I refer to question on notice answer 236 from additional estimates 2011-12 which outlines that the Appoint Women Website is being ‘considered in the context of developing broader strategies to increase the number of women on Government boards’. Can you please outline what those strategies are, how they are progressing, and what decision has been made on the future of the Appoint Women Website? Will it continue to operate?

Answer:

An update will be provided in the 2011-12 Gender Balance on Government Boards report.
