

Question:

Senator BOYCE—That has been driven by community leaders, hasn't it?

Dr Harmer—Yes, it has.

Mr James—I was going to add that the Queensland government publishes a quarterly report that covers the indigenous communities in Queensland, and it has historical school attendance data for the Cape York communities in the trial, but it also has other communities as well. They have historical data and they cover a range of indicators. I will get a link to those reports sent to the secretariat when I get back to the office.

(Proof Committee Hansard, p. CA 14.)

Response:

Attached is a link to the Queensland government quarterly report on discreet indigenous communities, including the 4 communities which are part of the Cape York Welfare Reforms -
