

What an absolute joke. If people don't like the language of certain T.V shows then the simple answer is CHANGE THE F_CKING CHANNEL.

If parents are worried about THEIR children watching these shows then THEY should do something about it that does not affect EVERYONE ELSE.

Most kids would hear the F & C words (you seem so worried about) on a daily basis at school, on the streets, in music THERE EVERYWHERE. I am getting sick and tired of being punished because some people either can't or don't want the responsibility of RAISING THEIR children. Fair dinkum you need to ask yourselves how you can justify wasting OUR MONEY on such a frivolous inquiry like this?

To anyone that thinks taking or CENSORING language on tv is going to change a thing, is definitely kidding themselves.

The program that incited this joke of an inquiry, Ramseys Kitchen Nightmares is so popular because he says exactly what he thinks and the swearing is part of it. Take it off TV or edit it and we will just download it, so it will achieve NOTHING but affecting the ratings and revenue of channel Nine and nothing else.

You should be telling these whingers and wowers to CHANGE the channel and if their not happy then tell them to H.T.F.U (Harden The F_ck Up)

Stuart Blackmore