Senator Rhiannon, Lee asked:

Has the timeframe been extended to facilitate development of surrounding area to start before listing assessment is complete?

Answer:

The statutory timeframe for the completion of the National Heritage Assessment has not changed since the place was included in the Finalised Priority Assessment List in 2015. However, consistent with the then Minister's press release of 31 July 2015, the Australian Heritage Council is expected to complete the assessment in 2017.
