Question

Higher Education Report

The Higher Education Report was last published in 2010. The website advises it is going to be published every 3 years. When will the next edition be published? If it will not be published, why not? Can a copy be provided?

Answer

The 2010 Higher Education Report was published in 2011.

The next Higher Education Report will cover the three calendar years 2011 to 2013 and is due to be published in the near future. It will be published in digital format and will be available on the Department of Education website.

The department will reintroduce an annual Higher Education Report from 2014, in line with a recommendation of the Review of the Demand Driven Funding System report (p. 31). The first of these reports will cover the 2014 calendar year and will be published toward the end of 2015.
