Section 3(d)

Please list the steps you have taken to assure yourself you have not acquired citizenship of another country by descent, marriage or other means.

My husband was born in Italy but lost Italian citizenship in 1958 when he was naturalised as an Australian. Out of an abundance of caution, I have sought legal advice to confirm my citizenship status through marriage. I do not intend to, and do not, waive any privilege in it. However, I remain assured that I am not an Italian citizen through marriage.

Regarding Italian citizenship by descent, the High Court recognised in Re Canavan that I would have had to register to become a citizen. I have never applied to register for Italian citizenship.

Regarding US citizenship, according to the US Citizenship and Immigration Service website, a child born outside the United States before 14 November 1986 could only be a US citizen where both of their parents were US citizens at the time of birth.

The website of the Swedish Embassy in Canberra makes it clear that Swedish law prior to 2001 did not recognise dual citizenship, with the result that when my grandfather was naturalised as an Australian in 1914, his one-year-old daughter lost any Swedish citizenship she may have had. That being the case, I cannot have inherited Swedish citizenship from my mother.

A document detailing the date of Australian naturalisation is attached.

Section 4(a)—Foreign citizenship

Have you ever been a citizen of any country other than Australia?

NO — Proceed to Section 6

YES — List the countries that you have been a citizen of, and evidence of the date and manner in which your citizenship of any other country was renounced or otherwise came to an end in accordance with the laws of the relevant country.
