Senator Siewert asked:

How much of the funding for the First Peoples Disability Network will be available to Western Australia? During the launch site process, how will that money be spent and will Western Australia be able to access some of those resources?

Answer:

The funding received by First People's Disability Network is not allocated by jurisdiction. The focus will initially be on launch locations; however the project will also look to build capacity more broadly. All jurisdictions will benefit from learnings and products.
