

If all these people have it so hard in there country where are they getting the $10,000.00 each to get here? We have people in our own supposed lucky country that can not save that sort of money. We must be the only country to pay people for breaking the law. Any wonder we were declared the dumbest country in the world. It must be cheaper to put them on a plane and fly them home than to keep them in detention centers. We do not need to import people to go on welfare we have plenty already here. The tax payers money that has already been wasted is incredible. After all the Americans do not open the gates for the Mexicans when they enter the country illegally they send them home they dont give them more than the American people. I have never known a government to be so out of touch with what the people want and if they do know why do they just ignore it.
