Senator Moore asked:

Have any new advisory committees been established within the department since the election?

- If so, what are they?
- Have members been appointed to these groups?
- Have they been provided with terms of reference? What is the scope of their roles? What have they been tasked with?
- Have staff been assigned to these committees? Have they been given a budget?

Answer:

There have been no advisory committees established within the Department of Social Services since the election.
