OUTCOME: 6 - Ageing and Aged Care

Topic: Home Care Packages

Type of Question: Written Question on Notice

Senator: Siewert, Rachel

Question:

What is the percentage of people who have commenced a Home Care Package service from the 17,000 letters that were sent by the Department of Health in late March?

Answer:

Validated data on the time taken for consumers to enter into care with a provider following the assignment of a home care package is not currently available. This is due to delays in receiving complete data on the number of clients who have entered care following package assignment. Consumers have up to 56 days to enter into care (with the option of a 28 day extension), and providers can take up to 28 days to submit information on entries to care into the system.

Data on the number of consumers in care will be included in the first public report expected to be released early in the second half of the year.
