|----------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 1 | Yes, in accordance with longstanding practice the occupants had a role. |
| 2 & 9 | Ms Turnbull's views were taken into consideration in selecting the furniture. Ms Turnbull selected the artwork in consultation with staff from the National Gallery of Australia (NGA). |
| 3, 4 & 8 | Furniture and artworks are from various sources, including: <ul style="list-style-type: none">• property owned by the Department of the Prime Minister and Cabinet (PM&C) |

- items on loan from various institutions, such as the NGA and the Australiana Fund, and
- the private property of the occupants.

5 During preparation for return to The Lodge in mid to late 2015, a number of items were considered for refurbishment or restoration..

6 Not relevant – PM&C was not required to purchase any accessories.

7 & 10 An inventory (including valuations) of furniture and other items at The Lodge is not provided for security reasons. In any event, it would be an unreasonable diversion of resources to compile the information sought.

The list of installed artworks owned by the NGA is at Attachment A.
