

To Senators on the Senate Select Committee on Climate Policy,

Our lives, and the lives of our children and grand children are in your hands. Please do not let politics get in the way of doing what is right in the long term and not just what seems expedient in the short term. Please listen to what the experts are saying and have the courage to rethink your Carbon Pollution Reduction Scheme so that it actually will have the intended effect of reducing carbon pollution. It should be obvious to everybody by now that we don't have time to play around with paltry targets of 5 - 15%. Are you prepared to take responsibility for the consequences of ineffective policy? Now is the time to show real leadership. Soon it will be too late.
