

I oppose changes to the Bill which will diminish our empathy as human beings with the suggestion that the economic and political interests of the nation can be used as leverage to dictate how we respect others. Our authority as a nation and our integrity as a nation are in question and in disgrace.