Output 1.1

Question No. 11

Senator Ludwig asked the following question at the hearing on 14 February 2006:

Further to the reply to Question number 22 from 31 October 2005:

Did the ABS raw data only contain total population and Indigenous population broken down by geographical area?

The answer to the honourable senator's question is as follows:

The ABS raw data tables contain for each Census Collection District (CD): total population, total male population and total female population. The tables also include the number of dwellings and a range of geographical information, including remoteness, land area, latitude and longitude.

The data for each 2001 Census Collection District are listed below. The Census Collection District is the smallest geographical area defined in the Australian Standard Geographical Classification. The raw data for each Census Collection District can be aggregated to higher levels, for example, Statistical Local Area or Statistical Subdivision.

The raw data tables do not include Indigenous population figures. However, the raw data can be aggregated to Indigenous area, Indigenous area name, Indigenous location and Indigenous location name.
