 'petition', a comparison of Bt-10 and Bt-11 showed that Bt-11 produced about 7 times more toxin protein than Bt-10; if so: (a) is FSANZ familiar with this report; and (b) does FSANZ agree that this would strongly indicate significant protein differences between the two constructs.

(NOTE: reference - Pilancinski W and Williams D. Petition for Determination of Non-regulated Status for: Insect protection corn expressing the Cry1Ab gene from Bacillus thuringiensis var. kurstaki 1995.)

- (20) What steps has FSANZ taken to ensure that no future imports contain Bt-10; if no steps have been taken, can FSANZ: (a) guarantee that no Bt-10 corn is being produced in the United States of America (US); and (b) that Bt-10 seed is not widely distributed in corn producing areas in the US.
- (21) (a) Is it the case that in its assessment of Bt-11, FSANZ indicates that the most likely source of Bt-11 coming into Australia would be in processed corn foods such as syrups, flours, oils, chips etc; and (b) is this also the most likely source of Bt-10 arriving in Australia.
- (22) Has the department tested or commissioned, or requested testing of, any of these foods to determine if Bt-10 is present; if not, why not; if so, can details be provided on: (a) the number of tests; (b) what foods were tested; and (c) the results.
- (23) Is it the case that the European Union has imposed a certification requirement on corn imports that are most likely to contain Bt-10 because the import of Bt-10 is unlawful; if so, as Bt-10 is also unlawful in Australia and it is possible that Bt-10 is being imported into Australia, why has FSANZ not imposed a similar requirement on corn imports most likely to contain Bt-10 (i.e. processed foods).
- (24) Given that the FSANZ fact sheet notes that FSANZ was not informed of the Bt-10 mistake until some 4 months after the US Government was notified, has any explanation been sought from Syngenta or the US Government to explain the failure to immediately notify countries that may or do import Bt-11 products.
- (25) How many Genetically Engineered (GE) foods or crops are: (a) being produced or trialled in the US that are not approved for use in Australia; and (b) have the potential to enter the world food chain.
- (26) How many of these crops do not have validated detection tests.

- (27) Given that it is well established that the US does not have segregation or coexistence systems to separate GE and non-GE crops and foods, does not have stringent testing requirements to prevent contamination and that the US system is not preventing unknown and untested GE organisms from entering the food chain, what steps are being taken in Australia to deal with these potential unwanted imports.

- (8) (a) What criteria will be used to assess the technologies to be funded under the Low Emissions Technology Fund; and (b) if the criteria are yet to be established, what is the process to do so and over what time frame.

1148 Senator Allison: To ask the Minister for Communications, Information Technology and the Arts—

- (1) Can the Minister clarify a recent statement that the Government will ensure services to customers in areas of 'market failure' after full privatisation of Telstra.
- (2) Are 'areas of market failure' determined by the Government to be in: (a) rural; (b) remote; or (c) metropolitan, areas.
- (3) What is the Government's definition of 'market failure'.
- (4) To what extent and how does the Government consider that the privatisation of the Telstra environment will facilitate competition in areas of 'market failure'.
- (5) Has the Government accepted that areas of 'market failure', however defined, are never likely to attract competition.
- (6) Does the Government agree that the commitment to ensure services to customers in areas of 'market failure' provides a perverse incentive for Telstra to: (a) withhold or diminish services in these areas; and (b) impede efforts by competitors to set up service provision in these areas.

- (7) What is the extent of 'market failure' that has been caused by Telstra's prevention of other businesses from setting up services.
- (8) How will the Government deal with the well-documented cases of Telstra pushing small competitors out of business when they try to establish competing businesses, particularly in regional areas in, for example, Crookwell, Bungendore and Albury-Wodonga.
- (9) How will the Government deal with excessive regulatory gaming by Telstra, whereby it effectively delays or prevents access by competitors to declared services.
- (10) What is the Government's estimation of the effect of the proposed additional regulation on: (a) Telstra's annual profits; and (b) Telstra's share price.
- (11) Does the Government have a conflict of interest in protecting the shareholders from the cost of additional regulation and ensuring consumers receive the benefits of modern telecommunications infrastructure and services; if so, to what extent.
- (12) How will the Government reconcile the mutually exclusive objective of providing for effective regulation of telecommunications and maximising Telstra's share price.
- (13) How will the Government ensure that the operational separation model for Telstra creates an incentive for Telstra to treat its retail arm and its competitors equitably.
- (14) How will the Government ensure that Telstra does not operate its retail arm at a loss by charging high wholesale prices to itself and competitors.
- (15) Will the Government give the Australian Competition and Consumer Commission (ACCC) divestiture powers in case operational separation fails.
- (16) What were the reasons for structural separation of Telstra not being considered in the package.
- (17) Does the Government agree that the fact that Telstra is vertically integrated is the single most important factor in Australia being ranked 21st in broadband penetration in the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD) Communications Outlook, 2005.
- (18) How does Australia compare with other OECD countries in terms of the rate of penetration of broadband, as opposed to the current rate of uptake.
- (19) Does the Government acknowledge that Australia's rate of uptake is relatively high because it starts from a very low base compared with other OECD countries.
- (20) How does the Government's definition of 'broadband' differ from other countries in the OECD.
- (21) What will the Government do about the obvious weakness of the anti-competitive conduct regime in the Trade Practices Act as demonstrated by the ACCCs experience with the Telstra broadband pricing competition notice.
- (22) What will the Government do to make it easier for Telstra's competitors to get access to reasonably-priced backhaul.
- (23) How will the Government ensure that people in regional areas where there is no competition receive better broadband services as standards improve in metropolitan areas.

- (24) What safeguards will the Government put in place to ensure that money put aside for regional areas will: (a) not simply fall back into Telstra's hands so as to cement its monopoly in regional areas; and (b) be applied equitably and not directed to Coalition or marginal electorates.

- (2) (a) How many foreign ships operating under single voyage permits, for each year since 2000, have carried ammonium nitrate between Australian ports; (b) what are the names of these ships; (c) when was this product carried; and (d) between which ports.

Notice given 12 September 2005

1172 Senator Allison: To ask the Minister representing the Minister for Health and Ageing—With reference to the answer to question on notice no. 2018 (Senate Hansard, 10 February 2005, p.19747), indicating that the Commonwealth Scientific and Industrial Research Organisation (CSIRO) no longer undertakes research in the area of diagnostic ultrasound, and that the National Measurement Laboratory was deferring 'further investigation of the needs of this field pending the establishment of the new National Measurement Institute in July 2004':

- (1) Has this institute been established; if not, why not; if so, what work is being done in the area of ultrasound measurement by this institute.
- (2) What, if any, safety standards or any other regulatory regime have been developed to monitor the application of ultrasound in obstetrics in Australia.
- (3) Given that work done by the CSIRO in collaboration with centres in Australia and overseas found that, tissue heating to 5 degrees can easily be produced near foetal bone, and such increases can, after only 5 minutes, cause severe brain abnormalities in the developing foetus, embryonic growth is stopped and heat shock (stress) proteins are produced in laboratory exposures to pulsed Doppler ultrasound, and the use of echo-contrast agents can amplify biological effects and cause bleeding at power levels of orders that are orders of magnitude less than that required in the absence of contrast agents, does the Minister consider that the ultrasound regulatory regime is adequate.
- (4) Is the Minister aware that in 2004, Professor Nagel from the University of Stuttgart said, '... it has not been verified whether the current regulations for the safe use of ultrasound equipment are valid at these frequencies. The biological effects of low frequency ultrasound have only recently been explored. According to our current knowledge they represent serious health hazards ... possible negative effects of high-intensity ultrasound are hearing loss, impairment of the vestibular system, damage to peripheral sensory receptors, destruction of cells and fragmentation of DNA, and uncontrolled sonoporation'.
- (5) Are there businesses in Australia that provide non-medical ultrasound procedures without a doctor's referral; if so: (a) are they regulated; and (b) what qualifications are required of these practitioners.
- (6) Does the Minister consider that the Australian medical profession should adopt the advice provided by the American Institute of Ultrasound in Medicine that it, ‘strongly discourage the non-medical use of ultrasound for psychosocial or entertainment purposes. The use of either 2D or 3D ultrasound to only view the foetus, obtain a picture of the foetus, or determine the gender without a medical intervention is inappropriate and contrary to responsible medical practice’; if not, why not.

- (7) Given that the American Food and Drug Administration has banned the non-medical use of ultrasound, will the Government also consider such a ban.
- (8) Given the epidemiological and laboratory evidence from around the world that indicates ultrasound treatment can result in learning difficulties, a significant rise in left-handedness in boys, auditory problems, autism, growth retardation, dyslexia and delayed speech development, will the medical profession in Australia be advised to warn women of the possible negative bio-effects before ultrasound treatment.

- (3) The Senate provides the following guidelines to be observed by committees in applying that resolution, and declares that the Senate will observe the guidelines in determining whether to refer a matter to the Committee of Privileges:
 1. Unless there are particular circumstances involving actual or potential substantial interference with the work of a committee or of the Senate, the following kinds of unauthorised disclosure should not be raised as matters of privilege:

- (a) disclosure of a committee report in the time between the substantial conclusion of the committee's deliberations on the report and its presentation to the Senate;
 - (b) disclosure of other documents prepared by a committee and not published by the committee, where the committee would have published them, or could appropriately have published them, in any event, or where they contain only research or publicly-available material, or where their disclosure is otherwise inconsequential;
 - (c) disclosure of documents and evidence submitted to a committee and not published by the committee, where the committee would have published them, or could appropriately have published them, in any event;
 - (d) disclosure of private deliberations of a committee where the freedom of the committee to deliberate is unlikely to be significantly affected.
2. The following kinds of unauthorised disclosure are those for which the contempt jurisdiction of the Senate should primarily be reserved, and which should therefore be raised as matters of privilege:
- (a) disclosure of documents or evidence submitted to a committee where the committee has deliberately decided to treat the documents or evidence as in camera material, for the protection of witnesses or others, or because disclosure would otherwise be harmful to the public interest;
 - (b) disclosure of documents prepared by a committee where that involves disclosure of material of the kind specified in paragraph (a);
 - (c) disclosure of private deliberations of a committee where that involves disclosure of that kind of material, or significantly impedes the committee's freedom to deliberate.
3. An unauthorised disclosure not falling into the categories in guidelines 1 and 2 should not be raised as a matter of privilege unless it involves actual or potential substantial interference with the work of a committee or of the Senate.
4. When considering any unauthorised disclosure of material in the possession of a committee, the committee should consider whether there was any substantive reason for not publishing that material.
- (4) Before deciding to raise a matter of privilege involving possible unauthorised disclosure of committee proceedings, any committee may seek the guidance of the Committee of Privileges as to whether a matter should be pursued. If the committee decides that such a matter should be raised, it must consult with the Committee of Privileges before taking the matter further.
- (5) When applying this resolution a committee shall have regard to the matters set out in paragraphs 3.43 to 3.59 of the 122nd Report of the Committee of Privileges, June 2005.

A GUIDE TO THE NOTICE PAPER

The Notice Paper is issued each sitting day and contains details of current business before the Senate. Its structure is based on four main types of business, as follows:

Matters of privilege take precedence over all other business and are listed at the beginning of the Notice Paper when they arise. They consist of notices of motion which the President has determined warrant such precedence and any orders relating to uncompleted debates on such motions.

Business of the Senate has precedence over government and general business for the day on which it is listed. It includes disallowance motions, orders of the day for the presentation of committee reports, motions to refer matters to standing committees, motions for leave of absence for a senator and motions concerning the qualification of a senator.

Government business is business initiated by a minister. It takes precedence over general business except for a period of 2½ hours each week set aside on Thursdays for general business.

General business is all other business initiated by senators who are not ministers. It takes precedence over government business only as described above.

Within each of these categories, business consists of notices of motion and orders of the day:

Notices of motion are statements of intention that senators intend to move particular motions on the days indicated. They are entered on the Notice Paper in the order given and may be given jointly by two or more senators. Notices of motion are usually considered before orders of the day.

Orders of the day are items of business which the Senate has ordered to be considered on particular days, usually arising from adjourned debates on matters (including legislation) or requirements to present committee reports.

On days other than Thursdays, the Notice Paper records in full current items of business of the Senate and government business, but includes only new items of general business from the previous sitting day. On Thursdays, business relating to the consideration of government documents, committee reports and government responses to committee reports is also published.

Other sections in the Notice Paper are as follows:

Orders of the day relating to committee reports and government responses follows government business and lists orders of the day for adjourned debates on motions to consider or adopt committee reports and government responses which have been presented during the week. These orders may be considered for one hour on Thursdays at the conclusion of general business. New items appear in the following day's Notice Paper. The section is printed in full on Thursdays.

Orders of the day relating to government documents appears in general business and lists orders of the day for adjourned debates on motions to take note of government documents. Such orders arise from consideration of the government documents presented on a particular day and include consideration of any documents not reached on the day. They are also listed for consideration for one hour on Thursdays during the consideration of general business. New items appear in the following day's Notice Paper. The section is printed in full on Thursdays.

Business for future consideration lists any notice of motion or order of the day to be considered on a specific day in the future; for example, a committee report ordered to be presented on a specific date, or a notice of motion given for a day other than the next day of sitting.

Bills referred to committees lists all bills or provisions of bills currently being considered by committees.

Questions on notice includes the text of new questions on notice and lists the numbers of unanswered questions.

Orders of the Senate includes orders of short-term duration such as orders for production of documents and those relating to days of sitting for a period of sittings.

Contingent notices of motion are statements of intention by senators that, contingent on a specified occurrence, they may move a motion, usually to suspend standing orders. They are grouped by subject.

Temporary chairs of committees is a daily list of all senators appointed to take the chair in the absence of the President or Deputy President.

Categories of committees is a daily list, categorised by type, of Senate and joint committees. Details of each committee appear in the committee section.

Committees lists all of Senate and joint committees, including membership, current inquiries and reports presented on or since the previous sitting day.

Senate appointments to statutory authorities lists the statutory authorities on which the Senate is represented and details of representation.

Ministerial representation lists Senate ministers and the portfolios they represent.

The ‘full’ Notice Paper

On the first day of each period of sittings a full Notice Paper is printed listing all outstanding business before the Senate, including the full text of all unresolved notices of motion and unanswered questions on notice. This edition is a complete reference to unresolved business from earlier in the session and is useful to keep. All business before the Senate is published daily in the full online version of the Notice Paper, available on ParlInfo and on the Senate’s Internet site at aph.gov.au/senate.

Inquiries concerning the Notice Paper or business listed in it may be directed to the Senate Table Office on (02) 6277 3018.
