Question Date:

Question Type: Written

Senator Urquhart asked:

The Minister has said you will chair will hold a one-day National Threatened Species and Feral Animals Summit at Melbourne Zoo in July this year. How are preparations proceeding for this event? Can you walk us through what the summit focus will be? How much will it cost and who will be invited?

Has the agenda been determined yet? If so, can you summarise it?

Answer:

1. The Threatened Species Summit was held on 16 July at Melbourne Zoo. The summit included: opening addresses; focused sessions on Partnership and community engagement for threatened species recovery and Feral cat approaches; three parallel sessions which focused on Working together, Innovation and Practical Action; and closing remarks from traditional owners and Minister Hunt. The Summit also launched the Threatened Species Strategy, the Threat Abatement Plan for predation by feral cats, and the Feralcatscan app. Further information on the Summit is available at: <http://www.environment.gov.au/biodiversity/threatened/commissioner/threatened-species-summit>.
2. Costs for the Threatened Species Summit are $170,274.32 (GST incl). This figure includes costs for staff travel and other transport costs that are yet to be acquitted.
3. Invitees included: international guests, state and territory government ministers, Natural Resource Management CEOs, National Environment Science Programme research hub leaders, conservation ecologist and invasive species scientists, invasive animal organisations, conservation NGO's, community group representatives and 'Friends of' groups, zoos, traditional owners, the RSPCA, business and industry.

4 & 5. The agenda is attached for reference.
