Question:

Senator LUDLAM: That would be greatly appreciated. So that goes to the processes that are afoot now. Let us move to what is happening with the new surplus divestment program. This is a small government ideology that has been coming to the fore since the budget. There is an initiative to sell off, I understand, 40 surplus Commonwealth properties. There are some values that are attached to that. They are non-Defence surplus properties, I gather. Are you able to table for us a list of what those 40 surplus properties are and where they are?

Mr Owens: As we indicated earlier today, we are not in a position to table that list just at the moment. But we certainly agree to take that on notice.
