

I don't agree with any sort of emissions trading scheme, because these schemes simply allow people to continue polluting our planet, while those who are not creating this environmental degradation end up paying. I would rather see pollution levels lowered rather than see wealthy companies buying the right to pollute.

Name: Mos Day