8. Has the funding being redirected? If so, where?
9. Was an evaluation of the program conducted before funding was ceased? What did it find?
10. If not – Why not? What was the basis of this cut?
11. Will the ending of this program have a positive or negative impact on the capacity of language teachers?

13. Who made the decision? Was it the Minister?
14. Have there been any representations made to the Government about the cessation of funding? How many have been supportive?

Answer

The Endeavour Language Teacher Fellowships (ELTF) programme was established in 2004.

The selection process for the ELTF, including assessment of applications, was managed through a contracted service provider in consultation with the state and territory language education coordinators and a Project Advisory Committee.

Practising teachers were initially assessed by a state and territory based selection panel, chaired and organised by the relevant education department. The selection panels included representatives from the government, Catholic and Independent school sectors. The panels were required to use selection packs developed by the service provider in consultation with the department. The selection of pre-service teachers was done by the contracted service provider based on recommendations submitted by state and territory departments of education.

A total of 1966 teachers, comprising 1677 practising teachers and 289 pre-service teachers, have participated in this programme since 2004. Since 2007, teachers from over 1200 schools have participated. In 2015, a total of 70 teachers participated, out of which 60 were practising teachers and 10 were pre-service teachers. The pool of language teachers who can be offered this programme for the first time is diminishing. The overall responsibility of professional development of teachers lies with individual jurisdictions.

Attachment A provides information on participation by year. A list of participating schools by state and territory from 2007–2015 is at Attachment B. Data before 2007 are not available. The number of teachers may not exactly match the number of schools because some schools may have more than one teacher participating in a given year and some teachers teach at more than one school.

The ELTF budget was $1.2 million for 2014–15 and $1.8 million for 2015–16. Funding of $1.8 million per annum was allocated for 2016–17 and 2017–18 in the forward estimates.

The redesign of the programme and redirection of funding was announced in the 2015–16 Budget. The current programme is being redesigned with effect from 1 July 2015. The application process for the 2016 programme had not yet commenced.

The cessation of the ELTF programme is a result of a refocus of the Australian Government's priorities in the education portfolio. The Government is providing funds to implement the Government's response to the Teacher Education Ministerial Advisory Group (TEMAG) report, Action Now: Classroom Ready Teachers, which is aimed at improving teacher quality and delivering better educational outcomes for all Australian students. Implementation of TEMAG recommendations will ensure primary school teachers will have a speciality in maths, science or a foreign language thereby supporting improved languages teaching.

The ELTF programme service provider conducted a participant survey each year after the completion of the programme. Participants have reported an increase in their language capacity as well as confidence to try new teaching approaches in the classrooms. Participants also placed a high value on the teacher support networks established during the programme.

The department has received 33 representations expressing concern about the cessation of ELTF funding.
