Senator Hanson-Young (Written) asked:

What health and medical checks are undertaken prior to transfer to offshore detention centres?

Answer:

Prior to transfer to an Offshore Processing Centre, Illegal Maritime Arrivals undergo a Health Induction Assessment (HIA). The HIA includes public health screening, including a chest x-ray, screening for pre-existing medical conditions, a Mental State Examination and pathology screening. No chest x-ray is required for children under 11 years of age and those who are pregnant. The possibility of tuberculosis in these groups is addressed through a TB questionnaire and physical examination.
