

Dear sir or madam,

This is a submission to the Senate Inquiry into the Commonwealth Radioactive Waste Management Repeal Bill 2008.

It is a poor reason to choose a site for nuclear waste disposal in the Northern Territory just because it is a Territory, not a State.

No sites in the Territory are appropriate, I believe.

Until a totally appropriate site is found where the residents and all those affected don't mind a nuclear waste site being on their land, we should store it where it was produced and cease producing any more.

It is safer to store it where it can be well monitored than to transport it vast distances to where it is more difficult to monitor.

Sincerely
Liz Howells
