Question Date: 14 March 2017
Question Type: Written

Senator Rhiannon asked:

Is it correct that this report found that additional work is required on detailing the potential world heritage values of the Royal Reserves?

a. If so what additional information is required?

Answer:

The GML Heritage report (November 2014) was commissioned by the New South Wales Office of the Environment and Heritage. As the New South Wales Government has not publicly released the report, information about its contents should be requested from the New South Wales Government.
