Question No: 4

Program No. Australian Communications and Media Authority (ACMA)

Hansard Ref: Page 7/8 (25/2/2014)

Topic: Broadcasting Investigations – Alan Jones

Senator Urquhart asked:

How many investigations did the ACMA instigate into broadcast by Alan Jones in 2013?

Ms McNeill: Again, I do not have those figures to hand. But we would regard that as an investigation, again, against the licensee rather than against Mr Jones or any particular personality or presenter.

Senator Urquhart: Okay. Well, I understand that there are about 10 into that. Again, what were those investigations into?

Ms McNeill: Typically the same suites of issues. Again, my memory is that there was a combination of breach and non-breach findings.

Senator Urquhart: Are you able to provide on notice a little bit more detail about both of those?

Ms McNeill: I am happy to give you that.

Answer:

1. How many investigations did the ACMA instigate into broadcast by Alan Jones in 2013?
In 2013, the ACMA commenced ten investigations into broadcasts by Harbour Radio Pty Limited (2GB) of the Alan Jones Breakfast Show.
All investigations were commenced in response to complaints received from members of the public who had first complained to 2GB and were either not satisfied with the response they had received from 2GB or did not receive a response from 2GB.
2. What were those investigations into? Are you able to provide on notice a little bit more detail about both of those [breach and non-breach findings]?
All ten investigations referred to in the preceding answer concern 2GB's compliance with provisions of the Commercial Radio Australia Codes of Practice 2011.
Details of the eight investigations that have been completed are provided in the table below. As the table illustrates, in the eight investigations the ACMA found six breaches of the Code's complaint handling provisions and two breaches of the Code's accuracy provisions.
