

It is vital for a democracy such as ours to have as diverse a media as possible - by allowing media outlets to be owned by an even smaller group of media barons will put all our social values at risk, The government should be seeking to open up the media to smaller players and restricting the big players.

Sigmund Jorgensen